CHAPTER XVIII.
AN IRREPARABLE WRONG.
"Why has Bruce not come with you?" he asked, his blue eyes fixed on hers appealingly.
She shrugged.
"Do not speak of him. Let—let me forget him!"
"Forget him! Forget Bruce! Why, it was only the other day that you were engaged to him," he said, trembling with excitement. "Are you not—is the engagement broken off? For Heaven's sake, tell me, Floris."

She raised her eyes to his solemnly.
"Yes; it is broken off."
He drew a long breath, his eyes still fixed on her.
"And it is this, then, added to the bad news from home, that makes you look like this! I—I guessed it! But why? What has happened? Oh, Floris, it makes my heart ache to see you looking so wretched and miserable! Floris, you know that I would gladly give up my life, if it would purchase an hour's happiness for you."
She put out her hand, pleading to him for silence; but he would not, could not stop.

"You know it! Floris, let me help you. Tell me what has happened. Have you quarrelled?"
She shook her head.
"No! Then—then it is Bruce's fault! In any case, it must be his! But he will be sorry! It is not too late to bring things round again. Floris, let me be as your brother should. Let me have the satisfaction of healing this breach between you. May I?"
"No!" she said, huskily. "No one can do that—not even you!"
"Let me write to him!" he pleaded. "We are old friends. He would take more from me than from any one else. Floris, if I know him, he is at this moment suffering as deeply as you are. But it is not of him I am thinking, but of you—of you! Let me write! A word now will do so much good!"
The tears ran down her face as she shook her head.
"No word that can be written can do any good," she murmured, and there was something in the tone of her voice which carried conviction to Bertie's soul.

the station, "but one thing I could have done; I could have kept out of the fool's errand I am bound on!"
She looked at him questioningly. His lips were set tightly, his brows drawn as if with pain.

"Floris—Miss Carlisle—just now I said how sorry I was I could not go further with you than this station. That was before I knew this, before I knew how badly you wanted a friend. Judge how deeply, how madly I must regret it now! Floris, the reason I cannot go with you, see you safely at home, and remain near you to help you, if possible, is that I am leaving England at once."
"Leaving England?" she said, in a very dull way.

"Yes," he answered, gnawing at his mustache, his face white and drawn.
"Yes; I am ordered on active service. I am now on my way to join my regiment at the docks. I shall just have time to do so and no more!"
"Your regiment?"
"Floris," he went on, his eyes fixed on her wistfully, "I tried hard to forget you—ah, do not shrink. Do you think I would speak of my love now, now that you are in this trouble? No! I tried to get over my sorrow, tried honestly, but I could not. A stroger man might have done so, but I am not strong, or my love for you was stronger than myself! Let it be as it may, I have failed. When I read in the papers that Bruce had won what I had lost, England became hateful to me. I could not bear to face the probability of meeting you and him while my love for you lived in my heart so strongly. This war broke out, they wanted volunteers. I was officer in the militia, and eligible, and I offered myself for active service. They accepted me only yesterday, and ordered me out."

His hand sought hers, and grasped it tightly, and Floris could not find it in her heart to draw it away.
"A few hours ago I might have backed out, or got an exchange; but there is not time now! There is hardly time to present myself. I must go! I must go and leave you, Floris, to meet this trouble alone. Oh, Heaven, what fools men are! If I had but waited—Oh, don't misunderstand me!" for Floris had shrunk back. "It is not that I have any wild hope of winning you, though Heaven only knows what such love as mine could compass! In time you might have had pity on me, if all is really over between Bruce and you. But it was not that hope of which I was thinking. I regard myself as your brother, Floris; dear Floris! and I must leave you!" his voice faltered—"I may never see you again! It is hard to leave you in such trouble and alone—but I must do so!"
"Do not think of me!" murmured Floris.

He stared at his watch, and thrust it back in his pocket with a groan.
"Yes; we must part! Just when I might have been of some use to you! Fool! fool!" and he clasped her hand with a despairing gesture.
"Oh, hush, hush!" murmured Floris. "You could not have helped me! Do not think of me! But this war—!" He laughed bitterly.
"Who cares about the war?" he retorted. "It was an excuse to get away; to do something, so that in the doing of it I might forget you; and now I shall carry this remembrance of you with me. Alone! Alone, with no one by your side; while I might have been near you, to help and comfort you. Yes, I have been a fool, and I am rightly punished!"
It was Floris' turn to console. Gently, timidly, she put out her hand and took his.

"And do you think you have not comforted me?" she murmured, her sad voice grown soft and tender.
"Dear friend, the memory of your kindness and tender-heartedness will remain with me though you have gone. Do not forget me, Lord Clifford; remember that you have a sister here in England who will pray for your safety and happiness, and who, happen what may, will never forget how true a friend you have been to her!"
No man will have cause to blush for Bertie when we say that the tears swam thickly in his eyes.
"Heaven bless you, Floris," he whispered. "Would to Heaven that I had had Bruce's luck! I would not have squandered it, and trampled it under foot as he has done!"
There was no time for more; there was, indeed, scarcely time to get her ticket. But he did get it, and put her in the train, and stood at the car

CHAPTER XIX.
THE DEERTALKERS.
IN the "good old times," which thank Heaven, by the way, we shall never see again, favored by spirits, supposed to have been guided by spirits, which, when the favored mortals were thinking of setting out on adventures, whispered, "Go thou!" or "Do not go!"
If Lord Norman had been in possession of such a guiding spirit it would certainly have whispered in his ear, on the morning of the Scarcross expedition, "Do not go!"
As it was, though he had no presentiments of coming evil, and the plot which had been laid for the destruction of his happiness, he was not very keen on the outing.
Deertalking had been a passion to him, and there was no one whose knowledge of the sport was greater than his, no one whose eyes were keener, or whose physical endurance was greater.

But on this occasion he would rather have remained at Ballyfoe, and spent the two days with Floris.
"To back out of the affair was for him, however, an impossibility. Sir Joseph had organized the expedition for weeks past; and then again, there was the personage who particularly desired Lord Norman's company.
The party started in the early morning, on horseback, attended by a few favored Highland servants, who were experts in stalking, and everybody who knew anything of the sport declared that the prospects were first-rate, and that the sturdy Scotch ponies would soon return laden with the royal game.
Lord Norman, who had been rather silent during the long ride, grew more cheerful after dinner, and when the cigars were alight vouchsafed to relate some of his experiences in deertalking, and to be generally amusing.
They gathered round the fire, chatting, until eleven, then, by mutual consent, went off to bed.

Australia Independence

By Capture of Hundred Prisoners. The British were Defeated By Allies. Wilson Preaches

WAR SUMMARY.

By a great surprise attack on the German lines, planned especially as a celebration of American Independence Day, Australian troops have wrested from the enemy the village of Hamel, east of Amiens, occupied by the Germans. The village is large, and captured more than 1,500 prisoners. The Australians advanced under cover of a smoke barrage and were led by tanks in the breaking of the enemy lines on a front of more than four miles. The attack penetrated a mile and a half into the German lines. The British War Office announces that American troops participated in the attack. This is the first time they have appeared in the part of the battle area. The French have also struck savagely against the German lines, this time cutting through the enemy's ranks near the town of Ancheux, south of Moulin-Sous-Toutvent, where on Tuesday night they won a local success and captured 1,085 prisoners. In both operations the Allies have improved their positions by gaining rather high ground which can be readily defended when the Germans launch their expected offensive. At the time the British, French and Americans were attacking the Italians continued to advance in the area near the mouth of the Piave. Scattered machine gun emplacements have been cleared out, while light boats from the Italians had entered the lagoons on the left flanks of the Austrian army and lent valuable aid to the land forces. The Italians also won ground in the San-Lorenz Valley, east of the Brenta River. Announcement is made that Mohammed V., Sultan of Turkey died on Wednesday night. The heir to the throne is Yuseff Izzeduna, cousin of the deceased Sultan and a son of the late Sultan Abdul Aziz. Fighting between the Germans and Soviet forces and the peasantry is reported from Yokster in Berg, the city in east Russia, where the main line of the trans-Siberian railway is joined by the road running to the north and south of Russia. It was reported recently that the Czech Slovak troops were in control of Yokaterinburg, and it is stated that an army of 200,000 peasants well armed has been formed there. German attempts to drive American forces from their positions at Taux west of Chateau Thierry seem to have failed utterly. In all Allied countries and their colonies the American Independence Day was observed in an unprecedented manner. In London and the large cities of England there were special exercises, even the small towns joined in honoring the day. In France the people of Paris and other great many other cities joined in the observance of the day with their proverbial enthusiasm, and elaborate programmes were carried out. In Italy the smaller cities vied with their larger sisters in the celebration of the day. South American nations, three of which had declared national holiday, participated in what was virtually a world-wide celebration of American importance.

FRENCH SUCCESSFUL ATTACK

PARIS, July 4.—The French delivered an attack between Autrech and Moulin-Sous-Toutvent, giving them further gain of territory. The entire operation netted the French a gain of ground on a front of more than three miles, a maximum depth of approximately three-fifths of a mile. The French took 1,066 prisoners. North of Mont Didier between Mont Didier and Oise and on the right bank of the Meuse, the French carried out several raids bringing back prisoners. Between the Oise and the Aisne at 10 o'clock last night French troops attacked the German lines west of Autrech on a front of two kilometers and made an advance of about 800 metres. Later in the evening another attack was made. In the same raid between Autrech and Moulin-Sous-Toutvent at the moment when the Germans were preparing a counter-attack the French made a further gain of ground. The entire advance which extended on a front of three kilometers reached a depth of 1,200 metres at certain points. The number of unwounded prisoners taken in the course of these actions is 1,066.

By Capture of Hamel Village and Fifteen Hundred Prisoners. Americans Hold Positions. The "Glorious Fourth" Celebrated By Allies, and in South America. Wilson Preaches "the Reign of Law."

WAR SUMMARY.

By a great surprise attack on the German lines, planned especially as a celebration of American Independence Day, Australian troops have freed from the enemy the village of Hamel, east of Amiens, occupied since the capture of the village of Villers-Bretonneux, south of the village of Hamel, and captured more than 1,500 prisoners. The Australians advanced under cover of a smoke barrage and were led by tanks in the breaking of the enemy lines on a front of more than four miles. The attack penetrated a mile and a half into the German lines. The British War Office announces that American troops participated in the attack. This is the first time they have appeared in this part of the battle area. The French have also struck savagely against the German lines, this time cutting through the enemy's ranks near the town of Anchenes, south of Moulin-Sous-Touvent, where on Tuesday night they won a local success and captured prisoners. Here the Germans lost 1,085 prisoners. In both operations the Allies have improved their positions by gaining rather high ground which can be readily defended when the Germans launch their expected offensive. At the time the British, French and Americans were attacking the Italians continued to advance in the area near the mouth of the Piave. Scattered machine gun emplacements have been cleared out, while light boats from the Italians had entered the lagoons on the left flanks of the Austrian army and lent valuable aid to the land forces. The fighting between the Germans and Soviet forces and the peasantry is reported from Yokster in Berg, the city in east Russia, where the main line of the trans-Siberian railway is joined by the road running to the north and south of Russia. It was reported recently that the Czech Slovak troops were in control of Yoksterburg, and it is stated that an army of 200,000 peasants well armed has been formed there. German attempts to drive American forces from their positions at Vaux west of Chateau Thierry seem to have failed utterly. In all Allied countries Independence Day was observed in an unprecedented manner. In London and the large cities of England there were special exercises, even the small towns joined in honoring the U. S. In France the people of Paris and a great many other cities joined in the observance of the day with their proverbial enthusiasm, and elaborate programmes were carried out. In Italy the smaller cities vied with their larger sisters in the celebration of the day. South American nations, three of which had declared the day a national holiday, participated in what was virtually a world-wide celebration of American Independence.

FRENCH SUCCESSFUL ATTACK.

PARIS, July 4. The French delivered an attack between Autrech and Moulin-Sous-Touvent, giving them further gains of territory. The entire operation netted the French a gain of ground on a front of more than three miles to a maximum depth of approximately three-fifths of a mile. The French took 1,065 prisoners. North of Mont Didier between Mont Didier and the Oise and on the right bank of the Meuse, the French carried out several raids bringing back prisoners. Between the Oise and the Aisne, at 7:30 o'clock last night French troops attacked the German lines west of Autrech on a front of two kilometres and made an advance of about 800 metres. Later in the evening a new attack was made. In the same region between Autrech and Moulin-Sous-Touvent at the moment when the Germans were preparing a counter attack the French made a further gain of ground. The entire advance which extended on a front of five kilometres reached a depth of 1,200 metres at certain points. The number of unwounded prisoners taken in the course of these actions is 1,065 including 18 officers. One of our battalions alone took more than three hundred prisoners.

HAMEL CAPTURED.

LONDON, July 4. This morning we carried out a successful operation between Villers-Bretonneux and the Somme and the village of Hamel has been captured and our line has been advanced to an average depth of two thousand yards. The hostile artillery has been active in the Robecq and St. Jene-Cappell sectors.

THE AUSTRALIANS.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 4.—Australian troops attacked the German lines northeast of Villers-Bretonneux on the Somme from this morning and beside taking Hamel village are said to have battled their way forward beyond Hamel and Villers-Bretonneux. To the north of the region between the Somme and the Ancre another smashing blow was struck by British troops which advanced the front line four hundred yards along a width of 12 hundred yards. Several hundred prisoners were taken in the advance.

NO COMPROMISE.

WASHINGTON, July 4. At an Independence gathering at Mount Vernon, home and tomb of George Washington, President Wilson to-day addressed a small gathering of officials and diplomats of the Allied nations. But he spoke to the world and he spoke the logical sequel to his "force without stint or limit" declaration of several weeks ago. Unreservedly, the President declared that there could be no thought of a peace which did not mean the destruction of military autocracy or its reduction to virtual impotence. "A reign of law, based on the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind," was the way he summarized in a single sentence the objects of humanity in the world war. Whether the President was addressing his remarks directly to the recent speech of the German Foreign Secretary, Von Kuehlmann, or to the foreboding of a renewed German peace offensive, or whether he merely took the occasion of the celebration of American Independence to emphasize to the world the aims of the nation, can only be divined. He did not deal with the progress of the war or any particular phase of it, but he spoke eloquently of America's attitude towards Germany's so-called peace treaties in the East by grouping the people of Russia, "for the moment unorganized and helpless," among the peoples of the world standing against the enemies of liberty. The President's address in part was: "This is surely a fitting place (Mount Vernon), from which calmly to look out upon our task that we may fortify our spirits for its accomplishment. And this is the appropriate place from which to avow, alike to the friends who look, and to the friends with whom we have the happiness to be associated in action, the faith and purpose with which we act. This, then, is our conception of the great struggle in which we are engaged. The plot is written plainly upon every scene and every act of the supreme tragedy. On the one hand stand the people of the world, not only the peoples actually engaged, but many others also who suffer under mastery, but cannot act—peoples of many races and in every part of the world. The people of stricken Russia are still among the rest, though they are for the moment unorganized and helpless. Opposed to them, masters of many armies, are an isolated, friendless group of governments who seek no common purpose but only selfish ambitions of their own, by which none can profit but themselves, and whose peoples are fully in their hands; governments which treat their people and yet are for the time their sovereign lords, making every choice for them and disposing of their lives and fortunes as they will, as well as of the lives and fortunes of every people who fall under their power; governments clothed with the strange trappings and the primitive authority of an age that is altogether alien and hostile to our own. The past and the present are in deadly grapple, and the peoples of the world are being done to death between them. There can be but one issue, the settlement must be final, there can be no compromise. No half way decision is conceivable. These are the ends for which the associated peoples of the world are fighting, and which must be conceded them before there can be peace: the destruction of every arbitrary power, anywhere that can be separately, secretly and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world, or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at the least its reduction to virtual impotence; the settlement of every question whether of territory, of sovereignty, of economic relationship upon the basis of the free acceptance of that settlement by the people immediately concerned and not upon the basis of the material interest or advantage of any other nation or people which may desire a different settlement for the sake of its own exterior influence or mastery; the consent of all nations to be governed in their conduct toward each other by the same principle of honor and of respect for the common law of civilized society that govern the individual citizens of all modern states in their relations with one another to the end that all promises and covenants may be sacredly observed; no private plots of conspiracies hatched, no selfish injuries wrought with impunity, and a mutual trust established upon the handsome foundation of a mutual respect for right; the establishment of an organization of Peace which shall make it certain that the combined power of free nations will check every invasion of right and serve to make peace and justice the more secure, by affording a definite tribune of opinion to which all must submit, and by which every international readjustment that cannot be amicably agreed upon by the peoples directly concerned shall be sanctioned. These great objects can be put into a single sentence. What we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind. These great ends cannot be achieved by debating and seeking to reconcile and accommodate what statesmen may wish, with their projects for balances of power and of national opportunity. They can be realized only by the determination of what the thinking peoples of the world desire with their longing for hope, for justice, and for social freedom and opportunity. I can fancy that the air of this place carries the scent of such principles with a peculiar kindness. Here we started forces which the great nation which they were primarily directed at first regarded as a revolt against its rightful authority, but which it has long since seen to have been a step in the liberation of its own people, as well as of the people of the United States; and I stand here now to speak proudly and with confident hope of the spread of this revolt, this liberation, to the great stage of the world itself. The blinded rulers of Prussia have aroused forces they knew little of, forces which, once aroused, can never be crushed to earth again, for they have at their heart an inspiration and purpose which are deathless and of the very stuff of triumph."

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

PARIS, July 4. General Pershing to-day sent the following message to Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain: "The American army in France feels special satisfaction in knowing that yours is beside it for the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. I have learned with equal pleasure that the people of England are uniting with our soldiers and sailors to celebrate the fourth with unusual brilliancy, uniting for a manifestation of sympathy and international concord which will remain a memorable date in the history of our two nations."

ENGLAND CELEBRATES.

LONDON, July 4. No country ever celebrated the national anniversary of another country as the people of Great Britain to-day are celebrating the "Fourth of July." Not alone in London but in cities and villages throughout the Kingdom in town halls and in churches the American anniversary is being commemorated. Announcement from Washington that the United States has sent overseas her first million troops kindled immense enthusiasm and gave great impetus to the celebration. Wherever there are American soldiers and sailors they are entertained with great hospitality. Outdoor events which attracted most attention was the baseball game between American soldiers and sailors, which King George will attend with the Queen and Princess Mary, and the King throws out the first ball. The newspapers say that President Wilson must reproach after the war by coming over to England and kicking off at a football game.

RECIPROCAL MESSAGE.

PARIS, July 4. In a message to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, Commander-in-Chief of the British armies in France, General Pershing said: "My dear Sir Douglas, Independence Day greetings from the British armies in France extended by its distinguished Commander-in-Chief are most deeply appreciated by all ranks of the American forces. The firm unity of purpose that on the fourth of July this year so strongly binds these great Allied nations together stands as a new declaration and a new guarantee that the sacred principle of liberty shall not perish but shall be extended to all peoples. With the most earnest good wishes from myself and entire command to you and our brave British brothers in arms, I remain always in great respect and high esteem, yours very sincerely, John Pershing."

Fads and Fashions.

Heavy crepe smocks are embroidered with heavy cottons in dull colors. A black satin frock has a vest of white batiste embroidered in black silk. A dress of heavy, oyster-white tussore silk has a skirt quilted in rose color.

French women are wearing white sailor hats with plain black bands on them. Collars and cuffs to match lighten up the navy dresses of heavy material. Calico, cretonne and percale in dark colors are very suitable for street frocks.

Pink and white striped materials make the most fashionable summer dresses. Some of the prettiest veils are figured and are simply thrown over the hat.

The new high mushroom hats are very apt to have heavy wool embroidery. With beige and biscuit colored frock hats of positive hues are most desirable. Although short sleeves are in vogue, gingham and pongees keep the longer ones.

Automobile coats are made of rubberized silk or leather lined with plain tweed. Three-quarters and just-below-the-elbow sleeves have a slight flare to relieve awkward lines.

A Pleasant Party.

A very enjoyable time was spent Wednesday afternoon, when a party of friends, including the following, Capt. and Mrs. Rose, Capt. and Mrs. Robinson, Capt. and Mrs. James, Capt. Kean, mother and sister, Mrs. Capt. Burke and Miss Burke, and Miss Dalton drove to Brennan's, where tea was served. After a little time spent in social pleasure, the party returned to town.

Loyalty.

The loyalty of Britons to their Sovereign and Empire has never been questioned. Deep rooted, struggle or revolution. Unless, as subjects and sharers in the prestige of Imperialism, we are willing to do this, our loyalty is vain. More than ever in the present grave crisis there need for the fulfilment of constancy to this realm. No nation, no dominion, no individual should waver, and the fidelity of all should be beyond reproach. The menace which threatens our existence as a free people, exercising our rights to pursue liberty and happiness, exists in strength, for the Hun is by no means conquered. To vanquish this enemy of freedom all and sundry must be faithful to the cause. There must be no suspension of disloyalty. Quick to take advantage of any discord within the imperial family the common foe will gladly welcome anything which savours of unfaithfulness or doubt. Anything of a nature calculated to show weakness will be encouraging the enemy and prolonging the struggle for justice. There must be no wavering, no weakness, no flinching. Strength, courage, fidelity and an unwavering determination to win will prove our loyalty and will bring ultimate victory.

Notes and Comments

Price fixing by the Government has worked nothing but mischief.—Ex-President Roosevelt. Another advantage in having the coal in early, lies in the supply of ammunition readily available when the midnight cat chorus gets going. What about that alleged cash shortage at the Custom House? Whose were the I. O. U's left in the Treasury as an equivalent, and have they been taken up? The people of the city and outports are asking these questions, and it would be quite within reason to expect an answer. No good will be done by concealment. The Austrians have not fought any better since the Kaiser conscripted them than they did when they thought they were volunteers. Hoch der Kaiser no longer is heard in the cafes of Vienna. A steamship recently arriving at an American Atlantic port, reported sighting an iceberg off Cape Race that was three hundred feet high and a mile and a half long. Some lump of ice. The St. Louis Republic says: The aim of the L. W. W. is said by its leaders to be a minimum work day of two hours at six dollars per day. Why drag in anything about work? With eighty-nine ships launched in the United States yesterday the ideal "safe and sane" Fourth has at length been achieved. Who will venture to go into that sanitarium and break the news of Austria's defeat by Italy to Hindenburg? His Majesty the King took in the ball games at London yesterday but he will never get the real genuine thrill of baseball until he has dodged a few pop bottles.

S. of America, the Synod of the Diocese of Newfoundland desires to place on record its high appreciation of the stand that the said people have taken in defence of truth and love as well as of their determination to offer unreservedly their tremendous resources in men and material to liberate the races of mankind from tyranny and oppression. The Synod also desires to extend to the President of the U. S. its congratulations and best wishes, and request that a copy of this Resolution be conveyed through His Excellency the Governor to the President." Newfoundland Club in Chicago.

Some two weeks ago a number of Newfoundlanders in Chicago started a Newfoundland Club, the object of organization being to frame a system by which assistance could be rendered in helping their Dominion look after her soldier boys who the war is over. At this meeting thirty Newfoundlanders attended and registered, but this number only covers a small portion of the sons of Terra Nova living in and about Chicago. As the club is desirous of getting in touch with every Newfoundland, and having all come in, we would suggest that relatives in Newfoundland send in a list of the names of their sons and brothers residing in or near Chicago, in order that the same may be communicated to the Secretary, who will then get in personal touch with them. The name, with street or business address will be sufficient and any letters containing such information may be sent to the office of this paper, addressed to the Editor. We commend the suggestion made to all our city and outport readers and will be too pleased to help along the good work which the Newfoundland Club of Chicago is about to undertake. The originator of the movement is Mr. Frank F. Syme, of Syme, Eagle & Company, Chicago.

Buick Topics.

The experience gained from amongst owners of over five hundred thousand Buicks, built in past years, has influenced the design of 1918 Buicks. The 1918 model Buicks, therefore are what 500,000 motorists consider a car should be, the latest thought in automobile construction. The splendid results obtained by users of Buick cars is another proof that the standardisation of cars as adopted by Buick, is the only way to produce satisfactory machines in the hands of their users, which, as a rule is not the case with those makes which change and chop about every year, with sometimes four or five different models. Buick popularity is based on mechanical excellence of the car but it is augmented by the beauty of the design, the completeness of the body appointments, and the great economy in the maintenance and operations of the car. It is, of course, important that the motor car of to-day be dependable, economical, and efficient. These are well known Buick characteristics, which have been maintained during the entire seventeen years of Buick history.—adv.11

Last evening, the entertainment, under the auspices of the W. P. A. in aid of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, held in the Casino, attracted large crowds of people. Following a splendid exhibition of war films, the concert programme was gone through. This consisted of solos by Miss Orr, Mr. Arthur Williams, and Captain Campbell, A. D. Loveys told of his adventures from the time he was captured, to his exchange, and his audience listened with rapt attention until the last word was uttered. The event closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

To-Day's Messages. 10. A. M. HOW IT WAS DONE. BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE (via Reuter's Ottawa Agency). To-day, this morning's operations at Villers-Bromonieux was one of the most successful of the kind in this war. It followed exactly the lines laid down in advance. The ground offered considerable odds to the defenders, yet in less than two hours the whole four lines were in our hands. Our entire casualties were barely a third of the number of prisoners captured, and we reduced three German divisions to mere wreaths of what they had been this morning. The features of the attack were the forethought and completeness in its preparation, and the use of tanks which, manœuvring admirably, sprang a surprise upon the enemy. Considering the large number of dead, the haul of 1500 prisoners exceeds expectation, even though it includes a battalion commander and the greater part of his command. A preparatory raid of bombs on Hamel contributed largely towards keeping down our casualties. The enemy's attention was distracted by three distinct attacks, launched north of the river, which kept his guns busy. Nearly a hundred men and some ground was captured in these attacks, which completely deceived the enemy regarding what was happening across the river. The German divisions engaged, which suffered heavily, were the 43rd, 77th and 130th; the latter is a new division on this front, having recently moved from Lens. LONDON "FOURTH" CELEBRATIONS. HOW IT WAS DONE.
BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE (via Reuters' Ottawa Agency). To-day—This morning's operations at Villers Brionneux was one of the most successful of the kind in this war. It followed exactly the lines laid down in advance. The ground offered considerable odds to the defenders, yet in less than two hours the whole four lines were in our hands. Our entire casualties are hardly a third of the number of prisoners captured, and we reduced three German divisions to mere wreaths of the features of the attack were the forethought and completeness in its preparation, and the use of tanks which manœuvred admirably against a surprise upon the enemy. Considering the large number of dead, the haul of 4500 prisoners exceeds expectation even though it includes a battalion commander and the greater part of his command. A preparatory raid of bombs on Hillside contributed largely towards keeping down our casualties. The enemy's attention was distracted by three distinct attacks, launched north of the river, which kept his guns busy. Nearly a hundred men and some ground was captured in these attacks, which completely deceived the enemy regarding what was happening across the river. The German divisions engaged which suffered heavily, were the 43rd, 77th and 100th; the latter is a new division on this front, having recently moved from Lens.

LONDON "FOURTH" CELEBRATIONS.

LONDON, To-Day. The formal celebration of the fourth of July began with a fellowship meeting in Central Hall. Five hundred seats there were allotted to American soldiers and sailors. The meeting opened with the band of the Coldstream Guards playing the Star Spangled Banner. Viscount Bryce, former Ambassador to the United States, spoke feelingly of the past and present relations between the two countries. Winston Spencer Churchill, Minister of Munitions, then proposed a greeting to the President and the people of the United States. This was seconded by W. N. Rowell, President of the Privy Council of Canada. Major Geo. H. Putnam of New York proposed a resolution expressing profound satisfaction that the two great English speaking races find themselves for the first time fighting side by side in the cause of justice and liberty. The resolution was seconded by Professor Canby, of Yale University. Vice-Admiral Sims, Commander of the United States naval forces in the war zone, and General Peddie of the United States army also spoke. The meeting concluded with the singing of "God save the King." All American organizations in London had representatives at the meeting and blocks of seats were set aside for wounded British, French, Belgians and Italians. Viscount Bryce said the bitterness of 1776 never could have risen had the will of the British people ruled then as it rules to-day. The severance came, he declared, because we had then a perverse court and a non-representative parliament.

KERENSKY ORATES.
PARIS, To-Day. Not a single democratic institution remains in Russia. Former Premier Kerensky told the Permanent Committee of the Socialist party. "A year and a half ago," he said, "the triumph of the Russian revolution seemed a turning point in the history of the world. To-day one sees but chaos. Three centuries of Caesars and three years of war have exhausted Russia's natural capital, destroyed her works and organizations and killed her best workers and peasants."

A teamster, charged with violating the traffic rules, was fined $2 or 7 days.

HAD TO RETURN.—A number of carpenters, who had come here from Bell Island to work at the Reid Co's. dock, returned again yesterday, as the men there refused to work with them unless they joined the N.I.W.A. This they refused to do, and consequently there was nothing left for them but return home.

TO JOIN AMERICAN RED CROSS. —Three St. Anthony nurses, who are present in the city, will very soon proceed to America, there to join the Red Cross force. We congratulate the young ladies on their patriotism and also the hospital that gave them, as it must be to it a very serious loss especially now that the busy season has come.

Shameful Waste of Food.

A gentleman informs the Telegram of a most disgraceful and flagrant violation of the Food Control regulations which happened on a waterside premises a few days ago, when the cook of a fishing crew jumped overboard with a great quantity of bread. When spoken to about the shameful waste of food, the cook got angry and told our informant to go to "a warm climate" and that it was none of his business, and that there was lots of bread when the other came from people who are accustomed to waste food or through carelessness allow it to spoil should be made to suffer for their extravagant actions.

Turks Claim Egypt and the Black Sea.

Baale, Switzerland, June 23.—The Turkish newspaper Aati, a copy of which has been received here, in an article in which it lays emphasis on the statement that Turkey's intervention in the war has probably prevented the Central Powers from defeating crushed, formulates conditions as representing public opinion on what Turkey's peace terms should be.

The terms, the newspaper says, embrace the restitution of Irak and Palestine, the re-establishment of Turkish supremacy in Egypt, the independence of Persia, to be secured by the expulsion of the British; the Black Sea to become Turkish, with a Turkish Prince in the Crimea, a German Prince in Georgia, and an Austrian Archduke in Armenia; Bulgaria to hold Northern Dobruja, but Constantinian and Dedegatch to become free ports; Austria not to evacuate Northern Italy until Turkey has recovered Cyrenaica, and Turkey to recover Crete.

Travel and Economy.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Well, I'd rather stay at home than have to scrimp when I'm traveling." I'll give you two guesses as to which sex was responsible for that statement. (That's an unconscious Hibernianism.) The old question had come up— which is better, to travel and see what you can in a simple fashion, or to stay at home unless you can travel with all the frills?

Three out of four women said they wouldn't mind reasonable economy if they could see something of the world. The four men unanimously declared for luxurious travelling or none at all.

I was one of the three women. Which is very far from meaning that I wouldn't enjoy the luxuries of travel if I could have them. But I wouldn't stay at home if I couldn't.

Travelling Across the Country With Lunch Baskets.

To be sure, there are extremes of economy to which I wouldn't go. For instance, I know some people who want all the way across the continent with basket lunches. (Incidentally, they were very well-to-do people.) I couldn't quite go that far. But I wouldn't mind looking at the price of any dish before I ordered it. I wouldn't mind having large orders served for two. I wouldn't mind travelling, some, in day coaches. I wouldn't mind not being able to go to the best hotels.

To Impress the Waiter.

And, most important of all, I would not really mind if the waiters, porters, hotel clerks, and so forth, could perceive that I was not wealthy. After all, when you come down to it, is the opinion of these personages such a vital factor in our life? We shan't see them again. Many of them are people whose opinions on most subjects we should not give a fig for. Why then, do we feel obliged to regulate our expenditures in order to stand well in their eyes? For that, I think, is one of the chief influences that makes travellers spend more than they can afford.

"I think an essay could be written on 'Impressing the Waiter.'" suggested someone, during our conversation. And then the Authorman punctured that scheme by saying a well known magazine had already carried an article under that heading.

No Money Like Dust on the Mantel.

Men, as I implied in the beginning, are a great deal more sensitive about this matter of public spending than women. Which, of course, when you stop to think of it, is natural. Men are the money getters. Money stands to them, for success. If they advertise the fact that they have not money, consider that they are advertising the fact that they are failures. (Mistakenly, of course, but that's another story.) A man feels, about being detected in not having money enough for any contingency, as a woman does about having any inadequacy at housekeeping, dust on the mantel, and unmade beds in the afternoon, displayed to the public.

Nevertheless, I think even men could show a little more strength of character, in regard to regulating their expenses, more by the criterion of value and enjoyment and justifiable expense, and less by the criterion of the waiter's approval.

to which a little ammonia has been added, the children being turned out of their room on that day, so as ensure plenty of time for cleaning and to prevent any dampness while the small occupants are present. The floor should be covered with something washable and warm, and for this cork carpet immediately suggest itself and curtains should be dispensed with, although pretty ones of linen or case-ment cloth drawn on winter evenings, lend a certain cheeriness to the room and are quite easy to keep clean.

THE PETTY PLANS.

A neighbour's house was burning down; the fury was intense; The flames were spitting towards the sky, the clouds of smoke were dense; And many ran to share the fight, but one looked down the street. And said: "My supper's ready now, and I'll stay here and eat."

The world is now ablaze with hate, the skies with fire are red; The fields of France to-day are strewn with young and manly dead; And yet I heard a man complain that he was asked to eat. His share of sacrificial bread, to give the warriors wheat.

And I have heard a man demur, when mailed upon to aid. That it would interfere with some pet pleasure-plant he'd made. Have heard one say, in time like this, with all the world at grip. That he would not deny himself a simple fishing trip!

Oh, petty men, forget yourselves! This is life's biggest age. The greatest drama of all times is now upon the stage! Big deeds are claiming big men, here, with victory at stake; Big thoughts must occupy men's minds and petty plans must break.

THE HAIR IN WINTER.

Even the fluffiest most luxuriant head of hair will begin to show signs of deterioration during the winter, the evidence being lack of lustre. The woman who values her crown of glory will do well therefore, to give her hair special attention the coming season, and it is surprising how readily the average head will respond to a little judicious treatment. Inside of ten days the hair will cease to fall out, and within a month its soft fluffiness and luster will return.

A shampoo never should be given oftener than once in three weeks. Meanwhile the tresses may be kept fluffy and soft by airing, scalp massaged and an occasional application of the dry shampoo. The latter may be resorted to when it is essential that the hair shall present a good appearance and there is no time for the ordinary wet shampoo, drying and curling.

Hold the head over the bathtub and sprinkle the hair generously with talcum powder, tossing the locks this way and that until every bit of the hair has been thoroughly powdered. Then brush the hair lightly, until all the powder is out. The tresses will assume a soft, fluffy appearance which is so much sought with the modes of dressing the hair.

A pretty handbag is made of dark fougard with large polka-dots and gathered on an ivory ring.

A white union frock, dotted with gray and pink posies, accepts a wide gray sash as its only trimming.

Bright separate belts are fashionable when worn with the white shirtwaist and skirt or over the white sleeveless jacket.

WAR IS HIDEOUS.

WALT MASON

My breast is full of pain, and sore distraught I am, for all the good mechanics now work for Uncle Sam. They've taken all their wrenches and journey to the front, and somewhere near the trenches do their loyal stunt. They fix the martial lorry, repair the U. S. truck, and I am sick and sorry, and sadly cuss the luck. For who will fix my motor, when valves are out of whack, or when the gas tank's floater is ruptured up the back? The men who piled the spanner with more than human skill, have gone, in warlike manner, to sew up Kaiser Bill. Our village vet is trying to haul our motor carts, and tonics he's applying to all their ailing parts. He views the carburetor, and piles no monkey wrench, but says, "It will be better when it has had a drench." He says, "Conditions thermic some fever indicate; a good strong hypodermic will put your engine straight." My troubles are Titanic, my car has ceased to chug. I yearn for a mechanic who does not use a drug. My soul is in the shadow, my heart is steeped in woe. I've found that C. Sagra da won't make a motor go.

City Council.

The Municipal Council held its regular weekly session last evening. The Mayor presided and all the Councillors attended.

After reading the minutes, etc., the following matters were disposed of:—

A. Macpherson applied for water to his stable, King's Bridge Road. Engineer to report.

The Mayor read the following report:—

Since our last meeting I have seen Mr. M. Connors in respect to the field on Quidi Vidi Road, which we decided to take over from him, and to lay out in building lots. He has appointed Mr. J. B. Sclater as his arbitrator and it is now necessary for us to appoint ours.

As the arbitration can take place at once, and the city placed in possession of a part of the field in a short time, I see no reason why we should not decide how to lay out the ground, and also to ask for tenders for the building of say half a dozen double houses according to the plans we have adopted.

In connection with the building of houses Mr. James McGrath informs me that with the assistance of Mr. John Anderson he is endeavouring to form a Building Society which he hopes may undertake the building of houses on a large scale. I told him that the City would shortly be in possession of the Quidi Vidi Road property and would be glad to treat with his Society for the lease of the land in question. I trust that Mr. McGrath's plans for forming a Building Society may be perfected. It was always considered by myself and the late Municipal Board that the best means of dealing with the housing question would be through the medium of Building Societies, and provisions have been made in the Charter for the City to grant help to such Societies. I do not think it advisable for the City to become the landlord of houses if it can possibly be avoided. I have always considered that the best way for the City to help was to build houses for people who wished to become the owners, and who would pay a certain amount of the cost in cash, and the balance over a period of years. In respect to the houses which we may possibly build this year, I would suggest that this method should be adopted.

If we decide to lease the Quidi Vidi Road property for building purposes to Societies or individuals, very careful stipulations will have to be made regarding the type of house to be erected and the upkeep of the same. I have wondered whether we could not adopt the plan for this property of having no divisional fences, and consequently no backyards to be littered up with refuse. This plan is used largely elsewhere and makes a very clean and healthy settlement.

If we find it possible to build this year, I suggest that we should let it be known by advertisement that so many houses will be built, of such a type, costing so much, and ask for applications for same. By this means we will find out how great the demand is at the moment. Only to-day a man came to me asking if I could help him to find a house. He had been paying about $90.00 a year for a house without water and sewerage and owed no rent, but the landlord wanted the house and had given him notice to quit. Unfortunately I could not help him.

While the immediate demand is great, it will be increased tenfold when the City enforces proper housing laws. For instance there must be at least a hundred families living in basements with no light or ventilation except through a door or window in front, the back of the room or rooms being against a wall.

Since the Board enforced the regulation calling upon landlords to put rented houses in habitable condition, numerous complaints have been made to the Council and action taken. Generally speaking the houses are almost too poor to repair.

In my opinion there is nothing of local character more important before the public of St. John's to-day than the need for better houses. It does not matter what question comes up in civic affairs, we find ourselves back again to the impossibility of making real improvements unless the houses are made fit to live in.

I think that before long we must pass a regulation that no house shall be considered "habitable" unless it has water and sewerage. I don't see how the City can be clean nor the public healthy until the whole of our people are living in houses with water and sewerage installed in them.

While speaking of matters connected with the Public Health I am glad to be able to announce that Miss Rogers, the trained nurse who has been employed to organize Community Nursing in the city, has now begun work. She is at present investigating conditions, rendering such help and giving such advice as she is able to at the same time. But it is obvious that one nurse cannot attend to the whole city, and I think that two or three of our local nurses should be employed as soon as possible to work with Miss Rogers, who will be able to carry on the work after she leaves. Until the City is empowered to spend funds for the purpose, I think an appeal must be made to the public for the wherewithal to institute and to carry on this most important work for the children of the city.

M. Connors wrote that he had appointed Mr. J. B. Sclater as arbitrator in connection with his property Quidi Vidi Road.

Mr. J. C. Barter was appointed arbitrator for the Council in the same matter.

Bowring Brothers asked permission to build a garage on the South Side. Passed subject to the Engineer's inspection of plans and his approval.

M. Hickey, Barter's Hill, made a complaint as to the tank near his house.

Nfld. Produce Company applied for water connection with their Cold Storage Plant. Granted, provided all expenses of installation are borne by the Company and they pay same rate for water as others.

It was decided in connection with this matter that all Cold Storage Plants in the city be metered.

J. and F. Davey submitted plan of garage to be built on Bond and Flavin Streets for the Anglo-American Garage Co.; approved.

Plan of garage for Jos. Sellars, on Rennie's Mill Road. Passed, provided pipe connection with Military Road is obtained by him.

It was decided that plans for approval at Thursday's meeting of the Council must be sent in not later than Tuesday evening before.

Wm. A. Bulger asked permission to repair house 13 Boggan Street. Left to the Engineer to see that water and sewerage is in the place.

The question of granting water to the Church of England Orphanage near Long Pond was referred for further report as to cost.

A report was made by the Engineer's Department on cost of extending the sewer out Cockpit Road and a list of property owners was also submitted. Application has been made for a building there. This cannot be acceded to without water and sewerage being available. To do this a large expenditure will be necessary. The owners of the land in question will be written and asked if they are prepared to pay their proportion of this expenditure.

James Brennan requested permission to build addition to house on Angel Place. Granted.

The Health Officer reported two cases diphtheria for the past week.

It was decided to give the second water service to the Military Hospital on Military Road as long as the building is used for the present purposes.

After passing pay rolls, bills, etc., the meeting adjourned.

Big Football Match.

The much talked of big football match that will open this season's play is to be run off at St. George's Field at 7.15 o'clock this evening. The contesting teams being the C. E. I. and B. I. S. Excellence the Governor who was once a star footer, will kick off the ball, when one of the fastest exhibitions of football seen for sometime will be handed out to spectators. Both elevens have had some hard practice and each is confident of victory. The proceeds will be devoted to the W. P. A. which is badly in want of every dime that can be spared. CUBS DEFEAT B.I.S.

The fans who witnessed last evening's exhibition between the Cubs and B.I.S., sure got their dime's worth. It was probably the fastest game since the inception of the League in St. John's. The game occupied less than an hour and there was not a dull moment from "Play Ball" until the finish. The two pitchers, Hall and Carew, did marvelous work. Hall had twelve strike-outs and Carew seven. Clouston, catching for the Cubs, put up a fine exhibition while Brazie, the Irish backstop, could not have been excelled. The base work on both sides was excellent. Williams and Power for the B.I.S. did great work. Murphy, Duggan and Canning did exceptionally well in their respective positions. Up to the sixth inning the game stood three to one in favor of the Macmen but a two bagger by Phelan with two men on bases quickly evened up the score and Duggan's long single brought Phelan—and the winning run—across the plate. Doc Power and Freddie Phelan both got two base hits.

Messrs. Chesman and Ryan were Umpires and Messrs. Keegan and Mullings scorers.

The Official detailed account of the game by innings follows:

FIRST INNING.

B.I.S.—French first man up, struck out; Grace struck out, Burke safe on first on an error. Williams caught out; Hall struck side out, but Clouston dropped the third strike on Burke. No runs.

CUBS—Phelan caught out by Power; Murphy thrown out at first; Duggan hit safely for a single and caught stealing second. No runs.

SECOND INNING.

B.I.S.—Power hit safely and went to third, scored on a passed ball; Doyle walked and stole second and third, and scored on Clouston's bad throw to third; Carew struck out; Brazie out at first; O'Reilly hit for a single and was caught stealing second. Two runs.

CUBS—Canning beat out a hit to first and stole second and third; Bell out at first, Canning scoring on the play; Channing walked, stole second; Clouston safe at first, Channing out at third; Clouston caught stealing second. One run.

THIRD INNING.

B.I.S.—French safe at first on Clouston's error and called out stealing second; Grace out at first; Burke struck out. No runs.

CUBS—Thomas struck out; Hall struck out; Phelan safe on first, stole second and out stealing third. No runs.

FOURTH INNING.

B.I.S.—Williams struck out; Power struck out; Doyle safe at first on Clouston's error and stole second; Carew walked; Doyle out stealing third; Hall's pitching in this inning was of "big league" calibre. No runs.

CUBS—Murphy struck out; Duggan out at first; Canning safe at first on Power's low throw and caught stealing second. No runs.

FIFTH INNING.

B.I.S.—Brazie walked and stole second and went to third on a bad throw to second and scored on a wild pitch; O'Reilly attempting third strike got hit and called out; French caught out by Murphy; Grace caught out by Clouston. One run.

CUBS—Bell attempting third strike got hit; Channing struck out; Clouston struck out. Carew pitched wonderful ball this inning. No runs.

SIXTH INNING.

B.I.S.—Burke struck out; Williams safe at first, Clouston letting the ball get away from him; Williams out stealing second; Power struck out. No runs.

CUBS—Thomas out at first; Hall hit for a single and purloined second, Phelan hit for two bases, scoring Hall; Murphy got a safe hit, Phelan going to third; Murphy stole second; Duggan hit for a single scoring Phelan and Murphy; Canning struck out and Duggan out stealing third. Three runs.

SEVENTH INNING.

B.I.S.—Doyle struck out; Carew caught out by Bell; Brazie walked and stole second and third; O'Reilly hit by pitched ball took first; French thrown out at first. Game ended. No runs.

Salmon are moving up Harry's River. A. H. Phillips, of New Jersey, fishing on Robinson's River, secured eleven salmon on Tuesday.

E. A. Silver, of Halifax, is fishing the lower pools of Harry's River. Up to Saturday he had two salmon.

J. L. Faunce, of Philadelphia, who is fishing on Harry's River, landed one 12 pound salmon on Friday.

Mr. Myers and his nephew, Edward H. Rochley, Jr., are on Harry's River. They had a "rise" each on Sunday. Francis Young, of Fischell's, landed two salmon from Fischell's River last week, weighing 6 and 7 pounds, respectively.

On June 28th Mail Clerks Ferguson and Boland, and Conductor Baker secured one 9 lb. salmon and one 6 lb. trout at Grand Bay Brook, Port aux Basques.

Up to Sunday salmon did not appear to have reached the upper pools of Harry's River but it is expected there will be good fishing in them within a few days.

The latter part of the past week A. H. Phillips who was fishing at Rob-

Are You Worth Fighting For.

This is a personal question, but you must remember that this War is a personal matter for each and every one of us. You must make it your private business. Are you worth fighting for? If you are, we need not urge you to Buy Victory Bonds, because you will recognize that you owe it as a sacred duty to those who are fighting your battles to back them up to your last cent if necessary. They need no urging to give up all they hold dear in order to take up arms in your defence. What are you going to do about it? They have done their part. It is now up to you to do yours. Do it immediately. Buy Victory Bonds. Interest 6 1/2 per cent for ten years.

"I Need Hardly Say

how thankful I was to get out alive, and fully made up my mind that I would write and tell you how useful Dr. Chase's Ointment was," writes a survivor of the Gallipoli Peninsula campaign. "We found that it afforded instant relief from poison from shrubs and bushes, and got to using it for all manner of minor wounds and grazes."

"They Also Serve."

"The men go out to Flanders As to a Promised Land; The men come back from Flanders With eyes that understand. They've drunk their full of sleeplessness. Of weariness and pain, But cheerfully to Flanders They hasten back again."

Fresh from the hospitals where they have been lying in agony for weeks and sometimes months, patched up sufficiently to again find their place in the firing line, our intrepid soldiers are setting an example to us at home which should make us bow our heads in shame when we contemplate how little we are doing to second their efforts. They have been through the mill, have served and suffered in the trenches, and faced death daily with a courage which could only be inspired by the sacredness of the Cause to which they have pledged themselves. Stricken down in the fight they have been cured and discharged from the hospitals only to "hasten cheerfully back again to Flanders" to guard us from the assaults of the enemy. Far removed from the theatre of war, protected by that far flung line of steel, what are we doing to strengthen their arms and back them up in the fight? What are we doing to make ourselves worthy of their devotion and self-sacrifice? Let it not be said of us, as Kipling caustically wrote after the Boer War, that

"The strong men cheered in their millions While the striplings went to war."

Let us cheer them by all means, but let our cheer and our encouragement take a tangible form which they will be able to appreciate. Cheer them with the news that the Victory Loan is going to be an unprecedented success. Encourage them by subscribing to the limit of your capacity to buy Victory Bonds. This Loan cannot be over-subscribed too much. Every Bond you buy strengthens the hands of our soldiers, and secures your own safety. If you have already bought a Bond, buy another and make your safety more secure. In this War "they also serve who only buy a Bond."

Fishery in Straits.

DIANA RETIRES AND ETHIE TAKES UP SERVICE.

(Western Star.)

The s.s. Diana, Capt. E. English, arrived from Straits Belle Isle Saturday evening. The ship brought along a large number of young men on the way to St. John's to enlist. Speaking of the fishery conditions, Capt. English told the Western Star that a few places on the Labrador side of the Straits, so deemed to be just striking in, fishermen were getting some at Forteau and vicinity. At Blanc Sablon and Bonne Esperance there was very little doing, while at Battle Hill and vicinity there was nothing doing with cod, but they had secured a few barrels of salmon. On the Newfoundland side of the Straits conditions seemed much the same as previous week. There was very little or nothing doing at Flowers Cove, in St. John's Bay prospects were bright, at Port au Choix fishermen had done fairly well, at Port Saunders there was little cod. At Daniel's Hr., Cow Head and Bonne Bay hook and line men had done fairly well, but trapmen had done very little. Caplin have been on the coast two weeks, but do not seem to land very well. There is no ice in the Straits now, and Capt. English saw very few icebergs during the trip. As we stated last week, this finishes the Diana's service on this route. The Ethie has been repaired, and arrived at Humbermouth yesterday morning. She takes up the service to-day. While the passenger accommodation of the Diana was not at all what one could desire, yet as a freight carrier she seems to have suited admirably, and Capt. English and his officers and crew have been most courteous and obliging.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS BET

THAT ONE OF OUR PATRIOTIC CITIZENS WILL PUT UP

A Piano for the Recreation Hut

IN A WEEK'S TIME FROM THE TAKING UP OF THIS BET.

Bets for unlimited amounts are also open to be made that the other requirements of the Recreation Hut as previously advertised, will also be donated by other Patriotic Citizens. Following are some of the requirements.

A GRAMAPHONE.

A good Victor or Columbia is good though! We won't ask for an "Edison" but perhaps one of you millionaires who have been lately buying an "Edison" from our friend Fred Chesman can donate an older machine. (We trust that this may not pass Fred's eye, but may score a hit.)

We shall want some records for that Gramophone. Everybody can help here. A few Concertinas and Mouth Organs would not go astray.

We want some comfortable Chairs, and we will not refuse Morris or Chesterfield Chairs, as taking up too much room. We can do with a whole lot of Books and Magazines, and some Book Cases would be all right.

Some Pictures would brighten up the walls, and some Oil Heaters are wanted to warm up the place for "the Boys."

Some of these things have been asked for before in an advertisement, but perhaps you did not see that ad.

All the boys love music, and we need that Piano badly. It will keep them in, wet evenings, and may keep them from wandering into many pitfalls, as well as from getting colds, etc.

There are many families in St. John's who have a Piano that is not being used.

WE KNOW that one of these families is going to distinguish itself by helping the Regiment with a Piano. This appeal is made jointly by

The Recreation Hut Committee.
The Veterans' Association.
