with less fear of burning than in any other kind, because aluminum is a better distributor of heat and retains it longer. This means a saving in fuel. And it means a saving in wear-and-tear expense, too.

"Wear-Ever" utensils are light to handle and easy to clean. They cannot form poisonous compounds with fruit acids or foods.

"Wear-Ever" utensils are made from thick, hard sheet aluminum, 99% pure, without joint, seam or solder. You can let food burn dry without injuring them. Cannot rust—cannot chip or scale—are practically indestructible.

A DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL

Lovers of the best in music were given a rare treat Friday evening at the Musicales given at the home of Mr. S. L. Cross, Main Street. The programme was of an unusually high order and delighted the large audience present.

The first number on the programme was a piano duet by Misses Knowles and Frank, which was delightfully rendered as were also the piano solos by Mrs. Everett Kinsman and Miss Frank, showing splendid control of the instrument.

Miss Minnie Miller's violin solos were beautifully rendered, the smoothness and brilliancy of her playing showing the skill of the finished artist.

The vocal solos by Mrs. F. B. Newcombe, Miss H. Knowles, Miss Ethel Miller, Miss E. Spidell and Mr. J. M. Cross, were all so splendidly rendered that it would be indeed difficult on our part to draw comparisons. The Slumber Song by Mrs. Newcombe, with violin obligato by Miss Miller, was very fine. Mrs. Newcombe's sweet, sympathetic voice being so beautifully adapted to the selection.

The vocal duet by Mrs. Newcombe and Miss Knowles, and the violin duet by Mrs. S. L. Cross and Mr. E. Harrington were also thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Hilda Kinsman, a young violinist gave the pretty selection "Ave Maria." A pleasing number on the programme was a piano trio by three sweet little maidens, Misses Doris Cross, Helen Blair and Kathryn Shaw. Their selection "Joys of Spring" was very pretty and was rendered in excellent time, showing much skill for such young musicians. Indeed the whole programme was par excellence.

At the close of the programme a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Cross for the use of their pleasant home, and the interest manifested by them, thus materially aiding in the success and enjoyment of the occasion. The proceeds were in aid of St. Stephen's Methodist Church.

FROM THE FRONT.

(The following letters from the Register are copied by request):

Mrs. March has a card from her son Cyril, of the Princess Patricia's, dated Nov. 6th. He says:

"I am writing this by light of a bivouac fire in a great big barn. On guard duty and my turn comes soon. Am feeling fine and dandy. I had the pleasure of seeing one of France's most interesting cathedrals the other day; a rare treat given to all our Company by one of the finest Company O. C.'s that there is in any army. I will write you about it soon. It is magnificently, beautifully grand CYRIL.

Mrs. Theodorius Kinsman, of Grafton, has favored us with a letter from her son, Reginald, a medical student at McGill, who is one of the band of students from that institution now doing service for their country in France. The letter is dated Oct. 18th.

I have much to write about but, of course, I can't say as much as I should like to say. The first big rush is over, and for a week, believe me, we were busy people, having all the work we wanted. We got one convoy every night and sometimes two in one night. Every day we would have big evacuations to England. We certainly kept a stream of patients moving through. One morning we were evacuating patients when a convoy arrived, and we were sending out and taking in new ones at the same time. The boys would bring in one patient and then load up another on the same stretcher and carry him out on his way to England. You may imagine that this involved more work than the mere telling of it would suggest. The boys coming in with their wounds dressed at the field dressing stations, but otherwise just as they came from the trenches. I won't tell you here how often that is, the censor might not allow it, but many and many of them lie where they fall for hours—for a day and a night—in the mud and wet.

Let me tell you here that the world has never seen greater heroes than these dirty, wounded, smiling, blessed Tommies. Listen! A convoy came in about 3 a. m. They brought to me on a stretcher a little Scotch boy. You should have seen the smile on his face, though I fear it would have broken your hearts. Little blond-haired chap, only twenty, and looking not more than seventeen; bullet wound through the hip. Five hours on the field, then dragged himself to his comrades, who carried him to a dressing station. He was shaking with the cold, but, such a smile! You can believe I fixed him up the best I knew how, and was as nice to him as I knew how to be. A few days after I had the pleasure of sending him off to England. He went out with the same smile that he wore when he came in, though it forsook him for a minute when he was saying Goodbye. I hope I may see that smile again some day—after the war.

I could tell you many sad cases; cases which make one cry. How long! Oh, Lord, how long? It's all wrong, mother, all wrong. Don't believe these people who tell you that war is good for the nation. War is good for nothing—War is Hell! I am not profane. I mean it. But we must not be sorrowful. We have got to be cheerful. It's the only way. Mother, don't let this world's sorrow make you sad. We will all live in the future, the future where there is Peace and warmakers are no more.

I was at a concert this afternoon, held in the Y. M. C. A. hut. About three or four hundred wounded soldiers were there. How they enjoyed it all. How appreciative they were! It must be a pleasure to perform before such an audience. At the close, all sang God Save the King. I wish you could have seen those broken-down, patched-up boys—all in hospital

MAKES ASTOUNDING CURES

Mi-o-na Tablets Cure Dyspepsia by Promptly Removing the Cause, or Money Back.

There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and stomach disorders, trivial or serious and that is to tone up or put energy into the stomach walls, so that they will be able to properly mix or churn the food.

Mi-o-na tablets quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction and in a short time it is able to do its work properly.

Harry Dodd of Bridge Street, Hastings, Ont., says: "For fifteen years I had suffered and spent much money doctoring, but to no avail. I could eat but very little, as the food would ferment and sour, making gas which caused serious heart oppression; I was in constant misery, sour gas would belch from my stomach I, was languid and weak and had no ambition. I did not feel like going anywhere or seeing anyone. There was a constant pain in the pit of my stomach. I was unable to sleep, was nervous, restless and would awake more tired than on going to bed. I tried Mi-o-na and soon found relief, and in less than six weeks Mi-o-na had completely cured me.

J. D. Clark, the druggist sells Mi-o-na tablets at 50 cents a large box, under a rigid guarantee to do all that is claimed for them or money back.

Household Hints

If link sausage is left in a dish of cold water one minute, then cut the length of the link with a sharp knife, the covering can be easily removed. Sausages retain their shape and when served may be eaten with a pork only.

To keep sausage, pack in fat crocks, set in over and cook through. There will be enough lard on top to keep it. Tie up and set in cool place.

Salt and soda make an excellent remedy for bee stings.

Salt in whitewash will make it stick.

Salt put in pan in bottom of oven under baking tins is said to prevent bread and cake from scorching on bottom.

PASTOR QUILTS PULPIT TO PREACH PREPAREDNESS

New York, Feb. 6.—The Rev. Charles A. Eaton resigned today as pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church here to participate, as he explained to his congregation, in "the shaping of the new Americanism—the new era of Christianity, which must inevitably follow the European war."

Dr. Eaton, one of the most widely known clergymen of his denomination, is an advocate of preparedness and said he plans to write and lecture on the subject throughout the country.

FINED FOR "FORGETTING" WAR TAX.

Toronto, Feb. 14.—J. F. Newsome is the first man in Toronto to be fined for failing to put a war tax stamp on a check. Newsome sent a check to a man in payment for some work, but according to the man it was not for the correct amount. The check came into the hands of the crown authorities and the result was that Newsome was summoned. He was fined $10 and costs, or thirty days, although he claimed it was an oversight that he had not put it on. The Sterling bank, who accepted the check without a war tax stamp, are to be summoned to the court to give their explanation for so doing.

Interesting Account of Trench Making-- How the Troops Dig In, Etc.-- In Active Service at the Front.

(By Lieut.-Col. Percy A. Guthrie Who Speaks from Experience)

What is a trench, how is it made, so asks my friend. How were they formed, these trenches which now face each other line upon line from the coasts of Flanders to the borders of Switzerland; were they, first prepared, and then when all was ready for battle, and the mighty armies occupy their positions and begin what is commonly termed trench warfare? Such seems to be the opinion of many with whom I have discussed the matter. How was the digging done, and under what conditions? Let me try to explain:

How the Trenches are Made

Can you picture in your mind's eye two mighty armies advancing towards each other, three great lines of men, with their artillery and other service units marching behind, ready and willing on both sides to fight, and destroy.

The scouts, who are stretched out in a screen in advance of the firing line sight the enemy; the signal is sent back and answered. The great lines of men in skirmishing order draw nearer and nearer. Let us look upon them from a distance. First the scouts running, dodging, crawling from vantage point to point. The firing line moves forward by sharp quick rushes, the men throw themselves to the earth and are hidden from our view, to arise anon from nowhere and rush again. The support line follows at some distance conforming to the movements of the line in front. The reserves, who have been proceeding along roadways in fours begin to open out as they reach the danger zone, Hark! a sound breaks on our ears! 'Tis the crackle of rifle fire. It grows in volume; it rolls along the line and dies in the distance. It is answered by the enemy. The scouts have melted into the firing line. The troops have reached striking distance; they are engaged; the fight is on. Look! the spurs of flame from the rifles denote the position of the combatants. Here we have them seeking cover on a sandy sloping hillside; there is a swampy field, and over yonder a village between two contending forces.

Listen! Are all the thunders of the Heavens let loose upon us? What are those shrieking things that rend the air like the wail from a lost soul? The artillery have taken up their position and are talking to the enemy, talking in a tongue that every soldier knows—the language of Death.

Where are the guns? Hidden behind a hill, a hedge, or a village three or more miles away How do they get the range? An observing officer with powerful glasses and range-finders watches the enemy from a house, church, or tree close up to the firing line. He is connected by telephone with the battery and directs their fire.

From out of the invisible there comes a whirring sound like the wings of a giant bird—a giant bird it is—and more and more gather flockwise to the scene of death. They hover over our lines, small streaks or smoke slowly descend; they have marked out position for their artillery and hell is let loose upon us One moment more and from a fleecy cloud there descends another vulture, and yet another. Swiftly they dash at the soaring planes beneath. What are those puffs of smoke around each aircraft? The aircraft guns are busy trying to bring them down. The giants of the air circle for position We hear the explosion of the bomb and the rattle of the rifles. Along the enemy line we hear a steady ripping—put, put, put. From our own position comes the talk, talk of the colt in reply. The machine guns are christening the space that lies between as "No Man's Land." Close by a mighty shout goes up and is answered by a cry of defiance. A charge is being made. Both sides are determined to gain a certain rise of ground. There is the flash of steel, blood, men grapple and struggle on the impact of bodies, the spurt of blood, men grapple and struggle on the ground.

How the Troops "Dig In"

The generals with their staffs have been watching the progress of the fight. They have decided that they can advance no further for the present. The order to dig in comes down the line. Let us confine ourselves now for a few moments to those men who in extended order are stretched prone upon the hillside with their faces to the foe They are a few feet from each other, hidden somewhat from the enemy's snipers by a fold of ground. The word comes along from right to left of the line. We note the heads turning as the words "dig in" is passed from mouth to ear. Immediately each man reaches back and takes from his belt his entrenching tool, places the haft in the helve, and begins to scrape, scrape a little groove in the earth beside him. While he is doing this he is constantly watching to the front lest a surprise attack may be made lest the German sniper may be crawling closer and closer to get a bead upon him. He is also watching for the opportunity of taking a chance shot at any head that may present itself along the enemy lines. The groove grows deeper and deeper, the earth is being placed in a little pile like a molehill. Soon it is large enough for him to roll his body into, which he does at once, and lies quite secure from the rifle shots of the foe. He does not cease to dig, however, and deeper and deeper into the earth he goes, a human gopher on the edge of the world hiding himself from the eyes of his fellowmen.

We will say that one infantry regiment occupies this part of the firing line on the hillside and swampy field, and we will forget the great armies that face each other for miles and miles, and devote our attention to this one battalion. Here then we have the firing line digging in, the support line at some little distance back digging in also in much the same manner, and still farther back the reserve line making for itself a trench, or such other means of protection as they can.

The Engineers Come Up.

Night come on, shovels are brought up by working parties from the reserve line, and the men from the companies of engineers to superintend the work. The man, assisted by perhaps another comrade from the reserve line, digs deeper his furrow into the ground, then turning to the left digs until he breaks in to the opening made by his comrade. Ere morning breaks we have across the face of the hillside, a trench three feet deep and two feet wide, along which a man can crawl over or past his comrade, secure from the rifle bullet. Another day goes by during which time one man sleeps while his comrade furrows and watches. The sods are carefully preserved in the rear of the trench, and when sufficient earth has been placed up in front to make fairly safe protection not only against rifle balls, but against an ordinary high explosive shell these sods are carefully distributed over the face of the parapet, so that at a short distance away an observer would see nothing but a gentle slope in the ground. Ere night comes on deeper the men dig, casting the earth up behind to form a parapet, so that they may be protected from the backward sweep of a high explosive shell. Have they dug the trench in a straight line, not by any means. Here we find a straight strip of thirty or forty feet, then a jog of six feet, then along for twelve feet, and a jog back again to the line of six feet forming what is known as a traverse, so that should a flanking movement be made from either end a machine gun could not be placed so as to sweep the entire length of the trench, and in case of an attack one man behind the corner of a traverse could hold an entire company at bay.

Putting Up Entanglements

Our generals have decided that we shall occupy this position; therefore it must be fortified and made strong. Engineers with working parties are sent up at night to spread wire entanglements in front. Stakes are driven thirty or forty feet from the parapet in two rows ten feet apart, and distant twenty feet from each other.

Barbed wire is woven backward and forward from stake to stake, from bottom to top, along our whole front. Loops of wire project above the taut wires so as to catch the foot of a foe daring enough to try and step upon the tight wires and get over. Tin cans are hung upon the wires so that any disturbance in the entanglements will be made known to the sentries on watch.

The erection of this defence in dangerous work, as all through the night flares are being sent up by the enemy as well as ourselves, to guard against an attack, or for the purpose of getting in a surprise volley at the foe. One moment all is inky blackness; the men drive stakes and string wires; the next a flare shoots up, making the place as light as day, the men throw themselves on the ground with faces down and nestling as close to Mother Earth as if she were a sweetheart or a bride. It matters not whether it be grass or mud—'tis better to be dirty than dead. There is the rip of a watching machine gun, a few are hit, the flare dies down, and the others resume their work.

The Listening Post

While the trench is being dug and entanglements erected, care must be taken that a surprise attack is not made. Two or more men are sent out in front to some secluded spot where they can look and listen. Surrounded by darkness, they keep their vigil undisturbed by the noise of the trench workers, watching for the creeping things that may spring up before them ready, ever ready, to give alarm to their comrades and their lives for the King; for seldom, when an attack is delivered, do they come back; they are between the fire of friend and foe. As time goes on, however, a little trench is dug for these men and a zig-zag communication trench leads back to the firing line, so that listening post duty becomes less dangerous and exacting.

One thing an officer must know, and that is what the enemy is doing in front. In the daytime you can observe but little, as even a periscope poked up above the parapet is sometimes shattered by a bullet from a watching sniper. At night time, therefore, a patrol goes out to glean information, to find out weak spots in the enemy's wire, where he has dug ditches and if any saps are being pushed forward. The enemy patrols are also afoot for the same purpose. Often a patrol does not return. Grim things happen in the night time.

In the next issue we give an account of the sand bag trench, etc.

DAILY HELPS

To Keep Crepe de Chine Waists White

Wash in tepid soapy water, then rinse well in clean tepid water and roll up in a Turkish towel to stand over night. Iron the waist on the wrong-side after placing it on a Turkish towel.

To Destroy Moths in Furniture

Alltho the baking and steaming are useless, as, although the moths may be killed, their eggs are sure to hatch and the upholstery to be riddled. The naphtha bath process is effectual.

A sofa, chair or lounge may be immersed in the large baths used for the purpose and all insect life will be absolutely destroyed. No egg ever hatches after passing through the naphtha bath. All oil, dirt or grease disappears and not the slightest damage is done to the most costly article. Sponging with naphtha will not answer. It is the immersion for two hours or more in the specially prepared vats which is effectual.

Handy Box to Keep Bags of Flour In

Get an empty cracker box. Set it up end ways, take out the top end, nail four narrow pieces around the top to make it firm. Put hinges on the cover, two pieces of leather will do. There is room enough inside for two bags of flour, a small bag of graham flour, rolling pin and sifter. The bread mixer can be set on top.

The box is easy to make, and if your pantry is small it will take up less room than a barrel does, also keeps the dust and mice out.

Salt and Perspiration Stains

To remove perspiration stains from your clothes, soak the garments in strong salt water before laundering them.

Practical Helps.

When using a plate in a steamer place 2 strips of strong linen under the plate and draw up and fasten in handle of cover. It is an easy matter to lift the plate out when needed.

Flour the cake pans after the usual greasing and your cake will come out whole and light.

For the Oil Stove.

To prevent cooking from burning in an oil stove; Place the pan on the top shelf, and on the lower shelf, directly under the pan, place another pan, bottom up. This prevents burning, and also gives the cakes, etc., the proper cooking.

To Use Black Stocking Legs.

When the feet of stockings get worn they can but cut off and the legs used for sleeve protectors. Two sewed together make a good holder and a good stove cloth. Two cut up the sides and sewed together make a good creeper for baby to put over her dress when creeping. They also make good cloths for the mop.

To clean willow furniture use salt and water. Apply it with a stiff brush. Scrub well and air thoroughly.

Gentlemen,—It affords me great pleasure and must be gratifying to you to know that after using 36 bottles of your Liniment on a case of paralysis which my father was afflicted with, I was able to restore him to normal condition. Hoping other sufferers may be benefited by the use of your Liniment, I am,

Sincerely yours, GEO. H. HOLMES.

Kings County should respond to the appeal of Colonel Allison H. Borden—a Kings County Boy—and help in the big Recruiting Campaign for the Famous New Highland Brigade.

MILITARY NOTES

Pte. Leland Harvey of the 64th Battalion, Halifax, is spending a few days at his home here.

A large number of our soldier boys spent the week-end at their respective homes in the County.

The boys of the 112th Battalion stationed here were inculcated on Friday. Dr. Wilson of Halifax did the work. The boys have all recovered from the effects of the inoculation.

Lieut. Ralph Pineo of the 25th Battalion, who was wounded while on active service, is at his home in Waterville on a month's leave of absence. He is recovering from his wound.

Monday's casualty list has the name of Second Corporal Ralph Winchester, Digby, N. S., 2nd Divisional Signal Co., Canadian Engineers, slightly wounded. Cpl. Winchester is well known in Kentville being in the Despatcher's Office of the D. A. R. here for some time. His friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Private Henry Usher, of Waterville, a member of the 13th Battalion, is reported wounded under date of Feb. 10th. One hundred and one years ago, nearly, Henry's grandfather was wounded while serving under Wellington, not far from the present seat of war. He survived his injuries for fifty years. Let us hope his grandson will be as fortunate.

Lieut. Morris, who has been in command of the 112th Batt. stationed at Kentville since December, has been transferred to Windsor and his place here will be filled by Lieut. A. M. Parsons of Middleton. Lieut. Morris during his stay in Kentville, has made many friends, who sincerely regret his departure. His courteous, gentlemanly demeanor, his prompt and earnest attention to duty has won him the confidence of his men, and made him a general favorite with soldiers and civilians alike. The men of his battalion showed their appreciation for him and their regret at his departure by a demonstration at the Armories, Friday. In this respect Kentville's loss will be Windsor's gain. We would also bespeak for the new Lieutenant—A. M. Parsons a welcome to our town.

Sergeants Corps of the 85th Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders

"Siol Na Fear Fearail—The Breed of Manly Men," and there are Four Thousand more manly men in this province to-day who have a Plain Duty.

A call for 125 bakers for Overseas Service has been made by General Sir Sam Hughes. Bakers are required at once, both in England and France.

The unit of British infantry is the company which consists on a war footing of about 230 all ranks. A battalion consists of from 1,000 to 1,200 men.

THREE IMPORTANT DATES TO REMEMBER.

February 25th (Friday)—A big Nova Scotia Highlanders Day in all the schools in the Province.

February 27th (Sunday)—Special Patriotic Services in all the Nova Scotia Churches, followed immediately after by great Mass Meetings at which the call for men will go out.

February 28th (Monday)—"The Gathering of the Clans," a simultaneous recruiting campaign, one Red Letter Day, in which every man in Nova Scotia with red blood in his veins and British sentiment in his heart will be expected to co-operate.

THE NEW HIGHLAND BRIGADE

A Whirlwind Campaign of Recruiting

Many new and novel plans have been inaugurated with a view to raising the Four Thousand Men for the Nova Scotia Highland Brigade. Recruiting Campaigns are underway that will stir every town, village and hamlet in this Province from Cape North to Cape Sable. This Province has been systematically divided into small recruiting districts. These districts are much smaller than counties, in fact the counties themselves will be divided in such a manner as to make it possible to reach every man with the least delay. Recruiting will be continuous until all the Battalions are filled up.

One of the finest plans that has been hit upon is that under which every member of the 85th Highlanders from the commanding officer down to the batman has been constituted a Recruiting Officer and has taken up the work with an enthusiasm that is spelling big results. This plan is also novel; the battalion has been divided into sections for this purpose which sections conform with the numerous recruiting districts into which the Province has been divided. That is to say all the men in this district or that have been so classified. Each day they send out from the battalion thousands of letters to friends and chums suggesting that the finest place in Nova Scotia just now is in the rank of the Highland battalions. Enclosed in each letter is a personal card from Colonel

Borden which reads like this: To "The Breed of Manly Men": I wish you would come with us in the Nova Scotia Highlanders. Talk it over with your chum. We need you both.

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd) Allison H. Borden,
Lieut.-Col.

The Armories,
Halifax.

"Siol Na Fear Fearail." The letters that are going out are powerful appeals, but the very letter head itself is nothing short of that. It bears a picture of the 85th on a route march, with these words:

Lieutenant Colonel A. H. Borden at the head of the Nova Scotia Highlanders. He is keeping a place for you in this splendid line. Will you come? The appeals will be so powerful that it will be difficult for any man to refuse to answer the call. If he passes the medical test he will be enlisted with the colors. If he is physically unfit he will at least have demonstrated his willingness to do his bit. This will certainly be a whirlwind campaign of recruiting that will be a powerful aid in bringing victory to our allied forces. You are called to do your share in this great Campaign. Measure up to the true standard.

WOMAN'S WORST EMOTION.

The amount of worrying one does bears no relation whatever to the number of things one has to worry about. If there is no real draft to set the worrier a worrying, an imaginary draft will serve the purpose just as well.

The conscientious person who has been told that she is hurting herself through worry resolves to stop the practice at all costs. But she asks herself, will she be able to keep her resolution? May not the tax upon her will power be more than she is equal to? And if she should fail despite the utmost she can do how humiliating it would be. She shuts tight, sighs, and—begins to worry over it.

Worry has its cause in internal, not in external things. A mind that is thoroughly fresh and vigorous rarely succumbs to it, but a mind that is tired out or depressed makes a fertile seeding ground. It reminds one of the way in which a fatigued body yields to an infectious disease. The fatigued man does not have a large number of typhoid bacilli in his drinking water than his unfatigued neighbor, nor breath a more polluted atmosphere as he walks through the dusty streets, it is merely his resistance power is lowered.—Ex.

Helps For Housekeeping

Dry your celery tops, leaves and small stems not used on the table for soups and seasoning all through the winter by putting them into a paper bag and hanging the bag up in a cool place. Parsley also may be saved this way.

You can have onion tops green all winter, ready for salads, soups, etc. by putting on onion into top (only touching the water it little) of a vase filled with water. An ordinary small top bottle may be used. Try it and watch it grow. Change the water every day. Then when the onion is gone put another in and so on all winter.

From Our Correspondents

AVONPORT

Mr. "Jock" Borden, who has been seriously ill for the past few weeks is improving, his many friends will be glad to see him out again.

Messrs. Alfred and "Jack" Brooks have returned from New Glasgow where they were employed with the Nova Scotia Scotia Steel Works.

"Gunner" Coleman Lockhart of Fort Ogilvie, Halifax, has been spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lockhart.

Pte. Clarence Holmes of the 85th, N. S. H., returned to Halifax on Saturday after spending a week at his home here.

Mrs. George Brooks spent the week end at Wolfville guest of her daughter, Mrs. F. M. Abbott.

Evangeline Division of Grand Pre paid a fraternal visit to Hopewell Division on Saturday evening, the 19th inst. About fifty visitors were present, a good programme was rendered by both Orders, special mention might be made of the vocal solos given by Mrs. Stuart Trenholm which were enjoyed by all present.

Miss Jessie Duff, who is engaged in teaching school at Wentworth, Hants Co. spent the week-end at her home here.

Mrs. Fred Cox, Middleton, and Mrs. John Hardy and little daughter Enid of Falmouth have returned to their respective homes after spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaw.

PEREAU AND VICINITY

Not having seen our community mentioned in your columns for some time perhaps a few notes will not be out of place.

Mr. Elmer Palmer arrived home from Boston last week.

Mrs. Norman Hubbard left on Saturday last for Boston.

Reginald Sandford, inspector of (Brown Tail Moths) spent Sunday, Feb. 13th with his parents at "Buena Vista Farm."

Norman Shaw left for Boston on Wednesday last where he expects to spend the remainder of the winter.

Schr. "Murray B." is lying at the wharf waiting for a favorable chance across the Bay with a cargo of apples.

We are sorry to report Glen Crowe laid up with a badly cut foot. We trust he will soon be around again.

The farmers have been improving the time during the few days of sledding by making their woodpile as large as possible.

We were glad to see Eimer Greene back from Halifax for a few days last week accompanied by his friend Lance Corpl. Winters of Blomidon.

Did you hear about the "Men's Bible Class" connected with Perreau Sunday School? Well there is such a thing. Just watch this space for further particulars.

Mrs. March, with her daughter Grace and son Earle left on Saturday for Massachusetts, where she proposes to reside in the future. The breaking up of Mrs. March's home in Berwick is greatly regretted.—Register.

KINGSFORT.

Who said Kingsfort was dead. We want you to understand we still live, move, and have our being and enjoy life as much as possible, under the very trying circumstances our country is at this time passing through. True our numbers have diminished, due to the noble response of several of our Loyal Sons to our Country's call for men.

Mr. J. B. Cox is spending the winter in Bristol, Conn.

We are glad to report the school is making splendid progress under the skillful teaching of Miss Edith Kilcup.

The Rev. H. G. Wright, our popular minister, is doing much good. He is certainly the right man in the right place.

The ladies of the Red Cross Society are rushing their good work along. Knitting socks and making other articles to comfort the wounded and distressed soldier.

Eleven from our midst have donned the khaki, some are at the front, others in training, and we know our boys will give a good account of themselves in this titanic struggle for right against might. We wish them all success and may they be brought safely home to us once again.

Good Will Division is now enjoying a period of thrift. New members are joining the ranks to help along the good work commenced in this vicinity Jan. 14, 1871, when Good Will Division was first organized. In the forty-five years of its history the Division has experienced a good many ups and downs, but 1916 finds it starting a page as bright as any in its history.

The members spent a very pleasant evening, Friday 11th inst, when they had the pleasure of entertaining about forty members of Cornwallis Division, Lower Canard, this is the first time in many years, Cornwallis Division has visited us and we hope their visits will be more frequent in the future. On the same evening we received an invitation to visit Canning Division to which place about thirty of our members went Thursday evening, 17th inst., and there met a large gathering of fellow workers. Monarch Division, Centreville also visiting Canning, the same evening so a very pleasant time was spent by all. It is encouraging to meet with other branches of this great institution working in a common cause against a common enemy.

Mr. Leander Dickie, 64th Battalion, now training in Halifax, spent a few days with his parents here. "DAPHNE"

AYLESFORD.

Miss Vera Rockefeller of Hantsport visited friends here recently.

Mrs. Kate Graves, who has been in British Columbia, for several years, arrived in Aylesford recently.

Fighting in France

First Official French Government Motion Pictures will be seen at the Nicklet Theatre To-Night Only

These pictures were loaned by the Government of France to The World, New York, through E. A. Powell, the famous war correspondent. These were the only motion pictures exhibited to the allied diplomats at the French embassy at Washington on November, 18th, and are therefore absolutely authentic. The subject is contained on 7000 feet of film, a partial synopsis of which follows:

- Observing Balloons
- The Battle of Champagne
- Back of the Battery
- Artois in Flanders
- Watch the Bushes
- Armored Cars
- Hand Grenades
- Wounded Soldiers
- French Artillery
- French Helmets
- Cathedral of Rheims
- One Thousand Shell Cases
- Preparations for Battle
- A Forest of Trenches
- Collecting the Projectiles
- Every House its Wounded
- Factories into Bath Houses
- The "Blue Devils"
- Invasion of Germany
- Battle of Metzeral
- "The Germans are Coming Under Fire"
- The Camera Man in Danger
- "Silent Death"
- Proof of Victory
- Decorated for Bravery
- The Riders of Africa
- 21,000 Prisoners
- Hindu Troops in Action
- Before the Battle
- A French Mother's Pride over her Honored Son
- French Priests at Mass on the Battlefield
- His Majesty King George and Prince of Wales
- King George, General Joffre and Lord Kitchener
- Trenches 200 Yards away from the Germans
- Germans say French Fire is Murderous
