Rescuers Bring Dead Miners Up From Cherry Mine.

Daring Inspectors Find Twenty In the Mine.

Saw Many More-Grief Stricken People Look On.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 19.-The St. Paul mine has been almost conquered. Mine inspectors and geological experts suc battle, in clearing shafts of the burning mine and early to-day Chicago firemen and a group of miners penetrated the dismal depths of the galleries and for two hours and a half fought the smouldering fire in the coal veins without of them were working without oxygen helmets or apparatus, and they suffered no ill effecs from gases or smoke.

The firemen discovered in the second vein a pile of bodies, but how soon these bodies can be removed is uncertain, because the east portion of the gallery in which the fire originated is badly caved in, and debris will have to be taken out and timbers erected to ensure safety to be worknep.

taken out and timbers erected to ensure safety to he workmen.

In the west portion of the gallery the fire is still burning. Firemen have succeeded in getting into the vein with leads of hose for a distance of fifty feet. James O'Connor, a Chicago fireman, emerged from the main shaft early to-day and declared, that the fire would be extinuited before weary house.

men had made their first descent and had turned a stream of water into the gallerits without leaving the cage, the fire in the west vein appeared to be raging. This at first gave rise to a report that it would be impossible to struggle against the fury of the fire, and that the mine must be closed.

Inspector James Taylor sent a company of volunteer workmen into the mine at 6 o'clock to repair the approach to the east vein The timbers a few feet from the cage had been burned out. Taylor explored the gallery in which the fire originated, going in as far as the obstructions caused by the collapse of the walls and burned timbers.

It was the general opinion of the miners about the shaft that the bodies could be taken out before many hours. If ow many bodies already have been discovered was not stated.

Three bodies, the first recovered through the main shaft, were brought to the surface at 8 o'clock. A pile of others were in sight, but passage to them for the time being was hampered by fire. Foru other bodies were brought up on the next trip of the cage, one of them a boy.

IDENTIFIED BODIES.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 19.—Recovery and identification of the dead began at the St. Paul mine to-day. The bodies of two men and a boy were first brought to the surface. Four other bodies were dragged from the debris of the second galiery and taken in reach of the cage.

About 75 other bodies were seen by the fire fighters who went down into the mine to-day, but because the blaze is not entirely conquered these bodies are for entirely conquered these bodies are for the present beyond reach. Grief-stricken men, women and chil-dren formed a great circle about the bodies brought from the mine. Many turned away, unable to endure the sobs and cries of the bereaved wives and mothers.

The first bodies identified were those of Richard Buckles, a stable boy, and Louis Gibbs.

For the first time since the mine horror of Saturday, bodies of some of the 300 victims were found yesterday by daring explorers in the depths of the second gallery.

Twenty bodies were found within 70 feet of the ventilating shaft. One body was brought to the surface.

The temper of the people was feared and an attempt to keep secret the finding of the bodies was made. Therefore, that more than one victim was discovered was not generally known at nightfall, and a plan was afoot to at tempt the removal of the other bodies from the mine late at night.

"We will do all we can at the air shaft and then at any cost will descend into the main pit," said Mr. Taylor last evening. Of the horrors which they encountered in the mine gallery-none of the explorers would speak, but their faces were pale and their hands trembled when they emerged. This much was learned—the bodies were scorched and swollen. Death might have been due either to gas or flame.

companies of militia forced them back with clubbed rifles.

As a result of the disaster, there are ple, at least 1,000 orphans and 200 wid-ows. Some families of eight children will be dependent upon charity.

Liberal Club Has Plans.

New Proposition to be Submitted at Annual Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Young Liberals, to be held in the club rooms, Arcade building, on Tuesday evening next, an important proposition will be submitted to the members. The club proposes to take over the entire manage ment of the rooms, financial and otherwise, and to run them in a more progressive way than ever during the season which is now opening. A feature of the season will be debates and public addresses, the intention being to hold public meetings every month debate and address alternately. The proposed change is one which involves a good deal of responsibility, and for that reason a large turn-out of the club mem-bers is expected next Tuesday

The establishment of a literary section will bring a strong element into the club membership, including a numbr of the best debaters in the city. The Liberal Association, while giving the young men a wide scope in the management of affairs, will stand behind them in their new undertaking.

The Trouble In Buffalo In the Building Trades.

Carpenters and Joiners Want to Run Their Own Show.

The Matters Disposed of at Yesterday's Convention.

(Special Wire to the Times.) Toronto, Nov. 19.-The report Building Trades Committee was to-day adopted at the convention of the Federation of Labor at Massey Hall this morning. It dealt mainly with minor disputes in various parts of the States, but in one instance the committee took decided steps to settle trouble in Buffalo between the United Trades and La bor Council and the federation. Unless the Labor Council complies with the federation's laws within 30 days by unseating all ineligible members and admitting the eligible ones, the charter is to be revoked, and a federation official will visit Buffalo to reorganize the building trades departments. The Executive Committee will deal with the appeal of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners against being taken in by the United Carpenters of America. It claims that it is well able to look after itself, has a substantial bank account, and paid out last year $158,852 in sick, death and superamutation benefits. Domestic quarrels are proverbially the bitterest. Yesterday's sessions of the American Federation of Labor were entirely taken up with the hearing of do-bitterest. Vesterday's sessions of the American Federation of Labor were entirely taken up with the hearing of domestic grievances. It was not called by so entiring a name. Officially it was known as the report of the Committee on Adjustment. The federation's family is a large one. It comprises 195 national and international unions, so that on the mere theory of probabilities its family squabbles are likely to be numerous. The most heated and important dispute is that between the machinists and the elevator constructors. It has raged furiously for the past ten years, each accusing the other of poaching on its territory. Efforts to amalgamate the two bodies are now to be undertaken, though in the meantime one of the principal manufacturers of elevators in the United States will suffer. By a decision reached the contesting parties in the Otis elevator works in the United States are to withdraw from the work of elevator construction pending the settlement. Disputes were adjudicated upon he-tween the sheet metal workers and the stove mounters, the moving picture ma-chine operators and the electrical work-

The amalgamation is subject to ratification by the two organizations. A detailed plan for the amalgamtion was outlined. The first step in it is to be the withdrawal of all legal actions and the cessation of all disputes.

Canal Via Hamilton Would Reduce Price of Flour.

That there is another big cargo of No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat heading for Hamilton was learned by the Times this norning. The Wood Milling Company, which brought in so much of it last year are again loading a big boat at For William, and it will be landed in Hamilton and stored here for the winter. This ton and stored here for the winter. This effects a saving of several cents per bushel, and secures the choicest variety of No. I hard Mamitoba wheat.

When Mr. D. B. Wood, the manager, was asked if this would affect the price of flour, his reply was that it had already done so, and that there was a substantial drop even now. The reasons are the saving of freight and storing the grain at little or no cost. If Hamilton-secured the new canal it would mean cheaper wheat and cheaper flour—not spasmodically—but all the time. This ought to be good news to the bread users of Hamilton and the vicinity, and shows a considerable enterprise on the part of the big milling company with their remodelled mills on Main street east.

who failed to obey the city's order to make gas, water and sewer connections before the new pavements were laid will run against a snag when they apply to the city engineer's department for per mission to open the streets now. The Ontario Pipe Line Company is the first one to experience this. Yesterday Mr. Macallum sent the police down to stop work on Hunter street because the com pany did not get the necessary permis sion to proceed. This morning the com pany made application to open a number of streets, including Kinrade avenue south of Barton street, which was mad adamized last summer. Mr. Macallum adamized last summer. Mr. Macallum instructed the department not to allow the company to lay a main on this street. "The pavement can never be properly replaced," he said, "after being torn up for water or gas mains, and the city will have to be furnished with very good reasons why the work was not done when the city sent out the notices before permission is granted."

City Engineer Macallum is busy day preparing a map of the survey Ham-lton will ask the Dominion Government to adopt for the new Eric-Ontario Canal, and a deputation will leave for Ottawa on Sunday night to take the matter up with the Department of Rail-ways and Canals. Now that Brantford matter up with the Department of Railways and Canals. Now that Brantford has taken an interest in the question, and pledged its assistance it is likely that the city will have a survey made of the route to demonstrate the feasibility of it to the Government. It is believed that Brantford would be willing to share part of the expense. Mr. Macallum says it would not cost more than $1,300 and could be done in about six weeks. Mr. W. O. Sealey, the member for Wentworth, who has taken a deep interest in the movement to land the canal for Hamilton, sent the following letter to Mayor McLaren to-day:

'I note your deputation will be at Ottawa here on the 24th instant, and that the sub-committee will be here a couple of days 'previous. Will be in Boston Monday and Tuesday, but will try and be back to join the deputation on Wednesday, and in the meantime, the clerks in the department are looking up references for convenience. As yet, they have been unable to find the plans of survey for either the Grand River-Hamilton route or for the Pew power canal, although they have found some records in connection with both projects, so when Engineer McCallum arrives, they will have some little data for a starting point, anyway.

will have some little data for a starting point, anyway.

"Now as to the local objection to Bailway drawbridges at the Desjardins Canal, there must be railway drawbridges wherever the canal crosses, and the danger would be no greater at Desjardins than any other place, and the harbor that must protect the canal entrance is already the best possible via the Desjardins route.

"Another argument in favor of the Grand River-Desjardins Canal route might be that as the International Waterways Commission has limited the amount of power permitted to be de-

Waterways Commission has limited the amount of power permitted to be developed at Niagara, which limit may soon be exhausted, and the Grand River being entirely Canadian, would, via Hamilton and Desjardins canal, be another source of cheap power independent of International difficulties.

"I am sure the Honorable G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, will hear the representations of the detled that the people will have an opportunity of voting on the power contract in January. The Hydro supporters will buck this on the ground that the ratepayers have already voted three times on the question. As a matter of fact the people have never had an opportunity of expressing their verdict on the form of contract. In the first by-law, submitted three years ago, it was stipulated that the form of contract should be annovated of by the Couveil and City. ulated that the form of contract should be approved of by the Council and City Solicitor. Solicitor Lobb, however, succeeded in having this clause cut out. Since then the Government has gradually corrected the irregularities by legislation, and the people have never yet had an opportunity of seeing in concrete form the contract that Hamilton is expected to sign.

A Spanish Beauty

"Strephon and Phillis!" laughed the Countess Portici, as, later in the evening, he bent over her chair. "You act your part to the life, my friend. The arrows of Cupid are sharp, my faith! when shot from the blue eyes of la senorita, since even your chain mail armor has been pierced. And when are we to condole—not congratulate you, my boy?"

Trevannance laughed. He saw well enough the spiteful eye of the dashing Italian coquette, and the sharp sarcasm under the laughing tone. But he lingered over her chair contentedly; she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw say pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and amused the saw she was pretty and brilliant, and saked her to be his wife. gered over her chair contentedly; she was pretty and brilliant, and amused him; and, although on the very verge of matrimonial proposal, Mr. Trevannance, like most of his sex, was not beyond being amused by another lady. He must speak to-night. The thought crossed him more than once with—tell it not in Gath!—much the same sensation as, in his nursery days, the recollection of a dose of nauseous medicine tion as, in his nursery days, the recollection of a dose of nauseous medicine loomed in perspective. And yet this high-born beauty was everything mortal man could seek in a wife.

The ball whirled on—the "wee sma' hours ayont the twal" had come: and out beyond all this glowing light and profusion of flowers, this music and dancing and brilliant assemblage, a bleak, raw morning was breaking over the world, shrouded in mist, and bitter with wild, wailing sound. It was no easy matter for the host to monopolize the belle of the ball and bear her off to helle of the hall and hear her off to

And it was only when a ong-haired, bearded poet came along—the latest lion in the literary menagerie—that she released her chafins serf, and permitted him to rush to his doom. She stood within the curtained arch. La Rose de Castile, but—not alone. Beside the tall, tropical plants—the gorgeous South American Grosse South American flowers-a man near her, whose face, poor wretch! told the tale of his misery as surely as the Trevannance never forgot that tableau vivant all his life long—the miserable day breaking without the deep Maltese window in rain and wind and gloom; the tossing trees of the nark; the far-off ink-black sea; the bellowing of the leer under the beeches; and within, the soft warmth, the rich light, the delicsoft warmth, the rich light, the delicious music, the perfume and luxury, and those two figures—one draped in glittering silks and laces and jewels, the haughty head drooping, the exquisite face pale, startled, sorrowful, and his grace of Amethyst, pallid with fruitless love and man's unbearable pain.

And then, before he could utter even that remorseful, "Oh, forgive me!" that haughty beauty had swept away like a young queen, and the Duke of Amehyst, with his fifty thousand a year and his lacerated heart, was left alone to stare blankly at the wretched dawn of the day. With a hollow groan he dropped down, his arms on the window-sill, his face on his arms and lay there to do these were the exceptions—the Maria Theresas, the Queen Elizabeths, the Aspasian As a whole, he regarded them with his passionate pain. The ball ended, and its giver had not spoken. Lady Evelyn had vanished erc he returned to the ball-room. Amethyst was beheld no more, and his wild, woc begone face haunted Trevannance as though he had seen him slain before him to did blood. But he rode over to Warboek Hall next day, resolved to "do or die." He had come of a daring race, and was as ready to lead a forlorn hope, or storm a breach, or meet a foe under the trees before breakfast with pistols or swords, or ask any lady to marry him, as any of his fire-eating ancestor. swords, or ask any lady to marry him, as any of his fire-eating ancestors, since Norman William down. He went straight to his doom, as the Sir Hugos and Sir Malises, in the portrait-gailery at Royal Rest, had done, with complacent smiles on their lips, to Tower Hill; and the face of cold surprise she turned on him intimidated him no more than the axe and headsman had intimidated those dauntless heroes.

She was very pale in the bleak afternoon light, and the violet eyes looked dark and weary and melancholy. There was a tired expression in the beautiful face, a listless slowness in her walk, a depth of mournfulness in her deep, solemn eyes.

Perhaps his face told his errand, for she looked startled; perhaps his first abrupt words did—"Lady Evelyn, I have come to say good-by," for she glanced round her for a second with a wild instinct of flight.

But the helle of society could obey no untutored instincts; the long lashes drooped over the azure eyes; the pale face grew like marble; she walked proudly and resolutely on.

"Indeed!" she said, and the word

She smiled—a brief, chill, disdainful smile—her father's own.

"Do you?" she answered, with a slight foreign shrug. "Very likely. Mr. Trevannance has loved many women, or rumor strangely belies him."

"I never loved any woman well enough before to ask her to be my wife."

She bowed, that cold, slight smile still on her face. The clear violet eyes knew him as he knew himself.

"Vou have paid me a high compliment, then. Believe me, I am very grateful. And now, as I may not see you again, once more, adieu, and a pleasant voyage to Central Africa, is it not?"

She floated away with the most profound and graceful of courtesies; and if Sir Malise on Tower Hill, with his head on the block, and the mighty axe swinging in midair, felt anything like his last descendant, standing alone on the terrace, the feelings of that martyr to the Stuart cause were by no means to be envied. tions.

And then, whistling shrilly, and slashing the trees with his riding-whip, the lord of Royal Rest rode home and wrote out a second telegram to his crony, Sir Foulke Mounteagle, in Vienna: "Dear Mount,—Meet me in London on

CHAPTER IX.

There was a little room adjoining the library at Warbeek Hall, sacred to that profound statesman, the Earl of Clontarf. Here he read and wrote his letters, undisturbed by the gay life around him; here he spent the chief part of each day until dinner. Two or three times a week he paid his countess a ceremonious visit in her apartments, as a matter of domestic propriety; beyond that he rarely saw her, still more rarely thought of her. The one thing for which he lived now was political ambition. The aim of his life was the advancement of his party. Even his affection for his daughter was secondary to that. He was proud of her and fond of her. He wished her to marry the man of his choice, so that her husband fection for his daughter was secondary to that. He was proud of her and fond of her. He wished her to marry the man of his choice, so that her husband might plunge, soul and body, into the political vortex, and become a leader in the land, and he himself the progenitor of a long line of brilliant statesmen. This was why he looked so coolly on and saw her jilt his grace of Amethyst. Politically, Amethyst was a brainless nonentity. This was chiefly why, also, he so ardently desired her union with Vivian Trevannance. The lord of Royal Rest was brilliantly talented, clever and subtle—of the stuff of which eminent politicians are made. With him for his son and successor, Lord Clontarf looked exultingly forward to a dazzling future and the highest honors of the kingdom. This windy November afternoon, as he sat alone brooding over his papers and ambitious projects, he saw Trevannance join Lady Evelyn on the terrace. Men bowed to his every wish: for the past ten years he had carried all before him with a high hand; and now to have his darling project overset by the caprice of a shallow girl! Amazement, incredulity, rage, swept alternately over the great earl's face.

"By heaven, she shall not refuse him!" he said, starting up and flinging open the study door. "Here, Evelyn, a word with rou!"

"Oh!" the earl said, with a cynical "Oh!" the earl said, with a cynical sneer, "you don't love Mr. Trevannance! Sentimental, certainly, but not satisfactory. I presume you don't love any one else?"

"Come into my study," he said, briefly. "I'll have something to say to you."

She bent her head and followed him in silence. If she wondered, her face did not show it. She was a little surprised, all the same. COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS

To what class does each of your dairy lows belong? A business man bends his energies towards making every dollar expended carn as much as it possibly ean. From some October records receiv-ed from members of cow testing associacan. From some October records received from members of cow testing associations it would seem that many cows are not expected to earn anything above the bare cost of feed from now till next spring. But here and there are cows in another class attogether, giving as high as, 750 lbs. milk and 23 lbs. fat in October, not freshly calved cows, but cows that footnessed in April or May. Supposing the ordinary factory patron divides his cows into just two classes, those that pay, and those that do not pay. Is he even then in a position to place each cow unerringly? Has he records to show how much milk or fat each cow gives month by month, and how much her feed costs? Such records are not only very easily kent, but are invaluable in determining which cows are paying the best profit and which are just on the pension list. With this information at hand it will be but a natural step to let one or two go off to the butcher, thereby saving unprofitable labor, while the grain they would have consumed may be used in further development of those that are naturally fitted for turning it economically into milk and butter fat. Keep records, keep no drones, but keep only such cows as prove themselves by the records to be in the top class, producing plenty of milk from a reasonable amount of suitable feed.

REMOVAL OF RUST.

Acid in Cement a Source of Safety in Concrete.

The Scientific American has the following note of interest and importance: "The cause of the disappearance of rust from iron bars, etc., used in the erection of reinforced concrete structures has been traced by Rohland, in Stahl und Eisen, to the presence of acid carbonates and sulphates in the cement, these salts dissolving the iron oxide and leaving the metal bright. The cement in setting absorbs carbonic acid from the air, thus forming the necessary acid carbonates, and experience has shown that the de-rusting process is effected while the concrete is setting and commencing to harden. This discovery affords an additional guarantee for the safety of reinforced concrete structures, inasmuch as the metal is protected from rusting by the alkaline reaction of the cement during the mixing process, and action of the acid carbonates in an early stage in the erection of the structures. The Scientific American has the fol-

A few weeks ago I stood on the big-gest farm in the world and let my eye lose itself in the distance of a six thou-sand aere cornfield. The undulating corn riding up the slope of a hill and dropping softly over made me think of some placid green sea. Turning to Devid some placid green sea. Turning to David Rankin I looked at him and marvelled at the romance of a mere farmer.

BOYS AND GIRLS.

Chicago Judge Wants Them Given a Chance.

(Pittsburg Gazette-Times.) At the dinner of the Juvenile Court Association of Allegheny County recent ly Judge Mack, of Chicago, spoke

Among other things he said: "For instance, the young man from Chicago touched on that vital question of the young girls around the down town streets. He sprang it right after town streets. He sprang it right after he praised the young men who took a boy in charge as per the 'big brother' idea, which is next to his heart, "the idea of taking a ragamuffin into your own box at the baseball or the football game and showing him that he was just as good as you were—and making him live up to that belief."

"The number of girls that go wrong in a large city is enormons. The majority of them do not start from love of lust; but from the love of joy, the joy of life that is in every normal human being." he said. "Take the girl that is working all day long and then comes home to two or three rooms occupied by a large family in the slum districts that the city fails to keep clean. She doesn't a large family in the slum districts that the city fails to keep clean. She doesn't want to stay there every evening; she wants that pleasure and happiness that our own girls want; she likes the dance and the play—just as much as our own girls do. We let our girls enjoy themselves in a decent way, amid decent surroundings, but what do we do for these girls? girls?

"The public dance hall offers them the joy and the light and the pleasure; but if the good citizens of the town will offer them these joys—those decent, innocent pleasures, in a decomt way and under proper influences—as do our settlements, scattered throughout our large cities, and some of our churches, the girls will choose the latter nine times out of ten, aye, 90 times out of 100.
"But they must have some outlet for their energy, some satisfaction of this cry for joy and happiness. If we do not give it to them, they will get it in another way."

"The public dance hall offers them the other way."

And after the young man from the west had delivered himself of this sort of thought, he went right at the rest of the heart of the idea to expound which he had come on to Pittsburg. He talked of the boy and the girl in their aspects as children. He is for the child all the time, whether the boy or girl plays "hookey," or "bums from school," to use the vernacular of his own Chicago.

"If a child must be taken away from a home," remarked Mack, "if, for the natural parental care that of the State is to be substituted, a real school, not a prison in disguise, must be provided. Whether the institutional life be only temporary until a foster home can be provided, or for a longer period until the child can be restored to its own home or be given its complete freedom, the State must, both to avoid constitutional objections and in fulfillment of its normal obligations to the child, furnish the proper care. This cannot be done in one great building with a single dormitory for all of the 200 or 300 or 400 or more children, in which there will be no possibility of classification along the lines of age or degrees of delinquency, in which there will be no individual attention.

Farm Horses in Winter

(C. W. Nash in the Canadian Farm.)
During the winter months a great many farm horses have nothing to do or are worked very irregularly; this is undoubtedly the hardest treatment the horse gets. Day after day tied in a stall with all the fodder before him he can consume and no exercise, is very apt to bring on some trouble that will require the services of a veterinary surgeon to remove. Horses when not at work should be turned out to exercise during at least a part of every day, if not too stormy, and their grain diet may be materially, though gradually, cut down and some roots substituted for it. These will be appreciated and will assist in keeping the animals in good health and condition.

Many stables are kept too close under (C. W. Nash in the Canadian Farm.)

assist in keeping the animals in good health and condition.

Many stables are kept too close under the impression that warmth is the great essential to comfort. Domestic animals readily endure a rather low temperature, provided their shelter is dry, free from draughts and satisfactory in other respects. It is more desirable to have pure arr in the horse stable than to get a high temperature in winter, with all the accompanying undesirable conditions auch as undue content of moisture, carbon dioxide and other stable gases. Ventilation must be exercilly provided for; impure air may be most readily removed through the roof, while fresh air may be drawn in from the side at a short distance above the ground. Bud air predisposes horse to catarrh and other respiratory troubles which frequently become chronic and end seriously.

A sufficiency of light is very important, for many cases of eye disease are produced by improper lighting. Horses kept in dark stalls frequently have weak sight and from that acquire the habit of shying at common objects on the road-side, simply because they do not see shying at common objects on the road side, simply because they do not see them clearly enough to make out what they are. The change from a dark stall to the brillaint sunlight of our winter to the brillaint sunight of our winter days is so violent that the eye suffers. The more light in a stable the better, provided the direct rays of the sun do not strike the horse face. The best results are obtained under uniform temperatures, with a pure, dry atmosphere, and having the stalls on the north and west sides of the barn rather than on the east and south. The longer a foal can have the milk of its dum the better horse it will make. Foals are usually weaned in fectober or November, that is to say, wiem they are about five or six months old. At this time of the year, pastures are on the wane and the milk supply is falling off. If, however, on account of backward growth, it is considered desirable that the foal should continue with the dam for a longer period, then both should be allowed an ample supply of grain and chaff, and no great demand should be nade on the mare for work. In any case the foal should be fed oats, bran and good hay for at least three or four weeks before weaning, so that the loss of its mother's milk will not be severely felt. As to whether the separation of the foal should be made completely when weaning takes place, or gradually, by allowing it to return to the mare at increasing intervals, is a matter upon which breeders are by no means unanimous, some adopting one course and some the other, with equal success. In the majority of cases, however, the gradual process is the most rational and safer for both mare and foal. A good plan to adopt is to allow the foat to suck twice a day for a few days and then for some days more, once a day, safter which it may be kept from its mother altogether. It should be haiter-broken and tied when quite young and frequently handled gently. A roomy frequent WINTERING COLTS mother altogether. It should be states-broken and tied when quite young and frequently handled gently. A roomy box stall with plenty of exercise in the open air daily, furnishes ideal conditions for the proper development of muscle and maintenance of good health and con-twice a day, which may be gradually increased to double that quantity by the end of the season, yearlings and .wo-year-olds may be given six to eight quarts in two feeds daily, which, with plenty of good clover hay, and some roots, will keep them in thrifty growing condition. In no case should they be given more than is eaten up clean at each feed, and sait should be always within their reach. Special attention should be paid to the feet of young coltator the hoofs may grow out too long, in which case they may be trimmed back and the outer edge rasped off if necessary, so as to secure symmetrical levelopment and uniform contact with the ground.

During the winter previous to foaling brood mares, if not worked, are letter kept in the open yard during the day, provided they have shelter from storms, for at this period exercise is of vial importance to them. If worked they should be gently treated and all very heavy or sudden strains avoided. Their teed should be liberal and mutritious, but not of a very succulent nature. Too much laxative food has a tendency to weaken the foal.

WINTER RATIONS-ROUGHAGE. There is a firmly rooted idea in the ninds of horsemen that oats and time othy hay form the only suitable feed for horses. That it forms a good combina-tion there is no doubt, but the high tion there is no doubt, but the high prices which have prevailed for these feeds of late, have caused a close inves tigation into the comparative value of various other food stuffs produced at home, with the result that it is now estigation into the comparativations other food stuffs produced at home, with the result that it is now established that there is no one exclusive grain, or forage ration, which is universally betterthan and other for horses, and that several combinations can be fed at less cost than the standard one of hay and oats. What a man has, however, that he is likely to feed, even though he could purchase stuff which would be more economical in the end.

Alfalfa, now extensively grown in the country, is one of the best rouginage feeds for horses. Experiments have shown that twelve and a half pounds of alfalfa and two pounds of oat straw sally better than any other for horses, per thousand pounds live weight. While twenty pounds per day with full grain ration is enough for the horse at work. Corn stover is fed to horses as a coarse forage throughout the corn belt. It then sometimes constitutes the only fodder in the ration, but is more often used as a substitute for part of the hay. No undesirable effects from the use of it when clean, have ever been noticed.

Silage has been quite extensivly fed to horse with good results, provided the material is in wholesome condition. Musty silage may cause seroius trouble or even death. It has been fed in various quantities, some feeders obtaining good results from the use of thirty pounds per day. In the majority of cases ten or twelve pounds will be sufficient.

Dr. Chase's O'mement is a certain and guaranteed gently. A roomy box stall with plenty of exercise in the open air daily, furnishes ideal conditions for the proper development of muscie and protruding and protruding the proper development of muscie and maintenance of good health and condition.

A good grain ration for the winter grain they have this in their favor; they may be fed in large quanties and maintenance of good health and condition.

A good grain ration for the winter consists or crushed oats and bran, three parts oats to one part bran. Weanlags may begin with a quart of this mixitre tained at less expense by using a mix-

THEHAMILTON TIMES

FRIDAY, NOV. 19, 1909.

NOT VERY DIGNIFIED.

In the House of Commons yesterday leading members of the Opposition openly committed their party to the advoca cy of the theory that Canadian trade policy should be governed from Washington. This extraordinary theory was aid down by Mr. Monk, and found support from Hon. Mr. Foster and Mr. Len iox, even Mr. Borden, while verbally disclaiming a willingness to allow the United States to dictate Canada's commercial policy, seemed willing to get down on his knees along with his leadog lientenants.

The exhibition of un-Canadianism was nade when the Minister of Finance in troduced a resolution approving of the franco-Canadian treaty, the approval of which is soon to be asked of Parliament. Assurance of ample opportunity for discussion of the bill was given; but that did not meet Mr. Monk's objections. Mr. Monk professed to fear the effect of the Payne tariff upon our trade relations with the United States, and he begged the Government not to deal with the treaty until it had ascertained what interpretation United States authorities would place upon it. In other words. Canada should not make an ad vantageous commercial arrangement with another country without first obtaining the permission of the United States! This humiliating course was also advocated by Mr. Foster.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, speaking for the Government, utterly dissented from this The treaty was a matter for the Canadian and French people, and for them alone, and Canada must insist upon its right to regulate its own commercial affairs. It would be most unseemly for the Canadian Government to approach the United States soliciting their permission in such a matter. Moreover, we have no reason to suppose that the United States authorities would regard the treaty as discrimination against that country; and, in any event, it is to be doubted whether any information on the subject could be ascertained. Sir Wilfrid Laurier very pertinently said that if this treaty is to be regarded as discrimination, so might the treaty now in existence. Mr. W. F. Maclean took strong ground against the Opposition's contention, and argued for Canadian ac tion on Canadian business from purely Canadian reasons.

We are not inclined to think that the Opposition's course in this matter will meet with the support of the country. Our people are not likely to accept the theory that in commercial matters Canada is to play the part of a tail wagged by the United States dog.

THE FEMALE HOOLIGANS.

Mrs. Pankhurst, the "militant Suffragette," who is exploiting the United States in support of the campaign of Hooliganism, spoke in Rochester other night, her audience being described as "small but appreciative." Her remarks, if we are to judge by the com ments of the Rochester press, has not won the people en masse over to her cause or methods. One of the Rochester papers, after recalling the history of the acid-throwers of Paris, says: "While we have with us this new type of female brawler, we have little need to recall the riotous excesses of the slums of another century and a foreign city." Having heard Mrs, Pankhurst make her plea, our contemporary does not appear to have been convinced by the cogency of its logic or captivated by the charm of the womanliness of its maker. Here is

The women who have disgraced their sex under the leadership of Mrs. Pankhurst and her daughter have made criminal violence their method of assault upon the law, its administration and its sworn officers. In so doing, they have taken precisely the same ground as that occupied by every Anarchist that ever startched a halter or discolored the knife of a guillotine. They preach the doctrine that a dispute over a definition of personal rights is a "civil war," and that the weapons of war are the only ones. al inguts is a "civil war," and that the weapons of war are the only ones to be employed in its settlement. Instead of being beaten on the head with a policeman's club when they strike in the face an officer who is performing his duty, they know they will be dealt with gently. Instead of being sentenced to hard labor for house-breaking or for vicious assault, and to a long term of imprisonment for acid-throwing or mayhem, they except to be mildly reprimanded, or perhaps kept for a week or so in a comfortable jail. But that they may have a wide and long continued influence to degrade their sex, is far from impossible. That is why the policy of leniency and partial indifference with which their brawling of their brutality has been received by the British authorities, should now be discarded. These female rufflans should be handled with the same severity and the Jame dispatch that would be employed with male criminals of the same degree. Since they would be as men in politics, let them be treated in their crimes as men would be. When that bappens, we shall hear little more of the "militant" suffragette.

Dear, dear! How dreadful! Times has, it seems, "insulted" the Herald. It has on numerous occasions exposed its falsehoods and showed up its double-dealing. But why should it feel insulted at that? Does its compensation not cover such experiences?

The estimates brought down to the House yesterday include an item of $40. 000 for the Burlington Channel pier re ilton Canal scheme be ever realized, the Burlington channel will have to be reconstructed on a very different scale.

If the Herald could find it in its heart the Times editor and staff would be quite willing to have it visit its wrath and malice on them. Those who oppose advise the Lords to throw out the and expose wrong do not count on the goodwill of the wrongdoers. No apologies needed.

As the Times expected, the Court of Appeals at Washington has given Goinpers and his colleagues ample time, till Nov. 29, to enter in the Supreme Court an appeal against the prison sentence imposed in their case. That is proper, While unnecessary delays are to be deprecated, every opportunity should be given to have the question finally decided by the final tribunal.

In its exultation over the Hydro-Elecion, taking the the course and contentions of it and its friends, refusing to do justice to Hamil ton in an improvident contract for 1,000 horse-power of electric current, the Herald urges the adoption of the monopoly contract entire! A pretty defender of civic interests it is!

The Hamilton Herald (pretended 24 carat Independent) appeals to the public putting the words in Mr. John Hoodless mouth, to betray the city to the Hydro-Electric monopoly because "the Conser vative Government has staked its exist ence" on it. We doubt whether Mr. Hoodless ever made such a fool statement. But what a light it throws or the crafty and deceitful organ!

Hon. Robert Rogers has delivered him self of another attack on Sir Wilfrid Laurier with regard to the latter's state ment in the House on the Manitoba boundary question. Mr. Rogers, however, took good care not to answer Sir Wilfrid's charge that the Manitoba Government has had a communication in its hands unanswered since last February.

When Hydro Commissioner McNaugh told Mayor McLaren and his friends that they had been attempting to use the Commission as a mere convenience he uttered a plain truth.-Hamilton Herald.

Mr. McNaught was, to say the least, insolent in his treatment of the city But he probably thought, taking his cue from the traitorous Herald, that it was quite safe to assume such an attitude, and that a majority of the aldermer could be got to make Hamilton a 'cor venience" for the Hydro gang. But he may find that he has been wrong.

ording to the Telegram, remarked: Ald. Church was not to be obstructed by a little thing like that. "The Legislature," he said, "can pass a special act to over-ride any agreement." Without pausing to characterize the morality of such a proposition, it may be said that Whitney's contempt for ethical obligations, as shown in some of his recent legislation, appears to be having its degrading influence in Toronto the Hypocritical.

Football opinion seems to point to to-morrow's game as one of the best ever contested in Ontario. The Times hopes that it will be as clean as it will be keen. We want to see the home team win; but we would prefer defeat to a success won, by any resort to unfair tactics. We hope this spirit will animate every member of the contesting teams.

The story of Canada's growth and prosperity is pretty well set forth in the statement of her people's deposits in the chartered banks. The figures are

> It is somewhat amusing to read in the senior local Tory organ's special Ottawa despatch that one thing in the Government's naval policy "which the Opposition will vigorously question is the principle enunciated by the Premier in the House and Hon. G. W. Ross in the Senate, to the effect that the Canadian navy will participate in no naval war outside its own coasts without the consent of Parliament. This is one of the most vital of the issues involved." And why should not such a question be for Parliament's decision? Just imagine what a hullabaloo the Tory organs would have raised had the Government undertaken to pledge the Canadian navy or its own account over the head of Parlia-

In the Fortnightly Review W. T. Stead, in an article entitled, "When the Door Opened," gives some conversation with other world celebrities through his "Julia's Bureau." W. T. S.—Tariff reform, Tariff reform, Mr. Disraeli! Did you not say when you were alive that Protection was not only dead, but damned?

Farther on in the conversation he is reported as saying that the Lords "will have their day while means and money

Sir Wilfrid has crystallized very clearly an opinion which about rep-resents the average common ground up-on which the whole of Canada can meet. Of course Mr. Monk, with his special appeal to his special constituency, is not an opportunist; not at all. Of course Mr. Borden, with his patient waiting for something to turn up, is not an oppor-tunist. There are moments when oppor-tunism seems quite an honorable trade.

ACCOUNTING FOR A CONVERSION

We are assured that Mr. R. L. Richardson, of the Winnipeg Tribune, is leading a Conservative revolt against Mr. R. L. Borden. Since when did Mr. Richardson become a Conservative? Mr. Richardson was elected as a Liberal in 1896, and was one of the Liberal whips in the first Parliament under the Laurier regime. There was an able-bodied rumor gime. There was an able-bodied rumor in circulation at the time of Mr. Templeman's entry into the Ministry without portfolio, that Mr. Richardson was out portfolio, that Mr. Richardson was very much of the opinion that, if any western newspaper man deserved recognition, it was not a gentleman who had not been elected by the people, but one who had been chosen by the voters of Lisgar. Since that time Mr. Richardson's Liberalism has not been of a pronounced type, but rather otherwise; but he has not yet assumed to be the leader of a Conservative revolt.

NO BETTER PAPERS. (Bowmanville Statesman.)

After nearly 2,000 miles of railway travel and a visit of a fortnight in Cleveland and New York cities, we have come back to Canada with a very much higher appreciation of our country and things Canadian. We have many reasons for being proud of Canadians and of the moral, religious and social condisons for being proud of Canadians and of the moral, religious and social conditions as compared with the state of society across the international boundary line. Just-now we have in mind the various American publications. Even the best of the dailies are not comparable as family newspapers with the Montreal. Toronto, Hamilton, London and the smaller city dailies, and there is still room for considerable further improvement in most of these—we refer to the room for cousiderable further improve-ment in most of these—we refer to the papers that devote too much space to sports, sensational scandals, the exploit-ing of the business of mining stock brok-ers, the brewers, distillers and other things that are not contributory to the development, uplifting and moral im-provement of our citizens.

BUSINESS VIEW.

An Old-Fashioned Ratepayer on the Power Question.

To the Editor of the Times Sir,-I am an old-fashioned ratepaye who says very little but keeps watching the course of events in this city.

the course of events in this city.

It seems to me that the ratepayers had better wake up or they will some of these days find the city badly involved. Year after year the debenture dest is going up. Last year there was really no increase in our population. Suburbs may be taken in and a show of increase got in that way, but there will always be more than a similar increase of expenditures in connection with added territory.

I am neither a Cataract nor a Hydro-Electric partisan, but I hate to see good Tam netter a Cataract nor a Hydro-Electric partisan, but I hate to see good money thrown away for nothing. With the proposals of the Cataract Company of power for $16 a horse-power, it seems simply madness to pay more for delivered at Dundas, and incur i derivered at Dundas, and incur in addi-tion the cost of a transmission line from Dundas through the city to the Beach, with ever so many troublesome crossings of electric railway, power and telephone lines. I have made some independent inquiry into this matter, and find that a inquiry into this matter, and find that a very reasonable calculation of cost of maintenance, operation, interest and depreciation will certainly bring the cost of that Hydro power up to over $23 per horse-power, as against the home company's offer of $16. De the people of this city want to throw away money like that?

Outside of half a dozen demagogues more or less irresponsible was its relative to the control of the cont

Is it the manufacturers? Has anyone heard any of them complain? Their power charges have not been raised or lowered since the company began to supply power. Oh! but the demagogues say the people voted for the Hydro, and we must obey the mandate. The people never intended to ask the Council to make a fool of the city of Hamilton.

My idea of duty on the past of the y idea of duty on the part of the Council at the present time is that e exact terms of the Hydro contract ould be obtained, as close and reason able an estimate as possible be prepared of the cost of introducting the Hydro of the cost of introducting the Hydro power, and let the ratepayers pronounce upon the matter with their eyes wide open to the real question they are voting on. If then they insist on throwing away money for the benefit of other cities and towns who will laugh at Hamilton for half a century to come, why, so be it. But they won't, and the demagogues know it, and, along with Lobb, want the city tied up at once.

I have an idea that there are a great many ways of spending money usefully in this city on other things, and that if later on we want the Hydro-Electtic power, we shall be able to get it. Surely the majority of the people of 'tamilton are not fools. If they are, then the sooner one emigrates to some other locality, the better.

An omelet must be cooked quickly and in a large pan. Do not mix flour or milk in it under any circumstances. It may be economical, but it makes it may be economical, but it makes it heavy. Beat the eggs well, yellow and white together. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan for six eggs. When it is quite hot put in the beaten eggs with salt and pepper. With a fork bring to the centre the cooked part of the eggs from the edge and as soon as it is al thickened take hold of the pan and turn the omelet over on a hot dish and serve. Turn over the edges while the centre is still soft, thus keeping it juicy and tender. Beat the eggs well, but not too much, as they would become thi nand watery after a while.

Peas, asparagus tips, finely cut up po-

A telegram was received here from the Chief of Police at Troy, N. Y., to the effect that the police there are searching for the murderer of a young woman whose body was discovered yesterday afternoon on the banks of the Hudson River in Green Island, a suburb of Troy. The body was that of Miss Caroline D. Gorgen, 20 years of ago.

Chief of Police Jamssen said last night that while he did not know that three was any connection between the two murders, he was working in conjunction with the police of Troy, on the theory that the men who killed the Zinda girl may have committed a second crime at Troy.

The body of the Zinda girl was discovered by Detective John Shenar, who was walking along Humboldt boulevard and saw a piece of ribbon lying on the side-walk in front of the deserted office. Foreing his way inside, he found the mutilated body in a sitting posture on the floor between two desks.

Cthief Janssen hastened to the scene. He was accompanied by Secretary Robt. Haukohl, police department, and Detective Thompson Mulholland. A thorough inspection was made. The body of the girl was removed to the morgue, where a post-mortem examination was held.

The examination, which was performed by Dr. H. E. Bradley and Dr. Wilhelm Becker, confirmed the general opinion that two or more men were implicated in the crime. That the girl was strangled was made certain; also that she had been dead since Friday night.

"The Lily and the Prince," a romantic drama, will be presented at the Grand next Monday evening, seats for which are now on sale. It will be the first time that this play has been seen at popular prices, ranging from 13 to 50 cents. It is seldom that plays of this kind are offered at these prices, as it is ARCHBISHOP AS CENSOR.

kind are offered at these prices, as it is ARCHBISHOP AS CENSOR.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—About a week ago Archbishop Bruchesi issued a statement forbidding Catholics to attend the Academie, one of the local theatres. The management of the Academie has submitted to the Archbishop. "We are going to submit all our plays to the Archbishop for his approval before we put them on. We do not wish to present to the public anything of which he would not approve," said Mr. Charlebois, the manager. "Accordingly, when we send to him the plays we have selected, or any new plays that come over to us from France, he can delete from them passages of which he disapproves, or he may reject them altogether. In any case we will abide by his decision."

EVERETT-ALLEN.

EVERETT-ALLEN.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen, 48 St. Matthew's avenue, on Wednesday evening, when their eldest daughter, Kathleen Gardner, was united to Roy Herman Everett, son of William Everett, of Strabane. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Nellie Biggar, of Winona, the wedding party marched through the parlors and stood before a bank of palms and white 'mums, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. Livingston, of Barton Street Methodist Church. The bride, a very pretty girl, looked lovely in her dress of cream silk poplin, with veil and lilics of the valley, and carrying a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister Grace, who also looked very sweet in a dress of cream delaine, carrying pink roses. Abner Everett, brother of the groom, was groomsman. The bride was the recipient of many presents. After a sumptuous repast, served by Caterer Howard, of which about 50 guests partook, Mr. and Mrs. Everett left for points east. They will reside in Hamilton on Blake street, and will be at home to their many friends after December 1. friends after December 1.

LAND "TIRE."

A Subject in Which Every Farmers Should Take an Interest.

What makes the land tired?

Farmer Jones is worried. His fields are not nearly so productive as they used to be. His corn does not yield so

They cover extensive areas in New England and elsewhere in the east. So hopeless are they considered for agriculture that they can often be purchased for a mere song. Abandoned farms —forsaken merely because they are no longer productive—may be found scattered all over those sections of the country.

And yet there is nothing really the matter with these farms—at all events nothing that ought to be very difficult to remedy. Their soil is just as good, and capable of as abundant a fruitfulness, as it ever was—save for the fact.

used to be. His corn does not yield so many bushels to the acre, and even the potatoes show lessened crops.

This sort of thing tells on the bank account. Farmer Jones judges, from all he can learn, that the soil is becoming exhausted—in other words, that so much of the plant food it originally contained has been taken out of it by oftrepeated cropping that is in a measure used up. To re-supply it with plant food, he buys and contributes to the land quantities of expensive fertilizers. They fail to produce the hoped-for result, and then the unhappy farmer comes to the melancholy conclusion that his acres are "worn out"—that is to say, rendered in capable for the future of yielding profitable returns.

Such "worn out" lands comprise large part of the State of Virginia. They core extensive areas in New England and elsewhere in the east. So hopeless are they considered for agriculture that they can often be purchased for a mere song. Abandoned farms—forsaken merely because they are no loager productive—may be found scattered all over those sections of the country.

And yet there is nothing really the matter with these farms—at all events and the section of the sections of the country.

After a discussion of these "soil toxins," as they are called, represents one of the newest and most important additions to scientific knowledge in relation to a griculture. It has already gone far enough to enable the experts of the government Burcau of Soils to point to certain definite chemical compounds, represented by actual samples contained in little bottles, as the toxins in question. These substances—not all of which have been isolated as yet, however—are known positively and beyond question to the the poisons that cause "soil fatigue."—From "When the Soil Gets Tired," in December Technical World Magazine.

Ald. Peregrine, who is running on the Campaign Committee's ticket for the Board of Control, was present, and addressed the gathering. He hoped that the power question would be settled one way or the other, as he thought the temperance party would make better progress if other issues were out of the way. He was satisfied that not one-half of the people understand the power question. While he had no doubt as to the success of the temperance cause, he felt that the fight would be a great deal easier if the power issue was out of the way. Ald. Peregrine declared that this year's council was the most competent and businesslike that had handled the city's business in recent years.

"I was ill for over six years with Nenralgia, Cramps in my muscles, Backache and Heart Disease. I called on different doctors but got no help. I heart that Dodd's Kidney Pills were meant for just such cases as mine, and bought eight boxes of them. Now, I feel just like a new man. I recommend them to all as a sure cure for Rheumatism and all troubles arising from diseased Kidneys."

Thousands of farmers all over the west relate similar experiences, to that given by Mr. Macklin. They find that Dodd's Kidney Pills do just what is claimed for them—cure all diseased Kidneys and all diseases arising from diseased Kidneys.

from Managua is accurate in the statement that the men were executed after a court martial on a charge that they attempted by the use of dynamite mines to blow up some of President Zelaya's troopers.

If the department advices confirm this story the question at issue will be whether the charge against the men, assuming it is proved, justified their execution. Probably everything wil depend upon the method pursued by Cannon and Grace in their atacks upon Zelaya's forces. If it should appear that the Americans slipped within the lines of the government forces under disguise, when they planted their mines, they might be regarded as spies, and so be subject to summary execution. English M. P. Declares That to be the Situation In England To-day.

Condemnation of Sentence Upon Labor Leaders at Local Meeting.

Stirring addresses on the labor problem were delivered to a small but appreciative audience in Association Hall last night by men well qualified to discuss the subject. The meeting was under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council, and the speakers were delegates to the American Federation, now in session in Toronto. Two of them are Labor members in the English Parliament, A. H. Gill, representing Manchester, and J. R. Clynes, of Bolton.

John B. Lennon, the third of the trio, is treasurer of the American Labor Federation and organizer for the tailors in Canada and the States.

John B. Lennon, the third of the trio, is treasurer of the American Labor Federation and organizer for the tailors in Canada and the States.

Allan Studholme, the Labor member for East Hamilton, presided, and introduced the speakers.

A STIRRING ADDRESS.

Mr. Lennon stirred the audience at the outset with a fiery reference to the threatened imprisonment of the three labor leaders, which has aroused so much interest recently.

"There are occurrences taking place on this North American continent," said the speaker, "which should startle every man who knows anything of the history of the British people and other races that have done so much to establish religious and political liberty in the world.

"Think of the Magna Charta," said Mr. Lennon, "and how it was secured, and think of three distinguished citizens, President Gompers, Secretary Morrison and John Mitchell, who are going to prison within a few days."

"Because," continued the speaker, "the right that was wested by your forefathers from the British crown— the right that was wested by your forefathers from the British crown— the right that was wested by your forefathers from the British crown— the right of trial by jury—has been denied these men. Do you suppose that if the United States can do this that it will be long before Canada will do the same thing? If you do you are wrong, abso-

United States can do this that it will be long before Canada will do the same thing? If you do you are wrong, absolutely wrong."

Mr. Lennon declared that he was proud he was an American citizen. At no time in the past, he declared, had there been such a great necessity for making sacrifices in the interest of the great mass of the neonle of the world. making sacrifices in the interest of the great mass of the people of the world. "Capitalism," he declared, "as we have it now, is far stronger than the aris-tocracy ever was. The power of the combination of wealth threatens more the liberty of the people than all the kings, Jodas or nobles in the history of the race. Yet we have to go month after month and beg men to join our unions."

Mr. Lennon spoke appreciatively of his reatment in Canada and preached the necessity of organization in the Domin-on. "Only through organization," he aid, "will you learn your rights and your duties.

Mr. Lennon spoke appreciatively of his treatment in Canada and preached the necessity of organization in the Dominion. "Only through organization," he said, "will you learn your rights and your duties.

"You have two British labor members of Parliament here with you, on the platform to-night," he said. "I surpose there are no men in Canada fit to be members of Parliament, or in the United States to be members of Congress."

"They don't aspire to it," interrupted William Barrett, the well-known Socialist.

"When we have trades unnonism here as long as they have had it in the odd country we will control the Congress of the United States and the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada.

"Things move faster now," said Mr. Lennon, "and I believe that the matter I have referred to, the possible imprison ment of Mr. Mitchell, Gompers-and others, will arouse the labor people of the country and start a movement that will sweep from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the North Pole to the Gait, and establish the right of men to those things so many suffered and died for, principally trial by jury, free speech and a free press."

Mr. Lennon dealt at length with the principally trial by jury, free speech and a free press."

Mr. Lennon dealt at length with the practical benefits of trade unionism. There never was an institution, he declared, that does more for its members. "There never was an institution," he said, "that has done more morally for the working people than trades unionism. I am a church man, but I have no hesitation in telling them the same as I tell you, the churches have done nothing more for the uplifting of the morals of the human race than trades unionism." human race than trades unionism Mr. Lennon paid a tribute to the in-tellectual ability of the Federation, which is in session in Toronto. He unged between us. We are all wage work-no matter what country we are in."

1. Lennon was enthusiastically ap-ded and Mr. Gill, the labor member Bolton, was cordially received as rose to speak.

A. H. GILL, M. P.

A. H. Gill., M. P.

Mr. Gill, after expressing his pieasure at what he had seen in this country, the ability of the men attending the Federation meetings, he surged them to take a more kindly interest in the co-operative system, which was so well advanced in the old country. While not there as a temperance advocate, he thought the position of the working people in this country, who are antagomstic to drinking, was a step in the right direction.

"You have in a greater degree than we have, combines and trusts, which seem to be swallowing up everything."

"You have in a greater degree than we have, combines and trusts, which seem to be swallowing up everything," he said. "The organization of labor must keep pace with the combine of capital."

Mr. Gill pointed out that in the old country nearly all the municipalities owned their tram systems, and the profits were spent for the benefit of the people; why did not the Canadian cities, instead of rich corporations, own and operate the street naïways?

In England the labor people had the same thing to content with as had the American Federation of Labor. When they began mulcting the unions they roused a fighting spiris.

He predicted that when the budget was in operation the people would appland it. "We are glad to fight the lords," he added.

It was now a question of the peers or the people, said Mr. Gill. Many of these men, he declared, occupied their positions only because they were the soms of their fathers, who were there before them.

Mr. Clynes, the member for Bolton is a pleasing orator, and after correcting some false statements in local parsers, which he said his attention had been called to, he made some interesting comments on the division over the hudget. Our printed statement anent our Oriental Rug Sale with 25 per cent. taken off the reduced (not the regular) price of every one of the beautiful genuine Right House Oriental masterpieces was vindicated in a striking fashion yesterday.

We told you that this sale surpasses anything like it in the history of Hamilton and that no such reductions could be found in any Canadian city. We repeat it now with even more confidence than before, because a Toronto man who knows Oriental Rug values came to Hamilton and bought his rug at The Right House. "I am more than saving my car fare through this 25 per cent. reduction," he declared, "and I am sure of the genuineness of my rug."

What we want most to impress upon you, however, (since we have told all about these rugs and our third floor display) is the fact that our Oriental Rug Sale with the 25 per cent. reduction on every rug closes to-morrow. THIRD FLOOR

Orange lodges everywhere throughout Canada, has had his picture painted. As was right and proper, the loyal breth-ren have borne the expense. His friends and admirers have made up their minds that the features of their illustrious leader shall be lended down to material leader shall be handed down to poster-ity, side by side with the great celeb-rities who have hurled defiance at the rities who have huried deriance at the Papacy ever since the days of Titus Oates, and his martyr-associates in a holy cause. We are informed by those whose privilege it was to view this painting that it is an exact likeness, even to the expansive whiskers which have hypnotized the brethren on many a notable occasion. Eschewing the "Dutch clip," the "Dundrearies" and the "Yandrke" style of sub-maxillary "Vandyke" style of sub-maxillary fringe, the doctor has gone back to the old ministerial custom. Read their advertisement on back page of the Times.

LOOKING FOR ASTOR.

New York, Nov. 19.—The waters of the Carribean Sea to-day are dotted with vessels on the lookout for Col. John Jacob Astor's steam yacht Nouramhal, with her owner and his son Vincent, on board, which has not been heard from since she was reported sailing from Kingston, Jamaica, presumably for Porto Rico, two weeks ago.

The very thought of it caused audible gurgles to be heard throughout the audience, and here and Ouarter Asked. there a brother went out to wet his throat in preparation for the forthcom-ing ordeal. There was nothing, however, in the prophecy to justify the Tele-gram's flippancy, or the covert insinua-tion that the doctor's physiognomy re-minded his hearers of an Aeolian harp.

Let it be remembered, too, that the Grand Master has good cause for complaint. According to his own statement, he has sat in his cabinet at Ottawa for days, and the statemen whom he and his followers have sent to Parliament have studiously ignored his presence and acted as if there was no such a power in politics as the Sovereign Pontiff of the Orange brotherhood. STRONACH OUT TO PRACTICE YESTERDAY.

The Big Scot Will be in the Game on Saturday Against the Tigers-Ottawa Is Taking Brass and Bugle Bands to Toronto.

Mr. Joe Wright, vice-president of the Inter-Provincial Rugby League, in commenting on the position that the Rough Riders took with reference to the appointment of officials for Saturday's game, as given in a despatch from the capital, stated that if the matter had been left in his hands he would have appointed Russell Britton, of Gananoque, to act as refered, and allowed him to choose his own umpre. The despatch stated that the Bough Riders had been forced to accept Wafter Molson and Billy McMaster, of Montreal, for the game, as otherwise the appointment of the officials would have fallen to Mr. Wright, and would have meart Toronto men. The easterners did not relish the idea of having two Queen City men in charge of the game.

Mr. Wright said that their fears were absolutely groundless, however, as he would have appointed Toronto men only as a last resort.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—On the eve of the big struggle against the Tigers everything was quiet amorgst the followers of the Ottawas yesterday. It was intended to hold the fine workout for the trip at Dey's Arena, trat owing to their mability to get electricity turned on in time the Arena scheme had to be abandoned, and the Ottawa turned out at Cartier Square. Hoe'dy weather predate to the depot to-night, headed by the two bands. The money for taking the musicians to Toronto was raised by public subscription, no less than $500 bepealed to responded with a generous subscription.

Walter Molson and Billy McMaster telegraphed yesterday, giving their consent to officiate in the big match. The tickets for the game went on sale yesterday, four or five hundred being snapped up. Most of the players received requests from Montreal, Toronto, Kingston and other points for seats, some of them buying as many as fifteen or twenty for their friends. The team is confident, and Coach Clancy believes that the fate of the championship rests with the Ottawa backs. If they play their game, Clancy says, Ottawa will win hands down. If they blow up, the tables will be reversed.

The Trigger.

The Hamilton Gun Club will start their winter series of weekly shoots tomorrow afternoon and a programme of both live and clay bird events is being arranged. The annual winter tournament will be held during the week of January 17th and every effort is being put forth to make it a banner one. The prize money has been increased and the attendance will be greater than ever judging from the inquiries being received.

Wigle and Smith Will Likely be Out of the Game-"Kilties" Band Will Accompany the Rooters-Intermediates Will Play Argos To-morrow.

To-morrow's big game at Rosedale beween the Rough Riders and Tigers proses to be a unique gridiron struggle. Both teams are taking regimental bands ong, the 91st Highlanders accompanying the Jungle Kings. Both will be encouraged by organized rooting, and the band-will leave on the 12.45 G. T. R. train from the King street station.

At this stage it looks as though Wigle vill not besable to play to-morrow, and will not besable to play to-morrow, and there is a possibility that George Smith will also be out of the game. Smith was kicked in the calf in the Argo game, and his leg has swollen, and now is in pretty bad shape. Fortunately the team has plenty of spare half-backs, and although Smith is a great player, he will not be missed as much as Wigle. The team will likely line up as follows:

Dave Tope.

With the above line-up the Tigers should be able to repeat their trick of a year ago and win the rubber from the Rough Riders. Gerard, who will replace Wigle, is a great player, being a fine tackler and line plunger. Davey Tope's abilities are well known, and so noise will likely be one of the features of the game. The team, rooters and Football Club will put on the field tomorrow.

Eight hundred seats were put on sale this morning at Stanley Mills', and at press time over half of them had been sold. Indications point to a bumper crowd at the game, and the Hamilton contingent should number about fifteen hundred.

JEFF'S BIG SHOW MAY STING PROMOTER.

New York American: Jim Jeffries and of using the wire, the would-be pro am Berger left New York yesterday for Alantic City at the head of an aggreation of athletes of all sorts and descriptions. A tour of one-night stands s to follow for three weeks, with the proviso that Jeff is to be allowed to leave the company and return to New York for the opening of the bids for his battle with Johnson on Dec. 1. Erank Gotch, the world's champion wrestler, will be a co-star with Jeff after the opening date in the New Jersey resort. Everything on the athletic calendar is included in the show, which is to play big halls. H. H. Frazee, of Chi-Chieago, is manager of the affair, and he evidently expects to sweep the route clean of small change. He is paying deffrices $3.250 a week, and Gotch was never accused of being cheap when it came to separating a promoter from his coin. He says he will give $80,000 in real money. says he will give $80,000 in real money or 60 per cent, of the receipts. As a lure to have the percentage accepted he says his club looks for a $150,000 house. The arena, he states, is now being built six miles from Berkeley, which is a suburb of San Francisco, across the bay. Shanahan doesn't get really humorous, however, until he refers to the negro. "I have written this same offer to Mr. Jackson and his manager," he says in his letter to Jeff. That appears to be moving a little faster than a walk. Possibly Mr. Shanahan thinks old Peter is back in the game.

CRINGING TO THE STATES

Opposition Urge Delay in Ratifica tion of french Treaty.

Mr. Fielding Upholds Right of Canada to Go Ahead.

should allow her commercial relations with other countries to be governer by the possibility of adverse tariff action on the part of the United States, that in fact she should suspend her treaty making powers in fear and trembling of the Damoclesian weapon of the Payn tariff, was in effect the amazing doc trine to which the Opposition committee themselves in the House of Commons to-day. The simple origin of this attempt to force the Dominion into a position at once craven, undignified and perilous was a desire on the part of Hon. Mr. Fielding to make some headway towards the ratification of the French treaty, so long delayed. When the Minister of Finance, as a preliminary to the introduction of a bill to the same end, submitted a resolution approving of the treaty finally concluded with France in January last, he found that what last session the Opposition minimized and criticised as a convention of no value to themselves in the House of Common session the Opposition minimized and criticised as a convention of no value to Canada, had now assumed the greatest importance and significance. In the absence of Mr. Borden it was Mr. Monk who took upon himself to formulate the new Conservative policy.

Mr. Fielding, in moving his resolution, explained that he had no desire to rush the ratification of the treaty, and assured the House that there would be ample opportunity for discussion when the bill based on the resolution came up for second reading.

Mr. Monk at once interposed with a question as to whether, in view of the possible effect of the Payne tariff upon Canada's trade relations with the United States, the Government had endeavored to ascertain what interpretation the United States authorities would place upon the French treaty.

Mr. Fielding replied that there had been no communication with the United States Government on the subject. "Our view is," he declared, "that Canada should determine what is best in her own interests, and I hardly think it would be seemly for us to approach the United States in the matter." Besides, he added, he had reason to believe that until a commission of experts had reported to the President the United States authorities would not be in a position to give would not be in a position to give information.
Monk did not think there any information.

Mr. Monk did not think there would be anything unseemly in making inquiries as to the possible effect of ratifying the French treaty.

Mr. Fielding declined to believe that the United States would regard the French treaty as a discrimination. He did not think they should assume that the United States' action would be adverse to Canada. But they must insist upon the right of Canada to sist upon the right of Canada to regulate her own commercial affairs. "We have no reason to suppose that the American Government will approach the American Government will approach us in any unfriendly spirit."

Mr. Foster doubted the wisdom of ratifying the treaty before information had been obtained as to the application of the United States tariff.

"Are you prepared to wait until April next to find out what the United States are going to do?" rejoined Mr. Fielding. "I do not think we should await the action of the United States," he proceeded. "We have clearly made it understood in this Parliament that Canada, while prepared to pay great deferada, while prepared to pay great deference to her great neighbor, is not willing to depend on the action of the United States in working out her policies. I think the United States people understand that we will quietly, deliberately, and thoughtfully work out our own policies. If they are agreeable to the United States, Canada is all the more pleased, but if they do not happen to be agreeable to our neighbors, we may regret it, but I do not think we would be justified in taking a different course. We must play our own part in this matter, play it openly and above board. But I cannot, on behalf of the Government, agree that after entering into this treaty with France and becoming in honor ada, while prepared to pay great defercannot, on behalf of the Government, agree that after entering into this treaty with France and becoming in honor bound to the French Government we should wait until April next, and ask our friends to the south whether they would permit us to ratify it."

Mr. Haughton Lennox thought it was not a matter of sentiment, but of good business, to delay the ratification of the treaty until they knew where Canada was likely to stand in relation to the on horseback to view the progress of city work.

Mr. Turriff pointed out that the course suggested by the Opposition would simply be an invitation to the United States to apply a surtax. Parliament should go on and do its business in the own way. in its own way.

Major Currie expressed the view that

Mr. Borden, while disclaiming any intention to allow the United States to dictate Camada's commercial policy, thought there was a case for reasonable delay in ratifying one French treaty.

Hon. Mr. Paterson reminded the House that the treaty, all but a slight amendment introduced, had been ratified by a majority of both parties, and considered that it rould be undignified for Parliament not to go on with it.

Mr. W. F. Maclean emphatically dissented from the position taken by the Opposition. "If," he said, "we are to have our freedom of action governed by some kind of legislation in the United States this country will be paralyzed. Canadians are not so be intimidated in their policy, and as one who believes in a national policy for this country. I think we ought to be prepared at all times to take our way part and fight it out. Poor Light, Bad Air, Crowded Rooms Contribute to Spread of Disease.

At a meeting in Washington, attended by leading educators and representatives of workingmen, the sentiment was unanimous that the bad air, poor light and crowded rooms in many schools and factories contributed largely to the spread of consumption. Samuel Gompers, as President of the American Federation of Labor, maintained that by causing a reduction in the hours of labor, and securing higher wages, which made it possible to provide better sustenance, the Federation had done much to assist in the great work of stamping out the disease.

While much has been accomplished in the fight against consumption, it is necessary for each individual to take every precaution against contracting the disease. Coughs and colds are a prolific source, and must not be neglected. A simple, inexpensive and effective remedy is made by mixing two ounces of Giycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine and eight ounces of pure Whiskey. A teaspoonful, four times a day, will usually break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable.

why wouldn't a woman make the best housekeeper in cleaning up one of the greatest cities in the world?

Thus argues Miss Anna E. Murphy, former magazine writer. To back up her argument she has come out as a candidate for superintendent of streets. The place pays $5,500 a year.

There's a reason for Miss Murphy's determination. She's an ardent suffragette and believes women will win votes sooner if they show the men they are able to fill men's jobs.

"Queen of the white wings!" How does it sound?

Miss Murphy is out to win that title. She says she will make the forces under her know they have a real boss if the people here only will let her get on the job.

FOR THE YEAR.

Nearly Ninety-Two Millions Asked From Parliament.

ESTIMATES

Provision For New Navy to Come Out of Income.

Transcontinental Railway and Quebec Bridge Need Much.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.-The estimate for the coming fiscal year were preented to Parliament this after by Hon. Mr. Fielding. They call for solidated fund account, including $3,-676,500 for naval services, and $35,-779,415 on capital account, including $27,000,000 for the National Transcontinental Railway. The total ex-penditure asked for is thus $127,670,-93, an increase of $16,047,616, as compared with the total amount voted last session. The estimates last year, however, provided for a decrease of about $22,000,000 as compared with 1907-08, being a reduction of a little over $9,000,000 on consolidated fund account and $13,000,000 on capital account. The increases this year, as shown in the estimates brought down to-day, are distributed, $10,752,940 to consolidated fund account and $5,294,675 to capital account. The increase in revenue for this year will more than balance the for this year will more than balance the for this year will more than balance the increase in ordinary expenditure provided for in the estimates for the next fiscal year, and the total expenditure on this account will, according to present indications, fall at least $10,000,000 below the revenue of the year, even in view of the fact that naval militia defence expenditures, which might properly be charged to capital account, are being charged by the Government to income.

mayal militia defence expenditures, which might properly be charged to capital account, are being charged by the Government to income.

Of the total increase in the expenditure provided for in the estimates nearly half is due to the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway. Demands of expenditure for the new navy account for three millions, Quebec bridge construction accounts for one million, and the transfer of former capital expenditures on militia and on Dominion land surveys to the consolidated fund account, to be wiped off by the income of the coming year. Thus the normal increase in expenditure is only some three or four millions, while the revenue is now increasing at the rate of about one million a mouth. It is worthy of note that the Government is providing for expenditure on the navy out of income instead of charging it to capital account.

The main items of increase in consoli-

The main items of increase in consolidated fund account are as follows: Militia, $2,083,150, including $1,300,000 transferred from capital account to income account for ordnance, arms, rife ranges and other equipment, hitherto charged to capital; public works, $2,859,780; naval services, $2,821,000, of which $2,719,300 is for the purchase, construction and maintenance of ships, the maintenance and upkeep of dock-yards at Esquimalt and Halifax, and the establishment and maintenance of raning schools; Dominion lands, $1,125,000, of which $900,000 is for surveys, etc., hitherto charged to capital account; post lishment and maintenance of training schools; Dominion lands, $1,125,000, of which $300,000 is for surveys, etc., hitherto charged to capital account; post office, $684,227.

There are decreases of $35,000 for the government of the Yukon Territory; $70,100 for ocean and river service, and $250,000 for the collecting of revenue on the Intercolonial Railway, representing economies effected by the new board of management.

On capital account the chief increase is $8,079,675 for railways and canals. Increases under this head include $7,000,000 for the National Transcontinental Railway, $1,000,000 for the Quebec bridge, and $750,000 more on the Trent Canal than was spent this year. There is a decrease of a little over $700,000 on capital account for the Intercolonial. Under the head of public debt the item for interest is $13,440,198, being an increase, as compared with this year, of $640,950.

For civil government the vote asked increase, as compared with this year, of $640,950.

For civil government the vote asked is $4,436,337, being an increase of $109,330, mostly in salaries.

The vote for arts, agriculture and statistics is $1,114,000, being an increase of $165,500, of which $25,000 is for exhibitions, $25,000 for the establishment and maintenance of branch stations of experimental farms in western Canada, $38,500 for census and statistics branch, and $50,000 for experiments in cold storage for fruit. The immigration vote remains practically the same at $915,801.

Among the Jews

The situation of the Jews in Yemen is a very painful one, and has given rise to continued emigration, chiefly in the direction of Palestine. Accordin the direction of Palestine. According to statements made by the emigrants, religious persecution is being carried on with rare cruelty in certain districts. A Sheikh, name Yahya, who obetined considerable success over the Turkish troops, ordered the Jews residing in his territory, either to be converted to Mohammedanism or to leave en masse. Preferring exile to apostasy, they sold their property at ridiculously low prices and recently about four hundred and fifty of them succeeded, after undergoing many perils, in reaching the seaboard.

Some prominent Zionists in Europe, according to a letter from Odessa, have been seized by the World's Fai ridea in Zion, believing that a great exposition in Jerusalem, revealing the possibilities of the Holy Land, would help Zionism more than all the speeches, flags and Zion buttons.

The United States Life Saving Corps The United States Life Saving Corps has awarded medals and honors to a number of Jewish heroes and heroines of tender ages for their life-saving work. Hannah Seligsohn, who is lame but who nevertheless rescued a drowning boy, received a silver medal. Silver medals were also presented to Moc and Irving Levy, and a bronze medal to their brother, Abraham, for their work.

The late Baron George Rosenthal lov-

The late Baron George Rosenthal loved books, patronized the arts and supported the learned. His philanthropy wa son a vast scale. He founded the Sophie Rosenthal School, the Sanatorium at Hoay-Laren, and also the Central Sophie Rosenthal School, the Sanatorium at Hoay-Laren, and also the Central Jewish Lunatic Asylum at Apeldoorn. His private charities were also many. During the recent crisis in the diamond trade Baron Rosenthal proved himself a friend indeed to many deserving Amsterdam families. His Judiasm was of a liberal character, for he was a great admirer of the philosophied Spinoza. He restored Spinosa's house at Rynsburg.

The British Labor Department, Longton and the spinoza was presented to the philosophied Spinoza.

The news that M. Ostrogorsky is to be a candidate for the Duma for the important Jewish centre of Grodno is naother indication that the Jewish question is likely to be realized in the Duma before long. Dr. Ostrogorsky is in many respects the most distinguished of publicists among Russian Jews. He has written works on the foundation of politics, which are regarded as standard throughout the world.

There is a Lot in Good Buying

It's really very complimentary to our buyer this season to see so many overcoats going out of this store---to say nothing of the thousands that are going out from our wholesale department to the best clothing dealers throughout Canada.

Our buyer seems to have selected just the right materials for both men's and boys' coats.

In the men's department the Oxford greys predominate---then the plain blacks, and then the fancy weaves in grey and brown mixtures.

You see, we give all our attention to the making and selling of clothes only -- no men's furnishings or hats or other small stuff to divide our attention.

This is one reason why we ought and why we do do such a big business in good clothes.

Overcoats at $10.00

We could call these $12.00 and $15.00 coats for $9.99, but they represent the very best garments the Santord Co. can produce to sell to you at an even ten dollar bill. The materials are Oxford grey, Vicunas, plain black Cheviot and English Beavers and dark grey Friezes. These are winter weight, with velvet collars, black Italian cloth linings—the best all round values we've ever offered at $10.00

Overcoats at $15.00

The young man who wants the bold tweed patterns in a good heavy "Mo tor" Coat, with the very best kind of a "Motor" collar, will find in this new lot a splendid choice in all sizes. Some are single and some double-breasted models, designed and tailored by the Sanford Co., who know how to put style as well as value into their garments. The length, fullness of skirt, broad chest, wide shoulders without superfluous padding, splendid linings, splendid value at $15.00.

Fine Qualities $20.00

While we have a very strong showing of fine coats at $22.50 and $25.00, we want to show you some of these $20.00 coats, fresh from our tailor shops. Fine black and Oxford grey, English Beaver and Melton cloths, Cheviot and Vicunas, in fancy mixtures, and cut from our very latest models; doublebreasted and single-breasted, with buttons through, long lapel, velvet or self collars. McIntosh and a probationary officer, who when the animal began to kick and read, led it to the Burns & Sheppard Repository. It was then frothing at the mouth, and was sweating in an unusual manner. L. M. Tefft, the foreman in charge of the tables, tied it to one of the bir posts supporting a runway, and the constable supporting a runway, and the constable telephoned for Dr. Stewart. When he arrived the animal was in a perfect frenzy, charging the post and tearing up the ground around it. The post was imbedded in rocks, but in a few minutes the carth had been all kicked away and the rocks were flying. Seeing that the crazy animal would shortly tear the post from its place Dr. Stewart picked up an axe and attempted to kill it. The horse dodged, and the blow went wide. Its mouth wide open and scattering froth, it jumped toward the veterinary, and the post gave way. Crying out a warning Dr. Stewart turned and ran up the runway leading to the second flood, with the horse tearing along so close that the flying man could have touched it had he stretched back his arm.

Tefft was upstairs when he heard the warning shout as the animal broke loose. He slammed the doors leading to the stall, where the other horses are kept and dashed along a passageway and up a flight of stairs. Dr. Stewart took the same passageway and dodged into a closet. As the horse turned intook the same passageway and dodged into a closet. As the horse turned into the passage the beam it had been dragging as though it was nothing but a broom handle caught in an obstruction, and the rope snapped like pack thread. An overhead stairway stopped its progress a moment, enabling its intended victim to escape. The passage into this, was, for a time caught. Dr. Stewart and Tefft used the opportunity to get out and run downstairs again. When the horse saw Dr. Stewart escaping it backed out of the passage, and turning, thundered down the runway in pursuit. The men were just in time to get out ou to Nelson street and shove the door shut when the horse crashed against it. Then the animal tried to get up the runway again, and in doing so fell. While it was struggling on the Pleased because they read our advertisements, they came as we asked them to do; they saw and they purchased, sometimes an overcoat, or a suit, often both, and then the shoes, hats and furnishings we sold. Yes, we were glad they came. "Just looking.' And we will be glad to see you, if you come for that; we'll help you look, try on, or buy, with equal cheerfulness. "Just looking" is all we ask of you. We know so well what you will see here and we know that what you see will do us and you more good than what we say about it. During this our second introductory sale, the advantage is much on your side. Just the beginning of winter, the largest stock of up-to-date men's wear shown in Hamilton to choose from. Prices so low that many have said they never saw such values and courteous salesmen. Glass Walls for Fruit Trees.

Glass Walls for Fruit Trees.

An interesting experiment in fruit growing has been recently carried out by the Count de Choiseul, and described in Cosmos. When a south wall is used for fruit trees the north side of the wall is practically wasted as far as fruit is concerned. Count de Choiseul has used a glass wall, and grown fruit trees on both sides. The produce on the north side is little inferior to that on the south. A photograph shows heavily fruited pear trees on both sides of the wall. The wall, 60 feet long and 6½ feet high, had 15 pear trees planted on each side. In 1907, 134 pears, weighing 91 pounds, were gathered on the south side of the wall, and 109. weighing 77 pounds, on the north side. The variety grown was the Doyenne L'Hiver.

resemble the explosions are so violent, as to resemble the explosion of a small boiler. Manhole covers were blown into the air, windows in the neighborhood were shattered, and a number of persons injured. The sewers of the city discharge into tide water, and at high tide the sewage in them backs up in some cases. It is probable that petrol floated on the surface of the sewage when the latter was backed up by high tide, and its vapor was ignited by a spark that might have been due to several causes. While such explosions will not follow every discharge of petrol into sewers, their ocasional occurrence and the possibility of much serious injury from them, states our contemporary, are a justification for rigid rules efficiently enforced to prevent the practice.
