STANDARD OIL COMPANY BUYS ON CHURCH ST.

Eight Storey Office Building Going Up at Court St. Corner.
WORK STARTS AT ONCE
Site Includes Court House Used by Toronto in Old Days.

The big Standard Oil Company have bought the southwest corner of Church and Court streets, and will erect an eight storey office building to house the headquarters of its various companies in Canada. They will start work almost immediately. The site includes the old Court House of Toronto, now occupied by the David Smith Lithographing Company, known as 56, 58 and 60 Church street, immediately in the rear of the offices of the Toronto Railway Company and the Reliance Loan Company, and also numbers 15 and 17 Court street in the rear of the Sterling Trust Company. The frontage measurements are 76 feet on Church street and 120 feet on Court street. The new building will cover all this site with the exception of about 10 feet on the west-bound, left open for light purposes. The vendors are the David Smith Estate and the Doverscourt Land Company. With the exception of the David Smith store and one other the entire block from Toronto to Church street and from King to Court will be owned by the Canadian Northern group, including the Toronto Railway, the Doverscourt Land Company group, and the Standard Oil Company.

The Standard Oil Company is represented in Canada by the International Petroleum Company, Limited, organized this year, the directors of which are W. C. Teagle, President, who recently became a citizen of Toronto; G. H. Smith, Vice-president, Toronto; Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., Toronto; Hon. W. J. Hanna, K.C., Toronto; J. L. Englehart, Toronto; Sir Edmund Boyd Butler, Toronto; the treasurer is J. B. Clarke and secretary, H. F. Miller. The authorized capital is nearly $20,000,000, the total is in English money, and over $5,000,000 is paid up. The company has a predominant interest in the London & Pacific Petroleum Co., Limited, and the Canadian Petroleum Co., Limited, which companies are producing and shipping oil from properties situated in the northern part of Peru. The former company also owns several tank steamers.

Other Large Interests.
The company also has a large interest in the West Coast Oil Fuel Company, Limited, which is engaged in distributing fuel oil from installations erected at various points on the coasts of Peru and Chile. South America. The Standard Oil Company also has large interests in the petroleum oil fields of western Ontario, in Lambton County, and distributing stations all over the Dominion. The Imperial Oil Company is one of their distributing companies.

The Hon. Mr. Hanna has long been identified with the Standard Oil interests in Canada, and it is generally believed that he will be still more identified therewith and still less with politics at an early date.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A request for information as to the progress of private negotiations for the sale of certain American shipments from neutral countries was forwarded to London Saturday by the British embassy. Persistent reports that brokers in London were securing permits for such shipments have led to considerable activity by the trade advisers of the state department, which has felt this far to secure definite results. Instructions were sent to Ambassador Page at London to enquire into the matter. He was told by point that the state department in its official negotiations, desired to secure the privileges now reported as being accorded to private interests. No reply has yet been received.

CANADIAN KILLED IN MEXICO CITY FIGHT

Inquiry Made for Relatives of Marshall Miller, Stray Bullet Victim.
OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—Enquiry has been made of officials here for the relatives of one Marshall Miller, a native of Canada, who was recently killed by a stray bullet during the fighting which took place in connection with the capture of Mexico City by the forces of Gen. Carranza on Aug. 2. Nothing further is stated. Anyone able to furnish information might communicate with the chief commissioner of police, Ottawa.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Aug. 29.—The Prussian casualty lists give the names of 40,245 killed, wounded and missing, according to The Nieuws Rotterdamse Courant. The total number of Prussian losses published up to Aug. 24 amounts to 1,740,838 killed, wounded and missing, says the paper.

RUSSIANS FALL BACK SOUTH OF PINSK SWAMP

Austrians Advance in Eastern Galicia to Find Czar's Birds Flown.

FOE CHECKED IN NORTH German Offensive Against Railway Stopped by Muscovite Counter Offensive.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Interest in the war operations in the Russian theatre shifted today from the front between the great Pinsk marshes and the Baltic Sea to the region south of these marshes along the upper Bug, Zlota Lipa and Dniester rivers, where the Austrians and Germans launched a new offensive. The Germans attempted to make attacks in many sectors, and they succeeded in gaining a footing on the left bank of the Zlota Lipa River. The fiercest fighting was reported in the district north of Brzezany, and in the sector west of Podgaitzi. It was here where the footing was gained by the enemy on the left bank of the Zlota Lipa. Great importance is not attached to the result of these operations, for it is considered inevitable that the Russians would eventually have to withdraw their armies as a result of their right wing and centre having retired to a new defensive line in the north. In their official report the Austrians say that the Russians in this region (Continued on Page 6, Column 5).

TREASURE TRAIN REACHES NEW YORK FROM HALIFAX

Forty-Five Millions in Gold and Securities Brought Across in British Warship Transported from Halifax by Rail Under Heavy Armed Guard.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Nearly $20,000,000 in gold and securities worth about $25,000,000, the second largest shipment sent from London to strengthen British credit in this country, arrived here early today on a special train of steel cars, guarded by 38 armed men. The shipment came directed by rail from Halifax, N.S., to which port it was conveyed by a British warship, conveyed by smaller craft. On the way to New York the train was preceded by a pilot engine. The gold and securities were consigned to J. P. Morgan & Co. for account of the British Government. The train arrived at the uptown station of an express company, and was made up of seven all-steel cars behind a dining car and coach. The gold was stacked in 700 cases, and the securities were placed in eight larger cases. Each gold-filled case weighed 120 pounds. The first big shipment of gold and securities received here on Aug. 12 last included about $18,500,000 in gold and $30,000,000 in securities, and arrived in much the same manner.

POLES BEGIN TO WAGE GUERRILLA WAR ON ENEMY

Same Sort of Fighting Starts in Russia That Defeated Napoleon.

TO KEEP UP RETREAT Russians Will Continue Same Warfare for Three Months.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 29.—There is practically nothing to record here which breaks the monotony of the steady retirement which is continued everywhere by the Russians. Now the feature is the renewal of attacks of the extreme right wing of the German front on the upper reaches of the Bug, on the Zlota-Lipa and on the Dniester.

The Germans have forced the passage of the Zlota-Lipa and established themselves on the left bank. On the left wing the Germans continue the making of extremely stubborn attacks towards Kreuzberg, with the double object of securing practicable fords across the Dvina and cutting the railway between Kreuzberg and Mitau both in this direction and towards Friedrichstadt. The German attacks are very determined, but hitherto they have been repelled by the Russians. The enemy is still successfully held off at Vilna and during Friday was met by a number of counter-attacks from the Vilna and Niemen. Practically the Germans claim to have almost acquired a place d'armes which would serve as a starting point for a final advance into Russia.

Partial Conflicts Fought.
The fighting is practically uninterrupted along the front, but it takes the form of more or less isolated partial conflicts. The form of warfare is expected to last another two or three months in Russia, during which the slow process of steady retirement with repeated counter-attacks will have brought the Germans another couple of hundred miles deeper into Russia, through the devastated country, and with a Russian winter close at hand.

Guerrilla Warfare.
It is reported that partisan warfare, such as was so very largely instrumental in producing the disaster to Napoleon's grand army, has again in several regions in the rear of the German advance. The Poles in particular have always shown themselves admirable guerrilla fighters, and are again winning distinction as such, notwithstanding the severity of the merciless efforts of repression. A new application is reported of an invention which serves to show how Germany develops the scientific side of her efforts as the war proceeds. This incendiary fire bombs which contain some composition producing sufficient heat to start flames in anything that will burn are now familiar. The Germans have invented a method of using something similar in form or combined with shrapnel. These reports say that any man struck by shrapnel from these things is terribly burned. The burns often prove fatal even when only a limb is struck. Presumably phosphorus is the composition of this new weapon as also into that of certain poisonous bullets.

AUSTRIANS HAMPERED IN BUILDING DEFENCES

Serb Artillery Stops Attempts to Fortify Positions on Danube and Save.

LONDON, Aug. 29, 12:15 p.m.—In connection with their operations in Serbia, the Austrians are attempting to construct new defences along the border, on the banks of the Danube and Save Rivers. An official statement dealing with these operations was forwarded today from Nish to Reuter's Telegram Company. It follows: "On Aug. 25, we stopped the enemy's defence operations on the Danube front at the large island near Mala-Stracheva, and also on the Save front near Gositch-Insbara, opposite Skela. On the same day we interrupted similar operations near the Island of Moldava, on the left bank of the Save."

FALSE REPORT OF TROOPSHIP'S LOSS

Ottawa Promptly Disposes of Sensational Rumor From Berlin.

ALL ACCOUNTED FOR German Publicity Agents Will Have to Invent More Plausible Tales.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—By wireless to Sayville—Passengers who arrived at Amsterdam yesterday afternoon on the Holland-American steamship Ryndam brought a report that a British transport carrying 2,000 Canadian troops was torpedoed on August 15 off the Scilly Islands. It is said that about 1,000 were saved.

Ottawa's Denial
The military authorities issued the following official statement regarding the above report: "Between the 31st of July and the 24th of August only two troopships with more than three hundred troops on board have been despatched from Canada and they have both arrived safely at their destinations. Moreover, every troopship bearing Canadian troops which was at sea on August 15, has arrived safely at its destination. There is no Canadian troopship overdue, and if the story coming via Sayville has any basis of truth, it must refer to the torpedoing of the Canadian Northern steamship Royal Edward in the Aegean Sea, the report of which event reached Canada August 17."

MONTENEGRINS DROVE THE AUSTRIANS BACK

Attack Which Followed Violent Bombardment Was "Brilliantly Repulsed."
CETTINJE, Montenegro, Aug. 29.—The following official Montenegro statement was given out here yesterday: "A violent Austrian bombardment on the Grachovo front and in the Blek sector occurred Friday. It was followed by an infantry attack, which we repulsed brilliantly."

More About Our Wheat Crop and Wheat Prices

Every farmer in the Dominion at present is vitally interested in the prices he may expect to receive for this year's crop not only of wheat but other grains as well, and The World is endeavoring to obtain facts which will throw intelligent light on the situation. Last year's crop of grains brought unusually high prices, but this was not of much advantage to the Canadian western farmer because of crop failure. This year he has an abundant crop with a prospect of low prices. Not only has Canada a record crop of wheat, but other countries are likewise favored, the American crop being some 300,000,000 bushels above what would be regarded as an average. Now in setting the price of wheat as in other grains what is called the option market has quite an influence on the farmer framing his selling price and the price he will choose to sell. Last year, for instance, before war was declared September option in Chicago was quoted as low as 76 cents. The same option at present is 95 cents, or 20 cents a bushel higher. Wild speculation during last fall and early spring carried the option price to $1.67 and the farmer's price followed the option. This year the trend is in the opposite direction, and there is no doubt that the large elevator interests in Canada and the United States are working to depress prices to a low level before the crop begins to move freely. Taking these two instances the farmer can judge for himself whether the option market is a benefit or an injury. It was pointed out to The World on Saturday that cash wheat in Chicago was about $1.08, against the September option of 95 cents. The seller of the option has until the end of September to cancel his sale by buying in or to make delivery, and therefore if the seller is a legitimate dealer he must expect wheat to decline at least 10 cents a bushel from now to the end of September. It might be well to point out that Ontario new wheat No. 2 winter was quoted on Saturday at 97c to $1 a bushel, and that the Chicago price is consequently 10c higher. Well authenticated statistics of the present year's grain crop show that the increased production of wheat over last year is 17.3 per cent.; of oats 24.1 per cent.; of rye 18.7 per cent., and of barley 19 per cent. Among grain men it is not believed that the wheat consumption for this year's crop will be above that for last year, and one authority says it might be less by 100,000,000 bushels owing to the inability of Germany and Belgium to obtain any imports of the cereal. C. B. Watts of the Board of Trade, who has been in business for many years, states that he once bought wheat as low as 48c a bushel, and that his record of Ontario will show over a long period an average price of between 80c and 90c a bushel. Unless prices slump still further the Ontario farmer will therefore get well above the normal price for his present crop. Another grain man told The World on Saturday that ocean space was to be had at Montreal owing to shipments being held up and he believed (Continued on Page 2, Column 1).

CANADA'S GIFT TO FRANCE IS FINE HOSPITAL

Poincare Gladly Accepts Offer of Institution for French Wounded.

LOCATION NEAR PARIS French-Canadian Medical Unit Will Be Placed in Charge.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that as a result of the visit paid by Sir Robert Borden to France, it has been decided to proceed with a hospital near Paris for wounded French soldiers. The decision will give immense pleasure, not only to Canadians, but also to Great Britain and France, affording, as it will, a further demonstration of the reality of the entente cordiale between France and the British Empire. To French-Canadians the announcement is of special interest, because the government, having decided to equip the hospital, made choice of a medical unit whose members will be able to speak the language of their patients. This we shall see the treatment of French soldiers by grandsons of Jacques Cartier, Champlain and Montcalm. The Canadian premier on the occasion of his visit to Europe was greatly impressed with the work of the Royal Army Medical Corps. Poincare Grateful.
As recently pointed out by the British press, Canada has contributed nobly to the funds for alleviating the suffering of the wounded, the gifts having included £20,000 towards the (Continued on Page 2, Column 2).

FRENCH KEEP UP ARTILLERY FIRE AGAINST ENEMY

Hundreds of Thousands of Shells Used Daily to Prepare for Big Advance.

INFERNO IN FOE'S LINES Practically Every German Position and Communication Battered.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Hundreds of thousands of shells are being fired every day on the German trenches and lines of communications in northern France and Belgium, and the bombardment in all has been the most terrible in history, lasting several weeks and not showing any signs of diminishing in fury. It is considered that by these means Gen. Joffre is saving the lives of thousands of soldiers, who would otherwise fall in fruitless infantry attacks upon the fortified lines of the enemy. It is believed that this heavy gunfire is greatly hampering the Germans in the feeding and munitioning of their troops, who have consequently to keep under shelter while on duty. The continued existence of the Germans in dugouts for fear of losing their lives is expected to have a depressing effect on their morale and to take away from their lives all of the remaining glimmer of modern war. Inferno in German Lines.

LONDONERS TO MODIFY WINTER CAMP PLANS

Battalions Will Proceed to England as Units, Instead of in Detachments.
LONDON, Ont., Aug. 29.—As a result of the change in orders from the militia department which will permit of the battalions stationed here going as whole units to England and not in detached companies, plans which had been made for the housing of 4000 or 5000 troops in a great winter camp here will have to be modified.

FARMERS CUT GRAIN BY USING SCYTHES

Special to The Toronto World.
BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 29.—The scythe has been brought extensively into use again by the farmers of the Brockville district. The heavy rains have made the ground so wet that it is impossible to use reapers in harvesting the grain, which in many cases is lying so flat that it cannot be touched by the reaper.

CZAR'S MEN YET RETIRE BEFORE GERMAN HOST

Question Arises as to Future Plans of Campaign for Autumn.

DRAWING NEAR VILNA Retreat of Russians Continues Thru Marshy Districts Without Mishap.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—There are no signs yet of any slackening of the German pursuit of the retreating Russians, and according to the official report issued in Berlin today progress has been made in all sectors of the eastern battle line except that in northern Courland, where the armies of Grand-Duke Nicholas are offering a stubborn and effective resistance. From the southeast of Kovno, where the Germans claim that they have broken the Russian resistance and must therefore be approaching Vilna, along the Niemen to Grodno and thence southeastward thru the forest of Bielowicz and along the borders of the Pripiet River marshes the Russians are falling back to new positions. Speculations Re Future.
Speculation again is being indulged in as to whether the Germans intend to follow the Russians further or prepare positions from which they can hold the Muscovites while the Teutons attempt an offensive in the Balkans or on the western lines in France and Belgium. Military observers here are of the opinion that this question must be settled before many days have elapsed, arguing that with the summer coming to an end any ventures proposed for the autumn must soon commence to develop. Thus far the Germans have made no move toward a great offensive in the west, and the threatened Austrian attack against Serbia has consisted mainly of long distance artillery engagements.

JOHN D. LONG IS CALLED BY DEATH

He Was Secretary of U.S. Navy During Spanish-American War.
HINGHAM, Mass., Aug. 29.—John D. Long, former secretary of the navy and former governor of Massachusetts, died at his home here last night. John D. Long was in the cabinet of President McKinley and held office during the Spanish-American war.

EXHIBITION VISITORS.

Starting today it is anticipated that the out-of-town residents will patronize the Great Fair in record numbers. At Dixons—140 Yonge street—there is a wonderfully interesting showing of importance to both sexes. Every woman loves furs and no woman will fail to find the styles she most fancies at Dixons'. The Fall Millinery is exquisitely tasteful and economically priced. Advance shipments of Men's Fall Hats by leading makers have just recently been unpacked. Furs for every purpose are shown at prices that are strictly reasonable. Don't overlook your visit to Dixons'.

Lieut.-Governor of Ontario Will Officially Open Today Exhibition's 'Patriotic Year'

Sir John Hendrie to Press the Button and Declare the Greatest Permanent Exhibition in the World Under Way—Everything is Ready to Receive the First Day's Guests.

Lieut.-Gov. Sir John Hendrie will officially open today what is expected to be the biggest and best Canadian National Exhibition on record. Surrounded by many prominent citizens, his honor will declare "Patriotic Year" under way. These ceremonies will take place at 2:30 o'clock, some hours after the many turnstiles have commenced to click their rounds to admit the first comers.

Saturday was preparation day—today is opening day, and, having worked to schedule, all is in readiness to receive the first day's guests.

That the exhibitors intended taking advantage to the full extent of the fair is shown in the fact that they have long since put the finishing touches to their exhibits and in very few cases, if any, is there anything remaining to be done. The result is that today will be an entire day at the grounds, and not merely a beginning.

Every hour, from 8 o'clock this morning until after 10 o'clock tonight, there is something to occupy the attention. Each hour has been accounted for, and there has been planned a program full to overflowing. The hours have been devoted to the model military camp, and those who wish to inspect it thoroughly will have the opportunity of doing so. When that is done there is something else awaiting the visitor's pleasure, and that something is always sure to provide education or entertainment.

Indeed, there need be no hesitation about where to go, what to do, because every corner has been taken over, and there is something of interest to take place all the time. And when one becomes weary of walking and feasting upon "things never seen before" there is rest and pleasure in listening to one of the many bands.

Toronto's splendid military concert band will take part, and there is, as a special treat, the famous musical organization—Creator's Band—which delighted such enormous audiences each time it played last year.

The presence of a battalion of overseas troops will lend a distinct military appearance to the grounds, and enhance the sentiment of "Patriotic Year." These men have been in training some time, and today, on every day of the exhibition, they will perform their regular duties in exactly the same manner as when at Niagara.

The big picture as they swing thru the Exhibition grounds. The form an exceptionally fine body of men.

A great deal has already been said about the war trophies, and undoubtedly will be the centre of attraction for every one who enters the grounds, but in connection with the war, there have sprung up new industries in the past few days, and the majority of these have space this year and all will invite inspection.

The standard attraction, which draws a magnet, old and young alike to the eastern end of the grounds, will be in full swing today with its noise, its color and its excitement, and else that accompanies the midway.

Varied are the shows engaged for patriotic year and the fun of going thru, taking in the sights, having your weight guessed, throwing the rings and so forth will be as great this year as it ever was.

The great mammoth stage has been ready some time, and the program of the finest spectacles ever produced. It is some years since a water scene was attempted, so that the one tonight will be quite different from anything seen recently. From the fact that the present time the ships of Great Britain and her allies are guarding the coasts represented, interest is materially added.

Yesterday afternoon's weather is but a sample of what is to come for the next two weeks; the weatherman will have carried out his end of the contract. Nothing more is desired by the authorities or anyone else.

The past few days have seen wonderful accomplishments towards getting everything ready. The big grand stand acts have all arrived.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's exhibit is in place and shows a section of a dining car and the deck of an ocean liner.

Help Tourist Traffic. Tourist traffic from the United States has been materially stimulated thru the action of the Ontario Government in dropping restrictions and allowing motor cars to enter for the small fee of 50 cents. There are said to be 14,000 motorists in Buffalo alone who will take advantage of this new privilege, and it is expected that they have been asking for reciprocity in homes for years.

Q. O. R. OVERSEAS MEN HEARD SERMON

Hon. Col. Ven. Archdeacon Cody Preached to Recruits at Armories.

INSPECTION FOLLOWED

Central Recruiting Depot Enlisted Eight Hundred Men Last Week.

Hon. Col. Ven. Archdeacon Cody, the chaplain of the Queen's Own Rifles, preached to the overseas men of the regiment at their church parade, held on Sunday morning, at the armories. The service was held in the eastern part of the building, known as the riding school, and was probably the first church service to be held in that part of the armories. The singing was led by the band of the Q. O. R. The hymns included "Fight the Good Fight" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Rev. P. E. Powell also took part in the service.

FIVE MINUTES PRAYER THRUOUT ENTIRE WORLD

Request is Made That Everyone Stand Silently for Short Time Today.

Calling for five minutes' prayer at 10 a.m. (Paris time) of August 30, throughout the whole of the civilized world, the following letter was received from Paris by Mrs. M. M. Hunter-Jones, 21 Thornburn avenue Parkdale, which reads as follows: "I am writing you thru the pages of 'The Master Mind' so that I feel that we have already known one another. I write to ask you to help in sending to all parts of the world the message that 'The 30th day of August, at 10 a.m. (Paris time) has been set for a universal prayer, to go forth asking for spiritual understanding."

quarters that Joffre may attempt to ease the pressure on the Russians by forcing the Germans at least out of northern France.

In the French statements bombardments are mentioned as being conducted with especial vigor and destructiveness in the region of Metz and Steenstraete, the sector of Chaulnes, north of the Aisne, in the neighborhood of Alliez and of Sourenon, and in the district between the Meuse and Moselle, around Pannes, of Euvezin, and in the Mont martre wood.

Teuton Trenches and Groups of Pioneers Drenched With Shells.

Both before and after the church parade the 250 overseas men, under Lieut. G. A. Sampson, were inspected by Lt.-Col. Levesconte, second in command of the Q. O. R., and by Capt. Rooney, adjutant.

The second inspection was held in the parade grounds outside the armories and was witnessed by many spectators. Col. Levesconte, after seeing the men march past in column formation, and in platoons separately, complimented them on the very good progress they had made after only one week's drill. Sixty of them had only joined the overseas company last Thursday as new recruits.

Eight Hundred in a Week. Nearly 800 men were examined medically and attested for active service by the central recruiting depot at the end of the week ending Saturday night. The total numbers attested on the respective days were: Monday, 340; Tuesday, 172; Wednesday, 110; Thursday, 109; Friday, 58; Saturday, 114; total, 798.

This was 200 men less than the previous week, but this is accounted for by the fact that the first week many of those attested had already enlisted with the various regiments, but had not been sworn in.

The fireworks, of a more patriotic nature than formerly, will be blown up at 10 o'clock tonight, and will be followed by a grandeur anything yet attempted, thus ending the day with a veritable wonderland scene.

Extra Money Hidden In Goodyear Fortified Tires

Goodyear prices are 37 per cent less than two years ago. As rubber came down and Goodyear sales kept growing, we lowered our factory cost per tire. So we've given motorists a tremendous saving.

Yet we've also built five great defenses into Goodyear Fortified Tires. These combat the worst attacks a tire encounters.

Where the Money Goes

Four of these extra values are hidden from view. In a poor tire skimping likewise goes unseen. The difference is enormous, but it doesn't show till you run a Goodyear and some rival tire on opposite wheels.

Then you learn what thousands know—that you can't judge a tire on looks.

Our All-Weather Tread is tough and double-thick. So it gives the longer mileage and greater resistance to punctures.

Our "On-Air" Cure—a costly process—eliminates blowouts due in rival tires to wrinkled fabric.

Our No-Rim-Cut Feature avoids rim-cutting in the only successful way. We would make more profit by using the common method.

Our Rubber Rivets, vulcanized between the tread and "carcass," make the two practically inseparable.

Our Braided Wire Bands of 126 piano wires are vulcanized into the beads of each tire. This feature makes the base unstretchable. No other method holds the tire on the rim so securely.

Off With Habit

In all these ways we're putting extra money into Goodyear Fortified Tires. They mean lowest cost per mile and greatest freedom from tire trouble. That's why Goodyears—in four short years—have won top place.

So don't—form mere habit—buy imported tires. Get these new-day advances found only in Goodyear Made-in-Canada Tires. See your dealer at once and request our new price on your size.

FRESH ARTILLERY BATTERS GERMANS

Practically Every Position of Enemy Suffers Severe Bombardment.

BATTLE IN LORRAINE

Teuton Trenches and Groups of Pioneers Drenched With Shells.

The explosion of mines at Marie Therese and in the west of the Meuse, during this moment of the hand-to-hand encounters for possession of the craters, out the tenacious French soldiers beat the Germans and captured the excavations.

The Lorraine border was also the scene of intense artillery activity. The French subjected the whole line and groups of pioneers at Gremscy, Beaugny, Gondrexon and Ebermeln to heavy gunfire. At Metzeral the Germans attempted to come out of their trenches and they at once were met by French soldiers who forced on them a heavy engagement with bombs and hand grenades.

The German barracks and railway station at Grand Ore, in the Ardennes, was bombarded by French aeroplanes with excellent results. French flyers also dropped bombs on the German barracks at Monchemin and Lancon, in the Argonne, causing great destruction of property.

BLOW-OUT BROKE RIM

When Tire Burst, Piece of Steel Shot Thru Window.

Fred Allan, address unknown, was arrested by Detective Guthrie Saturday evening, charged with having burglarized the residence of Mrs. Kittrie, 359 Lansdowne avenue, on Friday evening last.

Mrs. Kittrie returned home about 10 o'clock and heard someone prowling about upstairs, but she had not reached the top of the stairs when the intruder rushed past her along the hall and leaped thru an open window to the rear balcony, 15 feet below. From this landing he easily made an escape to the lawn and over the back fence. Allan is alleged to have taken two rings, a razor, and gold cuff links.

Tire Blew Out.

With a report that could be heard for blocks, a big rear tire on the motor car of Walter Brown, 115 Wilton avenue, blew out on West Queen street Sunday afternoon, and the force of the explosion tore the steel rim from the Fire, which started in stables at the rear of 391 Parliament street, caused approximately $800 damage Sunday evening. Joseph Comorra is the occupant of 391 Parliament street, and he had one horse burned, and J. R. Legeers, blacksmith, 295 East Gerrard street, had his workshop damaged to the extent of about $500. The loss is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Seven Austrians were arrested in a house at 229 Niagara street Sunday evening, charged with gambling. One of the men brandished a huge pair of knuckle-dusters, but he was quickly overpowered and bundled off to the station.

SEND MOTOR AMBULANCE.

At a meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Patriotic Association, held Saturday, it was decided to ship a motor ambulance to the front at once. The shipment will probably be made the first of a series of monthly contributions to be made by the association, while the war lasts.

WANTS COMPANY AS EXECUTOR.

In a writ issued at Osgoode Hall, Thomas Reynolds requests that Melinda Reynolds, widow of the late Thomas Reynolds, liquor dealer, be removed as executrix and that a trust company be substituted as executor. He also asks that the assets of the estate be vested in any company chosen.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

HANDSOME COATS VELVET AND FUR

Wraps for Formal Wear Are Fashioned on Attractive Loose Lines.

ONE MODEL IN GREEN

Exploits Latest Features. Huge Collar of Fox and a Belt.

Loosely cut and considerably "colored" are the handsome velvet and plush wraps displayed for formal afternoon and evening wear this season. Practically all coats now appear to show a preference for ample width and generous lines—the tailor-made, the redingote and the dressy coat to be worn with fuzzy skirts, at least, frocks—all show loosely set sleeves, plenty of width in the body section—and fur.

Fur appeared on every outdoor garment and on an amazing number of indoor models. But the velvet coat is apparently incomplete, and incorrect for that matter, without a collar of long-haired fox, or one of the other favorite skins.

Dark Green Chosen. Dark green is being chosen for the separate wrap by any number of fashionably dressed women. And the designers seem to have given it a preference, too.

One startlingly handsome model is in a subtle silk draping velvet, the weave closely resembling the old-fashioned chenille. The coat is cut on circular lines, starting to flare from the shoulders. Sleeves are set in the untrivial "balloon" style, and there is a broad belt of the velvet placed at the normal waistline, which adjusts the fullness in graceful ripples. Broad bands of exquisite black lured fur are formed into cuffs buttoned over with fur—the high collar, which stands up and then turns over again in long pointed fronts, being fastened in similar manner.

Other colors which are particularly adaptable for this type of coat are taupe gray, deep royal purple and very dark brown. Ermine sometimes replaces fox for the collar and cuffs, but even the most exclusive models show a preference for the less regal fur.

GROUNDS RESPLENDENT FOR GARDEN FESTIVAL

Patriotic Fete at St. Joseph's Convent and Funds Raised for Belgian Relief.

Not even the rain, which began to fall early in the evening, could daunt the enthusiasm of the workers at the patriotic garden festival at St. Joseph's Convent grounds, on Saturday. The booths looked pretty in their yellow and white decorations, these being the colors of the Catholic Young Ladies' Literary Association, under whose auspices the festival was held, and small pretty banners were seen above the trestles, while the great Belgian flag swung in the breeze at the entrance to the beautiful grounds.

A tennis match took place between teams from St. Peter's and St. Anthony's, and attractively costumed ladies skied in the reading of the stars and palms had a large and interested following.

Tea was served in the house and pronounced "the best ever." T. S. Sibbald was chairman at the entertainment given in the auditorium, in which the De La Salle Orchestra, Mrs. Corbett Malone, Mrs. Evelyn O'Donoghue, Mrs. Schreiner, Miss Ella Murphy, Tom Colgan, Richard Clark and the Misses Howarth and Middlebrooke, pupils of Mrs. Somers, took part.

MESSAGE THE FACE AT HOME.

After washing and before thoroughly drying the face run on a few drops of Campana's Italian Balm with the damp hand. It is easily rubbed in and treatment. For sale by Druggists, 25 cents the bottle. A special sample bottle mailed postpaid for 10 cents in coin or stamps by E. G. West & Co., 50 George Street, Toronto.

Notes of Women's World

The I. O. D. E. Cafeteria, under the management of Mrs. Edmund Phillips, opens today at the Exhibition for the convenience of all members and friends of the order. The cafeteria will be conveniently situated opposite the Art Building, and will be open for luncheon, afternoon tea and supper.

Visitors to the Exhibition are requested to look up the stand in the Manufacturers' Building, where dainty bouquiers and corsage bouquets may be purchased from the committee of the Canadian Convalescent Home in Dieppe. The proceeds will be in aid of the home.

The Rosary Hall Sewing Circle will not meet again until after Exhibition time.

The latest report on the sock fund of the Women's Conservative Club, shows some amazing and gratifying figures which can only be explained by the fact that the women have been untiring in their effort to secure the required numbers of comforts for soldiers. During the year, the number of comforts distributed totals almost 100,000. In the last two months, 15,185 comforts have been shipped and distributed. The output this week consists of 350 pairs of socks and 1500 candles. The next shipment will be packed Friday, Sept. 3, and those desiring to send in contributions of comforts are asked to do so before or on Thursday evening. Address: Mrs. Arthur Van Koughnet, 235 College Street.

The North Toronto Red Cross Auxiliary will sell chewing gum for soldiers in a pretty decorated booth at the Industrial Building during Exhibition.

Chiclets have been donated and the entire proceeds will be devoted to the Red Cross work of the auxiliary. The gum will be wrapped for shipment, and if the purchaser so desires, will be sent to any address at the front from the booth where baskets for parcels will be taken charge of.

The young girls acting as "sales-ladies" will be grown in frocks of red with white crosses.

As a result of the patriotic entertainment given at the De Grand Point, under the combined management of Mrs. Temple McMurrich and Mrs. Arthur McMurrich, members of the Dreadnought Chapter, I.O.D.E., the sum of $200 was raised for Red Cross work.

Mrs. Henry Brock is in receipt of a letter from Lieut.-Col. R. Rennie, dated "somewhere in Belgium or France" Aug. 4, in which he expresses the warmest appreciation and thanks of himself and men of the 3rd Battalion, for the gift of comforts sent by the Royal Canadian Chapter, I.O.D.E.

In spite of most unfavorable weather on the day of the patriotic military music and musicals, held at Sturgeon Bay on Aug. 6, Mrs. W. H. Tanner and her daughters, who organized the entertainment, were able to hand in $85 to the Red Cross.

The Westminster Chapter, I.O.D.E., purpose staging the famous and world renowned opera "The Mikado," early this fall, at the Alexandra, and it is anticipated to be a great success as the able director, Mrs. G. G. G. G., has engaged the most talented artists to take part. The proceeds to be used for Red Cross work.

HON. WM. PUGSLEY WEDDED IN BOSTON

Bride Was Formerly His Private Secretary — Honeymoon in West.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Announcement was made today that Hon. William Pugsley, member of the Canadian parliament from St. John, N. B., and ex-minister of public works, was married yesterday to Miss Gertrude MacDonald, of St. John, N. B., formerly his private secretary. The ceremony, which was a quiet one, was performed in Trinity Church by Rev. Ernest H. Marriett.

The only witnesses were relatives of the principals, two sons of the groom by a former marriage, William G. and John A. Pugsley; the bride's brother, Rev. George B. MacDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. John Newell and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Dupee of this city, relatives of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley left immediately for New York. It was said they would go to the Canadian northwest for a trip lasting several weeks.

To the West by the New Route.

The novelty of making your next trip to Western Canada via a new route, giving you the opportunity of traversing new territory, providing new scenery, and making the trip by a new train, should be interesting. This route is via Toronto and North Bay by the Grand Trunk Railway System, Cobalt and Cochrane, through the famous Timagami Forest Preserve, by Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, thence the Transcontinental Line to Winnipeg, where connection is made with Grand Trunk Pacific trains for all points in Western Canada and the Pacific Coast. Ask any Grand Trunk Agent for full particulars, rates, etc.

THE THEATRES THIS WEEK

"Bird of Paradise"
Tonight at the Alexandra will inaugurate the regular fall and winter season when Toronto theatregoers will have the opportunity of again seeing their favorite play, "The Bird of Paradise." The native band of Hawaiian singers and players still sing and play their haunting melodies and lend that subtle charm, which makes this one of the most talked-of plays of the century.

"Rosary" at Grand
The Grand will open the regular season on Thursday, Sept. 2 with "The Rosary," the engagement continuing all next week with matinees on Monday and Wednesday.

At Shea's Theatre
The W. H. Hare ensemble presenting 14 people in a carnival of dance will headline a bright bill at Shea's this week. The play, "The Circus," is a new and original production, featuring the unique spectacle of the wandering Gypsies, including the cyclonic Russian folk dances, will be featured in the "Circus." Jim Toney and Anne Norman provoke much laughter. Marguerite Beira will offer several new songs and dances, while P. George, "The Musical Chat," plays many old instruments. Completing the bill is a series of new photo plays, the best obtainable.

Fine Feature at Strand.

A rarely magnificent photo-play is "Neptune's Daughter," the wonderful spectacular production, in seven magnificent acts which will be presented at the Strand Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. The play is a superb fairy tale of how Neptune's daughter was changed from a mermaid to a mortal maiden, and as the latter, captured the heart of a king. It is a very funny and touching story. Secrets of Health and Happiness

The Nursing Mother; How to Keep Her Well

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B. M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

It is not always the laziest person who is the sickest. Oysters are unusually healthful creatures, yet they never leave their beds until they are pulled out. There are many things other than the hookworm, the African sleeping sickness and exhaustion that are sources of sleep. Babies, overfed on artificial pabulum, such as sweet foods, sugared milks and condensed milk, appear often fatter and bigger and sleep more than infants fed at the breast, yet no judgment as to their relative health may safely be deduced from this.

The healthiest babe is that one whose mother's bosom gives food to his puckering lips. The strongest adult is he whose lips touched only the founts of the maternal breast.

The ambrosial milk in the mother's breasts has its source in the mammary glands. These glands are intimately associated by way of the scarlet life channels of the blood stream with the thymus, ovarian, thyroid, adrenal, pituitary and other human glands. The growth of these delicate structures of the chest during childhood is confined not to the milk-forming glands, but to the connecting tissues between. Not until a new life is ushered into the world do the mammary glands become stimulated to manufacture mother milk.

The First Days. The special sllips and stimulants which irritate the breast glands to form milk for the newly-born infant seem to be a chemical let loose suddenly in the blood from the adrenal, pituitary and sex glands. For the time before the baby arrives, and for the first day or two thereafter, the fluid in these glands is not strictly milk, but an incomplete liquid called "colostrum."

The baby almost always loses weight for the first two or three days, because this colostrum fails to make up the little one's tissue waste. On the third or fourth day, if the mother has not been visited by irritable, emotional or otherwise disturbing relatives and friends; if she has not been given Epsom salts or other laxatives, which check the flow of milk, her breasts begin to fill with an abundance of true milk. Thenceforth, if the baby nurses well, this act of milking, a copious allowance of fine, rich, human milk, teeming with beneficial qualities impossible to obtain from cows or any other sources, is on tap.

Should the act of nursing be stopped, the breasts will cease to regularly milk. This food will cease to flow and the infant will at once encounter the vilest of dangers, and will be liable to develop all bottle-fed babies.

What Colostrum Is. Colostrum is a thin, straw-colored fluid which lacks fat and sugar, and is over-rich in albumens. It also has bits of corpus luteum, and is helpful to the little one's delicate stomach. Whenever signs of colostrum return in mother's milk it is a bad sign. It means the mammary fluids have been interfered with, neglected, or checked. If some momentary discomfort in the child precludes it from nursing, mother's milk must be helped to flow steadily by means of the breast pump, the use of puerim, ovarian extract, massage and at the same time the liberal use of fluids such as milk, fatty soups and other such fluid foods.

Much harm has been done infants and young mothers by the wrongful advice to take malt liquors, beer and other alcoholic drinks. It should be remembered firmly that these usually help to check the flow of milk and do not make more milk. It is a pernicious practice. Milk and cream are incentives to the flow of milk, but malt and beer, ale and porter and such drinks often interfere with it.

There is every reason to deny that the milk flow is under any control of the real nervous system. There is every reason to hold that it is stopped and hurt by emotions and strong feeling. Dr. Eckhard, in a famous experiment, has proved that destruction of the nerve trunks which reach the breast glands do not block the flow or change the character of the milk.

On the other hand, excitement, nagging, frights, worries, anxieties, fears, and all irritable emotional outbreaks by husbands, aunts, grandmothers, nurses, and other persons are reflected in the young mother's milk. I have seen the milk cease flowing under these circumstances as sharply as if a faucet were turned off.

THE IDEAL MAN
GOOD NATURED
CHEERFUL DISPOSITION
AFFECTIONATE
RICH

HE has it all figured out. Of course he is to be TALL, and handsome, and preferably athletic, at least athletic enough to be a GOOD dancer. Then he must not only be affectionate, but his general disposition must be evenly sunny. Naturally he is to be RICH. How is a man to show off these qualities unless he has a resilient check book? Don't misunderstand her. She is willing to leave the minor details to Cupid—things like his name and his business, though naturally a nice name and a comfortable business that didn't tie him down would be quite important in many ways. And he should be a good dresser, and VERY fond of home life. This doesn't reveal her COMPLETE catalogue. But it is a good start. It is best to make the catalogue long—it is so likely to SHRINK.

HE told me all about it the other day, the red-haired woman. "You see, it was this way," said the red-haired woman. "I'm awfully interested in clever people, and I've known a good many of them first and last, but most of my clever men have been in a certain sense, crude. "They were bright, and some of them were good, but none of them quite knew how to pay a compliment or what to say to a fat woman to make her feel that she wasn't fat at all, but just wholesome. "I like to analyze things and talk them over, and I never could find any man who would humor me in that direction. "Men are always so blunt, so brusque, so direct. When they're through, they're through, and that's all there is to it, and a woman wants to keep living things over again. "Why, a man won't even talk over a party or a victory or a defeat. And then, all at once, this man came along. "Clever, brilliant, cultivated and as analytical as a woman. "That settled it. I was fascinated as a moth with the flame. "I couldn't escape, and to tell the truth, I didn't want to. "We talked everybody in the world over. We took our best friends to pieces and put them together again, with a wheel wanting sometimes, though we never stopped to notice that. "The 'Blue Beard Chamber.' "We weighed and balanced and measured and marked—the reason this particular 'He' deserted that particular 'She'; the why of the two partners who stuck together because they were both such scoundrels that each was afraid to turn his back on the other for a minute; the woman who was too good for the man; the man who was too fine for the woman. Oh, we got it all down to a fine point! "And then we talked about each other. He told me that he admired me because I was coldly intellectual, and yet he liked the color of my hair, he said, not because he thought it was pretty, but because he thought it meant something strange and virulent in my blood. "He liked the way I walked, he told me, because it was so deceitful, and, as for my eyes, they interested him, because they told him nothing. "I talked to him about himself. I told him he was calculating, and he admitted it. I said that he was cruel and inexorable. He smiled enigmatically and did not reply. I analyzed his forehead, and made remarks about the turn of his nostrils. Oh, we had a glorious time, we two, dissecting, analyzing, theorizing, experimenting. "Here is the man for me, I thought. But one day we began to talk about ourselves. "I told him of my loneliness, my long struggle for something like real companionship, and he told me of his life—and what a life it was! "Adventure, romance, thrills, love, fear, revenge, hate, triumph, defeat. I sat, like a second Desdemona, and trembled with a fearful joy.

Each in Her Place. "Pale and dead, the English girl, the Irish girl, the French woman, the Spaniard, the little American—all in a row—and I dropped the key, and the blood was on it and I could not wash it off. "And I cried aloud and called for Sister Anne, and she came and helped me, and here I am, alive. "But every once in awhile I waken from a deep sleep at night and find that I have been dreaming of the Blue Beard's chamber of that man's heart, and there I am, with my red hair knotted and thrown over a hook, with the rest of them. "I think I'll choose a plain man, after all. "These men who analyze too much are apt to have too much to analyze." And this is the story of the red-haired woman, who is very clever and very fine, told me the other day, when we sat at tea in a quiet garden and watched the water rippling in the little pool where the amorous goldfish lives, the goldfish which is in love with the great white Angora cat, and yet knows in his secret heart that the cat will never come and live with him. "And all at once I saw it—the Blue Beard chamber of his mind. "There they hung, in a row, the poor, pitiful victims of this man's egotism.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: We are two young girls, 16 years of age, and would like to get into company with two young fellows. They look at us on the street, but we are too shy to look back. And yet we feel awfully lonely by our two lonesome selves. TWO TROUBLESOME KITTENS. Goodness gracious me, doesn't it seem to you, now that you read your letter in print, that you could have chosen a better name and really could have saved yourselves from imagining that anyone would believe that two young men who "look at you on the street" have the making of friends who are worth having? There is no reason in the world why you should not find friends among those to whom your really good friends will introduce you. Don't imagine that you ever can "meet" upon the street anyone who will be worthy of a moment's thought—and you may be very sure they will turn out to be the sort you should not and would not care to know. At 16, my dear, loneliness cannot be very real—there are so many happy times and happy things you can have and do together. Just wait a while and everything will come out right in the end.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a young girl of 21 years. I go with a gentleman of 35. He is a dentist and makes all kinds of money, but is very saving with it. Now he seems to love me dearly, and I love him, although we are not engaged yet. I have been going with him for nearly two years now. He seems to pay much attention to me and pays much attention to the others. I would like you to give me some good advice and tell me if I should stop going with him. Do you really think he cares for me? E. R. S. It seems to me, if I were you, my dear, I would think long and often before imagining a man who appeared to enjoy the society of other girls when he was together, more than he did mine, really loved me. If he has not asked you to marry him and has shown his hesitancy in making plans for the future, why don't you give him up as "an only friend" and seek others who are more really worth while? Think it all over, my dear; make up your own mind—as we all must in solving all our problems finally—and then act as seems to you best.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

By ADELE GARRISON

There's More Than One Way of Saying What You Mean.

Went on, "but it's too comfortable right here at home. I feel at peace with the world tonight." The ringing of the telephone bell punctured Dicky's words. He was visibly annoyed, but to me the sound was a relief. Anything was better than Dicky's child-like enjoyment of our home evening contrasted with my knowledge of how soon must spoil it. He went to the telephone and took down the receiver. Then I heard the puzzling half-conversation which always falls to the lot of the outside listener. "Yes," Dicky never answers "Hello" over the telephone, but always says "Yes" with the rising inflection. It is one of his mannerisms which I like. "Oh, Lil? You're sounding fine." "Oh, yes, she's feeling bully. Had a bad headache yesterday, but she's all right today." Lil has a "Party."

"Didn't need you. Why should we send for an amateur like you when there is a professional like me in the house." "You don't need to take my word for it. Ask Madge. She'll vouch for my ability as a nurse." "Why I don't know. Nothing particular. Why?" Then there was a long pause in Dicky's end of the conversation. Even at my chair at the farther end of the room I could hear the raucous tones of Lillian Gale's voice as she went on against the sounder of the telephone. I could not distinguish what she said, but she was evidently very enthusiastic about something, for she talked very fast, and her tones showed earnestness. "Well, we're very comfortable where we are, thank you, but I'll ask her." Dicky put down the receiver and stuffed one of his handkerchiefs into the transmitter. Then he walked over to me, and standing with his back to the telephone, spoke in almost a whisper. "Don't let her hear my answer. Madge, Lil says a gang just dropped here to the apartment, and she wants us to come over and help entertain 'em. There are not so many of our own crowd here that theatrical bunch that she talks with sometimes. I know the kind of party it will be, so many different kinds of drinks that we won't be able to find our own house tomorrow morning unless the taxi driver takes pity on us. But it will be a novel experience for you if you want to go. What shall I tell her?" "You draw such an alluring picture, Dicky. I whispered back, nodding up at him, "that you really tempt me. But you must decide. I'll go if you want to, but you're not exactly crazy over the proposition," he said gleefully. "Then I'll count on it." "With a home evening like this as an alternative?" Dicky said not. It's sully, fun at Lil's, but it's comfy home here."

Dicky Settles It Himself. He went back to the phone, took his handkerchief out of the transmitter with a merry glance at me, and began his excuses. "I say, lady, the spirit is willing but the flesh is weak over here. Madge sends her love and says she'd love to come, but she has just recovered from one of the worst attacks of headache she ever had in her life, and she's afraid a night of dissipation would bring it back again. Sorry, old girl, but better luck next time. We'd better break her in by degrees anyway. You know that crowd you've got there tonight is—"

"Mighty poor substitute for a log fire, but unfortunately they don't put red-hot coals in the grate, with a few embers," Dicky commented when we had settled ourselves before the grate and Dicky had poured our coffee, old girl. "It's very cheerful, even as it is," I answered. "It is when there's a bully little wife to share it with a man," returned Dicky tenderly. Dicky always calls me "little" when he is in a tender mood, although I am quite above the average woman in stature, within two inches of my own height, in fact.

"I thought of asking you to take a little stroll with me tonight," Dicky said. "I've measured carefully, and find that it is perfectly comfortable. The sink should be 29 inches from the floor to the bottom of the sink basin. It's going to cost a few dollars to have the change made, but not very much, and I think it will be worth what it will cost in the discomfort and time it's going to save me." Also I'm having a galvanized top put on the little wooden table that is next to the stove, and which I usually use to prepare dishes for serving to the dining room. Putting hot dishes on a wooden table isn't exactly the right kind of treatment, but it has happened several times. There are many prepared table tops that one can buy nowadays—from vitrified glass to German silver, and later on I'm going to get one, but the galvanized iron top is the cheapest, and will do nicely for the present.

I'm having the carpenter put a two-inch strip of wood over the table on which to hang the various tools I use when at work there. I used to keep the various knives and beaters and graters and mixers and vegetable preparers in the drawer, which was convenient in a sense. But they get banged-up, and I often had to fuss around a minute or so to find just what I wanted. But I can put little cup hooks into this two-inch strip—one hook for each tool, and so keep everything I need right before me. It's going to be easier housekeeping for me this fall, I'm sure.

A Great Attendance Expected

What might have been a drawback to the success of the Canadian National Exhibition this year promises to be the means of bringing about the largest attendance that has ever been known in Toronto. The great war exhibit has attracted so much attention in every part of the country that if there were no other features in the wonderful fair, this alone would bring the crowds from every part of the Dominion and from the United States. It is beginning to be pretty well understood across the border now that the Toronto Exhibition is quite as good value as those on the Pacific coast, and that it is a great deal nearer for all who live in Chicago or east of that city, and that it is immensely cheaper. New Englanders are learning that Toronto is in a lower latitude than Maine and most of Vermont, New Hampshire and northern New York, and that it is not necessary to wear winter clothing to enjoy the fair. Toronto is a summer resort and continues to be a summer resort for all who have been born in temperate latitudes till Indian summer is past.

The misunderstanding about passports has been extended and United States visitors must know that they are as free to come and go on the Canadian frontier to see the Exhibition as Canadians born. This war exhibits will be of special interest to those visitors from the south, while they are preserving their neutrality with admirable consistency, they are not unconscious of the great service the allies are performing for the republic and for all who believe in freedom and the blessings of liberty. The Toronto Exhibition is itself a sign and token of what these blessings are. It marks the progress of civilization which would be impossible without the liberty for which the allies are fighting. Not a single feature of the national fair but demands for the success upon the traditions which Germany and her confederates would destroy. The farm and the orchard, the workshop and the foundry, the factory and the studio, the wealth of the country and the produce of the city, are gathered together in a richness and variety which rival all but the very greatest of the huge exhibitions of international fame. The live stock is unsurpassed. The beautiful grounds are an attraction in themselves. The music provided is of the best, and should a visitor by any chance weary of the exhibition, he has the Queen City of Ontario to lounge about in or to spend his time with sight-seeing.

It seems impossible when the season is considered and the conditions imposed by the war, but it is confidently expected that these conditions are going to produce a record attendance.

German Idea of Peace

Even the most convinced and pronounced supporters of the movement for international peace recognize that this war must be brought to an absolute finish. It does not admit of any compromise short of final settlement of the great question "Is Europe and the world to be controlled in future by physical force or by voluntary submission to international law?" Every one knows now that the German bureaucracy has been guided in the building up of German power by the old barbaric doctrine that the power of the sword alone can rule in international affairs. It has, all along the course of the war, shown utter contempt for the treaties and conventions which Germany had agreed to and actually signed. To that disregard of solemn obligations the Germans have added a catalog of crimes without parallel since the darkest ages of human history. The British Empire and its allies have had to meet force by force, but their purpose and determination is to restore the supremacy of law and good faith in international relations. If Germany wins Europe will pass under German control, the British Empire will be dismantled, freedom to live independent national lives and develop independent national ideas and ideals will pass like a tale that is told. For the German people have become completely imbued with the principles that actuate the German bureaucracy.

Even the most highly educated classes of Germany believe that German civilization—if it can be so called—German efficiency and German energy afford sufficient reason for the attempt to destroy all other forms of modern civilization and to secure domination over all other parts of the earth. Force is the weapon Germany is applying to establish world-supremacy and, if Germany succeeds, force will be enthroned as the only arbiter among the nations, and German force at that. Those pacifist enthusiasts who cry for an immediate peace on terms that will permit Germany to renew its strength and prepare more thoroughly for another attempt at world dominion do not know what they ask. An indefinite end to this war would bring peace but a sharper sword, a sterner struggle. Germans are mad with the lust of power and more determined than ever to achieve their object. In Germany there are organizations that are considering schemes for securing permanent peace, and pamphlets have appeared dealing with the problem from their standpoint. It is very significant, however, that in all the schemes they propose, the idea always is the bringing together of the continental European nations, except Russia, in a loosely constructed federation of which the main bond will be German military power. Underlying all that has yet been written in Germany on the subject of peace is the idea which obsesses Germans that if other nations will not willingly accept their "kultur" then it must be imposed, whether these nations like it or not. Permanent peace on that basis is inconceivable.

A Point of View

When visitors come to Canada and land at Quebec they are taken up to the Citadel and shown a view which well-nigh takes their breath away. There are few things to compare with the historic stretch of the St. Lawrence with its glorious memories and the beautiful landscape that spreads away in every direction and loses itself in the clouds of the distant hills. After a few days the visitors come up to Montreal perhaps and are taken up to the outlook on the top of Mount Royal, and once more they lose their breath. There is something wonderfully inspiring about the view from the ancient City of Hochelaga, with its crowded wharfs, its noble river and its hill-rimmed landscape. Visitors compare it with European views they have seen, and they do not usually place any other above it in comparison. A very wonderful thing has happened in Toronto. It would not have been thought possible a few years ago, but it is a fact today. There is a view of the city to be had which, as far as the opinion of many, actually surpasses that of the magnificent prospect presented by either the view from the Citadel or from Mount Royal. It is enjoyed daily in clear weather by the members of the board of trade from their new quarters on the top of the Royal Bank building. Here, supreme above the city, higher than the tall shaft of the city hall tower, with an eye-sweep that includes the sixty-odd miles across the lake to the shores of the republic, and out across the farm lands of Peel, there lies one of the great urban views of the world. The splendid expanse of the great lake is an initial inspiration. Nearer, almost at one's feet as it appears, circles Hiawatha's Island, and the bay lies like a mirror in the curve of the sand and foliage. The city itself, all its sordidness and its squalor sublimed by the height to which one is lifted, rests below in a quaint silence of unbelievable peace. At night it shines like an under firmament of brighter stars.

Domination and Alliance

In the character and conduct of the alliances that have divided the great powers of Europe into two warring groups, the widely separated ideals are clearly discernible. Domination by Germany is the characteristic of the Teutonic and Turkish aggregation. Independent but loyal co-operation marks the group composed of Britain and her allies. The masterful Germans have practically taken everything out of the hands of Austrians and Turks. They order and their nominal allies obey as best they can. But the world hears of none but German commanders—it is just the case of Germany over everybody and everything.

some one or other of the allies. They expected sooner or later to induce a separate peace with either Russia or France, or both. In that expectation they have been, and will continue to be, disappointed. German aims have been too openly proclaimed and German methods too effectually disclosed to have other result than still closer and more resolute union among the allies.

Mr. C. W. Jefferys is credited with one of the best puns of the season. It was the result of a conversation about Sir Sam Hughes when someone wondered why the King should have knighted the Canadian general. "Oh!" said Mr. Jefferys, "le roi-amuse!" No one will appreciate this better than Sir Sam.

A most attractive illustrated booklet has been issued by the Ontario Government with information about Northern Ontario and its resources and the terms of settlement. It is generally known that free grants of land are made in all the districts comprising New Ontario, except Timiskaming. The free grant consists of 160 acres and may be increased by another 160 by purchase at fifty cents an acre. There need not be any misunderstanding about this, but sometimes settlers from the mother country imagine that they have nothing to do but walk on the land and start farming. Preliminary clearing and other work has to be done, but the results attained by many settlers under the advice of the government officials show that it is possible for immigrants to achieve notable success in this way. Northern Ontario alone covers an area of 380,000 square miles and extends 770 miles from north to south, so that there is considerable variety in the climate. Settlers seem to prefer the timbered lands, and some interesting statements are extracted from the letters of settlers who have tried both the prairie and the bush and prefer the latter. These testimonies are worth reading.

Prisoners' Allowance is Decidedly Limited

Only Twenty-Five Cents Weekly Provided, it is Pointed Out. OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 29.—Her royal highness, the Duchess of Connaught, has been informed that the Canadian prisoners of war are to receive one mark (25 cents) per week, and not seven marks ($1.75) per week as was recently stated. The Canadian government funds are still required to supply food and comforts for the prisoners in Germany. Her royal highness has received $2257 in reply to her appeal to the presidents of the Canadian Women's Clubs. Of this amount $1500 has already been sent to Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley, governor of the "prisoners of war" department of the Canadian Red Cross Society, London, Eng. Replies have been received from several of the Canadian Women's Clubs encouraging and forwarding their direct to the Canadian Red Cross in England. The Duchess has sent $1000 to Canadian prisoners 100 pairs of socks which her royal highness has made with her knitting machine.

Lieut. L. Anderson Points Out Duty

Tells Young Men They Will Be Marked as Slackers. "If you don't do your duty you will be marked as a slacker as you live; the women of England will have nothing to do with the man who is not serving the empire in some way," said Lieut. L. D. Anderson, in concluding his address to the large audience which attended the recruiting meeting at the Strand Theatre last night.

MANY HEAR ADDRESSES

Large Audience in Strand Theatre Listen to Enthusiastic Speakers. Lieut. Anderson has recently returned from the trenches, where he was gassed and received minor wounds, but his one thought is to get back again. He gave a vivid picture of the action at Langemarck, where he displayed eminent valor, and his commanding officer recommended him for a commission. While he was out examining the barbed wire entanglements he observed a German patrol approaching, "but we had most of them very soon afterwards," he modestly remarked. "He had nothing to say against the German strategy, but told of an incident at St. Julien which is creditable to the British and Canadian officers. His men were encamped about 100 yards in front of the woods at St. Julien, and, contrary to the usual military tactics, the British forces had not a single man or gun concealed in the woods. The enemy opened fire on the woods and uprooted every tree, but failed to get the range on the British which attended the recruiting meeting.

A New Land Nearby

A most attractive illustrated booklet has been issued by the Ontario Government with information about Northern Ontario and its resources and the terms of settlement. It is generally known that free grants of land are made in all the districts comprising New Ontario, except Timiskaming. The free grant consists of 160 acres and may be increased by another 160 by purchase at fifty cents an acre. There need not be any misunderstanding about this, but sometimes settlers from the mother country imagine that they have nothing to do but walk on the land and start farming. Preliminary clearing and other work has to be done, but the results attained by many settlers under the advice of the government officials show that it is possible for immigrants to achieve notable success in this way. Northern Ontario alone covers an area of 380,000 square miles and extends 770 miles from north to south, so that there is considerable variety in the climate. Settlers seem to prefer the timbered lands, and some interesting statements are extracted from the letters of settlers who have tried both the prairie and the bush and prefer the latter. These testimonies are worth reading.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 29.—Her royal highness, the Duchess of Connaught, has been informed that the Canadian prisoners of war are to receive one mark (25 cents) per week, and not seven marks ($1.75) per week as was recently stated. Her royal highness has received $2257 in reply to her appeal to the presidents of the Canadian Women's Clubs. Of this amount $1500 has already been sent to Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley, governor of the "prisoners of war" department of the Canadian Red Cross Society, London, Eng. Replies have been received from several of the Canadian Women's Clubs encouraging and forwarding their direct to the Canadian Red Cross in England. Czar's Men Check German Attempts to Gain Premature Control of Railway. The Russian war office reported that yesterday the general retreat was continued with great speed fighting, chiefly on the roads to Bialystok, and along the western border of Belovezsa and Puzoski and also towards Kobryn.

Following up Russians

The German report that the army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria is following up the retreating Russians through the Blawiez forest, and has nearly come up with the Russian right wing Southeast of Kovno, says the Germans, the resistance of the Russians has been broken. The fighting here has only been of a rear guard nature and military observers see nothing in this statement for alarmist reports. The rear guard would be only sufficiently long to enable the forcing of the enemy to deploy his forces. The Russian war office reported that yesterday the general retreat was continued with great speed fighting, chiefly on the roads to Bialystok, and along the western border of Belovezsa and Puzoski and also towards Kobryn.

ZEPPELIN RAIDS UTTER FAILURES

A. J. Balfour Says Attacks by Air Were of No Importance. WHY DISSIPATE ERRORS By Telling of Past Blunders the Enemy Would Be Helped. LONDON, Aug. 29.—(6:55 p.m.)—No soldier or sailor has been killed, or even been wounded, on any one occasion has damage been inflicted which could, by any stretch of language, be described as of the smallest military importance. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, of the Zeppelin raids on England, in a letter to a correspondent who had complained that the British accounts of these raids were meagre, while the German reports of the same events "are quite rich in lurid details." "The reason," says Mr. Balfour in his letter, "is quite simple. Zeppelins attack under cover of night, and, by preference, on moonless nights. In such conditions landmarks are elusive, navigation difficult and errors inevitable and sometimes of surprising magnitude. The Germans constantly assert, and may sometimes believe, that they dropped bombs on places which, in fact, they never approached. Why Dissipate Errors? "Why make their future voyages easier by telling them where they blundered in the past? Since their errors are our gain, why dissipate them? Let us learn what we can from the enemy, but let us teach him only what we must. Nobody will, I think, be disposed to doubt that this reticence is judicious. But the question may still be asked whether it is used not merely to embarrass the Germans but unduly to reassure the British. "How ought we to rate the Zeppelins among the weapons of attack, and what have they done and what can they do? To this last question I do not offer a reply. I cannot prophesy about the future of a method of warfare which still is in its infancy. I can, however, say something of its results during the past. Much Suffering. "That it has caused much suffering to many innocent people unhappily is certain, but even this result, with all its tragedy, has been modified out of all proportion by ill-informed rumor.
