A COUNTY ATHLETIC MEET

Young Men of the County are Urged to Take Part in the Sports

The Observer recently received a communication from the New Brunswick Olympic Committee soliciting that every effort be exercised to stimulate local interest in the forthcoming athletic meet to be held at Woodstock, with the view of sending qualified winners to the Provincial Athletic Meet, which is to be held at St. John's in August. The Olympic Committee is of Dominion status, having a provincial branch in each of the provinces. To the Dominion Olympic Committee falls the task of selecting candidates to represent Canada at the Olympic Games, the meeting place of the world's champions, which, in 1924, are to be held at Paris. Each provincial committee has as its aim the finding and developing of athletes. In order that this might more efficiently be accomplished, athletic meets are arranged for in different parts of each of the provinces, and winners at these meets are then gathered together to contest with one another at a central provincial field day, where, should the winning competitors attain specified standards of speed or achievement, representatives are selected to compose the Canadian Olympic Team. Now, while the ultimate object held in view by the Olympic Committee is to pick and develop Canadian champion athletes, the organization fosters and encourages athletic endeavor for the good healthful benefits it offers young men and for the better spirit it develops in a community.

Hartland, in common with the surrounding country and up-river points, is not without its athletes. We are proud of the attainments of our hockey and baseball teams. Their efforts have developed for the individuals composing the teams a good physique and a healthy body; for those who watched the games much enjoyment was obtained. But these games, after all, offer an opportunity to participate in a comparatively few, five in hockey and nine in baseball. In field sports, such as the Olympic meet held in the County Field Meet to be held at Woodstock next Saturday, July 21, is an opportunity open to all. The program includes the following events:

- 100 Yds. dash.
- 220 Yds. dash.
- 440 Yds. run.
- 880 Yds. run.
- 1 Mile run.
- 1 Mile relay race.
- 5 Mile race.
- Running High Jump.
- Running Broad Jump.
- Running Hop, Step and Jump.
- Hammer Throw.
- Shot Put.

The fact that you have never participated in any of the events above enumerated is no indication that you will not do credit to yourself and community.

In the letter received, it was explained that in the case of the one mile relay race, which is run by teams of four, in which each runner runs a quarter mile, one or two from different teams might be chosen for the provincial meet regardless of the placing of the teams.

With so many healthy, robust, good living young men in and about our community, there is no reason why Hartland and up-river points should lack representation at the County Athletic Meet next Saturday. No entry fee will be charged and a medal will be awarded in each event.

PREPARE FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Opens at Hartland July 31—Where to Get Your Season Tickets

Hartland's third summer Chautauqua will open in the big tent on the Village Green on Tuesday, July 31. This great educational-entertainment event needs little introduction any more than to say that the program this year is beyond anything yet offered in point of excellence.

Read all that is being printed in this and other papers and one gets an excellent conception of the generous week's program of highest class lectures and entertainment features that is to be presented.

Season tickets are now on sale and may be purchased in Hartland from Rev. W. F. Haigh, E. N. Dickinson, Hartland Clothing Co., H. R. Nixon, Keith & Plummer Ltd., Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., Bank of Montreal, Hartland Drug Co., D. E. Morgan & Son, R. B. McIntyre, W. E. Thornton, V. W. Simms, Hatfield & Co., Ltd., F. E. Sayre, Mrs. A. W. Kyle.

Out of town tickets may be bought of E. S. Estabrooks, Coldstream; Russell Hatfield, Middle Simonds; Gerald DeWare, Waterville; J. W. Boyer & Co., Victoria; Miss Julia Birmingham, Lower Brighton.

It has been suggested that whereas Florenceville has no Chautauqua this year, if the people of that vicinity will guarantee a certain number of tickets Hartland will not re-engage Chautauqua for next year, leaving the opportunity clear to Florenceville, and will guarantee an equal number of tickets next year. The arrangement has not yet been made, however.

The price of season tickets allowing admission to any or all of the 18 programs is $3.50 for adults and $1.00 for children. This is less than 20 cents for each program. Season tickets are transferrable within a family. No season tickets will be sold after Chautauqua opens. Buy your ticket early.

ALEXIS WON OUT

Complete Victory Credited to Russian Wolfhound.

Moral is, That to Muffin Howling Dog, Get One That is Capable of Doing Worse.

"Every commuter is stuck up about something," said Mr. Jones to the members of the Commuters' club, which meets each evening on the 4:58. "Sometimes it is due to his ability to raise a particular vegetable to perfection or an intellectual superiority that enables him to hatch twelve chicks from twelve eggs; however, if you are looking for the real sensation in this line, you must hunt up the commuter who is stuck up about a dog," observes a writer in the New York Sun.

"When I moved into my present home I was discouraged to learn that I had a neighbor of this description. To make matters worse the dog howled at night. As a protective measure I offered to buy the brute.

"What? Sell Nightingale?" said he. "Well I should hope not! What you are discourteous enough to call howling is only a delicate piece of sound painting. This is the only way the creature has of expressing certain emotions. You must learn to interpret these."

"Two weeks later I was consulting Doctor Rush about my impending nervous breakdown. When I mentioned the cause his face assumed a look of relief.

"This looks like a case for Alexis," said he. "You must take him home with you."

"Who or what is Alexis? I demanded.

"Alexis is the champion counter-irritant of the world," he explained. "A Russian wolfhound, whose voice would shame a hyena. He has just come from a case—a poor fellow living next door to a man who has four singing daughters in the family."

"A great light dawned upon me. Let me have him," I said.

"At about 9 that night my neighbor's dog broke out in a vocal performance containing some tones which I had never heard excelled, even by the worst amateurs. Alexis pricked up his ears and growled in contempt. Uttering a few notes of the best quality of basso profundo, he gathered force as he went. Gradually dropping a full octave below the opening note, he burst forth into an inferno. Hades seemed to have opened up and its inhabitants were chasing each other through the trees. Right in the middle of a bar that threatened to rend his very diaphragm his voice was suddenly extinguished. My neighbor had thrown his dining room rug over the creature.

"I have been trying to tell you," said he, "that I intend to send my dog away. What do you intend to do with yours?"

"The same," said I.

Tank Cars to Carry Milk.

Tank cars for oil are a common sight, but tank cars for milk are something distinctly new. The first installation of this kind was made recently for a large dairy in Pittsburgh, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Two 2,500-gallon steel tanks are mounted on each car. These tanks are of heavy welded plate steel, with a glass lining, and are insulated with cork. Fused into the metal at extreme heat, the glass forms a smooth surface, which is easily cleaned and will stand severe usage. Inside each tank is a motor-driven agitator. Run for five minutes before emptying the tank. It gives uniformity to the contents.

Milk chilled to a temperature of 38 to 40 degrees is maintained at that temperature in the tanks without further refrigeration. Similar tanks are mounted on wagons and motortrucks for hauling the milk from the railroad to the dairy or collecting it along country roads.

New Check on Criminals.

As if the way of the transgressor were not hard enough already, Doctor Locard, a worldwide authority on criminal identification, has elaborated two new plans which seem to have been received with favor in the French criminal courts. In "poroscopy," Doctor Locard considers the number, form and position of body pores remain the same throughout all one's life.

The impression of the pores, in his system, is colored by chemical vapors or very fine powders so that they may be photographed with the aid of a microscope. Graphometry consists in the theory that handwriting shows always a certain relation in size between letters and unmistakable characteristics in form, particularly of loops.—Scientific American.

Magistrate's Perquisite.

Mrs. Nelson, the first woman magistrate of the English town of Croxden, is the possessor of a new pair of white kid gloves, thanks to the time-honored custom of presenting the judge on the bench with a pair of white gloves whenever a session of court begins with no cases on the docket.

His Weak Point.

"Mr. Wadleigh is such a strong, self-willed man I should think he'd be impervious to criticism."

"You never can tell."

"No?"

"Disparage his game of golf and you'd break his heart."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Follow this simple rule to have lovely, gleaming hair

Never shampoo your hair without olive oil, hair specialists warn. To do so is to leave hair dry, dull, brittle—all its rich warmth of color and life gone. No hair can be beautiful unless clean, they say. Nor can hair be beautiful without the glossy sheen so much admired.

Therefore—use olive oil shampoo.

You see prettier hair everywhere, today. Women have learned that the most delightful form of olive oil hair wash is PALMOLIVE SHAMPOO.

It is convenient for home use, and most economical—costing but a fraction of what you'd pay to have the same treatment from a specialist.

It cleanses away all dirt and oil—thoroughly removes dandruff. And it leaves hair fluffy, soft, pliant as a baby's; with the gleaming sheen of new silk.

KINCARDINE

(St. John Journal)

Fifty years ago yesterday the Scotch colony of Kincardine was established in Victoria county. The Frasers, so prominently identified with the lumber and pulp industry today, are of that colony, which has given a great number of thrifty and God-fearing people to the province and other parts of the continent.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of Kincardine brought together more than 1000 people, who, soberly and with thanksgiving, recalled past years of toils and joys in the fruits of their labors. Kincardine today is one of the finest rural settlements in the province. It was fitting that Premier Veniot, representative not only of all the people of New Brunswick, but of a race which has also made its mark upon the life of the province, should extend congratulations and fraternal greetings to these Scotch folk of Kincardine.

PRIMITIVE BAPTIST CONFERENCE

The Primitive Baptist Yearly Conference convened with the church at Hartland July 7th. At 10.30 a. m. met for divine worship with full house. This service was led by Bro. James Sprague on the theme of faith in God and what He will do for those who trust Him.

7.30 p. m. Met for business to receive reports of churches after which a plea was made for funds to pay for hymn books, and a goodly amount was pledged.

Sunday, 9 a. m. Prayer and social service led by Bro. Wellington Shaw which continued with good interest for two hours after which a preaching service led by Bro. P. J. Quigg was much appreciated by a very large audience. The church was packed to the doors and only about one third of the people could get inside.

Monday 9 a. m.: Met for business, meeting opened in due form, Bro. H. V. Bragdon in the chair. After receiving reports of several committees, officers were appointed for the coming year as follows:

Chairman, Rev. H. V. Bragdon; Asst. chairman, Rev. J. M. Mallory; Clerk, Rev. P. J. Quigg; Asst. Clerk, Rev. W. Petchey; Secretary and Treasurer, Rev. J. Clifford Gray. Executive committee, Rev. G. A. Giberson, H. V. Bragdon, James Sprague, J. M. Mallory and P. J. Quigg.

On motion resolved that Licentiate William Petchey be ordained at the evening service; also that Licentiate Benjamin Doody receive conference license for one year.

7.30: Met for service and ordination. Rev. J. M. Mallory was selected to preach; this sermon would please the most exacting. After a short social service Bro. W. Petchey was set apart for the work of Gospel ministry by laying on of hands.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends that so tenderly ministered to our needs and shared our sorrows during our recent bereavement. Mrs. Esther C. McAfee and Family.

JUBILEE OF THE SCOTCH COLONY

A Thousand People at Fiftieth Anniversary of Kincardine—Distinguished Speakers

Tuesday, July 10, was a day long to be remembered by the residents of Kincardine and Kintore who on that occasion celebrated their Jubilee or 50th anniversary. The day dawned somewhat unpromising, being wet and showery, but soon cleared up and by noon it was all that could be desired and the sun came out strong.

Opening address of welcome by the Rev. Gordon Pringle, the beloved pastor of the Scottish Colony, who addressed the people who were comfortably seated on the hillside which formed a natural amphitheatre. After Mr. Pringle's address one minute silence was observed by the whole audience standing in respect and memory of the departed members of the Colonists and the Pipes played a lament as is customary among Scottish people in respect of their dead.

On Sunday, July 15 a memorial service in memory of former Knights of Pythias was held in the Baptist church. The local Knights paraded from the Castle hall, to the church where part of the beautiful ritual of the order was solemnly rendered in the presence of an appreciative audience.

HARTLAND UNITED BAPTIST CHURCH

A few months ago a Young Workers' League was organized in connection with the morning service of the Hartland Baptist church, and this League has steadily grown until today it has a membership of 118. Last Sunday morning certificates were awarded to 30 boys and girls for faithful attendance at the morning service, for the last three months.

Next Sunday, services will be held at the usual hours. In the Morning the pastor, Rev. G. F. Bolster, will preach on the subject, "The Man with a Good Report" and in the evening the subject will be "The Two Builders."

The Bible School will be held at the close of the morning. The Men's Bible Class will meet at this hour and will be conducted by the pastor. A cordial welcome to all.

WILL VISIT MR. PIERCE

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Pierce are soon to have as guests, Rev. W. Wofford T. Duncan, pastor of Emory Methodist Episcopal church of Pittsburgh, Pa., who will be accompanied by Mrs. Duncan. In the Weekly publication issued by his church will be long saying: "Will have the privilege of visiting his life-long friends, Rev. Thos. Pierce, whom he came to know as a boy and who has been in a sense 'a Father in the Gospel' to him during his student days as well as during the years of his ministry. This friend was a young man under the superintendency of the pastor's father and the close friendship and spiritual counsel which have been enjoyed through the years have rendered a service for which the pastor (Mr. Duncan) is ever grateful."

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

One day last week while David Clark was engaged with a crew of men repairing the log flume of Sayre's mill he met with an accident which it was feared for a time would prove a fatality. While beneath the flume some of the supporting material gave way and Mr. Clark was pinned beneath and heavily crushed across the hips and lower abdomen. He was extricated from his perilous position and Dr. MacIntosh was hastily brought to his aid. Carried to his home nearby it was feared for a time that he might die forthwith, but his friends are glad to know that the slender thread held and the man is now well on toward recovery.

BRADFORD BRIGGS

The death of Bradford G. Briggs occurred at his late home in East Cloverdale June 22nd. He had been sick about three months with a stroke. He leaves his wife, five sons and four daughters: Lee H. in the west, Earl P., Mars Hill; William B., Lower Windsor; Page and Gilbert at home; Mrs. Dan Hallett, Bridgewater; Dora, May, Syntha at home; one adopted daughter, Mrs. Carey Smith, Summerfield; one brother, Earl D.; and two sisters, Mary and Lizzie, Birch Harbor; and a large circle of friends to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father.

WILLIAM B. COX

Many friends will learn with regret of the death of Wm. B. Cox, a highly respected resident of Coronation, at his home on Sunday night, following a long illness of Bright's disease. His age was nearly 67 years. The family have the sympathy of all in the loss of a kind husband and father.

BATH BREEZES

Sunday was St. Swithen's Day and the proverbial rain came down. It may be interesting to some of our readers to know certain facts concerning his history. He was Bishop of Winchester during the reign of King Egbert and was noted for his tender sympathy with the poor and profuse alms-giving. His death occurred about 862 A.D.

Joynes McCluskey, Grand Falls, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Chas. Bohan, Mechanic street.

Mrs. J. Ryan and son John of Malden, Mass., are visiting Mrs. J. McGinley, Main street.

On Friday last Mr. and Mrs. S. Gallagher, Charles E., Miss Mame and little nephew Charles Gregory left on an extended motor trip to Montreal and St. Anne de Beaupre.

Messrs. Adde, Kearney, Barter and Owens were business visitors in town during the week.

Mrs. Gillis and two children, Mary and Beatrice of Jersey City are visiting Mrs. C. Sweeney.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Donovan and family, Mr. and Mrs. McGillicuddy and Mrs. Murray, all of Canterbury, spent the week-end with relatives here.

On Sunday, July 15 a memorial service in memory of former Knights of Pythias was held in the Baptist church. The local Knights paraded from the Castle hall, to the church where part of the beautiful ritual of the order was solemnly rendered in the presence of an appreciative audience.

A memorial address was delivered by Rev. I. W. Williamson, a faithful and energetic member of the order. Appropriate instrumental music was furnished by the Florenceville Band; also social music by the Florenceville Male Quartette—whose reputation as excellent singers is well known. Jupiter Pluvius favored the brethren with a liberal precipitation of one of the elements which was joyfully received by our former members, including the member from Ottawa. One outstanding feature of the service was the display of growing and cut flowers kindly distributed by thoughtful sisters and which were selected to emphasize the cardinal principle of the order. There is no doubt at all that every person present felt it was good to be there; and were truly grateful for the services of their Florenceville friends and all others who took part in this memorable service.

The installation of officers for the ensuing term, which was postponed from last week was carried out on Monday evening, July 16, by Deputy Grand Chancellor L. A. Noble.

W. R. Gillin was a caller in town during the week.

We were sorry to learn that little "But" McLellan is confined to his home with illness and hope to soon see him about again.

The Women's Institute are to meet on Friday next at 7.30 at the home of their president, Mrs. M. E. Connors. The roll call will be answered by the payment of dues. No doubt the social part will be the attendance at the pictures.

Much has been said in the press concerning the joint anniversary and reunion picnic which was held at Kintore on July 10th. It is felt by many, however, that the spirit which accentuated it was not given the prominence which should have been accorded to such an event. One, which gathered together the residents of that colony of the present day and the descendants of those who first hewed out of the virgin forest a home and a shelter for their loved ones and who are now dwelling in distant parts. It was an inducement for them to return, to impress upon their minds the respect and reverence which they owe to their forefathers, and at the same time supply a pleasant and long-to-be remembered day. In this respect, it was of national significance and, secondly, of historical import. That it was a prominent event and that it was looked upon as such by those not dwelling in our immediate vicinity gathered from the fact that men high in our business and political life assembled there. Of the former, the Fraser Brothers, who are nationally known, were present, of the latter the Premier of New Brunswick, Hon. P. J. Veniot, spoke to the thousand or more people, there assembled. They were also addressed by another member of the government, Hon. D. W. Mersereau, Minister of Agriculture, and by T. W. Caldwell, M. P., and also by Hon. John Webster, son of one of the colonists, who has made a name for himself in the country to the south of us, being a prominent figure in the political life of the state of Massachusetts and the city of Somerville, filling the office of Chief Magistrate, namely, Mayor of that city. Sports, including vaulting, tug of war, obstacle races, etc., were keenly enjoyed by all. A sumptuous supper followed by the days employment and in the evening a dance was held for the benefit of the younger generation, music being supplied by Dickinson's orchestra. Piper Ross of St. John. Too much credit cannot be given Rev. G. C. Pringle, who acted as chairman on that day and who was largely responsible for the grand success of which the picnic was so happy.

Miss Mabel Gorman, B. N. of Boston, Mass., is visiting her brother, William Gorman, Church street.

Bohan Brothers have a crew engaged in placing a more substantial foundation under their present office. Rev. Father Donahue left by motor for Boston, New York and other American cities. His place is being filled by Rev. Father Hooglan of Franciscan Order, Maliseet, N. B.

Wm. Boyd, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boyd, Johnville, returned to his home in Portland, Me.

Extensive grading is being done on the Catholic church grounds. This when finished will make a vast improvement in the looks of the church, the street and town.

"Slim Shoulders," featuring Irons Castle, that famous screen beauty, was screened here on Friday, July 13. It portrayed a daughter's love and devotion to her father in so much that she would face a loveless marriage, docility, burglary, even death itself to save him from shame. But like a fairy tale all came out well at the finish, the loveless marriage was averted and one of love took its place.

Next week "The Gilded Cup" featuring Maxie Carr, star of "Over the Hill" and "Silver Wings", will be screened.

MOTHER OF TWIN BOYS

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Her of Inflammation and Great Weakness

West St. John, N.B.—"I was in a general run-down condition following the birth of my twin boys. I had a great deal of inflammation, with pains and weakness. Finally my doctor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He said that your medicine would be the only thing to build me up. I am sure he is right, for I am feeling much better and am gaining in weight, having gone down to ninety-three pounds. I was in bed for over a month, but am up again now. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to my friends and give you permission to use my letter."

There are many women who find their household duties most unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Ritchie's experience is but one of many.

GRAND FALLS SCHOOL

Class Will—Read by Gerald Olmstead, at High School-Closing.

We, the pupils of grade eleven of Grand Falls High School, and about fifty being for the most part sound of mind and memory, do hereby make, publish and declare, this our last will and testament.

First—We give, devise and bequeath the bulk of our estate, consisting of love, respect and admiration to Mr. Jonah and former teachers who have helped us and devoted themselves to our welfare all these years.

Second—We give, devise and bequeath to Theodore Patstone the privilege of looking after the girls of High School during the coming year.

Third—We give, devise and bequeath to Louise O'Regan, Margaret Hennigar's promising friend, herself the first part of the evening, in any way she may see fit, and then playing in the pictures until 10.30, after which she may spend her way homeward and spend the rest of the evening in studying, thus becoming so well acquainted with her next day's lessons that she cannot help but forget them.

Fourth—We give, devise and bequeath Reginald Chapman's golf stockings to Theodore Patstone. These stockings are yellow and black, and should be worn by all promising students who attend our High School.

Fifth—We give, devise and bequeath our late seats in High School to such pupils of grade ten as may be deemed worthy to fill them, trusting that they may be wise enough to use them to a better advantage than we have done, feeling sure that they will receive our class spirit, and hand it down to the coming class.

Sixth—We give, devise and bequeath to all classes of the school our best wishes during the coming year, hoping that their time spent in the Alma Mater may be both profitable and enjoyable to them.

Seventh—We give, devise and bequeath to our parents and all others who have shown an interest in our work and welfare, this expression of our gratitude and appreciation of their efforts on our behalf.

Eighth—We further resolve and agree among ourselves that it is expedient at this time that Margaret Taylor should bequeath to Stanley Chapman the privilege of being a visitor at school once a month, and while in school his desk be situated immediately opposite Marion White's, which desk should be the middle desk in the middle aisle.

Ninth—We further resolve and agree among ourselves that we bequeath to Grades Nine, Ten and Eleven of next term, all the old broken rulers, lead pencils, scribbles and empty ink bottles that they may find around the school room.

Tenth—We give, devise and bequeath to the next grades, ten and eleven, the privilege of laughing at the new grade nine, while becoming acquainted with Mr. Jonah's methods.

Eleventh—We give, devise and bequeath to Donald White the privilege of being the class jester, to brighten the hours spent in school by seeing how many different shapes he can twist himself.

Twelfth—We make, constitute and appoint Mr. Jonah as sole executor of this our last will and testament.

The foregoing instrument was signed, published and declared by the said testator of our class as its last will and testament, in the presence of the undersigned, who at the request of the said testator, have hereunto affixed our signatures at Grand Falls, N.B.

(Class Prophecy—Grand Falls High School—Read by Theodore Patstone).

After finishing my high school course at Grand Falls, I took a course at Oxford and received my B.A. Not satisfied with this, but with a great deal of effort, I got an M. A., and in a few years, I became a P. A. After this, I decided to settle down and get a good position. I decided to return to my home province, New Brunswick, and there I obtained a position in the forestry service. Being a good mechanic, I became an aviator. My work was to fly over the northern part of New Brunswick to prevent the destruction of trees by tent caterpillars. I did not know whether they intended I should drop bombs on the caterpillars, or throw moth balls at the moths. One day while flying over Juniper, I noticed a large radio station, and decided to land and look the place over. On approaching this station I noticed a sign board on which was the name of Reginald Chapman, better known as "Radio Reg" an old friend and schoolmate. I wonder if he received a kiss from every girl he asked, because I remember that in former days, he had been quite unsuccessful. Juniper was at that time a very flourishing city, and was noted chiefly for its radio station, but it was also noted for its wonderful orchestra, about which there seemed to be quite a lot of mystery. While talking with Reggie, I asked him to show me through the place, and by accident, I learned about this wonderful orchestra. He told me by taking a certain number of mosquitoes, he produced such melodious music that it made him famous as a conductor of an orchestra.

Bidding Reggie adieu, I proceeded on my journey, and in a short time, reached Grand Falls, which at this time was a very large city. I noticed it had changed very much from former times, and also that the change was due to a very large extent to the development of the water power. I therefore decided to visit the power plant, and, while walking through the building, I came to a room where a young man was busily engaged polishing the dynamos. I recognized him as my old friend, Gerald Olmstead, better known as "bag of beans on third", and while talking with him, I learned that in his spare hours, he was a Professor of Buggology, at the University of California Settlement. I know he was chiefly interested in lady bugs, for I saw him gazing intently at the dynamos, in which was reflected the face of the stenographer through the open door of the office. When I turned around, I saw it was Margaret Hennigar, although I had a hard time recognizing her, as styles had changed. Her hair was no longer bobbed, and her shoes were Japanese. I found she was no longer fond of visiting Wiley's Drug Store, because the promising young clerk had gone away and had set up a business of his own at Ortonville. Presently I heard her humming a tune to herself and her attention attracted, I decided it was "Hiawatha's Melody of Love", and on inquiring, I learned that she could play it as well as when she had her inspiration beside her, namely, the drummer. She told me she was going to attend a stenographic convention at Siegas, which was to hold a "concussion" for longer hours and smaller wages.

Leaving the building, I walked up Broadway, and entered Lajoie's boot and rubber store, to get heels put on my sneakers. In one corner was a desk, and before it sat a young lady, who held the position of bookkeeper and secretary. It was my old friend, Lena Powers, whom I frequently caught casting sly glances at the clerk. Later, I found she was still single, and this was very surprising to me, for, although I knew she was shy, yet in our school days, I occasionally caught her casting sly glances towards Stephen, and she still appeared to be keeping up the habit.

Afterwards, I visited the school, and in one of the rooms, I perceived a teacher punishing a boy for coming in late. Having punished the boy, she said to her scholars "do not want to see you coming in late again." Then I went to school I was never late more than ten times a week, except one time when we had school on Saturday. The voice seemed familiar, and, going in, sure enough it was my old friend, Stella Burgess. After Taylor expressed most affectionately, and wishing to show her pupils' knowledge she asked them several questions. One pupil generally replied, "I haven't got it." Turning to her, I said "That certainly reminds me of old times, when I was in your class." She told me it was around the room, I picked up a scribbler from one of the girls' desks, and in it I saw a picture of one of Hollywood's most popular young actresses, who looked very familiar. Taking it up to the teacher, I asked her who it was. She told me it was her former seat-mate Stella Burgess, who in her school-days, thought it more important to read about other movie stars than to become one herself. It appeared that these girls were as interested in reading about her as she had been in reading about others.

Looking out of the window, I saw a young man approaching the school. "Surely I know them," said I to myself. They came into the room, and I had the pleasure of meeting Miss Katharine McCann and Mr. Cyrien LeBlond. I wondered when they were going to be married. She Taylor when I recognized as Margaret, she first taught at Comrade Ridge, and was transferred to Colebrook, where she was quite contented, because it was near the place where this handsome young man, whom she told me it was, she lived. In her pocket, I noticed a packet of Papoose chewing gum, and she also had a large piece in her mouth, which she snapped occasionally.

As time was pressing, I left the school and hardly started when I was forced to land, on account of engine trouble, near Indian Point. Close to the place where I landed, was a large summer camp, and on approaching it, I noticed a large number of young men hanging around the cook house, and among them I noticed George Olmstead, the former tailor of Grand Falls. He was standing near another Taylor, whom I recognized as Margaret, an old school friend also of mine. She told me she had taken a Domestic Science Course, and was now mistress of the cook house. I noticed she was very much annoyed by the company of these young men, and she told me she did not know how to get rid of them. I told her if she would serve them with a light lunch, she would soon get rid of them, as they would then need a doctor. Fearing she would offer me something to eat, I left in a hurry.

I then repaired my aeroplane, and continued on my journey. Having succeeded in killing a few caterpillars, and several moths, I went to Ottawa to report for further orders. On my way I stopped at Toronto, to renew my yearly subscription to MacLean's magazine. I entered the building, and went into an office marked "Private." Here I met the senior partner, Robert MacLean. While I was talking with him, a young lady entered, whom he introduced as his wife. I immediately recognized her as my former school friend, Emma Martin, commonly known as "Mutt." She had not grown any taller since she left school. She asked me to dinner at her home, where I found five little "mutts" and four little "bobs" waiting for us. During the meal the children began quarrelling, and one little girl hit her brother with a plate. When her mother reproved her for it, she said in an injured tone, "Well that's what you and daddy do." After dinner I decided to leave, and proceeded on my journey to Ottawa. While I was soaring through the clouds, at the rate of three hundred miles per hour, I began to think over the adventures of the last few days, and this led me to wonder if Gerald still wore his white socks, and what would have happened if I had eaten some of Margaret's cooking.

CABANO, QUE.

The recent serious fire proves again conclusively that it is about time that the people get together and see that the so-called Cabano Water Works Co. do something to supply this town with an adequate water supply. The so-called water supply of this town is and has been for years a howling fire to all its stockholders.

And it is also about time the Town Council gets it driven into their brains that a few hundred feet of inferior hose, scattered indiscriminately over the town does not constitute fire protection. It may be cheaper to depend on a private company to do their fire fighting, but it is not good business or does it tend to keep insurance rates down.

GOOD MONEY IN GOOD FARMING

"Let's Get to Work and Pay Off the Mortgage"

NINE years ago Canada's national debt was about one-third of a billion. It is more than two and one-third billions today.

Our debts have greatly increased—our revenues must also go up. The farmer has to bear his share of the increased burden. That means he must increase his revenue.

Complaint has been heard that farmers under present conditions in Canada cannot make farming pay. And yet many thousands of Canadian farmers do make it pay.

How Is It Done?

Patient and industrious "carry on" will do wonders, but something more is needed. Too often "patient industry" is coupled with "dull persistence" in poorly thought out methods.

Farmers today more than ever, must plan ahead, as well as "plug along"; indeed they have no option, if they wish to succeed.

Co-ordination of head and hand will mean real success. Farming in Canada has paid and pays now on many farms. It can be made to pay on almost every farm. Canadian agriculture has passed through low profit-making eras successfully in the past and can do so again.

With the increased cost of production, the higher standards of living now prevailing cannot be maintained by poor farm management, "boarder" milkers, scrub heaves, poor quality hogs or non-profitable hens.

That even under present conditions profits may be made is testified by many skillful, observant and non-plunging farmers, who believe more in the policy of "slow but sure" and "pay as you go" rather than speed, with excessive borrowing and the often consequent disaster.

The results on our Experimental Farms also bear testimony to the value of thorough, skillful work.

The Farmer Must Manufacture

But crops alone are not enough. The farmer must change his crops into less bulky and more high-priced products—milk, pork, beef, mutton, poultry, etc.

With fair yielding cows dairying shows good profits in Canada. The average cow has increased her yield 25% in the last ten years. She can quite readily go up another 25% and more, and there's where the profit lies. Better feeding, better selection and better breeding will do the job—feed, weed, breed.

To do better feeding means better pastures and more generous supplies of palatable roughage. Short rotations including clover and ensilage crops (corn, sunflower, pea and oat, etc.) will provide feed in abundance for both summer and winter. The experiments and investigations which the Dominion Department of Agriculture have carried on prove that farming scientifically and systematically undertaken will pay profits. The records and particulars of such work in every province are available to the Canadian farmer.

Are you growing grain, or producing seed or interested in fruit? We can give you information that will help you. Do you breed live stock? Are you keeping dairy cattle? Are you interested in poultry or bees? Ask us for information. We have some that will help you.

We have published and have for free distribution 350 different reports, bulletins and circulars dealing with matters of interest to you. Ask for what you want, or for a list of our publications.

We shall have something more to say later. Meantime write the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, about your problems.

Crop Returns Should be Increased
On the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa some crop costs and crop profits in 1922 as contrasted with all-Ontario average crop costs and crop profits are given below. The all-Ontario figures are in brackets:

|                 | Cost per acre     | Profit per acre  |
|-----------------|-------------------|------------------|
| Hay             | $21.13 ($13.50) | $11.21 ($5.09) |
| Corn for Forage | $47.50 ($33.75) | $10.38 ($2.86) |
| Oats            | $26.47 ($19.32) | $ 7.33 (.04)    |

Similar results can be shown from the Dominion Experimental Farms in every province.

Experimental Farm crops are sometimes claimed to be produced at too great cost. Thousands of experiments, however, show that increased cropping costs wisely applied up to a reasonable point always increase crop profits. This is true on the Experimental Farm—and on any and every farm.

COMEDY HAS ENJOYED LONG RECORD RUN OF THREE HUNDRED YEARS

One good way to judge a play is by the number of times it has been played. If audiences enjoy it, they recommend it to their friends, and so it plays night after night making new friends all the time. Consequently when we see a play advertised as having played "300 times in New York" or "200 times in Chicago," we know that it is pretty likely to be an entertaining play.

What shall we say then of a play that has run not for 300 performances only, but for 300 years? Surely that indicates absolutely that it is an entertaining play. "The Taming of the Shrew" made its audience "roar" with laughter when it was first produced at the Globe Theatre, in London, more than 300 years ago, by William Shakespeare, the most popular playwright of his day. Since then it has been played all over the world, has been translated into nearly all languages, has been enjoyed by literally millions of people in every quarter of the globe, and today is just as entertaining and just as funny as it was the day it was written.

Its author has been pronounced not only the "most popular playwright of his day," but the greatest poet and dramatist of all times. He knew what would make his audiences weep, as his great tragedies will testify; but he knew equally well what would make his audiences laugh, and no play has ever stronger witness of this than the hilarious story of "The Taming of the Shrew."

There is also a rollicking romantic element to the story in the plight of Bianca, the pretty younger sister, whose father will not let her marry until her elder sister, the ill-tempered Katharine, has found a husband. The efforts of Bianca's suitors to find some man brave enough to marry Katharine; their meeting with the swaggering, adventure-loving Petruchio; and his boast that he will marry Katharine and make a model wife of her; the way he carries out his boasts; and the fight among Bianca's lovers as to which one shall marry her after her sister is safely out of the way, make up a play that is comedy and romance from beginning to end.

When the play is given here as a part of the Chautauqua program, the role of Katharine will be played by Miss Grace Halsey Mills, a well-known player of Shakespearean roles, who has appeared as leading woman with Ben Graet and other prominent stars. Miss Mills considers Katharine one of her favorite characters. She will be supported by a company of capable and experienced actors.
