FRENCH DRIVE ENEMY FROM TOWNS AND TRENCHES BRITISH SUBMARINE SINKS TWO TURKISH WARSHIPS OLD BATTLESHIP GOLIATH TORPEDOED IN DARDANELLES

GIRL FRANTIC TO GET ABROAD AND HELP PUT WILHELM OUT

Miss Jessie Strickland, 264 St. James Street, Wants Revenge For Death of Eight Cousins — Has Brothers Striving For Britain Now.

HER SEX NOT A BAR

At Least So She Says — Thinks the Women Should Have the Privilege of Going Forth To Do Battle — Would Put Kaiser On St. Helena.

Impelled by the urgent message from her aged grandfather in Scotland and by her own intense longing to avenge the death of eight of her cousins, Miss Jessie Strickland, of 264 St. James street, is now trying to find a way to go to the front.

Miss Strickland is young and pretty. She has lived in London for only a year, having come from Scotland. Her parents are dead, and her one brother is on his way to England to enlist as soon as he arrives in the British army.

"I want to go to fight, too. I don't want to be a nurse, because I would never get a chance to be right on the firing line. I want to fight with a rifle, shoulder to shoulder with the men," Miss Strickland declared most emphatically to a reporter for The Advertiser.

"If I cannot get to France in any other way, I will dress myself as a boy, and I think I could fool them if I once got in France."

Major-Gen. Sam Hughes, minister of militia, to ascertain if there is any chance of her being able to fight right in the trenches.

"Do you think you could stand the hardships of a campaign, like a full-grown man?" the reporter asked.

"If I got over there I just know I could. I have always worked, although I never really had to until I came to this country. I could stand it if I could only get there. I am just frantic since the news of the Lusitania. It makes me wish with all the more that I could fight with the boys against the Germans. I ask lots of people what they think about the idea of me going to France to fight, and they say, 'Oh, you would be a splendid soldier, though.' Miss Strickland assured the reporter, 'I never was afraid of anything, and I never knew what fear was. Oh, dear, I wish they would let me go!'"

What Women Think of Kaiser. Here is the verdict that a woman's jury would pass on the Kaiser, Wilhelm, in the opinion of Miss Strickland, if the War Lord ever fell into their hands:

"First—Banish him to St. Helena, or some other lonesome, silent, place, where he can think over in seclusion all of his terrible deeds."

"Second—I would suggest that the Kaiser be shown pictures of his crimes, his victims, and the beautiful buildings he has ruthlessly destroyed."

"I am sure that would be an original and efficient scheme to make him repent all of his crimes in short order."

And after all, Miss Strickland declares that she is not a suffragette—not exactly, although she firmly believes that woman should have an equal chance in every possible way, with man, in performing the variety of work that helps to make this world go round.

Can't Understand It. "I certainly don't understand why they will not give women the same opportunity as men to fight for their country. I know there are lots of others like me who would like to fight Germans or any other people who had committed such atrocious crimes against humanity and who had so wickedly broken their pledges of honor," Miss Strickland says.

'Buy in London' Is the Proper Spirit

Merchants Could Well Afford to Exhibit Goods Alongside Those of Detroit Stores.

By means of a long-distance telephone call to Toronto, The Advertiser today could secure a large appropriation of advertising from one of the largest stores in Toronto.

But would that be playing fair with local merchants, without whose patronage this newspaper could not exist?

So The Advertiser, selfishly, if you wish, does not open its columns to the stores of Toronto in order that they may attract business that is rightfully the possession of London merchants.

By the same token the people of London should trade in London.

In each local community it all comes down to a case of "living off one another." The drygoods store or the shoe store is quite as much an "industry" as the factory, or the warehouse, in the sense that it is a stone in the whole structure.

It might be a good thing for the merchants of London to have an exhibition of goods "Sold in London" ranged alongside of goods sold in Detroit, for instance. That price and quality would more than equal the American article is a safe prediction.

COL. ROOSEVELT SAYS 771 CANADIAN AMERICAN BOYS LOST LIVES NATION TO WAR AT LUTETANIA

Ex-President of United States Categorical Comes Out Against Germany.

VIGOROUS ACTION NEEDED

Urges No Half Measures, Saying Humanity Demands U. S. Act At Once.

Mr. Theodore Roosevelt urges the United States to immediate and vigorous action against Germany in an article entitled "Murder on the High Seas," which will be published in the June number of the Metropolitan Magazine.

Mr. Roosevelt declares that such a course is demanded by humanity at large and the self respect of the American republic. He refrains from using the word "war," but by excluding from consideration any pacific course, he takes pains to make plain that what he means by instant action on the part of the United States, which he conceives to be its duty, is war.

He charges the Germans with having exceeded in the degree of their crimes against civilization the pirates of the Barbary Coast. Basing his reasoning on the action of the German man submarine, he finds the conclusion irresistible that the Kaiser can be stopped only by the entrance of America into the international struggle.

Mr. Roosevelt launches oburgations at the heads of those responsible for American inaction in Mexico and for a "neutrality" in the European imbroglio "which would have excited the emulous admiration of Pontius Pilate."

The full text of Mr. Roosevelt's call to arms follows:

"The German submarines have established no effective blockade of the British and French coast lines. They have endeavored to prevent the access of French and British ships to France by attacks upon them which defy every principle of international law as laid down in innumerable existing treaties, including the Hague conventions. Many of these attacks have represented pure piracy, and not a few of them have been accounted for by murder on an extended scale. In the case of the Lusitania the scale was so vast that the murder became wholesale.

The number of American ships already had been torpedoed in similar fashion. In one case the lives of those included those not only of the American captain, but of his wife and little daughter. When the Lusitania sank some twelve hundred non-combatants, men, women and children, were drowned, and more than a hundred of these were Americans. Centuries have passed since any vessel of a civilized nation has shown such ruthless brutality toward non-combatants, and especially toward women and children. The pirates of the Barbary Coast behaved at times in similar fashion until the civilized nations joined in suppressing them; and the pirates who were outlawed among these civilized nations also at one time perpetrated similar deeds until they were sunk by a scale as in the case of the Lusitania.

The day after the tragedy of the Lusitania the newspapers reported in one column that in Queenstown there lay by the score the bodies of women and children, and in another column that the bodies of the little children they held in their arms when death overwhelmed them, the bodies were being carried to the front by the Berlin Journalists at this great victory of German policy."

It was a victory of German policy, and it was an unoffending, and its signs and trophies were the bodies of the murdered women and children.

"Our treaties with Prussia in 1785, 1799 and 1825, still in force in this regard, provide that 'in case of war, no other power shall be free to interfere with the course and commerce of the subjects or citizens of the party remaining neutral.'"

FIGHTING WAS AWFUL

Gives Vivid Description of Battle in Air When Enemy Was Ousted.

Roy Clinger, one of the London boys with the first Canadian overseas contingent, in a letter home, states that in the recent fierce engagement at Langemarck members of 7th Regiment, London, suffered severely. In speaking of them he says: "The 7th Regiment from home was billeted in this village a few days before they went into the trenches, and so we saw a lot of the boys from home, a number of whom, from accounts, I will not see again." The letter reads:

Belgium, April 27, 2:30 a.m. Dear Mother—You're dated April 6th to hand. I'm sorry I did not answer before, but I have been so busy the last four days I did not know how to write to you. You can imagine how busy I was when I tell you that from April 22nd at 6 a.m. till April 25th at 12 p.m. I never had an hour's sleep. I am writing this on a very busy day, but I tell you before you receive this that just at this time we are having a terrible battle here, which I am sorry to say is costing the Canadians very dear. I hope you will have the paper sent over to me, because I can really learn more from the papers, than I can hear. The 7th Regiment from home was billeted in this village a few days before they went into the trenches, and so we saw a lot of the boys from home. A number of whom, from accounts, I will not see again. I am sure you will be glad to hear of us. We had a lot of excitement here today. A German aeroplane braved our shells, and came sailing over us in search of a big gun. He was near us here. He was not happy with looking, he had to leave a few minutes before we were out of his cards, as a little remembrance of his visit, but he never got any in the village, so we did not worry. The letter reads:

Belgium, April 27, 2:30 a.m. Dear Mother—You're dated April 6th to hand. I'm sorry I did not answer before, but I have been so busy the last four days I did not know how to write to you. You can imagine how busy I was when I tell you that from April 22nd at 6 a.m. till April 25th at 12 p.m. I never had an hour's sleep. I am writing this on a very busy day, but I tell you before you receive this that just at this time we are having a terrible battle here, which I am sorry to say is costing the Canadians very dear. I hope you will have the paper sent over to me, because I can really learn more from the papers, than I can hear. The 7th Regiment from home was billeted in this village a few days before they went into the trenches, and so we saw a lot of the boys from home. A number of whom, from accounts, I will not see again. I am sure you will be glad to hear of us. We had a lot of excitement here today. A German aeroplane braved our shells, and came sailing over us in search of a big gun. He was near us here. He was not happy with looking, he had to leave a few minutes before we were out of his cards, as a little remembrance of his visit, but he never got any in the village, so we did not worry. About three days ago another (Continued on Page Three.)

Roy Clinger, one of the London boys with the first Canadian overseas contingent, in a letter home, states that in the recent fierce engagement at Langemarck members of 7th Regiment, London, suffered severely. In speaking of them he says: "The 7th Regiment from home was billeted in this village a few days before they went into the trenches, and so we saw a lot of the boys from home, a number of whom, from accounts, I will not see again." George Huggins (died in base hospital). WOUNDED; MISSING. GLENCOE. Pte. James McConnell, (Enlisted in Winnipeg). MISSING. LONDON. Pte. Albert James Slatter, 732 Durdon. (Enlisted with Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto). Pte. Thomas Wylie, 1st Battalion. WOUNDED. GALT. Pte. James Maier, No. 2 C. F. Amb. (severely wounded; enlisted Sarnia). BRANTFORD. Pte. Garvin Wallace, aged 22. Pte. A. H. Adams. Pte. Burkhard. GUELPH. Corp. William Waters (enlisted Vancouver). WINDSOR. Pte. James White, 42 Church street. Pte. Charles McLaren, 288 Janette street. Two killed, two died of wounds, one wounded and missing, two missing, and about ten wounded, in the fresh casualty list for Western Ontario. Brantford has lost in three of the above categories—five men all told—of whom four fell at Langemark, and one died of wounds, while three more are wounded. This city continues unfortunate. London escaped lightly, two names being mentioned in the afternoon list, and none in the late night list. But one of those mentioned has died of wounds, namely, Gunner Robert Mercer, of 7 Bathurst street. Chatsworth has lost a man killed in battle—Corp. J. H. Minorgan, who enlisted in Owen Sound. A Glenoe man is reported wounded and missing, also a Mosa Township man. Pte. Albert J. Slatter, a Londoner, who enlisted in Toronto, is reported missing, as is Pte. Thomas Wylie, of Galt. BRANTFORD MOTHER LOSES SECOND SON; TWO MORE ARE DEAD. [Special to The Advertiser.] BRANTFORD, May 12.—Two more notifications of deaths have reached this city, namely Pte. Kiehlley and Pte. George Huggins. Three more are reported, namely Pte. A. H. Adams, Pte. Burkhard and Pte. Garvin Wallace. Pte. William Keithley was employed at the Adams wagon works. He was 21 years of age. The information that he had been killed in Langemark was conveyed in a letter from his brother, who was fighting by his side when he fell. The letter was received by the dead soldier's wife, James and William enlisted together. It was a gunshot wound over the heart that took him off. Pte. A. H. Adams, aged 26, of 77 Murray street, has gunshot wounds in his right arm and leg, received near Ypres. He is in an auxiliary hospital at Boulogne. He was a civilian employed by Whies & Quinlan. Pte. Burkhard was injured in Langemark. His home is on Science street. He is 25 years of age, and left with the "Duffs" of the first contingent. He was well known, having lived here several years. He has no relatives here. Mother, Louise Second Son. Pte. George Huggins, a Brantford soldier, has given up his life for his country, having passed away in the base hospital after being severely wounded in battle at Langemark. This is the second son Mrs. Huggins has lost in the empire's service, for her first, Pte. James Huggins, passed away in Dublin Hospital from appendicitis, which he contracted during transportation from Canada. Mrs. Huggins lives in Scotland village since her son went to the front. They both were employed at the Messers-Harris works, and were popular young men about the city. Strapping young fellows, they heard the call to arms and enlisted with the first contingent under Capt. Colquhoun. Both were unmarried and leave besides their mother, two sisters. Pte. Garvin Wallace, aged 22, was wounded by a sniper while on outpost duty near the trenches in France. He was employed by the Grand Trunk Railway, and his father and brothers, with one sister, reside here. He was the latest addition to the local casualties today. GLENCOE RAILWAYMAN WOUNDED; MISSING. [Special to The Advertiser.] WINDSOR, May 12.—Pte. McConnell, who is among the wounded and missing, was a G. T. P. fireman, aged 31, who was born in Glencoe, Ont. He has served three and a half years with the Canadian Ordnance Corps in London, Ont., before the war broke out. Fourteen days after the war had started he was found in the ranks of the 90th of Winnipeg. He was not married. CHATSWORTH CORPORAL IS SLAIN IN BATTLE. [Special to The Advertiser.] OWEN SOUND, May 12.—Word was received here tonight that Corp. J. H. Minorgan, of Chatsworth, had been killed in action. Corp. Minorgan was a son of James Minorgan, of Chatsworth, and enlisted here when the war broke out. He was formerly a member of the staff of the Merchants Bank, at Chatsworth, and was 24 years of age. TWO YEARS. He was a member of Calverton Club. In this afternoon's list from Ottawa in the 1st Battalion, the name of Private Thomas Wylie appears as missing. He is 28 years of age and a native of Pictou, Scotland. He had been in Galt several years and was employed as a laborer. He was a member of the 29th Regiment pipe band. He has two brothers on active service. Samuel, with the first contingent and John with the 24th Battalion at Guelph. All three brothers lived here. GUELPH CORPORAL RECEIVES A WOUND. [Special to The Advertiser.] GUELPH, May 12.—F. Waters, 27 Arthur street, received word this morning from the militia department that his son, Corp. William Waters, had been wounded. He enlisted and went to the front from Vancouver, in which city he was employed in the office of the Taylor-Forbes Company branch. CORPORAL TRUDELL RECEIVES A WOUND. [Special to The Advertiser.] CHATHAM, May 12.—Corp. Arthur Truadd, of this city, whose father resides at Prairie Sliding, has been wounded in the recent fighting in France. His name appeared in the official lists this morning. His father received a telegram yesterday morning from the officials at Ottawa. Truadd is well known here. He resided at 152 Raleigh street prior to his enlistment with the first contingent, last August. For eighteen months he had been a call freeman of the city. Before leaving the city his fellow-workmen on the fire department made him a presentation. WINDSOR ADDS TWO TO THOSE WOUNDED. WINDSOR, May 12.—Two more wounded from here appear in the latest casualties. James White was wounded in the arm, according to a telegram received by his brother. White was a member of Capt. George H. Wilkinson's section. Before enlisting he was employed at the Windsor Hardware Company store. Pte. Charles McLaren, 288 Janette avenue, also under Capt. Wilkinson, was wounded, according to a telegram received yesterday morning. McLaren was born in Dundee, Scotland, 21 years ago, and was one of the first to enlist when the call for volunteers came. He was a well known football player, having played with the Pilgrims, of Windsor. MEMORIAL SERVICE TO INGERSOLL HEROES. [Special to The Advertiser.] INGERSOLL, May 12.—On Friday evening a memorial service for the soldiers from Ingersoll who have fallen in battle will be held in St. James' Church. The roll of honor includes the names of Major E. C. Norworthy and Ptes. Brockfield, Loyal, Smith, Navin and Wilson. The ministers of the town will take part in the service and it will be attended by the town council and the Ingersoll Company of the 22nd Regiment Oxford Rifles. DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c. May Sale of Crepe de Chine and Other Silk Fabrics

One of the great annual accomplishments of this store, on which we have the co-operation of many standard silk mills and mill selling agents, constituting the regular supply sources from our silk stocks—in which we offer an almost complete silk list at prices in many cases a quarter below present regular market values, in spite of stiffening prices in some lines and a shortening of supplies for immediate delivery.

Special Purchases Silk Crepe De Chines and Taffetas

Silk Crepe de Chine, absolutely all silk, 40 inches wide, in colors of tan, dark brown, navy, tuscany, pink, ivory and black. Special, yard $1.25. Silk Crepe de Chine, absolutely all silk, firm, tied weave; will not slip; 40 inches wide, shown in a large range of the fashionable shades for street and evening wear; also ivory and black. $1.75 values. Special at, yard $1.50. PUSSY-WILLOW TAFFETA SILKS—A beautiful, firm taffeta-like weave, finished with the appearance of Crepe de Chine; very durable and highly recommended for wear. Shown in the pretty colors of mole, copenhagen, alicia, tan, navy and black; 40 inches wide. Yard... $2.00. TAFFETA SILKS—Plain colors and shot effects. Very new and stylish for dresses and coats. The plain colors may be had in serviceable colors for street wear in browns, copenhagen, alicia, navy blue and black; 35 inches wide. Yard... $1.50. BLACK SILK CREPE DE CHINES at $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.50 and $2.75. A complete assortment of French and Swiss all silk makes for summer wear. This is the largest assortment (comprising 12 qualities at the above prices) ever gathered together in this store, and we would suggest an inspection of this large variety if contemplating this character of silk for a dress, as the values are above the average. Samples to out-of-town customers upon request.

Clearing of 250 Yards Embroideries, Insertions, Etc., Friday Morning—Some Slightly Soiled

The assortment is too varied to give a detailed description of each width and quality, but you will find from 1 to 5 inch widths in Embroideries, Insertions and finished edge Galoons. FRENCH SUCCEED IN GREAT ADVANCE

Thrilling Eyewitness Story of Desperate Two Days' Battle.

BRITISH LINES BROKEN

But Germans Leave Heaps of Dead in Following Duel.

PETROGRAD, May 12.—(Via London.)—While admitting that the Austro-German movement from Craacow has met with a degree of success, Russian military authorities asserted today that there was no possibility of a further advance, with its consequent menace to the security of the Russian positions in the Carpathians.

In semi-official comment today upon this situation it was said the success of the Austro-German forces was due to their overpowering numbers. They advanced along a line of about thirty miles, stretching northward from Nowy Sancez and pushed on to points as far east as Strzyzow and Brozow, the latter being within less than thirty miles of Przemysl. It is said here that the Russian forces have now been regrouped in such a way as effectually to oppose this movement.

Russian Forces Delayed.
In bringing the Russian generals were able to meet up only about one-fifth of their forces ranged along the 90-mile front. The Germans and Austrians, however, are reported here to have concentrated thirteen divisions along a sixteen-mile front in the district of Kresno, just northeast of the Dniester, and they have continually rushed in fresh reserves.

Notwithstanding their numerical inferiority, the Russians were able to retire in good order to more favorable positions. They destroyed their guns and ammunition and other stores. Their losses are described here as comparatively small.

Enemy's Object Fails.
The view presented by military men here is that the Austro-German movement did not constitute a notable success, inasmuch as its object is supposed to have been the destruction of the Russian army in the Carpathians, and dislodgment of the Russians from their strong positions in the Central Carpathians. The German plan of action apparently was to strike several successive blows before the Russians had time to bring up reinforcements. A series of furious infantry attacks followed the preparatory artillery operations on the short front over which they occurred, utilizing three-quarters of the entire Austrian force, and one-ninth of the entire German force.

About one-half of these forces probably were second line troops. Four corps are thought to have been brought up from the Serbian front, and twenty infantry and nine cavalry divisions from the western front.

RUSSIANS DRIVE ENEMY BACK IN THE NORTH.
Petrograd (via London), May 12.—10:35 p.m.—The war office communication issued tonight says:

"In the Shavil region our troops on Tuesday continued to press successfully on the heels of the retreating Germans, who have been driven back from the town of Shavil toward the southwest. On the left bank of the Niemen and on the front of the Narew there is an almost complete halt. On the right bank of the Vistula, south of Sokhatzko, our infantry command having crossed the Bzura Tuesday night, captured after a bayonet fight, a group of German trenches and took several dozens of prisoners and an officer. German attempts to attack our reconstruction of troops south of Sierewice and Nawa were repulsed.

"In Western Galicia on Monday our troops to the north, in the direction of Lutoviska, continued falling back to positions previously chosen, and the enemy's offensive was checked by our counter-attacks.

Russians Retake Positions.
"In the direction of the Uszok Pass and the Story Ritzke Austrian attacks were repulsed with great losses. Near Rojanka the enemy exploded a mine close to our trenches and followed this up with an attack on our positions in that vicinity. They succeeded in occupying part of the crater made by the explosion, but our men in a furious onslaught dislodged the Austrians who fled in disorder leaving several hundred dead. We also captured many prisoners.

"In the region of the Javornik we completed our success by an energetic offensive. During the last few days the enemy at this point has suffered heavy losses, leaving 4,000 dead on the mountain slope.

Enemy's Losses in East 165,000 Since May 1

GENEVA, Switz., May 12, via Paris.—A dispatch from Craacow to the Journal De Geneve says that the losses of the Austrians and Germans since the 1st of May amount to 165,000 officers and men. Losses of the Russians in prisoners are placed at 50,000. The dispatch says the Russians are holding firmly the principal strategic positions, and that both sides are receiving heavy reinforcements.

SHOT TO DEATH FOR FEW DOLLARS

STRANGER DOES DEED

[Special to The Advertiser.]
SIMCOE, May 12.—Murdered for a few dollars that had about him, Christian W. Shoup, a farmer and miller, of the 8th Concession of the township of North Walsingham, Norfolk County, thinking it was someone who had come from the village of Walsingham, and seventeen miles from the town of Simcoe.

The scene of the crime is off the main road, and is reached by a "given" road, which winds up and down hill, and follows the turnings of a ravine.

The probable time was between 2:30 and 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Shoup discovered her husband's body and tried to telephone for help.

Some three or four hours were devoted to taking the evidence, and then adjournment was taken for the night. In the meantime Provincial Inspector Miller, of Toronto, was sent for, arriving at Simcoe on Wednesday morning, and immediately setting into motion the various aspects of the case.

Murdered in Afternoon.
Briefly the copy of the tragic occurrence as told by the widow, Mrs. Shoup, was at work on a small patch of ground east of his house, which is situated on the edge of the ravine, through which Silver Creek runs. This ground had just been ploughed for the first time, and the farmer was clearing away the roots and trees.

She had an errand at the home of her stepson, Wm. Shoup, on the 7th Concession. She did not observe her husband about the time he was shot, but she had had some conversation with him on the subject of a business matter. Upon arriving at the bank, which is inquired for her husband, and found he had not been there.

Her suspicions were aroused and she immediately thought of the man who had been seen near the house. She searched for Mr. Shoup and found him dead in the field.

The miller had been lying in the field for perhaps three hours. Mrs. Shoup timed her journey to the house at about 3 p.m., and was not until 6 in the evening that she discovered the body. He had been robbed, as a small pouch in which he habitually carried change was missing. His vest, with a gold watch and a pocket watch, and a pair of bars through which the murderer passed on his way to his victim.

"Not an enemy," was the reply to a question posed by Mrs. Shoup as to the possible motive. Mr. Shoup was well known through the section where he had lived all his life. He was 57 years of age and of German parentage.

A visit was made to the field where he met his death. It lies perhaps 250 yards to the east of the house, and the trees growing in the bank on the gulley run up to its border. A spot of dull red, the blood of the victim, marked the place, and beside it was lying the tobacco tin which had been in his pocket where the murderer found the money.

Mrs. Shoup, when she left her garden, had passed only a few yards from the body of her husband, but she did not see him lying there. She says that she did not glance that way, thinking that he had gone with his visitor to the mill.

The victim was shot in the right cheek close to the throat, and the bullet fell in his lung. One would think that he had been stooping over pulling something from the ground, when the shot came, and he sank to the ground. Blood was found on his right trouser leg, and his hat also bore large blood stains. His dog, a collie pup, so Mrs. Shoup, was with his master at the time, and remained with the body all afternoon, making no outcry.

The victim and his wife lived alone, one son, William, mentioned above, living nearby, and another son, George, living in Walsingham village. These were children by his first wife. The present Mrs. Shoup is the mother of a son and daughter. John, the son, is married and living in North Bay, and engaging in a business.

Mabel, lives with him, and is attending normal.

WHITE MAY BECOME COLOR FOR MOURNING
OTTAWA, May 12.—That white shall be mourning for Canadians who fall fighting is urged by a Westmount lady. The suggestion is favorably regarded by the Minister of Militia and officers of the headquarters staff.

While official action can hardly be taken to give the idea effect, there is every likelihood that the color will be adopted by many Canadians who lose loved ones in the front.

ENEMY CHECKED NEAR PRZEMYSL

29 DIVISIONS FROM WEST

Three-Quarters of Entire Austrian Forces Brought Into Action.

LONDON, May 12.—9:30 p.m.—The official British "eye-witness" under date May 11, says that the German attempts on Saturday and Sunday last to break the British lines around Ypres, and the commencement of the Anglo-French offensive north of Arras. He says:

"The calm that prevailed Thursday and Friday proved to be only the lull before the storm. Early Saturday morning it became apparent that the Germans were preparing an attack in strength against our line running east and northeast from Ypres, for they were concentrating under cover of a violent artillery fire, and at about 10 o'clock the fighting began in earnest. At that time the Germans attacked our line from the Ypres-Poelcappelle road to within a short distance of the Menin Road, and they were attacking the front in the vicinity of the Ypres-Railway, to the north, and in the south of which their strongest and most determined assaults were delivered.

Front Penetrated.
"Under this pressure, our front was penetrated at some points around Przemysl, and at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon the Germans were attacked between the Zonnebeke road and the railway in order to recover the lost ground. Our offensive was conducted most gallantly, but was checked before long by the fire of machine guns.

"Meanwhile, the enemy launched another attack through the woods south of the Menin road, at the same time threatened our left to the north of Ypres with fresh masses. Most desperate fighting ensued, the German troops were driven back, and gradually forcing our troops back, though only for a short distance, in spite of repeated counter-attacks.

"During the night, the fighting continued to rage with ever-increasing fury. It is impossible to say at exactly what hour the counter-attacks were made at different points, but it is certain that at one time the enemy's infantry poured through along the Poelcappelle road and even got as far as Wieldje at 9 p.m.

"There was also a considerable gap in our front at Przemysl, where the German detachments had penetrated. At both points counter-attacks were organized without delay. To the east of the salient, the Germans were driven back to Przemysl, but there they made a firm stand and, under pressure of fresh reinforcements, we fell back again toward Ypres.

"Northeast of the salient a counter-attack carried out by us about 1 a.m. was more successful. Our troops swept the enemy out of Wieldje at the bayonet's point, leaving the village strewn with German dead, and pushing on, regained most of the ground to the north of that point.

"And so the fight surged to and fro throughout the night. All around the scene of the conflict the sky was lit up by the flashes of the guns and the light of blazing villages and farms, while against this background of smoke and flame, looking out in the murky night over the crumbling ruins of the old town, rose the battered wreck of the cathedral tower and the spires of Cloth Hall.

Climax of the Battle.
"When Sunday dawned, there came a short respite, and the firing for a time died down. The comparative lull time did not prevent us from reorganizing and consolidating our position on the new line we had taken up and to obtain some rest after the fatigues of the night. It did not last long, however, and in the afternoon the climax of the battle was reached, for, under the cover of intense artillery fire, the Germans launched no less than five separate assaults against the east of the salient.

"To the north and northeast their attacks were pressed so hard as the south of the Menin road, where the fighting was especially fierce. In the latter direction, masses of infantry were hurled on with absolute desperation and were beaten off with corresponding slaughter.

Northward Escaped.
"At one point, north of the town, 500 of the enemy advanced from the wood, and it is affirmed by those present that not a single man of them escaped.

"On the eastern face at 6:30 p.m. an endeavor was made to storm the grounds of the Chateau Heugue, a little north of the Menin road, but the force attempting it broke and fell back under the hail of shrapnel poured upon them by our guns. It was on this day where the enemy made their concentrated fire of guns, Maxim's and rifles, again and again in their efforts to break their way through, that the Germans incurred their heaviest losses, and the ground was literally heaped with dead.

"They evidently, for the time at least, were unable to renew their attacks, and their pressure on the line of their offensive gradually slackened, the hours of darkness passing in quietness.

Rob the British Dead.
"During the day our troops saw some of the enemy busily employed in stripping the British dead in our abandoned trenches, east of the Hooge Chateau, and several Germans afterwards were noticed dressed in khaki.

"So far as the Ypres region is concerned, the loss for us was most successful, but our losses were comparatively slight, and, owing to the targets presented by the enemy, the action resolved itself on our part into pure killing.

"The reason for this very determined effort to crush our left on the part of the Germans is not clear. It is probable that for some days previously they had been in possession of information, which led them to suppose that we intended to apply pressure on the right of our line, and that their great attack upon Ypres on the 7th, 8th and 9th was undertaken with a view to diverting us from that purpose.

Destruction Very Terrible.
"The failure of their effort was due to the splendid endurance of our troops, who held the line around the salient under a fire which again and again blotted out whole lengths of the defences, and killed the defenders by scores. Time after time, along those parts of the front where the assault was parrets destroyed, and time after time did the thinning band of survivors build them up again and await the next onset as steadily as before.

FOE EXPERIENCES THIRD FAILURE IN ATTACK ON BRITISH

LONDON, May 12.—8:35 p.m.—An official communication, giving a report of Field Marshal Sir John French, dated May 12, was issued tonight.

"East of Ypres, last evening, we repulsed another German attack south of the Menin road. This was the third costly failure experienced by the Germans at this place yesterday.

"Elsewhere along the front there is no change in the situation."

VIOLENT FIGHTING CONTINUES.
PARIS, May 12.—10:23 p.m.—The following official communication was issued tonight:

"The fighting to the north of Arras continues with extreme violence. During the course of last night the enemy reinforced, delivered several counter-attacks, which, however, were without result.

"It is that directed against Neuville St. Vaast, our opponents suffered particularly heavy losses. We found in the cemetery alone, more than 200 bodies of Germans, and we took about 100 prisoners.

"A second attack, between Carey and Ablain, was likewise repulsed. A third, from the direction of Ablain was also completely checked.

"This morning we made progress in the wood to the east of Carey, taking 125 prisoners. The progress continued in the afternoon. We have, besides, taken three successive lines of trenches bordering the wood to the north of Carey, after which we penetrated the wood, thus threatening very closely the last line of communication which remains open to the defenders of that position.

"Finally, we have taken a new part of the village, capturing there 400 prisoners.

"In the afternoon we attacked that section of Neuville St. Vaast, which the enemy still holds, and fighting in the streets gave to us the mastery of several groups of houses. Our progress here continues.

"The total number of prisoners made by us since Sunday, had reached, this evening, 4,000.

"On the rest of the front we brought to a sudden halt by our fire, three German attacks—near Berry-Au-Bac, Beauséjour and Marie Therese Bagatelle."

GERMAN REPORT.
BERLIN, May 12.—(via London, 5:58 p.m.)—The German army headquarters today gave out a report on the progress of hostilities, which reads as follows:

"Visitors of the enemy yesterday dropped bombs on our positions, doing any damage, from a military point of view.

"East of Ypres we took an important hill. Dunkirk was bombarded by our artillery. East of Dixmude we shot down a British flying machine.

"Trenches taken by the French during the past few days, between Carencle and Neuville, north of Arras, are still in their possession. Otherwise, all the attempts of the enemy made yesterday to break through our lines were in vain. His attacks were confined chiefly against our positions to the east and southeast of Vermeles, in the Lorette Hills, and at the villages of Ablain and Carey, as well as against our positions to the east and southeast of Arras.

"Other advances broke down with very heavy losses to the enemy. An attempt by our opponents to take Hartmans-Wellerkopf again resulted in failure. It is a fact that after vigorous preparations by artillery, French Alpine chasseur penetrated into the blockhouse situated on top of the hill, but they were immediately thrown out again."

ROME CORRESPONDENT SAYS ITALY HAS DECIDED ON ACTION

[Canadian Press.]

GENEVA, via Paris, May 12.—1:25 a.m.—The correspondent at Rome of the Journal De Geneve says he is able to affirm that Italy's intervention in the war has been absolutely decided upon. "The Government," the correspondent adds, "shortly will take steps which will leave no doubt about Italy's intention, and when the cabinet appears before Parliament May 20 that body will ratify an accomplished fact."

The Austrian Government has issued an order that all Austrian ships in Italian waters proceed at once to Trieste or Pola.

Germans arriving in Switzerland from Italy say it is no longer safe to speak German on the streets of Milan or Turin. They say that several Germans have been handled roughly by crowds. Two are reported to have been nearly lynched at Brescia.

PANIC SCENES ON BORDER.

LONDON, May 12.—The Evening News has received a dispatch from its correspondent at Lugano, in Switzerland, not far from the Italian frontier, who says that scenes of indescribable panic are occurring on the border. Several thousand Italians are waiting for trains to take them back to Italy. At Udine, in northeastern Italy, the mayor of the city is providing temporary accommodations for the increased population.

Italian steamers, the correspondent continues, are bringing from Zara, in Dalmatia, hundreds of Austro-Italians who are fearful of reprisals at the hands of the Austrians.

BASEL, Switz., May 12.—The Swiss Government is today sending more troops to the southern frontier of the republic, especially to Lugano, because of recent anti-German demonstrations. It is estimated that 10,000 Germans from Italy are in and near Lugano. Local agitators have marched in procession in front of the Lugano hotels, particularly those occupied by Germans, calling out to them insulting phrases. The Lugano police apparently are finding difficulty in dealing with the crowds.

Turk Capital Torn by Riots; Many Are Dead

Mobs by Thousands Plunder Shops and Hotels—Sultan's Guard Out.

GENEVA (via Paris), May 12.—The Journal de Geneve has received a dispatch from Saloniki saying that many persons have been killed or injured in the course of riots in the capital.

Mobs numbering thousands pillaged the principal shops and hotels. The sultan's guard has been called out.

NORSWORTHY'S BODY CANNOT BE PLACED IN INGERSOLL GRAVE

Make No Exceptions, Says War Office, Answering Relatives' Request.

[Special to the Advertiser.]
INGERSOLL, May 12.—As a final answer to his relatives' request for the body of his son, the late Major Edward C. Norsworthy, sent to Canada, J. C. Norsworthy, of this town, has been notified that the war office has decided in cases of this kind. It is pointed out in the communication that even Prince Maurice of Battenburg was buried where he fell.

Mr. Norsworthy is also informed that Canadian regiments have a plot of their own, where their officers are buried. The graves are carefully marked and after the war it will be possible to visit them.

Unstrung, Unsteady Shaky Nerves

MAY BE TONED UP BY USING

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. John Harper, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for the heart and nervous system. I was confined to a grocery store for twelve years, and had to give up business, as I became terribly rundown and nervous, and had heart trouble, and I am sure I am gaining very fast now. I feel that nothing did me any good until I tried your Heart and Nerve Pills. I am a positive believer that you will cure me. The nerves of one hand would tremble and then seem to go numb so that I could not write or sew. Now my hand is quite steady, as you can see by my handwriting. This is a big change, which delights me so much, for I thought all was done that could be done. I was about to give up in despair when I tried this last remedy, and even after I had only taken half a box the change started to come."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will restore the enfeebled, overworked, exhausted, overworked system to full constitutional power.

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct by The E. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

INQUIRY HINGES AROUND SON OF MURDERED MAN

Had Never Fired a Gun in His Life, Though They Had One.

WHOSE RIG DROVE HIM?

[Special to the Advertiser.]
GODERICH, May 12.—The fourth session of the coroner's jury inquiring into the Robert Bean murder was held in the township hall at Smith's Falls at 2 p.m. today. Robert Bean, first witness, said when his mother woke him up on the night of the murder he went to the barn and to the horse which his father had used that day, one trace and the holdback straps were broken. He helped put the horse in the barn, and then drove over to Col. Varcoe's, where he had a gun at the house, but he had never fired off a gun in his life.

He and his brothers have been trying to locate the man who drove his brother, Dave, and a bicycle to town and back that night, but without success. Wm. Bean helped his brother to put the horse in that night. He said he was told Constable Whiteside that it was too bad his brother Dave was out that night.

Gordon Bissett, told of driving home from Mr. Bean's Fall Hill meeting several rigs on the road. He had an idea he had seen a rig with a bicycle in it sometime, but could not swear it was on that day.

David Bean, now sick, Mrs. Bean said her son Dave was sick in bed and Dr. Gallow furnished a certificate to that effect. She said the detectives had been at their place several times and talked to Dave, and he also went to town to see the detectives. Her son was a very quiet boy, she said. Mr. and Mrs. James Glen heard the shot and a rig going up the road which sounded like a heavy rig.

One Wheelman Identified.
Mr. Veitch, of Goderich, was driving home and met a man near Loyal pushing a wheel. He also met another man with a wheel on which there was a light. Robert McIlwain said he was riding a bicycle that night with a light. Mr. E. Patterson, who found the body, told of meeting two men on the road, one of whom he identified as the rig going to the ditch where the body was found and out again a little farther on.

Connecting Up "Rigmen."
Bert Smith's Hill, arriving home in about four minutes, and thought he was only home about five minutes when he heard the shot fired. Mr. Durbin, of Dunganston, left Goderich at 9:30 and met Varcoe's car at Smith's Hill about 20 minutes to 11 p.m. He arrived home at 11:30.

Thos. Gundry, county constable, who has been looking for the man whom David Bean claimed drove him into town, but has failed to find him. He also drove over the road with the horse

Vanderbilt's Words Save the Kiddies Will Be Historic

Tribute Paid to American Millionaire by Bishop of London.

LONDON, May 12.—6:55 p.m.—"There is one incident in the world which will be remembered in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania," said the Bishop of London today while presiding at a meeting of the Waifs and Strays Society.

"When Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was face to face with death he said to his valet: 'Come and let us save the kiddies.' Those words will run round the world in a way no millionaire's millions could ever do."

GERMANY WITHDRAWS WARNINGS FROM PAPERS

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 12.—The German embassy tonight notified by letter and telegraph newspapers in all of the larger cities of the United States to discontinue the publication of its advertisements warning Americans against trans-Atlantic travel on beligerent ships.

No reason for discontinuing the advertisement is given in the letters and telegrams, but it was stated at the embassy tonight that it was considered to have been sufficient.

ORISIS MAY FOLLOW GERMANY'S INSULT TO CHILEAN PEOPLE

Kaiser Has Blundered Into Tight Corner—Attempts To Dictate.

[Canadian Press.]
NEW YORK, May 12.—A London cable to the Times says: "German diplomacy has blundered into a situation which may prove almost as acute as, though different in kind from, that caused in the United States by the sinking of the Lusitania. Diplomatic secrecy is being strictly maintained pending the exchange of communications, but it is learned on excellent authority that these latter have taken such a tone that the severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries concerned is considered highly probable.

"The incident began with Chile's acceptance of the British apology for the violation of her neutrality in territorial waters. Berlin resented this acceptance and conveyed its dissatisfaction to Santiago in terms which insulted and constituting an unwarrantable interference with the sovereign rights of the country. Chile responded by what was prac-

DETROIT WITHOUT STREET CARS TODAY

[Canadian Press.]
DETROIT, Mich., May 12.—No city street car was being operated in Detroit at 7 o'clock this morning as the result of a strike called by Detroit United Railway conductors and motormen because of the company's refusal to reinstate a motorman who had been discharged for alleged carelessness in the handling of his car. The strike vote was taken during the early morning hours and was practically unanimous.

Although the walkout had been threatened for 24 hours, thousands of factory employees and downtown workmen, who had depended on the street cars, were from one to three hours late in reporting at their work. No disorder was in evidence when the men took their cars to the barn on the final run. Extra squads of police were called out, however, and steps taken to quell any disturbance which might arise.

RUSSIAN, OUTNUMBERED, REARRANGE THEIR LINE

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, May 12.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd gives the following official statement regarding Russian military operations:

"In the fighting between the Viestula and the Carpathians May 8 and 9 the Germans planned to break our front by the lightning rapidity of the blow directed at the neighborhood of Kroono by seven divisions of the flower of the German army after a heavy artillery preparation. At the end of a demonstration, six more divisions appeared on this front where our army was tremendously outnumbered.

Seized With Paralysis Could Not Walk

Most Extraordinary Cure Effected by the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

To have the nervous system paralyzed, to be unable to walk and scarcely able to talk, and then to be completely cured, is not a usual experience, but Mr. Hyatt tells in this letter what he passed through. Doctors told him his case was hopeless, and when they gave up he turned to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and obtained complete cure.

Mr. Avery Hyatt, blacksmith, St. Ann, Lincoln County, Ont., writes: "I am a blacksmith by trade, and ten years ago became afflicted with paralysis. I could not walk or read or write, and could talk with difficulty, so that it was a hard matter to understand anything I would say. Being only a young man, I was nearly discouraged. Two doctors told me it was brought on by overwork, and that my case was hopeless.

"One day my father read about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and advised me to try it. I bought 12 boxes, and when the fifth was used I saw that I was getting better. By the time the 12 boxes were used I was cured. I am well and strong and working every day, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

This statement is certified to by Mr. Elmon J. Hodgkins, J. P. No ailment is more dreaded than paralysis. And yet how few people realize that paralysis of the nerves is only the natural result of neglected nervous troubles.

At first you do not sleep well, have nervous headaches or indigestion, find yourself easily irritated and annoyed, can hear noises which in good health you would never notice. You do not consider yourself sick, and yet you lack the usual energy and vigor and feel out of sorts.

Restore the nerves by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50. All dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

London Advertiser

LONDON, THURSDAY, MAY 13.

THE JUSTICE OF OUR CAUSE.

IN SPITE of the fact that Great Britain is fighting a war without a parallel for lofty principle and noble self-sacrifice, there are many unfair statements made by those who cannot reconcile the slaughter of hundreds of thousands with anything but national selfishness.

In the United States, for instance, the Hearst papers, among others, have sneered at Britain's humanitarian claims and have constantly kept before readers their suggestion that selfishness lies at the root of the war and that Britain is quite as selfish as Germany and quite as much to blame, after what they are pleased to call the "surface" causes are swept away.

Every Canadian citizen should combat the use of such arguments, especially when they are frequently retailed in this country by those who run to German philosophy and who take a cynical view of virtue among any of the great powers.

An American, who may be pardoned for the long-established prejudice that Britain is ruled by classes and is virtually as much a monarchy as Germany, stated to The Advertiser that he could not get away from the belief that the war was a war of selfishness, and that while he detested German practices, he could not give credit for genuine motives to the Governments of any of the warring nations. He contended that Britain would have been in the war no matter if Belgium had been overrun or not, and asked pointedly if Canadians supposed Britain would have kept out of the war if the coast of France had been threatened with possession. Would Britain then have stood aside? Would she have allowed the French coast to be fortified?

His argument lay in the contention that Germany was jealous of Britain and Britain was jealous of Germany commercially. He believed that Britain wanted Germany removed for commercial reasons, and asked if Britain would have held back if her commerce was threatened. We replied that until there was a direct menace in the policy of Germany, Britain would have kept out of the war.

"Direct menace to Britain's trade?" he asked. Our reply was that trade meant national existence, and that, therefore, if Germany sought to control Britain's trade—a trade which held a door open to German and all other manufacturers—it would be an attempt to crush Britain.

We asked the American what act of Germany's would justify HIS country in protecting its trade. If Germany were jealous of rivals in trade and if that lay at the bottom of Britain's action, where did the United States stand, as a great trading nation, in Germany's future plans, and how far would the United States have permitted these plans to go forward? How long would Germany tap at America's tariff gate with a silk-gloved hand, and how long would Germany permit the United States to extend her world-wide manufacturing policy? If Germany struck at Britain in theory for trade reasons, how far removed was the United States from a further extension of the reach of the Germans?

We maintained that Britain would not have been in this war unless as a result of a direct threat on her possessions, either trade or colonial, from Germany. We maintained that Britain was fighting the battle of democracy and we believe that though this affirmation has become old through repetition, yet the very obvious justice of the cause has caused to a certain degree a diminution of its circulation.

The coin of Britain's cause is pure gold. Perhaps it is because pure gold is rare that the cynics and the uninformed doubt us. We do not speak politically when, with most sincere conviction, we say that the present British Government has been at work in the manufacture of that pure gold of democracy for many years. Whatever of class rule in Britain held force has gone long ago. The common people of Britain rule, and today all of Britain's people are the common people—it might even be more worthy to say that all are of the truest higher class. Whatever in the ages gave caste to certain members of the race is now being shared by all. The deeds of heroic self-abnegation, and traditional bravery are the common possession. All men are the finest in Britain. The whole nation has come to the highest standards of democracy. From his majesty the King we have words that express the fellowship and brotherhood he feels for all. There are no humble soldiers in the British ranks. All are great, all have given their all. The proudest deeds that won baronies and vast estates in bygone ages have been eclipsed by the baron's descendant and the butler's son. Britain has made her aristocracy all-embracing and she has made her democracy all-embracing. Terms count no more. All are one. The oneness of Great Britain is terrible, and it is based on human affection and blood brotherhood that men like Lloyd George have fostered in the nation.

Britain is at war today because Belgium was vilely outraged. There is no other cause, for all other causes have been absorbed in the one human call of suffering. Britain, of course, fights for existence, just as the knight of old, who went to the rescue of some tyrant's prey, fought for existence when the monster turned upon him. Indeed, the monster is now more intent upon the rescuer than its original victims. The fact stands bold and impregnable that it was for Belgium and Belgium alone that Britain took up the sword and risked everything.

All other considerations or suggestions are an insult to that mighty sacrifice to humanity which has thrown the world into the everlasting debt of Britain. Britain has never been so glorious as today. Out of her dreadful pangs has come a new child, a child bred of human suffering for others, a child that pulses with honor and whose blood is pure as the gold of Britain's cause, a child that feels its new life in every limb and that rises to chant, not hymns of hate, but the wonder of its mother and the glory of her wonderfulness.

Out of the loins of Germany has come a perverted, misshapen object. It has all the deformities of mind and body that ever have made humanity horrible, and these deformities breed new distortions and diseases. The infant spews hate and suckles a venom of frightfulness.

Thank God that a wise doctrine of national "eugenics" and a love for mankind have brought forth from this Mother Britain of ours in travail, a conception so splendid of what the Man who Perished would have us bear as the nation's child. The most noble offspring of the great British family has been the New Child that symbolizes the British spirit of today. That child is the legitimate offspring of justice and honor. And may the good Lord make of it a powerful giant for the redress of the heaping measure of our enemy's wrongdoing.

THE WESTERN'S NEED. THERE is any one thing in which the citizens of London would heartily unite in providing sufficient funds to enable the Western University to attain its mission, especially as the amount required for this purpose is comparatively small. A quarter of a mill may mean the difference between a magnificent success and a long drawn out period of mediocrity. If the present aims of the governing bodies are successful, the Western will unquestionably rise at once to a prominent position among Canadian universities. If not, it will remain an inferior institution.

There is only one thing necessary if the city of London wishes to have the credit that the Premier of British Columbia has been freely spoken of as the logical successor to Sir Robert Borden in the leadership of the party in the Dominion, nor that both of them should be considered prominent candidates for the commission-ship in Britain, or thought worthy to represent Canada in the motherland.

PROHMAN'S CAREER. THE prominent personalities who went down with the Lusitania, perhaps Charles Frohman stands out as the one of greatest fame, the one who achieved most. In the world of the American stage and the drama generally he was the most pronounced force. Years ago he was nicknamed the Napoleon of the American stage and in his productions and experiments he displayed the boldness and originality of the Little Corporal. For a quarter of a century he has been a dominating figure in all things theatrical. Because he has not held any executive position with it for years, it is not generally known that it was Frohman's organizing ability which launched the "Syndicate." As somebody has pointed out, despite the many sins that have been charged to him, the "Syndicate" lifted to a smooth-running, businesslike basis a business that had become chaotic with irresponsibility, and it was Charles Frohman's brain and vigor that was mainly responsible for the change.

Of late years, Frohman's entire time has been devoted to the management of stars and the production of the works of the leading playwrights of America and Europe. Through his hands went the majority of the most successful dramas, comedies, farces, spectacles and musical comedies of the last decade. Frohman never produced cheaply, and as a result many poetic productions were staged in the United States and Canada with a lavishness that will keep them a bright and inspiring memory for thousands.

EDITORIAL NOTES. Exit Roblin! Roblin has been wobbling for some time. Peace at any price comes high when a nation's self-esteem is a part of the payment. It is now up to Manitoba Liberalism to show the country what the new Liberalism can do for a province. The "million dollar mystery" of Manitoba has been explained. And T. C. Norris, M. P. P., wins the capital prize. Quebec man wants to marry a girl who is in jail, but can't get her out. Evidently Quebec locksmen have put one over on Love. A Berlin paper says the Kaiser has received excellent advice from His Sublime Majesty the Sultan. Also from His Satanic Majesty Beelzebub. Now that violent speech of Hon Robert Rogers has an explanation. A general election might have meant the indefinite postponement of the Manitoba inquiry. Sir Rodmond Roblin throws himself upon the mercy of the historians. Well, history often handles a whitewash man as well as a tar smear and he may be safe. Local druggists report a heavy demand from the States for cocaine and other "dope." The Lusitania slaughter must have brought on an attack of "nerves."

You can never tell. From his long and venerable whiskers you would think Von Tirpitz was anything but the instigator of the Lusitania fiasco. And it was a son of his, who, rescued from the sea by the British and his wounds carefully nursed, led a mutiny and tried to kill his guards. A fine breed that!

Hearst, through his yellow sheets, has been telling the people of the United States that Great Britain is just as ruthless as the Germans. Since the war began his journals have been ardently pro-German, which has taken the form of lying attacks in cartoon and editorial on things British. Even his worstness dare not cheer the latest and bravest of the Hun's atrocities, however, so he attempts to make it appear that the British are no better than the submarine fiends. It was a Hearst's son of San Francisco which sent a tubload of fresh eatables and luxuries out to the German cruiser Lepel, which at that time was off the port. This was a breach of neutrality, but on top of that those aboard the tug gave the Germans information as to the whereabouts of the British Pacific fleet, and a few days later Craddock and his brave men went to their death fighting a greatly superior German squadron.

German Nation Approves Crime. A NATIONAL ACTION. [Ottawa Free Press.] The German people are not content to allow the submarine or the Government to have all the "credit" for the awful deed. They are glorying in their "success" in the last remnant of the idea that we were fighting the rulers of the German people on the ground that they had given warning, are correctly stigmatized by the New York Herald today as being on a par with the Jack-the-Ripper crimes that are now being carried on in New York. Warnings are being sent to mothers that their children will be murdered—and the murderer followed Germany's course? The same in principle; she is seeking to terrorize her opponents, and, indeed, the whole world, by "rightfulness." Will she succeed? Never. The hearts of her opponents are not filled with terror at such deeds. They are set on fire.

GERMANY'S LATEST CRIME. [Montreal Herald.] Germany and Austria, according to the cables, are in an ecstasy of gloom over the great victory achieved in the sinking of the Lusitania. If a last touch were needed to show how far moral leprosy has eaten in the heart of the nations, it is supplied by this disgusting ory of unholy joy. There is, however, another aspect to these rejoicings which should not be forgotten.

Ten Minutes With the Short-Story Writers. THE HUNGER TEST. By Theodore Roberts. Author of "Under Bare Poles," "The Admiral," etc. When cold and hunger have possession of both sides of the door, when one's teeth are set on edge as real for when the shadow of wolf haunts the hearth, long-jawed and hollow-flanked—this is the test of a man's character.

GIRLS! HAVE BEAUTIFUL, LUSTROUS, FLUFFY HAIR—25 CENT DANDERINE. No more dandruff or falling hair—A real surprise awaits you. To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knott's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it as a little as 25 cents, and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks use when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itching scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once. If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

"Won't You Come Into My Parlor?" Says Spider to Butterflies of Fashion

Unwary fashion has been caught in a spider web. The hat of the moment is the spider-web hat, and it's the creation of Miss Virginia Rappe, a young woman who has left fashion designing to the plane of a fine art.

THE BACKYARD GARDEN

HOW TO GET EARLY VEGETABLES IN BACKYARD GARDEN

CHAPTER XXIV. FORCING PLANTS UNDER GLASS. [By Victor Spade.] If the backyard gardener has decided to construct a cold-frame, which will be found well worth its cost, there are several things he should know about handling the seedlings which he is going to transplant.

BABY'S OWN SOAP

THE particles of pure vegetable oil which are rubbed into the open pores of the skin with the creamy fragrant lather of Baby's Own Soap renew the life of the skin—help nature along. It assures a soft, white, healthy skin and its use delights both young and old. Baby's Own is for sale almost everywhere.

THE KEEP-WELL COLUMN SLEEP BEST FOR FRAYED NERVES; HOW TO PREVENT A BREAKDOWN

When one is indulging in natural sleep, forces within us are busy repairing the delicate nervous system, and putting it in first-class working order for another day of wear and tear.

Forced to do without this nightly recuperation, the nerve cells are weakened, they lose their normal vigor and size, and if continued for too long a period, nervous prostration and all its attendant ills is brought on.

Children in grammar school should never have less than ten hours' sound sleep, while those from 15 to 17 years of age should have almost as much.

When one cannot sleep naturally for the required number of hours, do not recourse to drugs. If you do your nerves and then your health will suffer.

There are more hygienic ways of inducing sleep, such as a brisk walk in the open air, followed by complete rest.

COVER THE FOOD MATERIALS

In the home the ideal of the housewife should be to prepare food in a hygienic manner for her family, and to keep it hygienic while it awaits consumption.

Meats, gelatin, milk and butter absorb impurities more readily than other food products and always should be kept securely covered from agents of contamination.

Meats should be washed thoroughly before being placed in pan or pot and in the case of steaks and chops and other small cuts, the outer skin or suet should be thoroughly rinsed before they are cooked.

Here's the Tuxedo Girl, How D'ye Like Her?

Advertiser Illustrations. Equal clothes-rights with men! That's the important plank in the Summer Girl's clothes-policy and she's already putting it in practice—behold the Tuxedo coat!

It was Miss Virginia Rappe, of Paris and Chicago, an artist whose medium is clothes, and not paints nor oils nor clay—who first invaded the masculine wardrobe, carried off the Tuxedo coat idea and immediately converted it into a chic, little street suit, attractive enough to wear to a tea, and practical enough for a shopping tour of an out-of-town journey.

"Personality is the secret of dress," says Miss Rappe. "If women would study their individual style and their temperament as well, and dress to suit their personality, Canadian women would be the best dressed women in the world's wardrobe."

Miss Rappe's Tuxedo is a three-piece costume made of English green and blue mixture. The waistcoat like a coat is patterned exactly after the masculine garments; the skirt is only two yards wide.

The man who invented stockings would have earned our everlasting gratitude if he had gone just a step further and made a sort that wouldn't go "holey." But since he neglected his plain duty in this matter we have to make up for it by repairing neatly and as best we may the yawning holes that greet us when we least expect them.

It is a great mistake to wear a stocking after the first break has appeared in it without at once repairing the damage. Truly in the case of stockings a stitch in time saves nineteen or twenty stitches half a day later.

You should always begin to mend your stockings on the wrong side. Put the needle in a full half inch to the right of the hole and slightly above it where the cloth is firm. Extend a vertical line (that is, a line that runs up and down), of small stitches the same distance below the hole; now turn and keep your second line as of stitches very close to the first and see that spaces are always opposite stitches. At the end of each row leave a little loop to allow for shrinking when the stocking goes to the laundry. Each row of stitches should be a little longer than the one before until the centre of the hole is reached; then they should be graduated on the other side in proportion, so that a diamond shaped darn is made.

When you begin to darn across the hole be sure to pick up every other stitch, so as to weave the darn together. Be sure to begin this cross stitch the same distance above. See that the wool threads, as they are called, are packed closely, and do not forget the loops. Make this part of the darn also diamond shaped. Above the edge of the hole there will be torn loops of the stocking. Pass your needle through and under these loops, throwing them upon the wrong side. Your darn, if it is made according to these instructions, will show only the woven stitches filling the hole.

Set to work in earnest to learn how to darn, all you busy young needlewomen. It is one of the most useful and helpful household arts you will ever be called upon to know.

1292-1291—(Waist 1292, Skirt 1291.)—A Pretty Summer Dress, Comprising Ladies' Waist With Chemisette, and Ladies' Shirred Skirt, that may be made in regulation or short length.

As here shown, dotted in pink and white was used, with a chemisette of Swiss embroidery. The skirt may be gathered at the waist, finished with rows of corded shirring to hip depth. The waist has a prettily shaped bodice and a small collar. Finished with a smart cuff. The sleeve in short length has a turn back cuff. Pattern 1292 supplies the waist. It is made in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 bust measure. The skirt pattern, 1291 is cut in six sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. To make the entire dress of one material will require 3 1/2 yards of 27-inch material for a medium size. The skirt measures 3 1/2 yards at the foot in regulation length.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents for each in silver or stamps.

ADVERTISER PATTERN DEPT. Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to:

Name..... Town..... Province..... Age (if child's or misses' pattern)..... Measurement—Bust..... Waist.....

CAUTION—Be careful to inclose the above illustration, and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is sent you need only mark 32, 34 or whatever it may be. When in waist measure, 22, 24, 26 or whatever it may be. If a skirt, give waist and length measurements. When misses' or children's size, write only the figure representing the age. It is not necessary to write "boys' or "years." Patterns cannot reach you in less than one week from date of publication.

THE SHIFTLISS HOME.

"Invite not disorder in thy home, lest her demons lay it in waste." This is a Chinese saying, so old that nobody knows now by whom it was uttered. But the sage who delivered it ages ago knew all there was to know of home life. He had looked into the hearts of men, women and children, and in this personifying disorder it was plain he regarded the quality as the dire spiritual influence which all mismanagement would exert.

The demons are not only those of violent and unruly tempers, but the harmful effects of confusion and wastefulness. Every unprofitable phase of home life was undoubtedly embraced in the profound saying, whose philosophy is as valuable today as it ever was.

To every woman who shall ever make a home, this solemn injunction was spoken. It holds all the creed of home life, and so unto the end of time it will have meaning. In spite of diversified interests and activities, women are still the keepers of the home, and upon their wisdom and love and fidelity depend most of its comfort and peace and prosperity. They are the makers of the home.

THE RUSSIAN RED CROSS. One of the wealthiest, best-organized and most powerful Red Cross associations is that of Russia. It has been organized for a great number of years.

These nurses or "sisters" receive a training of two years before they are admitted into the Red Cross Society. There is an additional training of three years for the "matrons" or "physicians' assistants." These matrons receive a degree and are permitted to practice medicine.

Some of these nurses form what is called "flying detachments," and follow the troops in the field, going about on the battlefield looking for the wounded. Their courage and devotion in the face of danger has called forth the admiration of military and medical authorities from all parts of the world.

From the battlefield the wounded soldiers are carried to the field hospital, which is usually a large tent erected some distance back from the firing line. Here the soldiers receive some preliminary treatment and are then sent to the Red Cross hospitals in the cities.

Your heart works night and day without a pause. It is the principal organ of the circulation of your blood. It is of the utmost importance that it should do its work well. The quality and quantity of your blood have much to do with its action. If this fluid is pure and abundant, your heart and other vital organs act with more energy than when it is defective, quality or deficient in amount.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure and abundant. It is the one old reliable medicine that has been sold for forty years for purifying the blood. There is no better blood remedy, appetizer, stomach tonic or nerve builder.

Be sure your druggist gives you Hood's, for nothing else can possibly take its place. Get it today.

Best Aggregation of Twirlers Ever Gathered by the Canadian Club—First Base Is Also Furnishing a Problem For Local Manager—Hoch and Vogt Are Both Good.

[BY BERT PERRY] All but seven players were taken to Stratford at noon today by Manager Reisling. Some of the regulars were left at home in order to give the London pilot a line on the recruits in a ball game. Danford, Eckstein, Reddy, Dowell, Sandebach, Hammond and Hutchinson remained in the city and conducted a practice among themselves in Tecumseh Park both morning and afternoon. Eckstein is suffering a little from a stiff and sore elbow where he stopped one of Evans' fast ones in yesterday's game. The other players are all in good shape, however. Schaffer Reports. Jack Schaffer, the former Guelph and Erie star, reported yesterday afternoon and will be taken to Stratford. He will likely appear at third base during the game. League as an infielder with Guelph, playing second base. If he can play third base fairly well it is likely he will beat Hess out of the job. Schaffer plays the ball well, but has shown little stick work at present. Manager Reisling will have a difficult problem picking a first sacker. Both Hoch and Vogt look good, and it is hard to say which is the better of the two. Hoch is a left-hander, and has a lot of Louis Bierbauer's style about him. He plays the ball well, but is rather short for the position. He is a

[BY BERT PERRY] Manager Reisling and his London players will appear today for the first time this season in a ball game that will go to the regulation distance. The team leaves at noon for Stratford to open the season in the Classic City against the former formidable Wobblly League team known as the Grand Trunks. The local club enjoyed a good workout yesterday and this morning in preparation for the game. Only one man reached first base in the three innings, Dunn dropping Hammond's easy fly in the third, with one man gone. Nothing resembling a hit was made by the Yans during the innings Joseph pitched. George Morgan succeeded Labate and two hits and one run were piled upon him. Hammond in Box. For the Regulars "Cup" Hammond pitched four innings, and Evans, the big new left-hander, was in the box for two innings. Each excited themselves out and did not try to put anything on the ball. TELLS OF GODLESS CITY

Large Number in Adelaide Street Baptist Church Hear Chas. Maynard. There was a large congregation in Adelaide Street Baptist Church last night to listen to Mr. Chas. Maynard, of this city, relate his experiences of an evangelistic mission recently held at Drumright, Oklahoma, the centre of one of the largest fields in the world. Mr. Maynard spent ten weeks there in company with the Messers, Bro. Brothers, evangelists and former members of the Adelaide Street Church.

The oil city has been only three years in existence, yet has today a population of nearly 25,000 people, ministered to by a small M. E. Church of some sixty members. Near the centre of the city are the features of the "mushroom" city: blind pigs, gambling joints, red light districts, etc., of the most vicious type. Near the waterfront is a wooden tabernacle to seat 1,500 was erected, in which two services daily were held for two weeks, and some 100,000 people were converted to God. The speaker urged the people to pray for one of the most godless cities on the American continent, and intimated that a second campaign may be undertaken in the fall.

BOAT STRIKES BOY

Boy Gardiner, the 15-year-old son of James Gardiner, 209 Main street, was knocked down at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets this morning by an automobile owned by Dr. F. L. Burton. The car was attempting to pass a southbound car. He was taken to Victoria Hospital in the doctor's car, and the latter, with other physicians, after an examination, pronounced the lad's injuries not very serious.

The automobile approached the rear of the street car just as the boy was crossing the street. The driver made a last-minute attempt to avoid running down the lad by swerving towards the street car, which was struck by the automobile. The machine ran on past the step of the car, knocking down young Gardiner.

Dr. Burton immediately alighted and, according to the policeman on duty at the corner, voluntarily shouldered all the blame for the accident. He had the boy taken to the hospital, afterwards driving to the home of the parents and notifying them of the happening.

By private cable to the Advertiser Driver Brooker was reported wounded and appeared officially in Monday's list. He enlisted with the 7th Canadian Cavalry Engineers, in this city, and prior to the war was an employee of Smallman & Ingram.

As the special to the Advertiser only closed in the roadway, and he admitted to a base hospital in England, and made no mention of serious wounds, he is believed to be only slightly wounded.

BUT SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

Mother of Clement Bowker Writes for Information. J. S. C. Brooker, brother of Driver Clement Brooker, of the Divisional Engineers, first contingent, late Canadian Engineers, in this city, H. Bennett, of the 7th Field Company, Canadian Engineers, for particulars of his brother's wounds.

The doctor stated afterwards that Driver Brooker was reported wounded and appeared officially in Monday's list. He enlisted with the 7th Canadian Cavalry Engineers, in this city, and prior to the war was an employee of Smallman & Ingram.

As the special to the Advertiser only closed in the roadway, and he admitted to a base hospital in England, and made no mention of serious wounds, he is believed to be only slightly wounded.

CLOSING MEETING HELD

Mothers' Club of Alexandra School Held Excellent Address. The closing meeting of the Mothers' Club of Alexandra School was held last evening at the home of Mrs. J. M. Rowntree, 5 Stanley street. An excellent address was given by Mrs. J. McKenzie on "Home Life." The home life of a boy or girl, the speaker said, was one of the greatest influences in determining the character of the man or woman.

Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Rowntree, Miss McMillen and Master Harold McKenzie. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. H. Abbott; vice-president, Mrs. E. H. Hart; secretary, Mrs. McVein; treasurer, Mrs. Rowntree.

HARDWARE BUSINESS IS SOLD IN HENSALL

Moore Bros. Will Start Manufactory—Ready Changes. [Special to the Advertiser.] HENSALL, May 12.—William McLaren has purchased from Moore Bros. their hardware business. The latter intend to go into manufacturing and have rented a building on the highway near the station for that purpose.

George Follick has purchased the residence at the northwest end of the village. Frank Marshall has purchased the N. McGarrick residence on Brock street.

ALGONQUIN PARK

12TH CELEBRATION HERE WILL BE A BIG ONE

Special Notices Being Sent Out Inviting Orangemen to London. Special notices are now being sent out by the County Orange Lodge of East Middlesex inviting Orangemen from all over Western Ontario to participate in the big 12th of July celebration in this city in commemoration of the battle of the Boyne.

Part of the invitation says: London can accommodate everybody without crowding. London has many hotels, where meals may be obtained at reasonable rates. London offers liberal cash prizes for lodges, banners, bands of all kinds, sports, and a variety of program.

Many of the best orators in the Dominion will speak. London's train service is unequalled. London's hotels have already decided to come. See that your county decides to come with the crowd.

See the big military camp, where thousands of soldiers are training for defence of the Empire, many of them Orangemen. London is noted for its scenery and its many hotels, where meals may be obtained at reasonable rates.

THE DOMINION BANK

SIR EDmund B. OSLER, M.P., President. W. D. MATTHEWS, Vice-President. C. A. BOGERT, General Manager. Trust Funds Should Be Deposited in a Savings Account in the Dominion Bank. Such funds are safe in the hands of the Dominion Bank, and interest is at the highest current rate.

When payments are made, particulars of such transactions may be noted on the check issued, which in turn becomes a receipt. Another check cancelled by the bank. LONDON BRANCH: Richmond and Dundas Sts. EAST END BRANCH: Dundas and Rectory Sts. E. C. BOWKER, Manager.

Carnegie said:

"If I were reduced to poverty to-morrow and given ten dollars to start all over again—in the light of my life experience—I'd put half in a savings bank." You can start an account with us by depositing one dollar. Week by week you will find your balance grow. We add 3 1/2% compound interest to your money at stated periods. Step in this week and make a beginning.

Friends of Joe Frankum, the former Londoner, who was believed to be lost with his wife and three children when the Lusitania was torpedoed, has given up all hope for his safety. Although Frankum family had resided in Detroit for several years, he was well-known in this city, having lived here prior to his removal to the other side. He was a carpenter, and for some time, was in partnership with Alfred Hogg, late of this city, and now of Port Stanley, in a general contracting and carpentering business. It was Mr. Hogg who first identified the name Frankum as that of his late partner. Inquiries in Detroit confirmed his fears that he was the one lost.

Called Sinking of the Lusitania Premeditated Murder—Dr. Jowett Speaks Out. VANDERBILT'S PASTOR Was to Have Spoken Here at Recent Synod Meeting, But Couldn't Come. "The strongest Presbyterian divine on the North American Continent is generally regarded as Dr. J. H. Jowett, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City. Dr. Jowett recently came to his present charge from England, where his reputation as a preacher was second to none. Dr. Jowett has given addresses in Toronto and Montreal and at the Synod of Ontario in Hamilton, Ontario, in this city a few weeks ago it was expected that he would have been one of the speakers. Rev. Dr. McCrae has been in communication with Dr. Jowett, but the American minister has been unable to so arrange matters as to be present here.

ROBERT B. ROBERTSON. Calls Sinking of the Lusitania Premeditated Murder—Dr. Jowett Speaks Out. VANDERBILT'S PASTOR Was to Have Spoken Here at Recent Synod Meeting, But Couldn't Come. "The strongest Presbyterian divine on the North American Continent is generally regarded as Dr. J. H. Jowett, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City. Dr. Jowett recently came to his present charge from England, where his reputation as a preacher was second to none. Dr. Jowett has given addresses in Toronto and Montreal and at the Synod of Ontario in Hamilton, Ontario, in this city a few weeks ago it was expected that he would have been one of the speakers. Rev. Dr. McCrae has been in communication with Dr. Jowett, but the American minister has been unable to so arrange matters as to be present here.
