WHALE HAILS MADE INTO THE OCEAN

Dory Wrecked by Monster's Tail and Officer of Schooner Thrown Hundred Feet But He Escapes Injury

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 2.—Struck by the tail of a gigantic whale which smashed his dory to kindling and threw him almost 100 feet away and the crew, Chief Mate Olaf Wick, of the codfish schooner Vega, which had returned from Behring Sea, fringed a thrilling story of his escape from death in the Far North. His experience, strange as it sounds, is confirmed by many persons who saw the body of the officer hurled through the air and who later picked him up as he lay bruised and unconscious on the few remaining boards of his shattered dory.

The Vega, in command of Captain Peter Nelson, was lying at anchor in Behring Sea, and the chief mate was alone in his dory one calm morning in August, fishing apart from the rest of the crew. A monster whale had been observed by the men earlier in the day swimming sportively in the vicinity, blowing a mistlike stream high into the air, or again coming to the surface and rounding his shining back with a knife-like dorsal fin out of the water as he played and dove into the glassy sea. Intent on his fishing, the mate had little warning of the weird experience he was to undergo.

"Suddenly I felt something under the boat," he said, in recalling the tale. "I thought I was struck a rock and instantly threw the windlass overboard so she would not sink by the heaving of the sea over the side, when I was lifted high in the air as the whale dove and struck the boat with his tail. I went up as though a mine had exploded beneath my feet. Around me were flying bits of wood and tackle from the boat.

"I cannot tell how far I was thrown, but it must have been about ninety feet from the point where the dory was beaten. I lost consciousness for a time, I think, for I remember the shock of striking the cold water which seemed to strike my head and caused me to come out with arms and legs to keep afloat."

The mate swam back to the dory, which still held a few bottom boards, and here he was picked up by the second mate. None of Wick's bones were broken by the mishap, but his body was a mass of bruises, and he was unable to be hoisted hardily move for a couple of days.

SEPTEMBER FAT MONTH FOR C. P. R.

Gross Earnings Greatest Since Road Was Built and the Net Was Very Large.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—The earnings of the Canadian Pacific for September proved the greatest for any month since it was built—although it is expected that they will again be topped by the October earnings by a considerable margin. The gross earnings for the month were $3,233,178, an increase of $1,031,305 over the takings of the same month last year. An even more significant increase was registered in the net profits, which were $3,431,869 for the month, as against $2,114,607 last year, an increase of $1,317,262. As there has been an increase of only $1,997,738 since July 1, it will be seen how important a part the month of September played in swelling the profits of the road.

SAY RATES BY CABLE ARE TOO HIGH

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Cable rates and telegraphic tolls on business messages between the east and west were discussed at a conference between a deputation from the board of trade and J. Kent, general manager of the C. P. R. telegrams. The board of trade has long maintained that the present rates are unjust and excessive, and refused to accept the recent reduction of three cents per word on cables as adequate relief. The cable rate is now 35 cents a word, and the deputation were able to show it is cheaper for anyone living in the west and desiring to send a cable message to wire it locally to Toronto. The committee urged a cable rate not exceeding thirty cents should be given.

BORN DOWN POLLING PLACE TO DESTROY THE BALLOTS

Election in Another Section Interfered With as Ballots Were Hidden—Big Vote Out in New York, Boston and Other Centres—Liquor Question an Issue in One State, Disfranchisement of the Negro in Another

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 2.—Reports from Crockettville and Sebastiana Branch this morning were that two attempts, one successful, had been made to steal ballots near Crockettville precinct. The home of Mary Dealin, who held ballots for that precinct, was destroyed by fire. The ballots were burned with the house. At Sebastiana Branch precinct the ballots were reported to have been hidden this morning and hidden them.

The ballots were reported destroyed and fresh ones were furnished from Jackson, Saratoga, N. Y., Nov. 2.—An exciting contest between the license and no license factions in 13 towns of Saratoga County brought out an unusually large vote today. Clergymen were on duty at the polls in many of the towns.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 2.—According to their political beliefs, Jackson and Breathitt County men stigmatize the firing of the Dealin home as incendiary or accidental. The most reliable report from the place, which is 22 miles away, is that Mrs. Dealin was feeding the Lexington soldiers under Captain Sams when the fire occurred.

The telephone wires between Jackson and Crockettville were cut this morning. Captain Sams and his detail of militiamen are supposed to be in that vicinity. The situation in Jackson at present is peaceful.

MRS. GORON EDITOR OF BULLETIN

W. C. T. U. Work This Morning—Women Police, Jail Matrons and Other Recommendations

At the session of the Dominion W. C. T. U. convention this morning in Centenary church school room, much business of interest was transacted. The reports of the departments of "Prison Work," "Systematic Giving," and "Anti Narcotics," were submitted and approved, along with several recommendations contained in them.

The most important matter of business at this morning's session was the continuation of the election of officers. The officers voted for and their future incumbents are: "Y" secretary, Miss Eleanor Smith, Nova Scotia; L. Y. L. secretary, Mrs. Adah McLaughlin, Hamilton, Ont.; and editor of the White Ribbon Bulletin, Mrs. Asa Gordon, Ottawa.

Mrs. S. A. Jones was the unanimous choice of the convention to represent the Dominion at the world's convention in Washington next year. In connection with the work among prisoners, jails and penitentiaries, it was decided to memorialize the Dominion government to endeavor to secure better care for women prisoners.

The convention opened with the singing of the hymn "Jesus shall Reign," led by Mrs. Asa Gordon, who also acted as accompanist. A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Annie M. Baason, of Toronto, the corresponding secretary, in appreciation of the excellent services she has rendered to the order during her term of office, and also while she had been a member.

CRUSADE TO SAVE LIVES OF CHILDREN

Great Propaganda to Lessen the Infantile Mortality Throughout the United States—Open with Yale Conference

New York, Nov. 2.—A great national propaganda for the lessening of the frightful infantile mortality throughout the United States will begin with a two-day conference at Yale, on November 11 and 12. To this conference will go many of the leading physicians, scientists and philanthropic laymen in America, and from it will utter an enormous number of simple and complex suggestions, by which thousands of baby lives now sacrificed through ignorance and carelessness annually may be saved.

No health record has ever been able even to approximate the tremendous number of children who die each week or month because of unsanitary conditions about them; because of the ignorance of young parents or because of the lack of institutions to care for those whom a cup of milk or a five-cent piece of ice might have saved. It is on this account that Lamson Hall, at Yale, has been turned over to the authors of this new movement.

PURITY FLOUR

Jeanne of the Marshes
BY E. P. OPPENHEIM

"So!" she said, "I have been in rooms at a farmhouse there, Caynard's farm. I went away because I did not like the life here, and because my step-mother," she continued, turning toward the Count, "seemed determined that I should marry you. I thought that I would go away into the country, somewhere where I could think quietly, and to Salhouse because it was the only place I knew."

"You are the maddest child!" the Princess exclaimed.

Jeanne smiled, a little wearily.

"If I had been mad," she said, "I have come to my senses again."

The Count leaned towards her eagerly. "I trust," he said, "that that means that you are ready now to obey your step-mother, and to make me very, very happy."

Jeanne looked at him deliberately.

"It depends," she said, "upon circumstances."

"Tell me what they are quickly," the Count declared. "I am impatient. I cannot bear that you keep me waiting. Let me know of my happiness of my happiness."

The Princess was suddenly uneasy. There was one weak point in her schemes, a weakness of her own creating. Ever since she had told Jeanne the truth about her lack of fortune, she had felt that it was a mistake. "Suppose she should be so good as to give the thing away! The Princess felt her heart beat fast at the mere supposition. There was something about Jeanne's delicate oval face, her straight nose and level eyebrows, which somehow suggested that gift which to the Princess was so incomprehensible in her secret. "Suppose Jeanne were to tell the Count the truth!"

"What of it, then," Jeanne said. "I must ask you whether my step-mother has told the truth about myself and my fortune."

The Princess knew then that the game was up. She sank back upon the sofa, and at that moment she would have declared that there was nothing in the world more terrible than an ungrateful and inconsiderate child.

"The truth?" the Count remarked, a little puzzled. "I know only what the world knows, that you are a daughter of Carl le Mesurier, and that he left you the residue of one of the greatest fortunes in Europe."

"Jeanne drew a letter from her pocket. "The Princess," she remarked, "must have forgotten to tell you. This great fortune that all the world has spoken of, and that seems to have made me so famous, has been all the time something of a myth. It has existed only in the imagination of my kind friends. A few days ago my step-mother here told me this. I wrote at once to Monsieur Laplance, my trustee. She would not let me send the letter. When I was at Salhouse, however, I wrote again, and this time I had a reply. It is here. There is a statement," she continued, "which covers many pages, and which shows exactly how my father's fortune was exaggerated, how securities have dwindled, and how my step-mother's insisting upon a very large allowance during my school-days, has eaten up so much of the residue. There is left to me, it appears, a sum of fourteen thousand pounds. That is a very small fortune, as it not?" she asked calmly.

The Count was gazing at her as one might gaze upon a tragedy.

"It is not a fortune!" he exclaimed, "it is not even a dot! It is nothing at all, a year's income, a trifle."

"Nevertheless," Jeanne said calmly, "it is all that I possess. You see," she continued, "I have come back to my step-mother to tell her that if I am bound by law to do as she wishes until I am of age, I will be dutiful and marry the man whom she chooses for me, but I wish to tell you two things quite frankly. The first you have just heard. The second is that I do not care for you in the least, that in fact I rather dislike you."

The Princess buried her head in her hands. She was not anxious to look at any one just then, or to be looked at. The count rose to his feet. There were drops of perspiration upon his forehead. He was distracted.

"Is this true, madam?" he asked of the Princess.

"It is true," she admitted.

He hunched towards her.

"What about my three thousand pounds?" he whispered. "Will you give me back that? It is cheating. That money has been gotten by what you call false pretences. There is punishment for that, eh?"

The Princess dabbed her eyes with a little moist of lace handkerchief.

"One must live," she murmured. "It was not I who talked about Jeanne's fortune. It was all the world who said how rich she was. Why should I contradict them? I wanted a place once more in the only society in Europe which counts. English society. There was only one way and I took it. So long as people believed Jeanne to be the heiress of a great for-

TRANSPARENT EVENING WRAP THIS WINTER

Inconspicuous as it may seem, all sorts of gaudy stuffs are now being used for carriage wraps. Chiffons and lace, unlined except with the thinnest silk, are quite the proper thing for midwinter, it seems—at least, many of the new wraps for opera wear have been selected with a view to all winter service. This lovely wrap of gray chiffon is embroidered in self-color and is draped over lime green silk, a border of gray satin edging the wrap all around. The heavier embroidery forming yoke and panel is of gray net embroidered in silver and green threads.

BORDEN ADDRESSES TORONTO MEETING

Ignores Party Revolt—Emerson Against the Naval Policy

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Before a crowded audience in the Conservative Club rooms, tonight R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition in parliament, addressed the Toronto South Toronto Conservative club.

Mr. Borden spoke with great deliberation and evidently weighed his words carefully. He unhesitatingly reaffirmed his adherence to the national defence policy, as outlined in the program of common resolution, passed last March with one single modification, proposing that in a sudden emergency a military force be prepared to make a grant of money to assist the imperial defence.

"So long as we fly the empire's flag in Canada," said the Conservative leader, "we cannot hold aloof from the empire in time of danger." Loud cheers greeted this statement.

Mr. Borden scouted the idea of Canada relying on the navy of the United States in time of danger and characterized as absurd the plea that we are incapable of building a navy in this country on account of the lack of a harbor.

The board decided to recommend that the application of George McKean be made to the Dominion government for a grant of money to assist the imperial defence.

"Do you intend to express these views in the house?"

"I think I will," and he added he believed that a non-party division was a possibility.

He does not believe Premier Murray of Nova Scotia was master of the situation, Borden as minister of militia.

A Million for a New Stomach

It is said that Mr. Rockefeller, one of the world's richest men, offered one million dollars to any physician who would make his stomach strong enough to digest an ordinary meal. With all his money, this multimillionaire is compelled to live on milk and crackers.

What a warning this is to men and women who are beginning to realize that "they have a stomach!"

Slight attacks of indigestion soon develop into acute attacks. The weakened stomach quickly becomes weaker under the continued strain of digesting unsuitable food. Chronic Dyspepsia makes a distressing, irritable, and miserable.

Yet how unnecessary all this suffering is! "Fruit-a-lives"—that splendid stomach tonic—will give you a clean, strong, healthy stomach which will be capable of digesting any reasonable meal.

D. MCGILL OF C.P.R. COMING TO ST. JOHN

Will Take Up West Side Transfer Agreement—The Berths Alotted

At a private meeting of the harbor board yesterday afternoon it was announced that the C. P. R. would not agree to all the clauses in the agreement recently drawn concerning the transfer of the west side lands. Just what the objections are is not definitely known, but a letter was received from D. McGill, stating he would be in St. John next week and would be pleased to discuss the agreement with the harbor board. The common clerk was instructed to write to Mr. McGill. A communication from a committee would await his arrival for a conference.

The application of the superintendent of dredges for a lease of the slip in West St. John, now used by the work being done by the government at No. 6 berth, was referred, and it was recommended that a lease be given for a year without charge, much less being subject to termination at a month's notice and conditional upon the city having free access to the property and blocks when not in use.

A communication from Frank Fairweather with reference to insurance at Sand Point was referred to, as was also the report of the city engineer on the work being done by the government at No. 6 berth. The city engineer was instructed to have soundings taken at the harbor master with his report, and the harbor master was authorized to have additional soundings taken if he thought it advisable.

The allotment of berths at Sand Point was next taken up. Warehouses 1, 2 and 3 were allotted to the C. P. R. The city engineer was asked to see that the rates are fixed. Berths when not in use are to be allotted to other steamers at the discretion of the harbor master. The C. P. R. agrees to furnish grain from its elevator to any other vessels for which room can be made at grain berths.

Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster were appointed a committee to consider and report upon the tariff rates for 1910.

THE MAGISTRATE AND THE DRISCOLL CASE

John A. Barry left last evening for Fredericton to attend the sitting of the supreme court. Mr. Barry will make application for a mandamus or for a rule nisi to compel the police magistrate to send up the proceedings in the Driscoll case. It will be remembered that in the latter part of June Driscoll, who conducts a grocery and beer store combined, on Mill street, was convicted of keeping open his licensed premises after 5 o'clock on a Saturday afternoon and was fined $30. Mr. Barry appealed the case and says that the magistrate refused to send up the proceedings.

MANN PLEASUED WITH MCBRIDE BARGAIN

Toronto, Nov. 1.—D. D. Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, returned Sunday from a trip to the Pacific coast. He said British Columbia was badly in need of better transportation facilities, and that Premier McBride had adopted the best means of securing them.

British Columbia has only one for what Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, and the federal government have done. Our railway system is guaranteed also exempt from taxation for ten years. There is nothing extraordinary in that, and I think the question should have been kept out of politics altogether."

"And," he continued, "now that we have secured a line to the Pacific seaboard, we will never rest until the line between Port Arthur and Sellwood has been made possible. At present matters are at a deadlock, as it is difficult to turn the land grant into money. The west will never enjoy the full benefit of our line until that link is constructed, making the Canadian Northern a transcontinental route."

RODNEY WHARF IS DANGEROUS, THIS VIEW OF THE JURY

"We, the jury empaneled to enquire into the death of Patrick McGoldrick of the city of St. John, find that he died in the public hospital on the 24th day of October from injuries received by falling off a Rodney wharf at the street railway terminus as he was about to take a car for his home on Douglas avenue. We strongly recommend that the responsible parties build a fence across the jog inside the bumper and also a fence along the whole south side of the street railway trestle work. We further recommend that a responsible party be appointed caretaker for the public safety on the wharf. We therefore believe that the deceased lost his life on account of insufficient light and want of proper protection against falling over the wharf."

The foregoing verdict was reached last night by the coroner's jury in the inquest into the death of Patrick McGoldrick. The jury, which was out a little more than an hour considering their verdict, was composed of Bartholomew Holt, foreman; John Fitzgerald, A. W. Emery, Sydney Gibbs, James Wilson, Joseph Doody and William Hatfield.

THE CONSPIRACY CHARGE AGAINST THE COAL MEN

Halifax, Nov. 1.—Another stage in the coal operators' conspiracy case was entered today this afternoon. An hour was taken up with an application for the production of a deposition of Mr. McLaughlin, the local treasurer of the U. M. W. The information was laid by him for purposes in connection with the strike.

J. J. Ritchie said the defense had a right to know what was contained in them. The magistrate suggested that notice be given to the prosecution. The Coal Company counsel said they wanted the deposition at once, but this was opposed by the prosecution. The magistrate replied he did not know what the defence reserved his decision.

General Manager Duggan was not present, the Coal Company officials saying they did not know he was expected till Tuesday.

GEO. W. FOWLER AND THE CON. PARTY

(Halifax Recorder.)

Some Tories must feel somewhat sore over the address given by Mr. Fowler at his smoker Thursday night. For a year or more we have read in Tory newspapers, and heard from Tory orators the declaration that all differences within the party had been eliminated, and that hearts and minds in complete union, the Tories were united as one man, well trained, well led and in fettle of the finest. The man from New Brunswick, however, seems to have given his hearers a job by showing that it is all a delusion, and that they are living in a fool's paradise.

"He said that the Conservatives were too ready to knock their leaders, something which the Liberals were not guilty of. They should stop this knocking and begin to boost."

For years also we have been told by Mr. Borden & Co. that there was an unsurpassable gulf running between the two parties, and that the struggle was part of "the irrepressible conflict" between two sets of principles, two opposing schools of thought. Mr. Fowler, however, dismisses this in a single sentence, showing the opposition politics to be merely trumped up for the purpose of deluding the electorate into voting for them. He said:

"At the present time there were no great political questions dividing the two great parties. There had been none since 1896."

He even touched his party on the raw in that point upon which they have ever prided themselves, namely closer imperial union.

He regretted that at the time when it was possible to bring the island of Newfoundland into the Confederation the Conservatives, who were then in power, were not broad enough to see the advantage of this being done. This was a time when they had failed as Empire Builders. He referred with feeling to the late leader of the Conservative party, Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir John Thompson and Sir Charles Tupper, these were men, whom the Conservative party and Canada had reason to be proud of.

It will be noticed that he was most effuse in his praises of the Conservative leaders of the past, which is very significant as an implied contrast with the present leaders. Altogether, Mr. Fowler's address could not have been very comforting to his hearers; but truth will out sometimes even under the most unexpected circumstances.

HOSE WAS TURNED ON A SUFFRAGETTE

London, Nov. 2.—Replying to a question by Kier Hardie, Home Secretary Gladstone said in the House of Commons that the report of a visiting committee showed that a fire hose had been played on a suffragette prisoner in the Strangeways jail, Manchester, who had barred out the warders from her cell. The hose was brought to a window of the cell and directed at the suffragette, who had persistently refused to open the door.

Mr. Gladstone said he deeply regretted the circumstance and ordered an immediate inquiry. On hearing the facts, he said, he ordered the release of the prisoner, and this had been done.

HOW MRS. PANKHURST CAPTURED BOSTON

(Woman's Journal.)

Mrs. Pankhurst's visit to Boston may be summed up by saying, "She came, she saw, she conquered."

It is fortunate, on some accounts, that her first lecture in America should have been given in Boston. Whether deservedly or not, Boston has a reputation of being a hotbed of intellectual, high-toned and fastidious to the last degree. It has been for many years the head center of the anti-suffrage movement, and nowhere have the doings of the militant women in England been more misrepresented and ridiculed by the press. In addition, the suffrage movement here has always been led by women of high character. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe has been president of the New England Woman's Suffrage Association for nearly forty years. It therefore has special significance that the leader of the militant suffragettes on her visit to Boston should have delighted all the suffragists beyond measure, converted many of the indifferent, who went to hear her out of curiosity and largely dismissed even the hostile press.

DEATH ENDS BRIGHT CAREER OF DR. ALEXANDER W. MACRAE

Passes Away Early This Morning in Hospital—Able Lawyer, Politician, Head of Orange Order in New Brunswick and Good Scholar—Funeral on Thursday

Dr. Alexander W. MacRae, K. C., died at the General Public Hospital at 1.30 this morning. His immediate relatives were at his bedside when death came. Dr. MacRae who had been ill at his home for some time, was removed to the hospital about a week ago suffering from a severe malady. On Saturday Dr. Armstrong, of ad-entum from the University of New Brunswick and later examination on thesis he received from the same university successively the degrees of B. C. L. and D. C. L. It will thus be seen that his college career was a notable one.

In the practice of his profession Dr. MacRae had been engaged in many notable cases and had acquired himself with marked ability.

In 1888 he was elected alderman from Wellington ward, and served four or five terms in the council from the same ward. He held the office of deputy mayor, warden of the city and county, chairman of the municipal committee and chairman of the bills and bye-laws committee. He was one of the organizers of the union of Canadian Municipalities in 1900, and was first president for New Brunswick from 1900 to 1905. He took an active interest in advancing municipal ownership and reform in the taxation system.

Always a staunch Conservative he, in the dominion general election, accepted the nomination of his party to run in St. John city and county against Hon. Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works. He was defeated.

Dr. MacRae was a member of the executive of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the province, and a past president of the Liberal-Conservative Club of this city. He was also a member of the Board of Trade and of St. Andrew's Society.

In fraternal societies he has held many high offices and received numerous honors from the various orders of which he was a member. In Masonry he was a past master of St. John's Lodge, P. H. P. of Carleton Royal Arch Chapter, T. T. L. of St. John Council Royal and Select Masters, was a member of Rose Croix Chapter, St. John Encampment Knights Templar, A. and A. Scottish Rite, and of the Mystic Shrine. He was also a member of Union Lodge No. 2, Knights of Pythias.

In the Independent Order of Foresters he was a past officer of the Supreme Court, past H. C. R. of the High Court of N. B., past chief ranger of Court La Tour, a Royal Forester and a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

Dr. MacRae was also very prominent in the Orange order, holding the office of grand master of the provincial grand lodge at the time of his death. He took his primary degree in Havelock Lodge and was a past master of that lodge. He was also a member of St. John's Orange Royal Chapter and of Queens Presbytery Royal Black Knights of Ireland. He had held many important offices in the grand lodge, of which body he was a life member of the grand lodge by a special vote. He had also held the office of deputy county master of the St. John County Lodge. At the mammoth Orange procession held in St. John, July 12th last, Dr. MacRae "rode the white horse" as depicting William Prince of Orange. On that occasion he wore for the first time in St. John for many years a uniform which was an exact reproduction of that worn by the Prince of Orange at the Battle of the Boyne. He was a Presbyterian and held several terms as a trustee of St. Stephen's church.

The funeral will be held on Thursday forenoon but arrangements are not yet completed.

The Council of the Barristers' Society, in session this afternoon at Fredericton, have appointed Thursday morning as the time when the attorneys will be sworn in. Messrs. D. King Haase, G. East Logan, H. W. Lantry and J. Tait, graduates of the law school, will be among those sworn in.

There has been received into the elevators at the west side already more than 100,000 bushels of wheat. In view of the general forward movement which seems to be sweeping this province, no subject is of greater interest than "The Natural Resources of New Brunswick." On this subject, to which he has of late devoted considerable study, Chancellor of the U. N. B. will deliver a public lecture in Centenary schoolroom on Tuesday evening of next week. A collection will be taken in aid of the charity fund of Centenary Club, and in view of the importance of the subject, it is hoped a large audience will be present.

While the young folks are given some latitude on Halloween, Fairville people complain that they went much too far there. Noise and fun were expected, but everything movable was carried off, heads were rolled down the main street, bells were rung and high carnival reigned for hours, boys and girls participating. Worst of all, there was a good deal of swearing by the boys.

Through the kindness of Mrs. W. F. B. Patterson, of Elliot row, Mrs. Jones, of Sherbrooke, superintendent of prison work for the W. C. T. U., and Mrs. J. Seymour, provincial superintendent of jail and prison work, visited the Boy's Industrial Home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Jones gave an earnest address to the boys and they sang several pieces heartily. Mrs. Harving presided at the piano. The boys were treated to fruit donated by several of the visiting ladies.

Among many organizations doing good work in this city is the King's Daughters Guild. For years their society has earnestly tried to live out their motto: "Look up and not down. Look out, not in. Lend a hand." In many ways they have striven to make the condition of the needy more tolerable. They try to help the poor, to brighten the lives of the aged, and to gladden the hearts of little children. They endeavour to throw around young girls the safeguards so needed. "Work done for God, it dish not," and doubtless many now treading surely along safe paths in life are so doing because of loving help given by King's Daughters. Their work is often sadly hampered by need of funds. A generous patronage for their sale and tea on Nov. 11 and 12 in Kettie's Assembly rooms will help them very much.

CITY CORNET BAND

FAIR READY FOR OPENING TONIGHT

Waterloo Street Hall Nicely Decorated and Many Attractions Provided—Band Stand Presentation Tonight

All is in readiness for the formal opening of the City Cornet Band's "Around the World Fair," in the Mission Hall, Waterloo street, this evening at 8 o'clock and it promises to be a most enjoyable function. The committees having charge of the booths and of the fair as a whole have wrought a remarkable change in the appearance of the hall by use of bunting, flags, autumn leaves, electric bulbs, and other devices which add to the attractiveness of "Fairland." No particular colors predominate, but those which are used, blend nicely and with the sweet scent of spruce boughs, the delicate tints of autumn leaves and the warm glow of incandescents embedded in holly and ivy lend a refreshing air of beauty, neatness and welcome to the place.

The first object to catch the eye as one enters is a nicely decorated archway marking the entrance and comprising two separate booths and the bandstand. On the right is a booth for soft drinks and on the left one for ice-cream, while in the centre and extending deep into the background is the band stand. A canopy of boughs, and bunting, twinkling with numerous lights, forms the bandstand and in the rear of the stage is seen a picture which recalls happy instances in the lives of many, a picture of past and present members of the City Cornet Band. There are about thirty pictures in the frame, but only the following represented are still alive: most of them still quite active in musical circles: James Connelly, R. McCarthy, M. Higgins, P. Higgins, W. Connors, D. Gallagher, J. J. Sullivan, J. McManis, J. Bartley, P. O'Neil, and M. Kelley.

Along the right-hand side of the hall are three booths similar in size and structure but varying slightly in decorations. These are the fancy, chance and candy stalls and they are trimmed daintily with yellow and white, red and white and pink and white respectively, each presenting a very pleasing aspect.

Facing these on the opposite side on the wall in large capitals is the inscription: "City Cornet Band—1874-1909." The letters entwined with bunting and the whole surrounded by flags and patriotic shields. Below this is the fortune teller's table with its air of mystery and magic, also the bean boards, the Kiosky block and other games.

At the opening this evening the new bandstand will be formally presented to the city, the band will furnish a pleasing programme and all the attractions will be in full swing.

The following is a list of the booths and their in charge of each: Chance table—Mrs. O'Leary, assisted by Miss McCullough, Miss Mary Higgins and Miss M. O'Leary. Candy booth—Mrs. M. J. Higgins, assisted by Miss Mollie McGuigan, Miss Ella Connelly and Miss Rose McGuigan. Ice cream booth—Mrs. Clark, assisted by Miss Brennan, Miss M. Robinson and Miss G. Doyle. Fancy booth—Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. Driscoll, assisted by Miss Annie McGuigan and Miss Irene Shaw. Bean board—Miss Kathryn Wallace and Miss Kathryn Higgins. Fortune teller—Mr. Connelly, Mr. R. Butler, H. McQuade.

ANOTHER CASE FOR COUNTY COURT

Alex McDougall Sent Up For Trial on Charge of Stealing a Coat Last Night—Miller Fined $50—Boys in Court

In the police court today Alexander McDougall beside being charged with drunkenness, faced a charge of stealing an overcoat from Henry Perry, a German. The latter said that he was a boarder at No. 2 North street. He hung the coat up in the sitting room last evening, the prisoner being in the room at the time. He went down to the corner and when he returned the prisoner and coat had disappeared. On a search being made he found McDougall later in an alley near O'Neil's saloon in Water street with the overcoat on him. He was very drunk at the time.

He purchased the coat in Boston three weeks ago for $18 and now valued it at $14.

Patrolman Semple told of being notified by Perry and of the arrest of McDougall. His honor sent McDougall up to the city court, which is now in session and before doing so he fined him $8 or two months for drunkenness.

William King, George Martin, and Dennis Gullro were fined $4 or thirty days for drunkenness and John Cain and Robert Dixon $8 or sixty days for a like offence.

James Miller, charged with keeping liquor for sale without a license, through the lawyer E. S. Ritchie, pleaded guilty. He was fined $50 or one month in jail.

Frank Sheahan, aged 17, and Don Bridges, 18, who with Earl Penny were charged with loitering about the Opera House and breaking a large pane of glass in the door on October 29, were court this morning. As Bridges was able to show that he was not one of the crowd, he was allowed to go.

Sheahan denied that he had anything to do with the breaking of the window. Manager Anderson expressed the opinion that Penny had to do with the breaking of the glass and was not present, the case was postponed till Saturday.

Mr. Anderson said that he had replaced the glass five times during the year. Judge Ritchie spoke strongly about boys loitering about the Opera House.

UNCLE SAM'S POCKET BOOK IS SWELLING

Washington, Nov. 2 — Surpassing the most sanguine expectations of the treasury officials, the internal revenue receipts are bounding upward. For October the figures show $25,694,434, an increase of $1,616,735 over the corresponding month last year, and there will be some additions to the receipts credited to last month's account.

So far this fiscal year, up to October 31, the internal revenue receipts have run $4,575,950 ahead of the same period last year, the total since July 1 being $89,783,070.

There will be a meeting of the Orange men of the city and county in the Orange hall, Germain street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

When We Speak of the Glenwood Range We Talk Quality

And in order to have that quality you must put the material into the range, that is, of the very best, and when you do you have to pay more than you do for inferior goods. You can get new ranges from $18.00 up, but we can't make them and put the material and workmanship on them that we put on our Glenwood Ranges.

The Glenwood Ranges are made here in St. John. We have an up-to-date Foundry, and we put the best material in our ranges we can find anywhere. The large number of our ranges that are in use is a guarantee of what the people think and know of the Glenwood lines. Call and examine them for yourself and be convinced.

For $20 Any Man Can Buy at Oak Hall as Good a Suit or Overcoat as $25 or $28 Will Buy Anywhere Else

Easy enough to prove this assertion by seeing what you can buy elsewhere for $25 and $28 and then comparing it with what you can get from us for $20.

We are sure of our ground. We know what sort of suits and overcoats are being sold at $25 and $28 in other stores and we know ours at $20 are just as good.

You see when you buy from us you buy directly of the makers and you get the clothes at practically the same prices other stores must pay at wholesale. This accounts for the difference. And no other store can show such a wide variety of new styles, fabrics, patterns and colors as you can choose from here.

Price Range Men's Suits and Overcoats, $5 to $30

The Right Kind of Clothes for the Right Kind of Boy

Of course there's a right and a wrong kind of boy—just as there is the right and wrong kind of suit to put him in. The right kind of boy doesn't want to bother too much about his clothes after he has got them on. He doesn't want the seams to rip when he slides down the banisters or the coat to feel odd or clammy because he gets caught in the rain.

And the right kind of suit—the Oak Hall suit—doesn't do either of these things. And we sell this right kind of suit at 25 to 30 per cent. less than as good can be had elsewhere.
