

CIVIC ELECTION CAMPAIGN OPENS RED HOT IN WINNIPEG

Mayor Gray Called Liar and Murderer.—Invited to Address Meeting,
But Given no Chance to Speak.

(Special to Record.)
Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—The first blows in the civic election campaign were struck on Wednesday evening. They were metaphorical, aimed at the mayor, who was present and an air of antagonism prevailed from the time of the Mayor's entry, when cries of "Book!" "Here's the gray Mayor!" met him until he left, with their boots following him into the corridors.
Mayor Gray shouted, "Let any man who says I am a liar come to the platform."
Toner, former officer of the police man's union and one of the biggest men, physically, in Winnipeg, walked from his seat half-way down the hall, but was restrained from attacking the Mayor.

LADIES INDUCE PACKERS TO TURN CASH INTO BONDS

Innocents Abroad Get Rid of $25,000.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—A party of five innocent-looking packers who appeared before the Board of Commerce Wednesday were surrounded in the Chat-eau Laurier by a number of Ottawa ladies who had charge of the Victory Loan booth in the hotel. A few minutes' conversation resulted in the packers being induced to sign bonds for $5,000 each, a total of $25,000.
The ladies who proved their salesmanship and ability were Mrs. Arthur McLaughlin, wife of the Minister of the Interior; Mrs. Pierre Blondin, wife of the Postmaster General; Mrs. C. E. Mongenais, Mrs. Mayno Davies and Mrs. Redmond Quinlan. The gentlemen who succumbed to the charms and beguiling smiles of the ladies were E. C. Fox, of the Wm. Davies Co. Ltd., W. C. Waller, of Swift Canadian, J. S. McLaughlin, of the Harris Abattoir Co., R. J. Doherty, of the Canadian Packing and Brigs, Gen. J. A. Gunn, of Gunn's Ltd.
The amusing part of the whole proceedings was that Mrs. Davies, having some suspicions as to the seriousness of Mr. Waller, held his left hand while he signed his bond. Another feature of the matter is that General Gunn is chairman of the publicity committee for Toronto and will be forced upon himself with the citizens of the Queen City.

LOVED $1,000,000 GIRL, ARRESTED FOR ABDUCTION

Regina, Nov. 6.—Frank Fick's "Love's young dream" was rudely interrupted by detective sergeant Killaway, and now Fick is awaiting preliminary hearing on a charge of abducting an heir-apparent of the age of eighteen years. A feat of the interruption was that the police officer made the arrest when Fick was dreaming on a pile of potatoes in a cellar at Yorkton, where he had taken refuge. The "Juliet" in the case is Emma Kendall, a sprightly lass of about sixteen summers, whose daddy is worth about $1,000,000 and she is sure to get a good slice of this.

MUCH TIME WILL BE NEEDED FOR TRIAL OF STRIKE LEADERS

To Begin Within Ten Days.

(Special to Record.)
WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Sometime within the next ten days the actual trial of the eight strike leaders charged with sedition and conspiracy is expected to open. Before that time, however, some charges under which men are now held may be altered or enlarged. A. J. Andrews, K. C., special crown prosecutor, said today.
The presentation of the evidence before the Grand Jury will be the next step in the proceedings. The solicitors on both sides, however, look on this feature as something of a formality, but if the Grand Jury should not return a true bill, the case would be at an end and the men would go free. There is every promise of a long drawn out trial. The preliminary hearing at which only the prosecution put in its case, occupied 16 full court days.

ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—German Jacko, 28 years old, a Canadian, was arrested in Winnipeg on Wednesday by a Royal Northwest Mounted Police officer, in connection with the murder of Wasyly Rublyak at Kenora, Ont., nine weeks ago. After a chase, extended to Toronto, Jacko was arrested at the alien register office on Main street when he entered to register under alien enemy act. He will be charged with first degree murder. Constable J. Wood of Ontario will take him east for trial.

Two men were drowned two others, probably so, a boy was fatally shot while hunting, and a child burned to death over the week-end in Timiskaming district.

PRINCE DRIVES HIS OWN TRAIN

Rests Five Days in Ottawa Before American Tour.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—At Flaville, twenty miles west of Trenton, the Prince of Wales boarded the locomotive of the C. P. R. train and personally drove the train into Trenton. He likewise shook hands with each individual of the C. P. R. train crew and staff.
The Prince reached Ottawa yesterday and will spend five days in recreation before going to the United States. None but social functions are awaiting him, the Canadian Club luncheon on Saturday excepted. The Prince starts his American tour in a U. S. Government train which will meet him at Ottawa.

WINNERS HAVE LESS VOTES THAN THEIR OPPONENTS

Many Elected Members Are Minority Candidates.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The combined vote of twenty winners in the recent provincial elections is $9,828 less than the combined vote of the losers who opposed them. This is the somewhat startling truth revealed by an analysis of the official returns received at Queens Park.
Sixty-one ridings have been reported and of these 27, three or more candidates. In only 7 of the 27 ridings where more than two candidates were in the field did the member-elect secure a majority of the votes polled.
So we have this result. Votes of 20 winners 92,912. Polled by opponents, 132,541. Of these minority candidates who gained seats in the house, seven were coalition supporters, seven were Liberals, one an independent Liberal, and five Conservatives.

15 NEW CASES OF SMALLPOX IN TORONTO

Total 56, Under Quarantine 159,
Many Cases Not Reported.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—Fifteen new cases of smallpox were reported to the Department of Health during the last 24 hours, 13 of these are being quarantined in their homes. The total number of cases is now 56, while the persons under quarantine because of exposure number 159.
"It is clear," said Dr. Hastings, "that not all cases are being reported. The medical profession does not realize that the Public Health Act distinctly states that it is not necessary for them to be certain of the diagnosis, but if a physician has reason to suspect smallpox he is required to report to the Department of Health."

FEAR COMMUNIST RISING IN GERMANY

ESSEN, Germany, Nov. 6.—Investigators for the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin claim to have discovered plans for a communist uprising to depose the present German government and to establish a new one modelled on the Russian plan which would be associated with the present Russian Soviet system.
The investigators assert the proposed revolution is to be assisted and officered by Russian Bolsheviks and that the outbreak is to have its beginning in the Russian coal district. This newspaper warning is so energetic that it is accepted in well-informed quarters as of more importance than the many rumors in circulation. Munich, Brunswick and other cities are claimed to be sub-centers for the movement.

Waitresses in the O. A. C. Guelph went on strike for higher wages.

DRURY VERY BUSY IN SECRET OFFICE

Waldron is Choice for Attorney-General.—Labor Will Help to Enforce O.T.A.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Closeted in some secret place, Premier Drury is pegging away at his job of selecting a Cabinet. All possible avenues of information leading out from Mr. Drury's mysterious office are closed off and only a chosen few know of the hiding place.
One of the early guesses has come to be somewhat generally accepted as correct, namely that the next attorney-general will be Gordon Waldron. Mr. Waldron is a Liberal lawyer and has been closely in touch with the farmer movement from the first as legal adviser.
The U. F. O. members of the Legislature will have the support of the Labor group in the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, as stated by Walter Rolfe M. P. for West Hamilton, leader of the Labor party and prospective Minister of Labor. He says that the principles of the I. L. P. required that the mandate of the people on the O. T. A. be carried out.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY AND 48-HOUR WEEK NOW THE PROPOSAL

(Special to Record.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Chairman W. B. Wilson stated to your representative last evening that he would rule an amendment to include the eight-hour day limit in the proposed legislation in 1920. Unless his ruling is challenged, the workers' delegates have obtained the right to move an amendment to the present proposed bill to limit the working day to eight hours, as well as the week to 48 hours. This is what the fight has been for.

LATER RETURNS SHOW OHIO WET

Wets Leading in 59 Out of 88 Counties.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—Later returns from Tuesday's prohibition vote in Ohio seemed to shatter the election night prediction that the dries had carried the four prohibition proposals. Fully complete unofficial returns from 69 of the 88 counties gave the wets a lead of 14,000 on the repeal amendment, of 27,000 on the beer proposal, of 48,000 on ratification, and of 78,000 on the Crabbie bill.

TWO CUPS COFFEE LIKE 21 PINTS BEER

Investigation at St. Louis Shows
1½ Per Cent. Beer Non-Intoxicant.

(Special to Record.)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 6.—An investigation into 2.75 percent beer and its effect on men and women, regular drinkers, occasional drinkers and total abstainers, shows that two cups of coffee have as much "kick" as twenty-one pints of 1½ percent beer. A stomach full of "wet" is only enough for one quarter of a drink.
2½ percent of 1½ percent beer at a sitting is necessary for intoxication, but the human stomach will hold only one-seventeenth of that quantity.

DINNICK READY FOR S. R. M. PROBE

(Special to Record.)
TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Col. W. S. Dinnick, Vice-President of the Standard and Reliance Mortgage Corporation, arrived promptly at Osgoode Hall this morning a few minutes before the probe into the defunct company's affairs was resumed before the Master-in-Chambers, Mr. J. A. C. Cameron. Col. Dinnick's former absence, due to illness, necessitated two adjournments of the probe.
"I'm feeling fine," laughed Col. Dinnick. "Are you ready to go ahead?" Col. Dinnick was asked. "Certainly am. And I want the fullest possible investigation. It won't do if it ends with me. It wouldn't be fair. I have nothing to fear from it."

MAIL DELIVERY SYSTEM IN CITY KEPT TO EFFICIENCY

Two New Routes Are Added. Addition Goes Into Effect Tomorrow. Business Grows With the City.

ADDITION MADE WITHOUT INCREASING STAFF
Two new mail delivery routes will be added to the present number, which will bring the total up to 16. The addition goes into effect tomorrow. The adding of more routes to the present number is of two-fold interest. Firstly, it means that the growth of the city continues and it has put more demands on the post office service. Secondly, it indicates that the local postal staff led by Postmaster E. H. Lindner who by the way, has been sworn in by Inspector Ross, are wide awake and are not allowing any grass to grow under their feet. Service is constantly growing with the city. In all departments is this the case. Of interest is a reference to the parcel post. Many packages are sent out and also many are received for local delivery. For example, consider a recent week. The highest number sent out for one day was 635. The lowest on any day was 380. This growth in the business, the activity in and around the building and the congestion indicate that the city needs a new post office building.
The service throughout the whole city will be improved as a result. Particular sections, however, which will get a benefit, are the industrial section in the east end and the residential district on Courtland Heights.

CANADIAN SUGAR HELD AT NEW YORK

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—An interesting situation of an international character has arisen in connection with the raw sugar supply. The United States Federal Food Administrator has threatened to seize a large shipment of about thirteen million pounds of raw sugar now at New York and belonging to the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. of Montreal, on the charge that it has been offered in the New York market at four cents above the legal price.

The Canadian Food commission here has wired that Canada expects to be protected against any delay in the forwarding of the sugar, as every pound now in transit is badly needed in Canada. The St. Lawrence refinery states that all the sugar was destined for the Canadian market.
They offered a small quantity of this raw sugar in New York, with the knowledge and consent of the United States Sugar Equalization Board. The sugar had been held up at New York for nearly two weeks, and is urgently needed here. There is some misunderstanding in the whole matter.

VACCINATION ORDER MODIFIED IN STRATFORD

(Special to Record.)
STRATFORD, Nov. 6.—The proclamation calling for compulsory vaccination of all residents of Stratford has been considerably modified as a result of an inspection of the local situation yesterday by Dr. McNally, district officer of health.
Dr. McNally inspected all of the cases and reported them of a very mild type. He felt that sufficient preventative would be taken, if compulsory vaccination was confined to school children and to any who have been exposed to contagion.
The city council meeting last night accepted Dr. McNally's version and a new proclamation was issued this morning. It, however, urges the citizens to be vaccinated.

W. Stokes, a member of the G. V. A., will run for alderman in St. Thomas.

SENATE AT WORK ON GRAND TRUNK BILL

Amendment to Postpone is Moved.—Borden Favors Purchase.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—The Grand Trunk bill was debated at morning, afternoon, and evening sittings of the Senate today, the upper House remaining in session until midnight.
Only one amendment was formally moved. The sponsor for it was Senator Ross, of Nova Scotia, and it calls for postponement of consideration of the measure until next session.
Senator Lynch-Staunton gave notice of the following amendment:
"If the determined value of the preference and common stock in the aggregate exceeds $7,414,700 sterling, the new guaranteed stock to be issued shall not exceed the face value of $7,414,700."
Sir James Loughheed read a letter from Sir Robert Borden, in which the minister denied a report that he was not personally favorably disposed towards the measure.

A REDUCTION IN ASSESSMENT

Figures for Grand River Railway
$9,000.

As the result of the conference in the offices of the assessment department yesterday afternoon the assessment on the Grand River Railway's property in the city has been fixed at $9,000. The original figure was $12,000.
The company had protested against the proposed figure and in order to have the matter cleared a conference between Assessment Commissioner M. Huebner, Manager M. Kirkwood of the G. R. Railway, Mr. Jeffrey, C.P.R. counsel, and Superintendent V. S. McIntyre of the city's street railway line, was held.
The company recently agreed to sell its line in the city to the municipality for $5,000. This fact was played on by the company's representatives in their argument that $12,000 is too high. The assessment of their power station on East King street, also was objected to, but as a similar point is before a Toronto court this matter was left in abeyance.
The law on the assessing of railway property is very complicated. Certain clauses in the general assessment act on the one hand and in amendments to it and several clauses on electric railway lines seem to be contradictory. "The Ontario Municipal Association is making determined efforts to have the statutes amended so that more property can be assessed and a fairer adjustment can be arrived at," Assessment Commissioner Huebner said.

CURRIE CALLED SECOND KAISER

Senate and Commons, Anxious to Clean Up Business.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Both Commons and Senate had morning sessions today in an effort to clean up the business and secure an early prorogation. The Senate discussed the Grand Trunk purchase bill. The Senate is in opposition to the bill as in its present form.
In the Commons the debate was continued on the amendment to the report of the Soldiers' Re-establishment Committee, and it developed into personalities.
Dr. Edwards (Frontenac) declared that Col. Currie had all the bumptiousness and assurance of Kaiser Wilhelm, with none of the latter's modesty.

ELECTION EXPENSE EXCEEDS MILLION

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—One of the first duties of the Provincial Treasurer, whoever he may be, in the Drury government, when it takes office at Queens Park, will be to make an entry on the debit side of his ledger. "Item one—general election and referendum vote $1,260,000."
The figure is an approximation but is believed to be fairly near the total cost of the election. Accounts from the returning officers throughout the province are now being received by the auditor general, and upon his certificate, accountable checks will be sent to the returning officers. The cost of the enumeration in August last is estimated at from $500,000 to $650,000, of which $400,000 is for salaries.

NEW HOME RULE PROPOSAL

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The new Home Rule solution provides for the creation of two Parliaments for Ireland, one for Ulster and the other for the remaining three provinces. There is to be a Council of Ireland, consisting of about 40 members, to be nominated in equal numbers by the two Parliaments.

TWO LIVES LOST IN HOTEL FIRE

J. Thompson of Chesley, Bruce Co., One of the Victims.

(Special to Record.)
WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Joe Thompson's charred body and a few bones of a girl, two victims of the Belmont (Manitoba) fire which destroyed the Tanager hotel on Sunday morning, were found today. Thompson's body was on a wire spring mattress which still laid on a bedstead. A package of letters was also found near his head and some of these showed his address plainly. Evidently he was overcome by smoke. Joe Thompson was between 75 and 80 years of age, was a bachelor and his home was at Chesley, Ont., but he came west every fall to look after his large land holdings and always made his home at the Belmont Hotel on these trips.

ONE-ROUND BOUT FOR LAWMAKERS

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Civil war on a small scale developed in the lobbies of the Commons yesterday when Col. Currie, of Simcoe, and Dr. Cowan, M.P. for Regina, both Conservative Unionists, put on an exciting one-round bout.
In the afternoon when Mr. Calder spoke on the soldiers' bill, Col. Currie interpreted some remarks about the minister "dodging." The Cowan remarked that "that don't come well from a man who ran away from the trenches."
At night in the corridor Col. Currie accused Dr. Cowan of insulting him and accompanied the observations with slaps in the face, which peeled off some skin, whereupon the Regina man resorted with several whacks of his cane over the head of the member for Simcoe.

The language was very heated for awhile, but eventually cooled down. James Robb, chief Liberal whip, played the part of the blessed peacemaker.

U. S. GOV'T WILL NOT AGREE TO WITHDRAW INJUNCTION SUIT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The labor proposal for ending the coal strike through the withdrawal of the injunction proceedings against leaders of the United Mine Workers of America was bluntly rejected by the department of justice.
Assistant Attorney-General Ames declared the strike itself was a violation of law and as long as it continued the only place to fight it out was in court. Labor leaders, visibly disturbed by this refusal, state that this evening all hope of an immediate settlement of the strike.

3,000 SOLDIERS AT WINNIPEG

(Special to Record.)
WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Three thousand British soldiers will pass through Winnipeg on Monday on their way home from Siberia. The returned Soldiers' Association and auxiliaries have made complete preparations to entertain them. REEVE OF GREENOCK SEIZED WITH STROKE

CARGILL, Nov. 6.—Reeve McNab, of Greenock Township, was seized with a paralytic stroke at 2 p.m. at the King Edward Hotel, Chapeau, on Tuesday night. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy in the spring of 1918, but fully recovered.
Mr. McNab at the last election defeated Denis Phalen, who had held the reeve's office for eight consecutive terms. There is much speculation as to who shall fill the reeve's chair until the end of the year. Two are named, ex-Reeve Phalen and Counsellor Geo. Gillespie.

ELSIE FERGUSON SCORES AT ALLEN

Elsie Ferguson in "The Witness for the Defence" scored a decided hit at the Allen theatre last night. As the name implies patrons looked for something sensational and they were not disappointed as the story from start to finish was full of pathos and exciting situations and the role as played by the star drew much sympathy from the large audience.

The story deals with a young girl who is compelled to leave her lover and travel to India with her invalid father. The lovers part but decide to remain true.

Capt. Ballantyne, a real villain who is stationed at Bombay with the consent of the father for the daughter's hand who while wishing to remain true to her lover in England accedes to the wishes of her father and the marriage takes place. The captain turns out to be a regular brute and the confiding wife has a most miserable existence.

In a fit of jealousy the husband abuses her and in the struggle which follows he is accidentally killed by the wife. At the trial an admirer of Mrs. Ballantyne who proves to be the witness for the defence gives evidence which frees her. As a reward he insists on her marrying him but she refuses and while many complicated situations arise love triumphs and her lover of the early days claims her, has faith in her and they are happily united in spite of strenuous objections of his parents. There are many extremely sympathetic situations throughout the entire play which is a master of stage craft from beginning to end. Backing up the feature is an exceptionally funny film entitled "The Haughty Wife," which is a real scream. A Chester outing rounds out a good two hour show which by the way is one of the Allen's best offerings so far this season.

NOT FOWL THIS TIME BUT PIGS

Thieves After Bigger Hunt
Another case of thieving which has just been brought to the attention of the Record occurred last Friday night when Westmont Farm, owned by Mr. P. H. Rieder was visited and two pigs weighing about 40 lbs. apiece were taken and another pig was found in the yard with a clothes line around its neck. The robbery was first discovered on Saturday morning and as the ground was quite soft, the imprint of the feet of the culprits and the direction they took was easily discernible. The police have been notified and have been quickly working on the case and hope to have the guilty parties in the toils before long. In conversation with Mr. Rieder over the phone the Record was informed that a reward of $10.00 has been offered for any information that will tend to bring the guilty parties to justice.

Then they add a quantity of color to the lips.

PRINCIPLE OF 48-HOUR WEEK

EMPLOYER'S GROUP AT INTERNATIONAL DRAFT CONVENTION.

U. S. Asked to Adopt it by One Canadian Delegate.
Washington, Nov. 5.—Members of the employers' group at the International Labor Conference have prepared a unilateral convention on the 48-hour week. The convention was discussed at a lengthy meeting of the group to-day. While recognizing the principle of the 48-hour week, the employers' draft differs from that of the organizing committee in a number of vital reservations.

The text has not yet been made public, but the main reservations in the employers' draft are understood to be the following:

1. Guarantee of the indispensable requirements without which industry cannot normally exist.
2. Unanimous agreement to increase production.
3. Where exceptions are claimed by any nation on account of its backward industrial condition, the exceptions cannot be held to apply to export industries.
4. Insistence on periodicity so that in seasonal trades, an average of eight hours will be regarded as sufficient.
5. Numerous exceptions in connection with the public works, emergency works and special industries of various kinds.

The general character of the employers' draft is stated to be to avoid numerous specific limitations on industrial output contained in the draft submitted by the organization of the committee. The meeting of the employers was behind closed doors. Canada and United States.

It is understood however, that Mr. Parsons, Canadian employer delegate, took a strong stand that Canada should not enter into any international convention limiting hours of labor unless first assured that the convention would be adopted by the United States.

Preparatory to adjournment tomorrow, the first international working women's congress to-day considered a plan of permanent organization. Suggestion by the British delegation that provision be made for the affiliation to a certain extent with specified political organizations was countered by a plan submitted by a group representing practically the other delegations which would limit membership to trade union organizations.

Under the latter plan another international meeting would be called within the year at the same time and place at the meeting of the international Labor conference of the League of Nations. It was suggested the president of the congress be in the United States. Recommendations for legislation safeguarding mothers and babies secured a majority approval as well as a resolution favoring the prohibition of night work for both men and women except in continuous industries regarded as a public necessity.

The congress at its session to-day also proved legislation prohibiting employment of women in industries in which poisonous materials are used. Recommendation was made that bureaus be established under direction of the League of Nations for the study of methods for correcting conditions inimical to motherhood and to co-ordinate the work of national research in dangerous trades with a view to substituting non-poisonous substances wherever possible.

Letter to News Record

TO THE EDITOR:

With reference to the milk prices the public can demand an investigation. Who is the public? The people who put the Council into office. Why do they come back and ask such paltry questions? They have it within their power to quash anything that is not right.

The price of milk to-day is decidedly wrong. We do not get the pure milk. If we did we would not kick, but the cream separator has the first say. Then you have got to assay it afterwards to find the percentage of cream which you get.

We also want the weight put on the meat at the market. Who wants to buy a pig in a poke for that is all it is. Now I believe everybody wants what they pay for. Enough said!
R. Morgan.

A FEW SWEEPINGS FROM THE VICTORY LOAN "CLEAN-UP"

(By Dinty Moore)

From the appearance of results there will be a shortage of Honor Flags for 100 per cent. factories. We have however rushed an order to Toronto for more.

The Honor Banner winners to date

are:—
W. G. & R.
Wiegand Shirt Co.
Kaufman Rubber Co.
Kitchener Button Co.
Lang Tanning Co.
Greb Shoe Co. (4 crowns)
Baetz Bros.
Merchants Rubber Co.
John Forsyth Co.
Dominion Life Co.
Waterloo Mutual Fire Insur. Co.
Elmira Rubber Co.
Great West Felt Co.
Elmira Furniture Co.
Elmira Machinery & Transmission Co.
Dominion Lined Oil Co.—Baden.

As usual Elmira is right up in front. Nothing so good as VICTORY BONDS is their motto.

What's the matter with the Phonola Company. They are the only Factory who has not "gone over the top" in Elmira.

The Man who succeeds is the man who knows his business and attends to it. Your business to-day is buying VICTORY BONDS to the limit. Now is the time to attend to it.

The John Forsyth Company are celebrating the winning of the Honor Flag with a Victory Loan dinner to their employees in Waterloo to-night at their new plant. We wish them every success in their new enterprise.

The Parade which was scheduled for last night will take place to-night at 7.30. The Committee regret this postponement but the Plants were unable to get their employees together in time for last night, but it's O.K. for to-night and you can bet your hat on that.

The fireworks are all new and novel. "Pop" can hardly wait to get busy on the bombs.

Here's something to think over—Kitchener has approximately reached 40 per cent. of its objective. If we hope to win the Prince of Wales Honor Flag it will take a greater effort than has been demonstrated in the past. Loosen up! Get that flag for Kitchener.

In checking over the Board this morning we find that Wellesley Township is still heading the list, with Kitchener next to last. Shake it up! Let's get it.

SOME PEOPLE YOU KNOW

A number of friends were entertained by Miss C. Culliton in honor of her cousin from Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert K. Caskey, Toronto, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sara, to Mr. Louis O. Breitaupt, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Breitaupt, of Kitchener, the marriage to take place late in the month.

A very enjoyable time was spent last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roeding, West King street, when the members of Trinity Methodist cradle roll of women Mrs. Roeding has been a valued member gathered there. During the evening the secretary, Mrs. Alles, read a very neat address and the superintendent, Mrs. Welker, on behalf of the members of the Roll presented Mrs. Roeding with a wicker cozier.

A dainty lunch was served and several hours were very pleasantly spent. The ladies in departing wished Mr. and Mrs. Roeding many happy years of wedded life.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digesters are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try taking aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

IT MEANS MOST TO THE WORKERS

They Have Every Reason for Aiding in the Success of the Victory Loan.

As the Victory Loan drive draws near its close it must be borne in mind that every dollar invested in Victory Bonds means that much more toward the general enjoyment of continued prosperity.

Large orders for surplus products
of the Dominion will come from Great Britain if Canada can extend the necessary credit. If Canada cannot finance this business the Motherland will not experience any difficulty in getting the accommodation
elsewhere. She is a good customer.

Canada is enjoying prosperity now
to such an extent that the people have ample money with which to purchase Victory Bonds. The continuance of this prosperity will be in proportion to scale upon which this money is invested in the Victory Loan for all the proceeds of the loan will be put into circulation
in the Dominion benefitting every body as it goes on its rounds. It is the workers who are interested
more than any other class in making the Victory Loan 1919 an unqualified success.

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE by the noted author Idah McGlone Gibson

WHEN LOVE WAS ALL.

When I reached the home station
in the early morning, I found a life-long friend of my father waiting for me, and then I knew I was too late. And as the shock of my loss came over me I realized
how selfish I had been in running away to marry John, when I might have gone home for my wedding
and my father would have enjoyed the companionship of his only daughter in his last days.

I have never yet forgotten every one but myself in any great joy
or great sorrow, that I have not realized later that my selfishness
has reacted upon others as an upon myself.

Dr. Hannaford, my father's friend handed me a telegram as we walked through the station to his car.
"Expect this is from your husband," he said, "as he is not with you. It just came."

Hastily I tore it open, hungry
for the sympathy it would contain,
and read: "My poor, poor girl,
Will be with you on the next train.
You should have told me by telephone, that I might have gone with you, John."

The first half of the wire consoled me but the latter part spoiled
the message for me, for I could not help remembering that John would not let me tell him.

I controlled my emotions as best

I could and answered Mr. Hannaford's questioning look with a little white lie which I could not avoid
if I was to protect John. I said:
"Mr. Gordon was not at home
when I received the message yesterday and has wired me that he will be here on the next train."

"You had better telegraph him, Katherine," said Dr. Hannaford,
"that we have made all arrangements for the funeral which will not be until tomorrow afternoon.
This will give him plenty of time to be present."

"How's mother?" I asked trem-ulously.

"She is bearing up wonderfully,
but I dread to think what it will mean to her when she realizes that she is alone. She has been with your father so constantly and taken care of him so devotedly for so many years, that she will be lost without him."

"I would advise, Katherine, that you take her away for a while,"
he continued, as we settled ourselves in his car and he made me comfortable.

"I will do whatever she wants me to do," I said, my lips trembling again when I attempted to speak.
"I made no reservations even in my own mind on that score. I should do just exactly what my mother wished. I determined that if my mother wished to live with me,

she should do so, even though I had to choose between her and my new husband. My mother should come first.

Arriving at the house, the sight of the flowers and crepe that told of death within, almost unnerved me. As I mounted the steps the door opened noiselessly, and dear old Sarah, who had been with my mother ever since I could remember,
took me to her capacious breast.

"Come right upstairs to herself,
dear lamb," she said. "She has been waiting for you. You can help her."

"Oh Sarah, I'm so glad you have been here to help mother."

"And I was glad too, Miss Katherine. But she has sat there staring and staring and has hardly said a word since herself went out her life. I was afraid, Miss Katherine, that if you wouldn't be after comin' vry soon, it was out if her mind she would be goin' entirely."

Last night she would not go to bed
at all, and she never spoke to me
but once, when she said, "Sarah,
what will I be doing all the long nights through when he does not call me to get him a drink of water, or fix his pillow?"

"Oh, I should have been here,
Sarah—I should have been here,"
I said for ye, Miss Katherine.

"You'll forgive me for sayin' it,
but it's himself was vry lonely without you. He seemed to take yer weddin' in haste much more to heart than did your mother."

We stopped at the door of my mother's room—the room in which

my father had lived so many years.
I opened the door softly. My mother was sitting by the window
in the little low rocker in which she had always sat beside my father's wheel chair.

She did not turn her head as
she said:
"Sarah, isn't it time for Katherine to be here?"

"Katherine is here, mother dear,"
I said as I hurried across the room
and knelt beside the chair, my arms about her waist. Mother raised my head which I had buried in her lap and looked into my face with a bewildered stare. Then she said:
"Katherine dear, what am I going to do now?"

The New Mr. Ernest Drury is the new Premier Prime Minister of Ontario. As yet he hasn't a seat in the Ontario Parliament, but he has been chosen leader by the Farmer's Party and the Lieutenant Governor has recognized the choice by calling him to the Premiership.

Premier Drury has had no actual parliamentary experience. He was however, a Liberal candidate in the Dominion election of 1917 and was defeated. He is an excellent speaker, is well educated and has plenty of ability. Several of the elected men have offered to make way for him, and he will have no trouble in securing a seat.

Just where his majority in the House is to come from is not yet evident. Mayor McBride, Labor M.P.P., has already parted company with the Farmers, and as it stands now, Premier Drury is slightly in the minority, even with the support of all the other Labor members. Possibly he has promises of support from some of the Liberals or Conservatives. If he has not, or if he cannot hold them together with his own Farmer and Labor supporters, he cannot hold the Premiership long. Ontario politics will continue interesting for some time to come.

The Grand The G. T. R. purchase proposition continues to occupy the attention of Parliament. Mr. Fielding's amendment calling for a committee to investigate the whole deal, to value the properties and to report to Parliament before the bill goes through, seems reasonable. The country now owes more than two billions of dollars and the purchase of the Grand Trunk system will commit us to another half-billion. That need not necessarily alarm us, so long as we are sure that we are paying a fair price, so that the railway has a fair chance of carrying itself.

The Great The greatest danger, as we see Dangege it, is the price that the three arbitrators may place upon the 180 millions of preferred and common stock. Enough information has been brought out to show that this stock has very little value if any. Yet these three men have the power to fix the value of that stock at any amount up to 180 million of dollars, and Parliament is bound by what they say. This is all the more alarming when it is noted that the Minister of Railways expressed the opinion in Parliament that the arbitrators should be "generous" with the Grand Trunk shareholders. It really looks as though the Canadian people would once again be called upon to pay too much for their whistle. We may be making a bad bargain.

An Awkward The whole situation is embarrassing to the friends of public ownership. We believe the Grand Trunk should be acquired in order to make the National railways a success. The C. N. R., which we already own, is weak in its eastern connections and strong in the west, while the G. T. R. is strong in the east and weak in the west. Together, the two would make a complete system. But to take a chance at throwing away another hundred millions or so of the people's money makes the most ardent advocate of nationalization pause.

The Commons will no doubt pass the bill. What the Senate will do is unknown, but it is altogether likely that the Grand Trunk Railway system will become the property of the people of Canada.

OUR DAILY BIRTHDAY PARTY

John Philip Sousa, famous bandmaster and composer, born in Washington, D. C., 65 years ago today.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, the once famous pianist, now the patriotic premier of Poland, born in Russian Poland, 59 years ago today.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, who commanded the Russian armies in the early part of the war, born in Petrograd, 63 years ago today.

Holman, F. Day, author of historical romances and stories of Canada and the north woods, born at Vassalboro, Maine, 54 years ago today.

For Obvious Purposes.

First Urchin—Bet you don't know what that thing in front of the engine is. It's a cowcatcher.

Second ditto—Gwan! They don't need cowcatchers on milk trains.

Successful Season.

"What kind of a summer did you have?"
"Splendid, dearie. I got engaged six times."

"Any of them for keeps?"

An Indefinite Stay.

"Here's a modern wedding announcement."
"What about it?"
"It says the happy couple will live at the home of the bride's parents until they can find a house or a flat they can rent."

Modern Simplicity.

"What a beautiful gown you have."
"My dear, it's really a very simple little thing and most inexpensive. I paid only $135 for it, would you believe it?"

Tell it to Them.

"Money isn't everything in this life."
"Try to convince the profiteers of that, will you?"

A Star-Gazer.

"He's always star-gazing."
"Where?"
"In the front row at the theatre, usually."

Give and Take.

The Dentist—Keep very still. I'm taking great pains with this operation.
The Victim—I'll bet you're not taking near the pains you're giving.

Preferred Her Boarder

In the soft firelight the boarding house sitting room looked cozy and attractive. The warmth and comfort thawed the heart of the oldest lodger.

In an expansive moment he turned toward the landlady, who was his only companion in the room, and, clasping her hand fondly, murmured:
"Will you be my wife?"

The woman did not start or blush.
"No sire," she replied with calm deliberation. "I'm sorry, but I cannot marry you. You've been here four years, and you are much too good a boarder to be put on the free list."

Steady Employers

Smith—Who are you working for now?
Jones—Same people—wife and five children—The Passing Show.

Another Substitute

Binks—The undershirt to that chicken pie you brought me was abominably tough.
Waiter—There wasn't any undershirt to that pie, Sir; it was served on a paper plate, and you've eaten it.—Detroit News.

Kindness to Auntie

Bix—So your friend became wealthy through a sudden upward movement in oil? What oil stock did he buy?
Dix—He didn't buy any. A rich old aunt tried to start a fire, with a can of it.—Boston Transcript.

Something to Worry About

"There goes Mr. Sharp. I wonder how he made all his money?"
"Heaven knows!"
"Ah! that must be why he always looks so worried!"
The passing Show.

Parents, friends, this girl needs Ferrozone—needs it that her blood may be renewed—needs it to restore the nerve force that growth, study and the development of her fresh youth have exhausted. In Ferrozone every girl finds strength—then she can do things. In Ferrozone there is endurance—that drives away morning tiredness and languor. THE PRIDE OF LLEWELLYN

By Mrs. E. Southworth

At first their embrace was a close, fervent, silent pressure of heart to heart, and then both spoke at once. "Oh, Gladys!" "Oh, Arthur!" "Oh, what a happiness to meet you again, my love!" "Oh, thank Heaven that you are here at last, dear Arthur!" "But you are so pale, my darling! Have you been ill, Gladys?" "Oh, no, but I have suffered so much I have been so anxious about you for six months I did not get a letter!" "Why, I wrote to you by every ship I wrote even up to the last week before I sailed, by the Paeacock which sailed five days before us and got into port ten days before us. You should have had a letter about twice a month, regularly, and you should have had one within the last week!" "I have had none for the last half year!" "There must be some foul play here that shall be inquired into," said the young man with a frown. "Oh, no. Who would be so guilty?" "Whoever it was shall be punished for all they have made you suffer my darling. And oh how much of suffering your poor little face reveals!" said the young man taking her hand between his hands, and gazing tenderly upon her. "Oh, it is not anxiety about not hearing from you that caused the worst of my suffering, dear Arthur, for, although I could not hear from you I was sure you were on your way home, and that comforted me. But yesterday, Arthur—only yesterday—I heard for the first time of that cruel letter that was written to you?"

The young man's face grew dark. "Ah, that letter! Who forged that letter, Gladys?" he inquired sternly. "Oh, then you do not believe that poor papa wrote it?" exclaimed Gladys in pleased surprise. "Certainly not. Do you?" "Oh, Arthur I do not know what to believe. I am perfectly confounded. But if papa did not write the letter or letters—for there were two of them, one being addressed to 'me—who did?' " "Ah, that is the question!" "Arthur I don't believe papa wrote those letters, and yet I don't dare to believe that he didn't." "Why, Gladys, don't you dare to believe that he didn't?" "Why, because my Aunt Llewellyn says that he wrote them and gave them to her to deliver." "Gladys, who is Mrs. Llewellyn?" inquired the young man. "Oh, she is an angel, Arthur!" "Very possibly. But what is she to you?" "Oh, of real kin, you know! She is only the widow of poor papa's half-brother—I but for all that, she has been an angel of goodness to me all! She came without waiting to be sent for, directly after poor mama's death, and took charge of everything, and kept house for papa until his death. And now she is so good as to stay and take care of me. Yes, she is a penitence of me, I believe!" "Yes, I believe so." "With a portionless son?" "Yes." "Whom she wishes to provide for by marrying him to you?" "Oh, Arthur, how absurd! James Stukely is nothing but a boy, and a half idiot at that!" said Gladys, laughing. "He is now sixteen years of age, and a freshman at the University of Virginia." "But for all that, I tell you, he is a half idiotic boy. And the idea of his marrying anybody is preposterous!" "Yet his mother intends that he shall marry you and come into possession of the Kader Idris estates!" "Oh, Arthur, how ridiculous!"

His mother never breathed such a thing!" "No, perhaps not, but she put it into the letter she had written to me." "Arthur, dear, do you believe that Aunt Llewellyn had anything to do with those letters beyond receiving them and mailing yours and delivering mine?" "I can believe any and everything, of any and everybody I easily than I can believe that our poor, dear, father could be guilty of writing those letters!" "I am so glad to hear you say so, Arthur I for to tell you the truth I agree with you although I should have been afraid to express myself as you have done." "Gladys, of course, then you do not mean to be governed by those letters?" "Of course not, unless I could be convinced that they are all genuine." "That you will never be. On the contrary, you will soon be convinced that they are base forgeries. For I mean to sift this matter to the bottom. And by all that is high and holy, good and true, when I discover the forgeries who have dared to desecrate the name and memory of the dead, I will prosecute them—be they men or women, high or low, with the utmost rigor of the law. Gladys, have you that letter about you?" "The one that was written to me?" "Oh, yes." "Give it to me, my dear." "I will, when we get to the house, dear Arthur. It is better for us to go at once." "And be confronted with Mrs. Llewellyn?" "Ah, no! She is spending the forenoon in her room writing." "Very well, then, my darling, we will go up to the house." CHAPTER III. Face to Face. Lemuel, the hall footman, who in boyhood had been the constant attendant of young Powis in all his rural sports, was standing at the front door. Immediately recognizing the newcomer, he impulsively ran out to greet him with a joyous yet respectful welcome. "Well, Lem, old fellow, is that you? How does the world go with you?" inquired the young sailor, cordially shaking the hand of his humble friend. "Ups! down, Marse Arthur, sir, very ups! down, indeed, since the old marse and missis done parted this life. Glad to see you back again, however, sir, and hopes now afore long, as dere'll be another young marse and missis ober de ole hall, to reign ober us all and put things to rights," answered Lemuel, liberally displaying two rows of ivory in a jet black setting, as he grinned from ear to ear. "Thank you for your good wishes, old fellow. I hope so, too," replied the young man good-humoredly. Lemuel, with much formality, now led the way to the drawing-room, and, with a grand flourish threw open the door. "Shall I denounce your revival to de madam, sar?" inquired Lemuel, with a succession of bows. "No, certainly not. I understand that Mrs. Llewellyn is engaged in her own apartment. Do not disturb her on any account," said the young man. Lemuel paused with the door in his hand, as if he waited and wished to do something to show his devotion to the guest. "You may bring some wine and sandwiches here, directly. But stay, Arthur, perhaps you would like to go to your room first? You know where to find it. It is your old room, kept ready for you all the time. Lemuel will attend you," said Gladys.

The Refinement of Purity

CAREFUL cooks know the value of purity. In the making of cakes or pastry they use those ingredients which they believe to be pure and wholesome.

To apply this "insistence on purity" to sugar, is no easy matter—for nearly all sugars look alike to those not expert in detecting variation. The safe course is to use a sugar that comes from refineries in which purity is a boast.

In the Dominion Sugar refineries the boast is backed by a standing invitation to the public to visit and inspect the plants in which Dominion Crystal Sugar is made.

In Dominion Crystal Sugar the housewives of Canada have one sugar that can be depended upon for that purity which is so essential to successful culinary effort.

This is the only sugar that may be rightly termed "Canadian from the ground up." We do import the finest raw cane sugar and refine it—but our pride is in the product we make from Canadian sugar beets.

Wash Day and Backache

WASH day is the least welcome day of the week in most homes, though sweeping day is not much better. Both days are most trying on the back.

The strain of washing, ironing and sweeping frequently deranges the kidneys. The system is poisoned and backaches, rheumatism, pains in the limbs result.

Kidney action must be aroused—the liver awakened to action and the bowels regulated by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This favorite prescription of the well-known Receipt Book author will not fail you in the hour of need.

Winter Hats are Graceful

by Hester
Winthrop

A Long,
Thick Plume
of Uncurled
Ostrich Blends
with the Soft Lines
of the Velvet Crown
and Brim.

High and Some Are Tip-Tilted—Purple Grapes and Velvet In a Theatre Toque.

So soft are the outlines of the winter hats that many of them,
off the head, look like a handful of rich fabric on which a plume has been tossed. It is hard to imagine the mass of soft material is a hat.
But once on the head, behold the beautiful fabric takes on perfect and lively lines, framing the face with enchanting becomingness while the casually adjusted plume slants or curls
at a rakish angle which gives definition—and oh such smartness—to the whole.

The other day one woman came upon another who is notable for her stunning millinery. Every hat the latter woman wears seems to be exactly right according to fashion's latest mandate. When the caller arrived she was busily ripping out the inside of her last winter's velvet tricorne.
"What on earth are you doing with that hat?" was the question put to
her. "Why, I'm taking out the backram lining," replied the busy one serenely. "All the new hats are soft,
floppy affairs you know, with the material draping itself unsupported. I fancy, without the buckram foundation
under the crown this particular buccon which I always loved—it was so comfortable—it will be exactly right for this season." And it was. When she pulled the spineless hat on her head, giving a twist to the brim here
and a yank to the crown there, resulted a stunning soft-crowned model with a brim that turned back from the face at just the right slant. It is all in the line, you see, this year, and in the way the hat fits the head. Provided

Dainty

The Big Crown is of the brim is right and the crown is soft, almost any hat will look correct

—when correctly put on.

Low Crowns Softly Draped

You will immediately note the low crown on the hats pictured today.
But most of these crowns if supported by stiff foundations would be considerably higher than they are. There is plenty of material in them, but the material crumples down to give the correct draped effect. If there are brims, the brims are also soft in line. Even the big hats with sailor brims give this soft effect because the brims are made of supple, flexible stuff covered with rich material, and they droop gracefully under the weight of some trimming or under the weight of their own handsome fabric. Sometimes the draped crown of a tam is pulled much higher on one side than the other and stayed with an upright feather—but there is never height on both sides.
Lewis has brought out a tam model of cinnamon brown velvet which has a deep mushroom brim fluted a little along the right side and lifted to show the hair. On the same side the full tam crown of velvet is pulled up to a peak and a pair of golden brown quills pointing skyward increase the effect of height—and also support the pulled-up velvet. At the opposite side, where the brim slants downward, the velvet crown droops over, almost covering the brim.

Feathers Rest Against the Neck
Ostrich plumes curl around the neck
hats and snugly against the wearer's cheek and neck, an effect that is usually very becoming since it makes a charming frame for the face. Such a hat is pictured in the model of marine blue velvet with a long uncurled ostrich plume in soft gray. The feather

starts at the front of the hat, passes
around the left side where the brim rolls up slightly, and comes around to the right side of the hat under the brim, the tip of the long feather curling against the wearer's neck and cheek. Such a hat is not intended for wear with a veil which would spoil the soft, fluffy effect of the ostrich plume. Sometimes a feather is caught to the hat on the right side and makes no pretense of passing around the crown. A rather short, thick ostrich tip is used in such a case, and the end of the feather is securely sewed under the brim, the fluffy tip of the feather
curling downward over hair and neck.
A pretty model of this type is a low-crowned tam of blue velvet embroidered all over with silver thread. A black ostrich tip curls downward co-quettishly over the right ear.

Feathers and Fur Often Combined

Now that November is here, fur is beginning to appear on millinery and from present indications fur-trimmed hats are going to be smarter than all-fur hats. Very rich are the combinations of molekin, kolinsky and beaver
with metal brocade in glowing colors.
One model with a rather deep urban brim of kolinsky has a draped crown
of tomato and gold velvet brocade,
and a feather in the gorgeous tomato red shade curls downward over the right ear. These fur brims are made to look soft by pleating the fur, or lapping it casually and tacking down the laps here and there. The hat brim fluted at one side has been referred to earlier. This pleated or lapped effect in a fur brim is shown in the toque of molekin and duvetyne
and the effect is much softer than a straight-around band of molekin rising from the face. This hat has a gray coq feather placed oddly upside-down at the right side—another very smart touch.

When fur and feathers are used together both are added with discretion for too much fur and feathers could spoil any hat. An example of what a fur and feather trimmed model ought to be is shown in the delightful
little hat for restaurant and theatre
wear. The muff is made of mink stripes separated by stripes of dark brown velvet—so that it may be used with various costumes. Mink is used in the little theatre hat also and the mink
bands alternate with folds of deep blue velvet, the fold nearest the brim being looped up under a sparkling earring of brilliants. A mass of blue ostrich tumbles over the back of the hat and rests on the hair. A hat of this sort must be very cleverly built,

not to look bulky on the head; and the pictured model is a masterpiece
all soft lines, lightness and grace. In spite of the velvet, fur and feathers
used for such a small turban.
An excellent model, if one notes on feathery trimming, is pictured in the looked beaver turban with shaded plumes arranged on top. The handsome feathers cover the top of the hat
entirely and one of the plumes curls backward, nodding smartly at the rear. Here again is an instance of well-planned lines though the feathers
seem to be carelessly put on the hat.

wear a veil with a fur hat, for the veil was sure to flatten the nap of the fur brim and make a hard outline.
This year's fur hat is mostly crown
and underneath is a narrow velvet
brim which seems just made to support the veil. A fetching model is pictured; a tam of gray squirrel with a tiny brim of black velvet to which is sewed a short veil of chantilly lace.
Under the squirrel crown a deep blue faillie ribbon is drawn and is tied in a pert bow at one side. The gray squirrel hat matches a gray squirrel stole-wrap, but the little hat would be equally charming in mink or kolinsky.

Large Hats Have Picture Lines
It must be admitted that small hats of delectable style are preferred by fashion just now, but she smiles too
upon large hats and many of these are noted with formal costumes in the afternoon. Of course, the large hat does not look well with a veil—and veils are very much the thing at this moment, but if you are of the type which looks best in a big hat, by all means have one. And have it mostly shape and lines with a feather in just the right place. Very stunning is the big velvet sailor with a feather at the edge of the brim. The hat is made of brown velvet and the rather scraggly,

but excessively smart plume is in shades of buff and canary yellow. Another big hat is made of black panne velvet and has no trimming save a big jet-handled pin thrust through the crown at one side. One of the likable little theatre hats of the season has a low crown of ermine (to match an ermine wrap), and a draped brim
made of purple velvet and purple
grapes, the grape clusters following the draped folds of velvet around the hat.

WHY LINEN HAS NO SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE DINING TABLE
DURING the war, various substitutes in the way of tablecloths
and napkins were put out by enterprising manufacturers but the average housekeeper did the best she could with linens on hand, painstakingly darning and mending worn and frayed fabrics, biding her time until linen should again be released by the Government for her use. The time has come and every day, in the shops,
one sees the thankful housewife bartering over freshly arrived supplies of tablecloths, napkins and towels, fangling with delight the smooth, beautiful texture and admiring the new patterns. Leaf effects are especially popular now and of these the handsomest is the oak leaf design.

INDIVIDUALITY IN NEW SASHES

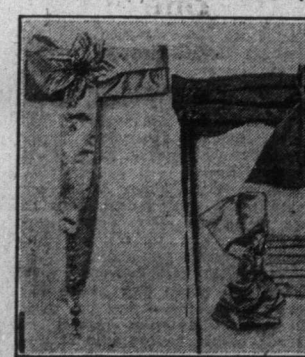

If a sash does not count one-half
in the smartness of a costume, it counts at least a third. Many frocks are being made without sleeves, but rare indeed is the frock that has not some sort of sash. And when one sees the term sash, just now, anything that goes around the waist—or the hips—by way of ornament is indicated.
Sashes are strings of beads,
bands of gauze, ropes of silk thread,
parlances of flowers—and dozens of other things. Indeed anything that can be passed around the waistline
and draped at one side is a sash, these days; and it does seem as though the designers of frocks were vying with each other to produce hitherto unheard of kinds of sashes.

One of the oddest sashes of the season has been made by Worth. Of course, it adorns a black evening gown.
When you are in Paris and desire a black evening gown, you go to Worth.
Thousands and thousands of black sinner and dance gowns has this counter designed, and each has always been more stunning than the last. The Worth gown with the sash just referred to has a skirt of black velvet, bowed out around the waistline in cartridge pleats. The bodice is of black tulle suspended by shoulder straps, and this swathed tulle bodice above the cartridge-pleated velvet skirt makes the waistline look very tiny. Now for the sash! It is made of a strip of black raised ribbon, two inches wide and about three or four yards long and sapphire colored beads

are sewed closely along each edge of the sash. The beads are of two sizes, one large and one small, and the sash, is placed across the top of the bodice in front and the ends are carried back and brought around again; back again, and around again,
the sash and beads ribbon crisscrossing
the tulle swappings of the bodice so that it outlines the figure like a corset. The two ends of the ribbon are fastened in front, one above the waistline at the right, the other end below
the waistline at the left, each end under a big sapphire bead ornament.

Another French evening frock of black tulle and satin has a sash made of brilliant rhinestones. Two strands of the rhinestones pass around the waist and the sashends are of black gauze ribbon with rhinestones sewed along either edge. The frock has also rhinestone shoulder straps. Many of the sashes made of ribbon and silk have bead-embroidered motifs. A sash of black satin ribbon has ends shaped into rounded tabs and each tab is decorated with a big embroidered rose, done in bright green beads. A white sash has a white bead flower on each end. Beaded sashends of this sash is on the figure the contrasting

colors show up very well. One can have most of the black side out, or
most of the colored side, as desired.
Ribbon sashes, however, seem to meet fashion's requirements best. Ribbons for making up sashes, and sashes already made up are displayed at the ribbon counters and many of these ribbons are superbly handsome. The sashes alternate with folds of deep blue
velvet, the fold nearest the brim being looped up under a sparkling ear-
ring of brilliants. A mass of blue
ostrich tumbles over the back of the

a seam in it through the center for the
would appear very extravagant to purchase enough satin in two shades to make the full length of one of these sashes—about three yards—and then have about half the satin left over all the way down the strip. The high priced ready-made sashes are not seamed in this way, but then, of course, the manufacturer makes up several sashes at a time and wastes none of his material. The two strips of satin are sewed together, then the long tube is turned over, inch by inch until the right side is out. Then comes the pressing. Now a sash of this sort is not pressed with the seams at the top and bottom edges. The "tube"
is flattened down on the ironing board
so that the upper seam comes about two inches down on the side of the sash toward you, and this sends the lower seam two inches up on the opposite side. The sash is pressed in this way, the ends are gathered and finished with tassels, and when the

sash is on the figure the contrasting
colors show up very well. One can
have most of the black side out, or
most of the colored side, as desired.

For there were a dozen such scraps,
tossed carelessly in one of those odd-
lot, bargain baskets they have on ribbon counters. Then the tag was looked at casually and the "bit of ribbon for a bag" was hastily abandoned.
The bargain price for that half yard
of ribbon was $4.65, but oh, the colors
were gorgeous and alluring!
Rainbow ribbons are specially good for sashes. They have a beautiful texture and a very rich luster. Several sashes made of rainbow ribbon
are pictured, and some of these sashes
show the amount of work designers now put in small details of dress. But the most important is a very important dress-detail this season!
One of these sashes has a pretty bow shaped like a six-pointed star, or if you prefer, like a daisy. Another sash in the same illustration is of Nattier lace faille ribbon with a crescent of pink roses toward the front.
A strip of black velvet ribbon goes through the center of the blue sash, passing under the rose garland. Beneath this sash is a dainty model of pink ribbon in two shades. The ribbons are pleated to make the girde

part and over the pleats is an applied bowknot of narrower ribbon.
Also in two shades of pink. At the extreme right of this picture is a very handsome sash of black moire ribbon
with an applique ornament of silk embroidery and beads. One end of this sash has a tassel, the other end is cut straight across.

At the top of the other picture is a sash of black velvet ribbon with a facing of cerise satin on the girde part.
Across the front of the girde is a strip of heavy lace fastened to the black velvet under garlands of cerise colored roses. Below this sash is a graceful, draped affair of flowered ribbon and narrow velvet ribbon. This way of draping, instead of knotting
the sashend, is worth special study.
In the same picture are satin ribbon
sashes for dance frocks.

A Bag Made Out of a Dress Hat

SURELY this is the most individual handbag yet—a good looking bag
made of the oddest material in the world for a handbag, the oddest cover of a man's silk beaver top-hat! The little woman who carried the bag at an afternoon bridge the other day smiled all to herself when several other women exclaimed over her unusual bag and told her how perfectly stunning it was. At last she divulged the secret: "Why, it's made out of George's old dress hat!" she told them, merrily. "George was going to throw the hat away because its shape was out of style, but I had one of my bright ideas. I got the silk beaver cover off. It took a little time
but there was no particular difficulty
about it—the silk beaver peeled off
the lining inch by inch when I worked at it. Then I put in this green and gold bead embroidery border design.
Right through the center of the crown
—or rather of the bag, that was to be

Then I made a lining of white satin,
put a casing at the top, ran in this
green and black silk cord and added
some tassels—and there you are!"
The new sort of reticule was so good looking that every woman in the room resolved to go home and hunt up her husband's dress hat—even if he had to go out forthwith and buy another.

OVERNIGHT BAGS DAINTEST OF LUGGAGE

ANY woman who does not own an overnight bag should ask for one forthwith, as her next birthday or anniversary gift. These smart and dainty little traveling bags are a wonderful comfort and convenient and they hold a number of things—quite enough for an overnight stay anywhere. Around the sides of the bag
are the toilet fittings; brush, comb,
hand-mirror, manicure implements,
vanity belongings and covered jars for toothpowder and perfume. In the center is space for a folded nightgown, negligee of soft fabric, bed room slippers and a fresh blouse—provided the latter is of Georgette or crepe de chine or other soft stuff. A very good looking overnight bag of shiny black vachette leather with lining of deep blue, purple or buff colored moire, and fittings of imitation ivory costs between five and ten dollars and is a charming gift to present to any woman.

HANDY GARMENT HANGERS MADE OUT OF NEWSPAPER

THE next time you happen to be in a hotel room—or even in somebody's guest-room—and wonder how you are going to hang up your new coat or your frock or blouse without ruining the lines, because nobody has thought of dress-hangers, remember about newspaper hangers. All you have to do is to make a long, compact roll of a newspaper folded in half, tie a bit of string, or folding an ering, a bit of ribbon, around the center of the roll and hang the roll up by a loop of the string or ribbon. You have a very practical garment hanger,
about a fifteen inches long, which will support your frock, coat or blouse beautifully. Half a dozen of these hangers can be made in ten minutes.

The Merchants' Column

Edited by Mansfield F. House

In this column, which appears every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, will appear news and short articles of special interest to merchants, their salespeople and business men and women in general. The column is devoted to management—buying, accounting, advertising and retail salesmanship—will be dealt with, not too reticently, but by descriptions of methods actually in use by successful merchants.

NEW BUSINESS CODE SEEN IN CO-OPERATION.

Co-operative advertising, such as that introduced for the first time in New England by the Olneyville, R. I., Business Men's Association, must be taken up in every community sooner or later. Horace G. Becker, chief clerk of the Town Criers of Rhode Island, told the retail merchants' division of that organization at a recent meeting.

The Olneyville co-operative advertising scheme—a pooling of funds by retail merchants for advertising a suburb of this city—has attracted much attention throughout New England and has added thousands of dollars' worth of business to the various retail firms of that community.

The scheme is previously explained, is one whereby retail merchants contribute to a yearly budget expended for advertising Olneyville as a good place to trade, for advertising to show the value of "buying at home."

In his recent address, Mr. Belcher said: "One of the most interesting features of modern business has been the changes it has undergone within the last few years in respect to business ethics. In nothing else, it seems to me, had the advancing spirit of the times been so adequately reflected as in the changed attitude of the business man, little or big, toward his customers, his competitors and his employees. It is an interesting question how far this movement is to extend and how comprehensive the business motto of 'service' is to become. For the individual definition of 'service' is the differentiation between business men of to-day, and on this bedrock of 'service' rests modern business."

"It is generally admitted that the world is growing better every day, and it usually is considered that business morality, business ethics, business practice is advancing as a result."

"Is public opinion shaping the new business policy, or is the new business policy shaping public opinion? In all probability it is a combination of both—although the average man would be apt to look at it from his own point of view and to maintain that the changes realized have been forced from outside, a conclusion which is far from being in line with the facts. "The greatest change of all is the change in the standard of business honesty in the replacement of the old attitude of 'Do others or they'll do you' with the newer one—by the modern adaptation of the thousand-year-old adage—'so as you would be done by.'"

He referred to the community advertising of the Olneyville Business Men's Association as a splendid example of this newer tendency in business and as a move resulting in immeasurable benefit to every business man and dweller in Olneyville.

SELLS MORE SUITS BY SHOWING RIGHT SIDE.

A suit of men's clothes draped on the left, states John F. Loock, display manager of George's clothing store, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Here's the way he explained it before the display men's convention at Chicago: "The average clothing house has a button designer—a man who designs buttons to harmonize with each suit designed. Now the store doesn't have any buttonhole designer, so why should you show up the left side, where the button holes are, when there's

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

Turkish women eat rose-leaves with butter to secure plumpness. In London, ladies' maids who are also qualified to run a lady's automobile are paid an extra high wage.

Woman is a subject never mentioned in Morocco. It would be a terrible breach of etiquette to ask a man after his wife or wives.

In Chile, it is customary, whenever a stranger is received in the house for each of the ladies of the family to offer him a rose.

The Presbyterian Woman's Board of Foreign Missions is considering plans for a formal celebration of the society's golden jubilee next spring.

Girls attending a prominent school in Brooklyn have just received a tragic blow. Cosmetics, short skirts and open work waists have been banned by the school authorities.

In Sweden, young girls place under three cups a ring, a coin, and a piece of black ribbon. If the ring is first accidentally exposed, she will be married within a year, if the money, she will get a rich husband, if the ribbon, she will die an old maid.

In Korea, the women are taught to shun the opposite sex from their earliest girlhood. Their seclusion is carried to the utmost limit. Out of doors the women usually wear a green mantle which covers the whole countenance except the eyes. Nor do they willingly let even their eyes be seen.

TEN SOURCES OF LIVE MAILING LISTS

The compilation of a live mailing list becomes comparatively easy when the merchant sells principally to a special trade or profession, but the merchant who sells the general run of regular people has a little harder job.

Here are ten suggestions by Julian M. Solomon, manager of the exhibitors' service department of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. It's the way the movie houses get up their lists, and most of the ten suggestions will convey valuable hints to the average merchant.

First. From local dealers. It's a case of swapping lists between two or more sellers of different types of goods to the same class of customers.

Second. From Blue Book and Social Register. These publications give the names, addresses and lines of business of prominent people. They are valuable when it is desired to reach a social or money class.

Third. From society columns of the newspapers. Here again it is a case of a rule. The announcements of weddings, dances and other functions at least convey a pretty good hint as to who is spending money for jewelry, food, clothes and a host of other articles of merchandise.

Fourth. From canvases by boys. The children of a neighborhood may be put to work this way by the offer of prizes. Often the local Boy Scouts organization is glad to undertake it in return for a donation of some sort to the organization. In this case printed slips, for name, address and telephone number should be distributed to the canvassers.

Fifth. From the telephone book. This is a fairly accurate guide to substantial and within periods of publication (three or four times a year) is up to date. If a neighborhood list is desired the compiler may run down the telephone number column skipping all but the local exchanges. It's a process that's somewhat tedious, but it yields a big list, with the phone numbers as well as addresses. Of course, the classified sections of the directories look for themselves. They are ready-made.

Sixth. Through newspaper advertisements. If the merchant is able to offer any inducements to prospects convincing them why they should be on his mailing list there is no better way to announce it than in a newspaper advertisement. This will bring in a list of genuinely interested ones.

Seventh. From membership lists of clubs, lodges and societies.

Eighth. From canvassers who also "sell" the store. If the right salesmen can be found it is often profitable to put one or two of them at work steadily over an extended period, in a house-to-house canvass. They make no attempt to take any orders unless the prospects themselves suggest it. They simply ask for names, and make some pertinent suggestion to the prospect as to reasons she might find it profitable to deal with the merchant in question.

Ninth. From the State Highway Department. A list of automobile owners may often be secured from this source.

Tenth. From the local librarian.

IF YOU HAVE DOUBT ASK YOUR BANK MAN

He Will Advise You What to do in regard to your Savings Account

If you have any doubts as to the advisability of taking your money out of the Savings Bank and investing it in Victory Bonds, ask your friend in the bank. He will tell you that you will make no mistake in buying the bonds. Your money will be earning more for you instead of for the bank. That is all the difference for there cannot be any doubt as to the Nation's promise to pay being as good as that of the bank.

If your money is left in the bank it will be badly earning three per cent. for you. If you put it into Victory Bonds it will be placed in circulation where it will earn you five and one half per cent. as well as maintaining for you what ever benefits you are receiving from the prosperous conditions prevailing from coast to coast. The latter fact is of great moment. Unless the Victory Loan 1919 proves to be a bumper, the prosperity of the country will be placed in jeopardy and you might soon find it necessary to withdraw your savings from the bank for a less pleasing purpose than that of buying Victory Bonds.

KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

The Shaving Service for Everyman—Everywhere.

The Psychology of a Clean Shave

(Part of an Editorial in Collier's)

Shaving as it is practiced today marks a step forward in civilization. This statement may sound ridiculous, but it isn't. Here's proof: Each of our soldiers who went abroad took as part of his regular equipment, and by order of his government, a safety razor.

There were two reasons, the military authorities say, why a soldier had to be clean shaven. First, it enabled the gas mask, which was worn almost constantly at the front, to fit more tightly over the face. Second, a clean shave kept up the morale of a soldier and of an army.

You know how it is yourself. You know the direct bearing a clean shave has on your personal morale. Compare the way you feel in making an important call or attending a special meeting when you are freshly shaved with the way you feel with a day's growth of stubble on your chin. There's all the difference in the world. It seems a trivial thing to have such an effect upon you, but for some psychological reason, it does have that effect—and you know it.

What has brought about this change in men's habits? It's not so long ago but that we can remember the beard in all its varying degrees of fulgence. Every family album shows how prevalent it was.

There are two reasons—just two:—The safety razor made shaving easy. It transformed shaving from a fairly long, decidedly unpleasant and slightly dangerous operation to one that was finished before the bath water had ceased running.

It saved time. Compared with the old style razor it saved several minutes. While individually these minutes may seem unimportant, taken in the aggregate, multiplied by the number of days in the year, and again by the millions of men who over to the use of the safety razor, the amount of time saved is enormous.

"Finished before the bath water had ceased running."

*In all the allied armies during the war, more Gillette Safety Razors were in use than all other razors put together.

†Keep count for one day of the number of times you stroke your chin. So many times do you develop confidence—or the reverse—according to the smoothness of your chin.

The Gillette not only makes shaving easy, but it abolishes stropping and honing—two exceedingly delicate operations in which few shavers are really successful.

‡Five dollars invested in a Gillette means ten minutes saved each day, or an ordinary day's working period saved every 48 days or so.

There is a Gillette dealer waiting to show you Gillette Safety Razor sets—today!

This is being done in the interests of the North Waterloo Victory Loan Campaign and he will visit Kitchener, Waterloo, Elmira, New Hamburg, Wellesley, Wilmot, Waterloo Township, etc.

Watch for this aviator. He is going to drop something that nearly everyone has, or should have.

THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM

Happily Stopped When He Began To Take "Fruit-a-tives"

3 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q.
"For a year, I suffered with rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief and thought I would never be able to walk again. One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it. The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the rheumatism left me."

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form. In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing. CAUTION:—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness. Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. While wispy, gray faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, healthy, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

TO GROW HAIR ON BALD HEADS Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That Works Fine.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness, and falling hair, who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness. And the attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hairs to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces, Lavender Compound, 2 ounces, Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.

THE COURSE TO TRADE WITH POLAND

CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSION GIVES INFORMATION.

Among the new states of Europe affording a field for Canadian trade, one of the most important will be Poland. According to information received by the Canadian Trade Commission, this new republic may become an important buyer of Canadian goods. Some of her requirements are machinery of all descriptions, agricultural implements, dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, railway material, automobiles, tractors, dyes and chemicals, fertilizers, pharmaceutical products and a variety of manufactured goods. On account of war conditions, up-to-date statistics on Poland's trade are not available. Three political divisions made up the country before the war. Congress Poland in 1912 imported a total of $228,000,000 worth and exported to the value of $306,000,000; the importation being chiefly agricultural products from Russia, coal, machinery, hardware, textiles, chemicals and a variety of manufactured goods from Germany. The total importation of Galicia in 1912 amounted to $200,000,000 and exports $95,000,000; the imports being chiefly mineral products, manufactured goods, textiles, furniture, automobiles, machinery and pharmaceutical products.

Poznan, West Prussia and Upper Silesia were parts of Poland incorporated in general trade statistics with the German Empire. Transportation statistics show that exports were chiefly agricultural and mining products, and imports—manufactured goods of all descriptions from Germany. The new status of the republic has not yet been determined in its entirety. The territorial limits as proposed by the Polish Delegation at the Peace Conference, however, would indicate an area of 170,000 square miles with a population of 35,500,000. Nearly 20,000,000 of these are of former Russian Poland, and the balance almost evenly divided between Germany and Austrian Poland. Polish industries increased considerably between 1900 and 1914. The beet sugar industry occupies a prominent place; the output, just before the war being 729,000 tons in a year. Other prominent industries are similar to those of Canada, including flour mills, textile factories, iron and steel factories, lumber mills, paper factories, tanneries and chemical plants. Judging from pre-war conditions, about 65 per cent. of the Polish people are engaged in agriculture; 14 per cent. in industry and mining; 8 per cent. in commerce; the remaining 13 per cent. in a variety of activities.

In addition to the advantages to be derived from her own resources, Poland is in a position to benefit greatly from its situation on the crossroads of trade connecting Central and Eastern Europe at the gateway of Russia. Canadian firms, by establishing connections in Warsaw, would also enjoy the opportunity of entering the Russian market with the opening of normal trade conditions in that country. It is the ambition of Poland to take the place of Germany in the transit business from and to Russia. Through her harbor Danzig she enters the way of international trade. Polish import restrictions are maintained to prevent importation of goods from undesirable or enemy sources, to control distribution and to eliminate dishonest speculation. An import license is required for nearly all imports. This license is issued by the Government Commission of Import Export, Warsaw, (Elektrarna 2). The goods should be consigned to the Polish Government Bureau of Purchasing Articles of First Necessity, in Danzig, with instructions as to the ultimate receiver of the shipment in Poland. The Polish Bureau is the successor to the Inter-Allied Relief Commission in Danzig, and attends to the safe transportation of the goods from Danzig to their destination. The Canadian Trade Commission is in a position to give detailed information as to how shipping documents should be made out to meet the requirements of the Polish Commission.

NEW HAMBURG

With the passing of Jas. Ratz, there is removed one of the few remaining pioneers of Waterloo County. Born on the Atlantic Ocean on Aug. 21st, 1828, while the family emigrated to this county from Hessen, Germany, the deceased reached the advanced age of 91 years, 2 months and 2 days. The family came to Waterloo and later settled in Woolwich Township where the deceased received his first schooling in the old log school house, which now stands in the Waterloo Park as a relic of the olden days. In 1856 he came to Wilmet and started the saw milling business at Pine Hill, in which he was very successful. In 1884 he retired from active work and removed to New Hamburg, taking an active part in the affairs of the village and serving on the Council Board. In religion he was a staunch adherent of the Evangelical church. He was twice married. His first wife predeceased him 14 years ago, and his second wife died in 1913. Senator Ratz, who was at home to attend the funeral of his father, returned to Ottawa a week ago Monday night. A week ago Tuesday morning fire was discovered in the Standard Bank office. A high wind was blowing at the time which threatened a serious conflagration. Fortunately the blaze was put out with buckets of water. Clayton Stumpf and wife of Kitchener, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Buckel. Reeve Debus and town clerk J. F. Katzenmeier attended a meeting of the Hydro Electric Association in Toronto a week ago Wednesday.

The large packing plant at Kensington, P. E. I., with almost all its contents was destroyed by fire. Employment bureaus report there is great difficulty in getting men to go into the lumber camps this season.

FLORADALE.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gingrich and Mr. Alb. Gingrich left for Grand Rapids to attend the funeral of their late brother, John Gingrich, who formerly owned the blacksmith shop in this village. Mrs. Wm. G. Brox and her mother spent last Tuesday with Sylvester Bowman's.

Mr. and Mrs. Levy Bowman visited Mr. Bowman's brother in Tavistock. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bergman visited friends and relatives in the neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mickus were the guests of John Stahlbaum. Mr. Wm. Ritter was a business visitor to Conestogo. Mr. Chas. Hartwig and family of Kitchener visited with Fred. Lasch's.

and Christ Hartwig's over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Pet. Schmehl and children visited relatives at Frezport. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham of Hawkesville were guests at A. J. Ruggie's. The Lutheran young people had an enjoyable eve with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mattusch on Halloween. Mr. Eddie Stumpf of Galt is at present visiting with his uncle William Stumpf.

Mrs. Lucy Anthony has moved into Phil. Sadtler's house. NEW GERMANY.

Last Thursday Wendel Beachy moved into the house bought from Clemens Bruder, the latter moved to Kitchener on Monday. A couple of young sports went hunting and brought home 40 rabbits.

Frank Scherrer raised some cabbage this year weighing over 15 lbs. Marie Zinger from Kitchener visited Miss Marie Becker.

Canada is to have her share of the United States coal output as before, Sir George Foster announces. Alex. Karolyk was murdered by his sons, aged fourteen and eleven, at their home near Poplar Field Manitoba.

FOUR REASONS WHY SHREWD MEN ARE BUYING VICTORY BONDS 1919

1. Security.

SHREWD men are buying Victory Bonds because Victory Bonds are backed by Canada's guarantee that she will repay the full amount stated on the face of the bond—the five-year bonds on November 1st, 1924; and the fifteen-year bonds on November 1st, 1934. And she not only binds herself to pay the money back, but she pledges all of her vast resources as security for her promise.

2. Income.

SHREWD men are buying Victory Bonds because the interest return is unusually good considering the absolute security. You will be paid 5½% per year on Victory Bonds—2½% more than you can get in the Savings Banks. Unlike many other investments, you have absolutely no worry as to the prompt payment of the interest.

3. Saleability.

SHREWD men are buying all the Victory Bonds they can pay for now and all they will be able to pay for during the next ten months under the instalment plan, because they know that if at any time they should need ready money they can sell them. There will always be a ready market for Victory Bonds.

4. Advancement in Price.

SHREWD men are buying Victory Bonds because they consider them to have an excellent prospect of advancement in price.

ALL of Canada's previous issues of Victory Bonds have advanced. You can sell your Victory Bonds 1917 and 1918 even in this short time—one and two years—and get more than par for them. What will Victory Bonds be worth when the world finally gets back to a normal basis—when interest rates come down—when Canada will be able to borrow again at 4%, or even less?

WAR conditions have created the opportunity for you to buy the very best of Government securities on unusually attractive terms. Do not miss such a good investment opportunity, but buy to your limit.

IN DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The following is a summary of reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The new winter wheat and rye are looking well topped and vigorous although considerable rye has been pastured this fall.

Root lifting is general. Lambton reports that the average run of sugar beets will be nearly fifteen tons an acre.

Hay is hard to procure, as owners do not seem to want to part with it. It sells at from $24 to $30 a ton. Farmers are also keeping most of their grain to feed to their stock.

Pastures have been in good condition for the time of year, and the milk supply has been fully normal. Brant reports that good grade dairy cows continue high in price, ranging from $120 to $170 even at auction sales.

While there are some complaints that many unfinished cattle are being marketed on account of the comparative scarcity of feed, the Lambton Representative states that large numbers of prime steers have been shipped from that county to Buffalo during the past two or three weeks, and also that buyers from as far as Boston, Mass., have been picking up some choice cattle. On the other hand, he adds that one firm in Petrolia has brought in seven carloads of young stock from the Northwest, most of them very promising animals.

Cooperative shippers in Dufferin recently sent out five carloads of live stock from Orangeville, in addition to shipments from that point by regular drovers.

Peel reports that at present there is a good demand in that county for heavy horses.

While hogs are being freely marketed on account of the scarcity of coarse grains, farmers recently seem more inclined to hold on to their brood sows. Little pigs in Brant are now selling at $14 a pair, but are quoted in Grey as low as $4 each.

Waterloo reports that live stock are going rather low in price at local sales, and cites good breeding ewes as selling at from $10 to $12 each.

A good supply of well cobbled ensilage is reported to be on hand, and more silos than usual have been put up in the western part of the province.

Fall plowing is well forward, as the ground has been working easily with timely rains and comparatively mild weather.

Underdrainage has been pushed in the Lambton district this season, and it is said that local tile yards cannot keep up with the demand.

Hastings reports a number of farms changing hands in that county "at stiff prices."

(By Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News)

It has been claimed in this report for some weeks past that shipments of steel coming to Canada from the U.S. strike zone did not bear out the contention made that production at mills was increasing quite rapidly. Figures of the past week have shown this to be increasingly so. Shipments are more tardy than ever, and there are places where not a pound of steel or plate has been received for almost three weeks.

One Canadian manufacturer returned this week from booking a nice line of tractor business in the Canadian West, and at once set to work to buy the material required to go ahead. On approaching the steel market he found that his troubles had only begun. He was not able to secure any material, nor was he able to get a delivery promise that would be of any assistance to him for purposes of winter manufacture.

The coal strike, if it lasts, will make matters worse, and may have the effect of putting new zest in the rather tired-out steel struggle. Steel mills use such a tremendous amount of coal that it is not possible to store a supply for any length of time. They depend, rather, on a steady supply coming in, the coal going directly and at once to their cooking plants.

Delivery dates are still some distance in the future on machine tools, and considerable business is being lost to some firms on that account. As a general thing a dealer acts as an exclusive agent, and if he cannot get anything better than a May delivery from his principals, he simply has nothing left but to pass up the business.

The scrap metal market is in a poor condition for the moment. Strikes, and talk of strikes has battered down any strength the market had. Buyers look for lower figures while sellers do not want to take the prices offered at present by the dealers. The result has been the bringing about of a condition not far removed from stagnation.

GALT G. A. A. PLANNING BIG BOXING EVENTS.

A most important meeting was held at the Galt Y. M. C. A. by the executive of the Galt Amateur Athletic Association to consider some problems of management, and proposed measures for the advancement of sport and athletics in the city. There were present W. W. Wilkinson, A. M. Edwards, Leon Shupe, J. A. Head, Herb Carter, James Fraser, Wylie Wilkinson, W. H. Patterson, J. W. Scott and P. H. Ohaple.

The first question discussed was as to the desirability of holding boxing bouts on a scale never hitherto attempted in this city or county, to be staged in the armories, as the cost of the same can only be met by a large attendance. The expressed determination of the association through its committee is to equal anything of the kind put before a Canadian audience, either in Toronto or Montreal. After hearing from the special committee, a motion was passed authorizing the prosecution of the enterprise, which is based in its present shape on the investigations of the delegation in charge. The information secured stiffened the executive in its determination to provide the fans with the best possibly display of muscular young Canada in exhibitions of the many art A resolution also added Messrs. James Fraser and Gladstone Main to the committee.

MORE HOCKEY MATERIAL.

Hamilton has secured another hockey player in the person of Mr. Leonard, of Kitchener, an employee of the Standard Bank.

Joe Benjamin, of San Francisco won from Joe Welling, of Chicago Newark.

Simmonds (Classics) v. Poole (Riversides), Fern Bull (Classics) v. Baird (Indians), Blackwith (Toronto) v. Smith (Woodstock) and Newton v. Donovan is Bill Breen's boxing card for his Woodstock Hockey Club at Woodstock Friday.

Brantford hockey prospects are not bright. Seattle has tendered contracts to seven players: Harry Holmes, goal, at Calgary; Frank Foyston, left wing, at Calgary; Jack Walker, rover, at Fort William, Ont.; Jim Riley, forward Nainimo, B. C.; Roy Riskey, defence, Vancouver, B. C.; Bobby Rowe, defence, Seattle and Muz Murray, spare, at Sault Ste. Marie Mich.

Thunder Bay will have four teams under the Canadian Amateur rules Schreiber, Ft. William, Veterans North End and Port Arthur. They will play six a side.

Hamilton Spectator—To read the long essays on clean sport from the pens of some of the Toronto writers would lead one to believe that the Argonauts were a bunch of Vassar college girls, and that swinging traquet, or playing seven up was their most strenuous pastime.

Hamilton Herald—Every year there is a demand for a uniform set of rules by which to govern Canada clubs. And each season there is nothing done.

The Big Four governors say that they are going to do their utmost to have the Interprovincial, O. R. F. U. and Intercollegiate bodies agree on one code, but until this is done the public that so dearly loves the game will not be satisfied.

The trouble seems to be that each union believes it has the greatest set of rules extant, and none want to have rules of the other two organizations substituted for theirs.

While this feeling is evident there will be no uniformity.

Peterboro, Presbytery has refused to sell Mill street church property in Port Hope for a cigar factory.

Could anything be more trying or more exhausting? Peps will and it! The Fine vapor breathed down the nasal passages when a Peps is dissolved in the mouth relieves the irritation, soothes the inflamed place and stops the cough. Mr. John Doussept of Little Current, Ont., says: "I was troubled with an irritating cough that kept me awake at night. Nothing I took gave me relief until I used Peps. This wonderful breathe-able remedy, however, has entirely rid me of the cough." For asthma, bronchitis, laryngitis, sore throat and colds use Peps. All dealers. 50c. box.

BY-LAWS AND AGREEMENTS THE ELMIRA-HAMILTON

Hydro Electric Commission Finds Electric Line Proposition. Report Presented to Meet

VOTE SUGGESTED FOR NEW Y.

The desired radial railway between Elmira and Galt, is not far distant. At New Year municipalities will be given an opportunity to vote their share of the liability of the guarantee of the line backed by the Ontario Government.

At a meeting of representatives of the municipalities held in the Galt City Council Chamber yesterday that acting on the request of the Beck informed municipalities the Hydro Electric Power Commission of a line from Guelph to Hespeler, P. allying the Grand Trunk line a short spur to Pusl connecting link between Blair and Preston. The line would pay. Accordingly by-laws will municipalities.

The proposed plan of the road, which will per engineering brains of the continent of North includes the electrification of the Grand Trunk B Galt and the operation of it by the Hydro Comm municipalities. It also includes the construction Commission of a line from Guelph to Hespeler, P allying the Grand Trunk line a short spur to Pusl connecting link between Blair and Preston. The line would pay. Accordingly by-laws will municipalities.

The proposed hydro radial according to o mitted at a meeting, will probably yield a yearly Engineers placed the total cost at $6,530,659, the route to be followed by the proposed road, bable revenue and of the service which could be tives of the 17 municipalities heard the report w quired when construction of the road might be co Chief Engineer F. A. Gaby, of the Hydro-mission, assured the representatives that the esti pared by experts from actual surveys, and Sir Ad the figures might be regarded as quite reliable. municipalities to build the line, he said, but allowe for themselves.

Agreements between the commission and the not handed out to the representatives, but it and will be mailed at once for consideration by These will be asked to submit the by-laws to the ary to authorize the expenditure required. Sir A actual construction would not then be delayed.

THE PROPOSED ROUTE.

The radial as at present planned will run fr through Kitchener. A line will run from Guelph, Hespeler, to connect with this, and will proceed to jeling the present Grand Trunk.

From Galt to Hamilton the proposed route is Dundas, but does not touch St. George or Lynder from these places were told that to take the $450,000 more than the present route, and the c would not justify the additional cost.

Galt's hopes of a street service in connection v not exactly fulfilled, though a subsidiary line al was mentioned as part of the general plan.

The municipalities that would be affected are Hamilton, Dundas, Township of Ancaster, West F North Dumfries, city of Galt, Preston, Waterloo I Hespeler, Kitchener, Waterloo, Elmira, Woolwich city and Guelph Township.

The following are figures as compiled by hydro engineers in connection with the proposed radial:

Total cost.....	$6,530,659
Revenue—Passengers.....	754,803
Freight, etc.....	216,944
Total.....	$971,247

Expenses—Operating.....	416,342
General.....	152,028
Interest.....	326,533
Total.....	$894,903

Leaving yearly surplus..... $76,344

The estimates provide for 80-pound rails and the best of construction of bridges, culverts and crossings. The rolling stock would be the same as that used on the London & Port Stanley Railway, including 14 passenger cars, five locomotives, five trailers and 100 freight cars.

Hourly service would be given over the whole line and more frequently than that where required, such as between Kitchener and this city.

Engineers and speakers will be available for municipalities which wish to discuss the proposal, and these will urge the towns and townships to get all the data at once and submit the by-laws as soon as possible.

In the case of a municipality failing to take its allotment of the cost the others may absorb it, and service and rates will be supplied to the delinquent municipality "as to an ordinary customer of a steam road."

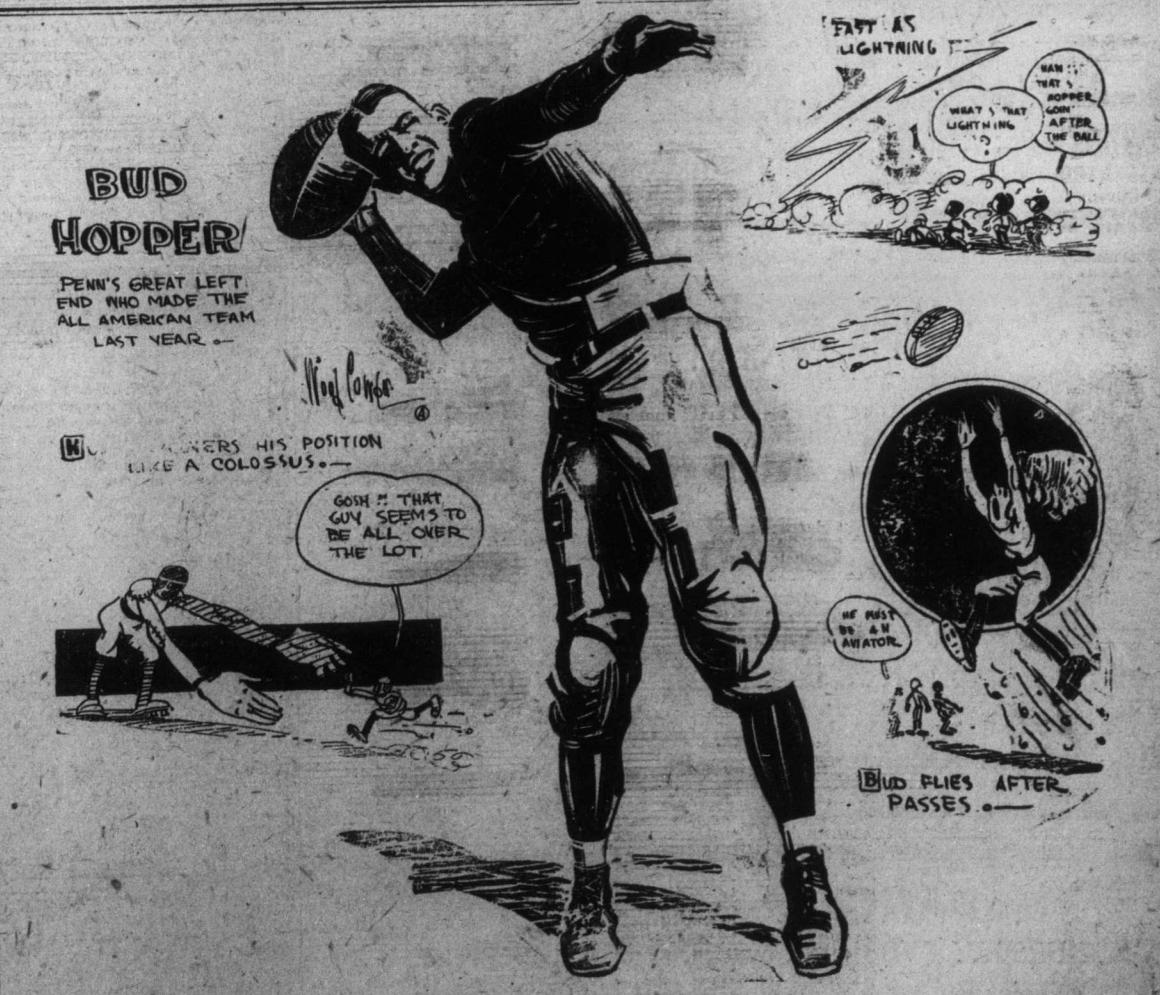

ST. GEORGE'S CASE.

Mr. John Malcolm, of St. George, asked Sir Adam why the Village of St. George had not had careful consideration in the radial proposals. He asserted the engineers had not made an adequate survey. Mr. Gaby replied that from a careful investigation they had found St. George to be miles out of direct route and that it would mean an additional cost of $450,000 on account of grades, to run the line in that direction. Another St. George representative assured Sir Adam that the line, if it went by St. George, Troy and Lynden, would tap a rich district and would pay better than the route

Bud Hopper, Penn's left end, made the All-American team last year and hopes to repeat the act. Hopper is as different from his other wing-mate, Miller, as daylight is from darkness. Bud is six feet tall and weighs but 145 pounds. He is like greased lightning with his feet, and fields passes like Ty Cobb fields his position in baseball. It was his ability to hawk the ball while in full flight, that caused him to be selected as one of the best players in the country last year. He got thirty-five per cent of the fumbles made by Penn's rivals last season and it was his first year on the Varsity. Connie Mack wanted Hopper for his ball club this year, but the youngster will play college ball until his graduation. He is a cracker jack, all-round player, but prefers the Varsity. Two lives were lost in an early morning hotel fire at Belmont, Man-toba.
