British Pushed Back by Huge Numbers at Some Points; Made Gains at Others---Indian Troops Did Valiant Service--Losses Great.

Canadian Press Despatch.

LONDON, Nov. 5, 9.05 p.m.—The following descriptive account which been communicated by an eye-witness present with the general headurters, continues and supplements the narrative published Nov. 8, of movements of the British force and of the French armies in imme-west almost continuously during the five days from the 26th to the 30th of October. Opposite us it has gradually grown in intensity and in extent of application as more men and guns have been brought up and pushed into their right, and it has developed into the most bitterly contested battle which has been fought in the western theatre of the war.

CONCENTRATED ATTACK.

"The German artillery has, to a large extent, been increased by that the derivation of the pressure against our allies to the action of Ypres, caused by the desperate and successful resistance made by the latter, by the harassing nature of the artillery fire brought to bear by our ships against the strip of country along the coast, and by the flooding of the area along the River Yser.

"Forces have been massed also from the south, while another of the new army corps has definitely made its debut before us, and tho attempts to hack, or rather to blast and hack, a way thru us have been made in other directions, they have for the last few days been most seriously concentrated upon the neighborhood of Ypres.

ENEMY'S PLANS UNCERTAIN.

"Whether the motive inspiring the present action of the Germans against that place is an ambition to win thru to the Port of Calais, as is to be gathered from articles in their newspapers, or whether the operation is due to a desire to drive the allied forces out of the whole of Belgium in order to complete the conquest of that country with a view to its amexation and to gain prestige with neutrals, is immaterial.

"What concerns us more closely is that they have been making and still pressing a desperate attempt to gain the town.

"On Monday, the 26th, south of the Lys on our right the enemy attacked Neuvechapelle, one of the villages held by us. In the evening advancing under cover of a wood, they managed to gain possession of a portion of it north of the Lys.

LONDON, Nov. 5, 9.15 p.m.—No decision has yet been reached in the sattle in the sand dunes of West Flanders, and the opposing armies stand now virtually as they have stood for many days.

While the Germans keep hammering away at the allies around Ypres, which route they chose for their march to the coast after they had found the road along the sea barred to them, and the allies are making an effort to move northward to Ostend, neither side has got very far. The Belgians and those supporting them have found that the floods that they created to stop their German advance are a hindrance to their movements altho they have been able to occupy some villages, including Bixschoote, which had been in the possession of the Germans.

Around Ypres the German offensive, according to the accounts of the allies, has met with no success. In fact it seems that all along the has met with no success. In fact it seems that all along the line there

TURKISH FLEET BLOCKADED.

Turkish fleet BlockAded.

The Russian admiralty announced today that the Turkish fleet has fled from the Black Sea and has taken refuge in the Bosphorus, where it is being blockaded by the Russian Black Sea fleet.

It is said here that the Turks were drawn into their war move by a German ruse. The commanders of the Goeben and Breslau wirelessed to Constantinople, according to a report reaching the Russian foreign office, that they had been attacked by a superior Russian naval force.

The Turkish cabinet then ordered defensive measures and the Germans on the Goeben and Breslau immediately started on the raid which has culminated in the war.

NO WORD OF THE CANOPUS.

According to a Santiago despatch, no British warships are in an ports, and the fate of the missing British cruisers that were red with German warships off the coast of Chile last Sunday engaged with German warships off the coast of Chile last Sunday, and that of the transport which accompanied them, remains a mystery. The British hope that one or more of their vessels survived the action. Nor was there any word today of the British battleship Canopus, which the admiralty says had been sent to strengthen Rear-Admiral Cradock's squadron. At all events the battle of Chile is the heaviest blow yet struck in the war at the prestige of the British navy.

PERSIA PLEDGED TO NEUTRALITY.

An official statement issued here tonight says that Persia has presented to all the powers a note announcing her strict neutrality. BARON ABENDARE'S HEIR KILLED.

A casualty list dated Oct. 31, issued here tonight, gives the names of 15 officers killed and 22 wounded. Among the killed is Captain the Hon. G. B. Bruce of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. In the list of wounded appear the names of Lieut.-Col. E. P. Lambert of the Royal Field Artillery and Major the Hon. A. C. Weld-Forester of the Grenadier Guards, third son of Baron Forester.

While the army list of Great Britain gives no Captain H. B. Bruce, it does contain Captain the Hon. Henry L. Bruce of the 3rd Royal Scots, heir of Baron Abendare. This Captain Bruce in 1906 married Camille Clifford, an American actress. RUMORS OF SEA FIGHTS.

Despite unprecedented activity on the part of the chiefs of the admiralty, censorship on all naval movements was absolutely ironclad today. As a result, many rumors of impending fighting on the sea were widely circulated.

There is no disguising the alarm felt in some quarters over the report that a strong German squadron has slipped into the North Sea, cleared for action. Such a squadron, unless promptly located by the British fleet, might cause much damage by bombarding coast cities. The admiralty positively refuses to confirm or deny the report that this German squadron actually is at large.

Altho no detailed information is obtainable, it is known that steps already have been taken to destroy the fleet of Admiral Von Spee, which recently raised such havoc with the prestige of the British navy off the coast of Chile. The admiralty is especially anxious to locate the British battleship Canopus, from which no word has been heard since it started to aid the squadron commanded by Rear-Admiral Cradock, who was defeated by the German cruiser squadron last

JAPAN'S FLEET IS BUSY. The Japanese have a large fleet in the Pacific, part of it in the vicinity of Easter Island, and, as yesterday's reports showed, these ships have been sighted, presumably pursuing Von Spee's ships. The other portion of the Japanese fleet is near Honolulu. The Japanese fleet is headed by the battle cruiser Kongo, the swiftest and heaviest of her down fuel bills even more. Now we're going to have gas, and that's a much cleaner way of cooking than an oil stove, and it doesn't cost any more, I understand."

"But at home mother uses gas for cooking, and it's very costly indeed," I contradicted. "Bobs and I are going to have a city apartment, with gas, of course, and judging from mother's experience, I don't think gas is going to be economical."

"Use a little ingenuity," counseled Aunt Juliette, "and you'll not be extragant. My fireless cooker saves three-fourths of the gas.

"If you are careful, electric cooking is splendid. But if you must be economical, there are other ways of cooking that are almost as pleasant.

"When I was first married we bought a beautiful, large nickel-trimmed coal stove. It was a beauty. But our coal bills were frightfully large, and when I woke up to the fact one day that every time I wanted to cook a few vegetables or a cup of tea I had to start a nice big fire going, I realized that my lovely stove was a great extravagance. So I began at once to look into other cooking methods. And changing was quite a problem.

"You see, there are really four distinct kinds of fuel you can use for cooking—coal, gas, kerosene and electricity. I had found coal often wasteful for cooking—coal is good where you must have constant, uninterrupted heat. Electricity and gas hadn't been developed in our little suburb at that time, so my only solution was a three-burner oil stove. I bought it in the summer mouths when we didn't need coal for heating, and our fuel bill dropped amazingly. The next month I bought a fireless cooker, and that cut foods."

cooking on it, all heated by the one fiame.

"You'll also save yourself bank-treaking fuel bills by planning your meals so that you are not compelled to use fuel in three different ways. For instance, if you can have all the food boiled it will cost less in fuel than if you had to use one kind of fuel for boiling, another for frying, etc. That coesn't mean sameness of all the dishess. You can vary them by different sauces and serving touches. Much better save on your fuels than on your fuels than on your fuels than on your fuels than on your fuels.

Probably two of the most popular vaudeville artists who have ever appeared in Toronto, Sam Chip and Mary Marble, will head the bill at Shea's next week in their quaint little comedy, "The Land of Dykes." They will be remembered here for their sterling work in the comedy playlet "In Old Edam." The special feature of the bill will be Harry and Emily Sharrock, newcomers to Toronto, in their sketch "Behind the Grand Stand." The playlet provides plenty of merriment, resulting from scenes in a fortune teller's tent. The chameleon comedian, Mrs. Hymack, will offer as the special attraction some new songs and stories and impersonations, with lightning-like character changes. Coakley, Harvey and Dunlevy are three clever minstrel men who sing and dance, while the Empire Comedy Four offer some splendid harmony. Reynolds and Donegan are clever roller skate artists and dancers, while Josephine Davis, assisted by Billy Geller, will offer the season's song successes. Gordon and Rica, with a feature film drama, "Jim's Reformation," complete the bill.

Seeing that the mobilization of the regular volunteer troops left the discovery of processes and processes the discovery of processes and products of our own and for the means of producing here the results already guard. Mr. J. N. At any rate, the Montreal gentlemen went, up to Ottawa and told the acting minister of militia that they had a guard in Montreal, and they were going to buy rifles for them, and ammunition, and they wanted them to come in duty free. Hon. Mr. Hazen was quite obliging and said, "Why, certainly," Every home guardsman in Montreal will have a rifle and 250 rounds of ammunition, and will feel disappointed if the Germans do not try to get away with some of the gold Montreal has stored up. We have a fine home guard in Toronto, but they cannot shoot because they have nothing to shoot with No matter how clever marksmen they are they would only be marks if it came to fighting. Toronto ought to be able to arm the men who are willing to fight for the city if need be.

> confining the professor to his proper sphere, Germany has perhaps given him too much authority in spheres of the unpractical. The Canadian institute does not contemplate any mistake of this kind. The first and obvious object of the movement is to increase to the greatest possible degree the necessary co-operation between the laboratory and the manufactory. On this head Mr. Arnoldi says:

Science and industry must be brought into more immediate relations with each other; the manufacturer should be able to ascertain where he may find competent men to undertake a scientific study of the conditions by which his output may be improved, and the scientist should have some means of getting information as to the problems whose solution the manufacturers are demanding, and means should be provided to preserve to the industrialist under proper conditions the property in the discoveries resulting from scientific research prosecuted at his instance.

In the conditions superinduced by he war many examples have arisen of what might be done by Canadian nanufacturers were they in possession of the necessary knowledge which would enable them to supplant the German products which have been imported up till the present.

"A general scheme of research for achieved in foreign countries is now forced upon us by war conditions which envelop the commerce of the world," is a remark by Mr. Arnoldi which can be agreed upon by all. The proposals made are not of local nature, but are intended to enlist the sympathies and the activity of every college and factory in the Dominion. The meeting on Saturda. evening is therefore one of more than usual importance, and it is to be hoped that a large and influential attendance will launch the scheme on a successful career. Dr. Raymond F. Bacon, direc tor of the Mellon Institute of Scientific and Industrial Research in the University of Pittsburg, will be present and speak on the subject.

After Hearing Argument. It was pointed out that several years ago a county bylaw had fixed the assessment on their buildings on lot 21 and the company had proceeded with extensions on the basis of this understanding.

A. C. Kingstone, for the county, argued that the power concern had extended their buildings to such an extent as to render them liable to a new assessment.

THE MIDNIGHT GIRL. "The Midnight Girl," full of popular tuneful music, pretty girls, lively dancing and the very latest Paris imported gowns will be offered by the Messrs. Shuber for a week's engagement at the Royal Alexandra Theatre next week direct from a long run of six months at the 44th street theatre, New York. "The Midnight Girl" is from the French of Paul Herve and Jean Briquet, and set New York mad last season with its many catchy songs and cabaret dancing.

In "The Midnight Girl" there are three characters named Gustave Criquet, one is a noted French senator; the other two pretend they are the first. George Mac-Farlane, as one of the Criquets, has one of the best parts of his career, and is given ample opportunity to use and display his beautiful baritone voice. He is well supported by Margaret Romaine, a grand opera soprano. Others in the well-balanced cast are Teddy Webb, George A. Schiller, William Pruette, Denman Maley, Harry Delf, Edwin T. Emery, E. J. De Varney, Dolly Castles, Zella Call, Amy Leicester, Lillian Concord and Dalsy Rudd. Alexandra Theatre next week direct from MRS. WIGGS. "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" comes to the Grand next week. A happy and amusing home scene in an atmosphere of poverty is furnished by the little Wiggses, Asia. Europena and Australia and plucky Billy, who helped his mother rescue old Cuby. Then there is the shiftless, helpless neighbor, poor little Mis' Hazy, described as "the submerged tenth of the cabbage patch," begrumbling and pessimistic to the undaunted optimism of Mrs. Wiggs. These and other friendly dwellers of the patch are rich in character comedy.

Elevating in its effect and scope, out of the ordinary in its general make-up and personnel, entertaining and effervescent, and teeming with original features, surprises and enduring novelties, is the way the forthcoming production of "The Heart Charmers," the new two-act musical comedy, to be presented by Sam Howe's Company at the Star Theatre week of Nov. 9 may be appropriately described. Fifty capable and experienced people, including Chas, Howe, are employed. Matiness daily, commencing on Monday. Added attraction: The Mysterious Odivio and her Twenty Swimming Girls.

MILLION-DOLLAR DOLLS.

"The Phoney Detectives" is the gay little comedy presented with "The Million-Dollar Dolls," which comes to the Gayety Theatre next week. This laughable piece, in which Lewis and Dody top the list, relates the adventures of two actors beating their way around the world, and incidentally trying to solve the mystery of a diamond bracelet which has been stolen.

Florence Belmont is the prima-donna, and a splendid cast has been gathered together to make this performance the real record-breaker of the season.

CECIL FANNING COMING.

As the date of the appearance of Cecil Fanning in Massey Hall gets closer the more interest is being taken in the recital to be given by the eminent baritone on the evening of November 19th. The engagement here promises not only to be an artistic surprise, but will be an important social event as well, as the indications are that the hall will be packed with a brilliant and fashionable audience of music lovers. The announcement that a portion of the receipts will be donated to the Toronto Relief Society has met with much favor and has induced a number of prominent ladies to take an interest in Mr. Fanning's visit. The newspapers of Cleveland, Pittsburg and other cities are the authorities for the information that the tour of the song interpreter is a triumph everywhere.

Doubt often came thru the experience of life, and one could not go back, as the one's experience had not been. One epoch made faith easier than another. It was easy for the early Greeks to believe that their mythology was the culmination of human wisdom. Science a Difficulty.

A third cause of difficulty in belief is the discoveries and generalizations of modern science. The last hundred years has classified and tested more science than all previous time. Astronomy and biology were notable examples of this fact.

"Where did the soul get in?" was

"Where did the soul get in?" was the question, that arose for the biolo-gist, and Tennyson voiced the wail of the modern thinker, "an infant crying the modern thinker, "an infant crying in the night." Every action and every thought of man was a denial of extreme pessimism. Every man who planted a seed in the ground had committed an act of faith. The calculations and observations of the astronomers were all pure acts of faith. He had implicit faith that the law he had discovered in this little corner of the universe was universal. Pessimism discovered in this little corner of the universe was universal. Pessimism also was its own antidote. When a man said the world was bad, he added, it should not be so. The denial of the God outside was an affirmation of the God within him, whose standard was set up in the man's own heart. Henley's "unconquerable soul" was the God inside. Honest pessimism was always better than dishonest optimism. The literature of pessimism everywhere contained this splendid challenge by the God within of the weakness and wrong outside.

The Mind the Ultimate Court.

When we accept an authority it is our reason that accepts it. Our own minds and reason are always the ulticate court of appeal. There is no way out of this argument asserted Mr. Griggs.

worthy of our respect. If Herbert Spencer had read as much of the history of philosophy as he had of blology he never would have perpetrated such a contradiction in terms as the philosophy of the unknowable. We knew one category of the unknowable, that it was there, and Mr. Griggs thought he could find another. Agnosticism was not a solution of the problem of faith.

Unless we absolutely stopped growing, every step we took, like the ascent of a mountain, changed the whole outlook on life. We can afford to trust our experience, because every step of earnest living grips reality. Growth was rarely from the false to the true, but from the narrow included truth, to the larger inclusive truth. The Ptolemaic and the Copernican systems of astronomy were adduced as examples. The Copernican system explained its own and also the lower truth of the duced as examples. The Copernican system explained its own and also the lower truth of the Ptolemaic. On the plane of the senses one truth was aparent. On the plane of the intellect and the reason the lower truth was included and explained. The Greek saw God thru humanity. The Semite saw Him thru nature. The modern tendency of thought was to include both points of view.

thought was to include both points of view.

Be Ready to Change.

The inexorable law of truth was to hold unalterably to what we know the result of our experience, ourselves ready at all times for a restatement of our knowledge. The worst Pharisee was the intellectual one who boasted of his liberality and thanked God he was not as narrow-minded people were.

Could we dare to live as the there were some infinite eternal aim which imposed on as an ideal of duty? To stand up in a world of darkness and questioning and live as the it were light, required the greatest courage and heroism, and "it brings the light," was Mr. Griggs' assurance.

He cited, in conclusion, the life of George John Romanes as an example of a man who intellectually was a naturalist in religion, but who never, failed to live the life of duty. When he died, reconciled to the Christian faith, the preachers sa'd it was just what they expected. The scientific men would all come back. On the other hand the scientific men said Romanes had lost his health, and his grip, and had relapsed. Both were wrong, said Mr. Griggs. Romanes had achieved that other revelation that came thru the human spirit. The law of the survival of the fittest appealed to the young and strong, but those who watched the struggle going on and felt within the call of duty, the impulse to pity and mercy and tenderness and compassion that led the strong to dedicate their strength to the service of the weak, came to reconcile the two-fold aim of life that dignified and amplified human nature.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Club owners of the American League in their annual meeting here today put themselves on record in favor of peace, but except for expressing their sentiments individually and informally they brought no nearer the end of the baseball war. HE ALES ARE THE BEST

The Amateur Status of McGill

Following the precedent of the past two years if McGill University wins the Intercollegiate football championship it will not play off for the championship of the Dominion with the winners of the Interprovincial Union.

The McGill Dally, the organ of the university authorities, says that their club wishes to have as little to do with the Interprovincial Union as possible. In addition to the difference in rules the players of ithe Big Four, The Daily contends, have not always been free from the taint of professionalism and naturally the university players do not want to run the risk of being held up by the C.A.A.U. for playing against professionals.

Thus The McGill Daily displays more of the characteristic effrontery of its Rugby club that included one Donnelly in its line-up a year ago, and this autumn used four men in its opening game whose qualification is said to be writing plucked. McGill should not hesitate to play off with the champions of the Dark Lantern Union.

There were 11 carloads of northwest cattle on the market, which sold at $6.75 for one load, $7.50 for ten loads. at 35. Trade was slow in all classes of fat cattle.

The stocker and feeder trade was in a disconcerted condition on account of the Buffaio and Chicago markets being quarantimed, because these markets were largely the places of outlet for many of the common and inferior stockers and feeders. Stockers and feeders are fully 75c to $1 per cwt. cheaper than they were a short time ago.

IN CHICAGO WHEAT

Profit-Taking; Due to High Prices, Has Bearish Effect.

Canadian Press Despatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Lively profittaking, due to the fact that prices had risen to a higher level than at any time since early in September, brought about a decided downward swing today in wheat. The market closed heavy 7-3c to 1 3-3c under last night. Corn suffered a net loss of 3-3c to 3-4c and oats of 3-3c to 1-2c. Provisions wound up unchanged to 20c higher.

Holders of wheat were prompt to take advantage of a new upturn today in prices. Trade in oats lacked volume. There was no call from the seaboard to speak of. Provisions ruled decidedly higher for the most part. The sharpest advances were early in the day, when scared shorts were covering because of orders to close the stock yards here. On the bulge packers were sellers and a somewhat easier feeling ensued, but the tone at the close was firm. DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

weight of realizing sales began to count, and the finish was at the low point of the session. European demand, which at first appeared to follow the market during the early advance showed a noticeable contraction here later on, possibly owing to reported difficulty in obtaining ready freight room on the Atlantic. Big receipts of wheat at primary points, especially Chicago, had a good deal to do with making conservative dealers hesitate about pressing the built side of the market.
