A Great Sale of Ladies Outing Hats On Wednesday Morning

If there is anything in fame we have certainly become famous as milliners. We have the taste and talent in command of our workroom, and we bring to millinery selling the liberality that prevades the rest of the store.

The Reason for This Sale of Hats

A representative of one of New York's largest Millinery houses came along with these elegant Hats at very small prices, and the simple fact of the matter is, we bought too many. We place our over supply on sale Wednesday morning at almost half price.

Regular $1.00 Hats at 65c.

Regular $1.50 Hats at $1.00.

Regular $2.00 Hats at $1.35.

Regular $3.00 Hats at $1.85.

And so on all the way up. Better come early and have first choice.

Quality Style

Style is the first consideration of the young man in his selections of wearing apparel now-a-days. Quality is a second consideration with him.

Knowing full well that he appreciates the proper style when he sees it, it then lies with us to get the quality for him.

Our demand for Overcoats this season has been so great that we had to place an order and just received yesterday another shipment of those new Yoke and Imperial Overcoats now so popular with the young men, of which we would like to say, and feel very confident in doing so, that they are the best values we ever offered for the money.

If you are thinking about buying an Overcoat, we would like you to glance through our stock before purchasing elsewhere. We are sure of the result.

ENGINEER M'NAB GIVES LESSONS IN ETIQUETTE

S. Hadley Co. Object to his Teachings—Kogleschatz Asks Re-bate on Assessment for the Time His House Was Building—Engineer Present at the Council.

The feature of the meeting of the Council last evening was the presence of the City Engineer, who appeared arranged in his best with a silk hat and a cigar. He was a little late but the Council were aware of his presence when he first entered the hall. He occupied a seat at the Council Board next to Ald. Marshall and the meeting of the Council proceeded "under the new regime."

The Mayor and all the aldermen were present except Ald. Pritchard, who is still too ill to attend.

F. W. Kogleschatz wrote stating that he had moved a house from a lot on Victoria avenue on May 5 and erected another, which had been completed in September. He asked a rebate in his assessment for the five months the house was unoccupied. Referred to Finance committee.

Ald. Scane presented the account of the S. Hadley Co., amounting to $1055.83. Referred to the Board of Works. A letter sent to the S. Hadley Co. by the City Engineer excited a laugh when read by Ald. Scane. The S. Hadley Co. had made out their account to the City of Chatham. They expressed surprise at receiving a letter from the City Engineer, in which he stated that the account was not with the city of Chatham but with the City Engineer of the city of Chatham, that the S. Hadley Co. should kindly understand that J. D. McNab was the City Engineer and any variation from this in making out the accounts would nullify the payment of the same.

Ald. Marshall—When did the City Engineer become an authority on etiquette?

Requests from John Sison, Sam. Bullis and F. H. Hudson to trim trees were referred to the Chief of Police. John D. Thompson wrote stating that if the Council desired to use his polling place as a booth that they would have to pay a reasonable amount for the same. Referred to the City Clerk.

Capt. Sam Smith wrote stating that $12.00 had been collected from him under a distress warrant for frontage tax for the walk on the north side of Park avenue. This was for the same assessment which Messrs. Wilson, Holmes and others had appealed against and had their appeal allowed. Capt. Smith desired to know why some were forced to pay while others escaped. Referred to the Finance committee.

The Mayor said that Messrs. Cockburn, Woodliff and the city solicitor had conferred re the Binder Twine spur, but the three couldn't agree. Mr. Wilson wrote to the Council stating that he wouldn't advise the city to pass the by-law granting the spur unless the railroad company became responsible for all accidents. If the latter desired indemnity they should make some agreement with the Binder Twine Factory. Referred to the Finance committee.

The Mayor said he had asked the treasurer to prepare a statement of estimates and expenditures so far during the year. Only three had over-run their estimates, as follows:—Board of Works estimates $5,000, expenditures $6,000; Parks and Cemetery estimates $1,000, expenditures $1,270.64; Printing and Stationery estimates $500, expenditures $549.21. Received.

Ald. Mounter gave notice of a by-law to encourage the permanent improvements of roads and streets leading into the city.

Chairman Marshall, of the Board of Works, reported as follows: Re the letter from John A. Walker, K. C., solicitor of Chatham Loan Co., asking that the Council replace the broken flag-stones in front of their premises. After consultation with the city solicitor he advises that the Council need not replace, but are bound to keep it in repair, therefore we have instructed the engineer to go on and repair the walk.

Re petition of Chief of Police for a crossing at police station. We recommend that a crossing be placed there, as it is badly needed.

Re request of Jas. Glenn to fill earth at the corner of William and Water streets; we cannot find in records of Board of Works any memos of agreement to fill, but the probabilities are that there may have been a verbal agreement with Mr. Glenn and chairman of Board of Works, and we advise that when scraping streets that the scrapings that can be spared be placed on streets referred to so as to as nearly as possible satisfy Mr. Glenn.

The first clause of this report was objected to and with the consent of Ald. Marshall the report was adopted with the exception of the first clause.

Chairman Taylor, of the Finance committee reported as follows:

Re the petition of a number of ratepayers asking that a fire alarm box be placed at the corner of Grey and Lacroix streets, your committee, after carefully looking into the matter, have concluded that an alarm box is really necessary in that locality, but as our funds are all used up, we are unable to grant the prayer of the petition and would recommend that next year's council take the matter up.

Re the resolution of the Board of Health, asking the City Council to rent a room in the Victoria Block for the Health Inspector, we recommend no action.

Re the petition of the City Engineer asking that his office be changed to the office occupied at present by the Health Inspector and that the Health Inspectors' office be removed to the room occupied at present by the City Engineer, we recommend that the prayer of the petition be granted. The report was adopted with the exception of the first clause.

Ald. Marshall asked if the Industrial committee of the Wallaceburg Beet Root Sugar Co. had been heard from. The Mayor said that he understood that a meeting had been held last Thursday but nothing had been heard from them.

Ald. Marshall said that the work of preparing the by-law should be pushed forward at once so that the proposition might be fully discussed that the citizens might be able to vote intelligently. Too often it happened that such by-laws were voted against because they weren't understood.

Ald. Edmondson called attention to the need of a walk on the south side of Emma street. The sidewalk had been torn up and left nearly all summer.

Ald. Marshall said that the engineer had already ordered the material. The by-law appointing Chas. Hadley and Dr. G. W. Cornell to the Board of Health was passed.

The following accounts were passed:

Banner-News, $8.52.
Moran & Co., London, $56.98.
W. H. Seymour, $708.53.
Pay sheets (two weeks) $280.77.
F. G. Hudson, $1.25.
Robert Cooper, 40 cents.
Robinson Express Co., 25 cents.
B. Greening Wire Co., $19.52.
Canadian General Electric, $1.06.
Bell Telephone Co., 90 cents.
Frank Blonds wrote stating that a mistake of $200 had been made in his assessment. Referred to Finance.
Warren Lambert's request to trim trees was referred to the Chief of Police.

The account of Jas. Cornhill, $5.00, was referred to the Board of Works.
The accounts of Dr. Fleming and Dr. Rutherford, $2.00 each, were referred to the Finance committee.

NATURAL GAS

Company Anxious to Bore for it in the Maple City—Believe Prospects are Good.

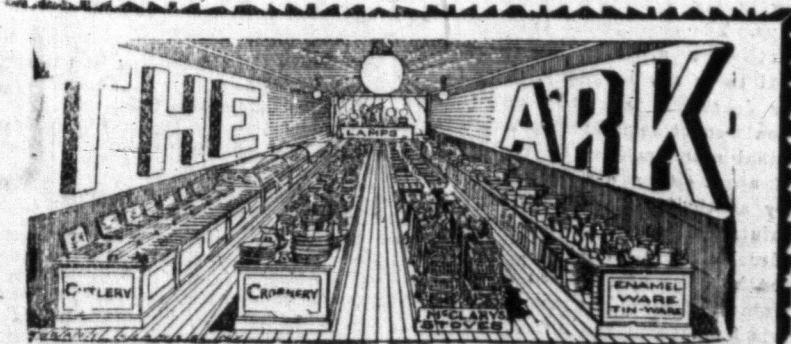

H. J. Correll and R. H. Holmes, both of Pennsylvania, representatives of the Kent Oil and Gas Co., were in the city yesterday, en route to Dresden, where they have contracted for five wells.

On their return they will formally wait upon the city council with a view to making tests for gas here.

"We believe that the probabilities for securing natural gas here are just as great as they are in Kingsville and other points where success has been met with," said Mr. Correll to The Planet, "and we are anxious to make the experiment. We believe that by sinking some 1,700 feet gas will be found for Chatham."

The representatives will ask for a citizens' meeting towards the close of the week.

TUESDAY NOVEMBER 19.

THE AMERICAN DREYFUS.

It is probable that the finding of the naval court, should it vindicate Admiral Schley, will mark but the beginning of the scandal. Historian MacLay, whose story of the battle of Santiago described Schley as a coward, says that he based his story on information received from naval officers, and that he has the letters of these said naval officers containing the information that influenced him. No matter what the decision of the court may be MacLay will find it difficult to bolster up his reputation as a historian. Whatever Schley may have been guilty of (the evidence showed that he was no coward. Perhaps when the whole truth is known the United States will have a Dreyfus case to deal with. MacLay has, apparently, made a blunder of his history, and the only thing that is left for him to do, if he has the true historian's regard for truth, is to tell everything he knows.

Is there one book in this lot that will be read fifty years from to-day; or rather that will be considered worth republishing half a century from now?

We do not believe that one of them will be "alive" in fifteen or ten years from to-day—except, possibly, David Harum, which, being the pioneer of its kind, and containing one true real character, has a life in it that none of the others possess. Some of the other books are interesting, because stirring and full of incident. But other books with other incidents will appear in continual procession to fill the place they now fill.

Yet the authors of these books need not grieve. There are some very old and much-honored books that have never been printed to the number of 520,000, as is the case with the work that leads this list. Some novelists who have been read by successive generations have not had the readers that some novelists have in this generation. Our writers may not reign long, but their realm is wide while it lasts.

HOLIDAYS.

The whole question of holidays is being pretty generally discussed these days. The commercial travellers, in particular, are loud in the lament that there are too many. They think, for instance, that the government should enact some law by which individual municipalities be required to set apart either a Friday or a Monday as their civic holiday, and they maintain their contention with considerable logic. In August the whole month is demoralized, as far as the commercial man is concerned by the civic holidays in the different towns.

One traveller tells us that he ran up against three civic holidays in one week last August. There are a great number of holidays as it is and the commercial man works to a disadvantage.

Here are the holidays:—
January—New Year's Day.
February—None.
March—Usually Good Friday.
April—Sometimes Good Friday.
May—Victoria Day.
June—None.
July—Dominion Day.
August—Civic Holiday.
September—Labor Day.
October—Sometimes Thanksgiving.
November—King's Birthday and Thanksgiving.
December—Christmas Day.

That is the result of a course of treatment with Scott's Emulsion. We have special reference to persons with weak lungs and sensitive throats.

Scott's Emulsion does some things better than others. This is one of them. It has a peculiar action on the throat and lungs which gives them strength and makes them tough.

That's how Scott's Emulsion drives out coughs, colds and bronchitis. It keeps them out, too.

CONTROL OF TRUSTS.

There appears to be a pretty general feeling in the United States in favor of some means of Government control over trusts. Recently the Chicago Tribune sent out a letter to all the prominent newspapers in the country, asking for their views on the subject, and up to the present it has received over two dozen replies, all of which express the conviction that trusts should be to a greater or less extent be subject to Governmental supervision and authority. Most of the replies are moderate, but they are unanimously of the opinion that over capitalization should be strictly forbidden. Some suggest that the laws relating to banking would be applicable to the business of trusts and would give the public all the protection it required. There seems hardly any doubt that something will be done by the Washington authorities, as the President stands in a certain way committed to a restrictive measure by his pronouncement in Minneapolis, as well as by the views freely declared in his writings. How far Congress and the Senate will go with him remains to be seen, but much is the confidence of the people in his forcefulness that it is the general opinion that if he undertakes the reform of trusts, he will carry the houses with him, in spite of the strength of the opposing influence.

Lame Back In the Morning.

There are many people who find it a difficult task getting up in the morning, on account of a terrible pain and soreness across the small of the back that makes rising a painful and disconcerting operation. Ever know what it was to have your back so bad that when you'd try to get out of bed you'd almost scream with the pain?

Can't do much of a day's work starting off with a back as bad as that—not fit for pleasure either. Well, all this backache and pain, this stiffness and soreness comes because the kidneys are clogged up, can't do their work properly, and your back has to suffer for it.

Just try a box or two of Dr. Fitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

What a change you'll find coming over you! You'll be able to spring from your bed in the morning as lively as a cricket, and feel refreshed and fit for your daily duties.

TOUCHED THE SPOT.

Joseph Weeks, Beckwith Street, Smith's Falls, says: "My back was in a bad way. I was desperately lame, and there was a dull grinding pain over my kidneys. At times I had headaches, and often I was dizzy, particularly if I had been stooping. I tried first one thing, then another, but there was no permanent benefit till I began using Fitcher's Kidney Tablets. They got right to the spot and I found prompt relief. Nothing before ever did me as much good. I would suggest to anyone suffering in that way to try them."

Dr. Fitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a box, at all druggists or by mail, Tan Lm. ZINA FITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

IONE: A BROKEN LOVE DREAM

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "A Broken Betrothal," "Parted by Fate," "Parted at the Altar," "Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Miss Middleton's Lover," Etc., Etc.

"We are going to hear an opera to-night," said Ione one day to the colonel; "will you come with Mrs. Carriscount and myself as our escort?"

"You will have a box filled with noisy chatterers the whole night," he said, laughingly.

"Not if you dislike it," she said, affectionately. "It is to be La Grande Duchesse, with a very famous prima donna in the title role."

"I have not heard it yet," returned Colonel Whitney, adding: "I cannot say that I have any great admiration for that school of music, but if you wish it, I will go Ione."

"It will increase my enjoyment a hundredfold," she said, gently, "if you go."

"How can I refuse when you say that?" cried the colonel, cheerily. "I will be on hand punctually."

In the theatre the colonel saw that Ione attracted more attention than any one else, even though the house was crowded; he saw opera-glasses turned constantly toward her beautiful face.

Ione noticed that the colonel did not evince any great interest in the opera.

"You do not care for La Grande Duchesse?" she said, suddenly.

"No—frankly, I do not," he replied.

"Tell me why?" said Ione.

"Can you ask me?" he returned in surprise; and then he added: "I should not have brought you to see this, I do not like it."

"Tell me why?" she said again.

"That which they are applauding lowers my idea of womanhood."

"You could not forgive the woman, let her be duchess or peasant, who could so deliberately set about to win a man's attention?"

She looked at him quickly. He continued:

"Beauty is very charming, I grant, as are grace and talent; but the chief charm to me is a woman's modesty, just as the great charm of a lily is in its whiteness. Do you not agree with me, Ione?"

"Yes," she replied, piteously, "most certainly I do; but you are so hard upon our sex, uncle. Suppose," she faltered, "that a young girl loves a gentleman ever so truly, and far as parts of them—and it was all her fault. If they meet again and he holds aloof, must she not put away her pride and recall him? Must her heart ache at being so near, and yet so far from him, and make no sign?"

"Any sign she might make would, most certainly, in my opinion, lessen her greatest charm," he said.

"But," she persisted, "do you not think that is rather hard? Why must a woman never evince a preference even for the man she loves? Must she break her heart in silence?"

"If he still cares for her, he will find a way to present himself here, her again, and attempt to urge his suit."

"Do you really believe that, uncle?" she said, in a very low, faint voice.

"Certainly," he replied, with energy; "where there's a will there's a way. If he holds aloof from her, he does not love her—depend on that."

To the last, that night, the light shone in Ione's eyes—the scarlet lips were wreathed in smiles, but when she gained her own room, and the door was closed and firmly locked to keep out all intruders, even her maid, the haggard, terrible change that fell over the young face was terrible to see. The light, the youth, the beauty, seemed all to fade from it. It grew white, stricken as though the pain of death were upon her. She clasped her hands as one who had lost all hope.

"How am I to bear it?" she cried.

"What am I to do? My life will be a sad waste unless I can win back the love I once cast so lightly from me!"

She was of dauntless courage; she knew no fear; but she did tremble and quail before the future stretching out before her—the future that was to have no love and was to be spent without him. She must be like poor Elaine, then. She must die for want of one bold word—to try to recall her lover.

"If we meet again I will be as haughty and cold, as proudly indifferent, as he," she told herself. And very soon an opportunity occurred.

The colonel was attacked with his old enemy—the gout; and it so happened that an important matter came up for consideration at the iron works. It was decided that the young over-seer should go to the villa in person to learn the colonel's views and wishes.

Arthur Rochester's noble face paled. What! Go there and meet her! How could he do it? But he must not flinch. He must go where duty pointed.

He set out with a heavy heart.

The footman recognized him, and he was shown at once into the library, where he found Colonel Whitney, who looked up with a smile when he saw who his visitor was.

The business matter was soon concluded, and the colonel pressed his young over-seer warmly to remain for luncheon, but Arthur declined, even though his heart yearned for just one more glimpse of the sweet girl whose face had been dearer than life to him.

"There are a few guests—girl friends of Ione stopping a few weeks with us, and a party of young gentlemen have just driven up from the city. You will be a valuable acquisition to their number, Mr. Rochester."

Before Arthur could frame a reply there was the sound of voices in the corridor without. Evidently the whole party were coming to the library in search of the colonel.

The first voice he heard was that of his friend, Frank Lyons. Arthur started as though a sword had been placed at his breast. Lyons here! What could it mean?

It may as well be stated here and now that Ione's cut direct, on that day he had come to see her in her room, had not daunted him. He still persisted in coming to the villa, but he was always wise enough to bring two or three of Ione's acquaintances with him, in order to be sure of being received.

The door opened and Frank Lyons was the first on the threshold.

His amazement knew no bounds upon beholding Arthur Rochester there. He acknowledged the presentation stiffly, not as much as a look revealing he had had a previous knowledge of him. The young over-seer of the iron works was quite a different personage in Frank Lyons' eyes from the millionaire's son.

Then the colonel turned to Ione.

She had attempted to turn about and fly, but fate was not propitious; the colonel was calling to her.

"Ione, my dear niece," he said, "this is Mr. Rochester, of whom you have heard me speak."

Arthur saw her start and turn suddenly pale. She recovered herself by a violent effort, and said, falteringly, as she held out her little white hand:

"Mr. Rochester and I have met before, uncle."

CHAPTER XII.

For one brief second Arthur Rochester held that trembling white hand, then reluctantly dropped it.

The rest of the party were engaged in lively conversation with the colonel. No one was watching them.

"I did not know you were here, Mr. Rochester," she said, in a voice that indicated she would not have entered had she known it.

"Nor did I dream of seeing you, Miss Lawrence," he answered.

She walked to the window, and he followed her. "If my presence annoys you, I will leave at once," he said, "and never come here again."

And she could not help but detect the ring of eagerness in his voice.

"Why should you?" he returned, proudly. "It can make little difference to me whether you go or—stay."

He knew that he should have turned then and there and left her; but his mighty love was more powerful than his strength of will.

THE BATTLES OF LIFE.

Demand Nerve Force, Energy, Vitality—The Weaklings go to the Wall—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a True Fountain of Health.

What use has the world for men and women who have not courage enough to face the battles of life? Every day men are falling and women are growing discouraged and despondent because they lack the nerve force which absolutely necessary to health and strength, and which supplies energy and ambition to body and mind. It is not too much to attribute nine-tenths of the sufferings of humanity to wanting nerve power, the vital principle of life itself.

Is it any wonder that the heart's action grows weak and irregular, the digestion poor, the liver and kidneys sluggish and inactive, when the vital force stored up in the nerves is consumed or wasted by disease, worry or over-exertion of the mental and physical powers? We are living too far from nature's rule, burning the candle at both ends and wasting nerve force without thought of how it is to be replenished. The effects are carelessly overlooked until prostration, nervous collapse or insanity overcomes us and renders restoration next to impossible.

In his immense practice in the United States, the very home of nervous diseases, Dr. A. W. Chase studied the cause of the ailments which are slowly sapping millions of young men and women of the vital spark of life and energy. The result of his tireless investigation and experiment was the giving to the world of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the most marvellous nerve restorative that man has ever known.

There is no use talking about old methods of treatment being as good as this new system of Dr. Chase. Facts prove beyond a shadow of a doubt the surprising upbuilding effect of this great food cure. By making use of your weight from time to time while taking it, you can observe the gradual upbuilding influence of this treatment. The color returns to the cheek, the energy and audacity to body and mind, you have new hope, new confidence and a new determination to succeed in life's battles. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

he stayed to luncheon, and, to his surprise, Ione gave him the place by her side. Now that fate, or fortune, had brought them together again—now that he was once more in her presence—the old glamour fell over him, the old love stirred in his heart.

The coldness melted from her manner. Ione was so kind and gracious to him that he grew bewildered.

When luncheon was over, and music began in the drawing-room, he found himself once more by her side, and his heart beat quickly.

She had taken him to a little table which was scattered over with choice engravings, and was showing them to him.

Suddenly he turned toward her. She saw that he had grown pale, and trembled.

"How good you are to me," he cried, "and yet how cruel. It would be more merciful a thousand times to drive me with cruel words from your presence. I am drinking poison."

"I have no wish to drive you away from me," she answered, and the proud face drooped and a burning flush came over it. Arthur was dazzled and bewildered.

"Shall I tell you the beautiful lines that have haunted me for the last hour?" he murmured.

She bowed her head, and he whispered:

"Every word finds an echo in my own heart:

"Had I met thee in thy beauty,
When thy hand and heart were free;
When no other claimed the duty
Which thy soul might yield to me,
Had I wooed thee, had I won thee,
Oh! how blest had been my fate;
But thy sweetness hath undone me,
I have found thee—but too late!"

"Like the fawn that finds the fountain,
With the arrow in his breast;
Or the light upon the mountain,
Where the snow must ever rest;
I have known, but must forget thee,
For I feel that I have met thee,
Oh! 'tis madness to have met thee,
To have found thee—but too late!"

"Why do you not remind me of my folly," he went on. "Remind me that our paths lie the whole world apart. Send me away from you again, this time with well-deserved coldness and rebuke and bitter words, for the reckless words will break from my lips. I love you as madly as ever; and ah, Heaven! how utterly in vain!"

But no rebuke came from the sweet, proud lips. No anger was in the beautiful eyes. He saw a warm, tremulous flush which rose even to the roots of her dark, curling hair. He saw a tender, wistful smile on her face, and his dismay increased.

"Send me away from you while I have the strength to go," he said, huskily. "Could any man keep sane while you smile so kindly? I love you more madly than ever. As I stand here I could worship you. The sunlight kisses your beautiful face—ah! happy light! The sweet wind through the open window caresses you, stirring the roses you wear—ah! happy wind! For one touch of your white hands I would die! It is worse than madness, this outpouring. Send me away while I have the strength to go!"

But no words came from her lips, which had grown strangely pale.

"You will never forgive me, Ione—Miss Lawrence. I—I cannot help it; I love you so well that, standing here, I swear to you that for one loving word from your lips I would die. Yes, I would die," he repeated, and his voice died away in a long, low sob.

But he gave no more, or was he dreaming? A little hand was laid on his, and a tremulous, faltering voice whispered:

"You need not die."

For one moment his brain reeled; then he turned abruptly.

"I will go at once," he said. "You will forgive me, you will pardon my folly. I will go and pray heaven to never bring me near you again, for I remember now those words you uttered once: 'I am sorry you love me, for my heart is given to another.' In the delirium of the moment I had forgotten that."

IT'S CHILD'S PLAY

To treat a woman for a disease year after year and give her no permanent relief. Yet that has been the case with scores of women who have "doctored" for year after year.

unhelped and unhealed to find at last that a few bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription would have saved years of suffering and a great deal of money.

For the regulation of the periods, the stopping of disagreeable drains, the healing of inflammation and ulceration, and the cure of female weakness, there is no medicine can equal Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"About five years ago I had very poor health," writes Mrs. S. E. Whalen, of Holden, Johnson Co., Missouri. "After doctoring four years with our town doctors they gave me up; said they had done all they could. I had been confined to my bed half my time, the other half could hardly drag around. I had such pains in my back and abdomen I could not stand for more than a few minutes. My feet were cold or burning, and my periods came too often. The doctors said it was change of life, so, as I had heard of Dr. Pierce's medicine, my husband got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took it and it helped me in some ways, so I wrote to you and followed your advice. I commenced 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pellets,' as I was so constituted all the time and pills would weaken me so that I would have to go to bed. To the great surprise of everybody I got well, and when I met my friends they would say, 'We never thought you would be here now.' But I can say it was your medicine, which no doubt is the best in the world. Have had no use for doctors since I tried your medicine."

ON CHURCH HYMNODY

REV. ALEX. McMILLAN'S INTERESTING LECTURE IN RORONTO.

Old St. Andrew's Church Choir Illustrated the Various Forms of Church Music From the Earliest Times—Marked Dignity of Setting and Expressive of Reverence.

The second of the series of lectures inaugurated by the Toronto Conservatory of Music proved of great interest. The lecturer was the Rev. Alexander McMillan, pastor of St. Enoch's Presbyterian church, and his subject, "Church Hymnody."

Mr. McMillan succeeded in inspiring his hearers, with something of his own enthusiasm, and throughout the entire evening the interest never flagged. He was rendered excellent assistance by the choir of Old St. Andrew's church, which contributed a program illustrative of various forms of church music from the earliest days. It was noticeable that from the Gregorian chant to the present day hymn tune the music was marked by a strange dignity of setting, and was expressive of that reverence and spirituality which the lecturer deemed the fitting characteristics of his theme.

The first Scriptural reference to the singing of a hymn is found in the Gospels. We are told that before going to the Mount of Olives, "the same night on which He was betrayed, the Master, with His disciples, soon to be separated from Him, sang a hymn." This was their custom. For many years the Hebrew mothers had taught their children the magnificent words of the Psalms, and in the temple services and impressive antiphonal singing, voice answering voice, had long been used in the "Song of Miriam," "When Israel Came Out of Egypt," and similar odes containing much of the history of the Jewish people.

The formation of the Christian Church was accompanied by congregational and home singing. From an authenticated source it is learned that in the first centuries "a body calling themselves Christians met at sunrise and joined in singing together."

The Gregorian chant is the earliest form of church music, the voices being entirely in unison without any harmony as known to-day. In this form were sung strains of the old synagogue music, used by the Hebrews in the celebration of their various feasts. Later were introduced other portions of Scripture, such as the doxologies of the New Testament, the Song of the Seraphim, "Holy, Holy, Holy," the song of the angels on the night of Christ's birth, "Glory to God in the Highest," the Song of Mary, "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord," the prayer of Simon, "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace

MAYOR DINED HIS COLLEAGUES

A Hospitable and Enjoyable Aftermath to Last Night's Council Session.

Mr. and Mrs. Sulman Entertained the Aldermen to a Delightful Spread.

"Eat, drink and be merry," said Mayor Sulman to his council last night, "for tomorrow you have to labor for yourself, and all this year, past and future, your purpose has been and is to serve the city."

The time was last evening, the place was the Mayor's hospitable and pretty residence, and the occasion was the feeding of the hungry aldermen by the Chief Magistrate, at the conclusion of the meeting of the city council.

The Mayor said that all year he had desired to have the aldermen spend an evening with him, but this was the first opportunity he had had of attaining his wishes. The time was most pleasantly spent and the Mayor and Mrs. Sulman did everything possible to give their guests pleasure and enjoyment.

The Maple City Chief Magistrate occupied the chair, and Ald. Marshall, chairman of the Board of Works the vice-chair, at the table, but it was not till after the dainty repast had been done full justice to, that the merry civic gathering laid aside the heavy cares of life and gave themselves up to light and bright chatter. Then, when the cigars came, did the volubility of the assembled aldermen awaken and the tale of many a hard fought contest was retold. Some of the brighter and amusing incidents of an alderman's life and of the council routine were recalled. The aldermen were happy and some kind words were said for the engineer. All agreed that he was the best man to look after corporation laborers the city had ever had.

Ald. Taylor said that he had been amused one day shortly after the engineer came. Some corporation laborers were moving some planks and it took two men to carry the planks till the engineer came along. He ordered each man to carry a plank. The men demurred. Said the engineer, "I want you to understand that under the new regime, the order is one man one plank, or else no man, no plank, no city pay, and the engineer's mandate was obeyed."

Towards the close of the evening, the party grew serious. The council had proved at the meetings that they knew how to conduct the civic business with intelligence and dispatch, they had shown that sociably; they were a pleasant crowd, but before the party broke up they had to get back to serious business once more.

Ald. Mounter was to blame for this. He said that under the local improvement by-law that the city aldermen could wait till their grandchildren were old men and even then the main thoroughfare, leading to this city would not be in better condition than they were today. He proposed that a by-law be submitted to the people asking their approval of a scheme to make permanent improvements to the roads leading to Chatham. Then special legislation could be secured whereby the city could pay a part of the expense.

Ald. Marshall said that he had given the matter some thought and for an expenditure of $12,000 on gravel the city could have the main thoroughfare leading to this city in good condition by the use of gravel. Then by an annual expenditure of $2,000 the roads could be kept in good condition. He cited experiences of other municipalities to prove his assertions.

The aldermen all decided to give the matter their further attention. Those who accepted the Mayor's hospitality were Ald. Taylor, Mounter, McGee, Edmondson, Fleming, Cowan, City Clerk Merritt, Master-at-Arms Northwood, W. E. Hamilton, proprietor of the Market Guide, and the other members of the press gallery at the council, and Mr. Cockburn, of Toronto.

Before leaving all thanked the host and hostess for the entertainment extended and all accepted the invitation of Chairman Marshall of the Board of Works to his home at the conclusion of the next council meeting.

The aldermen all expressed regret during the evening at the inability of Ald. Pritchard and Ald. Scane to be present, owing to the state of their health.

PRES. BALL'S NARROW ESCAPE

Heavy Ladder Fell From Roof and he Only Saved Himself by Jumping.

Fire Broke out at Gas Works but was Extinguished with Little Loss.

A slight blaze was sighted on the roof of the Chatham Gas Company's factory last evening about five o'clock and had it not been for the prompt action of the firemen, it would surely have developed into a serious fire.

The blaze was located in the exhaust on the retort building of the factory, and is supposed to have started by a spark from the cupola chimney.

Charles Hill, a workman around the factory, noticed the blaze first, and notified Accountant Long, who telephoned for the fire department. They promptly responded and after about an hour's work extinguished the flames. The firemen were by actual time 17 seconds getting out of the hall.

By the time they arrived at the scene of the fire the flames had developed considerably. P. S. Coate, Wm. Ball and Mr. Long, all assisted in extinguishing the flames. In doing so William Ball had a narrow escape from being injured. A heavy scantling ladder which is used around the factory, was lifted to the top of the roof. Mr. Ball and Fireman Alex. Holmes were standing on the ground near the building, when the ladder slid down the roof. A warning cry went up from the crowd standing near, and Messrs. Ball and Holmes sprang back just in time to escape.

Had they stayed where they were they would undoubtedly have been injured. The building which was on fire, is a new one, having been built just this summer. In it are the retort benches where the gas is made. The shingles in the roof are all laid in mortar. There is no possibility of any gas escaping, and as all of the machinery is made of iron, none of it would have been very seriously damaged had the fire been worse.

This is the first fire the Gas Company have had in 25 years.

President William Ball in a short interview with The Planet, said that the loss would be very light, and would not exceed $100.

P. S. Coate, the manager of the factory, stated to The Planet that the fire would in no way injure their business or prevent the supply of gas to their customers in the city.

The firemen deserve great credit for the prompt manner in which they responded to the alarm.

SUNDAY PAPERS

Office Groves Advocates the Stopping of the Importation of American Publications.

Chatham, Nov. 18th, 1901.

Editor Planet:—The question of Sunday papers is one that seems to be claiming the attention of some of our citizens, and the old story is often repeated—can't something be done to stop them coming to Chatham?

Now, sir, on this question you can put me down either as an official or citizen.

As an official under the present conditions and under the cover of subscribing and paying for them through the week, it seems we are powerless to interfere to stop distributing on a Sunday.

As citizens our rights should be respected, if the hub of the world, (London, England) can get along without a Sunday paper what's the matter with Chatham? We have a law in Canada which prohibits the publishing of a paper on Sunday. How would you like The Planet or the Banner-News to open next Sunday and issue a paper? Why, they would all be arrested! It would be an outrage on the community. The storm on Monday would come with such force to The Planet and the Banner-News, they would be like the London publishers, have to quit or go out of business, and some of the very men, I venture to say, that are taking a Sunday paper now would hold up both hands against it.

Look at the variations which follow a Sunday paper. Some men go to church and the paper is waiting for them when they come back, others take it because their neighbors take it. They want to be in line.

Some years ago a Chatham man in conversation about Sunday papers, told me that he had quit taking the paper on Sunday because he felt that after being at church, and for the sake of his family, he did not like the idea of a paper being left at his house on Sunday; that he had plenty of other reading matter in the house.

I believe we have men to-day taking Sunday papers who feel condemned and would only be too glad to hear the general order hold the fort along the line and stop the paper from entering the Dominion, the only remedy for enforcing the law.

These are my sentiments, Mr. Editor, thanking you for your valuable space with best wishes.

Yours truly,

TOM GROVES.

MATTER OF DIET.

Simkins—A scientist says the goat is the most unreliable of all animals. Think—No wonder. A diet of tin can labels and circus posters is enough to destroy the spirit of truth in any creature.

USE OF DEAFNESS

The Most Common Cause Only Recently Discovered.

It has been stated on good medical authority, that nine-tenths of cases of deafness are caused from Catarrh or from sore throat trouble.

The little tube which leads to the ear from the throat is lined with a sort of velvet structure called the mucous membrane. This membrane is simply a continuance of the mucous membrane lining of the throat. When disease of any sort attacks the mucous membrane of the throat it is very liable to extend into the eustachian tube and up into the ear.

The history of nearly all cases of deafness is like this: a cold is contracted and neglected, other colds are taken, the throat becomes sore and inflamed, which is aggravated by particles of dust and germs from the air. This condition causes the disease to spread into the tube that leads to the ear.

It seems a little far fetched to say that most cases of deafness are caused from catarrh, but it is certainly true, and anyone who has had a severe catarrhal cold must have noticed how the hearing was affected while the cold lasted.

With catarrh suffers this impairment of hearing becomes chronic and grows worse the longer the catarrh is neglected.

You can cure catarrh and deafness by the regular use of an excellent new preparation called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, composed of antiseptic remedies which act both on the mucous membranes, but principally and most effectively on the blood, eliminating the catarrhal poison from the system.

People whose hearing is defective may think it a little remarkable that a simple and harmless tablet would very often remove all traces of deafness, but when it is remembered that the catarrh is easily cured by the regular use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets there is no mystery about it.

If you are subject to nasal catarrh or catarrh of throat, bronchial tubes or catarrh of stomach and liver, the safest and most effective treatment is the new catarrh specific, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, sold by all druggists at 50c for full sized package.

LIFELESS BODY WAS FOUND

Lying Upon the Grand Trunk Tracks Three Miles From This City.

Was That Of a Young Man Whose Identity has not Been Solved—An Inquest.

A mystery which may never be solved was brought before the public to-day. This morning a west-bound G. T. R. freight at between 7 and 7.30 o'clock brought the news into the city that the body of a man had been seen lying along the side of the track, apparently lifeless.

A hand car was procured and a number of section men were sent to the scene. Dr. Bray and Jahnke's ambulance were telephoned for.

The section men on the hand-car found the body about three miles east of here and only about two feet from the track. The body was quite lifeless when found. One of the arms was cut off between the elbow and the wrist and the stub from the elbow was frightfully mangled. The head was terribly cut up and one temple above the level of a terrible blow.

When brought to the station the body was examined for identification by Constable McGregor. The man wore blue overalls over a pair of fairly good black trousers. His coat is that of a laborer with flannel lining. There was nothing on his person to identify him by. All that was found in his pockets was two U. S. coppers. A large blue handkerchief with white dots and a corn husker, which fits on the hand.

Presumably he is a farm laborer about 24 or 25 years of age and clean shaven.

Constable McGregor is empanelling a jury, which will view the remains at Jahnke's morgue at 7.30 to-night.

FACTORY YOU

"A straight line," said old Euclid, "is the shortest distance between two points."

Ready made clothing doesn't usually go from the maker to the wearer by means of a straight line. It makes a journey of two or three stages with deflections like these—

MANUFACTURER WHOLESALE WEARER

Here are two between-men who make a living out of the goods on their tortuous journey. Somebody, it is plain, maintains these men and their families. Dogs the maker do it, or do you? It's up to you, Mr. Wearer, to consider who pays these unnecessary middlemen.

You know how T. & D. clothing is made and sold. Fashioned in our big Stratford factory and put before you direct in our three stores. No between-person—just you and we.

And this face-to-face dealing leaves no room to shirk our responsibility, even if we wanted to. Responsible to you for every inch of cloth and every stitch of sewing. It's the soundest possible way.

STRUCK OIL.

The telegram to The Planet announcing the strike of oil at Louisiana station by the Ontario & California Oil Company appearing in this paper a few days ago is confirmed now to be a big well, the driller claiming its the best well he ever drilled. It is established now beyond a doubt if the existence of extensive supplies of petroleum in this locality. The company have commenced on another well. The Ontario & California Oil Company are to be congratulated on their rich find with the large acreage under their control and facilities for shipping and ample capital gives this company great opportunities to develop this new field to the best advantage. This means another great industry for the west and the prospects of Chatham getting a large refinery in the near future.

Unsightly and Foul Disease Arising From Impure and Poisoned Blood are Quickly Cured.

Paine's Celery Compound DOES THE GOOD WORK

A Cured Man Says: "It Would Mean the use of Pages to Tell one Half of What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done for Me."

That great and noble genius, Professor E. Phelps M. D., LL.D., the discoverer of Paine's Celery Compound spent years in perfecting his prescription before he gave it to the world of suffering and disease. Years of severe tests and tens of thousands of precious lives were saved, have all combined to make Paine's Celery Compound, the present day popular medicine.

Paine's Celery Compound has triumphed over numberless cases of foul and deep-seated blood diseases. It effectively cleanses the blood, braces the weak nerves, builds up flesh and a constitution capable of resisting sickness and disease. Mr. A. E. Hammond, Mansenville, P. Q., cured by Paine's Celery Compound, writes thus:

"Some five years ago it was my sad misfortune to be afflicted with scrofula sores, of which I had five on one leg and three on the other. These were running sores for four years. In addition to this I was taken down with rheumatism in the small of my back so badly that I could not get off my bed; and to further intensify my sufferings, I had sick headache in the worst form.

"While in this condition a friend of mine, Mr. Perkins, a merchant of this place, sold me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, with the express understanding that if it did me no good I should pay nothing for it.

"In accepting this offer, I had no idea of ever feeling under any obligations to pay for the compound, as I had no faith in its doing me good. To my very great surprise, however, I grew better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was as well as ever and what I never expected to see was realized, viz., the sores on my legs were entirely healed.

"It would mean the use of pages to tell one-half of what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. This marvellous cure has been in effect for nearly a year."

A cook needn't always be an optimist to make the best of things.

LOCAL Opinion is Strong in favor of Piny-Balsam. It cures coughs and colds with absolute certainty. Pleasant to take and sure to cure. Manufactured by the proprietors of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer.

IN THE Centre of Africa the fame of Paine-Killer has spread. The natives use it to cure cuts, wounds and sprains, as well as bowel complaints. Avoid substitutes, there's only one Paine-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c. and 50c.
