THE GFOOD SHIP SAFE AT QUEENS-

Experiences of the Passengers-Towed in by the Britannic—Whisky and Brandy the First Things Inquired For.

QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 14.—The Celtic in tow of the Brittanic, has arrived in Queenstown. All on board were in good health. She had suffered no damage other than the breaking of her shaft. She has proceeded in tow of the Brittanic to Livergool. The Brittanic hove in sight of the Celtic on Saturday at six o'clock in the morning. Her appearance was neartily cheered by the passengers on the Celtic, from which vessel a boat was sent off to the Britanic with the c'nief steward to procure a supwhisky and brandy which Teasdale in his tabernacle sermon yesterhad run short. This boat took back the Celtic a light line with which a hawser was drawn on board and the Brittanic at 8 o'clock began towing the missing steamer to port. The Celtic landed two saloon and twenty seven steerage passengers at Queenstown.

One of the steerage passengers named Malone said (1.1) are the content of the gospel. Believe in plural marriage as much as you do in baptism for the remission of sins. The Celtic landed two saloon and twenty-seven steerage passengers at Queenstown. One of the steerage passengers named Malone said "all went well until Sunday evening, the day after leaving New York.

anathor said an went well until Sunday evening, the day after leaving New York. I was playing euchre with some friends. Suddenly we felt a slight shock, but it was not enough to cause us to cease playing. It soon transpired that the steamer's main shaft was broken near the engine room. The steamer was then about thirty hours from New York. No panic occurred, although some passengers were greatly excited. We tossed about for several days, going in a southerly direction, although efforts were made to turn the ship's head toward New York. Finally, a fair wind blowing, it was decided to rursue a course toward England. In the first nine hours afterward the ship made 83 miles. The weather ward the ship made 83 miles. The weather continued are until Christmas day. On continued fine until Christmas day. On that day the steerage passengers received unusually good fare. The doctor conducted divine service for protestants and a ledy officiated for the catholics. A concept was given on Christmas night. Every light we had some amusement. Nothing noteworthy occurred until we spoke the Argossy. A greet clamor arose when it became known that four passengers could be taken aboard the Argossy. The lucky fellows were enwied. As much as £40 was offered for the wied. As much as £40 was offered for the privilege of a berth, but the offer was refused. During the last two weeks we got salted provisions, but no vegetables. THE CAUSE OF THE DEPRESSION. As Unfolded by a Capitalist and a Poli-there is no use of denying it, said a proninent citizen of Toronto, who is a capitalist and a politician, there is a stringency in all money affairs. But the reason of it is simply this: the Pacific railway is being built almost entirely out of Canadian money and to do that one hundred million depressed. The bears had it very nearly dollars has been taken from circulation. their own way, particularly in the wheat Over fifty million dollars has been put into factories and machinery since the inauguration of the national policy; while twentyfive millions at least has been locked up in land investments in the Northwest—in all 175 millions. Added to this is the fact that the capital stock of the banks is less by the wiping out of half the capital of the Ontario bank, by the failure of the Consolidated and the Fxchange banks. So that you will see there has been not only a great drain of capital out of Ontario and Ouchec. rain of capital out of Ontario and Que but a destruction of capital within them.

On top of this came the action of the banks On top of this came the action of the banks in calling up their loans. They have called in nearly every dollar they had in business and on which they were making good profits. They became frightened, just for why they cannot say, and called their loans. The result is that the banks have immense sums on their hands not earning them a cent. But this cannot last; banks them a cent. But this cannot last; banks must make money to pay dividends and dividends can only be earned by lending the money. So as confidence returns the banks will become less conservative, and ioans will become more free. But just for the present the money is all locked up; either in the Pacific railway, or Northwest lands, or in the vaults of the banks.

I beg most respectfully to draw your attention to the abuses arising from the absence of proper regulations for intelligence offices. During the past year our citizens have been terribly imposed upon by misrepresentations and also by excessive fees. It will be remembered I prosecuted an offender who appealed and had the conviction quashed, it being held by the judge that the bylaw did not cover the case, but applied only to domestic servantt and laborers.

Another abuse is even more pernicious and far reaching in its effects. It is alleged that many respectable servant girls have been received through the agency of Mrs. Clayton, who kept an office for a short time in Adelaide street west, sending good girls to houses of ill fame in this and other cities, and some it is alleged were ruined in her own house while boarding there and waiting for a situabut in order more fully to protect the pub-ic. I would recommend that further legislation be had, and the act amended so that a license fee of $20 could be put on if ecessary, and other regulations made to fectually stop the evils complained of and ver all classes seeking employment.

The report suggested that the billiard bylaw be amended so as to exclude from public billiard rooms boys under 17 years of age. It also sug-gested an amendment respecting halls and laces of antisenciat by requiring the cense, and that all entertainments in the ty halls be free from license ices. The Lady Solicitor.

Half a dozen female book agents have struck the town, and are now working it for all that it is worth. Probably they are all working under one directing mind; a man; at all events their modus operandi is to get hold of the head of a concern, talk him into subscribing for their book and then obtain from him a list of all the employes and permission to go through the estabishment to solicit them for orders. The ishment to solicit them for orders. The books they have to sell are worth about forty cents, but they boldly ask $2 for them. Of course it is a subscription book, book not to be delivered till March. Now it is the instinuating "lady solicitor" who comes round to take the orders; in March it will be a gruff man who will deliver the books produce the signatures, and if the subscribers don't pay, up will have the nardihood to go to the "boss" and ask him to stop it off the men's pay. One of these iady solicitors tried to rope in a whole broker's office yesterday but did not succeed very well; however she did better at the Globe and Mail offices, the editors of which headed the list and then twenty which headed the list and then twenty ther fools in each establishment went the 52. The book happened to be a worthless ne for the money; sung the praises of the neroes of three wars of the United States, heroes of three wars of the United States, the fame of some of which heroes rests on the part they played in invading Canada and getting licked before they got home. But Canadians have always been game for American sharps, and these book agents who are taking twenty orders a day no doubt find it so.

TUESDAY MORNING, JAN 15, 1884. Keep to the Point.

We could get along better with Dr. Wild if he would only keep to the point.

He says the mother country conquered Canada for us, at her own expense, and allowed us to take it, or come into possession. And now, when she has some millions of surplus population who would like to find here the room which they cannot find at home, those who are already here would prevent them coming. We meet this by simply and squarely denying the fact. All the millions of people that the mother country can send out for many years are come to Canada, provided only that they take up land and live on it. But the trouble is that too many of those who come out do not want to go upon land at all-would not go if it were given to them for nothing. What they want is to flock into the cities and stay there as best they can. Another thing, few of them have the means to take up land, even if they wished to do so. What good would 160 acres of land do to a newly-arrived immigrant, without money enough to build a house, to buy a plough, or even keep his family through one winter? The whole argument in favor of a large immigration is based on the fact that people without any land for them, while Canada has hundreds of millions of acres vacant. Why not invite those surplus and fill up the country? We reply they are invited, all that will come and take the vacant land. But this they won't do, or can't do; they want to flock into the cities instead. Dr. Wild ought to know that nobody here objects to the old country respective of creed, good citizens, and seemed to can't do; they want to flock into the cities instead. Dr. Wild ought to know that nobody here objects to the old country respective of creed, good citizens, and seemed to cate and a session at the Normal school to can't do; they want to flock into the cities instead. Dr. Wild ought to know that nobody here objects to the old country respective of creed, good citizens, and control nave sureties because large sums of money pass through his hands, and for which he has to be responsible on a salary anywhere from $600 to $1,000 a year. With a second-class certificate and a session at the Normal school land they are able to work. He is all the time fighting a shadow and declaring prove a heaven-horn statement. Senator McMillan is a fairly representative man among them. He will not, probably, prove a heaven-horn statement. against something which does not exist.

Protection is not to blame for that disgrace to England—the opium iniquitywhich is imposed upon China by a fre trade government. But we have a right to say that the Chinese shall not come in to swarm and settle permanently in this country, entailing a terrible curse on future generations. As for our taking work from English operatives, no people have as good a right as ourselves to the wages and profits arising out of our own custom. As things are, we continue to buy from England one year with another, as much as we are able to pay for, in fact. Any banker or wholesale merchant will tell Dr. Wild that during 1881 and 1882 we were buying a good deal too much, thereby bringing commercial trouble upon ourselves. Would Dr. Wild have us still further increase our imports, and so in a few years more make ourselves a nation of bankrupts? Surely not. Still another point, perhaps Dr. Wild does not know that, were all our cotton factories closed to morrow, our supplies of such goods as they are making would come, not from Lancashire, but from Massachusetts. However, on this particular point more on another occasion.

Rough on Henry George.

Mr. Henry George, the apostle of land nationalization, is surely too much in adwance of the age. Irish nationalists and English liberals both repudiate his land theories, and will have none of him. A recent cable despatch from London says that he has opened a crusade of confiscation. His first lecture has ruined him with the liberal party. The Pall Mail Gazette denounces his policy of nationalization without compensation as no better than picking pockets, and the liberal club at Liverpool has cancelled the invitation to a dinner given before the speech was delivered Irish national papers revive Mr. Parnell's criticism of the nationalization project, and declare in the teeth of Michael Davitt that Henry George is unworthy of association with any patriotic Irishman. The Sun's cable letter says: Henry George has united all journals against him by his advocacy of confiscation of landlords' property without compensation, and his mission will probably be a fizzle.

English liberals want extension of the franchise and redistribution of seats, but not confiscation of land. As for the Irish tenant farmers, Mr. George has been very much mistaken if he ever thought that they wanted the land to be nationalized. They simply want its ownership transferred from the landlords themselves; and, that once accomplished, they would make each and every laborer pay the highest rent that could be squeezed out of him for his little potato patch. Mr. H. G. does not seem likely to meet with much success in the old country, but could he expect anything better were he to try the same thing in the What is called "the lobby" is virtually a United States. He would not find the combination of railway men, telegraph farmers of New York and Illinois anxious to give up their farms for the good of the together, who work together for the purcountry we fancy. The Pay of Women.

We give elsewhere a letter from a young woman that deals with an important social question: the pay of women who have to work for their living. Last week The World contained an article advocating better pay to school teachers, male and female. Our correspondent who was once a teacher but had to take to other work says she was better paid as a teacher than she is at her present occupation, though it requires higher powers than teaching and longer service. She does not, however, contend that teachers are overpaid, or should not be better paid, but simply that women in other spheres are

We grant all this and hope to see the day when women receive fairer treatment in every line they follow. But as it is wonderful progress has been made. The number of avocations open to women is constantly increasing, and the increased complexity of civilization and the advancement in economical inventions are both widening women's opportunity. She has in the meantime to agitate as best she can and wait. Female oppression must follow slavery and become a thing of the past.

What our florid contemporary the Canadian was wont to denounce as "Scotch ascendancy" before it left Francis street for more fashionable quarters, asserted itself in the appointment of the latest batch of senators. In making these appointments Sir John A. Macdonald ignored our neighbor's Irish catholic proteges, and that without protest or remonstrance from the descendant of the Irish kings who once made such remonstrances his chief pursuit in life. The fact that one of the lucky Scotchmen, the Hon. Donald McMillan of Alexandria is a catholic as well as a Scotchman would not of course weigh with our contemporary, whose motto is country before creed, and whose efforts to swell the best of it in doing work that presupposes purse presented to the protestant Parnell were made upon the lines therein indicated. But the Canadian's silence was less indiscreet than the Globe's utterance. The marplot of the grit party sneeringly inquired what kind of catholics Scotch catholics are? In response a Glenthe mother country has millions of garry man pours out a column of Gaelic wrath in the Mail, which latter journal of ing he has; not so the others. He does course seizes the opportunity to make a not have to hold a pen in his hand till it little political capital out of the contro. is cramped, nor cast up figures till his head millions of people to come in, take the land versy. Wenotice several of our wholesale houses are reducing their staff of travelers. It is reasonable to suppose this is an indication that they intend to resort to the more wholesome method of advertising to attract trade rather than the employment of drummers to force their goods down reluctant buyers' throats.

At present manufacturers over the border in many ines find themselves overloaded, and as isual are regarding Canada with wistful eyes as a slaughter market. But the home ompetition is so great and prices so low that they cannot afford to cut under our own manufacturers. her husband.

In some of yesterday's papers I observed an item to the effect that the committee holding the subscribed funds had refused to allow any portion of them to be applied to allow any portion of them to be applied. Over the border the impression appears in the case of Mrs. Barber, and had stated that a separate fund would require to be started in her behalf. This I hardly think to prevail that the present session of Congress is to witness the biggest lobby business done in Washington for many years. "Humber sufferers" is equally applicable to the Barber family, at least until the men and contractors, principals and agents would like to see the "separate fund"

While the people of Manitoba, or some of them, are calling for more railways, their neighbors in Dakota and Montane make bitter complaints of having too much railway, more than they believe to be for their good. Before the Northern Pacific was opened through wheat brought a good price in Dakota, for consumption at home, better in proportion than could have been got by shipping to Minneapolis or Duluth. Now, however, large supplies are being Oregon, and the price has gone down all along the line Dakota has its drawbacks after all, and it would not surprise us to see a rush from there to the Canadian northwest next summer.

Though all the politicians and all the ewspapers may frown on him, Henry George's mission to England cannot justly be pronounced a fizzle. The more Irish agitators, English politicians and Scotch thinkers flout him, the more will their fel. low-countrymen attend his lectures and read his books to ascertain what all the row is about. George will thus make money and increase his reputation, the two objects that form the mission of every man's life.

heavy damages for injury to passengers, because it is their business to carry them safely. So it is every man's business to carry his fam ily safely through the period of their depen ence, and to trifle with interests so sacred, by putting them to unnecessary hazard, it is to incur a very grave responsibility. When a man does his best there still remain risks enough; but woe unto him who neglects a easonable precaution against dangers that are well known.

When one goes on board a steamboat and sees the fire-buckets and axes, the life-boats and life-preservers, and then reflects how sel dom there is any occasion to use them, it seen like a waste of money—a provision against danger out of all proportion to the danger. life-boats rot at the davits; but who would wish to travel on a steamboat that neglected to provide such things? The truth is, when such things are needed it is a matter of life or death vide them ten thousand times where they may prove unnecessary, than to be without them once when they need them.

But no large company of persons journey through the world long before some of them feel the need of life insurance. Every year the shadows of death fall upon the homes and hearts of more or less. It is only reasonable precaution for all to insure. The cost of insuring is not so great that it deserves to be compared with the sad results to the families of those who die uninsured. ## The Trades and Labor Congress.

The Canadian trades congress has compelled the respect of the dominion. The demands of the representatives of labor are conceded to be moderate and just. They have protested against the alienation of the public domain into the hands of capitalists, against class legislatian, and tax exemptions by which the huge amounts of property held by the various churches in Canada escape taxation. The congress has enabled labor in Canada to take a great stride forward.

NOVEL READING.

A Religious Journal Believes it Leads to Neglect of Domestic Duties.

One of the religious weeklies has taken up the subject of novel reading among girls and women. It believes that as much harm is done by an excess of this kind of literature as by the sensational stories prepared for boys. If the latter unfits the future citizens for becoming the best class of prospective rulers the former not only gives unreal ideas of practical, every day life, but also causes a direct neglect of duties in many instances. In how many homes where the women take part in the household duties have they put off an unwelcome task to follow the trials of an imaginary hero or What is one of the most delightful and restful recreations has become by excess one of the growing vices of the day, and the confirmed novel reader's head becomes a confused mass of dramatic incidents of no possible value to herself or any one else. She tries to fit her surroundings to the ideals of imagination and finds ordi-nary people and incidents too commonplace by longing for more stirring scenes than she finds in the peaceful home circle, while sensational literature yields to his spirit of unrest and starts off to fight Indians with his mother's carving knite and a toy pistol if he cannot find better carried will be the date of your birth," he said, "on the sides the names of your novels: but what will be on the back has not been decided." Who can estimate the number of uncomfortable and unhappy homes, the cheap editions are the cheap editions of the cheap edition of the cheap editions to the cheap editions of the cheap edit familarity with immorality and the di-vorces that can be traced to the influence of novels filled with scenes which make vice and crime attractive and turn the criminal into a heroine or a martyr.

MASH NOTES. How Mrs. Langtry is Pestered in New

From the Morning Journal. It is a singular phase of metropolitan ife that even a woman of the position o Mrs. Langtry is annoyed nightly by a score of letters from unknown individuals who wish to make her acquaintance. Perhaps the meanest point of these communications is that most of them are anonymous. They request an answer in nine cases out of ten to some fictitious name at postoffice box so and so. Mrs. Langtry, of course, opens all her own letters, but she merely glances at these letters, which are catalogued under the general title of "mash notes," and turns them over to her business manager, Mr. Mendum. It is extraordinary, for instance, that any man of intelligence enough to write the English language grammatically should pen a letter like the following

lowing lowing:

Dear Mrs. Langtry: I am burning with a desire to make your acquaintance. I am imbued with nothing but the most honorable sentiments. If you will pass the corner of Twenty-Third street and Sixth avenue at 2.30 to-morrow and wave a white handkerchief I shall take it as an evidence that you are willing to open the acquaintance. Respectfully, NEMO.

The effect of such communications has even ceased to be comic to the recipient. With a weary sigh she turns them over with a lot of other material to her man-

What is Catarrh?

From the Mail (Canada) Dec. 15.

Catarrh is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite ameba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: Morbid state of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of synhilis, mercury, toxemea, from the retention of the effeted matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fauces or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat, up the custachian tubes, causing deafness, burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalants and other ingenious devices, but none of these treatments can do a particle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucous tissue.

Some time since a well known physician of forty years standing, after much experiment.
