IN ITS COMMENCEMENT, TO THE PRESENT TIME. intelligent man moving in common En Ir the most intelligent man moving in common Eu-glish or French society were suddenly asked to give a brief, a chear, and a connected account of all the transactions of the Russian War-from the be-ginning of it to its present stage—he would first, perhaps, he surprised that anybody should need such information. But he would immediately be still more surprised, to find how difficult it was for him to furnish it; that, instead of being able to state, off-hand, in their real order and due arrangement, the facts required, he would he obliged to ask time for reflection and then, even, time to make some references. He would discover that he had, indeed, in this mind an idea of all the events, but that his impressions, though very, vivid, respecting the grin-cipal particulars, were, after all, a mas of ana-chrono use entanglement and historical confusion. impressions, though very, vivid, respecting, the prin-cipal particulars, were, after all, a mass of ana-chrono is entanglement and historical confusion. In some degree, this is always the case upon the occurrence, of momentous, and protracted interna-tional changes--until time has been given to the public to free itself from the first excitements, and from the multifarious, but transitory, delusions by which they are attended. Perhaps, indeed, the very facilities which now exist for publishing diurnally every premature version, which may ar-rive, of affairs interesting to the public, have contri-buted to heap upon the progressive reports of this great war a burden of crude messages and an-nouncements, which couluse the true chronicle of facts; and, in sitort, we have not so much to learn the tary successive misstatements of it. Already, the new spaper records of a single year of stimula-ting and, to our generation, novel and portentous-intelligence--with second versions, and third ver-sions, and corrections and alterations-exceed in bulk the immense history in which Gibbon chrom-icles the stupendous revolutions, the many memora-ble conflicts, and the countess European visiositudes of fifteen centuries. turies.

It is time to weed this literary wilderness; to preserve only what is valuable; to put even that in its right place; and to supply a compandious, lucid, and reliable usrrative of a conflict which might be said to have been long impending, and yet which virtually took Europe and the world by surprise.

AND STATE OF BUSSIAN TROOPS. It was towards the end of August, 1833, that the first Vienna Note was declined by the Porte - and not very long afterwards, that the second was premitterily topicsted by the Crait." But hearly three months earlier, orders had been dispatched from St. Petersburg to carry, the Russian divisions forcibly across the Pruth into the Turkish territory—thus making was, but not declaring it. On the 3d of July, The order was executed. Those rich corn countries were seized ; taxes for the maintenance of eighty thousand troops were imposed by the Crait upon four millions of the subjects of Abdul-Medjid-Khan, and courries for nine months were based on these new imposts; the Danube, the greatest inland Khan, and contracts for nine months were haved on these new imposts; the Danube, the greatest inland high way of commerce in Europe, was brought under the invador's immediate and stringent control; the Hospodars were deposed; a Provisional Adminis-tration, at the head of which Prince Michael Gort-schakoff was nominated to represent with supreme powers the undefinable Projectorate of Nicholas, was established; and, in short, the Czar carried in-to effect the very claims, concerning the admissi-bility of which he was at the same time indicing an to ef phorus, and off the Golden Horn, might await events with frainguil defiance. More than this, a Russian army in Romelis might be said to have, crossed the Balkans only to perish. A victory near Adrianople, over a fresh, and vigorous Auglo-Freuch army, would, to those wearied troops, be a moral impossibility ; while retreat over the moun-tains would offer the alternative of certain annihila-tions. offer the alternative of certain an (a large force from the Transcau old succeed in pushing through abizond, and occupying Anatolic upying Ana and the Stra both the Channel of Constantinople and the Straits of the Dardanelles would be effectually commanded by the enemy; the key of the entrance of the Black Sea would be in his hands; and be, could imprison in those waters, or exclude from them, the maritime defenders of the Porte. A favourable moment would be alter the Porte.

Sea would be in his hands; and he could imprison in those waters, or exclude from them, the maritime definders of the Porte. A favourable moment would then allow the Russian legions to be thrown across into the very metropolis. This Asiatic danger being averted, Omer Pache was appointed the Turkish Generalissimo in Eu-rope; and so soon as the news of Prince Gortscha-koff's invasion had reached the Divan. Omer was ordered, to break down all the bridges over the Danube, and immediately to adopt what strategic measures he deemed advisable for the defence of the State. This was on the 11th July. At that time the French were holding their camp at Heffaut, and we our camp at Chobham. There was a grea-and unaccustomed activity in all our dockyards and arsenals. The same upice of preparation resounded in France. But the fleets were still in Besilve Bay. We feared not that we could be locked out from the future scenes of naval confict; Woronzoff and his troops were a thousand miles inland to the East, the Turkish levies of the new Senskier lay be-tween, and the castles of tho Dardanelles were in the wave endore. All this was true and we are in the Turkish levies of the new Seraskier lay be-tween, and the castles of the Dardanelles were in the proper custody. All this was true, and we knew it: but not one great General was in the ser-vice of Russia, a fact on which we could not then presume; and one great General aided by fortune, and commanding in Armenia, might have reversed the conditions we have enumerated and made a speedy and Rissitrous change in all the circumstan-cos of the situation. It was still a time of political auspense; and while Omer Pachs was proceeding to the Dannbe and Prince Gortschakoff was exer-cising all the despotic powers of a conquerer in the suspense: and while Omer Pacha was proceeding to the Danube and Prince Gortschakoff was exer-cising all the despotic powers of a conqueror in the Turkish territory beyond that river, actually pres-ing fills the despotic powers of a conqueror in the Turkish territory beyond that river, actually pres-ing fills the despotic powers of a conqueror in the Turkish territory beyond that river, actually pres-ing fills the despotic powers of a conqueror in the Turkish territory beyond that river, actually pres-by Boyards whom he could not induce by persuasion to join the cause of the invaders ; while the Grand Duke Constantine was at Odessa, arging forward with vehemence the concentration of the org, the eastift of ressels, and the accumulation of all the means of an inmediate and desperate struggle; while Italy and Hungary and Poland displayed new agens of disguietude; while Servia and Bosnia were breaking into insurrection ; while the Ottoman Empire was convulsed with its profigious exertions to use, and yet to control the explosive passions which now raged and ravened for a vent—while, for example, at Aleppo, on the 9th of August, a con-spiracy to starder off the Christians was yet mowhere dectared, not even by Turkey. And to show the wonderful delusion of men's minds, we may men-tion that so late as the 17th of August, the Austrian Consul-General at Bucharset announced in a letter which was at once published, that he had received positive news of the establishment of peace. Trade was not yet, quite suspended, and cora-was shipped from Odess, in very considerable constitues, inst weive days before the Austrian positive news of the establishment of peace. Trade, was, not, yet, quile, suspended, and corn was shipped from Odessa, in very considerable minities, just twelve days before the Anstrian Consul's very Austrian announcement. But great torms began how to sweep the Black Sea, while the presence and the proceedings of the Russians in Greater Wallachia imposed new difficulties on the system of grain from this important cereal outlet and emportum. On the 25th, it was known that one thousand vessels would be required at the subset of grain from this an but a sample of the difficulties arising, that something very nearly approaching to a dearth was felt at the close of the difficulties arising, that something very nearly approaching to a dearth was felt at the close of the difficulties arising. That something very nearly provaching to a dearth was felt at the close of the difficulties arising. That something very nearly approaching to a dearth was felt at the close of the difficulties arising. The consective version of destruction, was at hand, and none could pro-mise ended in gloom and alarts. A scarpeiry prevailed ; a postilence impended; after forty years of peace, improvement, and civilization, became the color of events. The cholera and the hosts of General Luders were head of tog-the in Bessari-is, and together they entered Brailow. On the 1st of Soptember the Sultan ordered an immediate levy of South and, which was answered on the 24th by a ukase of the Car, calling out a new conscrip-tion, though he had, andy two months and a day be Jar, by a sinilar measure, ton so many thousands of his wretched aris (the only wealth of the Masteo vie Boyards) from their agracitium labours. Then days after the Sultan a Haut Sheriff, Prince of his wretched serie (the only wanted of the many vite Boyards) from their agricultural inboars. Four days after the Suffar's Hatti Sheriff, Prince Gottschakoff, who was at Bachares, about twenty-five miles from the great river which he had orders to pass, issued a proplamation, concluding with pass extraordinary, words .--- Russia is called, to unnihiliste Paganism, and those who would oppose her in that sucred mission shall be annihilated with the Paganal Long life to the Czer! Long life, to the Deity of the Russions!" So the ex-pressions have been, and, no doubt, with literal ex-actitude, translated. But it is quite evident, that the virtual meaning, in Russ, of the words render-ed by "long life to," is "hurrah for," and that the mention of the Supreme Being, by a brutal and illiterate soldier, unused to composition, was intend-ed as merely symbolical of the particular religious cause tor which he was come to do battle. But, even, with this palliation, a more barbarous manifes-to could scarcely be cited; and the precedence given to the cheer for the Czar over the cheer for the Czar's Maker (unless a climax was intended by the accomplished author), indicates the very peculiar nature of Russian fanaticism. In truth, fanatics have always fought well; and these poor slaves Crar's Maker (unless a climax was intended by the accomplished author), indicates the very peculiar nature of Russian ianaticism. In truth, fanatics have always fought well; and these poor slaves right hadly. Therefore they are not real fanatics. We shall find, in addition to this, that they are badly led by their generals; and it is a very cur-ous fact, which the history of the present war seems likely to corroborate, that Russia never yet produced a leader of troops who was of the highest order. Every other great military nation can, in its own annals, point to scores of such commanders -except, indeed, Prussia; and Prussia has not, perhaps, been long enough a Power of Europe to have yet produced another Prederick. Two days after Prince Gorischakoff's proclama-tion, the sentiments of the Wallachians might be coujectured from the proceedings to which the Rus-sian General was obliged to resort. Several Boy-ards were arrested on the charge of corresponding with Omer Pacha. And what if this were, true? War was not declared; Russia hereself was at pains to represent the invasion of the Principalities as no invasion at all; but, emphatically, a peaceful occu-pation, executed without the least breach of amity between the Caa's good friend. On the T0th, the French Ambassador, to the Ports, became so uneasy that, on his own responsi-bitity. He ordered, three French frigates; and Lord Stratford de Redeliffe, yielding to his persusions, ordered, in like manner, three English frigates, to ascend the Sea of Marmora, and to moor at the en-trance of the Rosphorus. This was but a slight and scrupulous demonstration. Far more decisive advances of the energy were progressively occur-ring; and Gimpero, on the north bank of the Dan-and scrupplous demonstration. Far more decisive advances of the enemy were progressively occur-ring; and Gimgevo, on the north bank of the Dan-ube, facing Rustchak, was selected, instead of Fokschan, at the base of the Crapack hills, to be the scene of the chief Russian camp. The months of the river were now filled with corn, which could not be exported. These accumulations, on the 17th of September, amounted to 40,000 kilogrammes of white wheat, 9000 of red, 16,000 of maize, and 25.000 of rve. 25,000 of tye.

25,000 of rye. The last fruitless diplomatic effort before Turkey declared war—an effort on the one side to come to an understanding, and on the other to overgeach Europe—was the conference at Olmutz, where the Czar tried his personal influence over the young Emperor Francis Joseph. Nicholas arrived at Warsaw on the 20th of September, and thence reached Olmutz on the 23d. Seven days. Inter, he was again at Warsaw, disappointed and baffled, as it was commonly imagined, in all the objects of his late visit—a visit which had not been under-faken until Envoy after Envoy (each of higher raken until Envoy after Envoy (each of higher reputation, than, his, predecessor) had failed at Vienna. We know, not, for our part, with what understanding the two Monarchs separated. The subsequent conduct of Austria is, perhaps, the best light by which we can guide our conjectures , and, whatever praise may be due to Francis Joseph, this whatever praise may be due to Francis Joseph, this reflection will occur to everybody, that he might have earned a still higher praise, for he might have prevented the European conflict allogether. As if to slarm England, the exaggerated state-ments of Russia's power, and of her means of war, were accompanied by the announcement of occa-sional victories, meaning India in their results. Thus, we now heard how General Perewski, Go-vernor of Orenburgh, had stormed Ahmetzi, and had laid open the road to Khiva.

SECOND PERIOD . HOSTILITIES AFTER TURKET, BUT BEFORE ENGLAND AND FRANCE HAD DECLARED WAR.

BEFORE ENGLAND AND PRANCE HAD DECLARED WAR. It was not ill the beginning of October, that the Sultan, who coald wais no longer for the Allies, and, indeed, no longer restrain the cagerness of his own people, formally declared war against Russia, and decreed that 150,000 fresh troops should be raised and organized at once, for the defence of Islam. The Casr, when this heroic act of the "siek man" was announced to bim, declared that, "from that moment forth he retracted all his con-cessions." What his concessions had recently been to. Turkey, or what concessions had recently been to make a forth the restrict the been fur-ther delayed. Even before it was possible for the news to have reached the Danube, about 1300 Redifs suddenly passed the river, and made a forth water's edge, and recrossed in safety with their spolls.
