DISTRICT AND GENERAL

Miss Margaret Muxworthy has taken a position in the Molsons Bank at Forest.

The Aldborough Old Boys' Reunion
picnic will be held at New Glasgow on August 16th.

The tobacco acreage in Essex and Kent is roughly estimated at from 6,000 to 8,000 this year.

The adoption of a six-cent fare on many street railways in the United States may necessitate the minting of six-cent coins.

The Patriotic League of Campbellton took in over $500 at their recent garden party. Net proceeds amounted to about $300.

J. M. Lodge threshed for J. M. Blue 117 bushels of Dawson wheat, the yield of two and one-half acres within
the corporation limits of Dutton.

Henry Ford claims that he will have 60,000 bushels of wheat on his property lying between the lake and his manufacturing plant in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, who have been residing on con. 2, Aldborough, have purchased a residence in Wards-ville and have moved to their new home.

A further reduction in hydro-electric rates has been made at Dutton. Domestic lights have been reduced to 4.5 cents, commercial to 9 cents and power to 4.1 cents.

At Ridgeway new barley is being marketed at $2.25 per hundred. Oats are quoted at 65c per bushel, with the yield of two and one-half acres within
the corporation limits of Dutton.

The intense heat of the past week or two has seriously damaged the tomato crop in the Ridgeway district.
Hundreds of bushels of fine ripe to-matos are said to have been cooked.

The largest load of peas that ever entered the canning factory yard at West Lorne was drawn by John W.
Welch of Crinan on July 16. There were nineteen hundred pounds of shelled peas.

No gypsies are to be permitted to pursue their wanderings about Ontario this summer, the order that everyone must work being due for strict enforcement, and horse-trading and fortune-telling not being rated as work.

Joseph McTaggart of Alvinston shipped $7,000 worth of wool last week to the woolen mills. One hay-rack load was valued at $4,000.
Twenty years ago wool sold at 15c per lb. Take some load at that price to bring $4,000.

An exchange says:—Some people imagine that if they make their voice quiver when singing their hearers will think they have had it trained, but they do not deceive many. Push in the tremolo stop of your vocal organ.
It does not improve the sweetness of your voice.

The London Advertiser says:—Dr.
A. W. Macfie, president of the Druggists' Physicians' Association of Canada, left on Saturday for Fort Wayne, Ind., to attend the International Chiropractic convention at his Alma Mater, Roff College. On Monday Dr. Macfie delivered an address on "Chiropractic vs. Medicine in Ontario."

To prevent drafted men from leaving the Dominion without permits the military authorities are planning to establish a mounted patrol along the international boundary bordering the Detroit River. During the past two winters, according to Windsor officers, more than two thousand Canadian soldiers crossed the border to the United States.

A proclamation of the Governor-General is published in this issue of The Transcript by which all defaulters and deserters are given until August 24 to get into the ranks with a stay of the penalty in connection therewith up to that date. The proclamation is of particular interest to young men and should be read carefully by all who have reason to believe that they are affected by it.

DEATH OF JOSEPH FOY

Joseph Foy, a former well-known and esteemed citizen of Glencoe, passed away at Winnipeg on August 5th, the result of injuries received when he was run down by an automobile while riding his bicycle on the street on July 17. The late Mr. Foy was born in Dover, Kent county. He spent his early manhood in teaching school after graduating from Toronto Normal school in 1873. He taught in Chatham, Raleigh, Highgate, Duart, Wardsville and Glencoe. In 1883 he took up the trade of a carpenter, which he followed in and around Glencoe until about 16 years ago when he went to Detroit and Grosse Point, shortly afterwards moving to Winnipeg. His wife, who was Elizabeth D. Atkinson of Highgate, predeceased him on December 24, 1886.
They had four children, three of whom survive—John Franklin of Detroit, George C. and Mrs. Charles M.
Cameron of Mosa, the latter being at his bedside when he passed away and accompanied the remains to Chatham, where interment was made in the family plot. The funeral was held from the home of his niece, Mrs.
David Stanton. Three brothers also survive, William and Charles of Chatham and George of Dover.

Mr. Foy was a staunch Liberal, an ardent temperance man and a member of the Presbyterian Church. Rev.
Mr. Malcolm of Knox church, Newbury, conducted the funeral services at the home and graveside.

Mr. Foy also belonged to the I. O.
O. F. Lodge at Glencoe, which brotherhood held a service in Winnipeg, conducted by Rev. Mr. Kennedy, an old friend and pastor in Glencoe.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY TORONTO TO WINDSOR

The provincial highway from Toronto to Windsor will be built immediately after the war. This has been decided definitely. County Engineer Talbot is certain that it will pass through London. It will follow the Wharncliffe road to Lambeth, but from there on there is a choice of highways. Some are of the opinion that it should run along the Talbot road to Talbotville and from Talbot-ville to Windsor, passing through the southern part of the province. Others argue that it should pass through Lambeth, Delaware, Melbourne, Wardsville, Thamesville and Chatham to Windsor. This would follow the old Longwoods road. Mr. Talbot stated that this is the logical road from London to Windsor.

The cost of the road per mile cannot be estimated at present. It will depend on the cost of material, the scale of wages and the amount of grading necessary. The Government will pay 70 per cent. of the expenses and the municipalities through which the road passes will pay the remaining 30 per cent.

Provincial county roads will be built as feeders throughout the province.
The Government will meet 60 per cent. of the expenses of these roads and the counties will pay the balance.
These feeders will be under the supervision of the counties.

The road will be much superior to the present roads. It will be about 80 feet wide. The telegraph and power lines will be placed on the outer extremities of the road. On either side a strip 25 feet wide will be marked off. These strips will each include a storm gutter. This gutter is a hollow depression in the road.
Immediately below the surface of the depression is a line of tile. This gutter will take care of all surface water.
The width and depth of this depression will depend on grading and other conditions. Between the gutter and telegraph lines will be an expanse of grass on which may be planted shade trees.

The road proper, that is the part which carries the traffic, will be 30 feet wide. This is the distance from drain to drain. From 18 to 20 feet of this will be paved. This will leave about 5 or 6 feet on either side for pedestrians.

If the highway is constructed by way of Talbotville, then 23 miles of the road will pass through Middlesex.
If the highway is built along the Longwood road, then the county will have 52 miles of the road.

The direction which the road will take is greatly influenced by the interest taken by the municipalities situated along the proposed route. It is stated that the people along the Ta-bot road are working to have the highway take that course, while no sign of activity has been shown by those residing on the Longwoods route. More interest should be shown because this road will benefit every city, town and village through which it passes.

CARADOC PASTOR INDUCTED

The Presbytery of London met in the church at North Caradoc on Thursday afternoon, August 8, for the induction of the new minister, Rev.
G. M. Chidley, B.A., formerly of Gam-bridge, in the Presbytery of Lindsay.
Rev. Dr. McCrae presided and also inducted the new minister. The sermon was preached by Rev. D. Robertson of Burns Church, Mosa. Rev. G. T. Stewart of London gave the address to Rev. Mr. Chidley, and Rev. G. S. Lloyd of Glencoe addressed the congregation on their respective duties and privileges.

FIELD CROP COMPETITION

The following awards have been made in the standing crop competition for 1918 in connection with the Mosa and Ekfrid Agricultural Society. The crop grown was oats and the name of the variety grown by each prize-winner is given.
1—James McKee, Ekfrid, O. A. C.
72; 2—James Walker, Mosa, Banner;
3—D. N. Munroe, Mosa, Reg. Banner;
4—J. D. McKellar, Ekfrid, Ligowa; 5
—Wm. McCutcheon, Mosa, O. A. C.;

7—D. J. McKellar, Ekfrid, Ligowa; 8
—A. B. Gillies & Bros., Mosa, Abundance; 9—D. McKellar, Ekfrid, O. A. C.; 10—John Gould, Mosa, Early Lig-owa; 11—Thos. Henderson, Mosa, Granary Filled; 12—Godfrey Mc-Murchy, Ekfrid, Abundance.

COST OF EATING JUMPS

A very comprehensive illustration of the increased cost of living during the past decade has been made by Ald. L. O. Pearson of St. Thomas.
Taking a bill for general groceries amounting to an even $5 in 1909, Mr.
Pearson itemized the same at prices for the articles prevailing today. He was surprised to find that the same bill at the present time would amount to $11, or in other words an increase in nine years of 120 per cent. While wages have gone up considerably during that period they have not jumped in proportion to the cost of food.
Wages, it is estimated on an average have increased about 60 or 70 per cent., while food on the whole will run close to the century mark.

work done on the Graham drain; Arthur Joyce, $125, for work done on the McLachlan drain; Stephen Pen-nell, $60, for work done on the Wiley drain; Wm. Stinson, $15, for work done on the Graham drain; William Quick, $25.79, for furnishing tile for the Graham drain, and A. Gardiner, $15, commissioner's fee on Graham drain. Carried.

Moved by J. D. McNaughton, seconded by R. W. McKellar, that a grant of $139.92 be made for the construction of a concrete sidewalk on townline south of Glencoe. Carried.
The following Red Cross societies were paid: No. 9, $75; Burns' church, $50; Ferguson Crossing, $75; Newbury-Mosa, $25—of Red Cross grant.
Carried.

Moved by A. Gardiner, seconded
by J. D. McNaughton, that R. W.
McKellar, commissioner on the No. 2
Government Drain, be hereby instructed to resell the contract to repair the said drain. Carried.

Moved by R. W. McKellar, seconded
by J. D. McNaughton, that A. Gardiner be hereby instructed to have the Reycraft-Hurdle drain repaired on lot
13. Carried.

The council adjourned to meet at Newbury on August 17th at 10 o'clock
a. m. C. C. McNAUGHTON, Clerk.

WOODS—GUBBINS

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F.
W. Gubbins, Mosa, on Saturday, August 3rd, when their only daughter, Roberta Irene, and William G. Woods were united in matrimony. Rev. R. F.
Irwin officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly attired in a suit of peacock blue charmeuse silk with white georgette blouse, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. The couple, who were unattended, stood under a prettily decorated arch of evergreens and sweet peas. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGill, Mr. McGill playing the violin.

After the signing of the register a reception was given, the tables looking lovely with decorations of pink and white. The presents received were numerous and valuable and included several cheques. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to Mr. and Mrs. McGill a cut glass vase.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods left amid showers of confetti for a short trip to Toronto, Grimsby Beach and Beamsville.
On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in Ekfrid township, and will be at home to their friends
after September 15th.

GLENCOE HIGH SCHOOL

The following is the list of the names of pupils who have been promoted from Form II to Form III:—
Annie Aldred, William Carroll, Mary Fryer, Elizabeth Grant, Florence Hurley, Gladys Hurley, Jeanetta Lotan, Emie McKellar, Kathleen McNabb,
Sarah McLachlan, Margaret Richards,
Mary Westcott Irene Urquhart.

The school will reopen for the fall term on Tuesday, September 17th.

GREAT OATS THIS YEAR

Ontario will this year reap one of the heaviest crops of oats in her history. She will consequently "feel her oats" in her pocketbook, says the Brantford Expositor.

The oat crop in Middlesex and Elgin counties and in fact all the southern counties is prodigious this year.
It is the thing most commented on by motorists or anyone travelling by train through Western Ontario.
Yields of 70 bushels to the acre are said to be common and the total crop will probably be the heaviest in the history of this section of the province.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Glencoe, August 12, 1918.
To the Editor of The Transcript:
Dear Sir,—I have just received from the National Allied Relief Committee of New York the following acknowledgment:

"Acknowledged with thanks the sum of fifty dollars from children of Glencoe and F. J. Carman as a subscription to the Children's Relief—
James A. Blair, Jr., Treasurer."
I am very much obliged for the use of your paper in this matter.

Yours truly,
F. J. CARMAN.

TRY DRYING VEGETABLES

Dehydrated (dewatered) vegetables and fruits retain the flavor of fresh products. You need no sugar to preserve them. Try drying your vegetables and fruits this summer.

Last week we had the highest temperature on record—106 in the shade.
Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

His Great Decision

Which Shows the Attitude of Our Southern Neighbor At the Beginning of the War, and How the Republic's Noblest Sons and Daughters Rose to the Occasion.

By Edith Brown Kirkwood.

CHAPTER I.

Wide streets with old elms and maples; big, roomy homes set in rambling yards; gardens, where flowers vie with good things to eat; prosperous business houses grouped about an imposing white stone courthouse; a peaceful brook caught a growing centre and made into a river as it strayed from its woodland; the whirr of family motor cars; the wave of friendly hands; this is Clinton.

A youth, just turned into a legal man, sat at the window of his father's law office and looked out across the town to the tops of trees beyond a country road. Then he closed the book he had been endeavoring to read, placed it carefully on his shelf and wandered out of the room and on to the street. Automatically he turned to one of the maple-shaded thoroughfares, stopped at the gate of a house and gave a friendly whistle.

A girl, reading in her sunny room, jumped to her feet and, book in hand, ran out to the upper verandah. The youth thrust his hands in his pockets and looked up at her balcony.

"It's a gorgeous morning, Chuck the book and come for a hike."

"To the country?"

"Yeh."

"Sure thing."

Two minutes later the girl, her soft hair fluttering about her face, her eyes alight with the joy of life, clattered down the stairs and thrusting her head in at the open door of a room where a matron sat tatting, called:

"I'm going for a hike in the country with Crane, Mother."

On the steps she ran into a stout gentleman about to enter the front door.

"Frights are supposed to side-track for limited!" he cried. "Never mind, Daddy, I'll forgive you this time." She turned only long enough to blow a kiss in his direction.

The boy at the gate laughed as she joined him. He was a slender, boyish figure with tousled hair as if to tip his hat that never was worn.

As they fell into step, the swinging, dashing step of those accustomed to walking together, Crane said, "I can't study on a day like this. I suppose the law's a necessary evil and that there must be lawyers but—Marj," he broke off, "it must be some job to be a father! My dad wants me to be a lawyer because he's one and I'll make as good a lawyer as that goose waddling off there. And your dad, say, the way you chum up to him is great. He scares me pink. When he turns that dignified, behold-a-man glance on me, I shiver. I'm more afraid to speak pleasantly to him than I'd be to pull the Kaiser's nose."

The girl threw back her head and laughed.

"Yes, you'd pull the Kaiser's nose, you would! You'd get spanked."

"Oh, I don't know! Maybe you think I couldn't!"

He put up a healthy-looking right arm and drew the muscles out to their fullest. "I guess that ain't so worse. Oh, wow, look at that cardinal! Did you see him? Catch his coat going through the leaves! Sh-sh-sh! Don't scare him. Let's go over and watch him."

With one of youth's quick changes in interest, they forgot all about the Kaiser and men and sat waiting for a glint of scarlet against the green of the trees or the blue of the sky.

On the top-step of his front porch, Edward Mann had turned to watch his daughter walk off with the young man. Then he shook his head and entered the house. Mrs. Mann met him at the door. "The bank smelled stuffy and I thought I'd browse about the yard," he explained. "I met Marjorie going off with Crane Chapman. Where they bound?"

"Just a stroll in the country."

"Seems to me it might be better if that young chap strolled to work more often. I suppose if I were a lawyer like Fred Chapman I'd want my son to be a lawyer, too, but by gad when I set him to reading the law I'd keep him at it even if it was in my own office."

"I don't think Crane likes the law," explained Mrs. Mann quietly as she watched her husband slip out of his brilliantine office coat and roll his sleeves back over strong arms.

"Humph!" came the response. "I guess if it was slimmered down, taking strolls in the country is about the only thing Crane does like—except laughing. He does that very well. Don't you think he and Marjorie are together a good bit?"

"I don't think so," Mrs. Mann answered looking up quickly. "They've been brought up together and always have been friends. I don't see anything unusual in their being together now."

"Maybe not, Annie, only sometimes I wish Marjorie'd stick to some real man for awhile. I've worked like a stoker building a name for Marjorie to be proud of. I don't want her to add a name that doesn't stand for something. I wish she'd settle

FISHERS' SUPERSTITIONS.

Omens That Daunt the Gallant Trawlers of the Old Land.

"Haul the trawl, my lads; we'll have to try new grounds. He's swept all the fish out of these waters." So cries the skipper, and the nets are hauled aboard, and away we steam to try our luck elsewhere, simply because one of the deckhands has used a brush to clear the deck of refuse, instead of shovelling it overboard. No matter how good the catches have been, no skipper will waste time longer in a locality which has had its "luck swept away" in this fashion.

All sailors are superstitious, but none is so completely under this influence as the old deep-sea fisherman. He puts the deepest faith in "signs" and omens of all kinds. Nothing would induce a skipper of the old school to sail on a Friday. One intrepid unbeliever who dared to leave the docks at Grimsby on a Good Friday was hooted through the lock-gates by the scandalized populace. In spite of this challenging the fates, however, he returned safely with ship and crew.

If a man's hat blew overboard while leaving port, many skippers would turn back and delay sailing until the next day. It was an omen that one of the crew would be lost over the side during the trip. This sign, however, became discredited, as wily deckhands, desirous of another day ashore with their wives and families, contracted the habit of going aloft and assisting the wind to foretell disaster.

To speak of pigs aboard a fishing trawler is fatal to success for that trip. Poor catches and split and torn trawls will be the inevitable consequences. Similar misfortunes will result from taking off a hatch cover and laying it on the deck upside down. A new moon on Sunday which reaches the full on a Saturday always brings bad weather. To kill a "kitty," as the fishermen call the smaller kind of seaulls that follow in the wake of the trawlers, is a most dangerous act, liable to imperil the safety of the ship itself.

If a man is ill at sea, his most critical time is when land is first sighted. If he survives an hour after the sighting of land, he will recover. On some trawlers whistling is forbidden—it scares away the fish. Other skippers believe that to wash your face in the middle of a trip will break a spell of calm weather.

HOW SHE REACHED INDIA

British General's Wife Hires Out With Japanese Woman

Since the opening of the submarine campaign the British authorities have refused permits to women to travel abroad unless the journey has been absolutely necessary, says a London correspondent.

One woman to whom had been refused a permit to rejoin her husband in India decided that she would go anyhow. At first she tried to get a job as a stewardess, but found that she would have to sign for the return voyage as well.

Reading a newspaper one day she came across the advertisement of a Japanese woman, an invalid, who required a nurse to return with her and her little girl to Japan.

She immediately answered the advertisement and threw herself on the mercy of the Japanese woman, telling her the facts and begging for the post. The Japanese woman agreed on the condition she remained with them on arrival in Japan until she was suited with another nurse. The English woman remained in Japan three weeks and then completed her journey to India, where a British General was surprised one day to find that a handsome nurse had arrived at his bungalow—his own wife.

FIGHTING ESKIMOS.

The Tribes of Alaska are a Sturdy and Healthy Race.

Much has been written about the physical deterioration of the Alaska Eskimos and the prospect that their race will soon become extinct, but these observations are not in accord with present-day facts.

The Eskimos of that Arctic territory (now numbering about 10,000) are holding their own numerically, and their condition, social and economic, has been so greatly improved within recent years that before long they are likely to show an increase in the census returns.

Their seems to be a case of the survival of the fittest. For, according to tradition, the Cape Eskimos of long ago were fighters, constantly waging war with their neighbors, and welcoming to their hand tough characters and outlaws from other places near and far.

They seem to have flourished long before Columbus landed in America; and, in regard to their warlike history, archeologists are not obliged to rely wholly upon their own more or less hazy legends for information. Deep in the ancient glacier—a river of ice that never melts—have been found, under the accumulated debris of many centuries, quantities of their weapons of war, proving that long ago the Cape fighting man had the tools of his military profession.

Judging from the physique of his descendants, he was able to handle himself in any company. He laid the foundation of a sturdy and healthy race. Constant warfare and the rigorous climate (in which only the constitutionally sound can survive) eliminated the unfit, and his posterity today stand by themselves as a distinct and superior type among the Eskimos of Alaska.

Like the other Eskimos (though less willingly) they are absorbing the elements of civilization. They are even accepting the Christian religion, while clinging to many of their old beliefs and customs—as, for example, in their method of disposing of the dead, whose bones are scattered, with ceremonial rites, from the top of the lofty mountain that marks Cape Prince of Wales, just as were those of their ancestors hundreds and probably thousands of years ago.

Excellent Training

Harold, the only son of a wealthy widowed mother, was selected for service by his local board and duly arrived at the camp where he was to receive instructions in the many art of warfare. Imagine his surprise and chagrin when he was detailed to what is known as K. P. duty. In this he became quite proficient, however, as the following quotation from his letter shows:

"Dear Mother, I put in this entire day washing dishes, sweeping floors, making beds and peeling potatoes. When I get home from this camp I'll make some girl a mighty fine wife."

FROM OLD SCOTLAND

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM HER BANKS AND BRAES.

What is Going On in the Highlands and Lowlands of Auld Scotia.

Must Stop Candy Manufacture.

The Canada Food Board, on July 23, ordered the Union Confectionery, 284 8th Avenue East, Calgary, to discontinue the manufacture of candy forthwith, and not to purchase any sugar to manufacture candy until permission has been granted by the Board. The Company must return the sugar which it has on hand, to the dealer from whom it was purchased, and must cancel all orders for sugar. The Union Confectionery was using sugar in the manufacture of candy, despite the fact that it had not been in business last year, and consequently was not entitled to an allotment of sugar. The Chief of Police at Calgary has been asked to see that these instructions are observed.

Large Supplies of Haddock.

A bountiful harvest of haddock is being reaped by the Maritime Provinces fishermen these days and the shore fishing fleet is landing heavy catches daily, according to advices just received by the Canada Food Board. These boats go out to sea at sunrise and set their lines from five to ten miles offshore. Returning with their fish in the afternoon, the haddock, in splendid condition, are dressed and packed for shipment as soon as landed, and the Sea Food Special of the Canadian Government Railways transports cars to Toronto three times per week. Haddock is being sold in Toronto stores at ten cents per pound and the Food Board is urging that it be used freely as a summer diet while plentiful.

PRUSSIAN AND BAVARIAN RETREAT ON WIDE FRONT

English, French and Canadian Troops in Offensive Which Enemy Could Not Resist.

A despatch from the British Army in France says:—Fighting their way through the Germans at dawn on Thursday on a front of over 15 miles astride the River Somme, British (including Canadians, Australians and English), and French troops by the afternoon had reached points from five to six miles inside lines which belonged to the enemy.

The Prussians and Bavarians fled before the advancing infantry and tanks, leaving many of their guns behind them.

Large numbers of prisoners have been taken both by the British and French, and heavy casualties undoubtedly have been inflicted on the enemy.

Thus far everything has been accomplished with exceedingly small losses to the allies.

The artillery has followed up the storm troops closely and hurled shells down upon the enemy forces, which, taken by surprise and fiercely attacked, were in a more or less crippled condition.

Moreuil and the country front adjoining Villers-aux-Érables have been taken by the French, while the British have captured the Dodo and Hamel Woods, and Marcelcave after hard fighting and pushed a considerable distance beyond.

Weather Helped Allies Especially hard fighting was experienced, and on the left flank of the fighting front in the neighborhood of Morlancourt. The weather helped in the advance.

All along the line, except possibly northward on the left flank, very little enemy shelling was experienced after the attack got well under way.

Nearly all the country already fought over and that now in front of the allied forces is low and rolling, and especially adapted to open warfare.

One new German division which had just arrived in the line before the attack was launched was told to expect local attacks. Prisoners taken from this division said they had heard nothing of a general attack being contemplated.

HUNS PREPARING WATCH ON RHINE

Force of Half Million Being Formed to Resist Invasion of Germany.

A despatch from the American Army says:—From sections of the German army there are being drawn a certain proportion of officers and the sturdiest soldiers for the formation of a force of half a million men, which is to receive special training and have special organization. There are to be no Poles or Alsatians in this army, but only fighters that the Kaiser believes he can trust to the last.

This German force is not to be used as a hammer in any new drive for Paris; it is not to be used for any blow against the British; it is not to be used to "punish" the Americans; but, according to information reaching allied commanders, it is being formed for no other purpose than to stand back of the Rhine against an invasion of German soil.

Than the formation of such an army for such a purpose at such a time, when the Kaiser needs all his available forces on the Western front, what could better show that the German High Command realizes that the tide of war is about to turn if, indeed, it has not already done so? One may not say that the war is almost won, but one may say that the sun now shines on our side of the fence. Up to three weeks ago, for months the allies waited to see what the Germans were doing and wondered where they would strike next; now it is the Germans who wonder where the allies will strike next.

2 WOODEN VESSELS LAUNCHED IN EAST

New Brunswick's Answer to the Submarine Challenge.

A despatch from St. John, N.B., says:—Launching of two fine wooden vessels last week was New Brunswick's answer to the challenge of the German submarine lurking off the Atlantic coast which has already destroyed the Dorfontein, the first of the ships completed in the present renaissance of the shipbuilding. The new vessels are the Celina K. Goldman, 477 tons, built at St. Martins, and the Vincent A. White, 460 tons, launched at Alma. At St. Martins work begins at once on a second and larger craft than the two launched.

POPULATION OF POLAND DECREASED 3,500,000

A despatch from London says:—Polish newspapers declare that the population of the Kingdom has decreased from 14,000,000 to 10,500,000 during the war, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen.

Mortality is increasing and great numbers of Poles are leaving their country because of the rigorous conditions of life under the German rule.

FOCH'S POLICY WORKING WELL

Enemy is Not Given Time in Which to Reconstruct His Force.

A despatch from the French Army says:—History is again repeating itself. The allies have followed the second victory of the Marne by a combined attack in the region of the Somme. After a short but extremely violent artillery preparation, the Franco-British forces attacked on a twenty-mile front between the river and Montdidier. Latest news shows the French progressing favorably. The Avre was crossed south of Moreuil and all the first objectives reached. Massoul and Morizel, obstinately defended, were the scene of bitter fighting, but the whole German position on the Avre is threatened by the advance made further north along the Luce Rivulet, east of Hangard, in the direction of Aubercourt and Demuin.

Can't Reconstruct Force Foch has thus refused to allow the enemy to reconstruct his force of manoeuvre, which was the object of his recent restrictions of the front and his principal preoccupation. As Mangin put it, the Kron Prinz had received a severe knock, and Prince Rupprecht was in the position of a man who, after weakening himself to aid a friend, sees the latter temporarily hors de combat and wonders what on earth is going to happen to him. Now he knows.

WILL NOT RETURN GERMAN TERRITORY

A despatch from Cape Town says:—Impressive war anniversary services were held at the principal centres in the Union, last week including an open air service in the Church Square at Pretoria, which was attended by several Cabinet Ministers. Ministers of Justice DeWet, speaking in the Johannesburg Town Hall, said the Union's war message was one of courage, sympathy and faith. At the meeting at Nairobi it was unanimously decided that, under no circumstances shall the conquered East Africa territory be returned to Germany.

NORWAY PAYS HEAVY TOLL FOR NEUTRALITY

A despatch from London says:—Norway lost 14 vessels through war causes during the month of July, it was announced by the Norwegian Legation. The tonnage of the vessels lost aggregated 15,444. Fifty-five sailors were lost during the month.

A REAL BAG.

Paris, Aug. 11.—The number of prisoners taken so far in the Allied offensive in Picardy is now estimated at 36,000, including more than one thousand officers. More than five hundred guns have been captured, according to the latest advices.

DIVISIONS ARE CUT UP.

A despatch from the British Army Headquarters in France says:—On the horizon enemy motor transports have been visible scurrying away.

The 27th, 43rd and 108th Divisions of Crown Prince Rupprecht's army have suffered heavily, while the 117th Division, which came into the line only last night, has been badly cut up.

MONTDIDIER IS A REAL PRIZE

French Artillery Shell Roads From the Town Choked With Transport.

Paris, Aug. 11.—The capture of Montdidier became almost inevitable when the French reached northern and southeastern points of vantage. Before the whole garrison was able to evacuate it, Montdidier was almost completely surrounded. The attack began at 5 o'clock yesterday morning after a very short artillery preparation, the first shot of which was the signal for tanks to lumber out on their mission. Eleven French tanks charged the barricade at the entrance to the town. At noon the infantry came to complete the work. Half an hour later the town was in French possession.

Montdidier, which is an important road centre, will assist the French in developing the battle. The use they have already made of it is shown by the fact that yesterday the French had already gone beyond it, and had gone far clear of the Compiègne-Montdidier-Amiens road. These communications are important to the allies, although of course the freeing of the direct Paris-Amiens-Boulogne Railway, which was achieved by the northern actions, is of much greater benefit to the allies. The road from Montdidier to Roye is crisscrossed with enemy transport, seeking to flee in a great state of confusion and constantly bombarded by heavy French artillery.

2,000,000 UNIFORMS TO REFIT AMERICANS

A despatch from London says:—The British Government has let contracts to British manufacturers for military clothing to refit 2,000,000 American soldiers, according to a despatch from Glasgow to the Central News. This order, which breaks all records, is in addition to contracts under execution for the French and British armies. No cloth is to be made henceforth for civilian use, except under permit.

ITALIANS DRIVE IN AN ENEMY POST

Austrian Attempt on the Cornone Positions Repulsed. A despatch from Rome says:—Italian troops drove in an enemy advance post on the mountain front north of Col del Rosso, taking prisoners and a machine-gun, the War Office announced. An enemy attempt on the Italian positions on the Cornone was repulsed.

SOMME BRIDGES ARE DESTROYED

Paris, Aug. 11.—All the bridges across the Somme between Peronne and Ham, a stretch of about fifteen miles, have been destroyed by allied aviators. The Germans have been attempting to throw temporary bridges across the stream and the allied airmen are now systematically bombing these improvised structures.

Silent pro-German appetites are as hostile to the allied cause as disloyal utterances.

The Doges were the chief magistrates of the Venetian Republic in the Middle Ages.

BRITISH AND FRENCH SWEEPING ACROSS PLAINS OF PICARDY

Many Additional Villages Captured and Heavy Casualties Inflicted—Paris-Amiens Railway Freed for Use of the Allies.

London, Aug. 9.—Over a curving front of more than 20 miles the British and French troops are continuing to sweep back the Germans across the plains of Picardy from the region north of the Somme, east of Morlancourt, to the eastern bank of the Avre, north-west of Montdidier.

As on the first day of the offensive, material progress was made Friday over the entire battle front. Many additional villages were captured; the bag of prisoners was largely increased; numerous guns and great quantities of war stores were taken, and heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy by tanks, armored motor cars, the cavalrymen and the infantry. The losses sustained by the Anglo-French forces are declared to be relatively small. To the allied forces there have fallen 17,000 German prisoners and between 200 and 300 guns, many of them of heavy calibre, and innumerable machine guns, trench mortars and kindred small weapons.

Already having penetrated the Picardy salient to a depth of nearly 13 miles in the centre toward the vicinity of the important railroad junction of Chaules, and at other points along the arc pushed forward between five and seven miles, the northern and southern flanks of the battle front, where the Germans had been resisting desperately, gave way before the pressure respectively of the British and French.

Thousands of Dead Germans Left on the Battlefield

Paris, Aug. 9.—Field Marshal Foch, says Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris, is entirely satisfied with the progress made. The Germans, he adds, have sustained enormous losses and left thousands of bodies on the field of battle.

On the north the British captured Morlancourt and pressed on eastward, while on the south, northwest of Montdidier, Pierrepont, Contoire, and Arvillers were taken by the French, who drove in their wedge to a distance of more than 8½ miles.

Canadian troops have captured Warvillers, about 2½ miles south of Rosiers, while the French have taken Arvillers, to the south-west of Roye, and seven miles from Roye. The Germans recaptured Chipilly, north of the Somme, by a strong counter-attack to-day.

The tanks, armored cars and cavalry are still working throughout the entire region, while airplanes are soaring far behind the lines, bombing transport and troop movements and also paying particular attention to the bridges over the Somme by which the enemy is endeavoring to escape from their advancing foes. All behind the line the Germans are destroying ammunition depots as they quit their positions.

REPORT MUTINY OF U-BOAT CREWS

Twenty-three Men Said to Have Been Sentenced to Death.

A despatch from London says:—Rumors of a revolt by German sailors at Wilhelmshaven in protest against continuation of the submarine war are in circulation, according to a despatch to the Daily Express from Amsterdam. It is reported that propagandists among the men incited sailors about to leave on submarine cruises to attack their officers and surrender their ships or seek an opportunity to sink them and be themselves interned in neutral harbors. More than 50 submarines are said to have disappeared.

Twenty-three of the ring leaders of the revolt are reported to have been arrested and sentenced to death. Many others have been arrested at Kiel and elsewhere, it is added. The recent resignation of Admiral von Holtzendorff as chief of the naval staff is declared to have been connected with the scandal. Emperor William, it is added, has abandoned an intended visit to the fleet at Wilhelmshaven because of the ferment there.

Generals and Colonels Among Enemy Prisoners

Paris, Aug. 11.—All the reports from the battle front show extreme confusion among the enemy forces in their precipitate retreat. Among the prisoners taken are generals, colonels and officers of all other grades. Eleven divisions of General von Hutier and von Marwitz have been identified by prisoners taken.

RUPPRECHT'S MEN WERE IN RESERVE

Germans Engaged Southeast of Amiens Were to Drive on British.

A despatch from London says:—It is believed here that the troops engaged by the Franco-British forces southeast of Amiens are elements of Crown Prince Rupprecht's army. It has long been known that he had reserves concentrated behind the Arras-Amiens-Montdidier front, where it was expected that the Germans would make their next blow.

The moment chosen for the blow is considered an opportune one, as it is known that a large number of Rupprecht's reserves were taken by the German Crown Prince to extricate his army from the predicament it had encountered through Marshal Foch's counter-offensive on the Soissons-Rheims salient.

75 GERMAN U-BOATS DESTROYED During the Past Twelve Months

A despatch from London says:—In the course of a statement in the House of Commons Wednesday, Premier Lloyd George said that since the war broke out 150 German submarines have been destroyed, more than one-half of them during the past year.

WHAT THE WESTERN PEOPLE ARE DOING.

Progress of the Great West Told in a Few Pointed Paragraphs.

Tag Day for the Armenians and Syrians at Victoria netted $2,000. Seventy-five whales have already been taken this season by the steam whalers operating out of Kiyuquot. Victoria loses a popular young man in the death of Flight-Lieutenant Evan Spencer, son of Chris Spencer of Vancouver.

Lieut-Colonel James Alexander MacDonald, D.S.O., a pioneer of B.C. since 1888, died recently at Hot Springs, Ark.

The general crop prospects on the Matsqui Prairie are good, although, unless there is rain, there will be no second hay crop. Recently on a visit to Vancouver, Madame Sarah Bernhardt, though in her seventy-fourth year, delighted in fishing early in the morning.

Lieutenant Roland Bourke, of Nelson, is home on two weeks' furlough after proving himself a hero at Zebrugge by rescuing several companions.

Flight-Lieut. J. Cameron, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cameron, of Salmon Arm, has been accidentally killed, according to a cable received from England.

The Vancouver City Council are probing into the prices of meat, and are demanding statements from wholesale firms with a view to decreasing the prices.

A further investigation of the explosion at No. 3 Coal Creek Mine will be conducted at Fernie, all the victims having been recovered; they number thirty-four.

According to present indications the registration for the three Vancouver constituencies will aggregate 120,000, but anything like the exact figures is not available as by no means all the returns are yet in. Victoria claims 29,040 registrations.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor recently presented to the Misses Clement, on behalf of his Majesty the King, the Military Cross awarded to their brother, Captain C. M. Clement, of the Royal Flying Corps, son of Hon. Mr. Justice Clement, of Vancouver.

Major W. Bapty is now in command of the military hospital at Victoria. Major C. Wollard at Vancouver, Captain Greaves at Qualicum, Captain Boyce at Vernon, and Captain T. Miller at the Military Isolation Hospital. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., Victoria, has received word from the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries stating that the Imperial Munitions Board will let no more contracts for wooden ships in Canada.

The whole upper works of the dam at the Revelstoke power plant went out as a result of extra pressure due to another rise in the Illecillewaet river, and the collection of an immense log jam.

MUST HAVE AMUSEMENT. Clean Entertainment is Essential in War Time.

England long ago decided that amusement of the wholesome kind was absolutely essential for the people in war time, while the Council for National Defence in the United States recently ruled that entertainment must be continued for its psychological effect upon the public. Without it under the strain of war they feared the people might develop a frame of mind that might affect the morale of the nation. The Canadian National Exhibition took a similar stand four years ago and this year the management will furnish entertainment on an even more elaborate scale than before, turning its diversions wherever possible into patriotic ends. A Model Camp on the largest scale yet attempted, where extraordinarily vivid impressions of the realities of service abroad, will be a feature, while among the lighter diversions will be an entirely new Midway, a world congress of entertainers in front of the grand stand and a host of special attractions throughout the grounds.

PRESIDENT WILL PAY INCOME TAX OF $24,000

A despatch from Washington says:—Taxation of the incomes of the President, Federal judges, state officials, and a tax upon state, county and municipal bonds has been written into the $8,000,000,000 revenue bill by the House Ways and Means Committee. The President will pay an income tax of $24,000 on his $75,000 salary.

12 Meatless Weeks Announced By Bavarian Authorities

A despatch from Zurich says:—Von Brettreich, the Bavarian Minister of the Interior, announces in Parliament 12 meatless weeks to save the needful 300,000 heads of cattle. He says that the milk and fats supply is unsatisfactory, and the whole food supply is seriously endangered by profiteers who continue to hide food. He denies, however, that the Bavarian food supply is desperate, and says that rumors calling it black are lies.

A NOTE OF WARNING

Many boarding-house keepers and others engaged in the restaurant business in a small way, particularly in the smaller towns and villages, have not yet taken out licenses as they are required to do by the Canada Food Board. These parties are therefore liable to the penalty required by the regulations. It must be borne in mind that a public eating place subject to license is, according to Food Board Order No. 46, "Any place whatsoever . . . where meals to the number of fifteen or more per day are served or sold to others than members of the family or household of the proprietor or caterer." Persons supplying meals to the number as stated must obtain licenses, otherwise they are liable to fine or imprisonment, or both.

THE WESTERN FAIR

The buildings at London's exhibition this year will be exceptionally good. Several new firms are placing exhibits. The Government are placing exhibits of wool and eggs, also a general exhibit in the agricultural building and a special exhibit pertaining to domestic science work and conservation of food, which will also be in the agricultural building. A loan of fine pictures has been secured from the National Art Gallery, Ottawa, which will add very materially to the art exhibit. For the dairy department there will be a fine exhibit of cheese and butter as usual. For the machinery department everything new will be exhibited, from the large tractor and threshing outfit to the smallest bit of machinery in use. The process building will be filled with a pure food show. There will be a large entry of live stock as the management have added $1,500.00 to what was already a very liberal prize list. A large addition has been built to the sheep pens and a suitable place for judging the sheep has been provided. Everything considered, this show will be the best exhibition ever held in London.

All information will be promptly given on application to the secretary, A. M. Hunt, London, Ont.

LOVE'S DREAM

Oh, how lovely is love's sweet dream, Binding us nearer each minute, 'Till we are one.

As side by side we wander along, Listening to the strains of Cupid's song.

As for me and my loved one dear, We could not part 'till for a year; We each are happy, oh, so gay! As nearer we grow day by day.

He is so good, so kind to me, Watching over me as you see, Oh, how lovely it is and true, 'Till I can love and cherish you!

But when the day of parting comes, We shall not hark to life or drums, Yet together we hurry along, Still listening to our Cupid's song.

—By Gladys George.

Pork Restrictions Removed.

Owing to the success of the hog production campaign in Canada and the United States, and conservation efforts of both countries in the consumption of pork, the Canada Food Board has removed the restrictions applying to public eating places on pork of all kinds, which may now be served at any time by such places operating under a Canada Food Board license. Net exports of pork from the Dominion have increased by 125,000,000 pounds per annum, or 571 per cent over the five year pre-war average.

Wanted—a few shoats or smaller pigs.—J. A. Smith, R. R. 5, Bothwell.

On sale everywhere.—There may be country merchants who do not keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, though they are few and far between, and these may suggest that some other oil is just as good. There is nothing so good as a liniment or as an internal medicine in certain cases. Take no other. The demand for it shows that it is the only popular oil.

TAIT'S CORNERS

The late Donald K. McLean was born in Pictou Co., Nova Scotia, in March, 1836. In 1850 his father, the late Kenneth McLean, with the family, which consisted of his wife, four sons and two daughters, left Nova Scotia for Upper Canada. The journey was made by schooner from Pictou to Quebec, by wagonboat from Quebec to Hamilton, and by a wagon-ride of three days from Hamilton to Ekfrid. Upon their arrival the family was received and entertained at the home of the late Wm. McKenzie, who had come out from Nova Scotia the year previous. After looking over such land as was then available, Mr. McLean settled in Aldborough on the Thames River near Strathburn on the farm now owned and occupied by James Simpson.

In 1850 Donald McLean as a boy of 15 years worked on the Great Western Railway near Newbury. In 1872 he married Margaret Douglas, also of Nova Scotia, and settled on their farm at Tait's Corners, where Mrs. McLean died in October, 1911, and where Mr. McLean after a very short illness passed away on Wednesday morning, August 7.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held on Friday, August 9. Service was conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. McKillop of Tait's Corners, assisted by Rev. Mr. Lloyd of Glencoe, and the remains were laid to rest in the Simpson cemetery.

Of the deceased there remain one brother, John McLean of Glencoe, and two sisters, Mrs. Broughton McDonald of Ridgetown and Mrs. Christopher McRae of Greenleaf, Michigan.

The family consists of James McLean of Detroit; Rev. Kenneth McLean of Sarnia; John R. of Keeler, Sask.; and Dan. W. and Ruth at Tait's Corners.

PROCLAMATION

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in any wise concern,—GREETING:

A Proclamation of conditional amnesty respecting men belonging to Class I under the Military Service Act, 1917, who have disobeyed our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, or their orders to report for duty, or are deserters or absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

E. L. NEWCOMBE, Deputy Minister of Justice, Canada.

WHEREAS considerable numbers of men belonging to Class I under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada under our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the Military Service of Canada,

Have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order in Council duly passed on April 20 last,

Or have deserted,

Or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Force,

And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that, notwithstanding the information and warning contained in our Proclamation aforesaid, they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons.

AND WHEREAS we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of the heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers have thus been guilty, and to afford them an opportunity within a limited time to report and make their services available in our Canadian Expeditionary Force as is by law their bounden duty, and as is necessary for the defence of Our Dominion of Canada.

NOW KNOW YE that we in the exercise of Our powers, and of Our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and made known THAT THE PENALTIES OF THE LAW WILL NOT BE IMPOSED OR EXACTED as against the men who belong to Class I under Our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed Our Proclamation aforesaid; or who have received notice from any of Our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past and have failed so to report; or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence, have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become deserters from Our Expeditionary Force, PROVIDED THEY REPORT FOR DUTY ON OR BEFORE THE TWENTY FOURTH DAY OF AUGUST 1918.

AND WE DO HEREBY STRICTLY WARN AND SOLEMNLY IMPRESS UPON ALL SUCH MEN, and as well those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist them in their disobedience, that, if they persist in their failure to report, absence or desertion until the expiry of the last mentioned day, they will be pursued and punished with all the rigour and severity of the law, SUBJECT TO THE JUDGMENT OF OUR COURTS MARTIAL WHICH WILL BE CONVENED TO TRY SUCH CASES or other competent tribunals; and also that those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for their said offence.

Provided however that nothing contained in this Our Proclamation is intended to release the men aforesaid from their obligation to report for duty as soon as possible or to grant them immunity from arrest or detention in the meantime for the purpose of compelling them to perform their military duty; Our intention being merely to forego or remit the penalties heretofore incurred for failure to report, absence without leave or desertion incurred by those men of the description aforesaid who shall be in the proper discharge of their military duties on or before the said twenty-fourth day of August, 1918.

Of all of which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter; One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this FIRST day of AUGUST, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the ninth year of Our Reign.

By Command,

Thomas Mulvey
Under-Secretary of State.

MY SON—AND THE CITY

"Fortunately, before it was too late, I woke up to the fact that I was giving the live stock better shelter and more comforts than my wife and children."

By Donald Morton.

I am not like my Scotch neighbor to the north. He tells me that when he was a young man he inherited ten pounds from a rich uncle. "Man," he adds, "I was such a spendthrift and a wastrel that by the end of seven years there was not a farthing left of the whole sum."

I never inherited any great fortune, as did my Gaelic neighbor. I was never a wastrel or roysterer; I have worked hard all my life, far harder than any of my children will ever have to work, I hope and verily believe.

There were a good many years when it was my ambition to have more land and more stock than any of my neighbors. That ambition died with my firstborn, for the doctor's bills were large and there was sadness in the goodwife's eyes, and we had other things than money to think of. Followed then the years when I turned to public service for forgetfulness: township reeve first, school trustee next, and so on, until there were several terms as county warden. That's about the sum and substance of all the public serving I've done.

I may never have had the ambition to give my folks the most "homey" home in our township, to rub the wrinkles away from my wife's eyes, to keep the brood of children around us in a house as comfortable and well furnished as any we could have in town, had it not been for a little talk one night with my oldest boy. I remember it was snowing outside; funny who little, immaterial things stick in our minds, as big, sometimes, as the large, eventful ones.

I was reading the county-town paper, stopping now and then to throw another stick of wood on the fire and to cram the sofa pillow more firmly in the broken window which had been neglected to repair before the cold snap caught us. I had been reading the "patent insides" and must have been nodding at the last, for the fire had died down and the room was chilly when the lad came in. He hadn't said much until I was shivering; nervousness as much as the temperature, I guess.

"I'm going to quit you, Father," he said, with determination written large on his countenance. "None of the other boys I know in town live like we do. I'm going where I can have some of the comforts of life, even if I have to work harder and pay a bigger price. I'm going; that's all there is to it."

I couldn't say anything for a minute. You see, there was a peculiar bond between the boy and me. He bore my name; he was the image of me. After the first lad died I was bitter. Many nights I lay awake, thinking of the little mound out in the graveyard. The tears would not come though my eyeballs burned hot; it would have been better if they had come. Many days I found the tears blinding my eyes as I plowed the corn, row after row, and saw no farther than the turning at the fence.

Then the other boy came, and when I saw him I knelt down and cried like a child and thanked God, and I gave the boy my name—and there he was saying he was going to leave me—me, who worshipped him down to his last fault.

There's no need of making a long story out of it. I built the new house to keep him home with me. I told the goodwife it was for her, but there was something in the eyes of the grown-up boy that night that was like the look in the eyes of the little one when he left me for the mound in the graveyard. I couldn't stand to have another boy go. I built the house.

The first thing I did when I decided to build was to consult an architect. He charged me three per cent of the cost of the house for drawing the plans and writing specifications. Some of my neighbors laugh at me and say I threw away that much money. I often wonder if they think it worth away money to pay a doctor for writing the prescription for the medicine which cures them and their loved ones. The prescription itself doesn't do the work—it's the medicine the druggist gives us; yet we go to a doctor. The plans and specifications do not build a house—it takes masons, carpenters, plumbers, and so on; yet we should go to an architect. That's the way I figure it, anyway.

You know, when you come right down to it, typhoid fever, dysentery, and the like are common diseases among farmers. Why? Because we do not know enough about sanitation. Therefore, when we build, why not go to a sanitation expert and minimize the possibility of sickness? I am a farmer, not a plumber or a well digger or a chemist. How can I tell how far away from the barn and outhouse I should put my well in order to avoid all seepage danger?

What do I know about the proper wiring of my house in order to prevent fires? Would I ever have thought of putting the bathroom over the kitchen instead of the living-room or the dining-room, so that, should a pipe burst and the ceiling be spotted or seriously injured, the damage would not show or be so great? My house cost me $8,000; the architect's fee was $240. I shall always believe it was money well spent.

I went to the architect just as a sick man goes to the doctor; I knew I needed something, but I didn't know what.

I built a stucco house, rather a novelty in the country nowadays, but cement is the building material of the future, I believe. Part of the place is purely ornamental, no earthly use so far as shelter is concerned. Maybe I have been a wastrel and used up my ten-pound inheritance in seven years, as my extravagant Scotch neighbor did when he was young. But the ornamental work has brightened the eyes of the boy who was going away, and the girls who never threatened to go, but whom I would have lost, sooner or later, had it not been for the new house, I am sure. It was worth all it cost.

For instance, you enter the house by way of a cement-floor terrace or porch, without roof, which extends clear across the front and faces the road. From this terrace you enter a covered porch, screened-in for summer, glassed-in for winter. To the left as you enter is a big built-in closet for wraps, and encased in the door of this closet is a full-length plate-glass mirror which gives the ladies a good chance to see themselves as they take off or put on their wraps. I've a theory that a few more good mirrors in a farm-house would keep the wrinkles and stoop shoulders from being so common. Maybe not, but that's my theory.

Outside the kitchen, in the rear, is an additional room which we call the kitchen entry. In this room is a built-in refrigerator. Off another side of the house is a sun parlor, with glass windows and a radiator to keep it warm for winter, and screens for summer. Upstairs there are three large bedrooms and a sleeping porch, with every bedroom having a large closet and every closet door a full-length mirror; none of those things which distort the features and make you look either like a roly-poly or a bean pole, but a good, honest mirror which shows the wrinkles in time to stop them, and enables a man to shave without leaving a cluster every here and there, like a spotted cornfield. There is a large bathroom, with both shower and tub bath.

The basement is my favorite, for it's here I can work on rainy days and in winter. It extends under the whole house. There is a good-sized vegetable room, a room for the wife to store canned goods, a coal and wood room, a boiler and furnace room, a laundry-room, and a little workshop for me. Next to the laundry is a drying-room, where the clothes can be dried indoors when it is bad outside. In the laundry I have a combination water heater and laundry stove, built-in tubs, and a chute where the clothes come tumbling down from up-stairs, so they won't have to be carried all through the house. Even with an electric washer laundry work is no picnic, but there are no more "blue Mondays" at our place, believe me.

I made only one mistake, as I see it now, and that was in not having the garage a part of the house, so I could heat it in winter. I had only a cheap second-hand car when the architect drew up the plans—and what's another burst radiator to such a car? Now I've got a regular car, and I need a heated garage. If you're planning to build, don't overlook this; it is important.

A little while back I promised to tell you the effect the new house had on all our lives. I can't do it. Can you tell the effect the sun has on your life? Can you sit down and figure out, in dollars and cents, the value of good fresh air? Neither can I compute the value of our changed way of living.

I have seen it figured out that a woman, without running water in the kitchen, lifts a ton of water a day. It goes something like this: The water is brought into the kitchen from the pump, it is poured into a kettle, and from the kettle into a dishpan, and from the dishpan it is dumped out doors. The water in this simple operation is handled six times.

A bucket containing two gallons of water will weigh 20 pounds. Handling it six times means a total weight of 120 pounds. The cooking of three meals a day—on a meager allowance of water, necessitating the use of buckets and pans—means lifting for cooking alone 1,200 pounds a day. When to this we add the water for washing, scrubbing, and the weekly wash we have the over-burdened farm wife lifting a ton a day. I think too much of the companion of my life to compel her to do this.

Now, with running water, both hot and cold, in laundry, kitchen, bathroom, and small toilet on the first floor and basement, there is none of this burden-bearing. Can I figure this out in dollars? No. I can figure it easier in wrinkles which are missing, eyes which are sparkling, hair which is still black, shoulders which are still straight.

My children are all with me to-day, save the little one under the sod in the graveyard. Had I built the house of diamonds, they would have been worth it all, and more. You can't argue these things; they're just so. I was figuring out last night how much more the taxes were on this place than on the old home. It looked a little bad on paper. Just then two soft hands went over my eyes and a sweet voice whispered in my ear: "You're the best."

You pay the same war tax on a pound of cheap, poor tea that you pay on Red Rose. In other words you pay 10¢ war tax on a cheap tea which will make perhaps 150 cups to the pound and you pay the same 10¢ tax on a pound of Red Rose which easily makes about 250 cups.

You will find today more value, more economy, more real satisfaction in Red Rose Tea than ever before.

It is truly a war time tea.

daddy there ever was in the whole wide world, and I love you!"

What do I care for taxes? Why, I'd even squander a ten-pound inheritance in seven years and still consider myself the wealthiest man in all creation.

Be Optimistic.

"One of the foolishest things mortals do," said Mr. Gratebar, "is to make mountains out of molehills."

"Half the worry and distress in the world comes from this unfortunate habit. It breeds distrust, creates hard feeling, breaks up friendships, makes discord in families, it makes misery all around, and all this is 999 cases out of 1,000 for just nothing."

"The commonest form of molehill is the spoken word. Somebody says something to us that we think is mean, or that we think is suspicious, or lacking in appreciation, or twisting or sarcastic, and right away we begin to brood over it, to let it rankle in us, to magnify it, to make a mountain of it."

"It is at least an even chance that the little thing of that sort that distresses us so was never meant that way at all. But suppose it was meant to be sharp. What of it? We are all human, and the best of us are liable to make little slips at times and say little thoughtless things that we ought not to."

"But why should we make mountains of those molehills, of things that would have been forgotten the next moment if we did not dwell on them, keep thinking of them and brood over them until finally we magnified them into great grievances?"

"I once knew a man who got rich, very comfortably rich, by holding a good opinion of people. I think it not altogether improbable that there were some people that he didn't altogether fancy, but he never showed it, and really he believed that most people, the very great majority of people, meant well and he treated everybody accordingly."

"I don't mean that he stood out in the middle of the road and let people come up and kick him, but he never did permit himself to be annoyed in any degree whatever by any of the little peccavies aggravating sayings or doings that, as we go through life, we are liable to encounter. He was uniformly cheerful, good humored, hopeful; confident always of the good in his brother men, and for all this his brother men liked him very much. They were drawn to him greatly and they made him rich."

"But more than riches he gained by this; by consistently and always refusing to make mountains out of molehills he gained peace, contentment, happiness."

The Swallows' Game.

Here and there the swallows go, Up and down, fast and slow, Sometimes curving from the ground, Sometimes darting far around.

As I watch them skim and tip, Upward rise and downward dip, I have wondered what they play Just before the close of day.

Suddenly the answer came As I watch their evening game. Tag's the game they play; now see If you don't wish that agree.

Listen as they fly around, High above and near the ground; You will hear them, as they flit, Calling quickly, "It's it it!"

The recognition of a composer in this world seems to depend some on his entrance into the next.

The skeleton remains of a giant human were excavated by a dredge in Lake St. Mary, Ohio. The weight of the thigh bone is such that professional evidence was necessary to establish its human origin.

Tangled Arithmetic.

If one boy, playing, Makes one bit of noise, How many bits, think you, are made By two little boys?

Where is the answer? Not in any rule That your teacher made you learn When you went to school.

Those rules are easy; All they'd have you do Would simply be to set down one Multiplied by two.

But two boys, playing,— Thus the sum is done,— Make ten to twenty times the noise That is made by one.

Encourage Musical Talent.

It is a good thing to cultivate the least inclination or talent for music in young people. There can hardly be too much pleasure in the average human life, and whatever will add to the sum total is worth while, and music certainly does this. A person who can play one instrument even fairly well, or who can sing, has something to contribute to society, and is therefore in demand. So it often happens that young people who lack accomplishments feel that they are unpopular, and pass many unhappy hours that might have been spared them.

Smaller instruments, the violin, guitar, piano must head the list, but the tar, mandolin, etc., make excellent music, and for a person who sings the guitar makes a good accompaniment, while a violin is always welcome in company. Young girls now play the violin as often as young men do. A flute, well played, makes charming music, and the banjo is popular; but the instrument which attracts the most attention to-day is the ukulele, which comes to us by way of Hawaii. It will pay to make some sacrifice to obtain a musical accomplishment, but whatever will make life happier for ourselves and others is worth the cost of the time and labor.

Constipation.

None of the ills to which human beings are subject has more victims than constipation.

It is therefore a matter into which everybody ought to look rather carefully.

The intestinal tract or tube is that portion of the human machinery which starches and fats are digested and dissolved, and digested foodstuff absorbed as it proceeds to nourish and sustain the body, and it also is the sewer through which flows the current of waste matter.

It is very important in any kind of a sewer that this current should move freely and without obstruction and the human sewer is no exception to this rule.

When obstruction occurs in the sewer of your town you are well aware that the consequence is an effusion of foul gases into your house, overflow of offensive material and injury and damage in a variety of ways.

In the same manner when the human sewer is obstructed, foul gases are generated, waste and poisonous material is absorbed and distributed over the body of the blood current, skin diseases break out, you are bent over with pain in your abdomen and the resisting power of your body to infectious and other diseases is lowered.

Many diseases which have a fatal ending trace their beginning to this common and so often neglected ailment—constipation.

It is quite as important to keep the intestines free from poisonous material as it is to supply it with the food which is essential to life.

What is the situation—here is a tube thirty feet long the last third of it the large intestine, the reservoir for waste matter, two or three times the caliber of the other two thirds, the small intestine.

In the large intestine also are valves and folds, greatly increasing its capacity while the entire intestinal tube is so elastic it can easily be made to hold gallons of material.

If this material is poisonous you can guess at its possibility for harm.

Many people would deny that they are constipated and yet they suffer from auto-intoxication and are astonished at the great quantity of offensive matter they have been carrying about when their intestines are emptied by means of drastic purgatives.

In order to be free from constipation and its bad effects it is therefore imperative that the intestines should be emptied once or oftener every day, the exceptions to this rule are few in number. The solid or indigestible residue of some foods is greater than of others and the work of digestion is more completely performed in some persons than in others, this being the explanation why there can be no fixed standards as to the normal daily output for the intestines.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

E. M.—1—Can the appendix be located on the left side? I have a dragging pain, occasionally, in this part of the abdomen, and have had it during the last three or four months.

2—Will vinegar or lemon juice harm the hair?

Answer—1—It would be unusual for the appendix to be transposed from the right side, where it belongs, to the left side, although I believe it has occasionally been found there. It is more likely that you are suffering from gas in the intestines, or from adhesions, than from a displaced appendix.

2—I do not think that either vinegar or lemon juice would harm either harm or benefit to the hair, but I would suggest that it would be better not to use either.

A Reader—Will you kindly inform me whether a leaking valve is a serious heart trouble, or whether it can be cured, and if so, how?

Answer—It is sometimes serious and sometimes it is not very serious. I would suggest that you send stamped and self-addressed envelope and article on Valvular Disease of the Heart will be sent you, which will inform you in regard to this disease.

Jewels.

Sapphire days, sky so blue,
Mountains, hills, waters, too;
Emerald days, meadows green,
Every little field between;
Topaz days just at dawn,
Rose-pearl days, sunset gone;
Opal days of light and mist,
Twilight hours of amethyst;
Diamond days of ice and snow—
Oh, the lovely days I know,
Set together, fair and dear,
In the crown of one sweet year!

Keep the Flowers Growing.

Oh, keep the flowers growing in our gardens.
In No Man's Land there is no living green!
Near all that grime, 'mid all the hate that hardens,
In memory only blossoms may be seen.
In dreams of home he sees our garden flowers
And risks his life that peace may have its bloom;
Can we do less than make our cottage bowers
Rare visions that will help dispel his gloom?

Write him that roses climbing 'round the doorways,
Perfume the night, and how the pansies grow;
Let hollyhocks distract him from his war ways;
These are the little things he wants to know.

When he returns victorious we'll meet him
With garlands and with petals at his feet;
And if, mayhap, we never more shall greet him
Our flowers still shall keep his memory sweet.

MAKING ENGLAND LARGER.

Psamma Grass Being Used to Stabilize Shifting Sand Dunes.

England's scientists are giving considerable attention to the problem of permanently increasing the area of the British Isles by stabilizing the thousands of acres of land which are being added to them every few years in the form of huge sand dunes cast up by wind and waves.

In stabilizing the sand dunes great reliance is placed on planting them with marram grass. Just how this accomplishes the desired purpose is explained in a British periodical, as follows:

"The two chief methods of stabilizing a sand dune are by a rigid fence and a living plant, around either of which the shifting sand will gather. The fence acts perfectly until the sand reaches its height, but the plant has the advantage of growing and continually rising above its dust heap."

"The best plant for this purpose is psamma or marram grass, because it grows vertically and extends horizontally. Thus the embryo dunes expand both vertically and laterally till they coalesce into dune systems, and the growth continues till the systems form ranges of psamma-covered sand hills."

"Psamma has long been known as the great sand binder and the practice of growing it on tidal lands has existed for many years. As far back as the reign of George II. an act of Parliament was passed for its protection."

"Now that the utilization of psamma as substitute for Esparto grass has been favorably reported upon by paper manufacturers, we think the time has come for the con-

PERSONAL LIBERTY

"The people are being governed too much," declared Joseph Hooper as he sat among the group of friends who were accustomed to meet daily for their noonday luncheon. "No matter what business you're in, you have some inspector coming round every day or two to see if you are carrying it on according to the latest laws and regulations. It is even getting so that you can't be a free man in your own home."

"Who's been interfering with your liberty, Joe?" asked one of the men. "Well," said Joseph, "when I moved out to the suburbs I supposed that I could keep a few chickens without asking anyone's leave. But now I have got notice that my rooster disturbs people, and that I must do away with the nuisance. If that isn't interfering with my liberty, what is it? Folks used to get along pretty well by minding their own business. I wish it were that way now."

"That was just old Sam Pitts's idea," said Henry Brock, with a chuckle. "Sam was a character in the neighborhood where I was raised. He had a tannery, which I suppose would be considered a nuisance in some places nowadays. But no one thought of objecting to that. What the neighbors did complain of at one time was a dog that was of no earthly use; but at night he would bark louder and longer than any other dog that I ever listened to. It was impossible for the neighbors to sleep when old Major was having his say; and finally some of them got up courage to go in a body to old Sam and remonstrate. Sam was a crotchety, quick-tempered old fellow, and the delegation was not well received."

"As for that dog," says Sam, "his barking doesn't trouble me or my wife, and we're nearer to it than you are. If anything, it kind of helps me to doze off at night. If other people are silly enough to be disturbed by it, it's no concern of mine."

"Old Mr. Pitts, by the way, was not only very lame but quite deaf, which perhaps partly accounted for her tolerance of the dog."

"My father tried to reason with Sam. Now, Mr. Pitts," he began, "I'm sure you want the good will of your neighbors—"

"But at that the old man blazed right up. 'No, I don't,' says he, 'I don't want to see one of you on my place again. This is my property, and me and my dog will make all the noise we want to on it.'"

"Well, that night it seemed as if old Sam were trying to make his words good. It was bright moonlight. Major's howls carried two miles, and now and then you could hear Sam, apparently encouraging him."

"Along about eleven o'clock poor old Mr. Pitts came dragging himself into our yard. 'For mercy's sake,' he called out, 'do come over and help Samuel out of an awful scrape!'

"We hurried over to the Pitts's place, where some of the neighbors joined us. Leaning against the roof of the tannery we saw a ladder, and about halfway up it there was old Sam, held like a prisoner in the stocks."

"He'd been up fixing the roof by moonlight and had started to come down the ladder, back to one of the rungs had given way, letting him partly through, but leaving him wedged in like a half-open jackknife and quite unable to help himself. He had been suspended there for nearly two hours when we released him, and he was stiff and sore, and also hoarse. The first thing he did was to shake his fist at the dog, which had stopped barking at last."

"The critter kept up such a racket that I couldn't make my wife hear me now," said Sam. "Louder I yelled, louder he barked. Finally she missed me and came out of her own accord, and then had to go for help; and in spite of what I said to-day I was mighty glad to see you on my place again."

"He made no further apologies; but after that night Major's voice was stifled forever, and Sam was at peace with his neighbors. I guess he had learned that sometimes a man's personal liberty really depends on a little outside interference."

Chances For Patriotic Workers

The latest reports from the British Ministry of Food indicates that there will be a shortage of jam in Britain this year. Here is a chance for Canadian women to help by using all the fruit they can and by making preserves of wild berries whenever they are able to secure them. The mors 'jam' used the more butter and canned goods will be saved for export.

Jam is on the soldier's ration list and he must not be deprived of this whatever happens. Besides providing a sweet the sugar is extremely essential in his fare and adds to his energy and all-round efficiency.

Ordinarily too much sugar is used in the making of jam. A pound of sugar to a pound of fruit is the old-fashioned theory, and it is a wrong one. Three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit makes better jam, while half a pound is sufficient where the fruit is extra sweet.

The richer a man is the harder he tries to make people believe he is poor. Canada has less than one-twelfth of the population of the United States, but she produces one-third as much wheat as the United States and leads the world in the amount of food grown to the unit of population.

TOWARD THE VOID OF SPACE

GREATEST HEIGHT ATTAINED
BY HUMAN BEINGS.

Appearance of the Sky, Sun and Stars
at an Elevation of One Hundred Miles.

If, as reckoned, and as there seems no reason to doubt, the projectiles thrown into Paris by the new German guns from a distance of seventy-four miles mount fourteen miles into the air, they reach further into the vault of blue than any point hitherto attained by human effort. Next comes a "free" balloon that was sent up from Berlin carrying eight automatic instruments to record temperature and air density, a number of years ago. It attained an elevation of eleven and a half miles.

Mainly by the use of such instrument-carrying balloons much has been learned within recent years about the "sea of air" at the bottom of which we dwell. So rapidly does it "thin out" as one passes upward through it that no human being can survive for long beyond an elevation of four miles for lack of sufficient oxygen.

Half of the total volume of the atmosphere is below the three-mile level, and its density, roughly speaking, is halved for each three miles of ascent. The air contained in a box three feet cube, at sea level weighs twenty ounces; at an elevation of fourteen miles it would weigh less than one ounce.

Reached Height of 6 Miles

The highest level ever reached by a human being was attained by Doctor Berson, who, in 1893, voyaged in a balloon to a height of nearly six miles—the elevation of the loftiest clouds, such as we call "mares' tails," which are believed to be composed of snow-crystals or ice-crystals. He was enabled to accomplish this feat by taking a tank of oxygen with him, and his thermometer recorded a temperature of 54 degrees below zero.

The above-mentioned free balloon sent up from Berlin, which was called the Cirrus, noted with its automatic thermometer 75 degrees. Meteorologists are of opinion that at twenty-five miles above the earth's surface the temperature is never less than 200 degrees below zero, and that at fifty miles it is not far from the absolute zero of the outer void of space—525 2-5 degrees below zero.

100 Miles Above Earth

The highest elevation attained by land was reached in 1892 by W. M. Conway, who scaled the summit of Pioneer Peak, in the Himalayas. It is the loftiest point ever trodden by human foot—nearly 23,000 feet above the level of the sea. But Mount Everest, in the same great backbone of Asia, is more than a mile higher and presumably can never be climbed. There is not enough air on or near its top.

In the upper regions of the sea of air there is not only no air (adequate for human purposes) to breathe, but the cold is such that no warm-blooded creature could survive for a minute. The climate is an eternal winter, its temperature uninfluenced by the warmest rays of the summer sun.

But (supposing that we could survive there for a brief time) let us place ourselves in imagination at a level of 100 miles above the happy spot where at present it is our privilege to dwell. We look about us, and what do we see?

The blue sky? There is no such thing. The sky is jet-black—the stars scintillating in it with a brilliancy wholly unfamiliar. And how about the sun? It is inconceivably dazzling, but, in color it is not yellow or red. It is a brilliant blue. The aspect in which ordinarily it appears to us is due to interference with its blue rays by the atmosphere.

To Canada.

Dominion fair! Dear land so free! Thy sons speed on to victory, For honor and for thee! Keep thou in readiness thy hands To welcome them back from other lands,

When they come back to thee. O Canada! thou art so fair! Thy freedom breathes in God's pure air, Justice and liberty! God love and keep thee pure and strong! Guard homes, and all our hearts with song, And ever keep thee free!

Dear land! In honor stand thy hills! Our tears are mingled with thy rills! Our pulses beat with thine! We lay our valor at thy feet, That it may rise like incense sweet, And for thy glory shine!

O Fair Dominion! Land so free! Say! When thy sons return to thee, Sped on with victory! Still ever keep thy honor bright, Clear and serene, a beacon light, Oh! Canada the free!

WHAT THE WAR IS DOING

THE REACTION UPON US OF COURAGEOUS YOUTH.

The Convictions and Consecrations of Our Sons in France Are Keeping Us From Despair of Life.

Never has there been an era in which youth has reacted upon age so powerfully and so profoundly as in this one through which the race is so painfully passing in this day of grace. The ancient saying, "Old men for council and young men for war," has lost at least one-half of its relevancy, because we are sitting meekly at the feet of the boys who are fighting in France like pupils at the feet of teachers. Not only are they outfighting us, but they are outthinking us. Their philosophy of life is finer, deeper, nobler than our own. When sitting at the "council" board our lips are sealed, while they discuss the deepest mysteries of this mortal life with an unexampled wisdom. Like the Jewish doctors in the temple when confronted by the testimony of the youthful Jesus, we are "amazed at their understanding and their answers."

See how these glorious young men have reacted upon our half-hearted loyalty to the Government by their unselfish devotion. Such has been the enthusiasm of the volunteers and the humble obedience of the conscripts at the chance to serve the nation that we stand abashed and have been compelled to re-evaluate our responsibilities and our duties as citizens of Canada.

See how they have reacted upon our love of luxury and ease by their cheerful abandonment of all those privileges and instruments of modern civilization which have become to most of us the very essentials of life.

Faith in a Better World

See how they have reacted upon us by their "hilarity of heroism" in the presence of danger and the endurance of pain. Is there any man living who is not a bigger and a better man for hearing how those boys of ours have endured the horrors of the trenches, the battlefields and the hospitals of France?

See how they have reacted upon our philosophy of life and particularly of death. In simplicity and sincerity and with an astounding conviction and faith they have accepted the fundamental ideas that life is service and death is immortality. Hear one of them say on the eve of battle: "If I would, Blighly, if killed, the resurrection!"

"I am no longer afraid of death; I have learned to consider it as an investment!" said another.

The prevailing conception of life on the battlefields of Europe to-day, among the Allied soldiers, anyway, is that it extends beyond the grave. So profound is this conviction that it has all but eliminated the skepticism produced by modern science, "falsely so called." Like radiating circles from the presence of these young men in the presence of death in all its most horrible forms have swept around the world and changed the convictions of millions of human beings about the nature of existence.

It is the hopes, the convictions, the purposes and the consecrations of our sons in France that are keeping us from despair of life. We whose sun is setting could not endure the strain of seeing our old world splitting asunder but for their indomitable faith in a new and better one.

This is their world flow. They are saving it and will reconstruct it, and us old folks with it, we believe.

SEA-BEANS GROWN ON LAND.

Gulf Stream Bears Them Northward From Caribbean Shores.

Along the Atlantic beaches in Florida are picked up great numbers of "sea-beans"—very pretty things, about the size of a hickory nut, mossy, and utilizable for the making of trinkets. Often they are worn as watch-charms. They are almost incredibly hard and susceptible of a high polish, being first sandpapered and then finished by industrious rubbing with champagne skin. Sailors and fishermen prepare them in this manner, and by cutting in odd ways, for sale to tourists.

They are of many varieties, and formerly there was a good deal of mystery about their origin—the supposition being that they were seeds of plants that grew somewhere in the depths of the sea. This theory easily accounted for the quantities of them thrown up on the shore by the breakers.

It is now known, however, that they are in reality the seeds of pod-bearing vines that grow profusely along the Caribbean littoral. Each pod contains several of them, arranged like peas in a pea-pod. The vines grow most commonly on or near the banks of streams, by which the beans (dropped from the ripened pods) are carried to the sea.

The Gulf Stream, sweeping northward up the Florida coast, brings with it millions of the floating beans, which are cast up on the beaches. Some of them are as much as three inches in diameter, but deemed of no value.

In Europe violin pupils usually receive two or three lessons a week the year around.

INTRODUCING THE FISHERETTE

A New Experiment in War Work For Women—Plucky Nova Scotians Take to Fish Cleaning.

This is not the kind of wartime occupation that can reasonably be advocated for Canadian girls in general. But it is a stimulating example that should prove an incentive to men and women alike. These hardy Eastern women have eschewed the easier paths open to them and have delivered chosen the rocky trail which has known no other feminine feet in the history of Canada's industries.

Easily in the season though it is, glowing accounts are coming from British Columbia of what girls have done in berry-picking in the far West. In the middle West they are operating tractors and driving cultivators and standing shoulder to shoulder with their men in running the farms. But in the far East they have gone a step further. They have donned men's oil-skins, rubber boots, and sou'westers. They are not farmerettes; nor are they berry-pickers nor dairy-maids. They are—well, let us introduce them to you—Canada's first fisherettes!

Anyone who knows the native life of Scotland can summon up in this connection a vivid picture of the Highland "fishwives." So they call them in the land of cakes and herring! They were really the precursors of our fisherettes—with a difference. These Canadian girls are young and strong, and the necessity

Fish Corporation of Canada, Nova Scotia, to employ this dozen or so of girls to handle the big fish in sheds—to clean them and skin them and prepare them for the market.

It was of the fisher folk that the plaintive song was written, "For men must work and women must weep." It does not look much like it when you see this picture! You feel more inclined to say "Cheer! for Canada's daughters. Men must fight and women must work."

These women are not weeping—although their sweethearts and brothers are in France and some of them are beneath the sod. They are—cleaning fish.

It sounds prosaic enough, but patriotic work is often prosaic and hard and tedious. There is little romance about it on this side of the Atlantic. There is not even the inspiration of direct contact with war's actuality. It is simply a hard level grind—sometimes objectionable, often monotonous.

What these girls are doing is not even easy. They are not playing with suckers. These fish are big fellows—heavy to handle, cumbersome and slimy. In learning the girls get their hands cut with the fish knives often enough. But they are mighty deft about it and are fast earning a reputation for rapid, skillful work.

These girls are replacing men who have gone to the front.

of war rather than the custom of the ages has led them to take up this work.

But the Highland fishwives—who can ever give them full credit for the faithful labor of years, the toil of their lives, the rigor of their work? Many of them grew old and bent before their time because of the everlasting burden of fish they bore in the creels on their backs. They were picturesque to look at—but they were beasts of burden, more like the women of France who dragged along the plow yoked to their bodies, than like normal human beings. In the days before the war when their business flourished, they were about as many striped petticoats as Miss Hook of Holland. On their heads were shawls or "mutches."

Very different is the Canadian fisherette! Her outfit is all-enveloping, smart and utilitarian. She is recruited from the ranks of the younger women on the fishing coast. She is taking the place of her sweetheart or her brother. She has entered the "big fish" game. In other words, she has cut ice in an entirely new spot. For years the large fish companies on the East coast have been bringing girls out from Scotland to work in their factories, to can and pickle and pack—to handle the herring and other small fish. But it remained for the Maritime

The Canada Food Board has been telling Canadians for months past that they must eat more fish. At last people are beginning to realize it, with the result that the demand for fish is increasing, and the Atlantic dealers are having a busy time keeping the markets supplied with the now-famous ten-cent-a-pound fish. So many of the fishermen have heard their country's call to arms that it is doubly hard to cope with Dominion and European demands.

And here is where the fisherette comes in. If women can help on the farms, in the factories, in industries of every kind, they are surely fitted to take their places by the fishermen, and if they cannot go out in dories to catch the precious sea food, they can at least have a share in handling it on shore.

There are hundreds of girls by the coast who might take this to heart. They are on the spot. Their strong young hands and stout hearts are needed in the fishing business. The trail has been blazed. Will they follow in the wake of the pioneer fisherettes? And will the example set by this handful of girls inspire women in other parts of the country to cast about for the most useful and necessary forms of work to engage in—even if they have to break new trails?

A business succeeds only as it serves.

The present American sugar ration is three pounds per person per month. That in England is two pounds; in France one and one half pounds and in Italy one pound. Sometimes in France and Italy it is not possible to get sugar enough to give out this meagre ration.

Somewhere.
Somewhere fighting for the right
In some stricken land,
In the garb of war bedight,
Gallant soldiers stand.

Somewhere sleeping on the breast
Of the kindly ground,
Lie the noblest and the best,
Lost but also found.

Somewhere caring for the pain,
Often, even now,
Gentle nurses wipe the stain
From the wounded brow.

Somewhere in their charity
Men and women give Prompt relief to misery,
That the poor may live.

Somewhere praying in their love,
Mothers, sisters, wives,
Call on Him who reigns above
To protect dear lives.

LEMON JUICE IS FRECKLE REMOVER

Girls! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

DRESSED FLEAS OFF MARKET.

This Mexican Product, As Well As Others, No Longer Profitable.

Sad news comes from Mexico. Dressing fleas for market is no longer a profitable business, and the little insects have disappeared from the show-cases of curio stores.

Dressed fleas were long a staple article in the stores and shops in Mexico. In little boxes no bigger than the blunt end of a lead pencil these adorned fleas could be seen through reading glasses in all the glory of their wedding or christening finery. Mexican women toiled for days dressing the diminutive insects, using the point of a needle to attach the bits of bright cloth and lace to the bodies of the wee pests. Through a microscope the dressed fleas appeared as miniature persons, with hats, dresses and suits covering their tiny forms.

When the United States government limited passports to persons on necessary business the tourist travel to Mexico ceased, and automatically so did the demand for dressed fleas.

Jumping Mexican beans, another offering of the curio stores, have ceased to be sold for the same reason. Hundreds of these little, wormy beans were sold to travellers from the United States.

Drawn work, pottery, hand carved canes, mantillas and Mexican confectations are rapidly disappearing from the shops, and many of these curio stores have closed their doors since the tourist embargo became effective.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, Etc.

He Wanted to Know
At his customary rising hour of 4 a.m. the employer got up dressed in a lantern and went forth to start the chores. He fed the stock, milked three cows, split some wood, and single-handedly ministered to the chickens, meantime filled with wonder, which turned to disgust, at the unaccountable tardiness of his employee.

At ten minutes after five o'clock, when the first pink streaks of dawn were reddening the eastern sky, the new hand came around the corner of the barn.

The farmer dropped the fork he was wielding and stared long and hard at the tardy one.
"Well," he asked in tones of heavy sarcasm, "what have you been the hull forenoon?"

MONEY ORDERS.

A Dominion Express Money Order for five dollars costs three cents.

As an evidence of the enthusiasm which has been inspired by the Food Board's campaign for the cultivation of vacant land the St. Thomas Horticultural Society proposes to lease from 200 to 500 acres of land for 1919. They expect to raise from $5000 to $10,000 by $10 shares for this purpose. Cereal crops are to be raised to help meet the food shortage.

England From the Clouds.

The magic and beauty of England can only be understood when viewed from the romance and mystery of the clouds, writes an alman in the Westminster Gazette. No other country has such color in the air, such varied and mysterious forms and shapes of clouds, such ceaseless change and multifarious beauty. The mystery and wonder of the universe are always waiting for us to explore and are always open to our airmen. It may be dull November and a smoky city; we climb into the machine and mount aloft, and in a few minutes we are under the bright sunshine and deep blue sky. The gloom of earth is replaced by pearly white clouds with their infinite variety of shape rimmed with the rainbow.

Concoited of Him.
Professor Phirstboy prided himself upon his advanced and enlightened views concerning women and their place in the scheme of things. He sat next a very clever woman at a little dinner he attended the other night, and, in reply to a remark of hers, cried:

"My dear lady, I go farther than believing in women's suffrage; I maintain that man and woman are equal in every way."

"Oh, professor!" said the lady very sweetly, "Now you're bragging."

MME. F. GAREAU

153 Papineau Ave., Montreal.
"For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling and bloating. I saw a specialist, who carefully examined me and gave me several tonics to take, which did not help me. Then he told me I must undergo an operation. This, I refused to permit."

I heard about 'Fruit-a-tives' and the wonderful results it was giving because this medicine is made from fruit juices, so decided to try it.

The first box gave great relief, and I continued the treatment, taking six boxes more. Now, my health is excellent—I am free of pain and swelling—and I give 'Fruit-a-tives' my warmest thanks."

Miss Jennie Campbell is visiting her sister in Detroit.

Mr. Torrance of Detroit is visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Unloading and hauling coal is the order of the day here just now.

Miss Nichol of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. Geo. Bees of this village.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. R. Vance are holidaying at their cottage at Erie Beach.

Batemans Bros. had a steer killed by lightning in one of the recent storms.

Miss Lockwood of St. Thomas is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Alex. Fletcher.

Leo Campbell of London is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

Miss Anna Bell Parr is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Muckle of Blenheim.

Mrs. Fred. Brown was called to her home at Birr, her father having met with an accident.

Mr. Little, teller of the Union Bank here, has left to take a position in the Union Bank at West Lorne.

Norman Parr of Oil City spent a week-end here the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parr.

The members of the Girls' Club here decided at their last meeting not to meet during the month of August.

Miss Bell has returned to her home in London after a few weeks' visit here with her sister, Mrs. John M. Cornell.

Walter Robinson and Alvin Clarke were successful in passing the Middle School examination, the former having obtained honors.

A. P. McDougald is in London auditing the books of the county treasurer. Capt. T. E. Robson, and reports that the county finances are in good shape.

John Borthwick had the misfortune to lose a very valuable mare from sickness, and a cow belonging to him was struck and killed by an M. C. R. train.

Mr. Forster of the Agricultural Department is in the community judging oat fields in connection with the prizes given by the Melbourne Fair Board.

Arthur Wright of Strathroy will preach in the Methodist church the first three Sunday mornings during the month of August. There will be no service in the evenings during the month.

The members of Anna Rebekah Lodge No. 118 of this village, assisted by a few friends, packed and posted a box of comforts to our boys who are over in France. We are informed that they will send boxes to our boys who are in England at an early date.

Some of the boys of this village decided to go down to the river to have a swim on Sunday, July 28th. Had it not been for the brave efforts of William Wellman, who plunged in at the risk of his own life, John Campbell, who was going down for the third time, would have been drowned.

Melbourne, Aug. 8.

Mr. Wilson had a sun stroke.

Mrs. James Collier is ill from the effects of the heat and under the doctor's care.

A number from here attended the monster garden party at Appin and reported having a good time as usual.

Fred. Hill was overcome with the sun while riding on a load of firewood, falling to the ground and dislocating his shoulder.

One of the teams drawing wood to the M. C. R. station became frightened and ran away. They ran down the railroad track over the cattle guard, then turned on the Longwoods Road. Fortunately Mrs. Robert Carruthers saw them coming and running to the road she made a flag of her apron, which caused the horses to slacken their speed so that her husband was able to catch them.

Melbourne, Aug. 12.

Mrs. Johnston of Brighton is the guest of Miss Eva Parr.

Miss Kitchen of Petrolia is the guest of her uncle, Fred. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief and family of Toronto are visiting friends here.

THOUSANDS OF MEN REQUIRED FOR HARVESTING IN WESTERN CANADA.

Thousands of men are required to help in the work of harvesting the Western crop. The C. P. R. has completed arrangements to transport to the West this great army of workers.

For those going from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, extra trains will be operated through to Winnipeg (the distributing point) without change.

Going trip West, $12.00 to Winnipeg. Returning trip East, $18.00 from Winnipeg.

Consult C. P. R. Agents regarding transportation arrangements west of Winnipeg.

Going Dates.
August 20th and August 29th—All stations in Ontario, west of Smith's Falls, up to and including Toronto, on Lake Ontario Shore Line, and Havelock-Peterboro Line, also from stations Kingston to Renfrew Junction, inclusive, and from stations on Toronto-Sudbury direct line.
