This raid, Rosenthal declared, followed a misunderstanding between himself and Becker. The latter, Rosenthal alleged was his partner in the profits of the establishment.

Rosenthal's Charges.

Specifically, Rosenthal's affidavits to Rosenthal that Lieut. Becker had loaned "Herman," h him $1,500 on a chattel mortgage on furniture in the Forty-Fifth street furniture in the Forty-Fifth street Rosentan, house as a share in the gambling busied out. He had reached a point not more ness done on those premises, and that Becker's share mounted to 25 per than a dozen feet from the door when ('Continued on Page Ten.) cent of the profit.

Rosenthal's charges were so sensational that the explosion of a bomb at headquarters could not have caused the department as one of out-and-out crime, which, if worthy of serious consideration at all, would be worthy of consideration before the regular crime tribunal. Inquiry Ordered. District Attorney Whitman forth-with announced that he would begin a formal investigation today.

The murder of Rosenthal before dayassessed a fixed sum for police protection.

Rosenthal had for a time, he explained, been the proprietor of a gambling house on West Forty-Fifth street, which after a raid Becker, head a Becker, head a by Police Lieutenant Becker, head of the so-called strongarm squad.

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRAOT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Mrs. Shaw Lunn, Falmouth, N.S., writes. "I am dropping you a line to let you now what Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has done for us. Last summer my little girl had diarrheen so had she passed blood. A friend told me of the Extract, so I sent and got a bottle of it, and six doses cured her. In December, 1911, my brother came home from the woods very bad with cramps and diarand thought he would have to call the dector. I thought of the bottle of "Dr. Fewler's" I had in the house, and gave it to him, and in three days he was as well as ever and went back to his work again. I would not be without it in the bouse if it cost twice as well? e if it cost twice as much,"

See that you get Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry when you ask for it.

HELD FOR PERJURY

County Constable Makes a Serious Charge Against Sandwich Youth.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, July 15.—County Constable Frank Brown has filed a compiaint against J. W. Randall, a prom-inent Sandwich South farmer, charging perjury. Randall recently pro-cured a summons against Joseph Ker-by aged 18 years, charging him with the theft of a watch, revolver and sum of money. The lad denied the charge, and Constable Brown says on investigation he found Randall swore to a false statement and that the articles alleged to have been stolen were in Randall's possession.

BORDER DETECTIVES WATCH FOR DESERTER

Think He May Come to Canada to See His Mother.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, July 15. - The United States army authorities at Washington have forwarded a photograph and description to the police here of William H. Healy, who recently deserted from the infantry at Fort Riley. The man gave his home as Detroit at the time of his enlistment, but his mother lives in Sudbury, Canada, and the officials are of the opinion that he may pass through here on his way to Sudbury. A reward of $50 is offered for the man's apprehension. A telegram was received at the police station today from the chief constable in Tobermoray, asking the officers to stop the tug Aurilla, with four scows in tow, and secure a small boat which was taken from there yesterday. The dispatch states either to collect $15 or hold the tug until a warrant is forwarded to make the necessary arrest. The case is outside the province of the local police, and the telegram was turned over to Provincial tective Acton to act upon. So far as is known the Aurilla has not passed this port up to the present.

A Fine Rain.

A heavy rainstorm of short duration passed over Sarnia today from the west. Before the rain ceased the wind swung from w st to north and blew down the river with unusual force. Two drunks' names appeared on the blotter in police court today. One of the men, whose name is Stauffer, has been up so many times before that he drew a stiff sentence, six months in the Central Prison at hard labor. The other man, a sailor, was fined $1 and costs, and the amount was paid by the captain of the boat on which he is employed.

An Indian from the Sarnia reserve, who was arrested in Port Huron Sat-urday after imbibing, was fined $5 and costs in the police court today.

LONDON, TUESDAY, JULY 16. A BRITISH LAND REVOLUTION

COMING. The by-election in Hanley, Staffordshire, where a Liberal has just defeated a Unionist and a Laborite, had a deep significance. The Liberal candidate, Mr. Outhwaite, announced that Mr. Lloyd George intended to begin in the autumn a campaign for land reform which would transcend anything since the abolition of the corn laws greatest sympathy and optimism, nearly 70 years ago. On his own record as a land reformer, and on the strength of the promised propaganda. Mr. Outhwaite asked for election, and had his claim allowed.

The latest British newspapers to hand confirm the intimation that the Chancellor of the Exchequer is hatching another daring project. Mr. Lloyd day. He said:

"Do you know what is in front of you? A bigger task than democracy has ever yet undertaken in this land. You have got to free the landto free the land that is to this very hour shackled with the chains of feudalism. We have got to free the land from that which is a shame and disgrace to this, the richest land under the sun, a contingency which no honest, thrifty man in this country should have to face."

The Times says that at a breakfast party at Mr. George's house recently a committee was formed to prepare data and facts on which to base the new policy. Mr. Harold Spender, writing in the London Daily News, says of the work ahead of the committee:

"This inquiry will meet a great want and serve a great purpose. We are all agreed as to the evil-that draining the life-blood of the country. Look at the empty countryside -at the crowded emigrant ships-at the deserted villages and the congested towns. The facts are writ so large that he who runs may read. But when we come to remedies there are many schools of reform, as dogmatic and as quarrelsome as the religious sects. Those schools want light and leadership. Their forces must be concentrated and combined in one great sweeping movement. Only in that way shall we achieve our great end the re-conquest of England for the people of England." Mr. Garvin, the Unionist oracle, urges his party to adopt an equally bold and drastic land policy. He warns them against "dawdling" until their opponents have again taken the initiative. Writing in the Observer, he

"Take small holdings. Is it for our party which has turned Irish peasants, so lately the thralls of one of the worst land systems of Europe, into owners, to despair of re-rooting a true yeoman-bred in English soil? Is it for us to shrink from pursuing that purpose with the whole of our determination? In the present generation the state has swept away the Irish mud-cabins. Are we to more backward in improving the housing of the British rural laborer? It is nonsense to think

The rural laborer has been a melancholy figure in the economic history of It caps an Ottawa dispatch which says the United Kingdom.

"There was a time ere England's griefs When every rood of ground maintained its man."

So Goldsmith sang in "The Deserted Village, and he contrasted those days with his own time when "one only master grasps the whole domain," and

"Along the lawn where scattered hamlets rose, Unwieldy wealth and cumbrous pomp

That was 150 years ago, but the process which "usurped the land and dispossessed the swain," has gone steadily forward until today England and Scotland are the only countries in Europe with a landless peasantry. With both the old parties turning on him a benevolent eye at last, the British agricultural laborer may come into his own again. He is the only man on the land who tills the land. The British landowner rents his acres to tenants who try to imitate his style of living and refuse to soil their hands. The laborer, therefore, carries both landlord and tenant on his back. Last year the agricultural rent of the kingdom was $250,000,000. Every dollar of this, except the amount derived from sporting preserves, was squeezed out of the toil of landless laborers, in addition to the profits made by tenant farmers. The time has come for a reform which will be equivalent to a revolution.

ROSEBERY AGAINST UNIVERSITY CENTRALIZATION.

Lord Rosebery, chancellor of the University of London, occupied the chair at the opening session of the Congress of the Universities of the Empire, laiely held in London, England. His address of welcome, as might be supposed, was one of great general interest.

active leader in higher education, is paign, he will probably revert to gum and from above resorts. Write for illustrated folders and timetables telling thing, doctor, that would put me on my feet."

The part-time plan is by no means out that while England had got along with two universities till the Victorian and from above resorts. Write for illustrated folders and timetables telling other job printing offices, factories, taken over and from above resorts. Senator Bailey, of Texas, foresees are condition in the United States par-era, "Scotland had never been content with less than four." If there are any thirty years. Senator Bailey is the who imagine that an overcrowded university or two at Toronto, and another at Kingston, are good and plenty for Western Ontario, they might consider Scotland, how she grew, in health, wealth and wisdom, keeping up and kept up by four universities in a time when she had less population than has this garden of Ontario. Lord Rosebery did not need to make any comment, further than to state that England had two and Scotland four universities. His audience needed no reminders as to which country was the better educated. But in the last eighty years, espe cially in the last twelve years, a great change has come over England, and the whole British Empire, said Lord Rosebery. There are now 53 universities in the Empire. They are represented at the Congress by their delegates, the Western University, for example, by Chancellor Meredith. In England alone, Lord Rosebery reminded his hearers, no fewer than five universities have been founded since 1900. The tendency to multiplication of college centres he regarded with the

Into the consideration of university politics he carries the principles which actuate his general imperialism. "The best kind of Imperial feeling," he said, "is that of co-operation in high and noble tasks, with the common sympathy, affection and energy which would characterize the members of an immense family." Centralizing machin-George hinted at the matter in a ery he distrusts. Similarly, he purspeech at Woodford Green the other sued ,"any centralization or federation of the universities of the Empire would be poisonous and demoralizing to them, but he could not help hoping that the Congress would leave behind it some pre-eminent channel through which the universities of the Empire could continue to communicate with each other when necessity arose."

Lord Rosebery pointed out the contrast between the newer and older universities. The recent foundations to overtake it." have been created to "meet the demand of cities." They are largely municipal enterprises, meeting the demands of a democracy for good men in social life and political administration. Our many parliaments, commissions, for trained men. Modern scientific part." agriculture calls for higher and higher the English land system, the last of its nature left in Western Europe, is terest of town and country to have a terest of town and country to have a character. "You can infuse character by the tone and atmosphere of your universities and your professors," said Lord Rosebery, "The universities, are the best machines for producing the best men, who may help preserve our Empire, and even the universe itself, gazing perplexedly at her reflection in To do that he came over to Minnesota the mirror, "what was I about to do the grave conditions under which the mirror, "what was I about to do and built up a colossal fortune. well be placed in the hands of the Ontario Minister of Education or his manipulator. The chancellor of the University of London stands not for concentration, but for diffusion of advanced studies by means of municipal focation but encouragement for the efforts made by the Western University to provide Western Ontario with an opportunity of higher culture. The more universities the better is his idea.

"ENORMOUS RELIEF."

"Cut in the cement duty has given enormous relief." So reads a headline in the Toronto Mail and Empire that under the reduced duty, the importations of cement rose to 171,395 barrels last month, compared with 55,-646 barrels in June, 1911, an increase of 208 per cent. The dispatch adds:

"The general effect is that the legitimate business of the cement manufacturers has not been impaired, while relief has been given to the eastern and western portions of the country, which for varying reasons had been suffering from a shortage." The lesson will not be lost on the West. The Government found it easy to cut the duty; it will be much harder to restore it. The Westerners will want nothing better as an argument than the Mail and Empire's headline. They will ask why "relief" cannot be afforded in other lines than cement. The Government has put a powerful weapon into the hands of the Canadian tariff reformers. The bulk of the cement importedpractically all-has come from the United States. Here is one of the early sequels of the defeat of reciprocity: an increase of our purchases from the United States, but no increase of our sales to that country. From Canadian consumers there will be no complaint over the former circumstance, which has afforded "enormous relief," as the Mail admits, but Canadian producers may well ask why they are not permitted to pay for American purchases by shipping Canadian products to the United States. Saskatchewan asked that question and answered it on Thursday last.

The temperature in this city on Monday varied 32 degrees. People who want a change of climate can get all that is good for them right here within 24 hours.

To the surprise of all, therefore, the name was one day suddenly changed to "Sylvan Nook," and a flood of inquiries soon began to pour in.

"Why have you given your home a new name?" asked a friend, "What was the matter with "The Nutshell'?" "I sickened of being joshed about it," said the owner with a sigh. "There isn't a boy within two miles hereabouts who hasn't stopped and rung the door-bell to ask if the colonel was in."

JUST THE THING.

A FARMER AND BOOKMAN

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

An American, whose real home is in Manhattan Island, whose temporary home is in St. Paul, and whose summer home is in Western Canada, for he is one of these big farmers who use traction engines and all that sort of thing, is also a lover of books. He did me the honor to call and see me the last time he was in Winnipeg. I found Sept. 21 last was "the greatest day for him to be an exceedingly well-read man, versed in Celtic poetry, and an enthusiastic student of history. Owing to the fact that he is a veteran of the civil war, he has devoted himself for many years to the joyful task of collecting all the literature he can find on that eventful struggle. This is his hobby as a bookman. This is his mania, in other words, his supreme delight. Such people are called bibilomaniacs. There be many kinds of maniacs in this world-dipsomaniacs, those who are impelled to drink alfound industriously lathering her face coholic beverages at stated intervals; pyromaniacs, those who have a passion was duly reprimanded and told that for starting fires (I suppose not only the incendiary, but also the man who rises gleefully on cold winter mornings to light the kitchen fire might well be called a pyromaniac); kleptomaniacs, those who indulge in the gentle rapture of shop-lifting, and finally bibliomaniacs, those who buy old books or new, and specially those who lavish much money in making collections of old folios or books on the civil war, or children's books, or volumes of Canadian verse. But 'tis a harmless form of insanity, offensive only to the wives of the collectors who see good money passing away forever in exchange for mildewed leaves and faded bindings.

The bibliomaniac usually loves books that are at least one hundred years old. First and second editions are his peculiar pride. So it is somewhat surprising to run across an American who will collect works bearing upon anything so modern as the civil war. More surprising still is the mania of a Minnesota citizen, Mr. James Carleton Young, who once visited Rome as a poor student and is now living there this summer as a famous millionaire, known to the authors of Europe as "the book king." It was during this early visit to the eternal city that he ture; he became specially fond of modern works. At that time he made up his mind that in future years he would return to Europe and give his passion for books full fling. But first it was necessary to make much money he had ensconced his million in the A copy of this weighty address may can I tell? A copy of this weighty address may can I tell? Mademoiselle is dressed and commenced to indulge his mania, for either." surprising mania I have called it be cause he has been a collector of the works of living authors. During the last twenty years he has spent ove $200,000 in buying modern books, his one condition being that the writer should fill the three pages usually left work with a short description of his main object in writing the book.

"In this way," says a writer in the Commonwealth, "Mr. Young has made a perfectly unique collection of literature, which will, of course, automatically increase in value as the years go by. He possesses some of the most charming pages written, not only by familiar writers in, say, Japan, China, Greece and Hungary. As for that most gracious of all crowned heads, many to earn more than a mere bread the Queen of Roumania, Carmen Sylva, and butter existence, not only autographed the three pages desired, but also sent Mr. Young the MSS. of her earlier works. I understand that it was in response to the united suggestion of a number of eminent French litterateurs that this Mecaenas was last year honored by President Fallieres with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

Full Time Course. The first plan is a full time course to cover a period of two years. This is intended for boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and six teen years. For the boys, there is a hoice of three courses, viz.: Metal working, wood working and electrical work. With each of these practical courses will be taken mechanical drawing, shop mathematics and such culture subjects as English, history, geography, etc.

For the girls, there will be a general course, including sewing and dress-making, millinery, cooking and house economics, with a concurrent ourse in English, mathematics, etc. These courses have been carefully outlined in circulars which have been sent to the parents of the students who wrote on the recent entrance examinations.

Part Time Classes

The second course is known as the part time classes. It has been found that there are a considerable number of boys who cannot afford to give years o further time to school, but who are anxious to continue their education along practical lines. Princiral Beal has been, busy the last month in arranging a part time plan in which the local manufacturers will co-operate with the school. By this plan the boy will work in the shop and attend school alternate weeks The leading local manufacturers have taken up with this plan very heartly as they are impressed with the necessity of giving every encouragement to Ten o'clock in the morning! What does that hour mean to you-there at the resort where you are spending the summer, tatting or crocheting? And you gossip there on the front plazza, don't you?

Lovely, uplifting, inspiring, thrillingly exciting, that sort of thing, isn't The woman you laugh at doesn't hear one word of it, she's waiting for

There's that friend of yours, the "wise woman"—oh, how wise she is. So wise that her tired eyes look all the time as if she were in the most terrible torment, and she can't smile a natural smile to save her life.

That husband of the wise woman—she's always making fun of him, sn't she? and taking the greatest pains to show every one that she doesn't care the snap of her finger about him.

He'd like to be in love with his wife, and he'd like to believe that she is in love with him, if he is forty years old and not particularly handsome.

He'd like to remember the Wise Woman as she was when he first met her, when they were both young and happy. He'd like to put a little halo of sentiment around her rather stupid little head, but the wise woman can never be "feeled" by any cuch common as that the never be "fooled" by any such gammon as that, not she.
Oh, she knows him, she knows all men, they are all frauds, every one of hem, all gay deceivers. She lets ner own particular gay ceceiver see quite plainly that she doesn't care a rap for him, but does care for his check book, and he is gradually growing to be the very thing she expects him to be—just because she does

She's the one who leads the laugh at the woman who is in love with her husband, isn't she-poor, silly, dull-witted thing, she's missed all that is best in life and is bragging about it.
"Hurrah!" cried the blind man. "I'm stone blind, I don't have to be oothered seeing sunsets and moonrises. A rose looks just the same to me as black-eyed Susan. I never care whether it' dawn or dusk, it's all the same o me. I'm wise, really wise; I am blind, stone blind, and I'm proud of it."

That's what the "wise women" are like—poor, blind things—and they dare laugh at any one with the blessed gift of sight!

Veteran Could Not Hear His Beloved Bugle

Tells How Deafness Was Overcome

Below is a picture of Henry Farrar, a Civil War veteran, who is a natural born musician, and whose bugle has led troops to many a victory. With the approach of old age and the infliction of various disorders, he gradually became more and more deaf until he could not hear his own bugle, which he had been accustomed to play on various occasions throughout the year. He also became harassed with those head noises which so often accompany the advancement of deafness. This infirmity distressed Mr. Farrar greatly. He is a man of activity despite his age—in fact, he looks much younger than the 70 years that he is.

The loss of his hearing was a sad mis-fortune and the future looked very dark. Of course, Mr. Farrar had tried one thing after another; he had followed medical advice, had consulted specialists and had adopted various devices and remedies, but all to no avail. He felt that he was doomed to end his life in that melancholic stillness which is dreaded by all who are inclined toward deafness. Mr. Farrar has always been popular.

stillness which is dreaded by all who are inclined toward deafness.

Mr. Farrar has always been popular, and all his friends were exceedingly sympathetic, but even these kind sentiments did not appease his deep dejection. One day, however, he happened to learn of a simple and harmless home treatment, which he decided to try. He did not have much hope, because he had been disappointed in his previous attempts. Yet in this case, to his surprise and joy, he found that his hearing began to improve almost immediately, and it continued until he became so well that he has recently done jury duty, listening to the various witnesses and the court proceedings without the slightest difficulty.

proceedings without the slightest difficulty.

Mr. Farrar is so delighted with the manner in which he was liberated from the thraldom of deafness and head-noises, as well as the way in which his health was generally improved, that he is giving information about this wonderful treatment to all who write him. He has nothing to sell, but he will cheerfully send full particulars of how his own hearing was restored, and will tell how others may get the same treatment. Persons of all ages—men, women and childrenhave followed the information given by Mr. Farrar, and many cures of deafness

AMAZON INQUIRY

Novelist Says Rubber Company That Tortured Natives Was Not British.

London, Tuesday, July 16. - Sir Conan Doyle, who championed the cause of the rubber-gathering natives of the Congo, said in an interview on Sir Roger Casement's report respect-ing the outrages on the Amazon.

"There is an important point to be considered. Although technically a British company, the Amazon company is not in any particular sense a British company. It was started by man of the name of Arana, who owned all this forest land. He came over to London some years ago, and attempted to float a company, could not get anyone to invest. Nevertheless he registered a company. The great bulk of the shares were left on his hands, and he disposed of them elsewhere. The company, however, thus became a British company, as it was registered in London. "The whole control was invested in Arana himself, and of the few Englishmen who had shares, one or two were on the board of directors, but they had no means of knowing what was going on in South America. As soon as they learned of the outrages they sent out their own representa-tive with Sir Roger Casement and they joined whole-heartedly in trying to bring the miscreants to justice. It is very unfair to put it as though it was a British company that was to blame. If we find that the shareholders had anything to do with these cruelties we must punish them, but I don't think they had."

Government in Possession of Complete Plans of Royalists.

[Canadian Press.] Lisbon, via the Frontier, July 15 .- The Government is now in possession of the complete plans of the Royalists. These show that several regiments in the Lisbon garrison were in league with them, and it was arranged that these troops should march into the streets and proclaim the re-establishment of the monarchy on the night that Capt. Couceiro and one of the principal leaders at Lisbon, however, caused the conspiracy to fall through.

Although the Royalists have been defeated, the Republican forces apparently are not having all their own way, and the Government is exercising the most stringent censorship on foreign press It is estimated that up to dispatches. the present the Royalists have lost 250 killed and 170 wounded. BRITISH GOVT. ORGAN ON PANAMA BILL

Says That Differences Can Only Be Settled by an Impartial Jury. [Canadian Press.]

London, July 15.-In an editorial on the Panama canal bill, the Daily News, the principal ministerialist organ, says that apparently the American senate will pass the bill without heed of the British Government's protest, adding:
"Perhaps the senators think that in its present form the bill makes no distinction, and it certainly is obscure enough to stand for many interpretations. That, however, is not satisfactory, for if the senators do not wish to discriminate, surely they ought to make their intention as clear in the bill as possible.

"It is more probable that they think

Congress has the right to discriminate under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. That is not the British view, and we 10.6 making of the international agree-

There is only one permissible way to dispose of this conflict, and that is by arbitration. Neither America nor Great Britain wishes to violate any former agreement. "The obvious solution is to submit the issue to an impartial judge. That course should be taken if the bill as 45.6 it leaves Congress turns out to be 78.0 in conflict with the British view bearing on the Hay-Pauncefote treaty."

The Smoke Nulsance.

To the Editor of The Advertisers Do you not think it about time to take some steps to abate the smoke nuisance in our fair city?

At this time of the year particularly, when so many of our citizens are spending as much time as possible in the open air, enjoying their verandahs, and indulging in the wholesome habit of sleeping on out-of-door porches, the clouds of cinders that are continually falling on these places are certainly exasperating.

Could not our factories beyond a certain size be compelled by our city council to use smoke consumers? I understand that, although the initial cost of these consumers is considerable, the saving effected in a few years more than pays he cost of their installation. Surely "the greatest good to the greatest number" should be the rule in our building, were stunned by the force of the lightning. Mr. Brazill leaves a widow and three children.

Bolt Struck School. Strathroy, July 15.—During an electrical storm here this morning a bolt of lightning struck the chimney on the Caradoc street school, demolishing it, and continuing its way down the stovepipe, tore the stove door off its hinges, and then ripped a large hole in the floor. Mrs. Frank Hawkins, who lives next door, was hit in the face by a flying brick and was painfully injured. Farmer Killed in Field.

Guelph, July 15.—This section was visited today by another fierce storm, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain that laid flat some of the standing grain. North and east of Guelph the storm was the worst, and it is reported here that several barns were struck by lightning and destroyed. It was especially severe in the vicinity of Erin, where much damage was done.

John W. Bettenson, a farmer living on concession 7, Peel, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. It appears that Mr. Bettenson noticed the storm approaching, and proceeded hastily to the field where his youngest son, Carl, was at work with discs. While on his way, in one of the heavy dashes of lightning Mr. Bettenson vas struck. He was a widower, and leaves a family.

SINGING FOR CONVICTS

Innovation in Berlin's Fam. ous Boabit Prison. Berlin, July 16.—Singing is the latest innovation introduced by the German prison authorities for the diversion of convicts. In the famous Moabit prison for longterm convicts in Berlin, prisoners who possess musical talent are formed into a class which assembles every night in the centre corridor just before the convicts go to bed to sing sacred songs. These songs reverberate through all the galleries of the prison and into the cells, the doors of which are opened for the purpose. On Sunday afternoon all the convicts gather in the prison chapel to join in choral singing.

As silence is strictly enforced at the Mosbit prison, the convicts look forward to the opportunity to sing with almost

Turkish Princess Ends Life After Hus-

Constantinople, Turkey, July 16 .- Once

nore real life has teaten romantic fiction-unless Thomas Hardy's "Tess the D'Urbervilles" be cited as a parallel. Recently the beautiful Mohammedan Princess Ulanowa, 17 years old, married a noble named Karamanox and went to live on his property near Eupatia. But after the marriage she told her husband how she had previously been wooed by an Englishman, who at last shot hims in despair of a successful ending to his passion. To this the husband replied that he was sorry for her; that he could not live with her, though he blame her. Then he also shot himself.
The princess thereupon wrote to her relatives a farewell letter, informing them of her trials. After that she built a fire in the castle yard and perished in the flames, after the fashion of Indian "suttee," though attempts were made by her servants to sescue her.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Tomatoes Offered.

The buying on the local market today was rather brisk, in spite of the small attendance and most of the farmers and gardeners had sold out before noon. A few loads of hay, chiefly new, were sold at from $12 to $14 per ton. Straw was slightly cheaper than last week. Oats were easier, today's prices being from $150 to $160 per cwt.

The vegetable offerings were plentiful, but there were not many changes in the prices. Cabbages and beets were cheaper, while new potatoes sold at from $120 to $125 per bu. Cabbages, beets and tomatoes were very plentiful. One feature of the market was a basket of hothouse tomatoes grown by Sanderson Bros., of Byron, that weighed 15 pounds, and contained 15 tomatoes, the average weight of each tomato being 1 lb.

of each tomatoes the above of each tomato being 1 lb.

The different kinds of small fruits offered were plentiful, and as a rule the prices were higher than those of Saturday. Goosberries and raspberries were higher, while black and red currants were cheaper.

The butter and egg market was rather small, and there were no changes in the prices. There was, however, an upward tendency and a rise would not be surprising.

Central Avenue Man the Victim of a Most Ludicrous Mistake.

A humorous story conce ning a Central avenue gentleman, whose family is now summering at Port Stanley and who occasionally spends the nights alone in his London home, is going the rounds. A few days ago other people in the neighborhood of the Central avenue residence noticed a light in one of the rooms and, after discussing the matter, alled the police, who responded with wagon load of officers. The latter stationed themselves a different points around the dwelling and closed in to trap the burgiar. No noises were at first made, but finally it was found impossible to draw the culprit forth even by rattling at the doors.

The lights had been extinguished before the arrival of the patrol, and it was decided to search the premises. Raising ladder to the second story the police entered, flashing their lanterns as they

Germans First in Cross Country Ride, With United States a Close Second.

[Canadian Press.] Stockholm, July 16.—The stadium in which most of the field and track events of the Olympic games were decided, underwent during the night a complete transformation. Today it was found tenanted with hydrangeas and other bright flowers, and studded with hedges, barred gates and walls, which had displaced the cinder path, the jumping pits and the gymnastic apparatus. A brilliant audience, comprising many members of the royal family, the leading representatives of society, and Swedish cavalry and artillery officers with their wives, packed the banks of seats around the arena shortly before 1 o'clock. In their brilliant many colored uniforms, the representatives of the armies of ten nations lined up i front of the royal box and saluted the king and queen and other members of the royal family, as they did so furnishing a striking spectacle. As soon as they had given their military greeting, the competitions were started with soldierly precision. The fourth event, the prison jump-ing, in the military riding competition, comprising a distance ride, a cross-country ride, an individual steeplehase ride, prize jumping and prize riding, was completed in the afternoon, and at its conclusion Germany occupied first place with 118.20 points, the United States second with 117.49, and Sweden third with 117.07.

The funeral services for the dead marathon runner, F. Lazaro, of Portugal, who died from sunstroke, were held today at the Catholic church here. The Portuguese minister and great crowds of visitors and residents atended. The coffin was decorated with tended. The conin was decorated with a Portuguese flag, and was almost completely hidden by beautiful wreaths sent by the King and Queen of Sweden, the sports committee and others. The body is to be taken later to Portugal for burial.

MEXICAN RAILWAY DOOMED TO DESTRUCTION

The Rebels Will Adopt Radical Means to Hamper Advance of Federal Troops.

[Canadian Press.]

Jaurez, Mexico, July 16. — General Pascual Orozco, jun., within the last 24 hours had ordered the Mexican Northwestern Railroad destroyed between Paterson and Medican tween Poterson and Madera, 207 miles southwest of here, but the order has been mysteriously rescinded. Though the destruction of the Northwestern for a hundred miles in a region where it cannot be rebuilt for months, has been delayed, officials of the road are in constant fear that it may be done

William Bawden Says He Was Accosted and Robbed On York St.

Fanny Perkins and Margaret Jones, two colored girls, were arrested Monday night by P. C. William McCullough and P. C. Gillen, on complaint of William Bawden and Harry Hogg, two middle-aged men, who alleged that the girls had met them on York street, near the Alexandra school grounds, and had relieved Mr. Bawden of a nickel watch and silver chain worth $13. The gentlemen claimed that as they were passing along the street the girls, who state that they live on Clyde street in Hamilton, stopped and asked them where Burwell street was. As they were talking one of the girls pushed the other into Bawden, and then proceeded.

Mr. Bawden said that he thought nothing more of the incident, but that upon reaching Hamilton read and William street he found his watch was missing. The Perkins girl, who produced the watch when arrested, con-tended that she had snatched the imepiece when Bawden failed to carry out a bargain with her. Both young women were remanded

Right Food Works Wonders

It is often the case that people drift into wrong habits of food, although they should know better.

When one gets into trouble of this sort, it's a fine thing to know how to get out of it The "food route" is the common sense way back to health and comfort.

Grape-Nuts

Is made of wheat and barley, so perfectly cooked that it is partially pre-digested and contains the vital tissue-making elements required for the daily rebuilding of body and brain.

A dish of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast regularly, helps mightily to put one in mental and physical condition for the day's work.
