"BEAVER" FLOUR Makes the True Home-Made Bread Your Mother Used to Make

Canadian women are the most attractive in the world because they are the most womanly. They are home bodies. Their interests are centred in their homes. They are proud of their skill in bread-making. They know that with "Beaver" Flour, they can make bread that equals anything turned out by the most skilful chefs in the world.

One of the first things noticed by travellers in Canada is the fact that "all you women know how to make good bread."

If they knew all the facts, they would add "all your best bread makers use 'BEAVER' FLOUR."

The reason is quite simple. "Beaver" Flour is a blended flour. It is really two flours in one. It contains the quality, nutriment and flavor of Ontario Fall wheat and the strength of Manitoba Spring wheat. "Beaver" Flour is a perfectly balanced flour. It makes baking easy because it is always the same in strength, quality and flavor. You can make more bread to the barrel than with any other flour—big, brown, nutty, delicious loaves that will delight both the eye and the palate. Perhaps you have never tried "Beaver" Flour. Your grocer has it. Try it. You can't make the best pastry without it.

CHAPTER VII.

"You don't say so!" exclaimed the old man.

"Yes," said Leigh. "Yesterday I signed the contract to supply one of the largest London milk companies, come good, come ill, and to pay a penalty in hard coin if I fail."

"Maester Wynter, you bean't doing anything rash?" breathed the shepherd.

"No; I am but putting into practice a favorite saying of yours, Will. 'Nothing venture, nothing have.' T'is three thousand pounds, turned into cows, will yield me a large profit, and then—"

The old man gazed up into his face and caught the direction of his eyes. Affection made even old eyes sharp, and the little ones of the old man grew dim with sudden tears.

"Maester Leigh," he muttered, "Heaven speed thee whatever thy path, whatever it be cows or contracts, which latter I don't understand."

"Thanks, Will; and now for the sheep."

The reader may feel rather surprised at Leigh's sudden communicativeness, but, though he would scarcely have owned it to himself, he had an object in making a confidant of Old Will.

Old Will was a favorite of Muriel, and Leigh secretly hoped and believed that at their next meeting the old man would, without betraying confidence, tell her enough to assure her of his earnestness.

The same motive, or one of a similar nature, led him up to Old Goody's cottage that evening, where he had earned himself a welcome by bringing a bottle of wine occasionally and talking in his kindly fashion to Jaffer.

To-night he sat on the old bench beside the door and drank in thirstily a long, detailed account of Miss Muriel's birth, habits, manners and virtues, to which he had, with reprehensible artfulness, led the conversation. He could not in honor see her and talk to her. The next best thing was to see and talk to one who had seen her sweet face, and heard her dear voice only a few hours before.

So there he sat, listening with all his heart and ears to petty details which to any other but a lover, might have seemed trivial, snapping up any unconsidered trifle that related to his beautiful Muriel, and thinking even Goody's voice musical while she crooned his darling's name.

At the same time, by way of parallel, Miss Muriel sat on a heap of hurdles beside William's shepherd's cart and listened to a long account of Maester Wynter's doings, and received as much consolation and delight from it as the dotting old man could desire.

CHAPTER VIII.

Two or three days later, Farmer Holt, standing at the entrance of the avenue, was tricked with astonishment at the appearance of a large drove of cattle making, apparently, straight for him. He cleared out of the way slowly and like one in a dream.

"Whose beasts are these, my man?" he shouted.

"For the Holme Farm," replied the driver, and the farmer was about to assure him that there was a mistake, when the apparition of old William's stolid face at the tail of the procession satisfied him that his neighbor, Mr. Leigh was "going heavily into milk."

With a groan, for he could not but think of the daily transit of four hundred hoofts through his dearly loved avenue, he trudged off, pulling up, however, before he had got far away, in response to a panning voice calling him by name.

The summons proved to proceed from the aristocratic lungs of Mr. Vandike, who, very much out of breath and otherwise discomposed, came up, wiping his face with an immaculate handkerchief.

"By Jobe, Mr. Holt, how you walk! I saw you at the end of the lane, and thought I should catch you up easily, but your stride put me to shame. Awful hot, isn't it?"

"It is uncommon healthy hot," retorted the farmer, who was not in the humor to relish fashionable adjectives. "It's ripening the corn, if that be awful."

"Ah, just so; excuse me, I'm not up to farming; and—and—by the way, can you give me a minute?"

"What am I doing now?" asked the farmer, not rudely, but with simple astonishment.

"Eh—oh? I meant in private, but this is private enough," looking round and seeing no one but ploughmen half a mile off. "I'm going to ask a favor of you—the greatest favor for some time because—well—I'm not a good hand at this sort of thing; in fact, I've never done it before. Mr. Holt, you know my position pretty well; I'm an enthusiast at my art, and I think I may say that I stand a fair chance of turning out successful. You know they've humiliated me at the Academy this year—"

Farmer Holt stopped in his stride and stared at the aristocratic features, as if he feared their owner had taken leave of his senses.

"Bless the man!" he exclaimed, shaking his head, as if the puzzle were too much for him. "Hung you at the Academy? What on earth do you mean?"

"I mean my picture, of course," explained Mr. Vandike, more confused and embarrassed than ever. "I mean

A Marvel of Healing

It does not take long for Dr. Chase's Ointment to prove its magic healing power. A single night is often sufficient to produce the most startling results.

Mrs. Chas. Gilbert, Haystack, Plantation Bay, Nfld., writes:—"I was a sufferer from Salt Rheum for ten years, and had about despaired of ever being cured, so many treatments had failed. Reading of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment, I commenced using it, and was entirely cured by eight boxes."

Mr. Stanley Merrill, Delaware, Ont., writes:—"For years I was troubled with my hands cracking, often becoming so sore that I could hardly do any work. I got some of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and happily find that one or two applications of same to the affected parts makes them well. I have had no trouble since using the ointment for sore hands."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

my picture, of course—and that's a great honor for a young artist, sir. The critics, too, speak well of it, and I have made a step forward in my career. I'm not a poor man, either as times go, Mr. Holt, and, in short, I am come to ask you to give me your daughter, Miss Muriel."

Farmer Holt stopped as if he had been shot in the back, pulled round and confronted the artist as if he were some monster in a show.

"Give—you—my—Muriel!" he repeated slowly. Then tramping on again as he spoke. "Young sir, you are mad as a March hare."

Mr. Vandike, too astonished at the reception of his proposal to speak for a moment or two, almost ran at his side, silent.

"Well," said Farmer Holt, turning to him, "haven't you gone yet? Give you my daughter Muriel? Not if there weren't another man in the country. Mr. Vandike, I don't mean any offense, but when my girl marries she'll marry a farmer. That's a sort of man I understand; he grows corn and trees, and owns fields and arms. I'll never consent to her marrying a man who only paints 'em."

Mr. Vandike opened his mouth and shut it again.

"Are you serious, Mr. Holt?" he said, fumbling for his glasses.

"That I am, and no doubt of it," said the farmer. "But look you here," he added thoughtfully, "don't make any offense, for, on my honor, I don't mean any, and you know it. Simply, I don't understand artists and artist's ways. My girl's a simple country lass—true of heart, mind you, and as good as a parson—but she don't understand them, either, and I know she wouldn't be happy with them, so think no more about it. Because I tell you I won't give my consent, and I know her too well to ear she'll marry without it."

"But," urged the enamored artist, surely, you will let me try my fortune with Miss Holt, sir; if—if I have had the good fortune to gain her heart, you will at least give me time? I'll turn farmer if you like—anything—but let me hear from her own lips that there is no hope for me."

The farmer thought for a moment. "Well, so you shall," he said quietly; "on one condition, and that is, if Muriel says no, you pack up and make studies of cows and trees in another country. Come, it is not a very hard bargain, young man." And he looked the artist full in the face.

Mr. Vandike without a word turned off to the farm.

He found Muriel sitting at the window working—or, rather, resting from work, for her sweet face was shining upon her hand, and her eyes were fixed on the table thoughtlessly.

Mr. Vandike fancied that he saw ears in them, but Muriel looked up so merrily, and smiled so happily that he was sure he had been mistaken, and put the fancy down to his embarrassment.

"Miss Holt, I've just seen your father," he said, fumbling for his eyeglass, which, from the first moment of his proposal, had slipped over his shoulder and added to his confusion. "He sent me to you—"

"Yes?" said Muriel. "Has he left anything behind? What is it?"

"No, not," said Mr. Vandike. "I asked him a question, and at first he said no, but afterwards he agreed if you would say yes, he would change it to yes, too."

"Well," said Muriel, taking up her work, all unconscious. "And, pray, what was it? Do you want to take my new colt?"

"No," said Mr. Vandike nervously. "No; I want to take you, my dear Miss Holt."

"Me!" said Muriel. "I can't spare the time, you know, for a full-length picture, Mr. Vandike."

"Not for a picture, but for a wife, dear Muriel," said Mr. Vandike, leaning on the table.

Muriel dropped her work and looked up, pale, troubled and sad.

"Oh, Mr. Vandike," she said in her low, grave voice. "I am so sorry! Oh, say you are not in earnest; it is only one of your horrid jokes! Don't look so serious! You cannot tell how grieved I shall be if you are unhappy! But you are not serious, are you?"

In any good library you can learn why you should drink cocoa.

Ask the librarian to show you the authoritative books on dietetics. Turn to the chapter on beverages. You will learn that of the three most extensively consumed table beverages—tea, coffee and cocoa—cocoa is distinctly beneficial, whereas tea and coffee are frequently injurious.

Of course there are folks of rugged constitutions who drink tea and coffee and apparently feel no ill effects.

But there are many more not so rugged. Good cocoa offers them a wholesome, nourishing food in liquid form.

In Lowney's they get cocoa at its very best. Handlers of cocoa beans will tell you that we buy the most costly cocoa beans that the tropics afford. These beans are made into delicious cocoa at our neat-as-a-pin factory at Montreal.

Sold by grocers, in tins—10c to 50c sizes.

One Kind of Cruel Husband.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

When I ask if the mental pain and humiliation which she suffers from being constantly rebuked and ridiculed is not quite as keen as physical pain.

A woman cannot help wanting to have her opinion received with some respect and her foolish little mistakes overlooked, even if she is a wife. And mind you, when I speak of ridicule I don't mean the tender raillery that is half kindly jest and half pride. I mean the unsympathetic ridicule that brings a lump to the throat and makes the heart sore.

Now I know that some of the men I am accusing would defend themselves by saying, "But if I could only hear the utterly foolish things my wife says."

That will be some justification, prisoner at the bar, on one condition. Would these same things arouse your derision if some pretty young stranger said them? Or would you listen as deferentially as if the pretty young thing were dropping pearls and diamonds of wisdom from her lovely lips?

No, prisoner at the bar, that won't let you off. Your wife said just as foolish things before you married her and you didn't find it necessary to be rude and disagreeable to her then.

Please consider yourself, insofar as the district attorney can accomplish it, proven guilty of cruelty that is just as cruel and just as hard to bear as physical cruelty.

What is the penalty? That you go at once and tell your wife that you are thoroughly penitent for being so thoughtless and that you are going to turn over a new leaf.

If a census could be taken of husbands who think they love their wives and yet never hesitate to humiliate and wound them by speaking sharply to them or making fun of them, I suspect that every town would yield its hundreds and every city its thousands and tens of thousands.

Now there are undoubtedly very few of these men who would not be horrified at the thought of being capable of inflicting physical pain on their wives.

They would probably knock a man down if he suggested to them that such a thing was possible.

And yet I know that the heart of every woman who has a husband like this will give me a speedy affirmative

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. J. Innes, of 321 S. Benton Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the youngest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Sarsaparil. I never felt as well before. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 100 pounds before and now I weigh 135. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it."

On Second Thought.

BY JAY E. HOUSE.

The international Bible students say hell doesn't exist. If a theory is pleasing, not many of us take the trouble to inquire whether it is sound.

Sim Heckle seems to be different from other men in this respect. Sim does his public weeping in the name of his father. Most men addicted to the practice do their public weeping in the names of their mothers.

The crowd at a ball game gets a little entertainment from the practice of dumping empty pop bottles in the neighborhood of the visiting players, but it never reveals the full measure of its satisfaction until the umpire is injured.

The prize fight often is stopped by the police, but the orator generally is allowed to ramble along to the end of his speech.

If the "straw" vote shows your candidate running second it is a very foolish and inconclusive proceeding.

A good many actors are continually engaged in an effort to defend their titles.

"This," said Sim Heckle yesterday, "ought to be a good year for the lozange makers. All of the politicians and a good many of the statesmen have lost their voices."

Daring Woman Alpine Climber.

Paris, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Fanny Bullock Workman, the mountain climber, writes from Skardu, in the Himalayas, on Sept. 2nd, sends the first detailed account of the accident which gave rise to the report that she had been killed by an avalanche. She says:—

"We were crossing Bilapho Pass at about an 18,000-foot height when an Italian porter, named Chenoz, who was carrying the rope, strode ahead. I was about three paces behind when suddenly without a word or a cry he disappeared, carrying the rope, which was the only means of extrication. Having only one extra rope remaining, the head guide called down the crevasse and a faint reply showed that Chenoz, who was far below was still alive. Six started after the head guide, who was back in an hour and a half when Chenoz was extricated from an 80-foot depth. He was still conscious and was carried to camp. Everything possible was done for him, but he died the same night from shock."

The letter describes the work of the expedition on the Siachen, or Rose Glacier, which is the largest and longest in Asia. During nine days in July Dr. and Mrs. Workman and three Italian guides made the first ascents of four important snow passes at two sources of this glacier, the heights varying from 19,500 to 21,000 feet, which constitutes a record for glacial exploration.

For six weeks all the camps were above 17,000 feet and the cold was often intense. Grant Peterkin, a London surveyor, was enabled, owing to favourable weather, to map the entire Rose Glacier. Mrs. Workman's expeditions of 1911 and 1912 make the hitherto unexplored Siachen the most thoroughly explored of any of the Himalayan glaciers.

To Make a Morris Holiday.

Things have come to a pretty pass when old age pensioners are put on exhibition to make a Picnic Party. No wonder those who work for a living cheered Morris's opponents, to the echo in his very presence. No wonder that the people of St. Barbe's have to use either for Morris or Mott. It would be strange indeed if the fishermen of the whole country did not resent the making a spectacle of their worn-out brethren. It would be surprising indeed if indignation did not arise in their breasts at the thought that Morris had not only been making a spectacle of Old Age Pensioners, but had been publishing the fact in his organs under the mistaken view that it would boom his party. Unless we are much mistaken the following message from LaSalle to his organs will prove a veritable boomerang. People will not stand for such a message as this.

"The spectacular feature of the Premier's tour was that at nearly every meeting he had an Old Age Pension in his pocket."
It's a fine how de when people are called upon to suffer such indignities to grace the progress of a Picnic Premier. In days of old prisoners were butchered to make a Roman holiday, to-day Old Age Pensioners are made the spectacular feature of the Picnic Premier's tour, and press messages are sent to boom the showman's doings. As we pointed out yesterday he can make what show he likes of the members of his Picnic Party. He has a showman's eye as he showed in 1897, when he told the people of the West End that his idea of the Tory Party was: "There was never gathered together such a menagerie, and if Barnum were only alive to buy them out there would be a fortune for him that would put Klondyke in the shade."
He has had his eyes on them ever since and has adopted a number of them. He can exhibit Mott as much as he likes in St. Barbe's for what we care. He can show him up as the Speaker of the House of Assembly who became Proprietor of the Daily News with Reid's money. The people will have no objection whatever to the Picnic Barnum putting in Mott to give an exhibition of that stunt as far as he likes. But they will object to any political Barium making Old Age Pensioners a spectacular feature of his tour. What a commentary such a spectacle affords on Morris's promise that fishermen, farmers, mechanics, laborers, clerks and all who work for a living would find a rallying point under his banner to work for the common good. They have not found cheaper food, cheaper coal, cheaper clothes, cheaper houses, but they have found that Sir Edward Morris will make a cheap exhibition of them to serve his own purposes and reach his own ends.

Minard's Liniment Co. Limited.

Sirs—I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to let me use it for a very bad sprain which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you would let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. Thanking you in advance I remain, Buying Fish.

We learn that the Gorton Pew Coy. of Gloucester, Mass., are eager to get Newfoundland green fish this year and have a vessel and agent at Rose Blanche the past week or ten days where they are making large purchases. Last year they took $20,000 worth of green fish from this neighborhood and we hear they will be if possible for more this season. In some cases the fish is taken from the knife, salted and stowed away and the fishermen are getting liberal figure for it. This will relieve the market considerably and will help to keep up the price of the staple on the S. W. Coast.

Montenegrin Capture Mountains Commanding Road to Scutari.

Special Evening Telegram.
POGORITZA, To-day.
The Montenegrins have captured Dretchitch Mountain. The Turkish commander, and officers and many soldiers have surrendered. For thirty hours the battle between the Montenegrin forces, under direct command of King Nicholas, and the Turkish troops strongly entrenched in the hills, has been in progress. Strongly fortified positions were occupied by the Turks on Dretchitch mountain, which the road to Scutari. Reinforcements were brought up which resulted in a general engagement which extended along the line for several miles. King Nicholas remained at his headquarters, Podgoritza, while the Crown Prince directed operations at the front. The Montenegrins resumed the bombardment of Dretchitch at dawn and a heavy cannonading was kept up until 11 o'clock yesterday morning, when the Turkish batteries on the mountain were silenced. Meantime a great battle was proceeding near the Turkish town, Tush, about fifteen miles south of Podgoritza. A division of Montenegrins commanded by General Vukotich, crossed the frontier early this morning near Berana.

LONDON, To-day.
The situation is as puzzling as before. No declaration of war has been issued by other allied Balkan States. There is no news yet of their ministers having left Constantinople. It cannot, therefore, be definitely said whether the Montenegrins act independently with the motive of forcing a conflict, so as to render powerful efforts to preserve peace nugatory, or in accordance with a strategic plan arranged by Balkan coalition. The Powers yesterday presented a collective note, inviting Turkey to discuss a scheme of reform in Macedonia. It appears, however, as though while diplomacy is trying to arrange matters peacefully, guns will decide it for them. Fresh Bulgarian attacks on Turkish frontier towns are reported and the opinion is growing that opposing parties are only using diplomatic delays to concentrate their forces in readiness for the inevitable outbreak.

Here and There.

WEST INDIAN AGENT HERE.—Mr. L. A. Hamilton, fish merchant of Jamaica, and who represents several of our fish dealers, arrived in the Florida on business. Mr. Hamilton is an expert on fishery matters and will remain here for several weeks.

LOST THEIR PASSAGE.—The Solway sailed at midnight Sunday and as the stewards were ashore and believed she would not go until Monday morning, 5 of them lost their passage in her and were sent forward by train to board her.

POOR WHALE FISHERY.—Parties who arrived upon Battle Hill harbor via the Home and railway a couple of days ago, say that the whaler Hawk fishing at Cape Charles has made a poor voyage of this season. The big fish were very scarce and she only secured four.

TO-MORROW'S MATCH.—The football match between H.M.S. Cornwall and the City takes place on St. George's Field to-morrow afternoon. The contest, no doubt, will prove of more than ordinary interest. The City team has not been selected up to noon to-day, as Saturday is such a busy day that some of the best players will not be able to get off from work.

SAILED FOR BARBADOS.—The schr. Maggie Bell, sailed this morning for Barbados, fish laden. She was towed outside the Beads by the Inghram and had a fair time off. The Maggie Bell took 535 packages of cod-fish, equivalent to 1,834 quintals, 119 barrels of herring and 138 barrels of salmon. This cargo was shipped by six different mercantile firms and is the first to go to Barbados for some time.

A SUCCESSFUL SALE.—Last week at Cape Charles, Labrador, a sale of work which would do credit to a far more pretentious place, was held by the women of the Anglican communion. It was kept running for three nights and St. John's men who were present say that some beautiful and very artistically wrought articles were displayed, all done by the ladies themselves. The sum of $240 was realized and will be devoted to church purposes.

SEEKING LIVE FOXES.—Recent arrivals from Labrador say that a number of Canadians are now down on the Labrador, seeking live foxes for fox farms, many of which are now to be found in the Dominion. There is no limit to the money they will pay for a patched silver or black animal and one man paid $850 at Finley's Hr. for a patched fox. At Bay St. George recently the sum of $1,500 was paid for a black fox. None of the dealers, however, will touch the red or brown species.

The S. S. Prospero left Seldom Come By at 10.40 a.m. to-day, coming south, and is due here on Monday. The cattle schr. Gladys E. Whidden sailed to-day for Beyfield, N. S.

SOFIA, Oct. 10. The Bulgarian premier, Ivan Gue-shoff declared this morning that he did not yet despair of being re-verted at the last moment. The council of ministers held yesterday, has not yet reached any decision. An exchange of views between the Bul-garian, Servian and Greek cabinets is continuing. As Montenegro has begun hostilities against Turkey she naturally has no more to say in the matter, he continued. In any case Bulgaria's decision, he said, would not long be delayed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 10. A violent storm of opinion has been aroused by the Turkish Govern-ment's decision to grant reforms in Macedonia. Two thousand students, armed with revolvers, to-day, march-ed to the Porte clamouring for war and "no surrender." On the way they met the Minister of War, to whom they shouted: "We want war." The Minister replied, "Nobody wants peace." Arriving at the Porte, where the ministers were sitting in council, the students, whose numbers had swollen to over 5,000, broke the win-dows of the Grand Vizier's offices, whose gates were closed. They then shout-ed: "We will not have the Treaty of Berlin."

LONDON, Oct. 10. It is almost certain that the Duke of Connaught's term as Governor General of Canada will extend over another year, says Truth, which is generally reliable on such matters. It is very desirable that he should be at the head of the Canadian Govern-ment, when the Prince of Wales and Prince Albert visit Canada in 1913. The extension of the Duke's term will be very popular in Canada. The Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia are coming to England in April for a few weeks to visit the Crown Prince and Princess, who are at Stockholm. It is considered probable that the latter will visit her father in Canada next autumn.

Sir Edward said that in informing the States of Britain's intention to address a com-munication to Washington when the Panama Bill has been received and considered, the Foreign office added that should there be eventually differ-ences between the countries, as re-garding the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which could be settled by other means, Britain would ask that they be referred to arbitration.

Meeting at the College Hall.

The second public meeting in connection with the reorganization of the Methodist Guards Brigade, was held last night at the above Hall, and was very representatively attended.

Mr. Henry Gear occupied the chair, and displayed a great interest in the movement, and made some stirring appeals in its favor. The Rev. J. W. Bartlett delivered a very earnest and logical speech upon the question, and expressed himself as being in full sympathy with it, and felt sure of its success. Major Hutchings followed the first speaker, and corroborated many of his statements, and gave no uncertain sound as to his position in the premises, and his faith in the movement. He had worked for ten years past, and knew what had been accomplished, and he was fully intent on continuing his devotion to the Brigade. His remarks were very practical, and like those of the former speaker, they were well received, and elicited loud and prolonged applause.

An unexpected, though none the less enjoyable feature of the meeting was afforded by the singing of Mr. Hedley Taylor, and Mr. Hatcher. Each of these gentlemen have been often heard to good advantage, but both their songs and their singing last night were among their best efforts, and choicest selections. After this the meeting assumed a more practical shape, and came to the direct business of the hour, and resulted in the promise of some $4000 towards the building fund. This amount, with other donations in view, represented a total of some $6000.00. This may be taken as the basis upon which the committee will work, and if they find that the prospects will justify them in proceeding with the building, they will continue. It is evident that the crucial moment of this movement has now arrived, which means either total abandonment or a forward step to success and completion. It will of course rest with the friends in general of the Methodist denomination, and somewhat with the public, and as there has always been a hearty response in such matters, there is room for high expectations.

The question of Brigades and Y. M. C. A.'s is one too well known to the public to require much further comment, and there can be no doubt whatever that such a building as is now contemplated would prove a very attractive centre for the male portion of the Methodist community, and that the benefits in recreation, exercise, and physical drill, as well as the opportunities for improvement, both mental and morally, with the further advantages of social reunions would repay the undertaking of the work. We fully believe that there is money enough somewhere to erect and equip this building, and we would earnestly solicit the support of those who can really help.

Wedding Bells.

FITZPATRICK-TAPPER.
A very pretty wedding took place on Sunday, Oct. 6th, when Miss Mary Tapper, and Mr. Thomas J. Fitzpatrick were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. D. O'Callaghan, at the residence of the bride's parents, Torbay. The groom was supported by his nephew, Mr. Alfred Gosse, of Bell Island, and the bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Bessie Tapper, Miss Florence M. Davidson and Miss Margaret Battock, of St. John's, while Miss Bridie Gosse, niece of the groom, acted as flower girl. Mrs. Fitzpatrick wore a dress of cream satin and veil with wreath of orange blossoms. After a bountiful repast was partaken of and a very enjoyable time spent with their friends the happy couple left for their future residence, 119 Gower Street, St. John's.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many presents and congratulations.

The Florizel Arrives.

The S. S. Florizel, Capt. Williams, arrived last evening from New York via Halifax. She left the former port on Saturday afternoon last, experiencing splendid weather, but on the passage to St. John's from Halifax strong head winds were continuous. She brought a full cargo, including deck load and the following passengers: P. T. Reid, W. E. Knight, Miss B. Ellis, G. A. and Mrs. Vaughan, Miss L. Beet, L. A. Hamilton, Miss G. Straug, D. R. Clarke, J. Hurst, J. B. Erskine, W. V. Giffen, Miss M. Pike, T. G. Dickson, J. G. Joy and fifteen second class.

A Marvellous Act at Rossley Theatre.

One of the most astounding acts ever seen in St. John's is at the Star Theatre. Young Dave Nicholson, known as the Human Frog or Boneless wonder, is packing the house nightly by his wonderful feats of contortion. Last night he performed his act on a table so that all might see him. His jump from a six-foot pedestal, with his legs knotted behind his back, to the floor on his hands, called forth cheers and applause. He was recalled again and again. Last night he added quite a large number of new feats to his act. Monday will see him in a great aerial act on the flying trapeze; he is certainly a wonder.

Nearly Forty Per Cent

OF THE TOTAL BUYING OF MEN AND BOYS IS CROWDED INTO SATURDAY.

Did you ever stop to think, you men, what a tremendous effort has been put forth to please you when you rush into some store on Saturday and say, "Give me this!" or "Give me that!" All of the machinery of commerce has been strained to the breaking point in order that you might go out again with a burble and a smile.

All of your clothes for this fall were studied and planned and produced many months ago. Many a shoe factory was working nights in May for the shoes you are going to buy this Saturday in October. And the same tremendous effort has been put into everything you wear.

Every Thursday night there is a busy advertising office, planning and scheming with a busy merchandise department for just some certain agreeable surprise that will strike your fancy and will please your eyes. Every Friday night there are curtains in front of the store windows and another tremendous effort is being made in window displays.

All this is being done because you have a remarkably peculiar habit of buying on Saturday.

Now the oddest thing is, that Saturday has two meanings in the world of merchandise. To the far-seeing, energetic merchant who advertises (whether he be large or small), Saturday means a test of his ability, of the efficiency of his store, and of his ever increasing capacity to serve more and more people and serve them well.

To the little merchants of stunted growth and limited capacity—to those who do not advertise, but simply stand and wait—Saturday means quite another and a different thing. To them it is merely another harvest-time of extra profits at your expense—always with the hope that another week will grow another crop.

Now, please, by all that is fair, give your trade to those stores which have given their energy to you. Give your trade to those stores who not only stand back of their merchandise, but stand back of their service and of their advertising as well. Buy everything you need this Saturday through the advertising columns of this paper and you will not regret it. Because you will find the merchandise backing up the advertising, the man backing up the merchandise and the service backing up the man.

Turn to that advertising now. It may open your eyes.

A New Industry.

This summer and fall a new, and what promises to be a lucrative industry, has been started on the S. W. Coast. It is the canning of fresh cod tongues. Women and boys have been engaged cutting the tongues from the cod as they were split in the stages. They were canned quickly after being cleaned and several hundred cases were turned out. A prominent young business man of the city has inaugurated this and it promises to be a paying innovation in our most important work the catching and curing of cod. This new departure is now only in the experimental stage, and samples of the goods only reached the city a few days ago. Those who have partaken of the tongues including the writer pronounce them to be a delicious dish when they are served up after being fried, and they will sell quickly in the local market. Next year it is the intention of the originator to employ boys, girls and women all over the S. W. Coast and other places to collect this delicacy and have it canned. Instead of turning out hundreds of cases the originator of the project hopes to have thousands canned next year and to export them to the United States and Great Britain where they must by virtue of their excellence become a favourite dish with the people of these countries.

The starting of an industry of this kind means more to the people and conduces more to their benefit than the fads and fakes which Morris and the Tories have been preaching since the people—unfortunately for themselves—entrusted them with governmental power which they so egregiously abused.

A PITIFUL SIGHT.—People passing up Pennywell Road to-day witnessed a case of cruelty to animals in its worst form. The animal was being led up that thoroughfare by two boys when it suddenly collapsed on the road. It was eventually got on its legs again and staggered off. Our informant tells us that the animal was in a half-starved condition, with the bones almost protruding through the skin. What a pity the owner of that animal wasn't treated to a diet of biscuit and cold water in H. M. Penitentiary.

The Slattery Memorial

The new Memorial Tablet to the late Rev. Brother Slattery has arrived from Dublin and has been handed over to the Committee for their final approval. The tablet is of polished brass, mounted on a marble frame and is splendidly finished. On it is engraved the following inscription:—

DEO OPTIMO MAXIMO.
This edifice, initiated by public subscription to keep ever green the fragrant memory of

THE REVEREND BROTHER JOHN L. SLATTERY who for nine years was Director at Mount Cashel, was completed Anno Domini, 1911.

Zealous in his devotion to Holy Church, ardent in his affection for his mother Erin, with her full of charity to all men but especially to the distressed, beloved by all, he surrendered his brilliant talents to the cause of religion and education and to the care of the poor in this his adopted country.

He yielded his soul to God in November 1909 in the North Monastery, Cork.

Hibernia lent him to us: she protects his ashes.

REQUIESCAT IN PACE.
Serious Street Row.

A big row occurred yesterday afternoon amongst some laborers on Water Street, near the new Seamen's Institute. The fracas was stopped in its early stage by Constables Conway and Lee, but as soon as the officers went the fighters got at it harder than ever. The same two policemen were again acquainted of the matter and returned to quash the row which had the aspect of a small riot. The principal of the trouble was captured and arrested. He remonstrated with the officers who after much difficulty succeeded in handcuffing him. During this scrimmage the police had an anxious time of it. Instead of getting assistance from about a hundred men who were looking on, they received threats to liberate the prisoner, but the officers pluckily held their man and eventually landed him at the lockup. A couple of men who were called to assist the police in the King's name replied in blasphemous terms and will be summoned.

Working For The People.

The Philanthropic Twins — Edward and Donald.

Dear Sir,—When a great national enterprise was inaugurated in New South Wales, on Friday, September 13th, King George cabled congratulations "to my people" of the Commonwealth. We have every loyalty and respect for the King and expect him to cable "to his people" of the Empire when occasion arises.

But what contempt should we have for a man like E. P. Morris whom we know all about from his boyhood up, apeing the King, and referring to us—to you and me and all of us—as "my people." Will he tell "my people," etc., etc., he says in New York.

Will anyone who knew E. P. Morris when he lived in Poor House Lane, and later, when he began to harangue the people in St. John's West, allow him to call you "my people." Nothing but presumption, kept alive by gall, brass, jaw, could induce a man to refer to us in that way. Is he living on presumptions, because he said he would accept no salary?

Working for Nothing.
From E. P. Morris's experience in life, and his sentiments expressed at elections times, one would expect him to be a real demagogue, working for the people. Whereas the People's Party to-day has well earned the popular title "The Picnic Party." No one who does not want a real good picnic need apply for membership in that party. But the farmers, fishermen, labourers and all who work for a living, the voters who helped to elect that party, need not apply for any picnic.

But is E. P. Morris as a politician a real live demagogue—a people's man, working for the people? Which of us—earning no salary in politics—would refuse a trip, or several trips around this island and to England and to Europe at the Government expense? Which of us would have the "gall," to tell "my people" that we are working for no salary, leaving it to be inferred "Service with Freedom" and "for our case?" E. P. Morris who is working without salary in politics—so he said (working overtime now) and Donald Morrison, the timber philanthropist, each got that much more or less out of the Hague Arbitration account. If they did work, it's time we know what they did. And both of them flourish banners with the strange device: "The People's Party." Is that Morrison's idea of a "business government?" This is the same E. P. Morris who said he was working without salary and who thinks he has still got St. John's West in his pocket. And this is the same Donald Morrison who thinks he created the business of cutting timber on Crown Lands, besides getting his share of nearly 14,000 square miles of timber land.

Perfectly Ridiculous.
There is a period, however, in E. P. Morris's political life that ought not to be forgotten—(ditto Morrison's) which period impels us to think that Sir E. P. Morris as a politician generally stood out for Reid contracts, though Morrison, his Attorney General, stood in for timber limits. We are not now referring to the time when E. P. Morris said it would be "perfectly ridiculous" for Donald Morrison to have remembered the law when he wrote that letter to Strong. We refer to that period commencing in 1898, when the Reid 1898 contract was before the House of Assembly, when Sir R. Bond and Sir E. P. Morris were sitting on the Opposition side of the House, when it was believed that the Winter Government was in line with the 1898 contract and that Bond and E. P. Morris were opposed to the Winter Government and the Reid Contract, which he had voted for. He didn't mind. In the Bond Government which followed he assisted Bond in passing the 1901 Contract, reforming the famous 1898 Contract, and taking back the Telegraphs and the reversion, which he had voted to give to the Reids. He didn't mind. E. P. Morris, being Attorney General in Bond's Government, acted as lawyer for the Government in the Telegraph Arbitration which followed between the Reids and the Government, and the Reids got one million five hundred thousand dollars. Did E. P. Morris mind? But his spokesman, P. T. McGrath to do it for him, for he seldom or never answers the pith of an argument but goes all round it and seldom disdains to be scurrilous. However, Morris stood in with Bond's Government until he left in 1907. From 1898 to 1907 is the period we speak of, and if anyone wants to know E. P. Morris as a politician he ought to give some attention to this period of his politics as well as to the rest.

The Picnic Party.
His spokesman to-day is P. T. McGrath (of the Chronicle) who has in his time called him everything that a miserable minded man could call another. You know P. T. McGrath has in turn supported almost every prominent politician in Newfoundland, and in turn abused and vilified the same. Why is this? Because P. T. McGrath is not a likely man to be or become a paragon, or an apostle, or an arbiter of fashion, morals or politics.

However, E. P. Morris collaborated with the same P. T. McGrath and coined the title "The People's Party"

A Rattling Good Tonic.

That is what one of my customers called Stafford's Prescription "A." Another man said it sweetened his wife after being a sour dyspeptic for years.
One wife said she had to take it away from her husband, she could not cook enough to satisfy the appetite it gave him.
Stories like these make us enthusiastic about Stafford's Prescription "A."
If you are not feeling up to the mark perhaps your stomach is causing the trouble. Worth while finding out anyway. A large bottle for 50 cents; postage 10 cents extra. Trial size 25 cents; postage 5 cents extra. Prepared only.

Mexican Banker, With Map, Finds Treasure Chest Buried in Southern California.
San Jose, Cal., Oct. 1.—Seventy-five thousand dollars' worth of buried treasure was unearthed by a Mexican banker of Eusemenda from a mountain ridge in Benito county last week, according to a story told to-day by William Rogers, who says he acted as the Mexican's guide.
Rogers says his employer carried a map true in every detail. The Mexican laborers accompanied the banker and dug out the treasure chest. It was discovered eight feet under ground at the foot of a huge oak tree. The treasure consisted of $10,000 in silver bullion and $65,000 in gold ingots. It is believed the money was buried by a Mexican named Vasquez half a century ago.

Champions Dined

Last night the Star Football team, who won the League Football championship, the past summer, were dined at Smithville, by Rev. Father O'Callaghan, the Spiritual Director of the Star of the Sea Association, in honor of their victory. All the officers of the society were present and covers were laid for fifty persons. The reverend cleric, who was the host of the evening, presided with grace and dignity. At the opening he served in excellent style by the winners. After an appetizing menu, served in excellent style by Furlong Bros., had been discussed, a short toast list, interspersed by songs, was taken up when some appropriate, though brief, speeches were made. The rendition of the National Anthem brought the happy event to a termination at midnight.

Worst Stomach Trouble Ended.

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia five minutes after taking "Pape's Diapiesin."

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapiesin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief. This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no more sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store. These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia. Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

That the popularity of the Klark-Urban Company is continuing to be evidenced by their crowded audiences. The play, which is brimful of interest, was well received by a full house. The specialties, too, were good. To-night that well-known story "Sign of the Four," written by Conan Doyle, will be staged. At to-morrow's matinee "Wildfire" will be produced.

MORWENNA FROM MONTREAL.—The Black Diamond Line steamer Morwenna, Capt. Holmes, arrived from Montreal via gulf ports at two o'clock this afternoon, the passage occupying seven days. Two Schooners Lost.

By crafts which recently arrived from Labrador we learn that last week a vessel went ashore at George's Island, near Rigolette Bay, and became a total loss. Our informants could not say if she had fish on board or otherwise. Another schooner drove from her moorings at Indian Islands and was swept ashore in a high wind. She also became a total loss and had 480 qtls. of fish on board. The schooners were about 80 tons each. The crews escaped and saved all their effects.

Another Schr. Lost.

Last evening the firm of Monroe & Coy. received a wire from Change Is. apprising them of the loss of the Schr. "E. P. Morris." The vessel went ashore at Farewell Tickle and was on her way from the French Shore to this port with 1,700 qtls. fish on board. She was owned by Mr. W. Reid and was a fine schooner of 84 tons. The fish is insured, we understand, and is the hull. No particulars as to how the accident occurred were received. The crew escaped with their possessions.

Supreme Court.

Yesterday afternoon the case of Noah vs. Ryding was concluded and judgment was delivered by the Chief Justice. It was for the plaintiff on the claim and for the defendant on the counter claim.

TO-DAY.
(Before the Chief Justice.)

The girl Wheeler, charged with manslaughter, was arraigned and pleaded guilty. Mr. Higgins, who appeared to defend her, addressed the Court, putting forth reasons why leniency should be shown in the sentence owing to the mental and physical condition of the girl. The Chief Justice intimated that medical evidence as to the girl's mental condition ought to be produced, and deferred passing sentence till such could be procured.

Tessier & Co. vs. the Bonaventure Steamship Co.
This was an application for leave to amend particulars of claim filed herein. The amendment was allowed, and it was ordered that the plaintiff pay the costs of amendment. Mr. McNelly for plaintiff, Mr. Fenelon for defendant.

Partridge Berry Industry

The schr. Rosa May, Capt. Rose, arrived here Wednesday from Western Bay with 360 barrels of partridge berries for shipment to New York by the Florizel. Capt. Rose says there are 100 barrels more at Adam's Cove and hundreds of others along the North Shore awaiting shipment here. This industry has a beneficial effect on the people of the North Shore of the Bay. The price for picking the berries this season is higher than ever before and the people were given 20 cents per gallon for gathering them. Whole families all along the shore have been engaged at the industry since the berries became ripe, and individuals have made from $1.50 to $2.50 per day for weeks thereby liberally supplementing the earnings of fathers and sons at their natural avocation—the codfishery. Next year these people will conduct the work on a far more extensive scale.

The Police Court.

A drunk was discharged. A drunk and disorderly, who was charged with using profane language, was fined $5 or 14 days.

A drunk was discharged on paying for his cab hire. A drunk and disorderly was fined $5 or 14 days.

A drunk for the 5th time was fined $2 or 7 days. A drunk who was charged with being drunk in his sister's house was discharged, as was another drunk. A man charged with being drunk and disorderly in his own house was discharged, his wife not appearing against him.

A charge against three men for assaulting a constable was tried. One was fined $2 or 7 days, another $2 or 7 days, and the charge against the third was dismissed.

Another Vessel Lost.

Yesterday a wireless was received in the city from Mokavik via Fogo, to J. Dunn which reads as follows:—"We are in distress; vessel lost, 1,500 qtls. fish on the rocks, and no means of shipping."

This is a serious blow to these people, who on the bleak Labrador Coast at this season of the year. It is hoped, however, that the Stella Maria may be able to give the necessary aid and the Marine and Fisheries Department should also attend to these unfortunate people.

Marine Notes.

The barqt. Maggie Belle, Captain Snelzer, sailed for Barbadoes to-day with a cargo of fish, herring and salmon sent along by five different shippers.

The barqt. Minnie will start loading fish next week at Goodridge's for Brazil.

Sat in the Corner

Dick and Edward and little Joe sat in the corner in a row. They saw the patient mother go On ceaseless errands to and fro. They saw that her form was bent and thin Her temple grey, her cheeks sunk in. They saw the quiver of lip and chin; And then with a warmth they could not smother, Out spoke the youngest frailest brother: "You talk of saving wood and fire An' tea an' sugar and all the while, But you never talk of savin' mother!"

PORTIA SAILS.—The S. S. Portia sailed for western ports to-day taking a full freight and the following passengers: Const. Quinlan, Dr. Freebairn, A. McDougall, R. J. Devereux, Dr. McNairn, S. Reilly, Mrs. Oakley, Foley, Freebairn, Burke, Healey, Miss Newman, Kellard, Hartigan, and 20 in steerage.

Garden Cities.

In England improved transit has given birth to the garden suburb. It has made possible the garden city. This is England's latest, possibly her greatest, contribution to the city problem, to the housing of the workingman, the clerk, and the moderately well-to-do classes of the great cities. The discovery came none too soon. For the city is sapping the vitality of Great Britain. In that country people out of every five live under urban conditions. And statesmen and reformers have stood aghast at the decay in the physical and moral fibre of the nation, due to the diseased-breeding condition of the tenement and slums. London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Sheffield, all the large cities of Great Britain, have vainly struggled with the housing problem. They have built municipal dwellings, have tried to control private tenements, but the inrush of people swamped their most ambitious efforts.

The garden communities of Letchworth, Hamptonstead, Bourneville, and Port Sunlight have demonstrated that clean, wholesome, comfortable cottages are possible for everybody and at the very low rent of from five dollars a month upward. They have demonstrated that that life is lengthened, the death and infant mortality rate is reduced, and labor is more efficient in these open-air communities than in the cities, and that working people gladly follow their employers to these more attractive surroundings.

In the building of garden villages three things are recognized as fundamental: one, the purchase of a large area of low-priced agricultural land in advance of any development; two, the permanent control of the whole area, as well as of streets, open spaces, and building regulations by the corporation or the city; and three, the reservation by the community, through the private corporation promoting the enterprise, of the increasing land values which the building of the community creates. The garden city is in effect its own ground landlord. Indirectly it is a house-builder and a house-owner. It operates through a private corporation which owns the land, pledged to five per cent. on the capital actually invested, and to use the sapiently increase of land values for the community.

These are the physical foundations of the garden city. To these are added, where necessary, the adjustment of transit to nearby cities so that rapid communication will be possible, as well as the ownership or a close working arrangement with the water, gas and electricity supply. These form the plumbing of the city. They are essential to the life, comfort, and convenience of the people and the promotion of industry.

The main difference between the ordinary city and the garden city is this: the former is left to the unrestrained license of speculators, builders, owners, to a constant conflict of public and private interests; the latter treats the community as a unit, with rights superior to those of any of its individual members. One is a city of unregulated, private property rights; the other is a community intelligently planned and harmoniously adjusted, with the emphasis always on the rights to the community rather than on the rights of the individual property owner.—Scribner's.

C. L. B. Lads Entertained.
Sergt. W. D. Edwards, whose team of No. 2 Section, B. Co., C. L. B., won the Outerbridge Shield for this year, gave the lads a time at his home Circular Road. The officers from the opposing teams were present and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Speeches, songs and music were in order and Corporal Crane of Section 1 A. Co., was praised for his plucky fight, he only being defeated by a quarter of a point. The affair was closed by the singing of the "National Anthem."

Anniversary Father Matthew.

Last night the 120th anniversary of the birth of Father Matthew, was celebrated in a becoming manner by the members of the T. A. and B. Society. The hall was profusely decorated with bunting, flags being strung from the outside of the building. At 9 o'clock the evening's programme commenced. Fireworks were set off by Mr. P. Hanley and staff while the band discoursed many appropriate selections and the scene attracted the presence of hundreds of citizens. Following this the members and their lady friends, numbering upwards of six hundred people, repaired to the society's armory, where the President, Mr. W. J. Ellis, and Sir E. P. Morris made speeches, presided by two delegates, who were rendered by Mr. J. L. Slattery. Then came the dance which was eagerly looked forward to by the members. Refreshments were served during the evening. At 3 o'clock this morning the crowd dispersed after an enjoyable time spent. On Sunday morning the members of the Society will rendezvous at the R. C. Cathedral, attending eight o'clock mass and will receive Holy Communion in a body.

A DANGEROUS FREAK.—Yesterday afternoon a cask of oil fell off a four wheeled truck going over the King's Beach. It dashed over the steep incline furiously, ran into another vehicle and damaged it. Had any person passed along at the time and been struck by the cask they would have been injured.

Sciatica and Lumbago

Sciatica, neuralgia and sciatic rheumatism are the result of a run-down nervous system. For this reason all treatments must necessarily fail which do not build up the nervous system. Mr. W. T. Collins, Morphett, Ont. writes: "It affords me pleasure to be able to speak favorably of two of Dr. Chase's medicines—the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I had been a sufferer for twenty-five years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried almost all the medicines I could hear of, without one particle of benefit, until I commenced to use Dr. Chase's. I noticed an improvement before I had used two boxes, and the benefits obtained by continued use have been wonderful. I have so much confidence in these two medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends, and I have yet to hear of a single case in which they failed to give satisfaction." Dr. Chase's medicines are for sale by all dealers, or Edmund W. Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

what do you care about Coal? Lots of the people who have bought Oil Heaters here tell us that they plan to use them all the winter, even if coal does the wonderful and comes down to reasonable prices. They find that Oil Heaters are economical and very practical. You use them when you want them, and turn them out when you don't; and if you buy the right kind that are here, they are neither smoky nor smelly.
