Sir Charles-Rivers Wilson was asked if the board proposed to enter into the old charges of fraud against the formissionaries. Canon Gore and Sir mer board, to which he replied that it Keneway, M.P., of the committee, apwas not the intention of the board to pointed for the purpose, will call the bring this matter up again. Replying to another question, the president stated it was the intention of the four, to the matter, and will urge an board to work in harmony with the Traffic Association. Answering still another question, the president said the board had no intention of consolidating the capital of the various roads. A motion to lease the Hamilton and Toronto Railroad to the C. P. R. was then carried. The retiring directors and auditors were unanimously reelected.

Sir Rivers-Wilson said eleven months had elapsed since the board went into office. He admitted that the shareholders had a reasonable right to expect a more definite opinion of the prospects of the company than had been given to them in October, and asked the shareholders to consider the position of the board, which had succeeded to a heritage in the form of over-weighted capital and the burden of affiliated fines acquired at excessive cost. The shareholders, if they considered the extent and complexity of the system, would readily comprehend that progress must be gradual, and the efforts of the board to effect reforms must have time to develop. Despite an unusually severe winter, causing for days together a cessation of traffic, the earnings of the Grand Trunk had shown in the aggregate a steady increase over the returns of 1895. Another satisfactory feature was the improvement shown in the Chicago and Grand Trunk line. There were two directions in which they look to improve the financial situation, namely, the maintenance of rates on a fairly remunerative basis news of a terrific explosion in which a ratio of working expenses. The former, he said, could only be achieved by the loyal co-operation of the various competing companies forming the traffic association. To the work of the curtailment of expense with board's own administration of the affairs of the company, the efforts of the board would be continuously directed. The shareholders, he thought, in judging the results of the management of the Grand Trunk, ought to survey the conditions of the whole transatlantic railway system, crippled by adverse legislation, unsupported by public opinion, and suffering from the effects of bad trade and financial uncertainty, when they might congratulate themselves that the company had maintained its position. The attendance of directors and shareholders was large, and the vote on the adoption of the report unanimous. President Wilson added that the relations of the G. T. R. with the C. Two regiments revolted, and at a signal from their leader they seized the guns of the forts and proceeded to kill off all the officers and a new regiment of soldiers recently arrived. In the midst of the massacre a magazine exploded, and all hands were blown to pieces. Two battalions must have been wiped out of existence, as not a soldier lived to tell if the magazine went off by accident or designedly. All within a hundred yards of the magazine were killed by flying shells. The story of the mutiny is told by those who watched it from a distance. Besides an immense quantity of shells, 16,000 pounds of powder was stored in the powder room. One company fighting near the building literally disappeared from the face of the earth, not a trace of them being found. Capt. Kao, who was sent in command of the battalions, found them shockingly demoralized and all sorts of crimes were being practiced in the garrison town. His attempt at honest reform cost him his life. Rev. Robert Johnston Advises Conference on the Matter.

And Does Not Think There is Any Resolution Regarding the Question on the Books of the Ministerial Association.

At the regular meeting of St. George's Society last night the rules of order were suspended to allow press representatives and Rev. Robert Johnston to listen to the report of the committee baving in hand the matter of church the report of the sub-committee to which the matter had been referred. It first rehearsed what has already been made public, and went on to state:

"Your Rev. Dr. Daniel, First Methodist able to get one somewhere. Church, and stated the position of your society. After reflection he regretted his inability to conduct the special service owing to engagements for other services at that time, adding, however, that the resolution of the Ministerial Association would prohibit him from doing so were he otherwise free and a band went with the society.

"Subsequently your committee waited upon Rev. Mr. Pedley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, and stated your society's position plainly, and asked the favor of a special service they could not get a city minister they from him at his church. After consideration and consultation with the officers of his church he regretted his inability to comply with our request. "At this point your committee felt that their effort to obtain a special service in any city church would be fruitless, as all are under the rule of the Ministerial Association resolution prohibiting bands in society church parades on Sunday afternoons.

"Acting on what we understood to be the wishes of the members of St. George's Society and the Sons of England, your committee have procured the use of the Opera House, through the kind liberality of the manager, for a special service on Sunday afternoon, April 19, at 3 o'clock.

Your committee regret that the societies have been forced to this position through the mandatory resolution of the various Ministerial Associations of this city, which we do not feel morally or conscientiously bound to respect. (Hear, hear.) If the Ministerial Association are within their rights, they should go further and suppress Sunday entertaining and kindred frivolities now so prevalent. (Hear, hear.)

Ald. Skinner, in moving the adoption of the report, pointed out that the ociety had for the last 25 years made a practice of holding their parade after o'clock on Sunday afternoons, so that Sunday schools would 'not be interfered with. This he explained to refute an argument which had made much of by the Ministerial Association. He also asserted that many of the members of the society were strong supporters of city churches and would always be willing to obey the the Opera House and inducing some church mandates, irrespective of being particular clergyman tocoerced to abolish the life-long principle of parading to church with a band. He complimented Rev. Mr. Johnston on coming out to hear the pros and cons of the argument on such a wet night, and went on to Mr. Weld, "and I wish you would have speak of the general feeling citizens the courtesy to wait until you have had expressed against the stand taken by the ministers. St. George's Society was a christian association, relieving the needy, as Christ himself would, and he did not like being placed in the position of being antagonistic to the clergymen. "Are you going to fight the ministers?" some asked him. That was not a very nice question to be asked repeatedly on the street. He said that there was no rowdyism or levity in listening to a piece of sacred music. If the society did not relieve some of the distress prevalent it would be incumbent on the churches to do so.

Mr. Ed. Weld took much pleasure in seconding the resolution. The action of the Ministerial Association was almost too unreasonable to be true. He hardly thought the association would lay down such a hard and fast To a certain extent he sympathized with the action the ministers, especially in Setting themselves against Sunday funerals. Ministers had almost be added to the committee's report that the Opera House be used "in case no Members of St. George's Society had always behaved themselves when on parade. Those occasions had served to knit Englishmen closer together. As a society they did not make any money out of the parade, and as a body they ought to deprecate the acof the Ministerial Association. With reference to using the Opera "Bro. Bartra House, Mr. Weld said, "We will go. But Mr. Skinner.

W. H. Bartram regretted exceedingly that the society had been put on re-cord as having to go around importuning the various ministers. It was said that they had secured the Opera House, but nothing was said of secur-ing a minister. The Ministerial Association had probably passed the resolution in good faith, and the proper way for the society to place itself on at any rate, until we can discuss the record was not by attending church matter more fully, we will come and atat all. He did not approve of hold-ing the service at the Opera House and getting one minister to defy the the Ministerial Association to meet reliberal-minded than the rest. He went so far as to characterize the action of securing the Opera House as a silly way of protesting, and moved that the clause referring to the Opera House

They did not wish to engender a feeling of animosity with the clergymen, but St. George's Society had been parade. President George N. Sayers the first to come into conflict with the presided. Mr. George Pritchard read new rule of the Ministerial Association. He was applauded on saying

Mr. James Carter said that the Sons of England would meet tonight and strike committees relative to the church parade, and they wanted to know definitely what St. George's Society would do.

John Sussex favored going to church without a band for one church service, and doubtles the ministers could be induced to rescind the obnoxious resolution. He was opposed to going to the Opera House.

Mr. H. T. Smith said that the society was not anxious to go to the Opera House. They would prefer a church, but if they could not get a church they would go to the Opera House. And if would go elsewhere. Between 4,000 and 5,000 society men were interested in the Richard Ashton favored a joint meeting of all the various societies to agree on a line of action. He thought it would have been better if all the clergymen had thought enough of the question to attend like Mr. Johnston, and listen to the discussion.

Mr. Sussex tried to speak again, and Mr. Carter objected so strenuously that the president had to rule Mr. Sussex out of order.

Mr. Bartram, whose previous motion had not been seconded, took the floor to move another. He began by saying that he understood Mr. Skinner to say at the last meeting that Dr. Daniel would preach their sermon. Ald. Skinner denied this, and said that he only said that Ald. Powell had invited them. "I will accept your correction," said Mr. Bartram. "I think you ought to apologize," said

Ald. Skinner. Then Mr. Bartram technically objected to the report, as the committee responsible for it was a "church" committee, and not an "Opera House" committee. (Laughter.) Association are within their rights," asserted Mr. Bartram.

"Oh yes," added a brother. Mr. Bartram, continuing—And we are within our rights in saying that we object to it, and that they have made a mistake, and that they must change their rule to allow us to have a church service with a band. But the way to do that is not to defy them by going to heard the point of order." The chairman ruled that Mr. Barram had spoken once already, but that gentleman insisted that he had a new motion, and referred those present to the proceedings of the present Parliament as evidence that he was in order. (Laughter.)

Finally Mr. Bartram moved that the report be merely received, and Mr.Sussex seconded.

Mr. R.A.Jones did not hesitate to say that there were enough ministers somewhere who would be charitable enough and Christian enough to come and preach their annual sermon. Sunday parades did more good than harm, and ministers and societies all over the country were watching the outcome of affairs in London. The Opera House was a last resource, but if any Christian would come forward and say: "There is a church and there is a minister to preach to you," we would be glad to drop the Opera House. church can be procured in the mean-

"Now you will withdraw your amendment," Mr. Skinner asked of Mr. Bartram.

"There is no need to do anything else but report progress," said Mr. Bartram.

Bro. Bartram will be contrary," said Stop that, if you please," added Mr. Bartram.

At this juncture a motion was passed to hear Rev. Robert Johnston. "I represent nothing except myself," began Mr. Johnston. "I do not even represent St. Andrew's congregation. I came here by your kind permission because I wanted to hear the society's side of this discussion. I am familiar with the other side of the argument. The trouble is that both of us are too amiliar with our own sides and have not met together to discuss the question. I trust that the motion of Messrs. Bartram and Sussex will find favor, and I believe that if the representatives of the society would meet with the ministers that these matters might be adjusted. Unfortunately your society waited on two ministers who have both come to the city within the last few months, and I think that if inquiry is made you will find that there is no such resolution on the books of the Ministerial Association as has been intimated by your report and discussion, and that there is nothing whatever with reference to parades with bands or permitting any member to preach or not to preach. I am not saying this authoritatively, but I wish your committee would make further inquiry, and consult Rev. Mr. Fowler, the secrewe will go unwillingly to any place other than a church. The church is where we want to go, the church is where we ought to go, but we will go anywhere rather than do without a service." (Applause.)

Mr. Barron reviewed the bistory of Sunday parades, either with or without the want of sympathy, that is growing to the African Church or the Salva- and the Church of Jesus Christ. I can say that there is not any body of men, any fifty men, in this city, more in sympathy with the work this society is doing, and who would more gladly help the societies in many ways, than the ministers. And I hope that you will teach us, the ministers, a lesson in Christianity, by saying: 'Well, churches: well, ministers, we, at least, will show the spirit of Jesus Christ, and for this time,

"But I don't want to be asked. Please do not suggest any such thing. It might look as if I had come here, as one of my brethren. I am opposed to Sunday parades, but I do not think that there was any such motion passed by the isterial Association. I simply ask that you make further inquiry about that matter.

Mr. Pritchard, as well as the other gentlemen present, felt the weight of Mr. Johnston's remarks, and proposed to simply report progress. But the wishes of the majority prevailed, and the report with the rider proposed by Mr.Skinner was adopted. It means that the Opera House will not be used if a church can be secured. Messrs. Bartram and Sussex were the sole supportters of their amendment.

In conclusion Mr. Johnston was tendered a vote of thanks, and in reply he said that he hoped that the societies would carry out their original intention and attend church with Rev. Canon Richardson, whom he described as one of the best and grandest of men.

The Business Outlook

As Indicated by the Satements of the Commercial Agencies.

Toronto, Ont., April 10.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada says: In Montreal trade conditions are not materially altered since a week ago. In wholesale drygoods and clothing moderate sorting business is reported. European letters report great firmness in all woollen fabrics, and manufacturers of domestic yarns give notice of a five per cent advance. In boots and shoes sorting business in spring wear is poor, and in some cases travelers are already getting out with fall samples. Leather remains dull, with prices to some extent nominal. Hides are again easier, a further decline of half a cent being looked for next week, and calf skins are actually reduced a cent. Groceries are in moderate request. All outside sugar markets are active and advancing, but until the local demand improves refiners are not likely to revise quotations. Payments are still the subject of complaint. The money market continues ful at 5 1-2 per cent.

The wholesale trade at Toronto presents a few new features this week. On the whole trade has been slow, one reason being the bad condition of the country roads. The country storekeepers are doing little, and consequently their wants are few. The outlook is considered hopeful, that is, an increased movement is confidently expected with warm weather. Cottons and woollens are about steady. Collections are not up to the mark. The money market is still stringent. stock market is quiet and prices are The weaker. The number of failures in the Dominion during the past week was 33, as compared with 27 in the corresponding week last year. According to Bradstreet's, the movement of spring merchandise from retailers' hands has been light. Drygoods stocks have not been broken into to any extent, and sorting business has scarcely begun. The opening of navigation on the lakes, now near at hand, is expected to stimulate business generally. The grain trade has been more active, owing to a sharp advance in wheat in British and American markets. Coarse grains show no improvement in price, and dressed hogs are firmer, and provisions are in better demand. Prices of wool, hides and skins are substantially the same as quotations of a week ego. Money keeps firm. In Toronto call loans are quoted at 5 per cent on bonds and 5 1-2 per cent on stocks. A larger supply of funds available for call loans is expected after the opening of navigation. Commercial paper is quoted at 6 to 7 per cent, according to quality.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND

SUICIDE. Moncton, N. B., April 10.-Jennie Mc-Arthur, a young domestic, Wednesday night attempted to murder Mrs. E. J. Sherwood, an elderly lady, with a carving knife. She called at the house and attacked the old woman in the hallway, cutting her head and face in a horrible manner, and slashing her hands and arms when the victim attempted to seize the knife. Mrs. Sherwood is in a critical condition, but may recover. The McArthur girl returned to the house of ex-Mayor Summers and took a dose of carbolic acid, but doctors saved her life. She was left in her room and made her escape therefrom, and got away from the authorities. Mrs. Sherwood's son had paid the girl some attention.

While Mr. Saunders was addressing the city council last night on the matter of reducing the number of liquor licenses, Ald. Grant asked Dr. Saunders why the temperance people did not start a crusade against the un-licensed bar on the hill. The bar was open every day in the week, and was a disgrace to the country.

Dr. Saunders said that while aware that there was a bar in the Parliament buildings he was not aware that it was unlicensed. He would be glad to take part in any movement to recountry, and believed that when it was unlicensed it would easily be dealt with.

The Journal says, editorially: "Undoubtedly the bar, as at present abused, is a Parliamentary discredit, and the members should at least set their faces to the creation of a resolute Parliamentary opinion against the habit of tippling there."

Macdonald, the well known Presbyterian pastor, of St. Thomas, has decided to reenter journalism in connection with donald has filled his pastorate at St. Thomas most acceptably for several years past, but his early predilections for journalism and his successful ex. periences in that field in the past have led him to believe that he can further the interests of his particular denomination and of the church as a whole more by his facile pen than by his accomplishments as a pastor. Those who remember Mr. Macdonald's strong and effective style in the interesting articles he used to contribute to the religious and secular press, and his admirable management of that excellent little magazine, the Knox College Journal, will at least agree that his re-entry into journalism will be Mr. McNeill, whose Conservatism also a distinct gain to that field of labor, while they will none the less regret that this will necessarily compel his Foreign Sarsaparilla Cannot Compete with it on Account of a Heavy Customs Duty-That is why They are so Much Poorer than Scott's.

Scott's Sarsaprilla is of purely Canadian manufacture. The ingredients are imported and the medicine compounded and put up here.

That is the reason no American or pare with it in quality or strength.

The Canadian duty on imported patent medicines is 50 per cent. on the selling price. Hence on a bottle of imported

Sarsaparilla that sells for one dollar the customs authorities collect fifty cents. Yet these imported medicines have to compete with those of Canadian manufacture which have no duty at all to Of course it is impossible for them to do so. To meet the duty without in-creasing the price so much less must be spent in the medium itself. Reducing the cost of the ingredients in a bottle

THE RED, YELLOW AND BLACK. The London Bicycle Club will stick to the red, yellow and black as its colors for the year 1896, and it will also make the season a most interesting one for all its members. To start with, it has just elected a lot of hustlers for the various offices, and in the second place, it has already decided to hold a meet on Tecumseh Park on May 25, if the park is not to be used by the Alert Baseball Club.

If the park cannot be secured, then the boys will arrange for a big day's fun in Sarnia and Port Huron on that

The meet, if held, will not be a great drawing card for dramond seekers, but it will be held chiefly with the object of creating enthusiasm in the wheel-

That was decided at the annual meeting of the club, held at the headquarters, Dundas street, last night. here was a large number of the enthusiasts present, who, although the C. W. A. meet is going to Quebec on July 1, are looking forward to good sport this year and the C. W. A. meet next. According to the reports presented, 1895 went smoothly with the club. Seventeen runs were held, with an average attendance of 65 members. Two hundred and seventy-five were enrolled on the membership list, of whom 165 were on the C. W. A. books. The receipts for the year were $911 12, and the disbursements considerably less, while the assets amounted to $605 96, and the liabilities, $310 34, leaving a balance on the asset side of nearly $300.

Dr. J. D. Balfour retired from the presidency after a year's hard work, and is succeeded by Mr. H. C. Mc-Bride, who will work equally hard to keep the club to the front. Mayor Little is honorary president, with Col. F. B. Leys and Mr. W. J. Reid as honorary vice-presidents. A. W. White is vice-president; Bert W. Glover, sec-retary; R. A. Bayly, treasurer; Oliver B. Leslie, captain; R. F. Hungerford, first lieutenant; Harry Reason, second lieutenant; Bert Hays, bugler; W. C. Ferguson, club reporter. The house committee comprises Messrs. J. Ferguson, W. M. Goodwin, C. Bowman, Dave Mills, Thos. Baker and Arthur Kingsmill. The racing board is composed of Messrs. Dr. Balfour, James Mc-Cormick, George Macbeth, Alex. Johnston and O. B. Leslie, and the mem-bership committee of Messrs. James McCormick, George Macbeth, Walter Mann, W. C. Ferguson, W. C. Goodwin, James Ferguson, O. B. Leslie, R. A. Bayly and Arthur Kingsmill.

On retiring from the presidency, Dr. Balfour thanked the members of the club for their assistance during the year. Some of the club's enterprises, he said, had not been a success financially, but in other respects they had. He paid a compliment to the members

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." This is a very common thing for Sir Charles Tupper, and is thought very little of here nowadays, but during the days of Sir John Macdonald or Sir John Thompson, it would be viewed in a very different way. Whatever faults Sir John Macdonald may have had, politically, he never tried to turn Parliament into public contempt, and whatever arrangements took place between both political parties as to the conduct of both parties, business was always faithfully carried out. It was enough for Sir John Macdonald that Parliament understood the arrangement to be in a certain way, even if the letter of the agreement would not show this, and he abided by it. But Sir Charles Tupper breaks agreements almost daily. About midnight last night he let the opponents of the Manitoba bill understand that if it was proceeded with and any progress made, the House would adjourn about 2 or 3 When 2 o'clock was reached, Tupper was in bed, after leaving instructions with his agents to break through his promise, and to compel the physical combat to continue for another night. In accordance with Sir Charles' promise, it was moved at 2:30 this morning that the committee rise and report progress.

Since then the House has been discussing the matter.

A Frenzied Father

Kills His Daughter, Shoots Her Sweet heart and Then Blows Up

Sat on a Box of Dynamite and Applied a Match-A Terrible Tragedy.

Houston, Texas, April 10 .- At Millican, Texas, a few minutes after 2 o'clock this morning John Brooks shot Shoved Out of the Chamber to and killed his daughter, Mrs. Mollie Brooks, fatally wounded her sweetheart, A. C. Worrels, and then committed suicide. Worrels and Miss Brooks were lovers, and made up their minds to marry, in opposition to the wishes of the young lady's father. When the northbound Central train, due here at 2:02 a.m., stopped at the station, the young people were there ready to get aboard and run away. Worrels helped Miss Brooks upon the first step of the platform, and just as she got up her father, who stepped from the other side of the car, fired upon her, shooting her through the right breast, the bullet passing through her body. She fell backward into the arms of her lover with the words, "Oh Arthur, father has killed me," and immediately expired. As Worrels bent and making a serious and probably fatal wound. After the shooting, Brooks, who has been employed at the rock quarry of Green & Olive, went up to the quarry and tried to borrow a pistol, but could get none. He then went to the power house, secured a box of dynamite, and going away about 100 yards, sat down upon it and applied a match. A terrific explosion followed, which tore him to pieces, not enough fragments being gathered up to fill a cigar box.

HER HEART TORN OPEN.

Woman Cyclist Struck by a Runaway Team and Killed.

Pniladelphia, April 10.-Mrs. Cornelia Morse, aged 30 years, left her home, 1001 Girard avenue, on her bicycle yesterday afternoon with the intention of meeting her husband and eating luncheon with him. Mr. Morse is the senior member of the firm of Morse, Williams & Co., elevator manufacturers. Mrs. Morse had gone but a short distance down Girard avenue when the horses of a heavy produce wagon be-came unmanageable. Mrs. Morse rode as fast as she could and endeavored to turn off the avenue on to Broad street, two blocks from her home. As she was between the car tracks on Girard avenue the team ran her down. She was thrown half way across Broad street, the widest street in the city. One of the shafts of the wagon entered her breast and tore open her heart, causing almost instant death.

A number of persons witnessed the accident and hastened to Mrs. Morse. A moment later, Mr. Morse, attracted by the This was so utterly ridiculous that excitement, pushed his way through and it convulsed the House, and Tom Daly found the mangled body of his dead wife on the ground before him.

He urged that the condiions existing at that time had now maerially altered, and that strides had ilso been made in improved sanitary arrangements. As he wished to be paid $250 for additional work involved, the board thought it best not to act. although it was understood that the action of Mr. Goodenough would not prejudice Mr. Chipman's chances of altimately superintending the construction of the sewerage system. Dr. Hutchinson drew attention to the deficient drainage at Thomas' grocery store, corner of Piccadilly and Colborne streets, and at Mr. Payne's place, on the Wortley road, and suggested means of rem-edy. Inspector Bell was empowered to go ahead with the spring house-tohouse visitation, and to hire the following extra assistants: Wm. Finch. No. 5 ward; W. J. ## Another Trolley Mishap

A Salvation Army Torch Bearer Knocked Down

While Walking Too Near the Track-Work on the Wellington Street Line Will Start Monday-Disk Signs.

Ben Young, the farmer who was struck on Dundas street yesterday afternoon by a trolley car, was much better at the hospital today, and able to be removed home. There was another narrow escape from a serious accident on Dundas street, near Colborne, last night. Ash-Barrel Jimmy was to tell his life's story at the Citadel, and although it was raining hard, the army and band went forth to the highways and byways to attract a crowd. W. Palmer, who lives at 128 Adelaide street, was a torch-bearer in the parade. The band was playing, and this made it impossible for Mr. Palmer to distinguish the tit-tat of the cornet from the clang of the gong of a street car, which came up behind. Palmer was walking too close to the track, and the projecting step struck him in the leg. He was knocked down, and, in falling, his shoulder struck the side of the car. By the veriest luck he rolled free of the wheels. His companions assisted him to the Citadel, where it was found that no bones were broken, although he was badly bruised and shaken up. Work will be begun on the Wellington street construction, by way of Clark's bridge, on Monday next. All the trolley cars were today furnished with painted disks to distinguish the routes without reading the small signs. These disks are a foot in diameter, and are placed just above the headlight, in front of the cars. Red is belt line.

Red and blue is the market and Dundas street. Black for Mount Hope.

And green for Oxford street and the Hamilton road. This is Manager Carr's idea.

The Ministerial Association Disapproves of Sunday Church Parades.

But Does Not Refuse to Preach on Such Occasions-Mr. Russell Will Preach to the Oddfellows.

It transpires that the London Methodist Minsterial Association met informally after the Union Love Feast on Good Friday morning, and, taking time by the forelock, passed a similar esolution respecting Sunday church parades to that of their Anglican brethren. At the regular meeting of the association on the Monday morning following the action was indorsed and a resolution carried stating they were willing to preach a sermon to any order morning or evening on Sunday, provided they were not preceded by a band. They would, however, not object to a band on a week night.

"Similar action was agreed upon a year ago," said a Methodist minister "as a result of a deputation today, from the Sabbath School Association, but no formal resolution was passed. This places Rev. Mr. Russell, of the Wellington Street Methodist Church. in a very delicate position.

"I promised to preach the sermon for the Oddfellows," said Mr. Russell today, "and have no alternative but to do so. However, I asked the committee if they could possibly dispense with the band to do so. Since then I have not heard from them." A prominent Oddfellow said today that the order would surely be accompanied by a band, and if they are Mr. Russell will be in duty bound to preach the sermon.

There is a dispute among members of the General Ministerial Association as to whether or not there is a motion on the books binding the clergymen of denominations other than Anglican and Methodist, not to preach societies' sermons. The minutes show that on May 20 of last year a deputation representing nineteen Sunday school superintendents waited upon the association and requested that the ministers co-operate with them in discouraging church parades of benevolent and other societies between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m. on Sundays. The superintendents claimed the parades had a tendency to seriously interfere with the Sunday school by drawing the children away with the music of brass lands. At that meeting a committee was appointed to act in conjunction with the superintendents and consult the lodges with a view to abating the interference caused by the parades. Rev. Messrs. M. P. Talling, J. R. Gundy and Ira Smith were on the committee, but at a meeting on June 24 Mr. Talling reported that there were twelve organizations in the city, and most of them had a number of lodges, he found it almost impossible to consult with them as a whole. He believed, however, that many of them would prefer to comply with the wishes of the Association of Sunday School association meeting, and the follow-ing resolution was offered by Rev. E. B. Lanceley, seconded by Rev. J. G. Stuart, and carried: "That the members of the London Ministerial Association hereby express their strong disapproval of Sunday parades, and also our willingness to conduct services for any of the city lodges, providing such service is held on the evening of some week day."

That was the last time the associa-tion considered the subject.

One of the results of the church parade dispute is the resignation of Mr. W. C. L. Gill from the vice-presidency of St. George's Society. The resignation was accepted last night, after a stormy scene.

The jet-black negro, gorgeously arrayed in the livery Ralph had chosen r him, and with his teeth and eyeballs whiter than the pile of plates before him, was an object of great interest in the beer shop. They talked to him, and, although he did not understand them, or answer them, they knew he was enjoying himself; and when the landlord rang a big bell, and a pale young man, wearing a high hat, and sitting at a table opposite him, threw into his face an expression of exalted melancholy, and sang a highpitched song, Mok showed how he appreciated the performance by thumping more vigorously on the table than any of the other people who applauded the singer.

Again and again the big bell was rung, and there were other songs and choruses, and then the company turned toward Mok and called on him to sing. He did not understand them, but he laughed and pounded his fist upon the table. But when the landlord came down to his table and rang the bell in front of him, that sent an informing idea into the African head. He had noticed that every time the bell had been rung, somebody had sung, and row he knew what was wanted of him. He had had four glasses of beer, and he was an obliging fellow, so he nodded his head violently, and everybody stopped what they had been doing and prepared to listen.

Mok's repertoire of songs could not be expected to be large; in fact, he only knew one musical composition, and that was an African hymn which Cheditafa had taught him. This he now proceeded to execute. He threw back his head, as some of the others had done, and emitted a succession of grunts, groans, yelps, barks, squeals, days? It will give almost instant revells and rattles which utterly electrifled the audience. Then, as if his treath filled his whole body, and quivering and shaking like an angry squirrel when it chatters and barks, Mok sang louder and more wildly, until the audience, unable to restrain themselves, burst into laughter, and applauded with canes, sticks and fists. But Mok kept on; he had never imagined he could sing so well. There was two girls were talking of what they only one person in that brasserie who did not applaud the African hymn; but no one paid so much attention to it as this man, who had entered the Black

The engineer stated that the contract was signed to have the railway bridge completed by June 5. He favored the erection of an independent structure for the street cars, as it would be far more acceptable to the general public. The request was granted, the engineer stating that the removal of the structure would not weaken it. Then the question of fenders was raised, and a batch of correspondence submitted showed that Mr. Graydon had several times notified the company that the fenders now in use were unsatisfactory, and not according to the bylaw, but no steps towards a change had been made. Mr. Graydon asked the ing offered, and it is always better to committee to give him instructions as to what further steps he should take in this direction. EX-ALD. SCARROW ON TAX COL-LECTION.

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": As my name appears in your report of No. 1 committee in connection with tax discussion, and as the question of taxes is always an interesting one to those who have to pay them, a word on the subject at the present time will not be inopportune. Of course, the abusive and impertinent reference by a city official whose taxes are a mere bagatelle, when speaking of ratepayers why pay hundreds of dollars in taxes every year, will be appreciated by citizens at its true value, and is not worth replying to here. As I always pay my taxes promptly, and get whatever discount is going, it makes very little difference to me personally what system is in vogue. But I am convinced, my-WELLINGTON STREET BRIDGE, our city clerk, who is also a lawyer scarcely a redeeming feature. Surely Mr. Carr also wrote to the committee by profession, can devise some simpler count) on or before the 1st of August. This means that if a man is assessed for $300 on his little home and the rate is less than 20 mills, he gets no discount, and if the rate were 19 3-4 mills he will have more to pay than if the rate were 20 mills. In his case we have the anomaly of "the lower the rate the higher the taxes." Then, apart from this anomaly, why should the poor man whose taxes happen to be less than $6 not receive the same consideration as the man whose taxes run up in the hundreds? Let us take another illustration: On a $450 assessment, at a > his discount on this for prompt payment would be the magnificent sum of 12 cents: but if he made a mistake and went to pay on the 2nd of October. instead of the 1st of August, he would be mulcted in the fine of 45 cents, and his taxes would be $9 45. The above illustrations are surely sufficient to show that the system is a farce. Now, how much simpler it would be to give a straight discount of any sum, say 3, 4 or 5 per cent on the total amount of a man's taxes, or the total taxes of any parcel of property, if paid by a certain date, to be fixed by the council. Then charge delinquents at the rate of 5 or 6 per cent per annum on overdue taxes. This would be an inducement for taxpayers to pay promptly, while the capitalist would not be likely to retain tax money for other investments when it was costing him 9 or 10 per cent per annum. However, loubt they will give it a satisfactory solution, especially if they rely on their own good judgment and not submit to the dictation of city officials, who appear to know less about the question than they do themselves. Yours truly, WM. SCARROW.

AN AWFUL DEED.

With Her Lover's Aid a Girl Planned Her Father's Death and Then

Leavenworth, Kas., April 10.—On the night of Feb. 10, an old man named Lambern was murdered at his ranch in Fall Leaf township, this county. A short time ago, Charles and Annie Lambern, children of the murdered man, were jailed on suspicion. Last night they made a confession, in which they implicate Thomas Davenport, Annie's lover.

According to the confession, Lambern and his sister left home to attend a dance. Near their home they met Davenport and it was agreed that the aged father, who had forbidden Davenport to visit his daughter and who, though wealthy, was ommonly accused of making his two children slaves to the drudgery of farm life, should be killed. Davenport then went direct to the house, crept in through a rear door and with one blow of an ax, dispatched the old man as he sat in a chair by his fire-

The two men then burned the dead man's will, by which he had disposed of an estate valued at over $50,000. After this they joined the girl and the three proceeded to the dance, where they seemed to enjoy themselves with the others. After the dance they all returned to the house and slept man Hunt presided. there. In the morning they spread the A PROSPEROUS WORK. news of Lambern's murder.

who have to use the cars? -The street railway company has built a new line wagon, which is a decided improvement over the old ladder arrangement heretofore in use. When repairs were being made on the road with the old wagon, the progress of the cars was considerably retarded, but with the new one, neither the linemen or cars are delayed. In appearance the new wagon somewhat resembles a baker's delivery rig. It fitted up with a platform, which works on a pivot, and can be raised and swung around to an overhead wire with very little trouble. The wagon stands four feet from the track, thus enabling the cars to pass to and fro without delay. The wagon, team of horses and harness cost several hundred dollars. -No. 2 committee of the Board of Education last night heard a deputation from the trustee board of the Dundas Street Methodist Church in regard to the unsettled account for the occupancy of the Collegiate Institute for Sunday services during the erection of the new structure. A special committee was name to ascertain the value of the electric light fixtures put in the institute by the church board and report if it was necessary to keep them in the building. To enable him to enlarge his influence for good, increased accomodation is needed and it is hoped the zeal and enterprise of kindly disposed citizens will soon provide it.

A Delightful Lecture on the Great Authoress and Her Works, at Cronyn Hall.

Rev. Provost Welch, the new principal of Trinity College, Toronto, delivered the third of the Western Uni-Hall last night before a large and delighted audience. The subject was a popular one, "George Eliot," with whose great works most of the audience were no doubt familiar. The story of her life was a very said one, said Best Body Brussels, only 75c. the speaker. It had been cleft in two by a great moral catastrophe, which, to his mind, had been brought about by another catastrophe, of which it was the direct consequence—that was the loss of religous principles. To her mind God was inconceivable, immortality unbelievable. If she had not reached this state of mind, he felt she would not have taken the law into her own hands. The speaker then gave a sketch of the life of the gifted novelist. Her maiden name was Marian Evans; she was born in 1819, and began her professional life in 1856. Her work, "Scenes from Clerical Life," was followed by that of "Adam Bede." The provost read selections from this book with excellent delivery. Her next work, "The Mill on the Floss," was thought to be the story of her own life. Though inferior to "Adam Bede," it has proved the turning point in many lives. In "Daniel Deronda" the lecturer thought the authoress was yond her depth, though some regarded it as her best work. To him it seemed son Bert, are visiting the former's that the authoress tried to make the son Fritz, who is freight inspector of teaching of her book counteract the influence of her life.
