Fire Adds Horror to Double Collision at Gretna, Near Carlisle

MANY BURNED ALIVE

Troop Train Telescoped Local and Express Crashed Into Wreck

Canadian Associated Press Cable. CARLISLE, Eng., May 22.—One of the most disastrous wrecks in the annals of British railroading took place at 4 o'clock this morning on the Caledonian Railway at Gretna, near this city, when three trains came into collision.

No fewer than 73 persons were killed and the final list may be considerably greater, for it is believed that many persons sustained fatal injuries. The total casualties probably will reach 300, as the list of more or less seriously injured is very numerous.

One of the three trains was a troop train; another was a local and the third was the express from London to Glasgow. Fire broke out among the wreckage

WESTERN CROP PROSPECTS COULD NOT BE BRIGHTER

Growth Is Ten Days or Two Weeks Earlier Than Any Ordinary Year and a Large Crop of Wheat Is Assured

Special to The Toronto World.

MONTREAL, May 22.—During the last week temperatures in the Canadian northwest have been very low, with considerable frost, but the general opinion is that no damage whatever has been done. Our Winnipeg firm wire us that they do not believe the frost they have had during the last few nights has done any damage to the wheat crop as it is too early and the cool weather is an advantage as it keeps the moisture in the ground; that crop prospects at present could not be better and taking into consideration the excellent way the seed was put into the ground the country could go without any rain now for two or three weeks. The crop is also ten days to two weeks earlier than any ordinary year and with anything like an even break in the weather for the next month or six weeks a large crop of wheat is assured.

KING OF ITALY SIGNED DECREE READY FOR WAR

Extraordinary Powers Conferred on the Government by Its Head

AUSTRIANS TAKE TRAIN

Hostilities May Commence Before Formal Declaration is Made

PARIS, May 22, 5:45 p.m.—The announcement that Italy has declared war against Austria-Hungary is awaited hourly in Paris, but up to five o'clock this afternoon no definite news to this end has been received. The Italian cabinet is still reported to be discussing the philosophy of the declaration of war. It has been in session with this idea in view since half-past ten o'clock this morning. It is understood that the Austrian ambassador, who is ready for delivery to him. In Paris it is believed that they will be handed before the day is over.

LONDON, May 22.—King Victor Emmanuel signed today a decree conferring on the Italian Government extraordinary powers during the period of the expected war. Austrian troops are being concentrated in large numbers along the upper course of the Adige River, which flows from the Tyrol into Lombardy.

Reports received from Trieste are to the effect that there is much distress in that seaport. The city is virtually without bread and even cornmeal for their "polenta," or porridge, of the people is extremely scarce. Very few of the Italians in Trieste have been able to get away.

Vice-Admiral Viale, minister of marine, today received Gabriele D'Annunzio, who asked to be permitted to observe the progress of Italy's marine activities from on board one of the Italian battleships.

A traveler from Italy who reached this city declares the sudden and popular enthusiasm for war in Italy has been largely occasioned by the Lusitania disaster. The name of the Lusitania is constantly on the lips even of laborers and peasants in most remote villages.

EXPULSIONS CONTINUE.

UDINE, Italy, May 22, via Rome.—The expulsion of Italians from Trieste, Pola, Coris and Gradisca continues by the thousands.

None of these persons, however, are permitted to enter Italy; they are all being loaded into freight trains and sent to the interior. Austria or Hungary? These forced removals are resulting in much distress.

A local newspaper publishes the names of several hundred Italians who have been thus interned.

GETTING NEW QUARTERS.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONTIER. May 22, via Paris.—Information reaching the frontier from Rome, declares that in case the ministers of Prussia and Bavaria to the Vatican are compelled to leave Rome, they have decided to establish themselves at Lugano, the nearest town in Switzerland to the Italian border. Lugano expects another Britisher, however, never lose sight of the main thing, the safety of the country, and especially is this the case in party scrapping.

CANADIANS WIN SECOND SUCCESS BY CAPTURING STRONG POSITION HELD BY GERMANS NEAR YPRES

Good Progress is Being Made With the New British Cabinet

List of Proposed Holders of Principal Portfolios May Soon Be Submitted to the King.

LONDON, May 22.—There was a further conference at the residence of Premier Asquith today, of cabinet members, and prospective members. The premier made such progress with his nominations, that he may be able to submit to King George later in the day a list of the proposed holders of the principal portfolios. It is not known, however, whether these announcements will be made before the minor offices are filled.

WOODBINE OPENING WILL HOLD PARADE AS IN OTHER YEARS

Racing Part of "Business as Usual" for One Day at Least

Glorious sunshine and soft breezes favored King's Plate day at the Woodbine. The crowd was little, if at all, smaller than on opening days of the past, and while the absence of the governor-general and the royal party from Ottawa detracted in some slight degree from the time-honored pomp of the occasion, there was no lack of brilliancy. The prevailing note of black and white in feminine fashion lent an appropriate, if not altogether premeditated aspect to the picturesque spectacle on the lawn, and with the profusion of khaki uniforms, constituted the only features significant of war. Through the whole afternoon a feeling of dignified reserve seemed to pervade the greetings of those who promenade in front of the members' stand as if racing for one day at least had become a part of "business as usual."

THREE MILLION MEN ENGAGED ACROSS THE GALICIAN FRONT

Honor Gallant Canadians

Honor will be paid to the memories of veterans of former campaigns and also to the Canadians who, during the present conflict, have so gallantly fought and given up their lives, at a ceremony to be held at the veterans' memorial service and decoration of monuments at Queen's Park on Monday morning at 10:30.

TAKES DRASTIC STEP TO DEAL WITH STRIKE

LONDON, May 22.—The London County Council took a drastic step today to deal with the strike on the municipal tramway system. It ordered all employees of military age who are eligible for service in the army or navy to surrender forthwith their uniforms and badges. Only men above military age will be employed during the remainder of the war.

PART OF THE CROWD AT THE WOODBINE

Photograph of the betting ring on Saturday afternoon shows that the attendance was above the average for opening day.

Charley Millar
Charley Millar, who wins the King's Plate, has earned it fairly. There is no other man like him in the world. Of German parentage, born on a farm in western Ontario, he came thru the University of Toronto about forty years ago in a rather brilliant way; then a student in Morphy & Morphy's law office on Yonge street; next in practice in the old office for himself. He has more kinds, and all kinds, of clients than any other lawyer. Jack Johnson, the pugilist, is his client; he is hotel men, racing men, sports of all kinds, merchants, and widows and orphans, publishers and corporations, and men from every quarter of the world. He is big-framed, somewhat deaf, dresses indifferently, and has an unpleasant voice. But he is a Canadian all over. He has been so devoted to his old mother that he has never married. He is very rich; has lost some, but made much more, in real estate, in betting in hotels, in breweries, in speculation, in the express business in British Columbia, and in partnerships of many

The New Labor Leader
Organized labor goes up a distinct step by the selection of the leader in the house of commons, Arthur Henderson, as chairman of the local government board in the coalition cabinet now being formed by Prime Minister Asquith. Hitherto labor leaders, outside of John Burns, have declined cabinet positions. Mr. Henderson's selection may have a bearing on the output of war goods in British workshops by union labor. Should charged with making, buying and sending out munitions, with Mr. Henderson, he ought to be able to accomplish more in this respect than was Lord Kitchener single-handed.

Political Discord in England
If there is political excitement and cabal in London the army is fighting on as ever in the western battle fields and the navy and army on the Dardanelles. Troops and supplies are going to the front; the organization is bettering itself at every point, and the enemy is losing rather than gaining. But political faction is not a good thing, even as a side-dish; the sooner it is cleared away the better. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire, and the sooner the fires of discord are quenched the better. Northcliffe has put his future at stake by his attacks on Kitchener. At best he is not a good actor and he may be about to find it out. Britishers, however, never lose sight of the main thing, the safety of the country, and especially is this the case in party scrapping.

Enemy Turned Out at Point of Bayonet, Leaving Many Machine Guns and Prisoners—All Counter Attacks Beaten Off—Canadian Casualties Were Heavy.
By Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, Ont., May 22.—General Sam Hughes informed the press today that he had received a private message stating that the Canadians had figured on Thursday night in another important engagement north of Ypres. The second brigade, under Brigadier General Curry, of Victoria, and the third Highland brigade, under General Turner, made a bayonet attack on a German fortified position in an orchard and after severe fighting turned the Germans out, capturing several machine guns and many prisoners. In spite of counter-attacks, these two brigades held the position throughout Thursday and on Friday the second Canadian division, under General Mercer, and the fourth Canadian division, under General Seelye consolidated the positions gained. This brigade is composed of the Strathcona Horse, the Royal Canadian Dragoons, and the King Edward Horse, all dismounted cavalry. Losses Were Heavy. It is believed at the militia department that the Canadian losses were considerable. When last heard from Canadians were holding the position they had taken. No list of casualties has yet been received, and particulars of the battle are comparatively meagre. However, it is quite clear that the Canadians were seriously engaged and scored another success.

PLEASANT EVENING

On Wednesday evening last the members of the Gaelic League said "beannacht leat" to the season of their work and met with renewed energy and forces in the fall.

It was the last, and rather an "off" night, and the league did not go thru its usual routine of work, but spent the evening in pleasant "kailiyeh" fashion, using in the truly Celtic atmosphere of an Irish library, naturally the conversation drifted to books, Irish and otherwise, and their relative merits.

BERLIN'S VERSION OF ITALY'S ACTION

German Paper Gives Its View of History of Present Crisis

CALLS IT PRETENCE
Contention That Alliance is Broken is Frowned Upon by Enemy

BERLIN, May 22.—(By wireless to Saville.)—The overseas news agency today gave the following: "The Nord Deutscher Allgemeine, in giving the history of the Italian crisis, says that Italy's reason for participating in the war is not, as pretended, because Austria-Hungary attacked Serbia. Italy demanded compensation on the terms of the triple alliance provided for in case of a change in the balance of power in the Balkans. Austria-Hungary and Germany accepted the Italian interpretation of the treaty without discussion, and opened negotiations with a view to compensating Italy, conceding several Italian claims."

Wounded Canadian Soldiers Say British Government Placed Them With Misfits

OTTAWA INVESTIGATES

Misunderstanding on Part of Steamship Company is Thought Responsible

Special to The Toronto World. OTTAWA, May 22.—Allegations that certain wounded Canadian soldiers, having returned from England from the hospital, were treated as prisoners and sent home to Canada in the company of a number of men who were "misfits" and "beings investigated by the militia department here, Gen. Sam Hughes says that the militia department was misled by a misunderstanding.

Lost Their Sight. The stories that were told by Pte. J. Culley of Toronto and Pte. A. T. Pollock of Galt, who had lost their sight as a result of wounds sustained in battle, have led the militia department to the British authorities for an explanation.

On the steamship coming to Canada they were put in the steerage quarters with the prisoners and again were subjected to staring curiosity. It is understood that the matter was discussed at a militia conference yesterday. The minister of militia deplored the incident, and stated that steps would be taken to avoid a repetition of it.

Devil Ships Being Used

A SHORT time ago it was reported that the Germans were using against any defence work or ships of the enemy.

They mustn't be mixed up with fire ships, also used by the German soldiers. These ships are usually filled with dry wood smothered in pitch, oil, and other inflammable material.

ENGLISH TROOP TRAIN WRECKED

Many Soldiers Killed in Accident on Railway Near Carlisle

FIRE ADDS TO HORROR

Local Express Was Telescoped by Train Carrying Regiments

and added appalling to the horrors of the scene.

Assistance arrived quickly. The fire force was called out, and after getting the flames under control the firemen joined in extricating the dead and the wounded. The adjoining fields soon had the appearance of an immense mortuary, with the dead, the dying and the injured laid out in gruesome ranks.

Dead Mostly Soldiers.
The dead mostly are soldiers. The troop train collided first with a local from Carlisle, and before the occupants were able to get clear of the wreckage of this accident, the express from London to Glasgow crashed into them. The result was terrifying. Locomotives and cars shattered and splintered were hurled about in confusion.

Fire broke out and spread with great rapidity thru the wreckage. It was soon burning so fiercely that the men engaged in the work of rescue were driven back. There was nothing to do but wait for the coming of the fire brigades.

These were brought up at all possible speed. Once on the scene they labored with frantic energy to obtain control of the flames. In the end they were successful, but before the fire was put out many of the travelers pinned under the wreckage of the cars and unable to make their escape were burned alive before the eyes of the helpless onlookers.

The collision was due to heavy fog. Twelve cars were piled in heap of timbers. Surgeons were sent to the scene from Carlisle and Newcastle and the injured were brought in large numbers to both of these cities. The passenger train, according to a later report, had been side-tracked to permit the passage of the troop train, which ran into the siding, telescoping the local.

The London express on the Caledonian line ran into both, adding its front cars to the pile. Five hundred men of one regiment were on the troop train. When the roll was called after the wreck only 55 officers and men responded. Numbers of others, however, were engaged in caring for their wounded comrades.

Some of the victims were so mangled that their rescue was impossible. Several others who were extricated died soon after.

Doctors performed heroic services, braving the flames in their efforts to help those pinned in the tangled mass of wood and iron. One physician, Dr. Edwards, responded to the appeals of two soldiers who were imprisoned flames he amputated both legs of one and one leg of the other, as this method offered their only hope of escape. One of the soldiers died from the shock.

When Anna Pawlows graduated from the Imperial School in Russia at the age of 18 she was the youngest girl in the country to attain the title of solo danseuse. Her career was practically begun when she was 10 years of age.

UP TO THE GOVERNMENT TO STOP HORSE RACES

Lord Derby, Chief Steward of Jockey Club, Says Racing Soon Could Be Stopped.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
LONDON, May 22.—It is now up to the government to put an end to racing during the war. Speaking at Wigston today, Lord Derby said: "The Jockey Club has informed the head of state that he had only to say the word and racing would be stopped in 24 hours. If racing continues the government is entirely responsible."

Lord Derby is chief steward of the Jockey Club. Later today it was announced that the Goodwood meeting, which is the most fashionable of the season next to Ascot, has been abandoned. If the government has the courage to take the decisive step it will put an end to many bitter complaints that such sport, employing many thousands of able-bodied men of military age, is still proceeding in wartime, to the extent of special racing, delay in training full of soldiers on their way to join regiments, while thousands of pairs of field glasses are daily used to watch horses racing which would be invaluable to soldiers at the front.

COMMISSION PROBES COX ESTATE'S VALUE

Much Real Estate and Stocks Not Included in Senator's Will.

A commission appointed by the provincial treasurer to determine what valuation should be placed upon the stock and real estate holdings of the late Senator George A. Cox, has begun enquiries following the admission of the late senator's will for probate. Between 1906 and 1914 about $1,500,000 of Senator Cox's investments were written off, according to an admission made by Robert Shiell, auditor, to Mr. Justice Middleton in the assize court. The object of the commission is to determine the amount on which succession duties shall fall.

J. W. Bain, K.C., who appeared for the provincial treasurer, said that the probe was for the purpose of investigating the huge holdings which Senator Cox had in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Imperial Life Insurance Co., Imperial Guarantees and Accident Co., British-American Insurance Co., Provident Investment Co., Canadian Central Savings Co., and Toronto Loan and Savings Co.

CRUCIFIXION CHARGE TO BE INVESTIGATED

LONDON, May 22.—In the house of commons today, Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under secretary of war, announced that the government was enquiring into "the allegation that Germans had removed the figure of Christ from a large village crucifix and fastened a wounded Canadian sergeant to the cross."

Mr. Tennant said his enquiry had not been completed.

Kaiser's Left Arm Worked by Strings

VARIOUS stories have been told of the cause of the kaiser's infirmity—that withered left hand and arm, which must have caused the sensitive kaiser many a painful reflection. Premature birth or doctors' carelessness are the most generally accepted explanations, but the truth being, however, that the kaiser's mother, the Empress Frederick, was so exhausted at the birth that the doctors were obliged at a critical moment to devote every attention to her with the result that proper care was not exercised in regard to the infant.

The nurse, Fraulein Stahl, who attended the birth, tells a graphic story of the scene in the bedroom.

"Such was the condition of the kaiser's mother at the time," she says, "that the doctors really thought she was dying. I had to abandon the child momentarily to help them, and when—the princess having revived after a little while—I knelt down before the couch on which the infant rested, imagine my fright! He had not uttered a cry, nor did he move a muscle."

However, after a period of great anxiety the prince was resuscitated; but according to the Fraulein, it was only on the third or the fourth day after the birth that the deformed hand and arm were discovered.

"You see," she says, "at first we were so busy putting life into the prince and keeping it in him that no one thought of examining his limbs."

Suddenly, however, it was noticed that the child could not move his left arm. An investigation was made, and in the course of it the surgeon discovered that the elbow joint was dislocated. The surrounding soft parts were so injured and the muscles attached in such a condition that no one dared attempt to set the bone then and there, as should be done in all cases.

Such seems to be the true story of the cause of the kaiser's withered arm. Fortunately, however, such wonderful skill has since been shown by German surgeons in treating the arm that it is scarcely noticeable. The withered limb is padded out in a most life-like manner, and not only that, but within the padding is a most wonderfully clever machine, a series of strings and cords, acting like the muscles of the arm.

These artificial muscles are connected with the good muscles of the shoulder most adroitly, so that, while in the natural condition the kaiser would be incapable of moving his withered arm, this most ingenious mechanism enables him to impart to his movements that are almost life-like. Indeed, he can raise or lower his artificial hand, and use it sufficiently well to guide carefully-trained and broken chargers which are selected for him.

In Japan, where pearl fishing is an important industry, nine-tenths of the pearl divers are women. Tiny girls, mere babies, are taught by their mothers to swim and later to dive, and at 12 or 13, when they leave school, they are usually ready to begin diving in earnest.

THE FOLLOWING clever verses, signed "Glenworp", which conceal the identity of a popular N. C. O. in the London Scottish now at the front, appear in the current number of the London Scottish Regimental Gazette:

REO

The Six of Sixty Superiorities

What does all motordom expect in a Reo Six—a car descended from a long line of successful Reos, a car from a Reo factory that studies scientifically to get more power, to get strength without dead-weight, to get value unequalled?

Why, a Superior Six of course! But no one could have expected the Six of Sixty Superiorities—and certainly not at the low price of $1895.

See these superiorities—the flat tube radiator—the special cylinder design—the extra strength cam shaft—the unusual steering gear—the one rod control—the three-unit chassis which wins because of its simplicity and accessibility.

Strong features these, if you are thinking of a car good for years to come.

You have always an opportunity of testing this car. Nothing more is needed to prove the Sixty Superiorities of the Reo Six.

TOO MUCH OVERLAPPING

Many Citizens Favor Return to Civic Management by Committee

By a Staff Reporter. KINGSTON, May 22.—Has the management of civic utilities by commission in this city been a failure? Although the commission was appointed less than two years ago, there is a feeling that the commission has not served the city well and that it would be far better to go back to the old system of having the business conducted by a committee of the city council.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, called on Secretary Bryan and explained that the British embassy here had the same understanding as the foreign trade advisers of the state department that informal arrangements to assist the American cotton interests should not affect the legal right of the United States in its opposition to the British order-in-council.

Western Wheat Growers Rejoice

Calgary-Telegram News, May 17: Reminiscent of the oil advertisements in the oil boom of last year is the state of mind of the grain growers today. In proportion as the rain comes down their estimate of Alberta's crop this fall goes up.

According to advices received here Monday the big rain and snow storm that made life in Calgary so miserable then was in evidence all over the province, so that every portion of it received its due meed of moisture. The wet is slowly sinking into the porous ground and penetrating so deeply that many well-known grain men are of the opinion that there should no more rain fall for months the crop will go ahead fine.

The departure of the 36th Battalion will mean the closing of the military hospital in the old Gore Street Church, and the equipment and the beds will likely be transferred to Niagara. It is possible that the hospital will be closed and the stationary institution at Niagara considered sufficient. The local military hospital is managed by officers of the Field Ambulance Corps and orderlies from the 36th. The last mentioned will of course go to Niagara.

Ernest Taylor, the well-known Italian interpreter, this morning stated that Italians of this city are waiting momentarily for news from their native land. Many who have served in the army are preparing to return, although they have not been officially notified to do so as yet. He states that there is a great feeling of optimism among the Italians and that should their country declare war on Germany and Austria the decision will be a popular one. The fact of entering the war it is generally supposed will shorten hostilities, and the men now in Hamilton and elsewhere in Canada may not be needed in the old land.

Another Hamilton man has given his life for his country. Pte. Albert Kay, 198 Berlin avenue, a Princess Patricia Infantryman, was reported killed this morning. Pte. Kay was an ex-serviceman having been twice in the trenches in a campaign and was a splendid type of soldier. No other Hamilton names were on the casualty list this morning, nor were any from the surrounding district, which has given rise to the belief that the Canadians in the trenches of the Hamilton men are numbered are getting a well-earned rest.

Users of hydro may expect a further reduction in rates, according to Chairman Willoughby Ellis. This morning, during a brief session, Mayor Waters remarked that he supposed the rates had reached their minimum. "I do not think so; I think they will be cut again," said the chairman. "I would like to see a substantial reserve fund established," said the mayor.

A letter was received from the board of control asking for the consideration of a reduction in street lighting rates. Engineer Sifton stated that in view of the $5000 rebate given to the city he did not think it possible to make a cut this year, but one might be put into effect next year.

BIG BATTLE RAGES ALONG LONG FRONT

Russia Appears to Be Gaining on Both Flanks in Struggle

STOP NIGHT ATTACK

French North of Ypres Drove Invaders From Lorette Slopes

LONDON, May 22.—A great battle is still raging along a 250 mile front on the eastern line. The Russian apparently is gaining on both flanks, the decision must come along the sixty mile front in the centre along the River San in central Galicia, where the Austrians and Germans are still pressing the offensive.

The latest Petrograd communication states that this attack is being checked between the San and the great marshes of the Dnieper. The Russian press, while admitting that the Teutonic forces have established themselves across the San, declares they can go no farther in that direction. Petrograd also has been cheered by the official report that the Russians are again advancing against the Turks in the Caucasus.

Stop Night Attack. On the western line, Paris reports that the French have stopped a strong night attack of the Germans north of Ypres, and also have driven the invaders from the slopes of Lorette, thus giving the allies full possession of this important salient.

Only vague reports come from the Dardanelles. One of the most significant of them is the despatch from General Sir Ian Hamilton, commander-in-chief of the British land forces at the Dardanelles, saying that the Australians have inflicted a loss of 7000 men on the Turks. Gen. Hamilton describes this as the Australians' revenge for the death of Brig-Gen. W. T. Bridges, commander of the Australian forces on Gallipoli Peninsula.

Special despatches from Athens state that recent reports of successes for the allies have been confirmed. The Turks, however, still hold the summits of Krizia and Kofider.

Where Interest Centres. Aside from the Italian situation the point of greatest interest at present is central Galicia, where a battle of far-reaching importance is under way. The Russians are credited with having made progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently they have not been able to penetrate their communications. The main struggle is being carried on along the San, from Peremysh northward for a distance of about sixty miles. Although the Austrians and Germans apparently are making slower progress than heretofore, Petrograd despatches admit they still retain the advantage.

An official report from Petrograd states that attempts of Turkish forces to advance along the Black Sea coast have failed. It is said the Russians compelled them to flee, and captured two towns.

The British sailing vessel Glenholm was sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast yesterday. The crew was permitted to leave the ship before it was destroyed and escaped.

GUNS of GOLD THE Gaskwar of Baroda, an Indian Prince, has a battery of artillery consisting of gold and silver guns. There are four guns, two of gold and two of silver. The gold guns were made in 1874 by an Indian of Lakha, who worked on them for five years. They weigh 400 pounds each, and except for the steel lining and the wheels, they are made of solid gold. They are mounted on gun-carriages of carved wood, overlaid with silver. In 1875, when the Gaskwar went to Bombay to meet the Prince of Wales, he took the gold guns with him to salute the Prince, and that was the only occasion on which they have been allowed to leave the State of Baroda.

BASLE, Switzerland, May 22.—Swiss federal authorities are contemplating the formation of an import trust that will operate on the same lines as the Netherlands organization. It is proposed to appoint a board which shall control the importation of raw material into the country and at the same time giving satisfactory guarantees that this material be not allowed to come to the hands of any beligerent power. Already the Swiss Government has begun negotiations with the powers with the object of securing supplies of food and material for her manufacture. Switzerland is today completely hemmed in by beligerent powers—Germany on the north, Austria on the east, Italy on the south and France on the west.

Political action in Europe is being organized into a concentration of power. Italy, Germany, and Austria are all working towards a common goal. The situation in the Balkans is becoming increasingly tense. The Russian army is making significant gains in the Caucasus region. The German navy is expanding its operations in the North Atlantic. The United States remains neutral but is closely watching the developments in Europe. The Italian government is preparing for the possibility of entering the war. The Swiss government is working to maintain its neutrality while supporting the Allies. The Japanese government is making demands on China that are causing international concern. The British government is providing support to the Russian war effort. The French government is focused on the military operations in the West. The overall situation is one of a global conflict that is spreading across the world.

GUNS PROMINENT IN PRESENT WAR

Artillery Shows Greater Superiority Than in Past

MORE HEAVY PIECES Sometimes Hundred Guns to One Division Allotted at the Front.

BY HENRY J. REILLY.
PARIS, May 5.—The average person, if asked what is the most prominent feature of the fighting on land in the present war, generally says "aeroplanes" or "the trench warfare." They are wrong. While those aeroplanes have fallen very below what the popular mind expected, they have not surpassed in any material way what was expected of them from the military authorities.

The trench warfare is simply a revival on a larger scale with a few minor changes of what was well understood and practiced before. The average soldier or officer when asked what is the most prominent feature in the present war promptly replies the artillery.

From the beginning it has been the artillery which has lived up to the expectation of its officers. It has been the artillery which by the intensity of its fire has surprised the whole world, including the other branches of the armies who, they knew it had improved, had in most cases no adequate conception of the extent of these improvements.

In the beginning of the war every cavalry division of 6000 to 4000 men had twelve field guns, the diameter of whose bore was about three inches. Every division of 15,000 infantry had thirty-six field guns of a similar character.

In addition, every infantry division or in some armies every army corps, generally consisted of two divisions, was given a number of heavier guns. Since the war has gone on, the number of these heavy guns has increased. Not only have more heavy guns been brought up, but guns of heavier calibre than is with bords of bigger diameters.

Sometimes Hundred Guns. So many of these guns have been brought up during the trench fighting that in some of the more important parts of the line occupied by a division of infantry instead of being only the thirty-six field guns which ordinarily belong to the division, there are more than 100 guns of all calibres.

These heavy guns vary in size from howitzers of 4½ inches in diameter to German 14-inch mortars. The lighter ones are mounted on wheeled carriages, which are pulled by eight horses. The heaviest ones can only be moved in sections on trucks pulled by traction engines.

Some naval guns are mounted on railway flat cars behind circular turrets which give almost as much protection as a turret. These guns of course can only be used along the railways. In spite of the difficulty of moving them, the heavy guns are always in demand, because of their great range and the destructive effect of their projectiles.

The most prominent feature along the edge of the battlefield is always the artillery ammunition supply. The guns to the ammunition filling points, well out just off the range. Also, everywhere on the edge of the battlefield are seen parked the extra ammunition wagons and horses of the batteries which are in action.

About the only time it is possible to see artillery on the move on the battlefield is at night. This is because of the concealment which darkness gives. Even then the batteries generally are strung out at intervals along the roads, so that the enemy suddenly shell the road on which they happen to be, the minimum amount of damage will be done.

The positions for the guns are very carefully prepared, if possible, before the battle begins. The landscape, the woods, the hedges, and the trees of an orchard is another good position for the guns.

In these cases little huts consisting of branches with the leaves on are generally built over the guns, so that they blend with the landscape, particularly when the landscape is in the middle of a field. In this case they are generally built over the guns with logs and planks thickly covered with earth. Sometimes a haystack is pulled up over the guns and the hay used to cover up the guns when they are not in use.

In all cases the caissons and limbers are being fired with the guns while they are on a flank, or put under a hedge or trees alongside a hedge or around the side of a house or farm building.

In many cases they are covered with branches of trees or with hay, so that it will be difficult for an aviator to pick them out. The batteries are nearly always taken back, almost out of range. Here they are taken care of and reloaded daily by men detailed for that purpose.

The guns, in addition to being covered so that they may not be seen by aviators from above, are nearly always also placed in gun pits, so that they have a certain amount of protection from the enemy's fire, should the enemy's batteries discover their positions. They are practically always far enough back to be out of the range of infantry fire.

Gun Pits Vary in Detail. The gun pits vary somewhat in detail. Generally a gun pit is a rectangular excavation deep enough so that when the gun is placed in it the muzzle is just above the level of the ground. To each side of it are built bomb-proof, one for the gun crew and the other for the ammunition.

These bomb-proofs are simply deep underground rooms, roofed with logs and a thick coating of earth, the top of which is generally on a level with the surface of the ground. As the ordinary field gun cannot be elevated sufficiently to fire at aeroplanes almost directly overhead, special gun pits are built so that the trails of the guns can be below the surface of the ground, thus making the muzzle of the gun point up in the air.

One way of doing this is to dig a cylindrical pit of a size such that when the end of the trail rests in the centre of the bottom of the piece, the gun will rest on a circular wooden platform built around the top edge of the pit.

In this way the gun can be quickly pointed in any direction at an aeroplane.

Near these circular pits there are always gun pits of the regular type, so that when no aeroplanes are around the guns can be run into them and used in the ordinary way.

Roughly opposite the centre of every battery, there is a small bomb-proof or earth shelter of some kind from which the battery commander can see his guns, and in which there is a telephone connecting him with the next higher artillery commander.

Posts of Observers. Artillery officers are posted as observers at points from which they can see where the shells fired are bursting. It is seldom that the men or officers with a battery can see the target of which they are firing. All they can see is some point such as a church steeple, which may be, and generally is, in the rear of the guns.

This point is called the auxiliary aiming point. By simple trigonometrical calculations, practically worked out, the battery commander knows when the man who aims each gun sees the auxiliary aiming point in the centre of the sight that the gun is pointing at the target thousands of yards in front and hidden from view, either by the gentle slope back of which the guns are placed, or by the trees and houses and other features of the landscape which are in between the gun and the target.

The effectiveness of the fire of the guns depends upon the skill of the officers who are detailed to observe the result and to telephone or signal the necessary correction to the guns. These observers, or spotters, as they are called, may be either in the trenches, in a church steeple, on the top of a haystack, or up in an aeroplane. They are connected, with the batteries and higher commanders of the artillery by telephone, except in the case of the spotters in aeroplanes.

On Roofs of Houses. The observation stations on the roofs of houses are very interesting. Generally the station is in a house which has been pretty badly mauled by shell fire, as are all houses close to the trenches. On entering one of them, the stairs leading from the lower storey to the attic are found to be partially shot away, and knocked down by falling debris, caused by the explosion of a shell in the house.

What is left is covered with pieces of brick, plaster, chunks of furniture, and all the mess habitually met with in a house which artillery has fired into.

The attic, finally reached, is covered with pieces of brick and slate knocked from the chimneys and roof. There is built in a corner a platform of heavy planks reached by a ladder. On top of this platform there is a parapet built of sacks full of broken brick and other debris.

Behind this parapet is an artillery officer with a map in one hand and a pair of field glasses in the other. Below the "platform" there is another parapet of sacks filled with broken brick and other debris, behind which is a soldier writing a telephone message.

Looking thru the same hole as the officer in the roof, there is seen a jagged, irregular line of earth running across the field, about 700 yards away. It disappears to one side in a clump of woods, and is hidden from view on the other side by a very much battered group of farm buildings, behind which is a number of trees.

Trenches Close Together. This is the trench of the allied infantry. About 150 yards further away there is a similar line of dirt across the same field. This is the German trench.

Off to the rear, where are the guns, there is the "boom" of one of them being discharged, followed by that "wind whistling around the corner" noise which a shell passing overhead always makes, followed by a thud and a cloud of earth and smoke flying up just in front of the German trench.

The officer takes his eyes from his glasses, looks at his map for an instant, and tells the telephone man just below him:

"The telephone man repeats this into the telephone. Almost immediately another shot is fired, this time resulting in an upward spurt of earth and dirt just the other side of the German trench.

Map Marked in Squares. The map in the hands of the artillery officer is marked off in squares 500 yards to a side. As all the squares in the hands of all officers are similarly divided, it is easy for them to locate by means of these squares the position of any object to be fired at and to telephone directions, so that the officer who is listening can also easily find the desired object.

Incidentally, the observer is very careful not to show the map above the top of the parapet, since, if seen, a white object across the hole in the roof would probably attract the attention of some German sniper, who are always keenly on the watch for observers.

While the observers in the trenches are near to the enemy than those on the roofs of houses, the latter can do better work, because above the level of the ground.

The artillery of both sides frequently fire at church steeples and roofs of houses so as to disclose as many observers as possible.

Aeroplane Spotting. When spotting is done by an observer in an aeroplane a reconnaissance plane made first, during which it is attempted to locate the enemy's batteries. The observer returns to the battery at the end of the reconnaissance and shows on the map where the enemy's batteries are located.

Either the same day, or whenever the batteries are ready to fire, the observer makes another trip in an aeroplane to see if the enemy's batteries are still in the same place. If they are ready by wireless or my smoke signals, a message is sent to the battery in the same place. The battery then opens fire, and the results of the fire are signalled back from the aeroplane.

The aeroplane is probably the greatest enemy of the modern battery when in action, as it is the only sure means of discovering the exact position of the guns.

Frequently batteries stop when aeroplanes appear in the neighborhood, as the flash from the gun when it is discharged attracts the eyes of an observer in an aeroplane quicker and more surely than anything else.

Sometimes imitation guns, made of logs and placed on wheels, are put out where aeroplanes can see them, but not too easily, in the hopes that they will deceive the observer.

Machines Seldom Hit. Although artillery by its fire compels aeroplanes to keep at a minimum height of from 6000 to 7000 feet, and frequently succeeds in driving them off altogether, it is seldom that aeroplanes are hit and brought down by artillery fire.

While infantry and machine guns make considerable noise by their fire, it is nothing in comparison with the noise made by the fire of guns and the bursting of their projectiles, particularly when a large number are firing at one time.

The noise of the discharge of the ordinary field gun is not very loud. The French field guns are fired so rapidly, however, that sometimes it almost seems as if they must have a machine gun of very large calibre.

Shrapnel exploding makes a considerable racket. The bursting of high explosive projectiles, even of as small a calibre as the three-inch field gun, is particularly violent.

The large guns, when discharged at a distance, sound like a heavy door being violently slammed. Their projectiles strike the ground and explode with a heavy thud which shakes everything around them. The jar from the explosion of a 14-inch German mortar shell is felt sometimes as much as a mile away.

Give Out Clouds of Smoke. Some of the heavier projectiles smoke out clouds of yellowish, whitish smoke when they explode. Others give out clouds of black smoke. The distinguishing feature of the explosion in the air of an artillery projectile is the brilliant instantaneous flash of white light which is given out. If the firing is not heavy the enemy's

NEW YORK MARKET SAW FLUCTUATIONS

Early Buyers Found Shares Soaring, But They Later Dropped

WAR NEWS RESPONSIBLE

Fact of Italy Entering War Had Big Influence on Stocks

NEW YORK.—Trading at the stock market at the week end was wholly influenced by character news regarding the European situation. Indications of the immediate entrance of Italy into the war brought urgent buying of war order stocks. Nearly all speculative interest was concentrated on those shares.

This buying was most important in crucible steel, which rose 4 3/8 points to 33 1/4, while gains of four points were made in Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse. Substantial advances followed in Baldwin Locomotive, American Locomotive and Pressed Steel Car. Strength in these issues caused sympathetic advances in leading railroad stocks with Reading and Union Pacific moving up over one point while Canadian Pacific advanced 1 1/2 to 160 1/2. Rock Island, which opened with loss of 7-8 at 18 1/4 moved up to above 20, but later lost the gain. Missouri Pacific opened down 3-4 followed by recovery of this loss.

War Order Stock. U.S. Steel, common, are now chased by the speculative element as being among war order stocks and the same buying movement which advanced Crucible Steel and Westinghouse were effective in forcing up the steel common from 53 3/4 to 55-5 1/2. Copper stocks were active and very strong, with Amalgamated advancing 1 point to 57 and American Smelting moving up 1 3/4 to 47 1/4.

The character of the market suddenly changed when the exchange on Rome strengthened following the publication of cables that the Austrian Government had submitted new propositions to Italy. These cables had a weakening effect on war stocks, because fresh uncertainty was created.

Reactions under two points quickly occurred on the active war stocks and during the last few minutes, materially reducing the advantage gained in the first hour.

JUST A FRAME OF BONES

A wasted wreck for eight years and weak as a baby.

Thought he was going into a rapid decline.

No treatment tried did any good.

New Health and Strength from DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS

"Had it not been for Dr. Cassell's Tablets I believe I should never have worked again; I hardly think I could have lived." These are the words of Mr. Ernest W. Barrett, of 32 Cecil road, Gloucester, England, a young man, now in the perfection of health and vigor. And he goes on: "The Tablets cured me of a long and serious illness when all methods I tried had failed, and now I am as well and fit as anyone could wish to be."

"It is eight years since the trouble came on. I caught a cold, which turned to pleurisy and rheumatic fever, and for nine weeks I lay between life and death. When at length I could be taken downstairs, I was a wreck of a man, weak as a baby. One day I read of Dr. Cassell's Tablets and I tried to straighten myself up, and if I tried to straighten myself up, I found it was impossible. I used to hobble about on sticks or get my father to take me out on a little way, leaning on him all the time. But instead of getting better I got worse. I had the best advice, but it was useless. It was thought I was going in a rapid decline, and that nothing could save me. I was just a frame of bones by this time, and I can't tell you how weak and miserable I felt."

"However, my father chanced to read about Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and got me some. I shall never cease to be grateful for the result. I began to mend almost at once. Slowly my strength returned. I brightened up, got an appetite, and it was just wonderful how I built up flesh. At the present time I am a little over the weight for my height, and in the very pink of condition. I have never had a day's illness since Dr. Cassell's Tablets cured me."

Now are good results like this wrought about? The explanation is this: Dr. Cassell's Tablets are composed of ingredients each one of which has a definite restorative action on the nervous centres which control the various processes of life. As a result, new vigor is regained their power to work with the put into the bodily organs, which

FALL WHEAT CAME THRU WINTER WELL

Grain Crop Gives Promise of Unusually Good Yield This Year.

MAY CROP BULLETIN

Warm Weather Brought Growth Forward and Vegetation is Week Ahead.

The following information concerning agricultural conditions in this province is contained in a bulletin prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, based upon information furnished by a large staff of correspondents under date of May 15.

Fall Wheat. This important grain crop, with its largely increased acreage, gives promise of an unusually good yield should favorable weather ensue. It wintered well and evidently was not so seriously injured by the "heaving" during the very open winter of March and April. In fact, spring injury may be regarded as negligible. Hardly any fall wheat land has been drilled to spring grain, and the presence of the wire-worm, cut-worm, or Hessian fly in places, a few patchy fields in low never generally reported, and the crop year. Some correspondents are inclined to fear that growth has been rather too

Clover. Nearly all the injury to clover occurred from drought either last year or the season before, as the crop wintered well. While some springing was reported, it was not so serious as usual, and the compensated for losses in that way. The crop is now looking unusually well, to the point of cutting. Taking altogether the May reports regarding clover, it is the most favorable for years.

Alfalfa. Like clover, this crop had a poor catch last year, but otherwise it has come thru the winter and spring in fairly good condition. It appears to be steadily growing in favor of the winter crop, although some unfavorable reports have been received from its suitability to local growing conditions.

Vegetation. Unusually warm weather in April brought growth forward with bound and correspondents writing about the middle of May reports are unusually early, although the cold dip then prevailing somewhat delayed the advance. Cattle had been on the grass in some localities for a fortnight, with good picking.

Sowing. Reports regarding spring crops are almost an unbroken chorus of praise for the early start made by the farmer in seeding, and the generally successful nature of the catch. Sowing was unusually early in some quarters, and in some of them the spring grains were sown in the last week of the month, especially in the case of wheat and corn. On the other hand, potato-projectiles can be heard coming thru the air. With but little practice the coming in their direction or are going to fall well to the right of them.

The mortar, consists of a projectile loaded with high explosive, and is fired from above the target, throwing the projectile into the air, and the explosion of the charge in the air, and the projectile is directed primarily for use against men and horses.

In the beginning of the war the high explosive shell, which is simply a shell filled with high explosive, which bursts on contact with whatever it hits, was intended to break down walls, buildings, or whatever cover troops might get behind for protection.

It has been found to be so powerful, however, that the artillery is using more and more of it and less and less of the shrapnel.

Pits Made by Shell. While these high explosive projectiles are very powerful, their center does not extend far from the centre of the target. Although the strongest masonry building, such as a large Ypres or the really hall at Arras, is a case known of a fourteen-inch mortar shell exploding in a field alongside of a small farm house. The hole it made in the field was about sixteen feet in diameter and about eight feet in diameter of this crater was not six feet from the side of the farm house.

While the wall of the farm house was shattered with earth from top to bottom, no other damage was done by the shell. The projectile hit the farm house it would practically have demolished it.

A favorite practice is to shell roads, along which it is reasonable to suppose that men, food and ammunition must go to reach the trenches.

The Holes Made in even a mackerel road, by shell fire vary from about two and one-half feet deep, to one ten or eleven feet in diameter and six to seven feet deep. In some cases enemy soldiers are known to be filling the intervals of shell fire in a number of cases automobiles are sent down the roads, going quickly along a road have been hit by shrapnel. Afterwards they looked more like colanders than like automobiles. Alongside the remnants of the shell, and destroyed by bursting shells.

Bursting shrapnel or high explosive shells hitting amongst troops in the open send them down in little groups of killed and wounded.

Grow Corns If You Will But don't keep them

One can't well avoid corns in these days of dainty shoes. But it's folly to keep them, pare them and doctor them.

A chemist has invented a way to cure corns quickly. It is known as Blue-jay. Attach it and the corn pain stops at once. Then a bit of wax—called B & B wax—loosens the corn very gently. In two days the whole corn disappears without any pain or soreness.

It seems magical. After a Blue-jay plaster is applied, the shoe can't hurt the corn. After 48 hours there is no corn to hurt.

Folks have proved this on some 70 million corns. They are removing in this way a million corns a month.

That's why corns are not so common as they used to be. Blue-jay plasters came—folks found them out—and half the corns that grow today are quickly ended by them.

KITCHENER WILL FIGHT TO FINISH

Refuses to Retire From War Office on Account of Criticism

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

War Secretary is Fully Backed Up by Premier and Foreign Secretary

LONDON, May 22.—Lord Kitchener has refused to retire from the war secretaryship under fire. He has decided to fight his foes to a finish. His friends declared today that Kitchener had the full backing of Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Grey and Chancellor Lloyd George, the powerful "triumvirate" of the cabinet, and that they had endorsed his intention of staying in office.

Premier's Support. It was learned today that Kitchener's conference with the premier yesterday was due to the organized newspaper attacks launched against the war secretary. The premier told Kitchener that if he desired another post it would be given him, but that if he would retain the war portfolio he would be given the support of his colleagues.

Not Retiring. Kitchener is reported to have replied that at no time had he even considered retiring unless the premier desired him to do so.

Premier's Acquittal today continued the make-up of the "new national cabinet." Indications that the crisis might result in the outbreak of a great political squabble are disappearing, and that the final cabinet details probably would be worked out harmoniously.

WILLIAM MARCONI CALLED TO FIGHT

Inventor of the Wireless Returns to Italy for Military Service

RESERVE OFFICER

Part of Army to Help Allies Will Give Good Account

NEW YORK, May 22.—William Marconi, inventor of the wireless, sailed today on the steamer St. Paul in response to a summons from the king of Italy, to serve his term of military service in the Italian army. Mr. Marconi, who is a member of the Italian army and an advisor of King Emmanuel, is a reserve officer in the engineering corps. He is expected to complete his term of service and return to America by next September, but would not venture a prophecy as to whether the war would end by that time.

"I suppose that I shall be called on for service," the inventor said. "It is fair to suppose that at least some portion of the Italian army will be despatched to the assistance of the allied forces operating against the Dardanelles, but I am speaking without any authority when I say this. Both the Italian army and navy are well equipped and I have no doubt they will give a good account of themselves."

The Best Treatment For Constipation

The Experience of One Who Knows and Places Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills First.

It is not difficult to secure a medicine that will effect movement of the bowels. To cure Constipation and the complications which arise from it is another matter.

Constipation of the bowels is usually preceded by torpid action of the liver. Hence it follows that if Constipation is to be cured the liver must be set right. And here lies the secret of the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They awaken the action of the liver and insure a good flow of bile, which is nature's cathartic. The liver, kidneys and bowels are invigorated and regulated, and the troubles with the digestive system disappear.

Mr. H. M. Bell, Innisfail, Alberta, writes: "For some considerable time I have been using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have obtained through your firm. I suppose during my life I have used nearly all the best-known pills, as I have been subjected to Constipation and digestive troubles. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I can honestly say that of all the pills I have tried nothing has suited me better, no griping—action always insured, and time for the kidneys. This is how I found them after a thorough test, and you may use this statement if you like."

This letter should convince you of the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but there is nothing like personal experience. If you do not feel like risking 25 cents for a box, write to us for a free sample box, mentioning where you saw this advertisement. Put this medicine to the test when you have indigestion, constipation, biliousness, headache, or kidney derangements. The results will soon prove to you the superiority of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
