SUBURBAN WILL GO ON MONDAY

Efforts of Delegation at Last Successful—Will Run on Old Line.

Word was received this morning by the Graphic that the Suburban train will be reinstated commencing Monday March 17th, leaving Bathurst at 8.30 a.m. and Campbellton at 8.50 p.m.

There were many citizens who claimed it was folly for the different organizations to endeavor to have the regular change in time which would be the latter part of April, but those interested, even after the delegations returned from Moncton with some too good prospects, kept up the work which we are glad to be able to state has resulted as desired.

The Suburban train is the only one out of Campbellton in the P. M. hours and it should never have been taken off.

Since writing the above we have learned one of the priests, after seeing that all were out of the building, was obliged to jump from an upper window and was injured.

Nothing was saved from the building.

Will standing on wood prevent a person from being tagged. No exemption, even if he is a "blockhead."

AMALGAMATION OF PICTURE HOUSES

Opera House and Imperial Theatre Have Joined Forces. Same Management.

It will be interesting news to many to learn that the management of the Imperial Theatre and the Opera House have decided to join hands and amalgamate both interests. The reasons are obvious and even to the casual observer it has always been apparent that there is not sufficient scope in Campbellton to warrant the successful operation of two theatres. In fact has been proven beyond an argument that nothing but heavy losses can result.

Commencing Monday the following temporary management will go into effect, the Imperial opening every Monday and Tuesday only while the Opera House will operate the other four days of the week with the management of both houses continuing as at present.

It's the underdog who is anxious for the peacemaker to get busy.

CHATHAM WINS FROM CAMPBELLTON

Fast Game at Chatham Friday Evening—Score 8-3 for Chatham.

(Chatham Gazette.)
The Campbellton hockey team met defeat in the College rink on Friday evening by an 8-3 score. The Campbellton boys were assisted by Mills and Cripps of the town and a large number of supporters kept urging the visitors to win the game regardless of the means. Any obvious desires for rough tactics were short lived owing to the strictness and impartiality of Referee Charles Vanstone. The game was a hard one to handle satisfactorily as it called for an exceptionally good referee, and Charlie Vanstone fulfilled requirements.

Play was fast throughout and not so one sided as the score would indicate. The Chatham boys had the better of the territory play, and would have amassed a larger score but for the splendid work of Payne and Connell of the Campbellton defense. From the face of play was carried into the visitors territory and three minutes after the game started George Duncan found the net behind Connell, for the goal that started the home boys on to victory. Six minutes later McKenna made a perfect pass to Lyons and the latter beat Connell, making it 2-0. For the remainder of the period a fast hockey of the game was witnessed. Play travelled from end to end with lightning rapidity, but the remarkable work of Carten and Connell, the opposing net guardians, nullified all chances to score.

In the second session the Chatham forwards started on goal getting excursions, which were very fruitful. For the first eight minutes the locals had it their own way, and by the combination out guessed the enemy defense, with ridiculous ease, and threw heart failure into Campbellton's supporters. When things settled down to normal, the home team had increased their lead to three and Lyons and McKenna scored three and seven. The Campbellton boys came back strong, and from a mix-up in front of the net, Mills slammed one by Carten. With Duncan and McKenna in the penalty box, Payne broke away and beat out Carten with a wicked shot. One minute before the bell, Lyons scored, what proved to be Chatham's last goal of the game, on a long shot from centre ice.

The final stanza ushered in fast hockey and determined, on the part of the visitors, to win. Things were looking blue, for local supporters when McKenna, Lyons and Duncan found themselves in the penalty box, serving three minute penalties. With McKenna on the forward line, Foley on defense and Carten in goal, the visitors succeeded in scoring one goal. Joe Mills broke away, eluded Foley and notched No. 3 for the Restigouche boys. This moved to tie the last goal of the game and the team were battling at centre ice when the gong announced the finish.

BAD FIRE AT FIVE FINGERS

Recently considerable property at Five Fingers, L. N. R., about fifty miles from Campbellton was burned.

The boarding house owned by Paul Soule took fire and as it was a large wooden building it was soon destroyed communicating the fire to the store owned by Mrs. J. W. Munroe, which together with dwelling, warehouse, sheds and stock were destroyed. Nothing was saved. The loss was $10,000 with only $2,700 insurance.

The fire was well under way when discovered, and Mrs. Munroe's premises had to be vacated ten minutes after the alarm was sounded.

CO. SOLICITOR TO MR. CROCKETT

Article in Recent Issue Absolutely Misleading and Contrary to Facts.

Mr. Editor:
In its issue of last week The Tribune publishes, under the heading "More Incompetency," an article which is absolutely misleading and contrary to the facts concerning the assessment of the parish of Addington for Board of Health accounts.

The assessment committee, at the last meeting of the county council, drew up the assessment resolution in accordance with the provisions of the Act of 1912, exempting the town of Campbellton of assessment, among other items, for county Board of Health accounts. The resolution may be seen by any one wishing to see it.

When the assessment warrant, however, reached Mr. John T. Reid, one of the assessors, it did not exclude the town of Campbellton from assessment for Board of Health accounts. Mr. Henry Currie at once called my attention to the fact that I immediately called upon the county secretary by phone advising him that the warrant was not properly made, that the same was being sent back to him to be corrected. Mr. Alexander J. LeBlanc, the secretary, answered that the warrant had been made that way every year. I told him that it was contrary to the Act and that he could not disregard the prohibitive enactments of the Act of 1912 nor the assessment resolution. After some hesitation, the county secretary consented to draw up another warrant.

I thereupon instructed him to be careful in "taking up" the different warrants of assessment that the parish of Addington be not made to hear alone the assessment which was being taken off the town of Campbellton, but that the same be distributed proportionally on the whole county. Mr. Secretary told me that it was impossible as the other warrants were made. I instructed him that it made no difference whether or not the warrants had been sent out, that he should recall them and issue proper warrants; that as the matter, then stood, the parish of Addington was paying much more than its share, and that it was not only unfair but illegal. The county secretary answered that the matter would have to be straightened out by the Council and that he would not issue other warrants.

Those are the facts, Mr. Editor. And far from being "on the advice of the County Solicitor, Mr. A. T. LeBlanc" the blunder will be paid etc., then one of the best educational institutions in eastern New Brunswick, the blunder was committed against my reiterated advice and after I had done all in my power to prevent its being made. And it is not the first time that my legal advice as county solicitor has been glaringly thrown away and not followed.

Mr. Crockett could have obtained all those facts had his purpose been to inform the public. Mr. John T. Reid could have set him right in the matter. He chose to obtain his information, probably, from the same sources whence emanated the Stand-ards whence emanated the Stand-ards and wild cat despatches concerning the town of Campbellton's sinking fund and the romance of the Campbellton school teachers and the flu.

FAST HOCKEY IN NORTHERN N. B.

Dalhousie Wins from Moncton Bathurst Wins the Famous White House Trophy and Tin Horn Comes Here.

Dalhousie, N. B. March 8th, 1919 (Special).—The Moncton "Warriors" went down to defeat here today by a 5-4 score. It was the first time two teams met, and both picked up an excellent brand of hockey.

The game started off at a quick pace, and was fast throughout. At the end of the first period the score was 3-1 in Moncton's favor. In the second period Dalhousie played a strong offensive game and succeeded in scoring three goals in quick succession. Moncton again scored, thus tying the game.

In the third period it would seem as if neither side were able to score. Finally "Deacon" of Dalhousie from a splendid pass from "Storak" succeeded in scoring the winning goal. Dalhousie then fell back on the defensive and the visitors were unable to score before the period ended.

Without exception Dalhousie played its best game of the season. "Willie" Fridtjof in goal showed remarkable judgment and considering it was his first appearance against an outside team, he played a star game. "McManus" and "Ganton" on the defensive played their usual good game, making good sports down the ice from time to time. "Deacon, Stenrak" and "Nadeau" on the forward line played splendidly together, all showed remarkable speed. "Deacon, Stenrak" and "Ganton" shared the honors in scoring.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT CHATHAM

St. Thomas College Destroyed by Fire Last Night Heavy Loss.

Word was received here this morning that St. Thomas College at Chatham, N. B., one of the best educational institutions in eastern New Brunswick, was entirely destroyed by fire last night. The night was calm at Chatham so the fire was confined to the college.

The loss will be heavy, but is partially covered by insurance. There were over one hundred beggarly pupils in the college, but all were marched out, but many lost all their belongings.

CAMPBELLTON WINS THE TIN HORN

The annual curling match for the White House trophy is one of the most exciting between the two clubs. It is played between eight rinks from each club, four playing at home and four other four playing on the opponent's ice.

Last year the cup was brought back to Campbellton and the tin horn, which goes to the loser, was taken to Bathurst, but this year the cup goes to Bathurst, and we have the tin horn. The games were keenly contested and the visitors at each town were royally attended.

The scores were as follows:
At Campbellton:
Campbellton 11, Mullin 7, Carr 7, Fitzmaurice 23, Mackay 48, Ruliers 59.
At Bathurst:
Bathurst 12, Thibault 10, Dunne 12, Ganton 9, Connell 40.

Total wins 49.
We sincerely hope that the "DAY" will be able to break the money FLU.

LABOR BUREAU FOR CAMPBELLTON

One Will be Established at Campbellton—Necessity Very Evident.

On Tuesday the Graphic published the following telegram: Ottawa, March 12th. H. B. Anslow, Campbellton, N. B., Bureau will be organized at once.

CHAS. ROBINSON, Secretary of the Rotaries, Soldiers' and Sailors' Commission, New Brunswick, in conversation with the editor of the Graphic, made the statement that Campbellton had been omitted as a centre for the establishment of one of the proposed Labor Bureaus.

It was agreed that Mr. Robinson would take up the matter at once in St. John, where the Graphic would do the same in Campbellton. Immediately letters were written with the above resolutions, forwarded with the above suggestions.

One of the most important steps in the movement for the establishment of a Labor Bureau in Campbellton is the appointment of a manager.

When the time comes, the Graphic will be glad to assist in the selection of a manager.

Music Lovers Amazed by Edison's Daring Test

All told, 2,000,000 music lovers in Canada and the United States, on more than 1,500 different occasions, have gone to one of their local theatres filled with curiosity regarding a startlingly novel musical recital to which they had been invited.

In each case they have come away amazed at the almost unbelievable demonstration which had taken place before their very eyes, and ears—the most daring test of a phonograph or talking machine ever made. They saw a noted Edison artist stand, beside

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

They heard the instrument sing in the artist's voice—in other words, recreate her voice. Presently the artist herself began to sing note for note with the instrument. Musically trained ears strove in vain to distinguish the faintest shade of difference between the artist's voice and the Re-Creation. Then, suddenly and without warning, the artist ceased singing, leaving the instrument to continue the air alone. Only by watching the artist's lips did the audience know that she had ceased singing and that they heard the instrument alone. This is the famous Edison Tone Test.

Only Edison makes this test. Only Edison can make this test, because only the New Edison actually recreates the human voice and the music of human-played instruments with every tone quality and every shade of expression. Ordinary phonographs, and talking machines, merely reproduce.

If you have not been fortunate enough, to witness an Edison Tone Test, you may at least hear Edison's wonderful new phonograph at our store. Make the time to visit our undertaker.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

"Little Miss d'Or, C.B. 'I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 185 pounds to 145 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try Fruit-a-tives. In a week there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous." ROBERT NEWTON. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. MAY BE ABSENT FOR SIX WEEKS

Session May be Over Before Mr. Currie is Better.

FREDERICTON, Mar. 7.—Unless the present session of the Legislature proves to be a very long one, ex-Speaker Wm. Currie may not be here before the House is prorogued. That it will be at least six weeks before Mr. Currie is able to come to Fredericton and take his place in the legislature is the opinion expressed by Mr. LeBlanc, his colleague from Restigouche.

Mr. LeBlanc recently visited the ex-Speaker at the Moncton Hospital, where he was operated upon several weeks ago and he declares that Mr. Currie's condition was such as to make it appear likely that he would be at least six weeks before he would be able to come here and take up vigorous work which a resumption of his seat in the House under the circumstances would entail. "Mr. Currie expected to be out of the hospital in ten days' time," said Mr. LeBlanc. "But I don't believe he realized the seriousness of his condition. He has been suffering much pain, and had to undergo very delicate treatment and admitted to me that he thought it was done for a few days ago. However, he is now getting better, but not as rapidly as he seems to think."

MONCTON PASTORS.

Rev. W. H. Hamming, formerly of St. John, has agreed to remain another year as pastor of the Central Methodist church, Moncton. Rev. Hammond Johnson will remain another year as pastor of the Wesley Memorial church there.

PROUD RECORD OF BONAVENTURE BOYS

Three Boys Who Have Won Distinction on the Field of Battle.

Pte. Jas. McDavid enlisted in Nov. 1914 in the famous 26th Battalion and saw four years of service. He was twice wounded, first at the battle of the Somme and was invalided to England. When sufficiently recovered to again go to the trenches he was only five months at the front when he was wounded again. When he recovered from his second wound he qualified as drill sergeant and had the pleasure of drilling some of his former companions from Canada.

For his coolness and bravery under very trying circumstances he was recommended for the D.C.M., and a Lieutenantcy. His many friends trust it is not too late yet for his work at the front to be rewarded.

But "Jim" did not return to Canada alone. Over a year ago he was married to Miss Shearman the nurse who attended him both times he was wounded.

Pte. Earl McLeod enlisted at Campbellton on Oct. 19, 1916 in the 23rd Battalion, better known as the MacLean Rifle Battalion after training in Fredericton and Valcartier he went overseas with his battalion in October 1917.

While in England he was drafted into the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders and went to France with that battalion the first of March 1918.

He was in the trenches until the 11th of August when he was wounded in the battle of Amiens.

For his work in a bombing raid in this battle he was recommended along with three of his companions for the Military Medal. He was in a convalescent home in England when peace was declared and sailed from Southampton on January 11th for his home in Canada.

Pte. Thos. MacCallum enlisted in November in what came afterwards to be called the Fighting 26th and saw four years of service. He spent nearly three years at the front before he was wounded although previously he had some very narrow escapes.

He was in England in a convalescent home when peace was declared. On more than one occasion "Tom" showed the same spirit as his ancestors did in wars of long ago and returned decorated with the Military Medal.

Pte. Frank McCallum, a brother of Pte. Thos. MacCallum, enlisted with the 23rd Seaforth Highlanders in Vancouver in 1916 and served fourteen months in France. He is now in England and expects to return to Canada shortly. He also has been awarded the Military Medal. They are brothers of John and Donald McCallum of the C. G. Rye, of Campbellton and sons of Mr. Wm. MacCallum of Matapedia, Que.

LEMONS MAKE SKIN WHITE, SOFT, CLEAN

Make this beauty lotion for a few cents and see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to whiten the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white. In a way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost of a small jar of cold cream. A small jar of ordinary cold cream is sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

GIVE 'SYRUP OF FIGS' TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, Liver and Bowels.

"Look at the tongue, mother! It coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When parents, cross, restless, don't sleep, eat or act naturally, or if feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of 'California Syrup of Figs' and in a few hours all the bad, constipated waste, undigested food and bile gently but surely pass out of the little body without crying, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of 'California Syrup of Figs' which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups."

PROHIBITION DEAD ISSUE.

DECLARES SEATTLE NEWSPAPER.

Margaret B. Platt.

The chief mourners over the demise of John Barleycorn find cold comfort in the attitude of practically all the influential newspapers of the United States. It is not a very long trail back to the time when the liquor traffic could depend upon the obsequious support of practically all the secular press, or else the equally obsequious silence that "gives consent." So careful were most papers in those days not to say anything that could be interpreted as construed as inimical to the interest of John Barleycorn and his promoters that the organized "conspiracy of silence" was recognized as a well defined factor with which the temperance advocates must deal. But the scene has changed. The liquor traffic is no longer in the saddle, rampant and rampant. The funeral days are upon us but the mourners are few. Pity, un-honored and unsung, the arch seducer and destroyer of mankind passes out into a hopeless future. No, he has no future. To simply lapse into nothingness, step out into the blackness of darkness, fall into a grave from which there is no hope of resurrection, dead for all eternity, is the doom of the tyrant—strong drink.

Concerning the last rites and the proposed efforts to resuscitate the hideous corpse, the Post-Intelligencer (Seattle) presents a few timely editorial remarks. The Post-Intelligencer may be depended upon as fairly representing the sentiment of the people of the state of Washington, who having learned by experience how much happier, wealthier and better off they are in every way with the liquor traffic banished, elected a legislature whose first act following its organization was to ratify the prohibition

LONG HOLY PLACES

Shrines That Are Held in Veneration by Moslems.

All True Followers of Mahomet Eager That Their Last Resting Place Shall Be Near Those of Their Great Apostles.

Near to the resting place of the first great apostles of their faith it is the dearest wish of all pious-Mohammedans, to lie after death.

The shrines of Najaf, Kerbela and Kasimain, the resting places of Ali, Hussein, and the seventh and eighth Imams, lie on the edge of the desert in the country British troops now occupy in Mesopotamia.

One often meets a corpse on the road packed in a long crate or bundle of palm leaves and slung across the back of an ass, says Edmund Chauncy, the press representative in the Mesopotamian forces. The pilgrim he finds is taking his relative to swell the population of the cities of the dead by which these sanctuaries are surrounded.

Of the three shrines, Najaf is the richest, and to some minds the most sacred—like Meccah. It is approached by a horse-car line. The cars are not of the pattern of those that ply in European cities. I believe the few British soldiers who have seen them rank them with the Clock tower in the mosque as first among the lions of Mesopotamia.

In peace time the dead come from a wide radius. The donkey with the bundle like a big carpet bag on its back, draped in white or rich silk, according to the means of the pilgrim, may have come all the way from Bokhara. A few years ago a corpse arrived from the Persian embassy at Paris.

The rich as a rule are buried in the shrine itself. The fee for interment in the mosque is $250. For burial outside the walls of the city the pilgrim pays anything from four to ten rupees (two to five dollars), according to the distance he has come.

Many pilgrims buy houses in Najaf, and thus the shrine is gradually becoming a city of the dead. Nine houses out of ten have graves in them. Sometimes the building is nothing else than a tomb.

Najaf has proved impregnable to Wahabism. It is believed to be fabulously rich. There are two stores of treasure. The old treasury had not been opened since the visit of Shar Nasiruddin 50 years ago. It is buried in a vault and built over with brick and lime, with an iron door or window by way of entrance. The new treasure is in the keeping of the khild-dar and silver, and jewels, and precious stones, silks, and shawls, and beaded curtains.

One of the drawbacks to the shrines to reach Najaf after our troops entered the city were four cursed swords of gold, with diamonds on the sheath and hilt. They had been dispatched from Constantinople to Baghdad when the British menace was regarded as a midday dream, and bore the inscription, "From the servant of all pious Moslems, Ever Bey."

No doubt they were intended to symbolize the might whereby the Turks would defend the city against their hated foes—the Christians.

Runs Her Own Canteen.

Mrs. Scott Lee, an aged negro woman, is happy because she has found a way at last to cheer the soldiers on their way as they pass through here en route from camp to coast for overseas service, according to an Ashabula dispatch to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mrs. Lee, who lives near a railroad track, looked wistfully at the troop trains as they sped through, wondering if there was any way in which she could make a long trip more pleasant for the men. But the trains went through so fast she almost despaired until she finally hit upon a scheme that works to perfection. She got a long pole, and it she fastens bundles of magazines and lunches, and as the trains whiz past she stands on the station platform and reaches her gifts to the men as they lean from the car windows.

Carrier Pigeon Mystery.

The authorities of Albany, Ore., and everywhere else are trying to decipher this message:

"Don't shoot me."

It was written on a piece of newspaper brought here by a strange carrier pigeon, which flew very soon after it was found on the street.

The bird was identified as a species of California desert quail, not found in any part of the United States, and the southwestern portion. The bird refused food and water and was exhausted.

A piece of straw which bound the message to the bird's leg was olive drab in color and which had been unraveled from an army uniform.

The Indian's Idea.

John Katt, a full-blood Cherokee, Indian of Cherokee county, Okla., being drawn in the draft of selected men, was sent to Camp Travis, Tex., for training. After he had been in camp several days, he was hailed before the adjutant for failing to salute an officer, and gave the following explanation for his default: "Me live at Walling. When me over man there meless speak to him one time. No speak any more to same man all day. Down here me salute if every time, or pass it man."—Everybody's Magazine.

CARBONOL

Makes Housecleaning Sure and Easy.

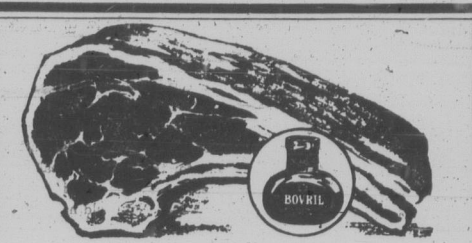

FOR housecleaning, put a little Carbonol in a pail of water—the water immediately becomes a more powerful cleanser, with greater grease-dissolving power. Boiling water helps to make a floor shiny, but Carbonol has the opposite effect, killing the germs of decay. Sprinkle some Carbonol on the carpet—can, and the smell will be reduced by a third, leaving a luscious, long attractive to flies.

For shiny, greasy hands, use a little Carbonol and wash with different strokes. It removes stains on clothing or carpets, especially greasy stains.

In the kitchen sink, use Carbonol to keep the drain open. If the drain is clogged with grease, a handful of pure Carbonol will frequently clear it.

Carbonol has a hundred uses for cleaning and disinfecting. A small bottle goes a long way. If your local store can't supply you write to:

It takes a joint of beef to make a bottle of Bovril!

Bovril contains the goodness of the beef.

THE vital elements that give beef its special place and value as a food are concentrated and stored in Bovril.

Just as the equivalent light of 35 candles is concentrated in one electric lamp, so the vital elements of beef—of many pounds of beef—are concentrated in a single bottle of Bovril.

But Bovril is not merely a precious food in itself; it possesses the peculiar power of enabling you to extract more nourishment from other foods. This gives Bovril its wonderful body-building power, proved by independent experiment to be from 10 to 20 times the amount taken. Bovril, therefore, in the true sense of the word, is a Great Food Saver.

Always keep Bovril in the house.

Bovril stands alone.

Standard Value

MOTORISTS judge all light cars from the standard which the Gray-Dort has established.

Some other cars are lower-priced but against this they balance Gray-Dort quality.

Higher-priced light cars give nothing that warrants more than the Gray-Dort price.

You will recognize the balanced value of the Gray-Dort a price well within reason, but not one desirable feature sacrificed. A quiet, powerful motor; standard equipment; comfort in riding and driving; economy; long service; proud appearance.

The touring car is $1245; the Gray-Dort Special—the car with added refinements and extra equipment—is $1355 extra. There are also a coupe, and a sedan. All prices f.o.b. Chatham and are subject to change without notice.

NEW CARLISLE

After an illness of about two months, Miss Greta Blois passed peacefully away at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal at the early age of twenty-one years. The remains were brought here for burial on Feb. 27th. Mrs. Blois, her mother and her brother Pte. Bert Blois had been with the deceased for about a month and returned with the remains.

She leaves to mourn their loss, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Blois, three brothers Aubrey, Pte. Bert, lately returned home from overseas and Leonard at home, and two sisters, Ruby of Winnipeg and Winnie at home.

The funeral was held on Saturday March 1st from the home to the Episcopal Church, Rev. A. W. Buckland officiating, who gave a short service at the house and a very touching address at the church, making special reference to the deceased as one who was loved by all that knew her and sympathizing with her parents, brothers and sisters in their sad loss.

Word has been received that Lieut. O. Sheehan left St. John on the transport Scotia for England. He will return in about three weeks.

Miss Grace Ross has returned home after spending two weeks with her cousin Mrs. L. Aschal of Gaspé.

Mr. J. O. Sherar is attending a meeting of the Presbytery in Newcastle, N. B.

The epidemic of small pox is gradually dying out, only one new case being reported this week. Quite a number have been vaccinated and as a result several have been very sick under the doctor's care.

An old resident has passed away in the person of Mr. Francis Hocquard at the age of seventy years. Besides his widow he is survived by seven sons, all of whom are in other parts, except Frank and Charles, the former who lives in town and the latter with his mother.

The funeral was held on Feb. 27th. Mr. Viret officiated and gave a helpful address at the house and meeting house at Hopedown, where interment was made.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Hocquard and family in their loss.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Rita Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains in my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not have it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female troubles of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation

Quincy, Ohio. "I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and the doctor decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

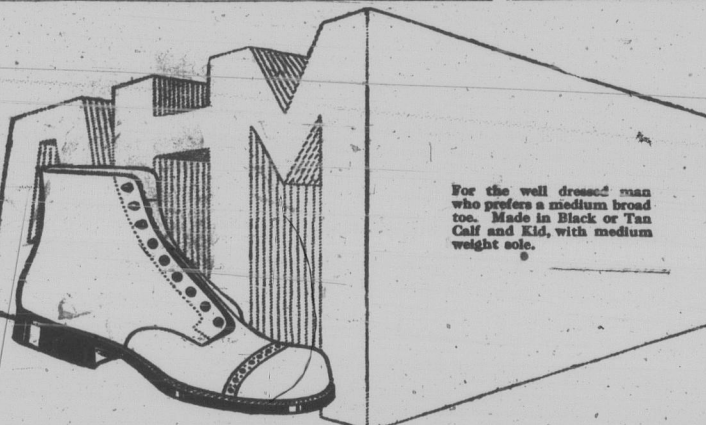

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. M. M. Boyd, 1221 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

A Well Known Trade Mark and What is Back of It.

MOST Canadians will instantly recognize our trade mark as standing for certain standards of quality in shoes. But what is back of it? Why should it be so generally accepted as a sufficient guarantee of good value? Let us see—

In the first place, there is back of it by far the largest shoe manufacturing organization in Canada, with resources far beyond those of any other, and greater buying power in the material markets. But that is not all. Important as these things are, they are not the most important. For back of the trade mark there is something else which we could not escape if we would: an obligation to keep faith with the public.

The manufacturer of unbranded goods assumes no responsibility for them after they leave his factory. The manufacturer of trade marked goods assumes such an obligation which lasts clear through to the last day of their use. The trade mark puts him under bonds, as it were, to maintain the quality of his product, or lose his reputation. And the higher his reputation becomes, the heavier his responsibility grows. Not less so.

That is what is back of the A.H.M. trade mark. That is what we offer to Canadian wearers of shoes. That is why we ask you to look for the manufacturer's trade mark on the shoes you buy.

We have prepared a booklet entitled "How to Buy Shoes." May we send you a copy with our compliments?

ADVICE TO THE RETURNED MEN

Popular Bonaventure Member Will Look After Interest of All

Quebec, 5th March, 1919.

Dear Sirs—

The local government has decided to give lands to those of the returned soldiers who have the idea of becoming farmers.

The Federal government has also passed or intends to pass some laws regarding an allocation to be given to the soldiers; they have also passed or are passing several other laws regarding the pension for soldiers or wives and children of deceased soldiers and so forth.

As the soldiers or their relatives are often not in a position to know exactly what these laws are, I will give them without any charge whatever, all the explanations they want, and I will try to help them as much as I can, because I am in a position to know more than them what are the laws, and the benefit we can get from them.

Yours truly,
J. T. BUIAUD.

Benefit of Lime In Agriculture.

The Agricultural Functions of Lime and Its Compounds

The chief and outstanding objects of applying lime or carbonate of lime are two:—The correction of neutralization of acidity or sourness and the improvement of tilth or mechanical condition of soils.

Acidity or sourness in a soil is a property or quality distinctly detrimental to the growth of most farm crops; lime and carbonate of lime combine with and neutralize the soil's acids and the excess used renders the soil slightly alkaline, a condition favourable to crop growth. In this way lime and other alkaline lime compounds may restore and enhance fertility.

Wet, low-lying and ill-drained soils are especially apt to become sour. Soils consisting essentially of vegetable organic matter, as muck and peat lands, are usually, though not invariably, sour. Again, though not so much, many light, upland soils are slightly acid, presumably by reason of the weathering out and leaching away of their original store of carbonate of lime or its withdrawal by many years of cropping.

In all soils, but more especially in sandy and gravelly loams, there is a tendency for the lime compounds to disappear, partly through removal by crops, but more particularly by their solution and passage into strata below the zone occupied by the growing roots. Carbonate of lime is fairly soluble in water containing carbon dioxide and soil moisture. It is usually saturated with that gas—and thus the soil's lime is constantly washed down wards and may largely be carried off by the drainage water. This fact explains the presence of carbonate of lime in the waters of our rivers, lakes and wells, and it is in this way that thousands of tons of this valuable constituent of our soils annually find their way to the sea. Once the available lime has disappeared, the tendency will be for the soil to become sour. Some soils, by reason of their origin, are well supplied with carbonate of lime for years of cultivation. Such are almost invariably strong, productive soils and stock feed on their crops are thrifty with plenty of bone. But there are other soils—especially many clay, silts and mucks—that are poor in lime from the outset and these, under cultivation, become poorer and poorer in this constituent.

Influence of Lime on Tilth.

The influence of lime and its compounds upon the tilth or texture of the soil constitutes, as we have said, one of its most important and valuable properties. This most marked and most beneficial in the case of clay loams, rendering them less sticky and cohesive when wet and more friable and mellow when dry. This is brought about by the aggregation or gathering together of the finer particles of the clay into larger units, a process known as flocculation. This flocculation vastly improves ploughing and planting conditions. It renders the soil more pervious and almost unutilizable condition into one which renders them easier and less expensive to work. Further this flocculation makes clays dry, warmer, better aerated, with a larger content of moisture available for plant growth and thus brings about a more favourable and ready condition for the extension of the root system in search of food. It permits the farmer to cultivate his clay soil earlier in the spring, for flocculation assists drainage and thus will ensure in most seasons, earlier seedling and thrashing yields. The effect of lime and its compounds on clays, which may be summed up in the words "flocculation," can be considered on a part with their power to neutralize acidity.

On light soils—sandy and gravelly loams—lime and carbonate of lime are also beneficial, but not so markedly as in the case of clays. The action here is to cement slightly loose soil grains, rendering the soil somewhat heavier or closer in texture and thus, being less open and porous, their roots, where it is built up into the tissues of root, stem and leaf. The legumes generally are among our most important forage crops and they possess this unique property of leaving the soil richer in nitrogen from their growth. The bacteria that enable them to play this important role in agriculture cannot thrive in an acid soil, and thus it is that an application of lime or of carbonate of lime favours their development encourages the luxuriant growth of the legumes—the crops that enrich our soils in nitrogen and at the same time furnish us with first, may be mention the action.

Chemical Effects of Lime Compounds

Reference has already been made to the influence of lime and carbonate of lime upon the acidity which may develop in a soil. There are other chemical reactions, though possibly of a subsidiary character and value, which take place on liming a soil, and these will now be briefly discussed.

First, may be mention the action.

all the nutrients, protein.

Quicklime and slaked lime are not so desirable or safe for light, sandy and gravelly loams, as are ground limestone and marl. These soils are usually poor in organic matter and the effect of lime, as is well known, is to hasten the oxidation and dissipation of this constituent. Hence, unless the lime were applied in small dressings (less than 1,000 pounds per acre) and, at long intervals, the humus of the soil—certainly one of its most valuable constituents—would be unduly reduced in amount and thus the fertility of the soil seriously impaired. Carbonate of lime (limestone and marl) is much milder in its action and an excess can do little or no harm.

The application of ground limestone and marl offers no special difficulty or unpleasantness. It may be used as the material distributed by shovel from a wagon. They may be applied at any season of the year, and are especially suited, as has been stated for light loams and soils generally that are poor in organic matter. As with lime they should be harrowed in, not ploughed under, or in the case of meadows or pastures, merely swept on the surface.

The Use and Misuse of Lime.

There is a use and a misuse of lime; it can be employed legitimately to increase crop production and it can also be used that soil improvement must inevitably follow. It has been shown that lime and its compounds may perform many important functions, in correcting acidity, in improving tilth, in promoting nitrification; never-the-less they are fertilizers. It is true they may serve a useful purpose in some soils by furnishing available lime, but they do not add to the soil's store of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, the essential elements that must be constantly returned if the soil's fertility is to be maintained or increased.

Lime and its compounds are to be regarded as amendments, materials that may improve the soil, chemically, physically and biologically, and thus make it more suitable for crop growth. They are not to be considered or used as substitutes for manure; for drainage, or for tillage. The exclusive and excessive use of the more "quartz" forms (quicklime, slakedlime) must inevitably lead to exhaustion of fertility, for, as we have seen, they act as a stimulant, setting fire but not adding to the soil's store of plant food.

The use of the milder forms—marl, ground limestone—is not fraught with the same danger to the soil's future, but even with these less active materials, it is incumbent that the soil's humus content be maintained.

ESSENTIALS OF GOOD ROAD-MAKING

Road-makers are forerunners of civilization. It is important, therefore, that we should know where, when and how roads should be constructed. Men who possess all of these qualifications have never been very numerous in Canada. The greater proportion of our existing rural roads have been designed and constructed by farmers who had no special training for such work. Fortunately, these conditions are rapidly changing. The country, the province, and even the Dominion are assuming responsibility for many of the same important highways. But no matter what authority is responsible for road construction and maintenance, it is of first importance that the work should be done intelligently as to design and materials used.

The first and prime essential of any good road is surface drainage, subsurface drainage and side drainage. When finished, the road must shed water. To do this, it must be crowned from 1/2 to 3/4 of an inch to the foot depending on the wearing surface, and must have an impervious or water-proof covering. There may be an unimproved slope from the crown to the gutter or to the side ditch. The gutters or side ditches should have a fall of at least 5 inches per 100 feet, and, if they are earthen ditches, they should have 6 inches per 100 feet, and free drainage at frequent intervals into natural creeks, channels, or in the case of aridity with a sewerage system into the sewers.

To drain away the sub-surface water and prevent it softening the foundation, it is well to lay two lines of tiles.

The second essential is a good foundation, and this is especially necessary for roads where the loads are concentrated on small areas.

Because macadam roads are more expensive in first cost than gravel roads, they should be built very carefully. The materials in the order of their excellence are—trap rock, tough granite, chert, tough limestone, ordinary limestone, tough sandstone.

Paving brick, concrete, crushed stone of various kinds, limestone, trap rock, granite, sandstone, chert, crushed gravel, bank gravel, sand and loam mixed with various bitumens such as crude oils, coal tar and asphalt, are used to make good roads or to improve them to some extent at least.

The choice of the material for any particular stretch of road will depend upon first, the character of traffic it must sustain, second, the taxable valuation of the assessable property, third, the available material material. Where auto and horse vehicle traffic is heavy, as it usually is around larger cities, creosoted wooden block, brick cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wireprick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted. When you or your child, or anyone else, sustains any injury, infection by applying Zam-Buk. out without pain.

Good news spreads rapidly and drug stores here are kept busy dispensing it. It is the only corn remedy that is a genuine man, which is said to loosen any corn without cutting it.

Ask at any pharmacy for a quarter ounce of it, which will cost very little, but is well worth the effort to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, itching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so softened that it lifts out with out pain. It is a truly marvelous remedy which dries up and never returns.

Over the Top

While sitting in the G.W.V.A. rooms the other afternoon having a chat with the President Mr. Frank Peterson, I noticed two boys come into the room. Not knowing why they came I approached one of them and said "Well, sonny, is there anything I can do for you?" The reply was "No thank you" and the boy handed me a good sized parcel wrapped up in a newspaper. "What is this for, I asked him. "Oh, these are some books that I want to give to the returned soldiers, they are for the G.W.V.A." was his reply, with hero worship written all over his face as this lad realized what these returned men had done for their country. No doubt he wants to be a soldier himself when he grows up, should his country need him. The gift of this boy of his treasured books compares favorably with the widow's mite. The boy who presented the books was Alonzo London. He had read "Over the Top" in a recent issue of the Graphic about the needs of the G.W.V.A. and he wanted to help the returned men to have comfortable club rooms.

Mrs. Ernest Dunham very kindly gave the Association a large bundle of books, magazines, and papers, and a match scratcher to be hung on the wall. We have to scratch the match-
