By Offensive Alone May Persuade Allies and Compel Foe To Terms

AIM MISUNDERSTOOD

London, July 13.—(New York World cable)—A Petrograd dispatch to the Daily News says the Russians bitterly resent the misunderstanding with their offensive in cloaking in certain circles in the west. It is being made under circumstances of extraordinary difficulty, the message continued. There are daily reports of hunger riots in different parts of the country and of internal struggles of the parties, and even of huge sections of the population, which threaten disaster to Russia. The dispatch says the nation's gold being made not because Russia hopes of desiring the crushing of Germany; it is made because she believes that by an offensive she alone can persuade the allies and compel the Germans to agree to a general peace on honorable terms. The wilful misunderstanding of this has an immediate reflection on her by giving the enemies of the offensive ground for telling the Russians they are fighting in vain.

Next Step, Styrl Petrograd, July 13.—Now that Halicz is in Russian possession, the eyes of General Korniloff's cavalry regiments are turned toward the railway centre of Styrl, a town of 30,000 inhabitants, a junction of the line from Lemberg to Lawoczne and of a branch line to Chodorow. Military writers describing the defensive, say its chief strength is on the north and northeast, but weaker on the south. There is widespread expectation of an important counter-attack on the northern front.

Financial Problems. Petrograd, July 12.—The serious financial problems confronting the Russian Government were referred to in a report read at a private meeting of the duma yesterday by Deputy Bublikoff, who said the nation's gold reserve of 1,711,000,000 rubles covered 13.6 per cent of the paper money of the state now in circulation. The debt, which at the end of 1913 was 8,900,000,000 rubles at the beginning of 1917, was 33,600,000,000. If the paper money issued during the war were added, he said, the total debt was brought up to about 45,000,000,000 rubles.

Of the total national expenditures in 1917, between 12,000,000,000 and 14,000,000,000 rubles would be represented by a deficit. The deputy referred to the great deterioration in the purchasing value of the ruble and said that to cover this deficit by the issuance of more paper would mean a further serious increase in prices. Another unfavorable feature of the general situation is a decrease of 30 per cent in the production of coal in southern Russia. M. Boblikoff also referred to the circumstance that 40 per cent of the country's locomotives and cars are in the shops awaiting repairs. The financial problems, the deputy said, in his opinion could not be solved by the imposition of fresh taxation which would remove the stimulus for productive labor.

Weather Bulletin Toronto, July 13.—Pressure remains abnormally low over the greater portion of the continent. The weather has been showery, again from Ontario to the Maritime provinces. Showers have also occurred in the western provinces, chiefly in Saskatchewan. Forecasts. Moderate to fresh south to west winds, mostly fair and warmer to-day and Saturday, but showers in some localities.

By Courier Leased Wire. Mexico City, July 13.—El Universal, which has been conducting a campaign in favor of the Allies, will request editorially to-morrow that the Government declare a policy of "benevolent neutrality" toward the Allies as soon as possible. Statement says in part: "It would be extremely dangerous to adhere to strict neutrality as we have to account for dangerous violation of neutrality committed against any of the combatants. If Mexico remains neutral for the time being it should not remain impartial, but should give all its sympathy to countries that have the same form of government and ideals, and who have permitted and fostered the existence of weak nations."

El Universal compares the line of action of the great democracies, America, France and Russia, with the crimes of German militarism and also compares the case of Miss Cavell and others with the military prisoners by England and France.

FINNLAND RUSSIA'S PROBLEM

Situation Grows More Serious With Agitation For Finnish Independence BILL PASSED BY DIET

Armed Interference On Russia Part May Come About

By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, July 13.—The Finnish diet on Thursday passed the second reading of a bill virtually establishing Finnish independence. The introduction of the bill has created a serious crisis here, and N. C. Theidse, President of the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates, has called for a meeting in an effort to settle the differences. An indication of the seriousness of the situation was a late sitting of the Petrograd cabinet, and a decision of Premier Lvoff to summon back to the capital the ministers who are now with the army. According to the Birzh-Eviya, M. Lvoff's Socialist colleagues declare themselves in principle in sympathy with Finland's move. The premier and other ministers belonging to the cabinet party refuse, however, to allow Finland to determine her relations with Russia, insisting she must wait until the meeting of the constituent assembly.

The comment of the newspapers in Petrograd is sharp. The Retch declares it is impossible for Russia to tolerate Finland's move. The Birzh-Eviya hints at armed interference, saying Russia is now about to make a last attempt toward a peaceful settlement. According to the present program Helsingfors will to-morrow put the bill passed Thursday into force "by simple declaration," meaning without Russia's sanction. This is the first formal denial of Russia's suzerainty rights. The law which was engineered by the Socialists, proclaims that Russia has lost all authority in Finland except in the domains of diplomacy, and in the army and navy wherein however, Russia's rights are undefined. All other prerogatives of the grand dukes of Finland, which the (Continued on page six.)

Copenhagen, July 13.—The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says that a communication from the Austro-Hungarian Government has been received in Berlin declaring that Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's continuance in office as Chancellor is of importance and his retirement possibly a fatal mistake. The telegram was obviously dispatched before the decision on the Prussian franchise was taken which is generally interpreted in Berlin as a sign that Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg would remain. The Lokal Anzeiger attributes the telegram to Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister. Unsuitable As Peacemaker

The executive committee of the Catholic Centre of the Reichstag, on the other hand, believes Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg unsuited to conduct peace negotiations and says he should be replaced before an ultimate peace conference. The attitude of this great party, which is of quite as much importance as the views of Count Czernin on the same subject and which have been repeatedly denied, is somewhat cleared by an announcement of the party organ, Germania.

While denying the report that the party had demanded the chancellor's retirement for which "at present" there is no compelling ground, or that it had an interest in unseating him, Germania says the party considers the chancellor scarcely fitted to participate in the peace negotiations, particularly considering the fact that the declaration of war occurred under his administration, but that it is erroneous to consider his further continuance in office a hindrance to bringing on peace.

The distinction drawn indicates that the Centrist leaders believe the chancellor may remain for the present, but should resign before the actual conference. This corresponds with another declaration of Germania, asserting that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg will accept a resolution on war aims of the majority parties in the reichstag. This resolution, based on the formula of Herr Erzberger, the Centrist leader, will be presented to the reichstag to-morrow, and will restate the leading aim of the government as the outbreak of the war that Germany was undertaking a defensive war, and declare that a majority of the reichstag now favors peace based on a "mutual understanding and lasting reconciliation of nations. As long as enemy government refuse this, the German people and reichstag, the resolution will say, are united in a determination to fight on until the rights of Germany and its allies are assured. Although the National Liberal party had withdrawn from the majority block, leaders of the latter expect 300 votes for the resolution, including those of the Poles, Alsacians and Danes.

Deportations. Copenhagen, July 13.—According to news reaching here from Germany Polish members of the reichstag interpellated Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg about the deportation of thousands of Polish men and women to Germany which, in the case of the Belgians, is generally recognized as contrary to international law, continues, and now troops are being employed forcibly to drag victims from their homes. The German censorship prohibited the circulation in pamphlet form of the reichstag speech of Herr Scheidemann, Socialist member of the reichstag. His address urged peace based on a mutual understanding. The Socialists interpellated the chancellor, pointing out that the censorship permits pamphlets of opposite tendencies.

COAL FROM U. S. COMING

By Courier Leased Wire. Ottawa, Ont., July 13.—Fuel Controller McGrath received a message from Washington this morning stating that the United States authorities had issued instructions to all customs and other border officials to allow all coal shipments to Canada to pass freely. This means that there is to be no fuel embargo against Canada. Complete blanket license is granted. year, I herewith decide to order a my degree of April 7 of the current supplement to the same, that the draft of the bill dealing with the alteration of the electoral law for the House of Deputies, which is to be submitted to the diet of the monarchy for decision, is to be drawn up on the basis of equal franchise. The bill is to be submitted in any case early enough that the next elections may take place according to the new franchise. I charge you to make all necessary arrangements for this purpose.

(Signed) "WILLIAM." (Countersigned) "Bethmann-Hollweg"

Word was received several days ago that the German Emperor had issued a decree for franchise reforms, but hitherto the text of the order, which affects only Prussia has not been available. It bears out what received from Copenhagen last night to the effect that the results of the German political crisis thus far are comparatively small. The introduction into the emperor's decree of the phrase "equal franchise" merely restores a provision which, according to Berlin gossip was contained in the original draft of the emperor's Easter manifesto and was eliminated at the last moment in consequence of reactionary intrigue. It was also pointed out that the new imperial announcement does not prescribe immediate adoption of the reforms inasmuch as the next elections may not take place until after the war and that there is not a word of the introduction of parliamentarism in the imperial administration.

London, July 13.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, from Tien Tsin, says that fighting began outside of Peking yesterday.

Will Attack City. Tien, Tsin, July 13.—Republican headquarters here say that owing to General Hsun's refusal to mediate, they intend to attack the forbidden city, at the first opportunity. Heretofore they have been reluctant to do so owing to the proximity of Chang Hsun's residence to the legation quarter. Chang Hsun has artillery and republicans fear that in the event of their entering Peking, Chang Hsun will fire into the legations. Wang Tah Sieh, the new foreign minister, went to Peking to-day, apparently to negotiate with the foreign legations, regarding the situation. Republicans say that with their 60,000 troops in and around Peking they could promptly overcome Chang's Hsun's resistance were there no fear that he would savagely attack foreign property generally.

WILSON IS STUDYING FOOD BILL

Devotes Himself To Solve Trouble Blocking Senate's Legislation TO OBTAIN CONTROL Foodstuffs Only May Be First Approached In The Bill

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, July 13.—President Wilson is to-day seeking a way to straighten out the tangled legislative situation in the Senate that has held up food control legislation there. The President's conclusion on the subject will be reported to Senate leaders July 21 when a vote is to be taken on the food bill and upon him apparently rests to a great extent the form the legislation is to take.

Meantime the President is giving detailed study to the House food bill as amended and pending in the Senate and the greatly restricted substitute framed by Senator Gore as a compromise. There seemed to be a growing feeling at the capital today that legislation finally will be worked out in the Senate. The feeling was based upon conferences between the president and Senate leaders yesterday at which the latter outlined the legislative difficulties and asked his help in solving them. The president, it is said, was informed that the pending bill as amended to extend government control over iron, steel, copper, cotton and other products, in addition to food and fuel, would have to be changed if it is to be put through the Senate.

As a result the leaders were all agreed to-day that the revised bill will deal primarily with foodstuffs and fuels, steel, iron and other products stricken over. Aircraft Bill. Washington, July 13.—The administration bill providing for a great aircraft programme at an initial cost of $440,000,000 was ready to-day to be reported to the House, but its consideration there will not begin until tomorrow. The House military committee yesterday voted unanimously to report the measure favorably after Secretary of War Baker and others appeared to urge immediate action. Prospects are that the bill will pass the House by to-morrow night.

Army Officials Urged To Secure Guns Mounted On Automobiles

Guns May Also Be Mounted On Roofs of Tall Buildings

SPY TAKEN IN TOLEDO Baron Von Gersdorff Fugured In Lusitania Investigation

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, July 13.—A thousand machine guns, a majority of them to be mounted on small automobiles, may be added to the defenses of New York if recommendations contained in the reports on a recent test made to army officials are adopted. The plan calls for 750 small motor cars, each mounting a machine gun to be subject to call on short notice, the other 250 machine guns to be mounted on the roofs of tall buildings. Tenants and employees of the buildings would form the crews of the guns on their roofs, while the owners of the automobiles would be expected to volunteer their services as drivers and gunners.

Army officials, it was said, at first expressed doubt as to the accuracy of guns so mounted. A test of a machine gun mounted on an automobile made near here yesterday, is said to have proved the value of the plan.

Recruiting Campaign. New York, July 13.—A British submarine chaser to-day entered the campaign being carried on here for recruits for the British army by halting all craft carrying passengers passing the Battery. The speedy little chaser drew up alongside ferries and other craft and asked for volunteers among the passengers. The chaser formerly did patrol outside the three mile limit until the United States entered the war. Later the boat will visit towns on Long Island Sound and along the coast to make a special appeal where other forms of advertising have failed.

Intern Spy. Toledo, July 13.—Local federal agents here have received an order from Washington to intern Baron Enrich Rolf von Gersdorff, arrested here two days ago as a spy suspect. Von Gersdorff, who is also wanted in Quebec, was transferred to the county jail yesterday afternoon, and will be held there until further orders from the Department of Justice, the authorities said. It developed, according to federal agents that von Gersdorff was hailed to Washington during the Lusitania investigation and ordered to make affidavit to Ambassador von Bernstorff in support of a statement that the Lusitania was armed. It is said von Gersdorff made the trip, but declined to make the affidavit.

In the suspect's effects was found a receipt for payment of an advertisement in a local paper seeking a position as a waiter. He was stopping at one of the largest hotels when arrested.

The Trail of the Tontoon. Miami, Ariz. July 13.—Ten German subjects, at least two of whom are believed by the authorities to be army officers, have been located here and in nearby mining camps, it became known to-day. A loyalty league, similar to those of Globe and Bisbee, has been formed here and the organizers have expressed their intention of stopping Industrial Workers of the World street meetings, even if it becomes necessary to drive agitators out as was done at Bisbee. Heavy guards of United States soldiers have been placed around the powder magazines owned by mining companies in this district.

County Council Closes Session — Alterations In Roads Designated

THE DOINGS AT DOVER
 Anniversary of Battle of Boyne Was Commemorated Yesterday

(From our own correspondent) Simcoe, July 13.—The County Council concluded the labors of the session to-day and adjourned about five o'clock.

The following additions and alterations were made in the designated roads.

Road No. 2 was moved south one concession through in the west quarter of Townsend.

No. 7 was continued to the border of Houghton.

No. 3 was diverted to St. Williams, via Forestville, and Road 10 extended to meet 9.

No. 22 was continued east to the middle line of Walsingham. By the aid of the list in yesterday's Courier and the alterations noted anyone who has a map of the county can mark in practically all of these roads.

The system now calls for some 250 miles. Though the mileage has been allotted, practically according to assessment, there is no possible way to ascertain how the townships will stand as to the cost of construction of the mileage designed.

Port Rowan will apparently go ahead at once with the construction of a permanent roadway down Main Street.

Townsend, without a dollar of debt, will probably go ahead with some work under township system, along their own lines. The 9th of Charlotteville bids fair to be one of the first roads attacked. Its construction is of vital interest to Houghton, both Walsingham, Centre Charlotteville and Port Rowan.

As forecasted yesterday, Mr. Guy R. Marston was appointed superintendent at a salary of $1,500 for the year.

Mr. Marston will have in charge the general will not be pursued at once, there is considerable organization to be effected. The by-law appointing Mr. Marston was presented by Chairman Cunningham, of the Roads and Bridges Committee.

Mr. Marston accepted the responsibility in a very timely if brief address. He had been in the county some seven years, had done considerable work for the county and enjoyed it, more particularly because of the assistance given and the good cheer which attended all his business dealings with the council. He reminded the council that the work outlined great expenditures, and that there must of necessity be a proper start made on the work.

Warden Crisland, J. L. Beck, Theo. Cunningham and Guy R. Marston, C.E., were appointed a committee to go to Ottawa to interview the department of marine and fisheries and public works, regarding the de-lapidated swing bridge at Dover.

Inspector Edmunds at Hagersville. A negro who stopped off at Hagersville recently, with a couple of suit cases of booze attracted attention.

The magistrate got the booze and the colored gentleman gets his trial to-day. Ed. Lee, of Hagersville is said to have some sage advice to give those who attempt to evade the Inspector, or who consider him "dead easy." They go after booze down a Hagersville as we would expect Simcoonsians to hunt up "fire-bugs."

The County Council yesterday discussed the question of putting lightning rods on the buildings at the Industrial Home. No action was taken.

He Must Have a Grinch
 In a belated "write-up" of a last week's meeting of the town council, yesterday's Reformer alleges that the "Simcoe Correspondence of a Brantford paper presumed to have been written by a member of a certain town official was unsatisfactory."

to statement of the sort was made, or any other statement on the part of the correspondent, and the word "unsatisfactory" did not appear in the correspondence referred to. The correspondent reported only observations made at the council, with his thereof, as was perfectly within his rights. The sensational headline in the Reformer, regarding what the "Brantford paper" says was not published or written in its columns, editorially or otherwise. The Reformer, however, in an attempt to "get after" a member of the council has done a base injustice to the official in question, and by failure to designate the Brantford paper, has left the Reformer open to all the ill-effects of its circulation. If Mr. Donly cares to use his paper to knock Alderman Langford, it is his privilege. He might, however, be considerate enough to use all possible brevity, and make his thrusts direct enough so they may do no injury to the spectators of his sanctum. His awkwardness. Of course this is Mr. Donly's business. His headline and reference should be compared with the Brantford Courier of July 4th, page 2, foot of column three.

DOINGS AT DOVER
 (From our own Correspondent) Port Dover, July 13.—The Battle of the Boyne was commemorated here yesterday in loyal fashion. The Walpole or the County of Hants, we could get no definite information which, but that matters little. The "boys" turned out with their wives, sweethearts and families, well dressed, and with plenty of greenbacks and small change for the various attractions. The City of Dover made a little parade, and the various other attractions were well patronized. It was impossible to learn the exact date of the last Orange celebration in Dover. William Stamp said July 12, 1867, and he has lived in or about the burg over 60 years. He doubtless was plenty of good life and drum music, one aggregation having 13 pieces: Seneca, No. 29, W. A. Johnston, W.M.; Erie, No. 128, James Falls, W.M.; Testerville, No. 287, E. S. Birdsell, W.M.; Guyssboro, No. 556, William Andrews, W.M.; Garnet, No. 741, R. Catherwood, W.M.; Port Dover, No. 926, R. E. Matthews, W.M.; Waterford, No. 1382, Chas. Upgrove, W.M.; Simcoe, No. 1983, James Elliott, W.M.; Paris, No. 2, 007, Jas. S. Cunningham, W.M.; Kelvin, No. 2009, Albert Jull, W.M.; and took a route march along Main street, returning at 2.30. There was a parade of the boys in khaki uniforms, and the Orange order was interspersed with music from the Jarvis brass band. Rev. A. W. Hare, of Jarvis, was chairman. Rev. Bro. Whitelaw (Presbyterian) of Hagersville, was first called. He was introduced by an ex-County Master of Victoria. He observed that many lodges this year had va-canceled in the ranks, but there were not spare men to go to France. He said that he believes that there was some intention on behalf of Quebec to form a new confederation and that Ontario go, though an article to this effect had appeared recently in a French paper. He had those same in France, and thought it time some Quebec boys were going over to help them. He had known Sir Sam Hughes in Victoria as a man of big heart, who is never ashamed to wear his colors.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS OF NORFOLK

Lesson III.—Third Quarter, For July 15, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxx, 1-13. Memory Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text, Heb. xi, 6—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The story of Hezekiah, son of Ahas, who reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem and who did right in the sight of the Lord, working good and right and truth before the Lord his God and doing it with all his heart, so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah either before him or after him in the matter of trusting in the Lord God of Israel (II Chron. xxxii, 2; xxxiii, 20, 21; II Kings xviii, 5), occupies eleven chapters of Scripture (II Kings xviii-xxix). When we consider that these kings were spoken of as sitting on the throne of the Lord, to be kings for the Lord their God (I Chron. xix, 23; II Chron. ix, 8), we see more clearly the monstrous sin of Ahas and the great contrast in his son, whose name signifies the strength of Jehovah and of which he is well illustrated during the greater part of his life. Our lesson chapter tells of the great passover which he kept for all Israel from Dan to Beersheba, and this feast always points us in the same direction—to the night of the nation's birth, to Christ our passover crucified for us and the rebirth of the nation in the future when they shall be gathered from all nations and the passover shall be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

Let us look a little at the rest of his story before we take up the rest of the lesson. He began his good reign by opening the doors of the house of the Lord, which his wicked father had closed up, and by cleansing the temple of its filthiness, which occupied them sixteen days (xxix, 2-5, 17). He set the priests and Levites to work with the inspiring and encouraging words of xxix, 11, and, having restored the vessels which his father had cast away, he made atonement for all Israel and had the true worship restored with praises and gladness and rejoicing (xxix, 24, 30, 36). Then they kept the great passover, sending invitations throughout all Israel and Judah urging all to turn to the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel and yield themselves unto the Lord (xxx, 1-9).

Although some laughed the invitation to scorn and mocked, there were those of Asher—and Manasseh and Zabulon who humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem to keep the feast (xxx, 10-12). They found every one keeping the feast of unleavened bread spake to the heart of all the Levites and the priests praising the Lord day by day and teaching the good knowledge of the Lord, and Hezekiah spake to the heart of all the Levites that the whole assembly took counsel to keep the feast seven days more in which they did with gladness, and there was not so great joy in Jerusalem since the time of Solomon. The praise and prayer were heard in heaven, the habitation of His holiness (xxx, 21-27). The contrast between this and the sin and rebellion and rebellion of Ahas's reign helps us to understand just a little better the contrast between Israel's present unbelief and suffering and the time drawing ever nearer, when they shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away (Isa. xxxv, 10; II, 11).

After this great passover and time of rejoicing there followed a cleansing of the land as far as possible from idolatry and idols, and the brazen serpent which Moses had made in the wilderness and which Israel was now worshipping as an idol was destroyed (xxxii, 1; II Kings xviii, 4). Such a turning from idols to God to serve the Living and True God (I Thess. 1:9) was too much for the devil to take quietly, and so he stirred up Sennacherib and his hosts to go up against Jerusalem and with great blasphemy defy the Living God, the God of Israel. Hezekiah encouraged his prince and people with the words of chapter xxxii, 7, 8, saying, "With him is an arm of flesh, but with us is the Lord our God to help us and to fight our battles." Hezekiah, the king, and the prophet Isaiah prayed and cried to heaven as they spread the wicked letters before the Lord and asked the Living God so to work on behalf of His people and because of His name which had been so reproached, that all the kingdoms of the earth might know that He was the Lord God, and He only (xxxii, 20; II Kings xix, 14-19).

Note the same great desire on the part of Joshua and David (Josh. iv, 24; I Sam. xvii, 46, 47). That God may be glorified should be the one and constant aim of every believer (Phil. 1:20; I Pet. iv, 11). That night the prayer of the king and the prophet was answered by the Lord, and the Lord passing over the Assyrian host and taking off the earth 185,000 men Sennacherib returned to Nineveh and was slain by his own sons (II Kings xix, 35-37). The rest of Hezekiah's story is not so honoring to the Lord as the story of his time of death and was told by Isaiah that his time had come to die. But he prayed to the Lord with sorrow weeping, and the Lord added to his life fifteen years and gave him a wonderful sign on the sundial (Isa. xxxviii, 1-8). Some of his words on this occasion are very memorable.

One thousand city employees, mostly "white wings," went out on strike in Cincinnati for another 25c per day.

He congratulated the Orangemen on the good job they had made of the weather and prophesied hay making on the morrow. Dr. Jaques, of Jarvis, M.L.A. for Haldimand, likened all attempts of autocracy to a cancerous growth in the body politic, and remarked that it was essential that all such should be removed surgically, and a watch kept for any traces which escaped the knife or ultimately the disease would conquer. Through want of vigilance the death of Caesar was followed by the downfall of Rome. History repeated itself in the case of Bourbons and Napoleon in France, and in England with Charles I. and James II. with this difference, that a society to insure that the principle of liberty shall never be the head where the British flag flies was formed after the Battle of the Boyne, in 1690. That organization must be respected and a similar organization after the present struggle must do for the world what Orangemen has done for the British.

The chairman remarked at the outset that the principles of the Orangemen demanded the same rights and privileges for Catholics which Orangemen claim for themselves. The next speaker, Rev. N. J. Hagersville, a Baptist, confessed a pleasant surprise to find the Presbyterians coming over to Orangemen. He was quite in accord with the principles of the Church. He, himself, had started life with the handicap of being a member of a family opposed to the Order, but he got away from home and in the North Land found the Order's principles the same as his own. He was compelled to respond to the call, "Then why don't you get in line?" and he got there. "When men," he said, "claim their principles claim to, but they don't put on the colors, and I'm Scotch enough to say 'I have ma doots a-bout them.' Catholics and Protestants are fighting side by side in France, which is quite right. We must grapple with the slackers, of the boys will have that to do when they come home. He was glad the Federal House favored conscription and announced a lecture on Bilingualism at Jarvis on August 12th, at 7:30 p.m.

Brother F. R. Lawlor, M.P. for Haldimand, followed Mr. Whitelaw's argument, giving examples of tactics in the silent conquest, mentioning the attempt at Federal interference with a view to bringing the French language into Ontario, with which he said "the Northern part of our province would become as French as old Quebec."

The vote of representatives on all such questions should be watched carefully. Touching on conscription, he said the new act was a modification of the old Militia Act, revised by Laurier in 1904, and eliminating the method of selecting men by drawing lots, which the Reform Government had placed on the books. The new law would affect the farmer, very little, but it would likely empty the pool rooms. He gave figures to show that Catholics removed from Quebec influence enlisted more readily, and he credited Laurier with doing all he could to induce Quebec to recruit. He said he acknowledged the great benefits of Catholic institutions of a charitable nature in the land. He'd no animosity against Catholics, but he had against the bilingual government in Quebec. Concluding, he said "They will never get a step farther, and they've got too far already." He looked on Orangemen as loyal citizens, wherever he found them.

Rev. W. D. Mason of York elaborated the latter part of Mr. Lawlor's address. Going on record as having no quarrel with Catholics as brethren but with the French-Canadian system of holding the balance of power to secure special privileges. The last speaker was Rev. E. M. Carter of Hagersville. He was of the opinion that manhood demands liberty which comes through self-government, the struggle for which unceasingly truth and results in union of aim and effort, the essential for any democracy. Orangemen stands for these principles, must not be judged from externals, is bigger than those outside dream, than partnership, sectarianism or even nationalism. It stands for brotherhood and is the bulwark of religion liberty.

Orange Lilies. Jarvis Brass Band played at intervals during the programme. Guyborough life and drum band, some thirteen strong dried honors with Paris, weaker in numbers, in the informal programme just after dinner. Nicholas Stillwell of the Guyborough musicians had twice seven Paris seven players. Andy McBride was the Piper from Paris. J. A. Bannister, B.A., principal of Chesley High School was down for the day and shook hands with many friends.

The True Blues of Paris made a good showing. Hagersville had the largest turnout. Rev. J. S. Ross, D.D., of Norwich, and Rev. J. E. Peter, of Brantford, both visiting in Dover, were out to hear the addresses. Arthur West of Simcoe rather slighted Dover by neglecting to bring the great Dane alone. Dover business men had a busy day and the public houses all the could manage. Simcoe had over five hundred down for the day. Aquilla Birdsell was on the alto section of the Brass Band. There was no life and drum work on the side during the speaking not a single note. It was remarkable. One More Stage in Drawn Out Suit. The case of Lees vs. Morgan was heard in the court of appeal recently. The appellant moved for the reversing of the decision of Justice Lennox, of the High Court of Ontario. The case was argued before a bunch of five judges and the appellant won out in that he had held the estate for over seven years or otherwise had advantage of the statute of limitations. The case will likely be appealed to the Supreme court.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS HIGH HONOR FOR A LOR. Major F. W. Macdonald, V.C., D.S.O., of the 10th Battalion, Ontario Eastern Ontario Battalion, the official Secretary of the Canadian Soldiers' Aid Society, was enabled to attend the meeting. Major Macdonald won the Victoria Cross for his gallantry in the action at Ypres, Belgium, in 1915. He was wounded in the action and was held prisoner of war for several months. He was released in 1916 and returned to Canada. He is now a member of the Canadian Legion in Brantford.

A GOOD PASS LIST.
Seventy-four per cent. of those pupils who tried their entrance examinations in Brantford schools were successful this year. This is an exceptionally good showing, and reflects the greatest credit on the teaching staff of the city. The average marks were high, and no less than seventeen pupils obtained honors, with a percentage of 75 per cent. or higher. In the county, the results are similarly gratifying, the percentage of those who passed being well over 60, while it is pointed out by Inspector Standing that a large number of the best pupils, who would have raised the average higher, have been upon farm work since Easter, being granted their examination then.

MR. COCKSHUTT'S ATTITUDE
The attitude of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., in regard to the nationalization of railroads, has been stated by him in a letter to the city clerk acknowledging the receipt of a copy of a resolution recently passed by the city council, and signed by their railway committee advocating the nationalization movement. The letter in part, reads: "I am fully in sympathy with the suggestions contained in your resolution, the only difficulty may be with regard to the nationalization of railroads, as the nationalization of railroads is a very large undertaking at any time, but in a crisis such as this world-wide war, it becomes very difficult to finance any great project. I am, however, heartily in sympathy with the idea of railway nationalization, and trust sincerely that if it is not accomplished this year, it may be in the near future. When the matter comes up, I will give your representations the most serious consideration."

LEAVES CITY.
A telegram was received this morning by Lieut. Gregory who has been instructed to report at Camp Bowden. It is thought that another draft is to be sent overseas, and that Lieut. Gregory will accompany them. He will leave to-morrow for St. Catharines. Corp. Blanchett, formerly a member of the local police force who has been assisting Lieut. Gregory, leaves to-night for Fergus on last leave, and will also report at Camp Bowden on Wednesday of next week. Since he commenced the search for eligible some few weeks ago, Lieut. Gregory has rounded up thirty-seven men, who all underwent the necessary medical examination. Twenty-two were accepted and the remainder rejected. Some of the men who signed up here under his eloquent persuasion are already overseas, such is the efficiency with which this branch of the service is operated.

POLICE COURT
The Magistrate was placed in a predicament this morning when called upon to arrange for this disposal of a charge against George Jellie, an Austrian, who appeared earlier in the week charged with being insane and dangerous. On the former occasion he was remanded for an examination by two doctors who were to report on the condition of his mind. One medico judged the unfortunate man to be insane, while the other thought he was quite rational. The prisoner was in a lamentable condition when brought to the court room this morning. His both eyes were black and blue and swollen. And he also declared that his back had been hurt. The injuries, he claims, had been inflicted on him by the jail officials, who have been looking after him since he last appeared in court. His wife was telephoned and asked to come to the police station and take charge of her husband, but she was reluctant to do so, and the prisoner will spend the time between now and Tuesday in the cells until someone can be found to assume charge of him. As the verdict of the doctors was contradictory, he cannot be committed to the asylum for the insane.

While temporarily in the cells at the police station before his removal to the county jail, his cries and moans could be plainly heard on the street, showing that his mental condition is not sound. Joseph Erdell, accused of breach of parole, was discharged. Andrew George, an Armenian, to whom an automobile license had been granted, but who is ignorant of traffic by-laws, was fined $1 and costs of $5.85 for passing a stationary street car that was taking on passengers.

HOTEL ASSESSMENT
Acting on behalf of Miss Elizabeth King, Mr. A. E. Watts recently wrote the city council, registering a complaint against the assessment of the property on Market Street, near the Grand Trunk station, known as the "King's Hotel." The taxes for this year are $385.61. The owner, Miss King claims that the assessment has not been reduced since prohibition went into effect and the building was vacant. City Assessor A. G. Ludlow has written the City Clerk explaining that the assessment was lowered $300.00 when the Ontario Temperance Act prevented the selling of liquor and states the assessment should be adhered to as on a comparative basis it is only sixty per cent. of the value of the land adjacent that was sold recently Company and the Kitchen Overall Company.

ATTACK MADE ON ORANGEMEN

One Man Wounded By Bullet, Several Stoned, In Hamilton

Hamilton, July 13.—As the Hamilton Orangemen were returning from Toronto last evening they were attacked by a crowd that had gathered under the protection of the fences along the north end of James street. The brethren had left the steamer Turbins at the wharf at the foot of James street, and had formed into procession and led by the East Hamilton Conservative band, were parading along the street to the Orange hall, when they were pelted with stones and bricks, their assailants being well protected by fences. A number of the bandmen were struck as was also County Master J. A. MacFarlane, but none of them seriously. A revolver was also fired, the bullet striking bandman Charles Howard, 174 Bellview Ave., in the temple. Bandmen Cook and Inch administered first aid and the police ambulance was summoned in which he was removed to the General Hospital. Immediately upon arrival at the institution an examination was made of the wound, which showed that the bullet had just grazed the temple and that the injury was not serious. He was therefore allowed to go to his home. The police were soon on the scene and were able to prevent further disorder. No arrests had, however, been made up to a late hour last night. The Orangemen kept their lines and continued the parade to the hall, where they were formally dismissed.

Trouble With I. W. W. in Arizona

Trouble Take One Douglas, Ariz., July 13.—Citizens of Douglas to-day were prepared for a return of the 1,197 members of the Industrial Workers of the World and their sympathizers who were deported yesterday from Bisbee. Reports of the special train of freight and passenger cars which carried the men from Bisbee had been sidetracked at Hermans, 20 miles west of Columbus, N.M., after the local officers at the latter place had refused to permit the guards who accompanied the train to unload their prisoners here. In a statement to an evening paper to-day Manager Fleming said the company would accept the award of the conciliation board. The men will not bind themselves. A message received by Chief of Police East from Sheriff Wheeler, who accompanied the train, said that the deported men were threatening to return to Douglas on the first passenger train and it was feared that day. Chief East issued a call for 200 special policemen to report for duty, fully armed, to handle the ex-servants. Advices from other sources said it was considered probable that the deported men would stop a westbound train and compel the crew to carry them back to Bisbee.

Hermans, a junction point on the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad, consists of many of three houses inhabited by Mexicans, the station and a water tank.

Whether the deported men had been fed since they left Douglas was not known here. Reports from Columbus said many of them were in a surly mood when the train arrived there and refused to talk, but a few appeared cheerful and announced they were taking "a joy ride as the guests of the copper companies."

When the train arrived at Columbus, the detaining post, originally set by the guards, it was met by the deputy marshal and a number of policemen who refused to permit either the guards or the deported men to leave the train. Superintendent King of the El Paso and Southwestern, who accompanied the train, was arrested on a charge of carrying passengers in interstate commerce without collecting fares, but was released when an agreement was reached that the train would be taken back as far as Hermans.

What action Governor Campbell intended to take with regard to the deportations was unknown, although he telegraphed to President Wilson last night that federal troops were needed in all the strike zones to prevent further attempts to drive the strikers to the U. W. out of the state. The governor previously had notified the sheriff at Kingman, where a number of Industrial Workers of the World had been held, that they were not to be molested as long as they were peaceful.

BRAZIL TO AID PATROL

By Courier Leased Wire. Santos, Brazil, July 13.—An agreement has been reached under which the Brazilian fleet will assume the responsibility for patrolling the entire Brazilian coast line, from the Atlantic border to the southern boundary of Brazil. Foreign Minister Pechanha conferred with the marine minister to-day in regard to putting this program into immediate effect.

Toronto Cars are Running

By Courier Leased Wire. Toronto, July 13.—The Toronto street cars are running again. The plan was that the men would assemble at the car barns at twelve o'clock being up late at last night's meeting, and the cars would be at all parts of the city by one o'clock. The performance was a little better than that, however, as the first cars on the Queen's street route arrived at the city hall 11:50 and by 12:15 cars on all the principal routes had appeared in the centre of the city. The striking employees are back to work for the railway company, not for the Ontario railway board as was suggested yesterday night by the case, and further demands of the men will be considered by a conciliation board under the federal industrial disputes act (the Lemieux Act).

PARLIAMENTARY REGIME

Basel, Switzerland, July 13.—The official Bayrische Staats Zeitung of Munich, protests against the efforts being made to introduce a parliamentary regime in Germany, alluding to the plan as a "measure which would endanger the very existence of the empire." "It must be fought with the utmost energy," continues the newspaper. "On the other hand, measures in conformity with the federal character of the empire and capable of assuring closer collaboration between the imperial authorities and the representatives of the people, cannot but be received with satisfaction as likely to promote the interests of the country." The newspaper in this connection recalls the saying of Bismarck that the adoption of a parliamentary regime will be the first step towards the dissolution of the empire.

AMERICAN SHIP SUNK

Washington, July 13.—Official dispatches to-day announced the sinkings by submarines of the American barque Hildegaard, of New Orleans, on July 10 and of the American schooner Mary W. Bowen of Fall River, on June 8. All members of both crews were rescued and landed. The Hildegaard was a vessel of 595 tons and the schooner, a five-masted, of 1,907 tons.

MYSTERIOUS FACTORY IN PITTSBURGH

Workmen To Be Shut Off From The World For Ten Months

VEILED IN SECRECY

Plant To Undertake Manufacture of Implements Of War

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, July 13.—A special to the World from Pittsburgh says: The Westinghouse interests here are seeking 1,000 men who are willing to sign an agreement to enter a new plant for the manufacture of war munitions by a secret process and remain imprisoned for ten months, all communication with the outside world to be shut off. Men who have been approached, were told that the plant will manufacture a powerful implement of war and the secret must be guarded until the government sees fit to make the details public. Only those workmen and officials who will be engaged in the production of the new weapon will know its character, and the details of manufacture.

"Recreation and entertainment of every possible sort will be furnished the isolated employees, pay double that they now get is guaranteed, and bonus will be paid for high production. Only picked men whose Americanism is unquestioned, and whose skill in their respective vocations is of the highest will be employed.

Officials of the Westinghouse interests to-day refused to talk. An artisan of high standing who was approached by the Westinghouse agents, said he had received an intimation that the new plant would turn out, in large quantities, one of the late inventions of Thomas A. Edison.

LADIES' WAIST

By Anabel Worthington. The collar alone would be enough to make this waist distinctive, but it also has the new square neck as another good feature. The waist is made in the most popular style for this type of semi-silhouetted shirtwaist, with the fronts gathered to the back, which extends over in shawl yoke effect. The sleeves are set in without fulness, and the long sleeves are chosen they are finished with a deep cuff of the same material as the waist, with a narrow, turned back cuff of the material to match the collar. The short sleeves are finished with a deep cuff. The flat collar is square at the back. The waist pattern, No. 8356, is cut in sizes 36 to 44 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size requires 1 1/2 yards of 36 inch material, with 3/4 yard of 30 inch contrasting goods. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

$25.00 FOR $21.50 BUY WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Help Canada Maintain Her Financial Freedom! Do Your Share towards Financing the War with Canadian Savings Rather than with Outside Capital. THE problem of meeting the enormous cost of this war is twofold. Not only must Canada get the money—most of it, of course, as loans—but she must get as much of it as possible here in Canada. We can carry the war-debt if the bulk of the interest goes to Canadians, and so is used again in the country's development. But it will be a serious matter for us if a large proportion of the interest has to be sent outside the Dominion. For the sake of our own and our children's future this drain on our resources must be avoided! Canada's financial freedom can and must be maintained! An average saving of 15 cents a day, invested by each man, woman and child in Canada in War Savings Certificates, would enable us to carry the whole cost of the war. To approach this average, hard work, thrift, self-denial and sacrifice are required of every citizen. For each $21.50 you lend the Government now, you will receive $25.00 in three years—or you can get your money back at any time. Certificates are issued in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, and may be purchased at any Bank or Money Order Post Office. 22 The National Service Board of Canada, OTTAWA.

WILHELM AS DICTATOR

(From a Chicago Paper) Through Prussia Wilhelm II. rules the German Empire, but how does he rule Prussia? As a limited monarch? To a large extent—on paper. A written constitution gives Prussia universal suffrage. It gives Prussia a prime minister. But when we obtain, so to speak, a close-up of Prussia's parliament, the prime minister's status in Prussia, we get a strange enough picture of Wilhelm as Governor of his home state.

Though all Prussians above 25 years of age can vote, they vote indirectly and in three classes, graded according to wealth. A little group of rich voters can thus outweigh a multitude of poor voters. As radicals are found mainly among the poor, this is worth noting. In the Prussian parliament only members of the lower house are elected. They rarely propose new laws. If they do the upper house can defeat them. When ever a proposed law is in the least objectionable to Wilhelm it is sure of defeat in the upper house. Why?

Because the upper house consists partly of hereditary members (Hohenzollern princes, princes and counts of districts annexed during the growth of Prussia and heads of the territorial nobility) and partly of members appointed by Wilhelm. Meanwhile Wilhelm appoints the prime minister, who serves also as Chancellor of the empire. He is responsible to Wilhelm alone. And Wilhelm appoints all the other ministers. They have access to both chambers. When they do they enjoy special privileges. Nor has either house the means of compelling a minister to resign. Parliament cannot even influence the choice of a minister. Wilhelm attends to all that and plenty more besides. He is head of the army and declares war or peace. He is head of the church; when he enters a pulpit, as he occasionally does, it is his right. He summons and dissolves parliament, brings pressure upon it when he chooses, and his veto is absolute. He controls foreign policy. He confirms orders and titles of nobility and appoints the mayor of Berlin.

CHAMBERLAIN QUILTS POST IN INDIAN OFFICE

Resigns Secretary of State Following Mesopotamian Report

DEFENDS COMRADES And Vindicates Part Which He Played In Events

London, July 12.—The Times parliamentary correspondent writes: "There was an intensely dramatic climax to the Mesopotamia debate in the House of Commons last night. Austin Chamberlain announced his resignation of the office of Secretary of State for India, and made the speech of his life in vindication of the part he played in the events on which the commissioners pronounced judgment. At the same time he warmly defended several of his colleagues both in India and at home, whose conduct was criticized in the report of the commission. Mr. Chamberlain's announcement of his resignation took the House by surprise. Mr. Balfour, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, announced in the House of Commons that Lord Hardinge had thrice offered to resign, the first time on the issue of the commission's report and the last time as late as yesterday. In each case the Foreign Secretary declined to accept his resignation.

Nothing is known as to whether other resignations are pending, but it is considered quite possible that further developments may occur on the return of the King to the capital. It is understood that Premier Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain's colleagues have done their best to persuade him to withdraw his resignation, but without avail. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. Chamberlain, who is regarded as the victim of the Help to Save Canada's Fruit Crop A Practical Thrift Suggestion. This year, as never before, every quart of Canada's fruit crop should be used to the very best advantage. Though it all ripens within four months, it can be made to supply every table, every day in the year, at moderate cost. Canning and preserving, done at home at the time when each fruit is cheapest, provide in delicious and economical form the daily fruit so necessary in a wholesome diet. Fruit put up at home is much cheaper than that which you buy, and the slight increase in its cost, due to the higher price of sugar, is small compared with the mounting cost of other foods. Successful preserving and canning are by no means difficult, either, if you are careful to boil everything, and use Redpath SUGAR. Buy it, according to the quantity you need, in 2 or 5 lb. Cartons, or in 10, 20, 50 or 100 lb. Bags. "Let Redpath Sweeten It" CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO., LIMITED, MONTREAL.

SEE THAT YOU HELP

"Canadians, help sorely stricken France." England appeals throughout her Empire for aid for the suffering, though undaunted nation ravaged by three years of incessant war. France has sent one out of every six of her population to the firing line, of whom 2,000,000 will never return. Physical standards have been abolished; if a man can handle a rifle, his place is in the trenches. Men with one eye are being sent back to fill the depleted ranks, and cripples hobble to the trenches. The British army on the firing line is throwing itself into the breach, in an endeavor to support its stricken comrade. Men of the Motherland are giving their lives, women of England are aiding the needs of those at home. Canadians what will you do? Give generously of your abundance—help save the starving children and shorten the suffering of the wounded and convalescents, who lack essential food. Give generously—and increase your "talent" an hundred fold. The cause of France is our cause.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Howard Allison, a student at the Ohio State University wants to serve his country in France, but can't simply because his heart is under his right arm instead of being in his left breast. It has never bothered him. While Harry Palmer was away a friend occupied his room in a Peter-son Hotel and died. His body was shipped by the landlord to Palmer's home, but Palmer turned up in time to prevent himself being buried by proxy. Mrs. A. Emma was quicker on the draw than her husband, so Emma is dead to-day and Mrs. Emma is in jail. They met on a Chicago street, the first time since they separated a year ago. He reached for his hip-pocket, but her gun was hand-

Organization of Resources Committee We must get 500 Volunteer Harvest Helpers this week

Three months ago—when famine and world hunger became a possibility we said to Ontario farmers YOU MUST PRODUCE MORE FOOD. The farmers have produced more food—and now call upon town and city men to help them to harvest it. Five hundred men are wanted now. More men will be needed later. But we must have five hundred men at once for from two to six weeks or for the balance of the season. Good wages paid. Consequently we urge employers to release men temporarily for this work, and keep their jobs open for them. And we call upon all men, who can, to help gather the harvest. The food crops must be taken off the ground. You need them as much as our own soldiers and Allies in Europe. Many men will volunteer to do it instead of taking a vacation this year—will you? If so, offer yourself now. Register in person or by mail at the Local Bureau—they will give you all particulars.

FOOD ECONOMY SUCCESSFUL IN GREAT BRITAIN

Tribute Paid To National War Savings Committee By Premier

BREAD CONSUMPTION

Shows Reduction of From 20 to 35 Per Cent. In England

By Courier Leased Wire
London, July 13, via Reuter's Ottawa agency.—Premier Lloyd George has written to the chairman of the National war savings committee, thanking him for the committee's efforts, and paying tribute to its success in effecting national food economy. Mr. Lloyd George adds that he has every hope that the people of Great Britain will be able to claim that they accomplished their own free will that which the people of other countries could only achieve by compulsion.

What the committee has done may be illustrated by the figures relating to the reduction in the consumption of bread. Thus in the Paddington district of London the consumption of bread dropped by 25 to 30 per cent. in two months. In Willesden bread sales for the week ending the 12th of May, amounted to 481,839 pounds, wherein in the week ending June 2, they amounted to 380,404 pounds. Brighton is eating 20 per cent less bread, and Reading 25 per cent less.

Portsmouth reports that 180,540 pounds less of bread were sold during the last week of May as compared with the last week of April and a further reduction of 78,840 lbs. was achieved in June. Cherttenham's consumption was between 20 and 30 below the average for March. Chichester, Bridgewater, Westbury and many other places in the provinces show reductions varying from 20 to 35 per cent.

These are only some of the figures chosen at random from reports made by the committee, but they show the thoroughness of the work it has done.

BROTHER OF MINISTER

By Courier Leased Wire
Montreal, July 13.—Felix Seguin, reported fatally injured in an automobile accident near Buffalo, is a brother of the Federal Minister for Inland Revenue. He owns a garage here and had sold an automobile to Andrew Landry, who died from the injury he received when the car turned turtle while on the way back to Montreal from Detroit.

A RUSSIAN PRISON

Petrograd's Bastille, the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, into which some of the Russian reactionaries have now been introduced as prisoners, is a huge mass of stone on the bank of the Neva opposite the Winter Palace. It is a place of sinister memories.

Within its walls Peter the Great tortured his son Alexis to death. The Princess Tarakanova, immured in a cell which was flooded during an inundation, found rats climbing on her to save themselves from drowning. It was in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul that Catherine II buried alive the unhappy people who ventured to object to the murder of her husband.

Torture of a more refined nature has been employed upon its prisoners in recent years. Prince Kropotkin tells how the revolutionary Karakozoff was kept awake for a week at a time, guards sitting on either side of him to stir him up when he showed signs of falling asleep. The unhappy man at last acquired the art of swinging his leg while he slept, so as to delude his guards that he was awake, but they detected the trick. As a result of his treatment Karakozoff, when he was at last led out for execution, was in such a state of collapse that it seemed as though his body did not contain a bone unbroken, and the rumor ran that his jailers had killed him in his cell and brought out an india-rubber doll for the scaffold.

Kropotkin himself spent some unhappy years in the fortress in the seventies. The floor and five-foot thick walls were alike covered with felt, so that the silence became unbearable. Kropotkin, however, had a happier lot than some, for he was permitted, at the request of the Geographical Society of Russia, to continue his work on the glacial period. Pens and ink were provided for his use by special permission of the Czar, but they could only be used up to the hour of sunset, which in a Russian winter is 3 o'clock.

MILITARY HONORS FOR DEAD SOLDIER

Great War Veterans Assisted at Funeral of Corp. Curran Hunt

The military funeral of the late Corp. M. S. Curran Hunt took place yesterday afternoon from Grace church. The casket, which was draped with the Union Jack, was placed on a gun-carriage and drawn to Greenwood cemetery by members of the Great War Veterans' Association. On top of the casket lay the dead soldier's cap, belt and spurs. The pall bearers and firing squad also consisted of Veterans, and many of their number, along with other friends of the deceased, followed the remains to the cemetery.

The Rector of Grace Church, the Rev. J. B. Fotheringham, conducted the ever beautiful and impressive services of the Church of England for the burial of the dead, both at the church and grave, when all that was mortal of Curran Hunt was laid to rest in the family plot. The firing of the three rounds over the dead soldier's grave, followed by the sounding of "The Last Post," concluded a very solemn ceremony. A large number of floral tributes were received from many sorrowing friends.

TANLAC, THE GREAT AMERICAN SUCCESS COMES TO CANADA

Tanlac, the Celebrated Medicine Which Has Been Accomplishing Remarkable Results Throughout the United States, to Be Sold in Canada—Sales Record of Over Seven Million Bottles in Two Years Phenomenal and Unprecedented.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which is having a remarkable sale in the United States, will now be sold in Brantford and throughout Canada. The amazing success achieved by this medicine in only two years' time is not only phenomenal, but unprecedented.

The discovery of Tanlac, the beginning of its manufacture, the establishment of the large and modern laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, occupying more than 60,000 square feet of floor space, read more like fiction than facts from latter day commercial history.

Seven Million Bottles Sold in 2 Years

Although placed on the market but little more than two years ago, over seven and one-half million bottles have been sold, and its sales record has probably never been equalled in the history of the drug trade in America.

From coast to coast and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, Tanlac is known and honored. Millions have taken it and have pronounced it the greatest medicine of all time. No matter where you go throughout the United States, and whether east, west, north or south, Tanlac is a household word, and is unquestionably the most widely talked-of medicine in that country.

Briefly, this is the record of the truly marvellous medicine, which will now be placed within the reach of everyone. In only a few weeks' time it will be placed on sale in practically every large city, town, village and hamlet throughout the Dominion of Canada.

To use the words of L. T. Cooper, noted health expert and millionaire manufacturer of Tanlac, there is only one explanation of the nationwide popularity and record-breaking demand and that is very simple. The inherent purity and wholesomeness of the medicine has confirmed it in the minds of the people, and made it a household word. Tanlac undoubtedly has merit and extraordinary power as a medicine. That, and that alone, is the secret of the marvellous expansion of the Tanlac business.

Mr. Cooper's unique theories on health and right living have attracted attention all over the country, and have been the cause of considerable scientific discussion. It is conceded by all well-informed persons that he is a man of extraordinary ability and wonderful insight into the fundamental principles of physical hygiene. This new preparation, which promises to mark a new era in medical science, was perfected only after years of study and experimenting in the Cooper laboratories.

Facts About Tanlac

Seven Million Bottles sold in two years. At present rate of sales grand total will reach 9,000,000 bottles by end of present year.

Large and modern laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, occupy 60,000 square feet of floor space.

Capacity of plant recently doubled to take care of rapidly-increasing business. Present capacity 30,000 bottles daily.

Branch plant to be established in Canada to have capacity of 8,000 bottles daily.

Demand for preparation has broken all world's records for same length of time.

Publicly endorsed through the daily press by men of prominence throughout the United States, including Supreme Court Judges, Mayors of leading cities, lawyers, doctors, bankers, State and Government officials, prominent educators and well-known ministers of the Gospel.

Now sold from coast to coast and from Gulf to Great Lakes, throughout America.

Tanlac is purely vegetable, and is composed of the most beneficial roots and herbs known to science. Formula complies with all National and State pure food and health laws of United States and Canada.

The manufacturers have complied with every Government regulation of the Dominion and the province of Ontario affecting the sale of proprietary medicines.

LEAFS UMP TO SECOND PLACE

Took Brace From Birds Yesterday, and Moved Upward

Toronto, July 13.—There are four clubs that think the Leafs are forgetting their sense of proportion in these war times, in fact, this quartette of critics are almost prepared to insinuate that they are greedy. Just because the locals are taking things in chunks these days Newark, Baltimore, Providence and Rochester are casting approving eyes at Toronto's upward move and Baltimore after dropping the first two of the series yesterday feel that the Leafs need a little censoring. But the Toronto fans think that the locals are being nicely and encouraging them to take more, remembering the rather poor start in the beginning of the season and also remembering that the Leafs expect to be league leaders before the month is out. The first game of yesterday's double-header went to the Leafs by 2 to 0 and the Birds failed to lift the second by 6 to 2. The Leafs should worry about being greedy.

The Orioles were never meant to win yesterday's bill for their chances were almost thrown away even when they made them. Time after time the Leafs snatched victory from them in the first game and then went out and won themselves. For instance, in the opening game Toronto waited six innings before they began to slug the ball. During that time the Birds should have garnered enough runs to put the game on ice, but they didn't. They never seemed to be able to squeeze them past Hearne's watchful eye. They lost the game by two runs and just to show that the Leafs could win any old way at all, in the second game Toronto spotted the visitors two runs in the second inning. This lead should have evened matters up considering the verdict of the first battle but the Leafs simply ate up the ante in the same inning by corraling three tallies and taking the lead from them.

Mullen's Irish Tenor.
 The Irish predominated both battles as indeed they should on the Twelfth of July. For was not McCaffery and company presented with two splendid victories and Manager Dunn, of the Birds, fought as only an Irishman can to save the day. Then just to add the right touch to the whole setting the crowd were entertained by Mr. Mullen, his clear, soulful Irish tenor, accompanied by Mr. O'Brien the other member of the duet, who proved to be a fine basso. However, the crowd enjoyed Mr. Mullen's solos best, and especially his right-handed interpretations of the score. In the aftermath of the glorious Twelfth the Leafs for the first time this season find themselves the proud possessors of second place. Providence did not play and by the time Toronto gets through with Baltimore first place may be theirs also.

Bunny Hearne won the first game because he could tighten up when the Birds looked dangerous and his ability to control the batting of the visitors was the titbit of the day. Thornton opposed him, but he was not nearly as steady as the Toronto twirler. The Birds opened the first inning with much determination but a double play killed their chances for that session and it was not until the last of the fourth that the Leafs looked due to break into a run column. Whitman was walked. Lajoie advanced him to second with a single but Whitman was caught off the bag by McAvoy's snaphrow. Schultz was batting with instructions to bunt but failed to do so. He doubled a moment later, sending Larry to third. There was only one down and Graham was looked to bring in the runner but he swung like the farm gate and there were two down. Blackburner put a scratch one down in front of the plate and McAvoy threw him out at first.

LEADERS LOSE.
 Buffalo, July 12.—Buffalo again defeated Newark, 5 to 4 to-day. Loose fielding by the league leaders was responsible for their defeat. Scores: R. H. E. Newark 0 1 1 0 0 2 0 0 0—4 9 6 Buffalo 0 1 0 0 0 4 0 0 x—5 6 6 Batteries—Justin, Engel, and Oslow; Smallwood, Enzmann and Blackwell.

The first concrete evidence of the success of the American housewives' campaign against waste has been found in reports from Cleveland and Buffalo showing that in the past sixty days the amount of fats obtained from garbage at the city reduction plants has decreased forty per cent.

CANAL ACROSS SCOTLAND

Is a Project Which Is Now Advocated Would Connect the North Sea With the Atlantic

Glasgow, (Associated Press Correspondence)—Plans for cutting a ship canal across Scotland, connecting the North Sea and the Atlantic by a voyage of only sixty-old miles, are advocated owing to the war and the growing importance of the British naval base at Rosyth. Naval men expect that work on such a canal will be begun as soon as the war is over, and that the work can be completed within three years. The value of a canal by which the largest warships could pass at will between the North Sea and the Atlantic needs no demonstration. The commercial possibilities of such a canal are also large, for it would effect an astonishing reduction in distance between certain important ports, as well as avoid the dangerous passage north of Scotland and the congested English Channel route on the south.

The canal would reduce the distance from Glasgow to Leith by 435 miles, from Glasgow to London by 253 miles, and from Glasgow to Hamburg by 312 miles. The saving between Liverpool and Leith would be 400 miles, between Leith and Belfast 377 miles, between Liverpool and the Elbe 283 miles, between Glasgow and Antwerp 290 miles. Two rival routes for the canal are being discussed. One would follow an existing barge canal, involving the deepening of the upper Clyde, the crossing of a plateau with the indifferent water supply, and the construction of six locks on each side. Advocates of this route point to the advantages of the canal so passing through Glasgow, opponents point out the tidal difficulties of the upper Clyde and say that the river is already badly congested.

The alternative route would start from Alloa on the Forth and make directly for Loch Lomond across land which is never more than fifty feet above sea level. As the lake itself is 22 feet above the Atlantic, only one lock would be necessary at each end of the canal. There would, however, be a deep cutting of eight miles, nearly two miles of which would be comparable in magnitude to the Culebra cut on the Panama Canal.

Loch Lomond would afford a magnificent inland naval harbor, safe from attacks from the sea, and ships, as on the Gatun Lake at Panama, could steam across it at high speed. Here is the disadvantage however, that the Loch is subject to fogs which might prove somewhat hampering. The Loch would at any rate provide an inexhaustible water supply for the summit level. The canal on this route would enter the Atlantic by way of Loch Long, leaving Glasgow just around a corner.

The Loch Lomond route is the one generally favored by naval men while, for commercial purposes that through Glasgow is regarded as just as good and probably much cheaper to construct.

 Games, 1,620; at bat, 6,088; runs, 1,187; hits, 2,252; doubles, 354; triples, 177; home runs, 60; total bases, 3,137; hitless games, 336; steals, 674; average, .376.
 Cobb got four hits in one game 40 times, once in the world series off Pfeister of Chicago, and five hits four times in American League games during the twelve years he has been with Detroit.

EVERS NOW WITH MORAN'S PHILLIES.
 Philadelphia, July 13.—The Phillies yesterday took over Johnny Evers' contract from the Boston Braves. The action was taken following a conference this afternoon between Manager Pat Moran, of the local National League club and the veteran player himself. Evers, who had been ill almost throughout the season, is feeling well again and says he was strong enough to get back into the game right away. He will take Bert Niehoff's place at second base.

Evers' contract is for $10,000 a season and expires at the end of this season.

Sporting Comment

When the Giants were in Dallas this spring a member of the party was approached by a bellboy in the hotel at which the team stopped who wanted to know if McGraw's men were going to win on that particular day.

"These other bellhops," he imparted confidentially, "are willing to bet against the Giants, and if you-all are going to win I can make a clean-up."

This incident recalls a story told by Charley Herzog of something which occurred on opening day in Cincinnati last year. Opening day is the biggest day of the year in Cincinnati, principally because on that day, at least, the Reds are in the running, and on the day they opened the campaign last year Redland Field was jammed. Shortly before game time, when Herzog was indulging in infield practice, he was informed by the bat boy that some one wished to see him at the bench. Believing that perhaps it was a friend unable to get a seat who desired to see him, Charley hastened to the spot, and found a middle-aged gentleman of undoubted Teutonic extraction awaiting him.

"Are you Mr. Herzog, the manager?" he asked, and upon receiving an affirmative reply from Charley he continued: "Listen: what I want to know is, are you going to win to-day? I've got $100 here, and if you're going to win tell me, and I'll bet it on you."

"Why, it's impossible to tell who will win," was Herzog's answer. "If I could tell you beforehand I'd bet $5000 on it myself."

"Are you Mr. Herzog, the manager?" repeated the stranger.

"Yes," replied Herzog.

"Well, then," was the retort, "if you're the manager, and you don't know who's going to win, all I can say for you is that you're a bum manager."

"They never come back" is a phrase that applies only with reverence English to the performances of George Gibson and Honus Wagner, two surviving members of one of the National League's most famous pen-pant winners. Both, after having been voted out of the game, are back there, and are back with such a vengeance that they have routed youngsters out of the line-up.

Gibson's come-back was delayed somewhat more than Wagner's. Hans was playing regularly for the Pirates while Gibson was still doing bench duty for the Giants. The need of a catcher to help Bill Rariden, and the unwillingness of McGraw to use Ernie Kreager, a youngster, in the important games the Giants were then playing, brought Gibson back to the box seats.

Gibson was turned out of the Pirates' fold almost a year ago by Jimmy Callahan. Under the rules of baseball he was entitled to an unconditional release, but McGraw refused to waive and Gibson was sent to New York. For a time he refused to report, but differences were patched up last spring.

Gibson is 37 years old now—an old man as baseball players are rated. He began playing baseball in London, Ont., some years ago with an amateur team of that city. Then Gibson got into the old Eastern League, now the International League, and did service with Buffalo. He played only twelve games and amassed a batting average of .287. He was dropped by Buffalo, however, and Montreal took him on. He took part in 80 games in 1904 and batted .204. Two years was his limit in Montreal and then he was purchased by Pittsburg, where he played until last summer.

Gibson was a regular almost to the last day of his engagement with the Pirates. One year he caught 150 games, and that was the Pirates' big year of 1909, when they defeated Detroit in the world series.

The records for last week give the Giants six victories out of seven starts, which is out of the same number of efforts the contending Phils got on the right side of the ledger only once. As a consequence the Giants have won six more games than the Phillies, and have lost seven less. They are in first place by a margin of almost 100 points.

At the rate they are now playing the race may be a runaway before many more weeks have passed. The Giants are playing best ball of the season right now. Schupp has returned to form. Anderson, Perritt and Tesreau are delivering Zimmerman is doing far better than at any time in several years, and the rest of the infield has settled down to steady play and George Gibson has come back.

TORONTO RAILWAY STRIKE ENDED SIDELIGHTS ON THE STAGE AND SCREEN

AT APPEAL OF CABINET MEMBERS Street Cars Will Run Today, Men Accepting Company's Offer of Advance of 6 Cents Per Hour Pending Arbitration of Grievances

Toronto, July 13.—By a vote of 1,038 to 551, as counted at 1.20 today (Friday), the Toronto street car employees decided to resume their service. They will later decide whether the other matters at issue will be settled by arbitration or conciliation.

The Toronto Railway Board offered to pay the men 32, 34 and 36 cents an hour as compared with 26, 28 and 30 cents an hour under the old agreement. This offer was submitted to the men at the Star Theatre last night by Hon. T. W. McGarry, Provincial Treasurer; Hon. G. H. Ferguson, and Hon. W. D. McPherson. His first announcement was greeted with a great shout of "No." Appeals to the men on patriotic grounds that refusal of the offer would mean loss of public sympathy and loss of their cause, were then begun. Until 11 o'clock the great majority in the hall seemed to be antagonistic to a settlement on the terms stated above. At midnight it was evident that the meeting was slowly swinging to a point where a fairly large number of those 1,700 employes present were favorable to accepting the offer.

The proceedings in connection with last night's mass meeting in the Star Theatre were probably the most dramatic in the history of the city. A last-minute surrender by the Toronto Railway Board made it possible for Hon. T. W. McGarry, Hon. G. H. Ferguson and Hon. W. D. McPherson to submit to the men an offer of a six-cent increase. This announcement made by Hon. Mr. McGarry, who hailed with great cheer of "No. Forty cents or nothing. We'll walk. Forty cents."

Then the action began. Mr. McGarry, Mr. Ferguson, and Mr. McPherson, A. E. Donovan, M.P.; J. Z. Orr, international treasurer of the Union; Mayor Church, Chairman Jas. Scott, Aids. Gibbons and Robinson, the members of the executive committee, and the older employes of the company began to fight for acceptance of this offer. The meeting, at first altogether hostile to the suggestion, could be seen swinging, if not towards friendliness to the proposition, at least to a point where they would give it earnest consideration. The meeting began to resolve itself into clearly established divisions. It became more and more evident that the no compromise sentiment was fostered and almost entirely contained in the galleries where the younger employes of the company were.

and third-year men 36 cents an hour. The other clauses in the agreement and the figures to be paid the men would all be submitted to arbitration. Hon. Mr. McGarry's plea to the company and acutely interested audience. His approach to their sympathy was by the path of fellowship and an appeal to patriotism. He began by referring to the men's early struggles as a working-man and assured the men that his personal sympathy had been with them since he was first advised that they had considered it necessary to walk out in their fight for higher wages. He also assured them that the public and the servants of the company were in full sympathy with the men and that in the conferences during the last three days the Cabinet-in-Council had held to their determination to secure from the company an offer which would come close to meeting the men's needs and would appeal to them as reasonable and not beyond the limits of the sacrifices which every one must now make because of the great struggle overseas.

He spoke of the heroism and the sacrifice made by 800 of their fellow-workers who are with the expeditionary forces, and reminded them that at that moment many of the men in the trenches were aware from cable despatches that the fellows they had left behind were pressing a fight for higher wages at that moment many of the men's homes were being shelled and they were being killed. He told his audience that some were too heroic for any one body of men to disregard the welfare of their fellows and that they must submit to the offer he was about to submit to them in a spirit of good citizenship and be guided in their decision by the knowledge that up to the moment they had held the good esteem of their fellow-citizens by their consistent adherence to good principles. He then spoke of the company's hard bargaining and the difficulties which had beset the way of the Provincial Government in its strenuous efforts on behalf of the men. Several offers had been submitted by the company, he said, but until within the last few minutes of his arrival on the platform the company's proposals had all fallen short of what the Cabinet could consider as within reasonable approach of a generous offer to meet the men.

He then made an appeal to their patriotism. He told the men that already considerable suffering and much sacrifice had been imposed upon the citizens because of the tie-up of the street railway system. He also warned them of the significance of halting the manufacture of munitions, and declared that he had been furnished with positive evidence that the production of munition plants within the city of Toronto had fallen off 40 per cent during the last two days because of the interference brought about by the inability of the workers to get from home to factory. The Company's Offer "And now, as a fellow citizen," he continued, "in an atmosphere electric with anticipation, I make the offer which was placed in my hands thirty minutes ago by the manager of the street railway. The company are willing to pay you at the rate of 32, 34 and 36 cents per hour immediately and until you have settled your differences by arbitration."

A wave of dissent which threatened a few minutes to culminate in a tempest which would wreck all the efforts of the last forty-eight hours, began as the Hon. Mr. McGarry was proceeding with his statement of the company's offer. "No! No!" assailed the reference to arbitration and the combined efforts of the speaker, the chairman and Alderman Gibbons, were needed to settle the uproar. Mr. McGarry admitted a well-tempered rebuke before he continued, and reminded the men that the efforts which had been made on their behalf by all who had struggled with the company to secure the offer he had just made, at least deserved that reasonable attention be given to them and that the offer itself should be considered with sober judgment and not swept aside by a rush of ill-advised enthusiasm, which could see nothing short of a ten-cent limit. He pointed out that the company's final offer represented the granting

THE BRANT. "Freckles," Gene Stratton Porter's greatest story, a book and stage success wherever the English language is spoken. In its screen version is presented at the Brant Theatre the last of this week, featuring Jack Pickford, who will be remembered for his excellent work in such productions as "The Dummy" and "Great Expectations," and dainty Louise Huff, with whom he has before starred to good effect. No portion of the charm or power of the story as originally penned is lost in its translation to the language of the silent drama, and the result is a picture of unusual merit and worth the seeing. Lonesome Luke, in the second of his new comedy series, essaying the role of a plumber, creates a greater hit than before and introduces many new and original feats into the hard worked field of pseudo-Chaplin comedy. The He between reporting the men's early struggles as a working-man and assured the men that his personal sympathy had been with them since he was first advised that they had considered it necessary to walk out in their fight for higher wages. He also assured them that the public and the servants of the company were in full sympathy with the men and that in the conferences during the last three days the Cabinet-in-Council had held to their determination to secure from the company an offer which would come close to meeting the men's needs and would appeal to them as reasonable and not beyond the limits of the sacrifices which every one must now make because of the great struggle overseas.

THE REK. Western life has so often been portrayed on the screen is viewed from another standpoint in "The Mediator," a photo play drama replete with rapid action and quaint humor, showing on the screen for the latter part of the week. Geo. Walsh, as the leading character, is a lusty and athletic westerner who, in spite of his health and abundant of three-fifths of what the men had demanded. He appealed to them to exercise a spirit of British fair play and meet the men who had been brought more than half way to meet them. He reminded them also that any petty differences would be covered fully by the proceedings of an arbitration board, and making a final appeal to their patriotism, he sat down amid a well-merited burst of applause, led by the elder men of the assembly.

Charles Sikorski, Chicago, awoke suddenly at midnight with the feeling that some one was in his room. As the moon broke through the clouds he saw a shadowy figure against the window, and the person was so close that he felt the person's hands through his trouser's pockets. His wife is now laid up with a bullet wound.

Charles Hoover and Marcus Morgan, of Jewett, Ill., are both dead from a pistol shot in the public highway in which after eleven shots, they emptied their guns at each other while lying on the ground mortally wounded. They collapsed and died nearly at the same moment. An old grudge is said to have caused it.

FOOD CONSERVATION. SOME little time ago the C. P. R. realized that the use of food products was an essential of true patriotism during the war, inaugurated a policy in connection with the dining car service which prohibited the purchase of calves, young lambs, little chickens, and baby pigs as result of which thousands of these tender little immature animals will be conserved to fuller growth and a very material increase in their value as food supply for the nation. This is done by the belief that in the face of the serious food shortage which the present world crisis threatens to bring upon us, it is criminal to waste any ounce of food or to indulge in dishes which are secured today at the cost of tomorrow.

good spirits is prejudiced against fighting so much so that he is willing to indulge in the "rough house" to secure peace. His quick victory over the bullies with whom he came in contact, and his effective manner of overcoming the obstacles that confronted him form the basis of an interesting story. A Fox film comedy that convulsed the audience yesterday afternoon and evening is a delightful acquisition to the programme and is one of the best that has been witnessed here in some time. The sixth episode of "Pearl of the Army" maintains the interest that has been created by the earlier installments, and affords opportunity for further development of the intricate plot running throughout the serial.

THE GRAND. "The Mad Monk" is a thrilling drama of Russia that is particularly appropriate at this time when the situation in that country is before the eye, was admirably and capably kept moving, a place of honor last evening by the Roma Reade plays. The work of Miss Roma Reade and Edward Keane was again a sure hit that could be desired, and supported by the earlier cast, these two stars again demonstrated to a Brantford audience the splendid abilities. The play in itself is a recent creation, and there were few flags flying from the rise to the fall of the curtain. The popular prices and the entertaining attractions being presented by this, the peer of any stock company that has yet visited this city, are being rapidly appreciated by local theatregoers, and good audiences are steadily patronizing the Grand Opera House.

JUGULAR VEIN CUT BY A BROKEN JAR. Young Toronto Women Bled To Death While Preserving. Toronto, July 13.—While preserving strawberries yesterday afternoon Mrs. Louisa Tremblay, of 94 Hamilton Street, in some manner fell upon a two-quart "gem" jar, filled with newly-preserved fruit, and the top of the jar, which was made of glass, penetrated the jugular vein, inflicting such a deep wound that the unfortunate woman bled to death within ten minutes after the accident happened.

The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Tremblay's two children who were too young, however, to offer their mother any assistance. Tying her apron about her throat, Mrs. Tremblay ran upstairs to seek assistance from Pte. and Mrs. Horns, who occupied the upper flat of the building. Running into the room she gasped, "I've got my throat cut. Get a doctor." Pte. Horns, who returned on Saturday last from France, at once rushed out and telephoned Dr. Glover, of 143 Broadview Avenue. The doctor responded promptly, but on his arrival, less than ten minutes after the accident, he could do nothing beyond pronouncing Mrs. Tremblay dead.

Chief Coroner Johnson was notified and he requested Coroner M. D. McKichan to make an investigation. From the information he gathered it would appear that Mrs. Tremblay had a number of jars standing on the stove and that she had just filled one with preserved fruit. Apparently just as she did so she was seized with a dizzy spell or slipped and lost her balance, and falling forward, her throat struck the top of the jar. Her weight and the force of the blow is thought to have broken the upper part of the glass and this penetrated her throat.

Mrs. Tremblay was about 26 years of age and had been married six years. Her two children are only two and three years old, and the other about a year and half old. Her husband, Edward Tremblay, is an employee of the City Dairy. After a brief investigation Coroner McKichan decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

DRASTIC REDUCTIONS. In order to facilitate train movements and release passenger train crews for other work, the railways of the United States are making drastic reductions compared to which those in Canada early this year appear mild. Thus, for instance, the Pennsylvania Railroad merely on its lines east of Pittsburgh has eliminated no less than 102 trains, or more than double the number taken off the whole of the Canadian railways. This will bring down the passenger movement by an amount equivalent to 2,268,000 train miles per annum or over 6,500 train miles every week day. A number of parlor cars, restaurant cars and observation cars are being discontinued. The Boston and Maine has taken off no less than 255 trains, or more than five times the number taken off in Canada, saving approximately 41,000 train miles per week. Strenuous efforts are also being made to increase the carload and to impress on merchants the importance of rapid unloading so that the freight equipment shall be kept busy to its utmost capacity, and terminals should be kept clear. The American railroads realize that speed in freight movement is one of the greatest aids they can give to help win the war and according to all reports are achieving remarkable results. It is up to Canadians to see that Canada is not left behind in this patriotic race.

There was dead silence for a moment. Both Menzies and Hallett had forgotten their duel of badinage. The chief inspector's face was very thoughtful. There could be no over-estimating the value of the knowledge—knowledge which was likely to shorten the pursuit by no one knew how long.

"Then you're the man I want. You'll know the gags and I'll be able to prompt me. Come along." He seized the other's coat-sleeve. Cincinnati sat tight, passively resisting the pressure.

"What are you going to do?" he asked. "Find if there's any opium joint around about here and run through it with you."

Cincinnati did not seem to find the program enticing. He was too close to the bad quarter of an hour spent recently on the same quest.

"Not," he said emphatically. "It's your business, Mr. Menzies, and maybe you'd like to see it through. But I ain't mine by a long chalk. I've tonight, and the quiet little yellow man won't be disturbed by me?"

"Afraid?" sneered Menzies. "I am," admitted the "con" man bluntly. "I've done all you asked me to, but I'm no sleuth, and there won't be any pension for my widows and orphans if somebody hands me one. Why don't you take one of your staff?"

"Because they've mostly cleared away home, and I don't want to spend an hour or two hunting for the right man. I want to get after Ling right now."

I have had some experience in San Francisco."

"You think you can get us in if I find the joint? I don't want any trouble, so that he can slip out a back way while we're arguing at the front. It's got to be done quietly. Remember he's killed one man in get away to-night, and he won't stand on ceremony with us."

"I'll be discreet," promised Jimmie. "I shan't make any trouble unless it comes. You bank on Little Willie?"

Menzies gave a curt nod. "Very well. That's a bet. You wait here, and I'll be back in an hour or less. You needn't stop unless you want to Cincinnati. I'll not forget you did your best for us to-night." He moved swiftly away.

"Queer chap, your chief," commented Jimmie to Royal. "How can he expect to find the place in an hour? If the police had any information about one I suppose they'd have raided it long ago."

"If he says he'll locate one in an hour you bet he'll do it," declared Royal. "He's that kind of man. There's very few people who can walk over Weir Menzies and get away with it, and Ling isn't one. The gunner's always got something up his sleeve. Once he gets his teeth into a case like this one you can break his jaw, but you won't make him let go."

"I owe him something," said Jimmie, "though I like getting at that everlasting dignity of his. He doesn't seem willing to admit that he can make a mistake. Here's a bad blunder to-night, for instance. Surely on a job like this it would have been simpler to take the house with a rush instead of messing around and letting everybody of any importance slip through his fingers."

"That's what I was an amateur detective," said Royal solemnly. "It looks easy, doesn't it? Just chew on this, though. All Mr. Menzies knew about that house was that Ling had been there last night. There was no proof that he was there to-night. If we'd raided that place and found neither Gwennie nor Ling there where would we have been now?"

"Just where you are," argued Hallett doggedly. "You haven't got 'em now, have you?"

"Oh, deliver us!" ejaculated Royal wearily. "Can't you see that he had to make certain before running a raid. The news would have been all over the shop in two ticks, and if our birds had been laying up elsewhere they'd have flown, and we wouldn't have stood the ghost of a chance of catching up with 'em. Got that? Very well. The gunner arranges to see if they're at home before jumping. If they hadn't been we'd have waited for 'em to walk into the trap. You turn that endways and upside down and inside out and see if there's any flaw in it. As it is we've bagged one of the small fry, filled up practically all our evidence, and got the tip where to look for Ling."

"Luck," persisted Jimmie. "I never said he had no luck."

"It's the sort of luck that's got a way of following Weir Menzies. Of course he goes off the list sometimes, but he's only human. It's only in books that detectives never go wrong. If Weir Menzies was that sort of detective—why he wouldn't be in the C. I. D.; he'd have Rockefeller and Rothschild in his vest pocket. The C. I. D., he concluded gloomily, "never gets justice done to 'em in print—except perhaps in Judicial Statistics."

Jimmie grinned at the heat of Menzies's defender. "I never said he

LADIES' DRESS.

The woman who sews never had thing easier and requiring less work than this season's clothes. For the most part lines are very simple, and trimming is the chief attraction. A splendid model for linen or pongee, which offers an opportunity to use the popular soutache braid is illustrated in design No. 8348. The new square neck is effectively finished with a braided collar, and a broad tuck forms the closing of the dress down the front. The sleeves may be long or short, but both styles are finished with a braided cuff. The braided side sections are a continuation of the waist, and there is no seam under the belt at the sides. The three-piece skirt is gathered to the waistline at front and back. A throw sash of the material is tied loosely in front.

The dress pattern No. 8348 is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. Width at the lower edge of skirt is 2 1/2 yards. The 36 inch size requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

WHITE DUCK'S ADVICE.
Make the most of what you have and don't always be crying for more, for sometimes more isn't good for us," said White Duck as he waddled away to waste in mud puddle.

Yellow Hen dusted herself on the pile of ashes that stood in the barnyard. Out of one eye she watched Red Rooster strutting up and down by the fence.

"Oh, stop that parading and settle down! Dust yourself in these lovely ashes and keep cool," said Yellow Hen.

"Yes, but look at the beautiful bed of dirt the mistress has turned over in the garden, and that bunch of tender, sweet lettuce," replied Red Rooster, and he continued his parading.

Yellow Hen's curiosity soon got the better of her, and she dusted off her coat and ran to Red Rooster's side.

Just then the wind blew the gate open, and Red Rooster, followed by Yellow Hen, lost no time in getting to the garden. They were so busy fishing out the worms and bugs from the soft dirt that they didn't hear Tower barking or their mistress calling, "shoo," until Tower was nearly on them.

Red Rooster began squawking with all his might and ran for the gate, but the same wind that had blown it open had blown it shut again. Red Rooster flew over the fence and disappeared in the chicken house.

Not so with poor Yellow Hen. Her wings had been clipped the morning, and when she attempted to fly she fell back almost into Tower's mouth. She saw a small opening between the pickets, and squeezed her head through in time she could by chance get in. She stuck there, cackling and kicking until her mistress called Tower and came down and pulled her out, and threw her over the fence.

Yellow Hen lost no time in getting out of sight. She was ashamed to have all the fowl of the barnyard know she had followed Red Rooster around like that, and to get caught doing it was dreadful. Her wings and head hurt, so she ran into her house and didn't come out until supper time.

White Duck edged near Yellow Hen.

"See, I knew if you chickens left the barnyard you'd be sorry. Really, I've found that it never pays to be always wishing for the things that are denied us. If it were good for us to have that lettuce our mistress would certainly give it to us, and the sooner you chickens find that out the better it will be for you. That's the very reason she clips your wings, for she can't trust you, because she feels sure when she's out of sight that you'll fly over the fence. A chicken with any brains should know that much," said White Duck, and he waddled back to his puddle of water.

Red Rooster looked at Yellow Hen. "Maybe he's right," he said. "Of course he is! Look at my feathers, about 16 missing that tower pulled out and I feel dreadfully to think I listened to you," cackled Yellow Hen.

Red Rooster had nothing to say. He had learned his lesson, and he made up his mind that never again would he seek the things that were denied him, for he had lost his beautiful red tail feathers, and the mistress had clipped his right wing until it looked horrid and he couldn't fly over the fence into the garden again.

White Duck declared.

"You never said so. That's what you meant all the same," replied Royal with warmth. "You're just seen some of the surface parts of his operations, and you don't know either the resources or the limitations of the machine he is driving. No detective that was ever built could stand for a day alone against organized crime. You let a marked grasshopper down in a ten-acre field and get somebody else to look after catching him. That's about as easy as some of the jobs that come our way. Luck! Huh!"

"You've convinced me," said Jimmie solemnly. "You've got Sherlock Holmes, Dupin, Cleek and all the rest of 'em beaten to a frazzle."

"You ready?" said the voice of Menzies from the doorway.

CHAPTER XXX.
The Taxicab.

It is no reflection upon the activity of the divisional police that there should be an undiscovered opium joint in Shadwell. There is all the difference in the world between a deliberate search with a definite object and a preventive vigilance much spread out. Menzies had special reason to believe that an opium den existed somewhere in the district, and it became a question merely of locating it.

That problem was not so formidable as it looked. It all turned on a question of advertisement.

Even illicit trades must advertise. A gambling house, a whiskey den, an opium joint do it differently than the proprietors of a breakfast food, but in essence it is the same. They must have their public—a definite circle of patrons to keep their humnins. And the advertisement is by word of mouth, at first discreet, but getting less discreet as time goes on and the circle broadens. Sooner or later some hint inevitably reaches the ears of authority, and the cleverest keepers of such places time their flittings accordingly.

No precaution can avert that, unless the police be venal. But precautions can be taken to prevent evidence being obtained by a surprise raid, and no one is more fertile in these measures than the Chinese owner of an East End opium den.

Although Menzies did not analyze the mental process that had made him so confidently assert that he would find the opium den in an hour,

SIDE TALKS

MADAME'S CLASSES.
A most interesting scheme came to my attention the other day. It was put into practice in a city some distance from here, and whether there is anything of the sort in this city, I don't know. But I think there should be, and that is partly why I am writing this.

A woman who used to live in our neighborhood was visiting here recently and appeared at one of our little social functions in such a smart pretty little frock that we all commented upon it. When she lived here she used to have quite a little trouble with her clothes, but now she wears her needle but not quite clever enough to turn out a perfectly right gown.

"She Made it and She Didn't Make it."

"Did you make it yourself?" we asked.

"I did and I didn't," she said. And then she told us about the scheme.

It seems that in the city where she now lives a French dressmaker has opened a new kind of classes. At least they are new to me. Perhaps you have heard of them before.

There must be six members in the class and each pays a dollar and a half for a day's class. The six members come to Madame's establishment each bringing with her material for something she wants to make. Madame then plans each garment and supervises the cutting and fitting.

Madame Supervises.
The women themselves do the work under Madame's supervision. In the rooms are several machines for the class's use, and as I understand it, one sewing girl who will assist (for extra payment) if desired.

"It is perfectly wonderful," said our old neighbor, "what we can get done. One woman brought a dress and a blouse and got them blocked out so that she could finish them at home. And another got a silk suit started. I think she is going to go one more day. There are so many of us who can sew well enough but who can't plan a really smart dress or get the lines just right. I think it's a wonderful scheme."

Her Gowns Were the Real Testimonial.
Her tributes to Madame's scheme was enthusiastic enough but the contrast between the gown she wore and the gowns she used to wear was even more of a testimonial.

To any potential Madame, or to any energetic group of women who get the lines just right, and make a maker to become a Madame I pass along this idea. So far as I know it isn't copyrighted.

Pickens placed both hands flat on the counter and twisted the cigar into the corner of his mouth.

"It ain't fair, Mr. Menzies," he complained querulously. "It ain't fair. This is a well conducted house and there ain't been a black mark against me for seven years. I've always kept in by you people, but it ain't playing the game fair to ruin my trade like this. It ain't my business to enquire into the moral character of any bloke what comes here for a pint or a glass of Scotch, is it nah?"

It is probable that he relied on these facts rather than on any hope of melodramatic deductions.

It is pity to spoil a popular illusion, but it is true that the greatest detective successes in real life are achieved simply by asking questions the right way, by the right person.

An opium joint undoubtedly existed. Equally undoubtedly there were some scores, likely enough hundreds, of persons who knew where it was. All that Menzies had to do was to keep on asking until he hit some one who could tell. His starting point was the landlord of The Three Kings public house.

That gentleman, an elderly, hatchet-faced individual, with a temper much soured by dyspepsia, was in his shirt sleeves leaning on the counter of the public bar. Formally the place was closed in accordance with the licensing regulations, and he was simply waiting until it pleased Menzies and his companions to turn out. Had they been other than police officials they would have been shunted into the cold street at the stroke of half-past twelve.

"Hope we're not keeping you up, Mr. Pickens," said Menzies pleasantly. "Been good of you to put up with our crowd. Still, I suppose it's been good for trade. Can't grumble, eh?"

He passed over his cigar case. The publican grunted, inspected the cigar with a doubtful air, and finally selected one which met his approval. "Don't do the neighborhood no good, this kind of thing," he growled as he clipped off the end. He spoke as though the reputation of a high class residential district had been ruined.

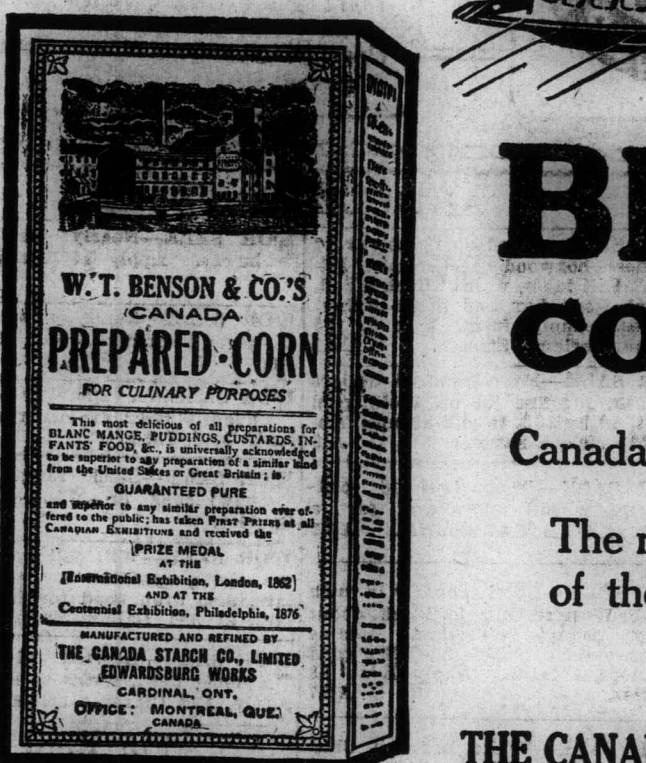

Menzies leaned an elbow on the bar and crossed his legs. "A pity, a pity," he said indolently. "What have you taken it as it comes. Wonder what made those rotters pitch on this street?" he pursued speculatively.

Mr. Pickens grunted incoherently and, taking his cigar from his mouth, held it lengthways beneath his nose and smelt it with suspicion.

"I expect you get some queer birds in here sometimes," said Men-

A CREEK INDIAN BECOMES RICH

And now steps into the pages of history a "poor Indian" who has of his property, the money being deposited in various Oklahoma banks to his credit.

With stolidity of his race Barnett displayed no enthusiasm or interest in the announcement that the land which he had spurned as useless and upon which he had steadfastly refused to abide had become enormously valuable and promised, indeed, to make him a multi-millionaire. He declined from time to time to accept a greater portion of his income than was required to supply his simple needs.

In signing receipts for the funds he did accept he made his mark as one unable to write and made no attempt to investigate the state of his finances. He seldom spent more than $50 a month for the provisions, tobacco and supplies necessary to supply his simple needs, and what was left he often distributed among the less fortunate Indians of his tribe.

Reared in a tepee, Barnett spurned the offer from the superintendent of the five civilized tribes of a finely constructed cabin and when that official had the building constructed notwithstanding, Barnett finally accepted it, but persisted in sleeping on the porch summer and winter.

Soon after his sudden rise to wealth it became evident that Barnett was incapable of caring for his financial affairs, and the probate court of the district declared that his property interests demanded that he be provided with a guardian. The court thereupon declared him an incompetent and appointed Carl J. O'Hornett, of Henryetta, in that capacity.

Reports to Secretary Lane on May 1 showed that Barnett has $755,893.68 deposited to his credit in various financial institutions. Of that $115,000 is in state and private banks in Oklahoma, drawing 4 per cent interest; $456,400.74 is in nine different national banks, drawing 3 per cent, and $184,492.32 is in the United States treasury, on which no interest is paid. These deposits are increasing at the rate of $47,082.74 a month. Last year Barnett paid an income tax to the government of $52,000.

The person least interested in the distribution of these funds is Barnett himself. He seldom accepts more than $100 of his income in any one month although on one or two occasions he has gone to the extent of drawing as much as $125.

Barnett is a bachelor and his reputation for integrity and sobriety is very high. He wears store clothes and only uses a blanket when asleep. He has numerous relations, and in the event of his death they will inherit his rapidly increasing estate. So far as is known, he has not yet made a will nor indicated in any way a desire to provide substantially for his relatives, with whom he keeps up only a speaking acquaintance.

PROBLEMS AFTER WAR

Will Be More Difficult Than Carrying on Same

This is the Opinion Expressed By Bonar Law

London, July 13.—(Associated Press Correspondence)—"The problems which will face the British Government when the war comes to an end will be far more difficult even than those of the war," says a statement from Bonar Law in discussing the charter of the new "British Trade Corporation."

"What is needed for the development of the trade of the country," says Mr. Bonar Law, "is that there should be some method by which character should be regarded as an asset and a security. There should be some means by which young men without the capital of their older competitors should have a chance of getting the credit which will enable them to establish new lines of business, and in that way help the development of the trade of the country."

"The one thing that will be needed more than anything else after the war is credit, without which trade and industry will be paralyzed and unemployment and distress immense."

HOW IS YOUR APPETITE

Loss of appetite during the summer months is a common trouble, and indicates that the digestive system is out of order. Lacking a healthy appetite many people—especially women—go too long without food, or eat sparingly because food seems to distress them, and it is no wonder that they complain that they are constantly tired and unable to stand the hot weather. This simply means that the digestive system is not doing its proper work, and that the nutriment that should come from the food is not being distributed to the various organs of the body. In other words the blood is growing thin and watry.

You need a summer tonic, and in all the realm of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Take a short treatment with these pills now and notice how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. Your food will then do you good.

Take a short treatment with these pills now and notice how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. Your food will then do you good.

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FUND CLOSED

Tokio, July 12.—The Japanese national fund for the Entente sick wounded soldiers has been closed. It will be forwarded to the powers through the diplomats accredited to Japan.

FIRST INDIAN VICTIM

London, July 13.—The German air raiders have scored their first East Indian civilian victim in Peer Mohammed, a prominent Mussulman from the Punjab, who was in London on a war mission during the last raid. He is now lying in a critical condition in an East End hospital, having been hit by a splinter from a bursting air torpedo.

Application for articles of incorporation was made in New York by an organization known as "an army of transport tobacco fund." The object of the organization is to provide the soldiers and sailors on transports leaving this country for Europe with plenty of tobacco.

Appreciation for faithful services of 400 of his older employees by dividing $1,000,000 among them with further provisions giving them 60 per cent of the income on $2,500,000, was expressed in the will of John Bartlett Pierce, of Peabody, Mass., vice-president of the American Radiator Co.

London, July 14.—A dispatch says it is officially chief of the general staff, a lin by Emperor William, and learns they had a long conference with the Emperor.

Paris, July 14.—The report is being circulated in Switzerland that the report has not been confirmed.

Copenhagen, July 14.—According to Berlin newspapers, the Crown Prince, in interviews Thursday with Reichstag party leaders, including Herr David and other Socialists, interested himself chiefly in obtaining from the deputies their views on the person and policy of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor. He quizzed each deputy privately, encouraging all of them to express freely their views on Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg. Individual audiences lasted more than half an hour each. The Crown Prince is reported to have said he was doing this in accordance with the wish of Emperor William who had suggested that he form his own opinion of the chancellor's policy, through interviews with party leaders.

The morning papers appear to have had no intimation of the impending strike of Reichstag deputies and the emperor's summons to Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the general staff. They devote their columns to a discussion of the Prussian franchise reforms and the paradox that a crisis, originating in the demand for Liberal reforms and the proclamation of a moderate peace program should have made possible the supplanting of Dr. von Gethmann-Hollweg by Prince von Guelow. Von Guelow, by comparison is almost a radical and is an avowed believer in annexationist peace.

The Tageblatt opposes Dr. von Gethmann-Hollweg's retirement vigorously, while other papers are lukewarm or openly hostile to the present chancellor.

The Socialists' organ, Vorwaerts, assumes that the royal instructions will ensure the passage of the Prussian reform bill in the shape prescribed by the king. Other papers are optimistic. They believe the Con-
