Wife of a Member of the Canadian Parliament Sick and in Abject Poverty.

Deland, Fla., Sept. 16 .- A despatch to the New York World says: Once a leader of society in the Canadian capital, now a broken-down pensioner upon the charity of strangers, Mrs. Addie M. Rosamond, excites the pity of all who know her in Deland, as she lies stricken helpless by paralysis in the house of Mrs. Francis Maring, and knows that she must go to the poorhouse as soon as she gathers strength enough to be moved. The sufferer is the wife of Bennet Rosamond, one of the best-known members of wealthy, his property being valued at $1,-000,000. Up to ten years ago Mrs. Rosamond and her husband lived happily. She bore him children, and the family lived in luxury at Almonte, Canada, where Bennet Rosamond still resides when not engaged in Parliamentary duties. Trouble, however, able to care to object. The physician arose between Mrs. Rosamond and her husband, and a separation followed. Mrs. Rosamond received $5,000 and moved to California, and with this money the heart-broken wife came to Florida and purchased a little home here. The house, however, has long ago been sold and the proceeds spent. As appeals for help have been unavailing, and as Mrs. Maring, her friend is not wealthy, the poorhouse will be the last resting place this side of the grave, of the once brilliant leader of Canadian society.

Clemency was asked on account of the murderess being a woman, but the proof against her was so overwhelming that no mercy was shown. On the scaffold she was hysterical, and had to be almost carried to the drop. Just before the black cap shut out the world from view, she became more resigned, but piteously exclaimed: "Oh, God; let me not suffer!" The drop fell and death was instantaneous. The woman pray-ed incessantly towards the last, but stoutly maintained that she had no murder in her soul, and had no doubt that she would go to heaven. Minnie Dean's crimes were the sensation of the last year in New Zealand. In her prosperity she was patronized by wellto-do scoundrels, who paid her handsomely to become responsible for their children. A mother's love, however, induced an erring woman to seek her child, who had been been delivered to the woman's care. Minnie Dean had reported it dead from natural causes, but the mother's suspicions were aroused and detectives were employed, when the remains of children were found of ages ranging from a few months to several years, buried in every conceivable place about the premises. The woman was arrested, and after a sensational trial, was condemned to death on the evidence of the guilty fathers, who were compelled by the authorities to appear in court to assist the crown. Minnie Dean's defense was that all the children had died from natural causes. Sparks From the Wire.

However, as nothing could be done to relieve the sufferer, hemorrhage of the bowels and brain, followed by blood poisoning, resulted in her death as stated above. ELAKIE BUNCOED.

A Well-Known Farmer is Fleeced in This City.

A Slick Stranger and a Trick Lock The Man Cleverly Captured-A Great Outfit.

Mr. James Blakie, of White Oak, a well known farmer, was accosted on the northwest corner of King and Talbot streets Saturday at noon by a well dressed young man. The stranger said he wished to buy a horse, and remarked that he had bought some before from Mr. Blakie, who didn't remember it. Blakie had his horse in the Hodgins House stables, and escorted the stranger to the rear to see it. "You know," said the stranger as he entered the lane, "I shipped a carload of horses the other day, but somebody stole one of them by opening this lock on the car." The stranger stopped and produced a trick lock, which Blakie scanned curiously. "Now, that's a peculiar lock," continued the glib-tongued young man, "and I would have bet anything that nobody could open it but myself."

"It looks easy," said Blakie, incredulously. "I could open it if I had the key."

"I'll bet you $50 you can't," said the stranger, as he took the key from his pocket.

"I'll go you," said the farmer, and, producing a wad of bills he counted out In the meantime another stranger had sauntered up, apparently interested in the dispute. The first stranger produced something that looked like bank notes, and made a bluff to count out his share of the bet. "Here you are," said Blakie, as he held up his $50. In an instant the man with the lock grabbed Blakie's roll and tossed it to the other stranger, his pal. Then both fied in different directions, leaving the bewildered Blakie standing aghast. It suddenly dawned on him that he had been buncoed. The sharpers were out of sight by the time he realized this awful truth, and he ran for the police, In half an hour afterwards De-tective Thomas Nickle arrested a man on York street, who answered the description given him by Blakie. The latter recognized the prisoner as stranger No. 1, who had worked the lock trick and grabbed the money. He gave his name as Fred Wilson, of Montreal, but the police think he is one of the most notorious confidence men on the continent. His pal, who has the money, is still at large. Wilson's valise, found at the hotel contained a great bunco outfit. By means of a flannel shirt front and a slouch hat, he could disguise himself in five seconds as the veriest tramp. He had stacks of bogus money, play ing cards, dice, trick knives (opened by a secret spring), and other devices of a first-class sharper. But the most im-portant find was that of two tin cash boxes, identically alike. It was by means of such boxes that the rich farmer near Galt was swindled out of $1,500 recently, the empty box being substituted for the one with the money inside. It may be that the police have caught the very man who worked that game. Inquiries will be made at once. Wilson was remanded for a week to permit this. Detective Nickle's capture was a clever one.

THREE INCHES OF HAT PIN.

That Amount of Steel Was Successfully Removed from the Body of Young Man Whom a Girl Had Playfully Stabbed. Washington, Sept. 16 .- An unusual surgical operation was performed yesterday on young Horace White, of No. 64 Myrtle street Northeast, in removing from his body about three inches of hat-pin stuck there accidentally by Miss Annie Dawes the evening before, when the two were playfully teasing each other. There had been a great deal of apprehension over the result of the operation, lest the youthful amours might really end in the death of the boy. The broken pin was entirely concealed under the left armpit, and Dr. Louis Kolipinski, who extracted the steel, had first to reopen and enlarge the tiny wound which Miss

Dawes' loving weapon made. The hat pin which the young lady had drawn from her hair for the fracas, was about five inches long and the break was a considerable distance under the skin, so that the physician had to probe for nearly an hour before he could locate it. The wire was successfully extracted at 5 o'clock without causing any internal injuries. This was much to the gratification of the young lady, who awaited the result of the operation with a rapidly-beating heart. She has resolved that when she teases the boys again on an autumn evening it will be with some different weapon. Since the puncture was in the neighborhood of the heart and the large auxiliary artery, it was thought the removal of the pin might cause internal hemorrhages. Now that it is out nothing serious is expected and as soon as the wound heals up the young man will probably be as well as ever. Young White is 17 years old, the builder. He was speaking to Miss Dawes, who is 15 years old, at the time of the accident. She drew her hat-pin and playfully attempted to stab him. In dodging he fell directly against the pin.

HER MAJESTY VS. HER MAJESTY.

Perplexity of a Conservative Newspaper

Over Its Party Leaders' Twistings and Turnings.

(From the Hamilton Spectator.) We hope we do not betray undue nxiety about the future of the Liberal-Conservative Government; but we would really like to be told what is likely to happen. The Government has promised "remedial legislation" if that man Greenway doesn't "do something."
That man Greenway is as unlikely to recede from the position he has taken as he is likely to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a bar of soft That man Greenway is in the right place now, and not being an idiot, he'll stay there. Then, according to the programme, the Government must produce its "remedial legislation." Of what nature will it be? Will it be an act to restore the separate schools of Manitoba? Hardly; according to the inviolable "constitution" the Manitoba Legislature has the exclusive right to on Saturday went about the grounds and gathered in a number of Indians. These they took over to the ring, where they were they were they were legislation is to consist in an act orrigged out in Oriental splendor and added dering the Manitoba Legislature to to the number of alleged Arabs walking amend its school act. That will be amabout the ring.

It will be like this: Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, hereby orders her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba. to amend the school act passed by her Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba. And when her Majesty will have ordered her Majesty to do this, her Majesty will, of course, refuse to do anything of the sort. Then what will her Maejsty do about it? That is what we want to know.

We have tried to get an answer to this somewhat puzzling question from our esteemed contemporary, the Ottawa Citizen, published at the foot of one of her Majesty's thrones, but without success. Inasmuch as the Citizen is of opinion that "remedial legislation" is to say so, that esteemed contemporary ought to know exactly what "remedial legislation" is, and what it will lead to in case that man Greenway refuses appeal to the Citizen for information. Will if not be good enough to rescue this great family journal from dense ignorance in this matter, and give us some idea of what is going to happen. The Wilkinson Trues Exhibit.

Of the many interesting exhibits in the main building at the Industrial Fair, Toronto, none drew more attention than the exhibit of the Wilkinson Truss. Mr. B. Lindman, wih his usual enterprise, had prominent in his exhibit an artistic figure of a boy with one of his celebrated trusses adjusted on his person, showing practically how simply and completely his truss fits the person, and with what ease it is worn. Looking at the figure one could readily understand why the Wilbrought with him a complete line of kinson Truss has gained such a reputation. The principal point of superiority claimed for this truss is its perfect adjustment. By means of a thumbscrew it can be adjusted to the exact pressure required. Stronger and more reliable testimonials of cures effected have never been given to any manufacturer of trusses. Ineir reliability is beyond question, and being from men of prominence can be easily verified. One complete cure is reported of a man over 70 years of age. Two of the thousands of testimonials sent to Mr. Lindman we give below, which will speak for themselves in the honest, straightforward manner to which they are given:

I have on several occasions within the last few weeks taken long walks without truss or support of any kind, and have every confidence that my rupture, which, as you are aware, was of a very severe description, is now permanently healed, and I can assure you that I feel deeply thankful for the beneficial results. I have already recommended your appliances to several of my friends similarly affected. Yours very sincerely, "J. H. MICKLER, Supt." Mr. Lindman would be pleased to give any information to sufferers, or would send them his illustrated catalegue, on application. Write B. Lindman, Rossin House Block, 85 York

A MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY.

The Exhibit of Taylor Brothers Don Valley Pressed Brick Works at the Industrial Exhibition.

Notwithstanding the world-wide depression in general business and the acute local contraction of the building trade which has been felt so severely in Toronto, there is at least one of our younger industries which has not only prospered from the first, but which is able truthfully to describe its present year's business as the most successful it has experienced. We refer to the Don Valley Pressed Brick Works. Taylor Brothers, proprietors, whose head office and sample rooms are at 60 Adelaide street east, and who had a magnificent display at the Industrial Exhibition. This firm is developing the Pressed brick and allied industries in a manner which a few years ago few believed to be possible in Toronto, and it is most cheering to be able chronicle that the progress made has been and is continuous. At the present moment the firm is working to its full capacity in order to supply orders. Nearly nine-tenths of the pressed bricks that are used in all the buildings going on in Toronto are being supplied by the Don Works. They are shipping daily to many terior Ontario points, and sending consignments to Chicago, Buffalo, Rochester, Detroit and other important American cities, and also to North American Dan and Beersheba—Vancouver, B. C., and St. John's Newcused. are located near the northeast city limits, just east of Rosedale, and on the margin of the valley of the River Don. The advantages the firm have at command are many-abundant capital, easy communication, the respect and confidence worthily earned in more than half a century of mercantile enterprises, and last but by no means least, supply of raw materials in quantities that are almost incalculable. The site of the works is at the extreme southwestern end of the land controlled by the firm. Northeastward the estate extends for more than two miles along the Don valley, and from borings made in a so far futile search for natural gas and other purposes it has been learned that the clay and shales used in the various kinds of pressed bricks and terra cotta underlie the whole tract for a depth of at least 620 feet. Somebody who has a good deal of time, paper and patience on hand can figure up the number of bricks this will supply. The clays and shales as cavated, or rather mined, from this jority. tract are all carefully analyzed and sorted, and, such has been the degree of skill attained, are mixed and manufactured with an accurate foreknowledge of the exact shade of bricks that will be produced. In fact, by the exercise of skill and patience and the expenditure of vast sums upon experimenting, the Don Valley Company have reduced brick-making to an exact science, and their product can be without fear placed in comparison with that of any country. Owing to their pecu-liarly advantageous circumstances the firm are able to contract for the supply to any extent of any variety of bricks they manufacture. The variety of their products is somewhat surprising, as anybody will be able to see when the works, now in progress at the scene of last winter's disastrous fires on Melinda street, are completed. Within the space of a couple of hundred feet ten or more different varieties of Don Valley Pressed Bricks will be used, giving a superb opportunity for studying their effects in mass or detail. Among these are the imposing building of Mr. S. F. McKinnon (Mr. Beaumont Jarvis, architect), which is being erected in Egyptian Pressed Bricks the two buildings in brown and buff bricks for The Globe Printing Company on corner of Yonge and Melinda and Jordan and Melinda respectively, Burke & Horwood, architects; the Gray building on Wellington street, Mr. Wickson, architect; the Osgoodby bullding, G. M. Miller, architect, and some others in the same neighborhood. Some other striking buildings that are being or are about to be erected or fronted with the Don Valley bricks are the Jamieson building, corner of Yonge and Queen, a handsome pile of Ohio sandstone, Don Valley white pressed bricks and buff terra cotta, architects Curry, Baker & Co. The new Holy Blossom Synagogue to be erected on east side of Bond, between Gould and Wilton avenue, will be something entirely new in Toronto. The style is Moresque, in buff terra cotta and buff bricks, on a base of Ohio blue sand-stone. The architect is Mr. J. W. Sid-dall. Other new fronts supplied from the Don Valley are those of Mr. Ambrose Kent, jeweller, Yonge street; Millard, undertaker, Yonge street; at the new Union Station all the lining, pressed and enamelled bricks, and the vitrified paving bricks for the yard; the new building of the Gendron Manufacturing Company on Ontario and Duchess streets, with both plain and common bricks; a residence for Mr. Lyman Jones of the Massey-Harris Company on St. George street, to be in red bricks; a new residence for Miss White on Lowther avenue, F. Herbert architect, in red bricks. The College of Dental Surgeons, D. B. Dick architect, and many others. Outside of Toronto the Don Valley is being called upon to supply pressed bricks for a residence for ex-Mayor Beaudry of Ottawa, and also one for Mr. Wilson of Woodstock, whose name is so prominently before the world of commerce and science in connection with acetylene gas. A new residence for Mr. Albert McLaren of Bucking-ham, Quebec, in buff bricks, as a con-trast to that his father erected last year in Don pressed red bricks, A new residence for Mr. Frost of Smith's Falls, in buff bricks, and the lining for the Metropolitan Church in London will be supplied from the Don Works.

An important and somewhat new branch of the business is the supplying of pressed, enamelled and other ornamental brick mantelets, according to architectural designs. The firm is equipped with everything needful for the successful execution of the most intricate designs. The Vitrified brick industry is one of most magnificent promise and one that this company proposes to develop if enterprise and persistence can be made to tell. Probably there is nothing that would keep in Toronto more of the money that now unnecessarily flows away from our working classes than the substitution of vitrified brick instead of asphalt and cedar block for roadways. Everybody who has seen the brick pave-ments lately laid in American cities acknowledges their complete superiority to everything else. In Toronto there will be paid annually for asphalt not less than $200,000. Nearly all this large sum goes out of the country. If it were spent on brick roads every cent of it would be spent in the city. The Don Valley Works has already supplied a very superior vitrified brick, and as the demand grows, on their merits being proved by use, they will embark in the manufacture to any extent that may be necessary.

In prices the Don Walley Works are out at a price which would have been decided as impossible a few years ago, and not one-half of that at which bricks of similar kind can be imported. Among the many buildings in London in which their bricks are used may be mentioned that of the C. W. Leonard residence, the T. G. Whiskard resi-dence, the Huron and Erie Loan and Savings building, and the lining of the new Victoria Church, formerly Queen's Avenue.

BURGLARS STEAL THE SAFE.

The Way They Do Things in Michigan. Fenton, Mich., Sept. 16.-The postoffice was entered by burglars yesterday morning, who effected an entrance by removing a panel from the side door. The office safe, ewighing about 1,000 pounds, was loaded upon a truck and carried a distance of 80 rods to the railroad track, where the burglars, with sledges, crowbars, axes and other heavy tools, literally knocked the safe to pieces. The steel money chest inside was forced in the same manner, and money and stamps secured by the robbers to the value of $300.

STANLEY AND THE REPORTER The Ex-African Explorer Refuses to be Interviewed. Montreal, Sept. 16.—Some of the papers here comment severely upon Henry M. Stanley's refusal to be interviewed. One of them says: "We have a very vivid remembrance that a few years ago Mr. Stanley came to Canada on a lecturing tour, and at that time he was bubbling over with anxiety to be interviewed at any length at all. Mr. Stanley was a reporter himself many years ago, and it may be that he is laboring under the delusion that the reporters of today are as they were in his time, in which case he is to be ex-

CANNOT USE REVISED EDITION. Anglican Synod by a Large Majority

Declines to Sanction Its Use in the Church. Montreal, Sept. 16.—The principal topic of discussion at the session of the Anglican Provincial Synod came up on a motion to alter Canon 13, so as to allow of the use of the revised version of the Scriptures being read in churches where clergymen so desired.
The advocate of the motion contended that the revised version, especially of the New Testament, was an improvement on the authorized version. The opponents to the motion maintained that it would not be in the interests of the church to pass such a motion, and more particularly as neither the Sees of Canterbury or York had authorized the use of the revised edition in England. On a vote being called, the notion was lost by a considerable ma

THE DURRANT CASE.

TODAY'S DEVELOPMENTS. San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 16.—The Durrant trial entered upon its ninth week this morning. A slight change in the programme for today was made necessary by a death in the family of Mrs. George P. Morgan, whose examination was not finished when court adjourned last Thursday. Durrant's defenders will be unable to persuade Mrs. Elizabeth Crossett to modify her testimony regarding her ride in a Valencia street car on the afternoon of April 3. The old lady is as sure of the day as she is of the fact that she rode on the same car with Durrant and tried to attract his attention from the girl who was with him. Mrs. Crossett's visit on the following day was to the house of her son-in-law in Alameda. The aged woman remembers the day when she went and her friends who went with her to the ferryboat corroborate her. The testimony of Mrs. Crossett will be the key to the prosecution's search.

THE MYSTERIOUS LADY. The identity of the "Sweet Pea Girl" the mysterious young lady who has constantly attended the Durrant trial and who has attracted so much attention by her devotion to the alleged murderer, has been discovered. She is Mrs. Grace Bowers, the wife of an insurance clerk. Last Wednesday she left her husband as a result of her infatuation for Durrant. Mr. Bowers says that his wife never knew Durrant, but that from the beginning she had taken a great interest in the trial and believes Durrant innocent. It is thought that her mind has become affected and that she is not responsible for her ac-

The Terrible Death of Little Mary Newton, of Springfield.

An extremely sad accident occurred at Springfield on Friday, resulting in the death of Mary, the 5-year old daughter of Mr. D. Newton, in a most painful manner. Mr. Newton was going through a gate on a field roller, accompanied by the little girl, when, by a sudden jerk, or the roller striking some impediment, the child was thrown backwards to the ground. Mr. Newton pulled the horses up suddenly, and they backed quickly, causing the roller to pass over the child, who was picked from under the horses' feet. The little girl lingered about an hour, when death relieved her sufferings.

Five Thousand Boys and Girls Enjoy Its Wonders.

Some Splendid Attractions in the Ring.

One Proves a Failure and is Canceled-The Others Immense—Daring Dive and Balloon Ascension-Various Departments Described.

The Western Fair had a very auspicious opening on Saturday. The weather was fine, the attendance was fine, and of course the exhibition was fine, too. All the departments were in running order, except those of live stock and poultry, which are now well in place, many exhibits arriving from the Toronto Fair. Saturday was School Children's Day, and the little ones in London made it worthy of the name by coming in battalions. Thanks to the cheap admission fee of 10 cents the poorest child was enabled to enjoy the marvels of Canada's great Fair. Five thousand boys and girls feasted on its wonders and incidentally on the contents of innumerable lunch baskets, not to mention refreshment booths and peanut stands. They flooded the main ouilding and made the rafters ring with their exclamations of delight and the ears of the aftendants buzz with importunities for business cards. They went up in the Ferris wheel, and they gazed with open-mouthed wonder on perspiring youths who tried to hit wooden images with baseballs. Bye and by they reached the grand stnds, completely filling the huge covered one. They nearly raised its roof with their shouts of merriment at the funny things in the ring. If the audience was delighted with the performers the performers were delighted with the audience, for it was most demonstrative in its appreciation. It was a great day for the children. THE RING ATTRACTIONS.

The Western Fair never had a better list of ring attractions. There was one exception to the rule of excellence, and that was the Wild East Show. The Wild East Show was advertised as the leading feature of the programme, and if it failed to realize expectations It was not the fault of the attraction committee. The Fair directors sent an agent to New York to pick out the best talent in the market. A contract was made, by which the bureau managing the Wild East combination, one of the leading entertainment organizations on the continent, agreed to furwish at least twenty Arabs for the exhibition. It is thought the bureau tried to spread their Arabs over too many fairs at the same time, and filled up the vacancies with burnt cork artists, male and female. At any rate, the genuine Arabs in the aggregation were as scarce as hens' teeth, and the show at gave savored more of the wild and woolly west than of the east. The company, having left their Arab steeds behind, hired a number of fine horses from Lawrence's livery. performance was a dash around the ring after a supposed bride, and it revealed some very un-Arabian horsemanship. One luckless man ran into the fence north of the grand stands, and was thrown over, but escaped injury. Not so the horse, which Mr. Lawrence says was his best hunter. Its shoulder was dislocated, and the animal will probably have to be killed. The fence is all right. Another "Arab" was seriously injured by being thrown near the judges' stand, but fortunately the horse was unhurt. The second number by the great Wild East combination was a dance in costume on the platform. Six women performed in turn, but displayed little grace or agility. Another run around the ring on horseback completed their performance in London. Mr. W. J. Reid, chairman of the attractions committee, admitted that the show was a failure. and promptly gave the company their tickets-of-leave. It is only fair to the directors to say that they were wholly unaware, until the aggregation arrived. that the attraction was not what was bargained for. The Fair Board had to pay their fares, which cost a considerable sum, but they chose rather to lose the money than disappoint their patrons. So the great Wild East comtrination folded their tents like the Arabs, and as silently stole away.

WONDERFUL JAPANESE. The attractions committee, however, must be congratulated on securing the the other fun-makers who delighted the crowd. The troupe of Japanese jugglers, acrobats and contortionists is the cleverest ever seen on the Fair grounds. The girls are fully the equals of the men ,and perform the most marvelous feats with an easy grace which seems to indicate that they have been accustomed to tying themelves into knots, walking on their hands and turning somersaults ever since they left their cradles. All of the troupe are tiny, intelligent-looking people. They do not "play for the grand stand" and wait for its applause, but go through their wonderful performance with a business-like air and commendable celerity, unmindful, apparently, of the enthusiastic plaudits of the spectators. Their costumes are remarkably beautiful, and distinctly Japanese. One of the girls walks, lays, swings and juggles on the slack wire; another does some optical illusions with colored ribbons, which are entirely new here; another is an equilibrist, and does some great balancing on her little dimpled chin, and others twist themselves into impossible shapes without the effort and agony of the average contortionist. John, a chubby youngster about 2 1-2 feet high, completely won the hearts of the children by allowing himself to be made a football of by his nimble-footed papa. There are fifteen in the company, and each one has a specialty. When they withdrew they were rewarded by a round of cheers. The Japs are the best features of the ring programme.

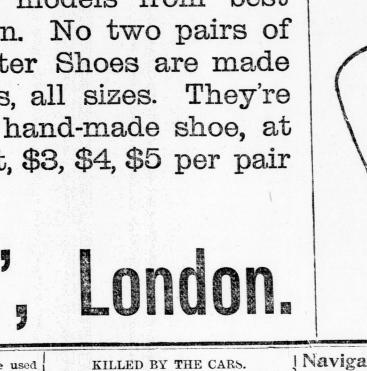

A THRILLING DIVE. Those who were thrilled by the daring diver of Barnum's circus will see an even more exciting feat at the Fair. "Ajax," as the nervy young man who makes the awful leap styles himself, stood on a platform between 50 and 75

The balloon ascension was perfect. The huge canvas bag was ready to fly upwards as soon as the stand performance was over, and the audience was not kept waiting. "The Great Alvini," the aeronaut, squeezed himself into a metallic funnel which was attached to the balloon and hung horizontally beneath it. There was little breeze, and the huge vessel shot up almost straight in the air, affording a splendid view to those on the grounds. Alvini remained in his narrow cell until he had attained a great height "above the smoke and stir of this dim spot which men call earth." Then he slid out feet foremost, dragging his parachute with him. He descended with frightful ve-locity at first, but his big umbrella quickly opened and he came down at a horse-car gait, alighting near the Hamilton road. The balloon remained up long enough to have a good smoke, and then quickly returned to terra firma by way of South London. vini's" drop is a sensational one.

BUTTER AND CHEESE. The showing of cheese is equal to last year, both as regards quality and quantity. The cheese space is well filled, and the crowding of last year is obviated by exhibiting in some instances only three samples instead of four. The judging in this department was concluded Saturday. Among the exhibitors who took first prizes were John B. Muir, Avonbank; Murdock Morrison, Harriston; and John Morrison, Newry. Other exhibitors are Mrs. T. D. Parsons, Guelph, who took first prize in English stilton cheese; R. R. Cranston, West Magdala; B. J. Connelly, Kintore; James Ireland, Beachville; J. S. Isard, Williscroft; L. R. Richardson, Strathroy; W. J. Atkinson, Medina, and S. A. Smith, Dorchester. The conveniences for the cold storage of butter at the Western Fair are unexcelled. The apartment is partitioned off from the balance of the dairy hall, and receptacles for ice placed under and above the butter shelves. An arrangement is also made for carrying off the melted water. Many old exhibitors are noted in this department, and a partial list of the exhibitors gives a very good idea of the representative character of the Western, J. G. FLOWERS AND FRUIT. These two products are housed in the same building. Immediately on entering the south door of the fruit section the eye is struck by a large threegallon jar of pears which a presumably young man in charge says have been preserved for 23 years. The largest exhibitors in the fruit section are Harry Marshall, Hamilton, and Peter McCulloch, Burlington. The former has 200 varieties of apples on the boards. David and Walter Hay, Delaware, and N. Webb, Hamilton, are also heavy exhibitors. The fruit display is a source of great temptation, especially to children, and it requires the constant watchfulness of officials to prevent pilfering. The alleged scarcity of fruits this summer has not affected the quantity of fruit shown, and there is a noticeable improvement both in quality and variety. The sections are apples pears, grapes, peaches, plums, and green gages. Marshall, of Hamilton, shows ten varieties of pears, while in grapes the principal exhibitor is A. G. Hull, St. Catherines. Marshall also leads the way in plums and peaches, with W. E. Cranston, an American exhibitor, from Toledo, a close second. J. Knox, Virgil, has a most creditable all-round showing in fruit. The exhibitors in the horticulture section are all local men. In the 5x10 feet display of plants J. Gammage & Sons take first prize, A. G. Stephens second, and E. Wells third. W. L. & C. M. Greenway are also large exhibtors, and the prizes are pretty well divided among the four. The flower show is one of the prettiest sights of the Fair, the plants being grouped and arranged artistically and with very pleasing effect. The foliage plants are very beautiful, while the lover of geraniums will find a multitudinous variety. There are carnations without end, a few roses, a good col-

Last year the price of honey was 10 cents in the comb and 15 cents for the extracted article. Just now it is 12 1-2 cents and 16 cents respectively. A feature of Mrs. Rudd's exhibit is honey lemonade, a very refreshing and cooling beverage.

The honey display is in the Agricultural Hall. It takes up a very small section, and the balance of the building ing is crowded with the largest col-lection of vegetables on record. The season has been a particularly good one for the garden and the farm, and the several weighing over 100 pounds. The mangolds look longer and more uncooth, while the squashes, carrots, turnips, potatoes, corn, cabbages, etc., will put a keen edge on the appetite of the veriest dyspeptic. It is said he evades audiences with his own Ministers and the foreign ambassadors, and leaves the State business to be managed by his mother at Peterhof. Court opinion attributes the Czar's retirement largely to the fact that he is greatly concerned about the Czarina, whose accouchement is very near at hand, and who is afflicted with nervous attacks which are partly due to her peculiar state and partly to the pre-valling Nihilist scare. The fact that the affairs of State are being guided by the Dowager Empress is held to account for the continuance of Russia's pro-French policy.

This boat had the open sea to sail, and won on her merits. No race has since been salled under such conditions of fairness. If it is true that the Valkyrie was disqualified in the second race for tactios which were admitted to be correct when the Defender practiced them on the Vigilant, doubt is thrown on the honesty of the committee, but we cannot believe it. That the Valkyrle should have been allowed to sail a match in which, unknown to her, her opponent had hoisted a protest flag before the line was crossed, is another matter, which became a "heads I win, tails you lose" affair on the part of the Defender, and savors of the win, tie or wrangle system that was prevalent at the lowest meetings in the worst days of horse-racing. This system, happily, has been stamped out here, but seems to have gone to America,

In every effort to capture the cup the contesting vessels have embodied the best efforts of British and American designers up to the date of trial. Criticism of the Vigilant's career in English waters, and of the right of her owner, Mr. George J. Gould, to be considered a true sportsman, has been revived here by the Defender-Valkyrie fiasco. Vanity Fair says that it does nasco. Vanity Fair says that it does not think that Mr. Gould, at the Cowes regatta, reached the highest standard of sportsmanship, and the story is retold of how, when the Prince of Wales was introduced to Mrs. Gould on the club lawn at Cowes, she did not rise from her seat, as under the rules of etiquette she should have done when conversing with a royal personage.

THE EXECUTION OF STOKES. The execution of Mr. Stokes, the British African trader who was hanged by Major Lothaire, an officer of the Congo Free State, on the charge of selling arms and ammunition to the natives, continues to occupy considerable space in the newspapers. It is probable that on his return to Brussels Major Lothaire will be tried for the murder of Mr. Stokes. The latest dam-natory fact in connection with the execution is that it occurred in the face of the protests of Major Lothaire's colleague, Dr. Mechaux, who thereupon withdrew from the Belgian expedition.

THE MILITARY DISPLAY AT STETTIN.

According to military experts the army maneuvers in the vicinity of Stettin have been a great success and have demonstrated amply the excellent discipline of the men, who, it is represented, are shown to be ready for the initiative of their commanders. It has also been shown according to the same authorities that the days of the useful-

Perhaps the only thing in connnection with the army maneuvers which has left any ill-feeling is the fact that the Count of Turin, second son of King Humbert of Italy, was treated with decided coolness at Stettin. TROUBLE IN TADE CIRCLES. The London Trades Council has initiated a movement against the decision of the Trades Union Congress excluding the council's delegates. All councils throughout the United Kingdom will be invited to send representatives to a national conference, the wire pullers of which aim to make an pranized attack on the leaders of the Trades Union Congress.

RISE AND FALL OF WAGES. A paper read by A. L. Bowley before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, now in session at Ipswich, made a comparison of the wages paid in England and America. The paper concludes: "Money wages are much the same in both countries, rising to the maximum in 1873 and failing to the minimum in 1880, again rising until 1891 when the level of 1873 was reached. Drawing a deduction between money wages, and relative real wages, as affected by wholesale prices, it was found that real wages had increased in the United Kingdom 70 per cent from 1860 to 1891. In America they rose with the same rapidity until 1873, when they were checked. Then they fell until 1880, and then rose until 1891, when they were 60 per cent higher than in 1860. The data did not cover agricultural wages.

Wednesday, was greatly disappointed at the absence of Lord Salisbury, the retiring president of the association, who had been expected to attend, but whose physician forbade him to participate in the sitting of the society on account of his health. There was much interest in a paper read by by Mr. Borchgrevink, giving an ac-count of his recent visit to the Antarctic, but neither the paper nor the discussion which followed it and in which the veteran explorer, Sir Joseph Dalton Hooker, participated, carried the question much further. Dr. Haviland Field, of New York, described the arrangements, which, he said, are nearly completed for the establishment of an international bibliographical Bureau at international bibliographical Bureau at Zurich.

LIBERALS SHORT OF FUNDS. With the advent of a cool northwesterly wind succeeding the torrid weather which prevailed the early part of the week, political questions have begun to attract attention again in Just now, the difficult problems of raising party funds and the perfecting of party organization are troubling the leaders of the Liberal party. Most of the old-fashioned and wealthy Liberals who had been accustomed to support the party, have been driven into the ranks of the Liberal Unionists by the veering of the party towards extreme radicalism. As a result the Radicals are only able to look to successful tradesmen and others of that class who are willing to take peerages and other honors in return for contributions of money required to defray the necessary party expenses.

PRINCE HOHENLOE'S MISSION. It is now admitted at the Foreign Office that the visit of Prince Hohenlohe, the imperial chancellor to St. Petersburg, has a semi-official character. Prince Hohenlohe went in the first place to seek a private favor at the hands of the Czar, namely, that his wife might retain possession of the vast estates in Russia some years ago from her brother Prince Sayn-Wittenbut he had a further mission, which was to confer with Prince Lobanoff, Russian Minister of Foreign affairs, with regard to the Russo-German entente in the event of further troubles in the far east, and to effect a general understanding on the political situation. It is understood that the official mission of Prince Hohenloe was measurably successful.. As to his personal errand he was entirely successful, the Czar readily granting Princess Hohenlohe permission to retain her Russian estates, which are said to be worth 50,000,000 marks. The late Czar rigorously enforced the law which forbids foreigners to own land in Russia, and if he had lived Princess Hohenlohe would have been obliged to sell the estates for whatever they would bring. It is not improbable that one of the younger sons of Prince Hohenlohe will remove to Russia to reside there permanently and so qualify himself for the Wittgenstein estates. VON MOLTKE'S SUCCESSOR. The promotion of Count von Waldersee to be a field marshal has directed attention anew to a man who is destined to play a leading part in the next great war in which Germany is engaged. Von Waldersee is regarded as Von Moltke's ablest substitute. His handling of the ninth army corps at the Stettin maneuvers proved him to be a capable strategist, while his corps were shown to be one of the best drilled in the Prussian army. WANTS A WIFE.

King Alexander of Servia has approached the family of the Grand Duke of Hesse upon the subject of arranging for his marriage to Princess Sibyl of Hesse, and it is understood that his representations have been declined, and that he has applied to the Princess Dolgourki, the morganatic widow of Czar Alexander II. of Russia, who has two unmarried daughters, the Princesses Olga and Catharine, aged respectively 21 and 17 years.

NEW AUSTRIAN CABINET. A new Austrian Cabinet has been | ORDERS SOLICITED

formed as follows: Badeni, President of the Council and Minister of the Interior; Belinski, Minister of Finance; Gleispach, Minister of Justice; Ledebur-Gleispach, Minister of Justice; Ledebur-Wicheln, Minister of Agriculture; Glanz, Minister of Commerce. The change in the Ministry does not in the least con-cern the political situation or affect the Driebund, but the fact that it practi-cally submerges the Austro-German group has given a twinge in Berlin, especially to the Conservatives. Practically Count Padeni enters into office without a programme. Austrian Poles, with anti-democratic leaning, constitute a majority of the Cabinet, so that there is not the slightest chance of a popular extension of the franchise nor indeed of Liberal reforms. There is no reason, therefore, why the German Conservatives should not welcome the Padeni Ministry, and probably the Austro-German group will soon decide to accept Padeni.

THE WHEEL. ROAD RACE AT WOODBINE PARK. Toronto, Ont., Sept. 15.—Over 10,000 people were at the Woodbine track to see the start and finish of the R. Q. T.'s national road race yesterday. Two hundred and fifty started. The scratch men were Creelman, McCarthy, Radway, McLeod and Wells. The course was two miles round Woodbine track at the start and finish, and eight miles on the road and return. The first man to reach the turn was John Robinson, of the T. B. C., closely followed by several of the limit men. First to enter the gate on the home trip was Fred. Robinson, of the Athenaeums, a limit man; Green, of the Wanderers, followed him closely; Robinson, of the Torontos; Wilson, of Galt, and Beard, of the Wanderers, being close after. The finish was between Robinson, of the Torontos, and Wilson. The former seemed to be laying for the second prize, as he made no effort to pass Wilson at the finish.

Dairy Markets. LONDON CHEESE MARKET. The attendance at the London cheese market on Saturday was large, and 8,293 boxes were offered. Bidding ranged from 7 to 7 5-16 cents but salesmen are holding for higher. Sales were 244 boxes (Belmont) at 7½ cents. The factories represented were: | Boxes | Boxes | Boxes | Boxes | Boxes | Payne's Mills | 100 | Belmont | 244 | Holmesville | 110 | Westminster | 325 | Northwood | 440 | Malahide | 510 | Dunboyne | 160 | Ridgetree | 318 | Pond Mills | 330 | Union Hill | 195 | Thames | 340 | West Nissouri | 325 |

The market appears to have entered another dull and unsatisfactory phase, prices having declined further since our last report, says the Montreal Trade Bulletin, the Mon a Lea combination consisting of about 2,000 boxes last half of August having been placed in this market at 7c. A large proportion of the cheese received here of late have been put into store, as owners would not accept the low figures offered. It is estimated that there are fully 300,-000 boxes in store here, which is just about equal to the shortage in the exports from New York this season, and when the short fall make begins to be realized, we question if the 300,000 boxes said to be loctated here will seem such a big jag as it does now. Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO.

East Buffalo, Sept. 14.—Cattle—Offerings of sale cattle were about 3 cars all told, 1 of which was held over. There was only a light peddling trade, as the local buyers apepared to be pretty well supplied.

Hogs-Recipts, 25 cars; the market opened with a fairly good demand from all sources, and prices for all grades were from 5c @ 10c higher. Yorkers, $4 60 @ $4 65; medium weights, $4 60 @ $4 65; heavy grassy ends, $4 10 @ $4 40; roughs, $3 50 @ $3 65; stags, $3 @ $3 25; pigs, good to choice, $4 45 @ $4 50.
Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 13 cars.
The market ruled a shade to 10c stronger for lambs, but about steady at the advance for ordinary to good handy sheep. Lambs, choice to prime, $4 60 @ $4 85; good to choice, $4 25 @ $4 50; fair to good, $3 85 @ $4 35; culls and common lambs, $2 75 @ $3 75. Sheep, choice to selected export wethers, $4 @ $4 25; export ewes and mixed lots, $3 65 @ $4; good to choose handy weight sheep, $3 10 @ $3 65; fair to good mixed sheep, $2 50 @ $3 05; culls and common sheep, $1 50 @ $2 40.

CHICAGO. Chicago, Sept. 14.—The arrivals of cattle were so small that there was scarcely a market. Prices were nominally steady. Offerings of hogs were light and prices were firm. The sheep market was quiet. Cattle-Receipts, 500. Quotations unchanged. Hogs-Receipts, 8,000. Heavy packing and shipping, $4 50 @ $4 55; common to choice mixed, $3 85 @ $4 55; choice assorted. $4 35 @ $4 60; light, $3 90 @ $4 60; pigs, $2 @ $4 35.

Sheep—Receipts, 2,000. Inferior to choice, $1 50 @ $3 75; lambs, $3 @ $4 80.

The Export Apple Trade. Advices from the west state that buyers are offering to contract winter fruit at 75c per barrel, packed on the ground, but that growers are not anxious to do business at this figure, A few orchards have been bought at $1, but they consisted of choice red stock. Greenings will be plentiful, and buyers say they can get all they want of this description at 75c on the ground. At present low prices there is not much disposition to contract ahead on the part of growers. Account sales of a few Duchess that were shipped from the west have been received, showing not very satisfactory results, the range of prices in Liverpool being from 7s @ Its per barrel, averaging not over 8s on the lot. Sales in this market have been made of green fruit at $1 25 @ $150 per barrel; but good to choice colored stock, such as St. Lawrence and Alexanders, have sold at $1 75 @ $2. Receipts are liberal, and the market is quiet at the recent decline. One lot of inferior fruit sold as low as 80c. Advices just to hand from Glasgow. under date of Aug. 31, state that prices are wretched, sales being reported at from 4s @ 5s per 10 stone barrel, anvthing special making 6s @ 7s 6d, which in former years at this time fetched 10s @ 12s.—Montreal Trade Bulletin.

New Barley. A number of samples of new barley have been received from Ontario since our last, nearly all of which were discolored by rain, and the best samples of the lot sprouted within 4 per cent.

and cheap. Feed barley has been of-fered here to arrive at 42c, and a choice malting sample, unstained, was held at 60c. Malting grades may be quoted all the way from 50 @ 60c, as to quality.—

The inquiry quivered on Mrs. Dale's lips from the moment she espied the direction whence Annis came, and was propounded almost before her errand was disclosed. The latter hesitated ere replying. She hated gossip and gossipers, especially those of Mrs. Dale's caliber. Yet, recognizing a possibility of the laundress' usefulness in the present contingency, she briefly explained the reason of Giulia's abrupt departure, and inquired if Mrs. Dale happened to know of a suitable person to replace her, temporarily or other-

"Well, no-not this instant minute;" Mrs. Dale replied, poising her iron reflectively above the garment under-going manipulation. "I did hear as Kitson's Polly was home—her as lived so long with that old Miss Bateson on the hill, you know, Miss Annis. She'd ha' been just the body for Mrs. Carlyon-30 or more, praps, an' staid an' But 'taint likely she'd go beggin' for a situation, an' prob'ly she's engaged right off."

Athwart Martha Dalle's black eyes shot a lurid flash. A peculiar determined twist contracted her red lips. Hastily sweeping her cloth around the plate she held, she half flung both upon the dresser and confronted Annis.

"I might inquire. Mary Kitson, you say?" The latter was repeated as Martha, stepping impulsively forward, barred her egress.

"Kitson's Polly took a new service a week agone, as you know quite well, mother. Such a clash for nothing! But look here, Miss Annis. Why wouldn't I do as well as Polly? I'd do all I can to please, an' I'm handy, too. I've served my time, besides, an' learnt a thing or two beyond dressmakin' while at Mrs. Byng's to yonder." 'You, Martha?"

Annis asked the question in surprise; while the mother, with an ejeculated, "Well, I never! What next, I plumped her iron upon its stand and turned to her, daughter agape with marvel.

and with reason. Hitherto Martha Dale's opinion of herself had been reputed far too exalted for domestic servitude, for which indeed her insuberdination to authority scantily commended her.

Yes - me,"she retorted hardily. There's naught I can't I've a mind an' Mrs. Rogers'd soon set me goin', were I stuck, if so be I might come up to t' rectory for an hour or so nights, Miss Annis.

Again Annis hesitated. Both statements were true, as she was aware. Inaptitude was certainly not Martha's failing, and Rogers - Annis' oldest nurse, now personal attendant on Mrs. Ainslea and herself-was always willing to help on the village girls with such suggestive training as came within her province.

If you are in earnest, Martha, come up this evening and consult my mo-ther," she said, a trifle coldly, and bidding Mrs. Dale good morning, she Martha looked after her with a curiously contemptuous curling of the lip.

"I'll up to th' abby an' see Mrs Carlyon for myself," she announced sturdily. "What for shouldn't I stand on my own legs? They're stout enow I warrant." warrant.

"I can't think what's taken you," whined her mother, querulous from balked perception. "You as allers set your back up at t' bare mention o' a place, and now all agog to go!"

"Happen there's no call for your understandin'," returned Martha coolly. "Seems to me"—originating a simile from long associated surroundings— "it's time I starched my own duds at past 26. Anyway, I mean to try, and to hang on, too."

And heedless of remonstrances or reshe flung on her hat and cloak and was half way to the abbey ere Annis had reached the rectory gate. Within an hour she returned trium-

"I'm to go up first thing to-morrow, Pritchard spoke for me, an' Mrs. Bent. Lor! won't Miss Annis stare! I'll be half settled in ere she an' her ma have done their talk."

And flinging herself into her favor-ite chair before the fire she laughed until the tins upon the walls tinkled in responsive mirth.

Curiously, the very attributes Annis found repellent had attracted Nita. After the staid solemnity of the elderly retainers at the abbey, Martha's vivacious temerity proved refreshing. Even the keen black eyes exercised a charm. Nita engaged her unhesitat-

Twas with surprised dissatisfaction that Rolf on his return discovered Martha Dale established as his wife's attendant, but seeing her services fairly efficacious, he refrained from inter-ference. Denny's term of imprisonment was, however, nearing comple-tion, and the occasion prompted & warning as to that.

"Tis to be hoped shame and prudence will keep him out of Fordham, but should he return, mind, Martha, I distinctly forbid his presence on the premises. I trust, however, that you have had the good sense to discard so undesirable a suitor."

The flash of Martha's eyes condensed to a sullen glow. Her red lips tightened mutely, she stepped respections in the stepped respection of the stepped respection. fully aside, and Rolf, accepting her silence as assent, passed on with a pleasant smile.

CHAPTER II. With Rolf's home coming Nita's

  cheerfulness revived, and a sunny September added a further fillip to her re-storation. She was ever a wayward creature, yet this very fitfulness, with its sharp distinctions, served apparent-ly but to increase her charms in Rolf's adoring eyes. He loved his girl wife passionately, albeit her whims and cap-rices engendered a restless dissatisfaction essentially uncongenial to one of his genial, easy-going temperament. But with waning autumn Nita's spirits again flagged perceptibly. More into her expression stole a startled perplexity, while timidity and hesitation replaced the innocent candor previously evinced towards those she loved.

Rolf grew anxious and distressed; Mrs. Ainslea seriously uneasy. Annis was puzzled, working her active brain unceasingly for the solution of a mys-fied elucidation.

Meanwhile Nita resumed her restricted proclivities and haunted perpetually the abbey ruins. There, walking up the avenue one afternoon, Mrs. Ainslea and Annis discovered her and paused upon the pathway to watch the slender figure, in its close brown suit, flitting in restless persistency from arch to column, peering in niche and crevice, examining here a stone, there prodding, with a stoutish cane she carried, the matted ivey with the ferved energy of one resolutely bent upon unearthing some evading secret. "Whatever can she be doing, or imagine lies behind that big stone she is struggling with? She will do herself a serious injury, the silly child!" ejeculated Mrs. Ainslea in perturbed concern.

"Hunting for hidden treasure, one would say from her intent determina-tion," Annis laughingly replied. "Common humanity dictates preventing her burying herself alive, so go on to the house, mother, and I will bring her in." Mrs. Ainslea assenting, passed on; while Annis, her light tread falling noiselessly on the elastic turf, traversed the intervening space to where Nita now stood contemplating a massive buttress with knitted, ponderous brows. Her back was toward the avenue, and she was therefore unaware of Annis' approach until a laughing touch and query revealed her presence. Starting violently she fell back against the masonry, uttering a smothered cry. Her face was ghastly; her large eyes distended and dark with unmistakable terror. Through rigid lips her breath came gaspingly. Annis, terribly dis-

THEIR CHURCH PARADE,

Independent Foresters Attend Divine Service at St. James'.

Sermon by Rev. M. P. Talling-Collection for the Protestant Home.

The annual church service of the Independent Order of Foresters of this city was held in St. James' Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon. The brethren assembled at the Foresters' Hall, East London, and, headed by the full band of the Seventh Battalion, proceeded to the edifice by way of Dundas and Wellington streets, Dufferin avenue and Richmond street. Upwards of 100 members were in line, representing Courts Hope, No. 1; Dufferin, No. 4; Victoria, No. 10; Wel-come, No. 12; Enterprise, No. 54; Altert, No. 100; Mystic, No. 259, and Byron, No. 683.

The sermon to the brethren was delivered by Rev. M. P. Talling, pastor of the church, and was thoroughly suitable to the occasion. In introducing his text, Mr. Talling said he was one of those who regretted that there should be any cross-firing between organizations such as the Independent Foresters and the church, Some time ago he had written the public press in an endeavor to show that the work of benefit lodges was work which the church might do had it not so much already. However, he earnestly hoped that the work of the Foresters would continue.

The text chosen was Matthew vi., 33: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

The text had two parts—the first was the divine voice giving divine advice; the second, the divine voice giving a promise. After a few passing remarks in reference to seeking, Mr. Talling stated that God took an interest in seeking, pertaining to man's estate. It was to be regretted that there were men who labored from early Monday until late on Saturday who felt that the people of the church did not take an interest in them. They should be impressed differently. In order that he might show his interest in the everyday life of man, God organized the Independent Foresters' Benefit Society, and he was wise in so doing. In order that he might make provision for his people, God organized a benefit society which he does not call the Independent Foresters, but the Kingdom of Heaven. In concluding, Mr. Talling followed out a comparison between the qualifications for membership in the two societies, and closed by wishing his hearers godspeed in their work.

A collection was taken up in aid of the Protestant Orphans' Home. The musical portion of the service was furnished by St. James' choir, assisted by Miss Gilmour, of St. Andrew's Church. The procession reformed, and at the hall in East London the usual votes of thanks were passed.

THE DURRANT CASE.

Damaging Evidence of a Longed-For Witness.

San Francisco, Sept. 15 .- A few weeks ago Captain of Detectives Lee said that if a witness could be found who would supply the necessary proof that any or all of Blanche Lamont's rings were in the possession of Theodore Durrant before they were returned to Mrs. Noble in so mysterious a manner, the last and strongest link in the chain of evidence against the young medical student would have been forged. This witness has been found.

He is a business man of unquestionable integrity, and he came forward with his statement at this late day because he felt it to be his duty to make known the facts within his knowledge before it is too late for them to have effect in the trial now in progress. As far as his knowledge goes he is positive as to his facts.

The witness who has come to the front so opportunely is W. J. Phillips. His testimony will be corroborative of that of Adolph Oppenheim, the pawnbroker, who testified at the preliminary hearing that Durrant entered his place of business a few days after the murder of Blanche Lamont and tried to pawn one of her rings.

Phillips says he was near the pawnshop at the time, and saw Durrant when he entered the place.

PRETTY FACES RULE THE UNIVERSE.

There's No Beauty Without Freshness and Pureness of Complexion.

Good complexions, handsome eyes, and graceful carriage in women have caused monarchs to forget to rule, and millionaires to cease the worship of gold.

Our literature is filled with advertisements of complexion beautifiers, cosmetics, etc., but beauty is not skin deep. Nearly all women's ills are directly the result of irregularities of the bowels. To avoid these irregularities means to preserve that freshness and beauty of complexion which women crave more than anything else in the world. It means youth and beauty. It means freedom from dizziness, headache and biliousness.

Irregularities of the bowels and the many afflictions arising therefrom, and in fact over seventy-five per cent. of all the ills women are subject to, are derived directly or indirectly from constipation, and the researches of many eminent doctors go to prove the above statement to be true.

Karl's Clover Root Tea, put up by its American proprietors after one of the most scientific formulae ever produced by medical research and skill, comprises not only herbs, which will positively cure constipation and all irregularities of the bowels, but ingredients, which will at the same time act as a tonic to the system, a panacea to the complexion and a boon to those afflicted with headache, dizziness, languor, melancholia,

This remedy can be procured at W. T. Strong's, and we have placed sample packages here also, which will be given to all those who would like to try it before buy-

Making Tracks for School

Making Tracks for School.

That's what the boys of London and vicinity are doing now, and during the rainy weather and munny streets at this time of the year, they need a first-class article in footwear 10 meet the emergency. Bad shoes and wet feet go together, with sickness treading on their heels and the roys making tracks for home instead of school. Our school shoes are durable, waterproof, well-fitting, warm and comfortable. Keep his mouth wet and his feet dry and a boy will always thrive. This latter end will be provided for by buying a pair of these shoes; they will cost less and wear longer than any other shoe offered this season. Can anything be cheaper than a pair of Boys' Boston Calf Bals, for $1, or a pair of Misses' Glove Grain Button for $1?

TORONTO WATERWORKS. An Cutbreak of Disease Feared and Great Precautions Recommended. Toronto (Special) Sept. 16 .- The accident which recently occurred to the Toronto waterworks conduit has created a great deal of consternation, and an outbreak of disease is possible. Doctors are prescribing the various precautions to be taken, and among them is strongly recommended that the kidneys should be kept in a state of perfect regularity by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which experience has shown to be equally efficacicus in the latest as well as the earliest stages of kidney trouble. It is also stated by the physicians that this season is one in which the kidneys are peculiarly susceptible to disorder.

Block Signals. Referring to the little book on block signals, issued by the New York Central, the Electric Review, which is the recognized authority upon everything pertaining to electrical science, has this to day:

"In the 'Four-Track Series,' No. 17, the passenger department of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad has published a most interesting story under the title of 'Block Signals on America's Greatest Railroad.' The letter press and illustrations in color are unusually fine. The technical description is by Mr. John P. O'Donnell, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. The New York Central has spent more than $1,000,000 in equipping its lines with the safest and most complete system of block signal devices for handling trains known to railway science. The block signal system is a mystery to the adian Kennel Club, in Toronto, on Fri- average man, and we can imagine no more day, Mr. T. G. Davey and Dr. Niven, instructive or interesting pastime than to of this city, were elected to the execultake a trip over the New York Control take a trip over the New York Central road, with a copy of this book in hand, and observe what is to be seen of the practical working of the block signal system. A copy of the book will be sent free, post-paid to any address in the world, upon receipt of three 2-cent stamps, by George H. Daniels, general passenger agent, Grand Central Station, New York.
