

Province Gives Grant to VCA

J. GERRY KER, 4th year electrical engineering student, will be chairman of the Atlantic Student Conference, to be held on the UNB campus January 20-22.

The "Values, Change and Action - '67" Conference scheduled to open next week on the three Fredericton campuses has received a grant from the Province of New Brunswick to help defray program expenses. George Mossman, conference coordinator, made the announcement during the Christmas holidays.

The conference will begin Friday evening, January 20th, and according to Gerry Ker, the conference chairman, either the Premier of New Brunswick or the Hon. Mr. Meldrum, Minister of Education, will give opening remarks at the first plenary session.

Gerry Ker, 4th year electrical engineering student at UNB said last week that about 200 students are expected to attend the "Values, Change and Action" conference at Fredericton Jan. 20-22.

"Through this conference," he said, "we hope to arouse increased interest among students in sociological, economic and cultural questions, particularly as they apply to this part of Canada." The first keynote address will be given Friday night by Wm. F. Ryan, S.J., Assistant Director of the Social Action Department, Canadian Catholic Conference, Ottawa, on "Values in Contemporary Society."

On Saturday morning the speaker will be Saul D. Alinsky, executive director of Industrial Areas Foundation, Chicago, well-known community organizer and expert on social change. At a buffet dinner at St. Thomas University on Saturday evening, Doug Ward, national chairman of CUS and chairman of the board of directors of the Company of Young Canadians, will speak.

On Sunday morning, Gerry Duclos, Assistant Deputy Minister and Director General of Manpower Services, Ottawa, will have as a topic "Prescriptions for Action". At the closing plenary session in the afternoon an overview will be given by Michel Despland, Assistant Professor in the Department of Religion, Sir George Williams University, Montreal.

Between these plenary sessions delegates will meet in small ferment groups or workshops to discuss such topics as education, Maritime mentality, the technological revolution, identity in mass society, institutionalized religion, Atlantic minority groups and other topics of interest.

Resource persons for these groups include Prof. Nels Anderson, Department of Sociology, UNB; Jean Archibald, Maritime School of Social Work, Halifax; Alan Clarke, Executive Director, the Company of Young Canadians; Richard Hatfield, M.L.A. Hartland; Harold Geltman and Clyde McElman, both former CUS chairmen at UNB now studying political science at Carleton and Laval Universities respectively; Mr. Charles Paul, Chief of the Tobique Maliseet Reserve; Dr. Arthur van Seters, Port Elgin, N.B.; Alan Borovoy, Director of the Labour Committee for Human Rights, Toronto; Mrs. Gaetan Bertrand, Tracadie; Glen Hughes, Senior Liaison Officer, Western Region, Citizenship and Immigration Dept., Edmonton, Alberta and Dr. Fernand Arsenault, Moncton, among others.

UNB-STU AMALGAMATION RECOMMENDED

Possibilities For President

In a brief presented to the SRC of UNB on the possibility of amalgamation between the students' council of UNB and STU, M. Gary Davis has recommended amalgamation of the councils as soon as possible. Pointing out the benefits that union of some student activities has already brought, and the possibility of greater future benefits, Davis said, "In the interests, social and financial, of the students of the University of New Brunswick and of St. Thomas University, it would be beneficial to amalgamate at the student government level."

Davis admits that social benefits are quite difficult to measure, but comments: "The lack of communication among the cultural groups in Canada retards the country socially and economically. . . . These unhealthy religious and ethnic prejudices should be eliminated." Referring to the large number of French and Catholic Students at STU, he concludes, "We have before us an excellent opportunity to take a constructive step."

SAVE $4000

Davis estimates the advantage of a financial union to the tune of $4000. This is about what St. Thomas now spends on fixed costs, which would be eliminated. The cost of including STU in UNB activities would be marginal costs, which are considerably less than fixed costs. With this step UNB would put itself an estimated two years ahead.

UNB and STU already share many student activities and organizations, including Radio UNB, Winter Carnival, Student Building Committee, and Student Discipline Committee. STU students, however, do not contribute the fee levied on all UNB students for the financing of such organizations as Radio UNB, but they are denied the right of holding executive positions in these organizations.

Much money could be made available by eliminating the present duplication of student services. The yearbooks and newspapers could be combined, and the councils could share the cost of correspondence and conferences.

STU IDENTITY

Many STU students are afraid of losing their identity by amalgamation, but Davis points out that some UNB men's residences, with only 100 students from a campus of 3000, have managed to maintain a strong identity of their own. "St. Thomas students can, and doubtlessly would, maintain their uniqueness, irrespective of their corporate relationship to the students of UNB. Student government is only one part of a student's life at university," he added.

Davis also recommended a solution as to how the amalgamation might best be achieved. He cited two problems, those of representation and local issues.

HOW TO DO IT

Assuming that the present SRC "representation by population" per faculty will be retained at least for the present, the brief suggested that STU be given three seats. The positions of President and Vice-President would be open to STU students, who would be eligible for all non-voting council positions, and chairmanships of important committees.

To deal with issues of interest only to students of St. Thomas, a local council might be set up. This could resemble a combined faculty-residence committee, and should include the St. Thomas student councillors. Matters of concern to St. Thomas students and administration could thus be brought directly and easily to the amalgamated council.

JOINT SPRING ELECTIONS?

The brief advised amalgamation as soon as possible, even if it will mean deferring elections until later in the spring term.

Davis suggested the following sequence of steps toward amalgamation: approval by both councils, constitutional amendments (based on the present UNB and STU constitutions), approval of both administrations and turnover of student funds to the new council, choice of a new name, and continual reassessment of the amalgamation as the new council gains experience.

How about amalgamation as a Centennial project?

OPEN ROOMS OVER EMPHASIZED

The SRC has presented its brief to the Residence Council headed by Dean Ryan.

Dean Ryan expressed surprise at the emphasis placed upon open rooms in residence, not only in the SRC brief, but also in previous reports submitted from other sources. He feels that there are more pressing problems regarding residences to be dealt with.

During the meeting, a great deal of time was spent discussing the residence system as a impetus to academic achievement, leading those representing the SRC to feel that the Council is so encumbered with theoretical proposals concerning residences, that there is little chance that it will come up with many practical solutions to current problems.

The question of presidential candidates for the upcoming Students Representative Council election is one that is being asked by students, council members, and the prospective candidates themselves.

To date, three students appear to be making a bid. Russ Weir, an honors history student, has had his name tossed around as a possible candidate. He was head of the Education Committee.

However, Weir has never sat on the Council as a representative.

Eric Champion, fourth year electrical engineering, has had the most experience of any possible presidential candidate. He represented his faculty two years ago on the council and has sat for the past year as First Vice-President. He feels that there should be continuity on the council through the re-election of members who have sat before. He thinks that the committees set up by the council should be more responsible to the council.

Nelson Adams, post graduate representative, is undecided about running. The most quotable member of the council, Adams has the necessary background to make the council function effectively. Before taking up his seat last fall, he had acted as chairman for the council. However, he has said that he doesn't feel that the campus is ready for the revolution his election would bring.

SUB PLANS

NOT APPROVED

The interior plans for the Student Union Building, on which construction is to begin in May, have not been approved.

SUB committee chairman Al Brien said that this will not hinder the construction deadlines. He said that the basic floor, wall and ceiling details have been approved and that the architects will not be slowed down. These things were approved at the final meeting of the committee two days before Christmas.

The $1,000,000 that the committee has to raise has not been found, but Brien said that banks, the government and individuals are being approached. He does not see that the committee will have many problems raising the funds. They have $130,000 presently from the SUB levy.

SRC SLEEPY SUNDAY

The SRC must have been feeling the fatigue of the holidays Sunday because most resolutions were passed without many members attempting to arouse discussion.

Bev Boone, chairman of the Constitution Committee presented a resolution for ratification of the new constitution. There was debate on the article of the constitution which states that prospective council members should have an average of 60%. This resulted in a resolution to lower the requirements for those running for first vice-president to second year students. The constitution was accepted with the exception of the bylaws section.

The SCM was given $200 by the SRC to help share the financing of registration for delegates from UNB. The SCM will pay for 50% of a delegates registration fee which is $10.

Nominations for CUS committee chairman were opened and will not be closed until after the results of the SRC elections are announced, thus enabling losers in the SRC election to apply.

In the passing of the constitution, the WUSC chairman was officially removed from the council without any comments from SRC members.

The question of concessions to students was discussed. A motion was put forward to take away concessions from students who have discontinued taking courses at the university. However, it was passed that concessions were subject to the decisions of the SRC.

Nelson Adams put forward a resolution to set up a fund for presidential campaigns. The Council delegated Adams to set up a feasible program.

Radio UNB presented a brief on security at UNB, dealing with the protection of property owned by individuals and clubs. It suggested that a committee be set up to investigate the situation. A resolution for a committee was put forward by president Hunter to investigate the matter.

The changeover date from the present SRC to the one to be elected will be Feb. 12.

Liquor Ads For Dal

HALIFAX (CUP) — The Dalhousie Gazette, student newspaper at Dalhousie University, has won the right to carry service advertising sponsored by breweries.

Nova Scotia's liquor licensing board rescinded its 1965 decision banning the advertising, after receiving an application from the Dalhousie student union.

The licencing board in its ruling restricted breweries to use of their name. No slogan or brand names are permitted.

The student brief to the government stressed the economic factors involved in carrying the advertising, pointing out the ban had resulted in the loss of several thousand dollars in advertising revenue.

It is not known whether other campus newspapers in Nova Scotia will be permitted to carry similar advertising.

Ladies Society Sponsors Coed Week

The first women students made their way Up the Hill in 1885.

Mary Kingsly Tibbits was one of the first women to graduate in 1889. The available information seems to indicate that the Ladies' Society was founded in the early 1900's.

The object of the society is to act as the official representative body for all Coeds and to coordinate their social activities. All women undergraduates are automatically members of the Society and no dues are charged. All funds raised by the Society through Shoe Shines and Co-ed Week are used to provide a scholarship for a coed in her sophomore year.

Coed Week is an established event on this campus. Activities range from selling candy cigarettes to voting for Campus King; from knitting for the Red Cross to shining shoes for the men of UNB; from creating a ten page pink Brunswickan to sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins Day.

Due to the ever increasing number of coeds and the difficulty in communicating with everyone, the council of the Ladies' Society sees a need for a change in tradition. The present executive and council propose that a new Women's Council be formed. It will consist of representatives from the Ladies' Society (non-residence girls), the LDH Society, the Maggie Jean-Murray Society — all under the guidance of the Dean of Women. Questionnaires have been mailed to coeds, and the Ladies' Society hopes that they will receive answers from every coed.

RAIDERS WIN WINTER GAMES TOURNEY

UNB Red Raiders emerged victorious, in the Winter Games Tournament held Dec. 29, 30, 31 at UNB after scoring two easy wins over Moncton St. Pat's (114-55) and Saint John Schooners (90-54) and eking out a close 57-52 victory over the surprisingly strong Fredericton Falcons. The Falcons had previously "upset" second-seeded Mount "A" 71-64. UNB proved the stronger however, especially by winning the tournament without the services of Dave Hill, out with a leg injury, Gary Crandlemire and Buddy Brander who have left the team because of academic pressure, and Ian Purvis who was ineligible.

5 RAIDERS TO GAMES

Coach Nelson selected five members of his team for the twelve man team that will represent New Brunswick at the Winter Games Tournament Feb. 11-18 in Quebec City. The other seven members were selected from the other teams participating in the tournament. The five Raiders are Captain Dan Patterson, Rick Cotter, Dave Hill, Dave Nutbrown and Rod Cox. Nutbrown was brilliant in the tournament scoring 74 points in three games (35,15,24). And Rod Cox, a freshman, was a delightful surprise to Coach Nelson scoring 55 points (20,20,15) and nailing down a starting position at guard. Cotter and Patterson, put forth with their usual steady rebounding and scoring effort, and Ken McAuslan filled in ably for injured Dave Hill.

RAIDER-FALCON FINAL

The game between the Raiders and the Falcons was one of the best games seen at UNB in recent years. Both teams used very tight man-to-man defences and the score between the two teams never varied by more than two or three points throughout most of the game. The score was 21-21 at the half. The Falcons pulled into a six point lead early in the second half, but apparently UNB's Nutbrown decided that he wasn't going to miss the Winter Games Tournament in his home province and promptly scored six or seven straight baskets to put the Raiders ahead to stay. Cotter then salted away the victory with two or three of his long "missile" shots.

It was a hard loss for the Falcons who had defeated overrated Mount "A" 71-64 and had improved with every game in the tournament. But they had the consolation that three Falcons - Bob Bonnell, Gary Smith (playing coach) and Terry McMullin were chosen to be members of the twelve man team that should be a strong representative for New Brunswick in the Winter Games Tournament at Quebec City.

Hill shoots for two against Aroostook in hoop action last Saturday at LBG. Patterson (partly hidden) and high scorer Seavey (25) wait for rebound.

Red Raiders Boost Record to 6-2 in NECC

by RICK SIMMS and ASSISTANT

With Two Week-end Victories

UNB Red Raiders are assured of their best season ever in the North East College Conference after their resounding 100-52 trouncing of Washington State Teacher's College last Friday night and a well-earned 65-54 win over Aroostook State Teachers' College on Saturday afternoon.

Washington State Game

There's not too much to say about UNB's lopsided and unexciting victory over WSTC. UNB scored at will over the obviously outclassed opposition, and the final score was indicative of play throughout the game. Rick Cotter was worth watching - scoring 23 points on jump shots, drives and rebounds while playing only about half the game. The second stringers played the other half and still ran roughshod over the Teachers' College. McAuslan, Kennedy and McMullin looked impressive. The biggest ovation of the night came when Dave Daye dropped in a foul shot for UNB's 100th point...

Aroostook State

But on Saturday, fans had a lot more to cheer about. Aroostook were apparently determined not to get whitewashed like their Maine neighbours and matched UNB basket for basket until the fourth quarter of the game. Scores were 17-17 at the quarter, 30-29 UNB at the half, and 47-45 UNB at three quarter time. Cotter had been hitting consistently for UNB along with Seavey of ASTC throughout the game but now UNB's two guards, Nutbrown and Cox, came to life and boosted UNB to a 62-49 lead with about two minutes left in the game. Cotter ended the game with 20 points and Nutbrown's 10 and Cox's 8 in the second half sewed up the victory. Hard-working Danny Peterson was superb on the boards and chipped in with 9 points. Dave Hill seems fully recovered from his leg injury after his 21 point performance.

Hi Lites

Cotter had a tremendous week-end scoring 43 points, rebounding well and giving his usual strong defensive performance. Cox has surpassed all expectations with his accurate shooting, hard-working defence and speed on both offense and defence. Nutbrown and Cox may well provide the strongest background duo in the Maritime Conference.

"X" and "Acadia" here next week-end

UNB plays host to Acadia this Friday night and St. F.X. on Saturday in two of the most important and probably exciting games of the year. UNB has its best chance in years

NURSING WEEK NURSING STORY

In September 1958, the University of New Brunswick established a School of Nursing on its campus under the direction of Professor Katherine MacLaggan.

The four-year basic degree program is one in which general and professional education are given concurrently. The courses in general education, studied with other students in the University in the Faculties of Arts and Science provide a background of knowledge in the Humanities, Social and Physical and Biological Sciences for the personal as well as the professional development of the students in nursing. The general education subjects comprise about fifty per cent of the total program.

A good working relationship has been established with hospitals and community agencies for clinical experience. During the academic year the faculty and students make use of the facilities of the Victoria Public Hospital, Fredericton, the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Department of Health, the Polio and Health Centre, Nursery Schools and various other organizations, agencies and individuals within the immediate vicinity of the University campus. Each year when final exams are completed, the faculty and students move out of Fredericton to other centres in the province - Moncton, Lancaster and Saint John - for an eight-week period of concentrated practice chiefly within hospitals, and to a more limited extent in the community agencies.

It has been the hope of The School of Nursing that at some time it would be possible to offer a degree course for nurses who have graduated from a hospital school of nursing. The 'sometime' has now arrived as of September 1966, when a such program came into being.

REFORMS FOR NURSES

The New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses has laid the groundwork for changes in the system of Nursing education in New Brunswick.

A constructive plan of action was formulated by UNB's Dean of Nursing, Dr. Katherine MacLaggan, who wrote Portrait of Nursing, published in 1965. Under this scheme nursing education would be removed from hospital control and placed in two categories: a two-year post-high school diploma course in a technical school, and a four-year degree course in a university.

In order to hasten the implementation of this plan, and facilitate the understanding of it, the N.B.A.R.N. authorized Professor Alan Sinclair of the Law Faculty to draw up draft legislation to provide a basis upon which the government can act.

The most recent action taken by the N.B.A.R.N. was the submission to the government of a formal request for action on their recommendations. Legislation regarding these changes rests with the government.

College Nurses ? Never? - BY RUSSEL E. HAYNES

College nurse Jane, has a problem. Lying on the floor of the hospital lobby is a woman determined to have her baby then and there regardless of any reasonable approach to the problem. "I wish the h... I knew what to do" moans Jane. "According to my 'selective basis' complete prenatal care homework, assigned patient would never have done this! The nerve of this woman!"

Here lies the fault of a college trained nurse - she is not prepared for the unexpected. She is a college girl - she is not a nurse, no matter what the Latin on her parchment states.

For four years, Jane prepared for a career in nursing - she studied many important things - she is cultured, she is well-mannered, she can speak intelligently on subjects ranging from the Inca Civilization to Milton. Consequently, Jane will, with her college training, make a first-class administrator - a nurse she will never be.

If a girl desires to serve the sick, she should go to a hospital to study. If she desires simply to further her education, she should go to a university. When I go to the hospital I want a nurse - the kind who worked 12 months a year for 3 years under appalling conditions to proudly wear her black band.

I will refuse to be cared for by a college graduated R.N.

"Beware of 'nurses' clutching degrees - this may happen to you" - Haynes
