TWENTY-SIXTH GENERAL REPORT

OF THE

EMIGRATION COMMISSIONERS.

SIR,

May 8th, 1866.

We have the honour to submit herewith our Report for the year 1865.

Emigration,
1815 to 1865,
Appendices No.
1 to 6.

In the Appendix we place the usual Returns on the subject of emigration. The result is that in the 51 years that have elapsed since 1814 there have left the United Kingdom 5,901,510 emigrants, of whom 3,597,789, or nearly 61 per cent., have gone to the United States of America, 2,177,850 to British Colonies, and 125,871 to other places. Of the composition of this emigration in the earlier years we do not venture to offer an opinion, but of the 4,827,530 who have left the United Kingdom during the last 25 years we believe that upwards of 60 per cent. were Irish, and that of these the great bulk have gone to the United States. The Irish emigration may be calculated at an average of upwards of 116,000 a year during the whole of that period, which is considerably more than the natural increase of the people could supply. The reduction of the population of Ireland in the last 25 years is thus to a great extent accounted for, irrespective of the mortality in the famine of 1847.

The emigration during the year 1865 was 209,801, of whom there were—

Irish emigration.

The Irish emigrants formed therefore 47·98 per cent. of the whole emigration, and 55·74 per cent. of the emigrants who went to the United States. There were among the Irish who went to the United States 31,943 single men, being in the proportion of 38·9 to the whole Irish emigration.

No. of emigrants carried to North America in steam and sailing vessels.

Of the emigrants to the United States and British North America 120,923, or 73½ per cent., proceeded in steam vessels, and 43,546 in sailing vessels. The proportion of those who went in steam vessels was much larger than in any previous year, and as the average price of passage in those vessels was from 30 to 50 per cent. higher than in sailing vessels, the extent to which they were resorted to is a proof, that there was no pecuniary distress among the emigrants. The resort to steam vessels is now so general that from the Clyde there were no sailing vessels carrying emigrants last year, nor from Liverpool were there any such vessels to British North America. The mortality, as far as we have returns, amounted in steam vessels to ·04 per cent., in sailing ships to ·19 per cent.

Mortality. Appendices Nos. 28 to 33. Emigration during the first three months of the years 1855 to 1866.

In the first three months of the present year the number of emigrants who left the United Kingdom from ports at which there are emigration officers was 39,672, of whom there went to—

British North America -	100
United States -	32,913
Australian Colonies and New Zealand -	6,067
All other places -	592

39,672

This, with the exception of 1864, is the largest emigration during the same period of any year since 1854; the increase being principally in the Irish Emigration to the United States. For the sake of comparison we give the emigration of the first three months of each year since 1854. It was as follows :—

Year.	United States.	British North America.	Australian Colonies.	All other Places.	Total.
1855	18,427	302	17,444	504	36,677
1856	13,982	99	7,183	595	21,859

1866	32,912	100	6,067	592	39,672

Of the emigrants to the American continent the great majority, as in the emigration of 1865, took their passage in steam ships. In one of these the "England," belonging to the National Steam Navigation Company, which sailed from Liverpool on the 28th March, Cholera made its appearance among the German or Dutch emigrants on board, on the 6th day after sailing. Forty deaths occurred before the ship reached Halifax, to which port she proceeded for assistance; and it is stated that not less than 200 deaths occurred at Halifax. The ship eventually left that port with her convalescent passengers on 18th April, and it is satisfactory to know that the disease had not made its way from the ship into the colony. Another vessel, the "Virginia," belonging to the same company which sailed from Liverpool on 4th April was also attacked by Cholera after she had been some days at sea. She arrived at New York on the 18th April, having lost 36 by death, and having many sick, and was placed in quarantine. We have no accurate information of the number of deaths that have since taken place among her passengers. A third ship, the "Helvetia," also belonging to the National Steam Navigation Company, which sailed from Liverpool on the 2nd instant, put back from Queenstown with Cholera on board, and is still lying in the Mersey. Her passengers have been removed; and many deaths have occurred among them. The ship will be thoroughly cleansed and fumigated before she is allowed again to proceed to sea.

Cholera on board steamers, "England," "Virginia," and "Helvetia," from Liverpool to the United States.

Disease first appeared among Dutch and German emigrants.

In all these cases the Cholera made its first appearance among the Dutch or German emigrants who are brought from the Continent to Hull and thence sent by railway to Liverpool to be embarked for the United States. We took early steps in consequence to warn shipowners at Liverpool of the risk they run by taking this class of passengers, and of the probability that if the disease continued the powers given by the Passengers' Act to Her Majesty in Council to limit the number of passengers carried in passenger ships would be brought into operation. These representations, and the evident necessities of the case, induced shipowners to take immediate steps to arrest the influx of German and Dutch emigrants, and it may be hoped that when those who were too far on their journey to be stopped have been sent forward, no more will arrive.

Emigration to Australia and New Zealand.

The emigration to the Australian colonies and New Zealand amounted in 1865 to 37,283, distributed as follows:—

To New South Wales	-	-	-	2,623
„ Queensland	-	-	-	12,551
„ Victoria	-	-	-	9,713
„ South Australia	-	-	-	5,145
„ Western Australia	-	-	-	174
„ Tasmania	-	-	-	40
„ New Zealand	-	-	-	7,037
				<hr/>
Total	-	-	-	37,283
				<hr/> <hr/>

gration.

This is a decrease, as compared with 1864, of 3,659, and as compared with 1863, of 15,771. The principal decrease is in the emigration to Victoria. Of the above emigrants a considerable proportion received assistance towards their passages. Such assistance is now given principally in the shape of passage warrants or certificates issued in the colonies, on payment of a certain proportion of the expense of passage, to persons desirous of introducing relations or friends. In the case of Victoria a contract has been entered into with the firm of Messrs. Lorimer, Marwood, and Rome, of Melbourne, to find passages for all warrant holders at the rate of 13*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.* per statute adult. The contractors are also bound to provide ships at the rate of 13*l.* 14*s.* 10*d.* for the single women, whom we select and send out at the cost of the Colonial Funds as domestic servants. To New South Wales passages are provided for the holders of passage certificates in ships chartered by us. To Queensland we despatched, in the year 1865 and in the first three months of the present year, six ships; but for the future the emigration to that colony will, we believe, be conducted exclusively by Mr. Jordan, the Agent-General for Queensland emigration. For South Australia the emigrants are selected by a colonial agent, Mr. Dutton, but are despatched in ships chartered and fitted by us. To show more exactly the scheme of assisted emigration to each of the Australian Colonies and New Zealand, we place in the Appendix a Memorandum drawn up in this office for the information of the public.

Appendix No. 44.

In the course of the year 1865 we chartered and despatched the following ships and emigrants:—

last. That vessel, having at the time 435 emigrants on board, was at the usual anchorage off Mount Batten on 22d November, when a heavy gale came on, in which she dragged her anchors, and eventually went ashore in Deadman's Bay, at the mouth of Catwater. Fortunately it was possible from the spot where she grounded to land all her passengers in safety, and they were afterwards sent out in another vessel, the "Amoor" being too much injured to be fit for the service.

Loss of "Gratitude."

We place in the Appendix a Table showing the number of wrecks of "passenger" ships, and of lives lost at sea from the beginning of 1847 to the present date, so far as is known, together with a list of "passenger" ships which met with accidents during the year 1865. The most serious of the accidents in 1865 was that to the "Gratitude," which sailed from Liverpool for New York on the 18th of November, and was abandoned at sea on the 7th of January of this year, the crew and passengers having been taken off by the barque "Predonia." It is satisfactory to be able to state that during 1865 no life was lost by wreck or other similar accident in any "passenger" ship. Several vessels not included in the annexed list, such as the "Duncan Dunbar," were lost in the course of the year, but not being "passenger" ships under the Passenger Act they do not fall within our cognizance.

But the emigration of the present year has opened under very different and most melancholy circumstances.

Wreck of steamer "London."

The month of January 1866 will long be remembered for the violence of its storms, and for the loss of the steamer London in the Bay of Biscay. That vessel, one of a line of steamers recently established by Messrs. Wigram, sailed from London on the 30th of December 1865, and after encountering very severe weather, anchored in Plymouth Sound on the 5th of January. She resumed her voyage from Plymouth shortly after midnight on the 6th of January, the weather being at that time, and for 36 hours afterwards, calm and favourable. But on the evening of the 8th it began to blow hard, and in the course of the next day (the 9th) the jibboom and several of her upper spars were carried away. At 11 p.m. of the 10th the engine-room skylight was washed off, and the engine-room almost immediately filled with water, which put out the fires. At 5 a.m. of the 11th the stern ports were driven in, and the sea poured into the saloon through the opening. All hope of saving the vessel was then given up, and very soon afterwards she foundered with 233 of her passengers and crew. Nineteen persons, 16 of the crew and 3 passengers, alone escaped in one of the boats, and were picked up at sea by an Italian barque. The inquiry instituted under the Merchant Shipping Act into this melancholy accident resulted in a judgment that it was attributable to no fault in the construction or loading of the ship, or in its navigation, but was the consequence of the loss of the protection to the engine hatchway.

No. of lives lost.

Another emigrant ship, the "Wanata," which sailed from Liverpool on the 2d of January with 183 passengers, for Melbourne, after being detained by bad weather till the 23d of January, encountered on the 6th of February a heavy gale in the Bay of Biscay, in the course of which she came into collision with the "Queen of Beauty," and was so much injured as not to be able to continue her voyage. Her passengers and crew were transferred to the "Queen of Beauty," and shortly after the "Wanata" was abandoned she was seen to be on fire. The "Queen of Beauty" arrived in Plymouth Sound on the 10th of February, and arrangements were made by the owners of the "Wanata" to send on the passengers; but as in the wreck they had lost all their clothes, a subscription was opened for their assistance, to which we received your sanction to contribute 50*l*. Since that, all who were willing to continue their voyage have been sent forward in other vessels. Those who were unwilling to do so have been sent home.

We have in previous Reports given a statement of the amounts remitted by persons in the United States and the Colonies to assist the emigration of their friends in the United Kingdom. Our returns on this point are necessarily imperfect, but the amount returned to us as remitted during 1865, either in the shape of prepaid passages or in cash, is—

No alteration has been made in the Passengers' Act since our last Report, and no complaint has reached us of its operation. The apprehensions which were entertained of the possible delay of mail packets by the emigration officers have in no instance been verified.

EMIGRATION TO MAURITIUS AND WEST INDIES.

In the year 1864 we had the satisfaction to report that Mortality; the mortality which some years before had marked the emigration from India to the West Indies had gradually decreased, till it had become less than the mortality of the same classes on shore. The rate during the five seasons ending in March 1864, was :—

1859-60	-	-	11·8 per cent.
1860-61	-	-	8·5 „
1861-62	-	-	5·01 „
1862-63	-	-	2·95 „
1863-64	-	-	3·25 „

But in the season 1864-65 this favourable condition underwent a lamentable change. In Trinidad ships, indeed, the mortality was only 3·02 per cent., and therefore scarcely above the rate of the most favourable of the preceding years. But in ships to British Guiana, except the first which sailed, the “Lincelles,” the mortality exceeded anything we have had before to record. In six ships carrying 2,725 passengers the deaths were no less than 787, or 28·88 per cent. very large in ships to British Guiana in 1864-5. Appendix No. 20.

The type of disease in all these ships was the same, viz., a bilious intermittent fever of a typhoid character, which broke out soon after the ship got to sea, and attacked almost all the emigrants, and generally the crew also. What was the exciting cause of this fever is still undetermined. It was not the ships employed, for they are described by the authorities in British Guiana as especially adapted for the service, well ventilated and found in every respect, and clean and in excellent order on arrival. Nor was it incompetence in the surgeons. In one ship, indeed, the “Ganges,” the surgeon was removed by the Governor of the Cape as incompetent; and in another, the “Earl Russell,” the surgeon died on the voyage, but in the remaining ships the conduct of the surgeons was spoken of in the highest terms by the Governor and the Immigration Agent of British Guiana. In three of the ships, the “Earl Russell,” “Golden South,” and “Fusilier,” the surgeons had made respectively 9, 14, and 12 previous voyages in our service. Even in the case of the “Ganges” it is remarkable that the mortality between the Cape and British Guiana after the surgeon had been changed, was greater than between Calcutta and the Cape under his superintendence. Nature of disease.

What then was the cause of the sickness? By Dr. Crane, the surgeon of the “Fusilier” and by Dr. Partridge, the Causes of sickness.

Medical Inspector of Emigrants at Calcutta, it is attributed to the numbers on board. Under the Indian law, up to 1864 a space of 12 superficial feet of deck was required for each Statute Adult Passenger. By an Act passed by the Legislature of India in 1864, ships were allowed to carry passengers in the proportion of one statute adult to every 10 superficial feet of deck, provided they had not less than 72 cubic feet of space. This alteration was made to bring the law into accordance with the convention of 1860, regulating the emigration of coolies to the French colonies. It is alleged that the Trinidad Agent, apprehensive of the effect of this reduction of space, continued to embark emigrants for Trinidad on the old scale, and thereby escaped disaster, but that the British Guiana Agent acted on the new law. By a return obtained from the Emigration Agent at Calcutta, it appears that in three ships only was there any considerable excess of numbers beyond the 12-ft. calculation; viz., the "Lincelles," the "Earl Russell," and the "Fusilier." The mortality in the "Fusilier" was the highest ever known. It was also very high in the "Earl Russell," but the "Lincelles," which in proportion to her size had as large an excess of passengers as the "Fusilier" and much larger than the "Earl Russell," was the only healthy ship of the season. It is clear from the reports of the Governor and Immigration Agent of British Guiana, that they did not attribute the mortality to overcrowding.

Another cause has been suggested in the cyclone by which Calcutta was visited on 5th October 1864, after the "Lincelles," but before any of the other vessels, sailed. The depôts of Trinidad and British Guiana were both injured by the storm, but the former only partially, while the latter was destroyed, and its site submerged by the storm wave which ascended the Hooghly. As the Hooghly was at that time full of the dead bodies of persons drowned in the storm, and was therefore even more impure than usual, the deposit which it left behind may be assumed to have been very deadly. The British Guiana Depôt having been re-established on its old site it is suggested that the coolies while there contracted from the ground saturated with this deposit the seeds of disease, which their confinement on board ship and the change of their mode of life subsequently developed. That the people were not visibly out of health when put on board is certain, from the careful examination they underwent both by a medical officer acting on behalf of the Government of India and by the surgeon of the ship.

The papers connected with the mortality have been transmitted to the Government of India, that an inquiry may be instituted into its causes and any remedy that the inquiry may suggest be applied; and the acting Emigration Agent has been desired, in case the result of the inquiry should throw doubts on the healthiness of the site of the depot, to take immediate steps for its removal without waiting for instructions from home. A better description of clothing than can be obtained in India has also been sent out from this country at the expense of the British Guiana Government, as the emigrants are said to suffer with cold in passing the Cape. Unfortunately, from the early period at which emigrants came forward last season, the clothing could not arrive in Calcutta in sufficient time for their use.

Clothing has been sent from England for use of emigrants on the voyage.

During the year 1865 the number of emigrants who left India for Mauritius and the West Indies, was—

We regret to say that three accidents, attended with loss of life, occurred to the ships in which they were embarked.

Wrecks of Cooly ships: "Sandringham."

First.—The "Sandringham" while at anchor off Flat Island, Mauritius, on the 14th of March went ashore in a gale of wind, when 19 of her passengers were drowned. An inquiry into the case was held by the Local Marine Board, and the master's certificate was suspended for 12 months.

Second.—The "Fusilier" while at anchor at Port Natal, where she had put in on account of sickness, dragged her anchors, and went ashore, when 26 of her emigrants perished by drowning or exposure to the weather. And—

"Fusilier."

Third.—The "Eagle Speed" was wrecked on the Mutlah Bank in the Hooghly on the 21st August, when 262 out of 497 of her emigrants were drowned. In this case an inquiry was held by the Indian Government. The pilot was dismissed the service, and the surgeon was disqualified from again serving in an Indian Emigrant Ship. The papers connected with this lamentable accident have been laid before the House of Commons.

The emigration from India to the West Indies during the season 1865-66 amounted to 4,849 emigrants, to which are to be added 26 born on the voyage, making a total of 4,875. We have received intelligence of the arrival of the whole of these ships, and we regret to say that the mortality amounted to 7.95 per cent. In this case the mortality in the ships to Trinidad was higher than in those to British Guiana, having been 10.74 in the former, and 6.65 per cent. in the latter.

No. of Coolies who arrived in the West Indies in season 1865-66. Appendix No. 21. Mortality.

This mortality was no doubt in great measure attributable to the large proportion of children in the ships. The proportion of children to adults in ships from Calcutta had been in the season :—

Proportion of children to adults in ships from Calcutta.

1861-62	-	-	-	10·3	per cent.
1862-63	-	-	-	7·2	„
1863-64	-	-	-	9·4	„
1864-65	-	-	-	10 6	„

In the season 1865-66 it was 24·6. Our experience in Australian Emigration has shown that a large proportion of young children in a ship invariably causes a large mortality rate, and we are careful therefore strictly to limit the number of young children we put on board. The same effect has followed from the same cause in Indian Emigration, but unfortunately there is so extreme a difficulty in procuring female emigrants in India without young children, and without female emigrants the emigration would on moral grounds be so objectionable, that it is difficult to observe the same strictness in Indian emigration that we observe in our emigration from this country. In the present case it is stated that great distress, amounting almost to starvation, had prevailed last summer in some parts of Bengal, and that it was under the pressure of this distress that the emigrants of last season came forward. But distress among the population of India implies a lowering of their habitually low diet, and a still further enfeeblement of their usually feeble constitutions. This would, of course, render them more than commonly susceptible of disease, and less able to resist it. In one ship, the "Koomar" for Trinidad, Scurvy and Scorbutic Diarrhœa were the prevailing diseases, and caused a heavy mortality. This would seem to imply some defect in the lime juice put on board that vessel, and we have taken steps, if possible, to procure some of it for analysis. In the meantime we have directed the emigration officers in India and China to be especially careful in ascertaining the purity of the lime juice put on board emigrant ships; recent events in this country giving reason to believe that adulteration has in some instances been practised in this article; and we have endeavoured to obtain some ready test of the purity of lime juice for the use of Emigration officers both here and elsewhere. We regret, however, to say that our efforts for this purpose have been attended with but little success.

Wreck of "Countess of Ripon" from Calcutta for Grenada and
St. Vincent.

Among the ships despatched from Calcutta was one, the "Countess of Ripon," with 508 emigrants for Grenada and St. Vincent. This vessel, which sailed from Calcutta on 3rd November 1865, made a successful voyage up to the 20th January, when she grounded on a reef off the Island of Barbados. Her passengers and crew were taken off without accident, and forwarded to their respective destinations. A court of inquiry was summoned, and on the evidence tendered to them, the court acquitted the master of all blame for the loss of the ship, expressed an opinion that the utmost care was taken in her navigation, and attributed the loss to an unexpected northerly current. The court added the expression of a strong opinion, that a lighthouse is required on the east end of Barbados, and that, had such a light existed, the accident could not have happened.

CHINESE EMIGRATION.

In our report for last year we explained the arrangement which had been made by British Guiana and Trinidad for placing on a somewhat more permanent footing the emigration from China to those Colonies. It was provided that those Colonies should take between them not less than 2,000 emigrants in the year, of whom five-eighths were to be sent to British Guiana and three-eighths to Trinidad. British Guiana, however, instead of the 1,250 which would have been received under this arrangement, in 1864-65, applied for 1,800, and actually received 1,766, of whom 414 were women. The number sent to Trinidad was 612, of whom 187 were women, and in addition, one ship, carrying 480, of whom 14 were women, was despatched from Amoy to Honduras. The whole number despatched was therefore 2,858, to which are to be added 15 born on the voyage, making a total of 2,873; the number of deaths on the voyage was 115, equal to 4.0 per cent. Considering the length of the voyage and the impossibility of entirely excluding men whose constitutions have been enfeebled by opium eating, the mortality cannot be considered large.

The Chinese who arrived in Trinidad in the season 1864-65 are generally well spoken of by the Immigration Agent of that colony. He says that, with few exceptions, they have been "more subordinate" than was expected; that some of the gangs have not only worked well for wages, but have surrounded themselves with gardens, and have acquired pigs and poultry; and that the women are nearly all industrious and quiet. There are, however, exceptions, he says, to this description, some of the gangs being idle and unmanageable. The Chinese are more difficult to manage than the Indians, and require temper and discretion on the part of the Overseers. They have no respect for courts where corporal punishment is not inflicted, and are much given to petty thefts. The Chinese imported into Cuba are said to be more honest and trustworthy, and the Immigration Agent is of opinion that a severe discipline, including corporal punishment, would have a good effect on their first arrival. Imprisonment with hard labour they regard without apprehension.

Emigration in season 1865-66. Appendix No. 24.

During the season 1865-66 1,250 Chinese emigrants were ordered for British Guiana, and 750 for Trinidad. We have heard of the despatch from China of two ships for Trinidad, carrying 613 emigrants, and three for British Guiana, carrying 1,278.

Mutiny on board "Pride of the Ganges." Murder of master and purser.

We regret to state that in the "Pride of the Ganges," one of the ships for British Guiana, a mutiny broke out the day after the vessel sailed. The master and the purser were thrown overboard, and the mutineers compelled the first mate to proceed to Hainan, where all the emigrants left the ship. The ship was afterwards taken to Hong Kong by the mate and has since sailed with another body of emigrants for British Guiana. The alleged cause of the mutiny was the indifferent quality of the rice on board, but the fact that the rice was subsequently sold in open market at the highest price of the day, seems to disprove the truth of that allegation. The mutineers did no injury to the ship and took away from it nothing but provisions.

We have received intelligence of the arrival at their destination of three ships, conveying 1,106 emigrants. The number of deaths on the voyage was 22, being equal to 1.98 per cent. of the numbers embarked.

Proposal of O Tye Kin to introduce Chinese into British Guiana without Government assistance.

An endeavour is about to be made to initiate an emigration from China to British Guiana without Government assistance, which, as it may have important results, and is at all events interesting in its conception, may be noticed here. In the end of 1864 a Chinese Christian, O Tye Kin, who had for 12 years been a revenue surveyor at Singapore, arrived in British Guiana, with the intention of endeavouring to convert his fellow countrymen to Christianity. He succeeded very soon in forming a congregation of about 120 persons, and shortly afterwards he commenced, with the sanction and assistance of the local Government, the formation of a settlement about 30 miles from George Town. This settlement the Governor visited, in company with Admiral Hope, and gave it the name of Hopetown. In December last the Governor reported that the settlement had increased to 170 persons; that they had established a store in George Town for the sale of their produce, and that they expected very shortly to pay off the advance of 600*l.* made to them out of public funds towards the formation of their settlement.

O Tye Kin had proposed to the Governor to adopt in British Guiana the system followed in Singapore for the introduction of emigrants. He represented that, according to that system the employer is in the habit of paying the expense of the introduction of the emigrant on condition of receiving his services during two years for food and clothing only. He is sanguine that the same system might be brought into operation for the Hopetown settlement, and probably for the general service of the Colony, and he has proposed to send two delegates to China to collect emigrants on these conditions. The Government so far adopts the scheme as to propose to advance from public funds the amount necessary to despatch the delegates, who on their part are to undertake on their arrival in China, besides obtaining emigrants for the Hopetown settlement, to assist the Emigration agent in procuring emigrants for the planters. Whether the advance is to be repaid by the Hopetown settlement or out of the immigration fund is to depend on the result of the delegates' operations in procuring emigrants for the general service of the Colony. That the delegates may be able to effect this is doubtful, but their presence in China can scarcely fail to be beneficial, as affording the ocular proof of the success of Chinese emigrants in the West Indies which the Emigration Agent in China has continually declared to be indispensable to the continuance of a satisfactory emigration.

The importance of obtaining Chinese evidence as to the results of the emigration has been urged on the British Embassy by the Prince of Kung, and on Her Majesty's Consul at Canton by the Viceroy of the two Kwangs. The Prince of Kung with this view proposes to despatch a Chinese officer to visit the Colonies to which Chinese emigrate, and to report on their condition. The viceroy suggests that the emigrants themselves should combine to send back some of their number to give the results of their experience. There can be no doubt that the information which would be obtained by either of these courses would be most valuable, as an encouragement to the emigration of a respectable class of labourers, and it might be good policy in the Colonies of British Guiana and Trinidad to send back some of the Chinese emigrants for the purpose of making known the advantages held out to labourers in those colonies. At present the Chinese feel a natural distrust of a system the results of which they have no means of ascertaining.

The only African emigration to any of the Colonies during 1865, was an emigration of 42 Africans from St Helena to British Guiana.

We now proceed to give such information as we possess

Half yearly inspection of Estates on which immigrants are employed.

In our Report of last year we mentioned that arrangements had been made to secure a half-yearly inspection by the stipendiary magistrates, of all estates on which immigrants are employed. Their first inspection was made in the summer of 1865. From their reports, which included the whole island, except the district of Flacq (where the stipendiary magistrate had been but recently appointed), it appeared that the number of arpens in sugar cultivation was 107,397.

No. employed

The number of immigrants employed, including women, was 52,973, besides whom there were 16,867 women on estates not employed, making a total of 69,840. The amount of sugar produced was 1,711,842 cwt. or 85,592 tons. The daily average of sick is stated to be 1,994 = 2.85 per cent. The deaths in the half year ending 31st December 1864 had been 994 = 1.42 per cent. The number of deserters during the half year had been 2,834, and the additional number of labourers whom the planters required was stated at 17,512. These returns, as regards the sanitary condition and mortality of the immigrants, may be considered satisfactory.

In respect to their treatment on the estates the reports of the stipendiary magistrates show that as a general rule the immigrants are well treated; compulsory Sunday labour, on which so much stress was laid, appears to have been rare, and in the few cases where it had been required it has been ordered to be discontinued. On some estates the camps and hospitals were in bad order, and medical attendance insufficient. To remedy the latter defect an ordinance has been introduced into the legislature which, with some modifications, has since become law. We place a copy of this ordinance in the Appendix. The people's wages also were in some cases several months in arrear, the masters retaining them apparently as a means of preventing desertion. Although there was no risk of eventual loss the practice is evidently objectionable, and the magistrates have called on the masters to discontinue it. The new law, moreover, by disallowing complaints against absentee labourers, where wages are more than two months in arrear, will operate to prevent this practice in future. Desertion and absenteeism, as they always have been, and no doubt always will be, are still the prevailing offences of immigrants.

Arrangements have been made for securing a better class of surgeons in ships conveying immigrants from India to Mauritius. With this view five competent medical men have been selected to take charge of emigrant ships between India and Mauritius, and have received permanent appointments for that purpose, at fixed salaries. This arrangement, which would come into operation during the present season, may be expected to have a beneficial effect on the health of immigrants on the voyage.

In the month of September last the “Clarence” sailed from British Guiana, for Calcutta and Madras, with return emigrants. The number who embarked was 469, of whom 389 were adults, 63 children, between 1 and 10 years, and 17 infants. The immigration agent described them as for the most part a very fine body of people. The amount they carried back with them was 11,235*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.*, of which 10,817*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.* belonged to the Calcutta coolies, and 418*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* to the Madrassees. Excluding children, who cannot be supposed to have earned much, this amount was equal to 31*l.* 10*s.* 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. for each Calcutta adult, and 10*l.* 14*s.* 5*d.* for each Madras adult. In addition to this they carried away some jewellery on their persons, but rather less than usual. The “Clarence” arrived in India on the 30th December, having lost 34 of her passengers on the voyage, equal to 7·72 per cent. The greatest number of deaths occurred soon after passing the Cape of Good Hope, where the ship was caught in a violent storm which laid the seeds of disease in many of the older and feebler Indians.

During the year ending 30th June 1865, 5,920 immigrants entered into renewed indentures for five years, and received in bounties $291,800 for so doing. During the same period 1,190 immigrants paid the sum of $18,557 as commutation for further service under indenture, and 360 others gave notice of their intention to commute. The number who re-indentured themselves is evidence of the general contentment of the immigrants with their position as labourers on estates, while the number who paid commutation money shows with what facility the industrious may acquire the means of determining their own condition. A large proportion of those who paid commutation money are said to have been Chinese, whose object in doing so was to obtain the bounty on entering into fresh indentures for five years.

The number of immigrants under indenture in Trinidad at the end of 1864 was—

Total	-	-	-	-	-	9,966

In addition to whom there were in the orphan asylum at Tacarigua 60 Indian children. The whole number, therefore, in the colony was 16,003, among whom the deaths in 1864 were 341, equal to a mortality of 2·13 per cent.

The number of immigrants under indenture on 1st October 1865 was—

Indians	-	-	-	9,499
Chinese	-	-	-	380
Total	-	-	-	9,879

In addition to whom there were resident on estates—

Indians	-	-	-	5,077
Chinese	-	-	-	205
Total	-	-	-	5,282

Among the Indians 375 deaths had occurred during the year, being equal to a mortality of 2·5 per cent. The arrival of the Chinese was too recent to allow of any fair calculation of the rate of mortality among them. The proportion of Indian females to males resident on estates was rather more than 33 per cent.; the ratio of females to males of all ages was 38·8 per cent. The proportion of Chinese women to men introduced in 1864–65 was 45·61 per cent. During the season 1865–66 the women despatched from China to Trinidad were in the ratio of ·99 per cent. only to the men. The importance of the introduction of women is self-evident.

besides a considerable amount of specie not deposited, and a profusion of silver chains, bangles, &c. Of the above amounts the sum of 9,700*l.* was paid in by 193 individuals, being equal to 50*l.* 5*s.* 3*d.* each, and the specie 2,701*l.* 3*s.* 7*d.* was deposited by 82 persons, being equal to 32*l.* 18*s.* 10*d.* each, in addition to which 20 of these 82 persons paid their own passages, at the rate of 11*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* each.

Among the emigrants were a man, his wife, and seven children, of whom six had been born in Trinidad—and a man and his wife who originally emigrated to Trinidad in 1846—returned to Calcutta at the end of their five years industrial residence—came back to Trinidad in 1858 at their own expense, and returned a second time to Calcutta with 199*l.* in specie, and 20*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.* in the Treasury. There was also a man who had served out one industrial service in Mauritius and another in British Guiana, and had returned to India from each with considerable sums of money, had been robbed of his money in Calcutta, and then emigrated to Trinidad, from which he was now again returning to Calcutta with ample means.

Inspection of estates on which immigrants are employed.

With a view to ensure full protection to immigrants an ordinance was passed last year, to enable the Government to appoint two inspectors to visit estates on which immigrants are employed with the same powers in regard to inspection as the law confers on the Agent General of Immigration. This ordinance, the utility of which cannot be questioned, has, we believe, been approved, and we place a copy of it in the Appendix.

ST. VINCENT, GRENADA, ST. LUCIA, ST. KITTS.

The condition of immigrants in the minor West India Colonies is in general very satisfactory. St. Vincent and Grenada have alone introduced any fresh immigrants in recent years, those namely by the "Countess of Ripon," the wreck of which off the east end of Barbados we have already noticed. Previous to the arrival of those immigrants the number in St. Vincent under indenture was—

In St. Vincent the number of deaths during the half year ending 30th June last (the latest return we have received) had been 12, equal to 1.66 per cent. for the half year, or 3.32 for the year. The people are described as well conducted, as improving as labourers, and consequently increasing their earnings, and as beginning to profit by the religious instructions imparted to them. The indentures of a considerable number having expired in the spring, all except five, had reindentured themselves to the same estates, and even the five who refused to be reindentured continued to work as before.

Mortality.

In Grenada the number of deaths in 1864 (we have no later returns) was 49, equal to 2.39 per cent., the number of births 70, equal to 3.41 per cent. on the number of immigrants. The immigrants were well conducted, the amount of crime among them very small, the most serious offence having been "cutting and wounding," of which three cases had occurred. Considerable efforts are said to be made by the Scotch church in the parish of St. Patrick to promote the religious education of the Indians, and with that view two religious services had been held in Hindoostanee, with which it is said the Indians were much pleased.

In St. Lucia the number of immigrants on estates on 30th June last was—

1.66 per cent. for the year. The births among them during the same period had been 16. A few had emigrated during the half year to St. Vincent and Trinidad, either to join friends or in search of higher wages. The people had been well conducted, the principal offences brought before the magistrates being unauthorized absence and assault. Only a few of the Indians were still under indentures, and the indentures of the whole will expire in February 1867.

No return is given of the mortality among them, but they are said by the Administrator of the Government to be well treated, their houses and hospital accommodation to be good, and that there has been little sickness among them. He states that on visiting estates he announced that he was ready to receive complaints, but that few were made, and those of a very trivial nature. The people, he adds, are generally contented and healthy, and the Indians, though diminutive, and wanting in muscular development, do their work neatly and well. The best imported labourers are, he adds, the Portuguese.

CEYLON.

But besides the Indians who emigrate to Mauritius and the West Indies, large numbers emigrate every year from the southern districts of India to Ceylon. Formerly the bulk of these Indians crossed at the Gulf of Manaar and travelled by land from Manaar to the Central and Southern Districts. Great suffering and mortality occurred among them on the journey, and the local government took steps in consequence to improve the route by repairing the sheds at the halting places, sinking wells, and establishing hospitals with proper medical attendants. Steps were also taken to facilitate the conveyance of emigrants by steam vessels direct from the coast of India to Colombo and other ports in Ceylon; and Ordinances were passed to regulate the carriage of emigrants by such vessels.

Our information as to the number and condition of Indian immigrants in Ceylon is at present imperfect, but the Governor has been directed to furnish returns which will hereafter supply full information on the subject. In the meantime we print in the Appendix an Ordinance passed in 1865 by the Legislature of Ceylon to consolidate and amend the law relating to servants, &c., under contracts of service.

BAHAMAS.

In former Reports we have alluded to the impulse given to trade and agriculture in the Bahama Islands by the civil war in the United States of America. Among other effects it has led to the establishment by certain persons in New York, of a company styled "The American Cotton Company," who have rented a tract of upwards of 1,000 acres on Long Island, and have introduced from New York labourers and steam machinery. The cultivation of cotton has also been undertaken to a considerable extent in that island by private landowners, and it is believed that the land now under cultivation in cotton is not less than 1,200 acres. The description of cotton principally cultivated is the "pure white Georgia," which is preferred to the Sea Island as bearing more freely and enduring longer. The company are willing to "gin" the cotton of private cultivators at a charge of $1\frac{1}{2}d.$ per lb. The quantity shipped from Long Island had amounted in one fortnight to 100 bales, of 250lbs. each, and would have been more if there had been shipping to take it. A lot sold in the London market is said to have realized $1s. 11\frac{1}{2}d.$ per lb. This must be admitted to be very satisfactory.

The mortality on the voyage had been at the rate of $\cdot 7$ or less than $\frac{3}{4}$ of 1 per cent. The arrangements on board the ships which were chartered and despatched by us are spoken of in terms of gratifying eulogy. The total arrivals in the colony, exclusive of Chinese, were 20,589; the total departures, 16,404; leaving a gain by immigration of 4,185. The number of Chinese who arrived during the year was 84, the number who left 1,044.

Immigration and emigration.

The population of the colony on 31 December 1864, was 392,589, being an increase as compared with 1863 of 13,655. The number of marriages was 3,480, of births 16,881, of deaths 6,445. Both marriages and births showed an increase as compared with 1863, but in the deaths there was a decrease. The colony had been unusually healthy during the year.

Population.

The trade of the colony was in a very prosperous condition, the exports and imports showing a considerable increase as compared with the previous year. The amounts were:—

	Exports.	Imports.
1863	- - £ 8,319,576	£ 6,936,839	Imports.
1864	- - 9,836,042	8,117,217	Exports.

The imports were at the rate of 25*l.* 9*s.* 9¼*d.* per head of the mean population of the colony during the year, the exports at the rate of 21*l.* 0*s.* 8¼*d.* The most valuable of the exports, were:—

In both there was a considerable increase as compared with 1863.

The extent of land in the hands of settlers (exclusive of that held for pastoral purposes) is stated to be 7,545,117 acres of which 3,975,148 acres are freehold and 3,569,969 acres leasehold. The extent of land in cultivation is 321,526 acres, the enclosed land not in cultivation 1,742,128, the unenclosed land 5,481,463 acres. The cultivation both of cotton and the vine was largely on the increase, the produce of the former having increased from 1,600 lbs. in 1863 to 29,012 lbs. in 1864, The area of vine cultivation had increased from 880½ acres in 1863 to 945½ acres in 1864.

QUEENSLAND.

Land sales.

The extent of land sold in Queensland in 1864 was 139,814 acres, the extent granted 2,311 acres, the extent leased 6,629 acres, making a total of 148,754 acres. Of the land sold 41,194 acres were sold by auction, and 98,619 acres by private contract. The amount realized for the former was 110,996*l.*, for the latter 99,729*l.* The extent of land under cultivation was 12,006 acres.

The trade of the colony was increasing rapidly, the value of the exports and imports, having been:—

	Imports.	Exports.	Imports.
Exports.	1863	- - £ 888,381	£ 1,713,263
	1864	- - 1,247,054	2,267,954

Population.

The population is said by the Governor to have increased from less than 25,000 in 1859 to nearly 90,000 in September 1865. The number of cattle in the colony was 882,073, and of sheep 5,665,334. The revenue had risen from 390,823*l.* in 1863 to 502,456*l.* in 1864, with a considerable excess over the expenditure. The public debt of the colony amounted to 548,800*l.*, while the debentures authorized to be issued, but still unsold, amounted to 1,301,436*l.*

Establishment of town of Burketown, near shores of Gulf of Carpentaria.

A township had been established near the shores of the Gulf of Carpentaria, being the first settlement made in that region, to which the Governor had given the name of Burketown, in honour of the unfortunate explorer who lost his life in Australia in 1861. The district in the neighbourhood of the township is said to be rapidly filling up with pastoral settlers, who drive their stock overland from the older districts of the colony.

Renewal of search after Dr. Leichhardt.

In the month of August last an expedition was to start from Queensland to renew the search after Leichhardt and his companions, who are supposed to have perished in the interior of Australia as far back as the year 1848. The funds for this expedition had been provided principally by the colony of Queensland, assisted by contributions from Victoria and South Australia, and by private subscriptions. The intention was to proceed to the Flinders, where the last traces of Leichhardt had been observed, and to be guided by circumstances as to the course to be subsequently pursued.

In respect to the general progress of the colony we cannot, perhaps, do better than add an extract of the speech with which, on the 14th September last, the Governor closed the session of the Legislature.

Progress and position of Colony.

“I feel much satisfaction,” he says, “in renewing on the present occasion the congratulations on the rapid but solid progress of this colony which I have now been enabled to address to you in closing the sessions of six successive years. Since the establishment of Queensland in December 1859, our European population has increased from less than 25,000 to nearly 90,000, that is, it has been augmented nearly fourfold, while our revenue and our trade (including imports and exports) have been more than trebled. The other chief elements of material prosperity have advanced in almost equal proportion. During that same short period cotton, sugar, and tobacco have been added to our list of staple products. A line of new ports has been opened along our eastern seaboard, from Keppel Bay to Cape York, a distance of 1,000 miles, while pastoral occupation has spread over an additional area at least four times larger than the area of the United Kingdom. In 1859, our settlers had hardly advanced beyond the Darling Downs to the west or beyond Rockhampton to the north. Now, in 1865, there are stations 700 miles to the west of Brisbane, and 800 miles to the north of Rockhampton. These facts derived from the official statistics cannot fail to be interesting and instructive to our fellow-countrymen at home, while they must be to you, as they are to me, a subject of honest pride and of devout thankfulness.”

Amendment of Land Act, 1862. Appendix No. 40.

In their session in the early part of last year the Legislature of Victoria passed an Act of which we print a copy in the Appendix entitled "An Act to amend the Land Act, 1862." The Land Act 1862 made provision for the sale of agricultural lands by selection, but limited the quantity to be so sold to any individual within 12 months to 640 acres. This limitation was extensively evaded and the sales were consequently stopped. By the Act of 1865 agricultural land must in the first instance be taken on lease at 2s. an acre in sections of not less than 40 nor more than 640 acres, but may be bought on certain conditions at any time within seven years at 1*l.* an acre. At the end of seven years if not bought, the land with all improvements on it becomes forfeited. The conditions of the lease are:—

1st. That it should not be assigned within three years, nor until certain improvements have been made.

2nd. That improvements to the extent of 1*l.* per acre, shall be made within two years.

3rd. That when these improvements have been made, the lessee may require the land to be put up to auction at an upset price of 1*l.* per acre plus the value of his improvements, the latter to be paid to him if he is outbid.

4th. That if the lessee reside three years and make the stipulated improvements, he may purchase the land at 1*l.* per acre without auction.

The following is the quantity of land disposed of in Victoria up to 23rd October 1865, and its average price :—

To carry the Act of 1865 into operation, 29 land offices have been established in the Colony; 188 agricultural areas, comprising 3,251,292 acres, have been proclaimed open for settlement, of which 1,670,739 have been taken up, 551,416 have been withdrawn as probably auriferous, and 1,028,885 remained open for selection in October last.

With a view to facilitate the acquisition of land the Government is empowered to subdivide leases and to grant separate leases to each occupant. The number of leases so subdivided has been 133, the number of subleases granted 279; the extent of land comprised in these subleases 53,901 acres, or an average of 193¼ acres each. But to defeat attempts of individuals fraudulently to obtain more land than the Act allows, the Land Board is empowered to disallow applications at any time within 30 days of their receipt. This power had been exercised in 241 cases.

Claims arising from “Rural Store Licences” issued under the Act of 1862, and from the right of pre-emption of homesteads, were under investigation, the former, to the extent of probably 15,000 acres, valued at 20,000*l.*, the latter, to the extent of 7,450 acres, valued at 9,100*l.* Arrangements were also in progress for leasing for residence and cultivation plots not exceeding 20 acres on or near the gold fields. The number of applications for such plots had been 2,800, of which the number recommended for approval was about 1,600. The extent of land comprised within these leases will probably be 25,000 acres, the rent about 6,400*l.* per annum.

As regards actual settlement it is considered that the operation of the Act of 1865 has been far more beneficial than the operation of previous systems. Of the 3,733,566 acres alienated before 1860, almost the whole is said to have been occupied solely for the purpose of pasture; of 1,833,000 alienated by selection under the Acts of 1860-62, 1,600,000 are held by pastoral tenants; and are said to be "to this day untouched by the plough;" while of the land alienated under the Act of 1865 three-fourths, representing upwards of 1,000,000 acres, have been taken by persons intending to settle. The Land Act it is said is working as satisfactorily as can reasonably be expected, and will be the means of settling within a short time all who desire to establish themselves on land in the colony.

The conclusion that the Act is working well is reasonable. The principal thing to be apprehended is that the acquisition of land in small plots has been made so easy that those who ought to be labourers will be tempted to take land on their own account, and that good labourers will thus be turned into bad farmers. That, however, is so obvious a risk, that the Colonial Legislature must have been well aware of it when they passed the Act, and must therefore have considered it less essential than it is generally considered in this country. Time alone can show whether this result will follow or whether in Victoria, as in some countries in Europe, facility in acquiring land may not give birth to a class of peasant proprietors as remarkable for their industry and intelligence as for their good conduct, loyalty, and attachment to their country.

Consolidation of law relating to passengers, &c.

Amendment of laws affecting Chinese immigrants.

The legislature of Victoria also passed two Acts relating to immigration, entitled respectively, "An Act to consolidate the Law relating to Passengers, Harbours, and Navigation," and "An Act to amend the Laws affecting the Chinese immigrating into or resident in Victoria."

The first is simply a Consolidation Act. It repeals 12 Acts wholly or partially, and re-enacts their provisions with some omissions and slight modifications which appear unobjectionable. The repealed Acts were for the most part founded on English laws of the like nature.

The other Act repeals the Chinese Immigration Statute, 1864, and re-enacts it with the following omissions, viz., (1.) The tax of 10*l.* on the master of vessels bringing male Chinese into the Colony; (2.) The tax of 4*l.* on Chinese entering the Colony in any other way than on board a ship; and (3.) The limitation in passenger ships of one passenger to every 10 tons of the ship's tonnage if any of such passengers were male Chinese.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

The sales of land in South Australia in 1864 were as follows:—

Town lands -	46	3	9	27	5	10

Country sections -	131,886	2	25	1	5	9 ¹ / ₁₀
Country lands -	88,043	0	0	1	0	4 ³ / ₁₀

The total amount realized from sales was 265,441*l.* 5*s.* As compared with 1863, there was a great decrease in the sale of town lots and special country lands, but a great increase in that of country sections and country lands. The increase in the amount realized was upwards of 46 per cent.

The extent of land leased for pasturage was 3,736 square miles, at a rental of 27,523*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*, and the land let on mineral leases was 1,742 acres. The whole land revenue received during the year was:—

The quantity of land sold in the colony up to 31st March 1865 was 2,893,814 acres; the quantity enclosed was 3,499,098 acres, of which 587,775 acres were under cultivation, and 2,911,323 uncultivated.

The population of the colony on 31st December 1864 was estimated at 147,341, of whom 75,888 were males and 71,453 females. The estimated increase during the year was 6,925 souls, of whom 3,282 were from the excess of immigration over emigration.

In former reports we have explained the steps that had been taken for forming a settlement in the northern district of the colony at Adams Bay. At the head of the settlement was placed Mr. Finnis, and he selected as a site for the chief Town a spot near Escape Cliffs, at which he said he had found ample supplies of excellent water at a depth of 24 feet. Some doubts were from the first entertained at Adelaide as to the wisdom of Mr. Finniss' proceedings which subsequent events have tended rather to confirm than remove. The land in the neighbourhood of Escape Cliffs, is described by some of the principal settlers there as "of the most worthless description, being principally scrub, sand, and swamp, utterly unfit for arable or pastoral purposes." They therefore protested in strong terms against the establishment of the chief town at that place, and urged a further exploration of the country as far as the Victoria River. The result has been the recall of Mr. Finniss by the Government of South Australia, and the appointment of Mr. Manton in his place, with instructions to despatch an officer to explore the country. The majority of the settlers had also returned to Adelaide. In the meantime the selection of the site of the chief town has been suspended, and the most recent despatches hold out an expectation that, after all, the country will be found well adapted for pastoral settlers.

Selection of town suspended.

Connected with the settlement was an undertaking of so extraordinary a nature that we may be allowed to notice it here. Some of the settlers, irritated and disgusted at the ill success of the settlement determined to quit it at all hazards and without delay. Having no other means of doing so, they embarked to the number of seven in a small boat $23\frac{1}{2}$ feet long, 6 feet wide, and 2 feet deep. Washboards were added and decking, and tarpaulin on the bows and stern, and with no other provisions than 200 lbs. of bread and biscuit, some cheese, a few tins of preserved beef and about 70 gallons of water, these seven adventurers prepared to find their way back to the inhabited parts of the continent. They left Adams Bay on the 7th May and on the 29th reached Camden Harbour, where they obtained fresh provisions. On the 3rd June they resumed their voyage, and on the 19th, after having narrowly escaped being swamped in a gale of wind, they reached Nichol Bay, which they left on the 23rd without having discovered the West Australian Settlement. On the 8th July they reached Champion Bay in Western Australia, having thus accomplished a voyage of 1,600 miles. Such a voyage in such a vessel is we believe unprecedented.

The number of immigrants who arrived in the colony during the year from all quarters was 1268, the number who left was 836, the increase by immigration was therefore 432. But as the number of convicts despatched to the colony was 559, and of immigrants sent out by us 136, making together 695, it follows that a considerable number of those resident in the colony at the beginning of 1865 must have left it during the year.

Immigration and emigration.

In our report of last year we explained the steps which had been taken for opening up and settling the country in the northern districts of the colony. With this view an expedition was despatched in March 1864 to the Glenelg River, and on their favourable report associations were formed to occupy and stock land in Roebuck Bay, in the neighbourhood of Nichol Bay, and at Camden Harbour. To Roebuck Bay 12 men with 800 sheep and 6 horses were despatched; to Nichol Bay, 38 men and 5,010 head of cattle and sheep; and to Camden Harbour, 120 men, 5,000 sheep, and 34 horses. In consequence of these settlements a stipendiary magistrate was appointed to the district by the Governor and despatched to Camden Harbour.

Northern Districts.

Unfortunately Camden Harbour failed to realize the expectations that had been formed of it. The land was found to be rugged and stony, the grasses dry, hard, and innutritious; the country was infested with blow-flies which attacked and injured the wool of the sheep, and the heat was intense. The result was that three of the settlers died of sun-stroke immediately after landing, and that before the end of three months out of 4,500 sheep landed not 1,000 were alive, and those in a very feeble state, and of 34 horses only 26 remained. Camden Harbour was consequently abandoned, and the settlers brought away. It was contemplated to form a new settlement for them in the neighbourhood of Nichol Bay, and to extend for a twelvemonth, from the formation of the new settlement, the exceptional privileges for the purchase of land offered them at Camden Harbour. We have not yet heard whether the result of the explorations of the country at Nichol Bay has been sufficiently favourable to justify the formation of a settlement in that district. Our information respecting the settlement at Roebuck Bay is also too scanty to allow us to form any opinion as to the ultimate success of the settlers there.

In their session of 1865 the Legislature of Tasmania passed an Act "to further amend the Waste Lands Act, 1863." This Act provides facilities for the settlement of associations of agriculturists; for the acquisition of lands for public works, for the clearing of such lands for the purposes of the works, and for compensating the owners or occupiers; and for the proclamation of "agricultural areas" and their division into lots, and lease by tender for terms of 21 years at rents of not less than 1s. an acre. We place a copy of this Act in the Appendix.

NEW ZEALAND.

We have no return of the quantity of land sold in New Zealand in the year 1864, nor of the revenue derived from it; but it appears, by the census taken in December of that year, that the extent of land fenced had increased from 409,473 acres in 1861 to 1,070,203 acres in 1864, being equal to an increase of 161·36 per cent., while the extent under crop had increased from 226,500 acres in 1861 to 381,526 acres in 1864. The European population, exclusive of military, had increased during the same period from 98,971 to 171,931, being an increase of 73·71 per cent. The males had increased in a somewhat greater proportion than the females, and the disparity between the sexes is very large, the males being 106,479, the females only 65,452. The number of horned cattle in the islands on 31st December 1864 was 249,021, of sheep 4,945,473. The quantity of gold exported from the colony from 30th September 1864 to 30th September 1865 was 478,071 oz., of the value of 1,854,000*l.*; the total quantity exported from 1st April 1857 to 30th September 1865 was 2,134,027 oz., of the value of 8,263,000*l.* Of this 1,844,784 oz., of the value of 7,148,540*l.*, had been obtained in Otago, and 133,573 oz., of the value of 523,186*l.*, in Canterbury.

The Report from the emigration agent at Quebec, which is generally received before this time, has not yet reached our hands. We are, therefore, unable to state in what way the emigrants who arrived in the St. Lawrence have distributed themselves; how many have merely passed through Canada, or how many have become permanent settlers there. Neither are we able to state what number of emigrants have entered the province from the United States by the Niagara frontier, or at other points. During the last two years the numbers who entered the colony from the United States exceeded, according to the calculations of the emigration agents, the number who left it. If that was the case during 1865 the addition to the population of the colony by immigration would not be inconsiderable.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Immigration.

During the year 1865 there arrived at the port of St. John 1,456 passengers; of whom 1,212 were conveyed in steam vessels and 244 in sailing ships. The great majority of these passengers appear from the passenger lists to have taken passage in the first instance for New York, and are therefore not included in the return of emigration to New Brunswick in Appendix No. 3. Of the whole number there were from—

No deaths are reported, but it is said that for the first time in several years all the passengers arrived in good health, and not a single person was landed at the quarantine station, a result which the immigration agent attributes to the careful superintendence bestowed on the vessels by the immigration officers at the port of departure. Mortality.

It is believed that of the number who arrived at least 500 have remained in the colony with the intention of settling there. The immigration agent states that arrangements have been made for keeping a record of farms and farming lands for sale, so as to enable purchasers to ascertain without difficulty where they can meet with what they seek, a measure which cannot fail to be very useful to immigrants with some capital. BRITISH COLUMBIA.

We are not aware of any emigrants having proceeded direct from the United Kingdom to British Columbia in 1865. There was no doubt an influx of immigrants from neighbouring countries, but we have no return of the numbers.

Ordinance to amend and consolidate the gold mining laws.

In their session in the spring of 1865 the Legislature of British Columbia passed an ordinance to amend and consolidate the gold mining laws. This ordinance is so long that we do not print it in the Appendix. It is rather a re-arrangement of the various proclamations existing on the subject than the enactment of a new law, and the great bulk of it consists of minute regulations relating to the establishment of miners' rights, and the manner of working mines. It provides for the appointment of gold commissioners and the establishment of miners' courts, in which the commissioner is to preside. It gives the commissioner power to decide all cases brought before him, without a jury, and to enforce his decisions in the same manner as a judge of the supreme court. But in cases exceeding 5*l.* in value it allows an appeal to the supreme court. In respect to miners it provides that every person over 16 years of age shall be entitled to hold a claim; that a miner's certificate shall be for either one or three years, at a fee of 1*l.* for each year; that three days, but not more, shall be allowed for the renewal of an expired certificate; and that during the currency of the certificate every free miner shall have a right to enter a mine on any unoccupied crown lands. Miner's "locating" claims are bound to register them within three days, if within 10 miles of the office, with an allowance of one day additional for each additional 10 miles distance. Claims are to be registered annually. In case of dispute priority of registration is to give primâ facie a title. Transfers of claims are to be by written documents registered with the gold commissioner. A miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and one quartz, and one other claim by pre-emption. He may also hold a claim on each hill, creek, or ravine, provided they be not less than 10 miles apart. Adjacent claim holders may be allowed by the gold commissioners an entry into a claim, if absolutely necessary to the working of their own claims, upon such terms as may appear reasonable to the commissioners. Claims unworked for 72 hours, excluding Sundays and holidays, are, except sickness or reasonable cause be shown, to be considered abandoned. The size of claims, and the mode of working them according to the features of the country is prescribed, and provision is made for the drainage of mines. Mining partnerships are recognized, and limited liability upon the cost-book system is provided for. The commissioner is empowered to grant leases for a period not exceeding 10 years, of extents varying according to the nature of the land.

Such leases to be understood to contain a reservation of the rights of the Crown, and of rights of way and water to the public; and also to contain a covenant by the lessee to work the mine in a "mine-like-way." The commissioner is also authorized to give a right for a term not exceeding five years, to divert any creek, stream, or lake, and regulations are made to secure the rights of others, and to provide for the settling disputes. The size of ditches, and rules for measuring the water are laid down, and also the mode of compensation for damage done to ditches or water-courses in the construction of roads or other works, and for damage done by the giving way of ditches or water privileges. The commissioner is empowered, on the requisition of not less than 101 free miners in a district, to constitute a "mining board" to consist of not less than six, nor more than twelve, miners of the district, elected by the votes of the miners. The board is to have power to make byelaws to be approved by the gold commissioners, but the governor is empowered by an order under the public seal at any time to dissolve any mining board. Lastly, provision is made for enforcing penalties for infractions of the law; but rights acquired previous to its enactment are not to be affected by it.

It might, perhaps, have been considered that a large portion of this ordinance, dealing as it does with minute and variable details, would have been more conveniently promulgated in the shape of regulations by the governor if the Legislature had conferred upon him the powers to make such regulations. This would have allowed of the more easy revision and alteration of such as in so new a state of things must constantly require reconsideration. At the same time the local authorities must, no doubt, be considered the best judges of the form in which a law of this kind should be framed, and as the convenience of regulations is self-evident, there were, we presume, objections to that course of proceeding which do not occur to us.

The Legislature also passed an ordinance, of which we print a copy in the Appendix, to regulate the acquisition of land. By this Act a difference is made in the mode of dealing with surveyed and unsurveyed country lands. The former can only be acquired by purchase at auction, or if not sold at auction by private contract at the upset price fixed in the ordinance, viz., 4s. 2d., an acre. The latter may be acquired by what is termed preemption. Under this system any person may take possession of any unsurveyed, unoccupied, and unreserved country land, not exceeding 160 acres, and not being the site or proposed site of a town, or auriferous land, or an Indian reserve, provided he first obtains a licence for the purpose from the magistrate of the district, and on payment of a fee of 8s. 4d. the magistrate is to record the claim, and grant a "Record Certificate," which is [a bar to all previous claims to the same land. When the Government survey extends to the land thus "pre-empted," the claimant, his heirs or devisees, or (if he shall have obtained from the stipendiary magistrate of the district a certificate that he has made permanent improvements thereon to the value of 10s. an acre,) his assigns become entitled, if there has been a continuous occupation of the land, to purchase it at 4s. 2d. per acre. A pre-emptor may also pre-empt an additional tract, not exceeding 480 acres of contiguous land upon payment of 2s. 1d. an acre, leaving the remaining 2s. 1d. to be paid when the land is surveyed. Provision is made for the case of disputed claims, and the right to pre-empt is confined to British subjects, and to those aliens who may have taken the oath of allegiance. Aliens who have not taken that oath can purchase but cannot "pre-empt" lands.

This ordinance is in the main substantially the same as the former law, "The Pre-emption Consolidated Act, 1861," which it repeals; but new provisions are introduced for regulating the mode in which the right to appropriate water for irrigation and other purposes is acquired, and for enabling the Governor in his discretion to grant pastoral leases to bonâ fide pre-emptors or purchasers, and to issue timber cutting licences. The ordinance fixes no limit to the term of the pastoral leases that may be granted, but it makes them subject, without compensation, to the right of reserve, and of pre-emption and purchase by any person during the term, and to the condition of being properly stocked within six months, as the stipendiary magistrate may direct.

As the granting of pastoral leases is in the discretion of the Governor he has been instructed to limit the term to be granted to seven years, and he has also been desired not to exercise the power of making free grants conferred on him by the 55th section of the order, without the previous sanction of the Secretary of State.

LABUAN.

In the Appendix to our Report for 1864 we printed a copy of the lease then recently granted to the Labuan Coal Company for raising coal in that island. The operations of the company during the two years that have since elapsed were not so successful as might have been hoped, and they applied for some modification in the terms of their lease. Their application has been acceded to and a new lease has been granted to them (and the China Steam Shipping Company, with which they have amalgamated), a copy of which we print in the Appendix. The principal alterations are, that instead of paying a royalty on all coal raised, they are in future to pay a rent of 300*l.* a year, and a royalty of 6*d.* per ton on all coal beyond 12,000 tons sold or disposed of for value before 25th December 1870, and of 1*s.* per ton for all beyond 6,000 tons after that date. They are also to be allowed to raise ironstone, fireclay, freestone, and petroleum on payment of certain royalties, and to cut timber for their own use or for any other purpose, on condition that they keep the land from which such timber is cut free of under-wood and jungle. And in consideration of their making a railway from their coal pits to the shipping place and introducing settlers, they are to be allowed free grants of land along the course of their railway to the extent of five acres for every labourer introduced, not, however, to exceed 640 acres for each mile of railway.

The difference between the number of coolies reported to have been embarked in the West Indies, and the number reported to have been landed at Calcutta, is in some cases materially less than the reported number of deaths. This arises partly from births on the voyage, and partly perhaps from the embarkation at the last moment of persons not entered in the lists. It is thought best, however, to give the number as they have been reported to the Board, without attempting to reconcile the discrepancy.

Vessels marked thus * sailed for Calcutta; thus † for Madras; thus *† for both Calcutta and Madras.

† In this vessel twelve Maldivians were also embarked.

§ In this vessel two Chinese were also embarked.

|| In this vessel three Chinese were also embarked.

(a) In this vessel one Chinese and six Indians were embarked.

APPENDIX No. 37.

MAURITIUS.

ORDINANCE (No. 29. of 1865) enacted by the Governor of Mauritius and its Dependencies, with the advice and consent of the Council of Government thereof.

HENRY BARKLY.

AN ORDINANCE to amend the law as to hospitals, and medical attendance for persons under contracts of service.
27th November 1865.

WHEREAS the law at present existing with regard to hospital accommodation and medical care for persons under contracts of service is insufficient, and requires to be amended :

Be it therefore enacted by his Excellency the Governor with the advice and consent of the Council of Government, as follows :

CHAPTER I.

Repeal of former law.

Repeal of former law.

I. Ordinance No. 6. of 1845 is hereby repealed, except in so far as relates to any case which shall have arisen under any of its provisions, before this Ordinance shall have come into operation.

CHAPTER II.

Hospitals for labourers.

Hospital required where there are 30 or more servants.

II. Every person who shall have in his employment and residing on his premises, under written or verbal contract of service, thirty or more servants, as the term is defined in the Royal Order in Council of 7th September 1838, shall require to have, for the accommodation and treatment of such servants in case of sickness, an hospital in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

The provisions of this article shall apply whether the master is proprietor or only occupant of the said premises, and although the same are only used by him for the lodging of his servants.

The said provisions shall also apply whether the said servant be engaged in agricultural or other kind of labour.

Provided always that persons having establishments of servants aforesaid within the district of Port Louis, shall be held to comply with the said provisions in regard to such servants, by sending those of them who require hospital treatment to the civil hospital of Port Louis, and retaining them therein until they shall be discharged from the said hospital.

Job-contractors to have hospital accommodation for their servants.

III. Every job-contractor having in his employment thirty or more servants aforesaid, whether the said servants do or do not reside on the premises of the job-contractor, shall be bound either to have an hospital in terms of this Ordinance upon premises belonging to or hired by him, or to have, by arrangement with the owner or lessee of the estate on which his labourers work, sufficient accommodation in the hospital of the said estate for his servants working thereupon, according to the scale herein-after provided. In the latter case the job-contractor shall be bound to notify to the stipendiary magistrate the said arrangement; and, on failure to do so, shall be held not to have complied with the provisions of this article.

IV. The provisions of the two preceding articles shall apply in all cases where servants, to the number of thirty or more, are, in the opinion of the stipendiary magistrate, really engaged for one and the same undertaking, notwithstanding that in their contracts of service different persons appear as their masters.

Ordinance to apply where men are engaged to the same undertaking.

V. The following rules shall be observed regarding all hospitals which shall be established under the provisions of this Ordinance, viz.:

Requisites of hospitals to be constructed.

1stly. The hospital shall require to be situated on a convenient site, and to be of sufficient construction, as the same shall respectively be certified by one of the inspecting medical officers herein-after mentioned.

2ndly. It may be built of stone, planking, or palissades, and may be roofed with tiles, bardeaux, slates, thatch, or metal: Provided that in the last-mentioned case there be a ceiling underneath the roofing, with proper means of ventilation certified as aforesaid.

3rdly. The size of the hospital shall require to be on the footing of at least sixty square feet imperial standard measure, and five hundred cubic feet aforesaid, respectively, for each bed.

4thly. It shall be separated from any camp of labourers, and be completely enclosed, by means of a fence, to the satisfaction of such inspecting officer, as certified by him.

5thly. It shall contain at all times sufficient accommodation and beds or other sleeping places for at least the following proportion of the servants,—the number and sufficiency to be certified as aforesaid, viz.:

Three per centum on the number of the servants engaged at the time: But provided that in no case shall the hospital contain beds or sleeping places for fewer than four servants.

6thly. It shall be suitably provided with medicines of the kinds, quantities, and qualities, respectively, to the satisfaction of the stipendiary magistrate, after receiving the report of the medical attendant of the servants for whom the hospital is intended, and making such further inquiries as he may consider necessary.

7thly. It shall be provided with hospital attendants, qualified for the duty of attending to the sick as such attendants, certified by the medical attendant aforesaid.

8thly. It may consist of either one building or of two or more separate buildings.

9thly. It shall be reserved exclusively for the purposes of an hospital.

10thly. In case the inspecting medical officer shall refuse to grant a certificate in any of the cases in this article provided, he shall be bound without delay, on application of any party concerned, to put such refusal in writing, and to deliver to the said party a copy thereof certified by him to be correct; upon which the said party shall be entitled to appeal against such refusal to the General Board of Health, who, after hearing parties and making such inquiry as they shall deem proper, shall determine whether or not such certificate ought to be granted, and in the event of their deciding that it ought to be granted, their decision and resolution to that effect shall be equivalent in all respects to the certificate of the inspecting medical officer in the matter or matters to which the same shall relate.

Requisites of hospitals already existing.

VI. The requirements of the preceding article shall be applicable to all hospitals already existing upon estates, but provided that any hospital which shall have been approved under the provisions of article 1st of Ordinance No. 6. of 1845, shall be held sufficient under the provisions of this Ordinance, so far as relates to its construction, site, and enclosures. Every such hospital, however, shall require to contain accommodation and beds or other sleeping places on the scale herein-before provided.

Additional accommodation during epidemics to be required.

VII. Moreover, every person as described in articles 2nd and 3rd respectively, shall be bound, in case of epidemic or infectious disease breaking out among his servants, to build or procure additional hospital accommodation of a temporary nature for such of his servants as cannot be duly accommodated in the hospital existing on his premises at the time. Such temporary hospitals shall be built or procured on the order of the stipendiary magistrate, and shall require to be to his satisfaction after due inquiry.

Penalties incurred where hospital not erected.

VIII. Any person who shall be required by this Ordinance to have an hospital, under the provisions of the preceding articles 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th, and who shall fail to have such hospital completed, furnished, and equipped in terms of this Ordinance within six calendar months from the date when this Ordinance shall come into operation (or, in case the servants for whom such hospital is required shall not be in his service till after this Ordinance shall come into operation, then within four calendar months after they shall be so in his service), shall incur a penalty of not less than 5*l.* or more than 20*l.* sterling; and the stipendiary magistrate shall appoint a period not exceeding three calendar months, within which such hospital shall be provided. Every such person failing to have such hospital as aforesaid within such period, shall incur a penalty of not less than 20*l.* or more than 50*l.* sterling, which penalty shall be repeated as often as he shall fail to comply with the order of the stipendiary magistrate to have an hospital as aforesaid within any subsequent period to be fixed as aforesaid.

The same penalties shall be incurred by any person aforesaid who shall fail to keep up an hospital in terms of Articles 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th.

The same penalties shall also be incurred in case any person aforesaid shall fail to build or procure temporary hospital accommodation as required by Article VII. hereof; but in this case, the periods to be fixed by the magistrate for the same shall not exceed three weeks.

IX. With regard to any servant aforesaid, being one for whom hospital accommodation is required under the provisions of this Ordinance, it shall be a sufficient ground for breaking his contract of service that his master shall have failed to have an hospital completed, furnished, and provided, in terms of Articles 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th of this Ordinance: provided such failure shall have continued during three calendar months after the master shall have been called upon so to do by notice from the stipendiary magistrate, in terms of Schedule A.

Continued failure to have hospital, to be ground for breaking contract of service.

X. Any person who shall have an hospital as herein-before provided, shall be entitled to insist that any one of the labourers for whom such hospital shall be intended, shall proceed to such hospital when he shall be sick, and shall remain therein until his recovery. Any labourer who shall refuse so to do, and who shall absent himself from his work, shall, during the whole time of such refusal and absence, be regarded in law and fact as unlawfully absent, and shall be liable to punishment accordingly.

Master may insist on servant's going into hospital.

Moreover, in case any labourer aforesaid who shall be insane or suffering under infectious or epidemic disease shall refuse to proceed to or remain in any hospital aforesaid, or in any temporary hospital accommodation which shall be provided in terms of Article VII. hereof, it shall be lawful for the employer of such labourer, on the written requisition of the medical attendant of his labourers, to force the said labourer to proceed to and remain in such hospital or hospital accommodation until duly discharged therefrom.

The provisions of this Article shall apply to the servants, although fewer in number than 30, on any premises upon which there shall be an hospital certified to be properly built, furnished, and provided as aforesaid.

XI. When any person or persons shall have labourers aforesaid in their service, but residing at different places, it shall be lawful for him or them to provide a "Union" hospital for such labourers: provided that the said hospital be not situated at a greater distance than three British statute miles from the places where the said labourers reside.

Union hospitals authorized.

The foregoing provisions of this Ordinance shall apply to all such hospitals.

CHAPTER III.

Medical Attendance on Labourers.

Medical attendant to be engaged and notified to magistrate.

XII. Every person having in his service 30 or more servants aforesaid, for whom, by terms of his contract or by any law he shall be bound to provide medical attendance, is required, within one month from the date of this Ordinance coming into operation, to engage a duly qualified medical practitioner for professional attendance on his said servants, and to notify to the stipendiary magistrate of the district the name of such medical attendant, the number, as nearly as may be, of labourers he is engaged to attend, and also the acceptance by the medical attendant of the said employment.

The said notification shall be made in duplicate in terms of Schedule B. to this Ordinance, one of which duplicates shall be retained by the said magistrate, and the other of which shall be marked with his visa and be returned to the person who sent the same.

Any person aforesaid failing to make such notification, shall incur a penalty of forty shillings sterling, to be imposed by the stipendiary magistrate.

Name of medical attendant already engaged to be notified.

XIII. All persons who after this Ordinance shall have come into operation shall have in their service 30 or more labourers, as described in the immediately preceding Article, shall be bound to make a similar notification to the stipendiary magistrate without delay. Any such person who shall fail, for six days after receiving a written requisition from the stipendiary magistrate of his district to give such notification, shall be liable to the penalty provided in the last preceding Article.

Provided that nothing in this Ordinance contained shall be held to affect the obligation of any employer having fewer than 30 labourers in his service to provide medical attendance for them in terms of law.

On medical attendant being changed now one to be notified.

XIV. When any person having the number of servants mentioned in the two last preceding Articles shall from any cause whatever cease to have for his servants the medical attendant whom he shall have notified in terms of either of the preceding Articles, or when the attendance of such medical attendant on his servants shall be interrupted for any period of fourteen days or upwards, such person shall be bound, within one week from such cessation or interruption, to procure another medical attendant duly qualified as aforesaid in his place, and to notify the name of such medical attendant to the stipendiary magistrate, and in case of failure shall be liable to a penalty of forty shillings.

Notwithstanding, it shall be lawful to any medical attendant aforesaid, when unable from any cause to perform his professional duties personally, to perform the same by a substitute, being a duly qualified medical practitioner in the colony; and where such substitute shall perform the said duties, the attendance of the said medical attendant shall not be considered as interrupted.

XV. Every medical practitioner who shall have agreed to attend upon any servants under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall be bound, under a penalty not less than 2*l.* or more than 10*l.* sterling, to make not fewer than the following number of visits, periodically, to such servants, such periodical visits being in addition to any occasional visits which shall be requisite under special circumstances, vizt. :

Medical attendant to make certain visits to labourers.

Where the servants are not fewer than 50 or more than 200, one visit per week.

Where they are 200 or more, two visits per week.

The provisions of this Article shall be held to have been observed if the said medical practitioner shall have obtained the attendance as aforesaid of any qualified medical practitioner as his substitute.

XVI. There shall be kept on all premises to be visited by any medical practitioner in terms of this Ordinance, a "Register" in the form hereunto appended, Schedule C., in which register shall be entered regularly, by the said medical practitioner at the time of his visits, a note of the several items in the said Schedule mentioned; and such register the said medical practitioner shall be bound, on the requirement of the stipendiary magistrate or inspecting medical officer of the district, to verify by a certificate appended to the said form.

Hospital register to be kept.

When the entries aforesaid are not made in the handwriting of the medical attendant, he shall be bound to sign the same at the time of his visit.

XVII. A fine not less than 2*l.* or more than 10*l.* sterling, to be imposed by the stipendiary magistrate of the district, shall be incurred by Fines imposed for contravening this ordinance.

1st. Every person having in his employment 30 servants, or more, for whom he is bound to provide medical attendance, who shall fail to provide and keep on his premises a register as herein-before provided.

2nd. Every such person who shall fail to produce such register to the stipendiary magistrate or to the inspecting medical officer of the district, on being required by them, respectively in writing, so to do.

3rd. Every medical practitioner who shall knowingly make or sign any false entry in any such register.

4th. Every medical practitioner who, after receiving a written requisition from the stipendiary magistrate or inspecting medical officer aforesaid, shall fail to make and subscribe a certificate as herein-before provided, or who shall knowingly make any false statement in any such certificate.

XVIII. In case any medical practitioner attending any estate shall refuse or neglect, for any period of a fortnight or more at a time, to make his entries in the said "register," as required by the foregoing provisions, it shall be lawful to the stipendiary magistrate, with the concurrence of the protector of immigrants, to prohibit the attendance of such medical practitioner at the premises to which such failure shall apply: such prohibition to continue for such time, not exceeding three calendar months, as the protector of immigrants and stipendiary magistrate shall jointly determine.

Medical attendant failing to keep books to be prohibited from attending.

The person whose servants shall have been attended by such medical practitioner previous to the prohibition, shall be bound, on receiving written notice thereof from the stipendiary magistrate, to employ another medical attendant, (if any such can be procured within a reasonable distance,) and to notify such employment to the stipendiary magistrate in terms of Article XII.

In case of failure, he shall be liable to the penalties provided in the said Article.

Remuneration of medical attendant.

XIX. Every medical practitioner who shall be engaged to attend professionally any servants under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall be entitled, in any proceedings which shall be taken for recovering payment of his professional remuneration, to claim and obtain judgment therefor at the rate of four shillings sterling per annum for each servant whom he shall be so engaged to attend.

APPENDIX No. 40.

VICTORIA.

No. 237.—An Act to amend “The Land Act, 1862.”

[23d March 1865.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend “The Land Act, 1862”: Be it therefore enacted by the Queen’s most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of Victoria, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Preamble.

PART I.

INTRODUCTORY.

1. This Act may be cited as “The Amending Land Act, 1865;” and its several Parts and Subdivisions (except Part II., Subdivision (1), corresponding with Part II., Subdivision (1), of “The Land Act, 1862,” herein-after partly repealed); shall be construed with and as part of the corresponding Parts and Subdivisions of “The Land Act, 1862;” and this Act shall continue in force for the same time as and not longer than the said last-mentioned Act.

Title of Act.

2. In any cases where Her Majesty, or where the Governor or any person or persons in the name or on behalf of Her Majesty, has or have heretofore contracted for the purchase or the surrender of or otherwise granting to Her Majesty, or shall hereafter contract for any such purchase, surrender, or other grant of any land, or any estate, or interest therein, the registration heretofore or hereafter effected in the manner now or by any future Act appointed for the registration of deeds in Victoria of any deed already executed, and the registration of any deed hereafter executed, for the vesting in Her Majesty of such land, or estate or interest, shall have and be deemed to have had from the time of such registration the same effect in regard to such deed as if the same had been enrolled of record.

Registration of Crown purchases to have same effect as enrolment.

3. The Governor in Council may divide into counties the territory not already included in any county, and by proclamation to be published in the Government Gazette may define the boundaries of such counties, and may distinguish each by a name, and after such proclamation the territory comprised within the boundaries of any of the said divisions shall thenceforward be recognized as a county by the name so given as aforesaid.

Governor in Council may divide territory into counties.

4. When prior to the passing of this Act any Crown lands have been reserved for purposes described in the notice of reservation “as church purposes,” such reservation shall have the same force and effect as if the lands had been reserved for the sites of schools, places of public worship, or dwelling houses for ministers of religious denominations.

Certain doubtful reservations made valid.

Grants of land to volunteers.

5. All officers, non-commissioned officers, and members of the volunteer force of Victoria, not being on the paid staff, or serving for pay in the said force, shall be entitled, subject to such regulations and conditions as may from time to time be approved of by the Governor in Council, and laid before both Houses of Parliament, to receive from the Board of Land and Works a certificate, which shall be treated as equivalent to the sum of fifty pounds towards the purchase money or rent of any Crown land thereafter purchased or leased by the person who shall have received such certificate, his executors or administrators: Provided that no volunteer or person aforesaid shall be entitled to receive such certificate until he has served as an effective for a period of not less than five years under any regulations heretofore or hereafter in force under any Act relating to the volunteer force of Victoria.

PART II.

(1.) LEASING OF LANDS IN AGRICULTURAL AREAS.

(Corresponding with Part II. Subdivision (1) of "The Land Act, 1862.")

Repeal of sections of "The Land Act, 1862."

6. The sections of "The Land Act, 1862," numbered twelve to thirty-seven, both inclusive, and the schedules mentioned in or relating to any of the said sections, shall be and the same are hereby repealed: Provided that nothing herein contained shall invalidate or affect any selections of land in proclaimed areas made under the said sections or any of them before the passing of this Act, or any rights of selection or possession conferred on former purchasers, and on the holders or promisees of licences, or holders of leases or certificates, under the said sections or any of them, and that all the provisions of the said sections shall remain and be in full force so far as they respectively relate or can be applied to any lands or allotments, or subdivisions of allotments, purchased, selected, or possessed under the said sections or any of them before the passing of this Act, and to any lands that may hereafter be purchased, selected, or possessed by any purchasers or licensees or holders under the said sections or any of them, and under and subject to the provisions of the section of this Act next following; and all things lawfully done, and all rights of selection and purchase, and of obtaining leases, given under and by the said sections or any of them, together with the obligations of selectors, are hereby confirmed.

Extension of time for selection or purchase.

7. Any person who had before the passing of this Act become entitled under the twenty-third and twenty-fourth or the thirty-third or thirty-fourth sections respectively of "The Land Act, 1862," to select or purchase land within twelve months from the date of the said Act, and the executors, administrators, and assigns of such person, may, subject to all the limitations, conditions, restrictions, and obligations attached by the said Act to such selection or purchase, exercise the said right of selection or purchase upon making application to the Board of Land and Works at any time within twelve months after the passing of this Act: Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to any person who had previously to the passing of this Act exercised the right of selection or purchase under the said sections, or any of them: Provided also, that the Board of Land and Works may from time to time make such regulations as may be thought necessary or expedient for the purpose of enforcing the conditions and obligations aforesaid, or of preventing the violation or evasion of any of the provisions of "The Land Act, 1862": Provided also, that any person entitled under sections twenty-three and twenty-four of "The Land Act, 1862," to select an allotment, and the executors, administrators, and assigns of such person, may, with the consent in writing of the Board of Land and Works, select land exceeding in extent by not more than five acres the land of which such person is or has been seized, and which is set forth in the certificate, upon payment of a price to be fixed by the Board for the land so in excess of the land set forth in the certificate: Provided also, that the person so entitled, and the executors, administrators, or assigns of such person, may, by endorsement on the certificate, signed by such person, and approved by the Board under its seal, waive his or their said right of selection; and thereupon, and in lieu of such right, the certificate shall be treated as equivalent to the sum of four shillings for each acre of land of which such person is or has been seized, and which is set forth in the certificate, towards the purchase money of any Crown land thereafter purchased by such person or persons at any sale by public auction of Crown lands: Provided also, that all persons from the time of the passing of the Land Act of 1862 entitled to receive certificates shall be entitled to receive the same within three months after the passing of this Act.

8. If at the time of the passing of "The Land Act, 1862," any person held or had been promised a licence in accordance with the terms of the notice published in the Government Gazette, and dated the sixteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, or a certificate in lieu of such licence, and was entitled by virtue of the said licence or promise, or a certificate, respectively, to select or purchase land under the provisions of the thirty-third or thirty-fourth section of the said Act, if the Board of Land and Works has before the passing of this Act withheld or should hereafter withhold its consent to, or refuse to allow, the application for the selection or purchase of land by such person under the provisions aforesaid, such person, unless such consent was withheld on account of the conditions of the licence or certificate not having been duly fulfilled, may, with the consent of the Board of Land and Works, remain in possession of the land on payment of such annual licence fee as the Governor in Council may from time to time fix and appoint until such consent to such selection or purchase be given, and allowance thereof be published as aforesaid, or until he shall have been paid a compensation, to be fixed by the said Board, for being removed from the land, and upon such payment the right of such person to remain in possession of the land shall cease.

Compensation may be fixed by Board of Land and Works in certain cases.

Survey of agricultural areas.

9. Notwithstanding anything in "The Land Act, 1862," contained, the Board of Land and Works shall from time to time cause to be surveyed in any part of Victoria agricultural areas. Such areas shall be as much as possible in defined and extensive districts, and not in isolated or scattered portions, and shall be surveyed in allotments of not less than forty nor more than six hundred and forty acres, and the Board shall cause plans of the lands so surveyed to be prepared.

Agricultural lands after proclamation to be open for selection, purchase, and leasing.

10. The Governor in Council may from time to time proclaim, by notice published in the Government Gazette, that all or any of the lands situated in any agricultural area proclaimed under "The Land Act, 1862," and all or any lands heretofore or hereafter surveyed, shall, within a period of not more than three months from the date of such publication, be open for selection or purchase as herein-before provided for, and for leasing as herein-after mentioned; after the expiration of such period such lands may be selected or purchased as aforesaid, or may be leased to applicants, in the manner, upon the terms, and to the extent herein set forth: Provided always, that the Governor in Council may from time to time subdivide any area proclaimed under this Act, in such manner as he may think fit, and proclaim any part of an area so subdivided to be a new area, and alter the name or number of any area, and withdraw and close any area or part thereof; and after publication in the Government Gazette of notice of such withdrawal no land within the area or part of an area so withdrawn shall be selected, purchased, or leased under the provisions of this Part of this Act, until the said area or part of an area is again proclaimed: Provided also, that not less than four millions of acres shall be open as aforesaid; within three months after the passing of this Act, and that there shall constantly be kept open as aforesaid in such proclaimed areas at least two millions of acres.

Proclamation of land office and land officer.

11. Every such proclamation shall distinguish the area by a name or number, and shall state some proper officer (herein-after called "the land officer") to whom, or his substitute, and some land office at which, applications for the lands so proclaimed, and payments on account of the same, may be made; and no such land officer or substitute shall directly or indirectly become the selector, purchaser, or lessee of any land in relation to which such proclamation has been made.

Priority of application.

12. All applications for leases under this part of this Act shall be made by the applicants in person. When on any day within the period of one hour, calculated from the time of the opening or re-opening of the land office, two or more persons shall attend at the land office to make application for the purchase or selection or for a lease of land under this Part of this Act, the priority of the order of applications shall be determined by lot, to be conducted in such manner as the Board of Land and Works may direct, and upon such determination such applications shall be received and entered in the order so ascertained as aforesaid. When any application is refused or disallowed by the Board, or withdrawn, the rent in advance paid as herein-after provided by the applicant shall, notwithstanding anything contained in any Act now or hereafter to be in force relating to the collection and payment of the public moneys, be forthwith returned, without interest, by the land officer or his substitute, to the unsuccessful applicant: Provided that every application in manner aforesaid, and accompanied by payment of the rent in advance as herein-after mentioned, shall be and be deemed to be accepted by the Board, unless such application shall, within thirty clear days from the time the same has been entered as aforesaid, be refused or disallowed by a notice under the hand of the President of the Board, which shall be published in the Government Gazette within the period last aforesaid, and shall specify the grounds of such refusal or disallowance.

13. The Board of Land and Works may grant a lease under the seal of the Board of an allotment in an agricultural area, for a term of seven years, at a rent of two shillings per annum for each and every acre or fractional part of an acre of the said allotment, to any person who shall have applied in manner aforesaid for such lease, and who shall have paid to the land officer, or his substitute, before or at the time of making application, a half year's rent in advance for such allotment. The Board of Land and Works may also, in such manner and subject to such terms, conditions, and regulations as the Governor in Council may from time to time direct, grant leases of subdivisions of an allotment to two or more persons, one of whom shall have made application, and paid a half year's rent in advance for the allotment in manner aforesaid; and every such lease, and every lessee of any such subdivision, respectively, shall contain and be subject to all the covenants, conditions, and provisions of this Act with respect to leases and lesses of allotments.

Leases of lands in agricultural areas.

14. Every such lease shall be executed by the Board of Land and Works, and the lessee, within three months after the entry of the application as aforesaid, and shall contain the following covenants and condition:

Covenants and condition of lease.

- (I.) A covenant for the payment of the rent in advance at half-yearly intervals:
- (II.) A covenant that the lessee will not assign the lease, or transfer or sublet any part of the term created by the lease or of the land therein described, for a period of three years from the commencement of the term, nor at any time, unless the improvements in the condition herein-after mentioned shall have been previously made and certified as herein provided:
- (III.) A covenant that if the lessee, his executors, administrators, or assignes, shall reside on the allotment during the term for not less than three years, and shall make the improvements of the nature and value herein-after in the following condition mentioned on the allotment during the term, and shall prove to the satisfaction of the Board (to be certified under its seal), by such evidence as the Board may require, that he or they have complied with the said conditions respecting residence and improvements, and with all other conditions and covenants of the said lease, he or they shall be entitled, at any time after three years from the commencement and during the continuance of the term, to demand and obtain a grant from the Crown of the said allotment in fee simple, on payment of one pound per acre and fractional part of an acre as the purchase money thereof:

- (iv.) A condition for re-entry by the Board in the case of non-payment of the rent in accordance with the covenant herein-before mentioned, or in case substantial and permanent improvements, certified in writing under the seal of the Board, or under the hands of arbitrators, to be of the value of one pound for every acre and fractional part of an acre of the allotment, shall not have been made on the allotment by the lessee, his executors or administrators, before the end of the second year from the commencement of the term, or in case of the breach of any of the conditions or covenants of the lease:

And every such lease shall contain such other conditions, covenants, and provisions, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, as the Governor in Council shall approve of, and shall direct to be inserted therein: Provided that no such lease shall be deemed to give to the lessee or to any assignee or sub-lessee the right to search for or to take any metal or mineral.

15. No person shall, within any period of twelve months, become the lessee or sub-lessee or assignee, either in his own name, or in the name or names of any other person or persons, of more than six hundred and forty acres of the lands proclaimed under this Act as aforesaid; and no person shall become the lessee or sub-lessee or assignee of any allotment, who is an infant, or who is a married woman not having obtained a decree of judicial separation binding in Victoria, or who is not domiciled in Victoria, or who is, in respect of the allotment for a lease of which he applies, or in respect of any part thereof, an agent or a servant of or a trustee for any other person, or who at the time of his application has entered into any agreement to permit any other person to acquire, by purchase or otherwise, the allotment in respect of which such application is made, or any part thereof, or the applicant's interest therein; and all land applied for under this Act shall be so applied for bonâ fide, for the use and benefit of the applicant in his own proper person, and not as the agent or servant or trustee of or for any other person; and allotments selected or purchased under the provisions herein-before contained shall be reckoned as part of the six hundred and forty acres herein-before mentioned: Provided that if any person shall, in violation of any of the provisions of this section, become the lessee or assignee or sub-lessee of an allotment, the Governor in Council may declare the lease of such allotment to be forfeited, and upon publication in the Government Gazette of notice of such declaration the term created by the said lease shall cease and determine, and all the right, title, and interest of the lessee, and of every assignee and sub-lessee, in and to such lease, and all moneys paid for rent in respect of such allotment, shall be absolutely forfeited, and the allotment may be sold in fee simple or leased again in manner herein provided: Provided also, that all contracts, agreements, and securities which shall be made, entered into, or given with the intent, or which (if the same were valid) would have the effect of violating all or any of the provisions of this Part of this Act, or of any covenant or condition of a lease granted under this Part, and all contracts and agreements relating to an allotment made or entered into before or after the execution of a lease, and to take effect, wholly or in part, at or after the termination of three years from the commencement of the term, shall and are hereby declared to be illegal and absolutely void, both at law and in equity.

16. The lessee of an allotment, his executors, administrators, or assigns, at any time during the term after the expiration of three years from the commencement thereof, and after the improvements of the nature and value herein-before mentioned shall have been made on the allotment and certified as aforesaid, may, by a writing signed by the lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, and addressed to the Board of Land and Works, and upon personal application at the office of the said Board in Melbourne, or at such land office as the Board may direct, require that the allotment shall be sold by public auction at an upset price of one pound for each acre, and thereupon within a convenient time all improvements on the allotment of a substantial and permanent nature shall be valued, and the allotment, together with the said improvements, shall afterwards be sold by auction at the actual upset price herein-after mentioned.

After three years improvements may be valued and land sold by auction.

17. If the Board of Land and Works shall not, within two months after the end of the second year from the commencement of the term, certify in writing under its seal that substantial and permanent improvements of the value of one pound for every acre and fractional part of an acre of the allotment have been made on the allotment before the end of the second year aforesaid, or if the lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, and the Board of Land and Works, shall not agree upon the value of the substantial and permanent improvements upon an allotment required to be sold by public auction as in the last preceding section mentioned, such improvements respectively may be valued by arbitration within the periods and in the manner herein-after mentioned. For the purpose of such arbitration one arbitrator shall be appointed by the lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, and another arbitrator shall be appointed by the Board of Land and Works, and the two arbitrators so appointed shall, by writing under their hands, nominate and appoint a third arbitrator. Such three arbitrators, or any two of them, shall make their valuation in writing (so as the amount of such valuation shall not exceed the cost of such improvements) within four months after the end of the second year from the commencement of the term, or within four months after the receipt by the Board of the writing requiring the allotment to be sold (as the case may be); and every such valuation shall be in one of the forms contained in the First Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect, and shall be transmitted by the arbitrators to and be deposited in the office of the Board of Land and Works.

Proceedings on neglect to appoint an arbitrator.

18. Upon any valuation under this subdivision of this Part of this Act each party, on the request of the other, shall appoint an arbitrator by delivering to him an appointment signed by himself or his agent, and if for fourteen days after service of a copy of such appointment as aforesaid, and notice by one party (who has duly appointed an arbitrator) to the other party, stating such request and appointment, the party to whom notice is given fail to appoint an arbitrator, the arbitrator appointed by the party giving the notice shall be deemed to be appointed by and shall act alone on behalf of both parties; and the valuation of any arbitrator or arbitrators appointed in pursuance of this subdivision of this Part shall be binding, final, and conclusive upon the Board of Land and Works, and the lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, to all intents and purposes whatsoever.

Death of arbitrator.

19. If, before the making of such valuation as aforesaid, any arbitrator die or refuse or become incapable to act, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed shall appoint in like manner another in his stead, and if either party fail so to do for the space of fourteen days after notice from the other party in that behalf, the arbitrator appointed by the party giving the notice may proceed alone ex parte; and every arbitrator so appointed shall have the same powers and authorities as were vested in the arbitrator in whose stead the appointment is made.

Lessee to have the value.

20. The value so ascertained of such improvements on an allotment required to be sold as aforesaid shall be added to the upset price of the land without such improvements, and shall together therewith be and constitute the actual upset price of such land; and if the said lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, shall bid such last-mentioned upset price or more, and shall be the highest bidder for such land, the value aforesaid shall be deducted from the sum so bidden, and the balance shall be the purchase money for such land; but if any other person than such lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, shall become the purchaser of such land, and shall pay for the same, such lessee, his executors, administrators, or assigns shall be entitled to receive out of such purchase money the said value of the said improvements.

Forfeited, unselected, and unleased lands may be sold by auction.

21. If the Board of Land and Works shall make entry upon any allotment for breach of any of the provisions of this Act, or of any condition or covenant of any lease, or if any lands in a proclaimed area shall remain open for selection, purchase, or leasing for any time not less than three years, and shall not during such time be selected or purchased or leased, the Governor in Council may direct that such allotment or such lands, or any portion thereof, not exceeding two hundred thousand acres in the whole in any one year, shall be sold in fee simple by public auction, and until and unless such direction be given such allotment and lands shall and may be leased in the manner in this subdivision of this Part provided.

22. No will or codicil shall be deemed to be an assignment or transfer within the meaning of this Act; and no assignment or transfer of any lease granted under the provisions aforesaid, whether by operation of law, or by act of the lessee or of any assignee, and no sublease by the lessee or any assignee, shall take effect, or have any force or validity, either at law or in equity, until such assignment, transfer, or sublease has been registered by the lessee, his executors or administrators, in person, or by such assignee in person, at the office of the Board of Land and Works in Melbourne, or at such land office as the Board may direct, and a fee of one pound has been paid for such registration. The Board may and shall refuse to allow to be registered as aforesaid any assignment or transfer of a lease, or any sublease, other than an assignment or transfer to or by the executors or administrators of the lessee, until after the expiration of three years from the commencement of the term.

Assignment of lease.

23. The Board of Land and Works shall, as soon as conveniently may be after the last days of June and December in every year, prepare a list of the names of all persons from whom rent shall have become due during the six months ending on those days respectively, (upon leases granted under "The Land Act, 1862," or this Act,) and who shall not have paid such rent, and the days on which such rents became due; and every such list shall be in the form in the Third Schedule to this Act, and shall be forthwith published in the Government Gazette, and the insertion in such list of the name of any person from whom rent became due during the periods aforesaid respectively shall be prima facie evidence of the nonpayment of such rent.

Nonpayment of rent to be gazetted.

Third Schedule.

24. The selector or purchaser of an allotment and the purchaser of any land under "The Land Act, 1862," and the selector and lessee and assigns of an allotment and the purchaser of any land under this Act, and the person or persons in whom the interest, or any part thereof, of any such selector or lessee or purchaser may at any time become vested, shall have all the rights as against trespassers which at law belong to the owner in possession of any land, except the right of impounding, and shall have the said last-mentioned right when and so soon as the allotment or the land, or such part of the allotment or land respectively, as shall be trespassed upon, shall have been enclosed, either alone or with any adjoining land in the occupation of the same person, with a substantial fence, but not before.

Rights of selector and lessee against trespassers.

25. If any person shall dig any ditch, trench, or drain, or erect or cause to be erected any fence, on or across any proclaimed road or any surveyed road, without the consent of the Board of Land and Works, which consent shall be published in the Government Gazette, he shall forfeit and pay on conviction a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds; but nothing herein contained shall apply to any gate erected and continued by the written consent of the Board of Land and Works if such gate shall not be locked or otherwise permanently fastened.

Towns and villages in agricultural areas may be sold by auction.

26. The Governor in Council may from time to time, before or after the proclamation of any agricultural area, proclaim as a road or as a town or village any portion or portions of such area not selected, purchased, or leased, and not exceeding, if proclaimed as a town or village, six hundred and forty acres of the lands comprised in such area, and the lands in such town or village shall be sold by auction in the manner provided for the sale by public auction of lands not reserved for proclamation in such areas.

Certain improvements formerly made in agricultural areas to give the right of purchase.

27. When before the passing of this Act, upon land afterwards reserved for proclamation in agricultural areas, homesteads have been formed upon any portion of a run, or when before such time buildings have been erected on such land in pursuance of leases or licences to occupy sites for inns, stores, factories, mills, abattoirs, lime-kilns, brick-kilns, ferries, or other purposes, the licensee of such portion of a run or the holder of such lease or licence shall, during six months next after the passing of this Act, (if it be proved to the satisfaction of the Board of Land and Works that such homesteads or buildings have been so formed or erected, and if such land has not been previously purchased or selected under "The Land Act, 1862," and if a written application together with a true description of such homesteads or buildings be transmitted to the Board of Land and Works not less than fourteen days before such land is open for selection, purchase, and leasing,) have the exclusive right of purchasing the allotment on which such homestead or building is situated, or such part thereof as the Board of Land and Works shall determine, at a price to be determined by the Board.

Compensation for improvements formerly made in agricultural areas.

28. When before the passing of this Act dams, reservoirs, wool-sheds, buildings of brick or of stone or of weatherboard, or other fixed and permanent improvements (not being fences), have been constructed upon land afterwards reserved for proclamation in agricultural areas by the licensee of any run forming part of such land, or where dwellings have been erected on such land by holders of miners' rights, or of business licences, or of wood licences, or by persons who at the time of such erection were in unauthorized occupation of any such land, and who prior to the passing of this Act shall have obtained a licence lawfully to occupy the same, or by persons who after the passing of "The Land Act, 1862," have obtained licences under the authority of the Board of Land and Works to occupy sites on such lands for inns, stores, factories, mills, abattoirs, lime-kilns, brick-kilns, or wood-cutters' residences, if the allotment on which such improvements or dwellings are made or situated shall hereafter be selected, purchased, or leased, and if a written application, together with a true description of such improvements or dwellings, shall have been transmitted by such licensee or holder or occupier to the Board of Land and Works not less than fourteen days before such land is open for selection, purchase, and leasing, the selector, purchaser, or lessee shall, in addition to the purchase money or rent, at the same time pay, for the use of such licensee or holder or occupier, the value of such improvements or dwellings, and such value shall be determined by the Board of Land and Works.

29. When any improvements, other than those for which provision is herein-before expressly made, are effected upon any land reserved for proclamation in agricultural areas, if the land upon which such improvements are situated shall be selected or purchased or leased, the person by whom such improvements were effected, or any person claiming under or through him, may, within one month after such selection or purchase or the commencement of such lease, remove for his own use all such improvements, and may for that purpose enter upon the land so selected, purchased, or leased.

Removal of improvements in agricultural areas.

30. Any surveyor or officer acting under the authority of the Board of Land and Works, and any other person acting in aid or under the orders of such surveyor or officer, may from time to time, without making compensation, enter into and upon any land of any person or persons whomsoever, for the purpose of making and carrying on any survey or carrying any survey line authorized by "The Land Act, 1862," or by the orders of the Board of Land and Works, and for the purpose of fixing any object to be used in the survey on any post, stone, or boundary mark whatsoever, and may fix and place any such object, post, stone, or boundary mark whatsoever in the land, or upon any wall, tree, or post in the land, of any person whomsoever, and may dig up any ground for the purpose of fixing any such object, post, stone, or boundary mark, and may cut down and remove any scrub or timber which may obstruct any survey line: Provided always, that such surveyor and his assistants and workmen shall do as little damage as may be in the execution of the several powers to them granted by the said Act or orders.

Survey officers may enter upon private lands.

31. The word "allotment," whenever the same is used in "The Land Act, 1862," or this Act, shall be taken to mean either one surveyed allotment in any proclaimed area, or two or more surveyed allotments in such area adjoining each other, and not exceeding in the whole six hundred and forty acres, and not embracing more than one mile of frontage to any lake, lagoon, river, stream, or watercourse forming a boundary of such allotment, measured in a right line from one extreme point of the same to the other, and which shall be applied for at one time by any selector or purchaser under "The Land Act, 1862," and this Act, or by any applicant for a lease under this Act. The words "substantial and permanent improvements" herein-before and in any lease to be granted under the provisions aforesaid mentioned shall mean and include cultivation, fencing, clearing, or draining of an allotment, and the making of dams,

APPENDIX No. 43.

LABUAN.

LEASE OF COAL and HEREDITAMENTS to the Chinese Steam Ship and Labuan Coal Company, Limited.

THIS INDENTURE made the Fifth day of April 1866, between Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria of the one part, and The China Steam Ship and Labuan Coal Company Limited, (who with their successors and assigns are herein-after called and referred to as "the said Amalgamated Company,") of the other part.

WHEREAS by an indenture made the 30th day of April 1864, between Her said Majesty of the first part, Sir James Dalrymple Horn Elphinstone, Baronet, and James Thompson Mackenzie, Esquire, of the second part, and the Labuan Coal Company (Limited) of the third part, Her said Majesty did demise and lease unto the said Labuan Coal Company, their successors and assigns all coal mines, beds, seams, and strata of coal in the island of Labuan (except as therein is excepted) for the term of 21 years, from the 25th day of December 1863, subject to the stipulations therein contained, and to the payment as therein mentioned of a royalty to the Crown of 6d. per ton Newcastle measure for all coal raised by the said company during the first seven years of the said term, and of 1s. per ton for all coal raised during the remaining 14 years of the said term. But all mines, ores, and minerals other than coal were reserved unto Her Majesty and excepted from the said lease. And it was amongst other things, stipulated in the said indenture, that if during any three consecutive years the said company or their assigns should omit or fail to raise an average of 15,000 tons of coal, Newcastle measure, a year, then it should be lawful for Her Majesty to determine the lease by notice in writing as therein mentioned. And by the said indenture, the said Labuan Coal Company were empowered with the consent of the governor of the said island, to cut and appropriate such timber as might be necessary for the due working of the coal mines, and for constructing any works, railroads, or tramroads connected therewith, but for no other purpose.

And whereas by an indenture made the 5th day of April 1866, between the said Labuan Coal Company, Limited, on the one part, and the said China Steam Ship Company, Limited, of the other part, all the estate, right, title, interest, and privileges of the said Labuan Coal Company, in and under the said indenture of lease and in the coal and property thereby demised, became and now is vested in the said Amalgamated China Steam Ship and Labuan Coal Company, Limited, subject to the payment of the royalties and the performance and observance of the covenants, stipulations, and conditions in the said recited indenture of lease on the lessees part to be paid, performed, and observed.

And whereas Her Majesty upon the representations and at the request of the said amalgamated company hath graciously consented to alter and vary the said indenture of lease in the particulars and in the manner herein-after mentioned.

Now this indenture witnesseth, and it is hereby agreed that so much of the said indenture of lease as requires that an annual average of 15,000 tons of coal shall be raised in each period of three years, and in default thereof renders the said lease liable to be determined by one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and as requires that a royalty shall be paid on all coal raised or gotten by the said Labuan Coal Company or their assigns, shall be considered as henceforth annulled, save and except as to any royalties now due and the remedies for securing and enforcing payment thereof, and that in lieu thereof the said amalgamated company, their successors and assigns, shall pay as herein-after mentioned a fixed annual rent of 300*l.* sterling whether any coal be raised or not; and further shall pay as herein-after mentioned a royalty of 6*d.* per ton on each and every ton, Newcastle measure, whether of coal or coke, or both beyond 12,000 tons, which the said amalgamated company shall sell or dispose of for value before the 25th day of December 1870, and after that date a royalty of 1*s.* a ton on each and every such ton beyond 6,000 tons, which the said amalgamated company or their assigns shall sell or dispose of for value during the remainder of the said term of 21 years granted by the said herein-before recited indenture of lease.

And this indenture also witnesseth, that subject to the payment and observance on the said amalgamated companies part of the several royalties and stipulations herein-after contained, Her said Majesty doth hereby grant unto the said amalgamated company full right to get, raise, work, appropriate, and dispose of for their own use and benefit during the continuance of the lease, granted by the said herein-before recited indenture of the 30th day of April 1864, all iron-stone, iron ore, fire-clay, and free-stone, and also all petroleum or other mineral oils that may be discovered by the said amalgamated company, in, upon, or under such portions of the said island of Labuan as may for the time being be subject to the right of the said amalgamated company to get and raise coal therein under the provisions of the said indenture of lease.

Yielding and paying therefore half-yearly during the continuance of the said term, granted by the said indenture of lease unto Her said Majesty's Colonial, Land, and Emigration Commissioners for the time being, at their office in London, for and on behalf of Her said Majesty and her successors, or to such other person or persons as one of Her said Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State for the time being shall from time to time appoint in writing to receive the same, the several royalties and sums of money following; (that is to say,) for each and every ton of 20 cwt. of iron-stone, iron ore, fire-clay, or free-stone which shall be smelted, manufactured, sold, or disposed of in any shape for value by the said amalgamated company the sum of 4*d.*

sterling, and for every 10 imperial gallons of petroleum or other mineral oil (except oil extracted from coal on which royalty shall have been paid) gotten and sold by the said amalgamated company before the 25th day of December 1870 the sum of 6*d.*, and after that date the sum of 1*s.* during the remainder of the said term of 21 years.

Provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall confer or be deemed to confer on the said amalgamated company any exclusive right or title to the iron-stone, iron ore, fire-clay, free-stone, petroleum, or other mineral oils in the said island, or to get, work, or dispose of the same, but that the right of Her said Majesty and her successors to dispose of the same respectively as she or they may think fit, to, or in favour of, any other person or persons, company or companies, or body corporate, shall notwithstanding these presents remain unfettered and in full force, save only as to such of the said articles as shall at the time of making any future grant or grants thereof by Her said Majesty or her successors, have been actually gotten and appropriated by the said amalgamated company, or shall be in, upon, or under any mine, quarry, spot or spots of land then actually occupied, and being effectively worked by the said amalgamated company.

And this indenture further witnesseth, and it is hereby agreed that notwithstanding any stipulation to the contrary in the said indenture of lease of the 30th day of April 1864 contained, and without prejudice to the right of Her Majesty and Her successors, to grant the like power and privilege to any other persons or person, company or companies, it shall be lawful for the said amalgamated company at all times during the continuance of the said term granted by the said indenture of lease (the consent in writing of the Governor or chief officer for the time being administering the Government of the said island being first obtained) to fell or cut down, carry away, and dispose of for their own benefit, and for any purpose whatever, and without making payment for the same, any timber or trees which may be growing upon any of the unappropriated Crown lands in the said island, provided that the said amalgamated company shall at the same time also cut down and clear away all jungle and underwood which may be growing on the land from which such timber may be cut, and shall continuously and constantly thereafter keep such land free and clear of all jungle and underwood, and ~~for~~ that purpose may cultivate and use such land, and make the same useful and profitable, but without thereby acquiring any right or title to such land, and until the same or any part thereof may be required by the Colonial Government for any purpose; and in default thereof the said amalgamated company shall pay to the Colonial Land and Emigration Commissioners at their office in London, or to such other person or persons as shall be appointed by one of Her Majesty's Secretaries of State to receive the same, the sum of 3*d.* per month for each acre of land from which timber shall have been cut, but which shall not have been cleared and kept cleared of jungle and underwood as aforesaid.

And this indenture lastly witnesseth, that in consideration

APPENDIX No. 44.

INFORMATION respecting FREE and ASSISTED PASSAGES to the COLONIES.

The only colonies which at present promote immigration from the United Kingdom by means of their public funds are Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland, South Australia, the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Tasmania, and some of the provinces of New Zealand.

The system on which assistance is afforded varies in each colony, as more fully explained below.

VICTORIA.—Immigration into the colony, at the expense of the colonial funds, is governed by regulations issued by the local government, dated Melbourne, 10th July 1865.

Free Passages.—The Emigration Commissioners grant free passages to single female domestic servants of good character between 18 and 35 years of age; also to a few married agricultural labourers and their wives under 40 years of age, having, if any, not more than two children under 12 years of age. The eligible candidates must have been accustomed to work for wages in their respective callings, and must produce satisfactory certificates of good character. They must make their applications on certain printed forms which can be obtained from the Commissioners or their agents. The entire cost of the passage in these cases is defrayed by the Commissioners out of colonial funds, and partial assistance in the shape of railway and steamboat passes is also granted to single females to enable them to reach the port of embarkation. All candidates must provide their own outfit, and before their embarkation orders are issued, pay to the Commissioners the following deposits towards the cost of bedding and mess utensils supplied to them on board ship, viz., married couples and their children, 1*l.* per statute adult, and single women 10*s.* each.

Assisted Passages.—The Commissioners can also grant assisted passages to a few other married couples with not more than two children under 12 years of age upon payment of the following sums:—

Sex.	1 and under 12 years of age.	12 and under 40 years of age.	40 years of age and upwards.
For each Male - -	£2	£5	£
For each Female - -	1	2	8 5

Passage Warrants.—Residents in the colony, by making the subjoined payments to the Colonial Government, may obtain what are called "Passage Warrants" for the introduction of their relatives and friends.

Sex.	Under 15 years.	Between 15 and 40.	40 years and upwards.
For each Male - -	£2	£5	£8
For each Female - -	1	2	5

The passage warrants are valid for 9 months only, after the date of their issue in the colony, and in certain cases are transferable with the previous sanction of the Emigration Commissioners.

The Commissioners cannot extend the duration of the warrants, nor sanction the transfer to males of warrants issued for females. Money paid to the colonial authorities for these warrants is not in any case returnable; but in certain cases the warrants may be exchanged in the colony.

Subject to the conditions specified in the warrants, the persons named in them (or their transferees duly approved by the Emigration Commissioners), are entitled to passages to the Colony in ships to be despatched from London or Liverpool, by the agents of the colonial firm who have contracted with the Government of Victoria for the performance of this service. The names and addresses of the shipping agents are given in the passage warrants.

NEW SOUTH WALES.—Emigration at the expense of this Colony is carried on by means of "Passage Certificates" issued under Colonial Regulations dated 19th May 1863. The "Certificates" can be obtained only from the Colonial Government by residents in the Colony. They are of two kinds: (1) where the names and descriptions of the persons to be introduced are given to the Colonial Government and are inserted in the certificate before it is issued; and (2) where the names, &c. are not given, but are to be inserted by the holder of the certificate after it is issued. The payments to be made to the Colonial Government are less in the former than in the latter case, as shown in the following Scales A. and B. :—

SCALE A., where Names, &c. are given.

Sex.	Under 12 years.	12 and under 40 years.	40 and under 50 years.	All above 50 years.
Male - - -	£4	£7	£9	£12
Female - - -	3	4	7	12

SCALE B., where Names, &c. are not given.

Sex.	Under 12 years.	12 and under 40 years.	40 and under 50 years.	All above 50 years.
Male - - -	£4	£11	£13	£15
Female - - -	3	4	7	12

The nominees in either case must be mechanics, domestic servants, or persons of the labouring class, in good health, and of good moral character.

"Passage Certificates" are not transferable. They are available for 12 months from their date, and for passages only in the ships of the Emigration Commissioners, to whom they should be forwarded by the nominees or holders as soon as they receive them. The Commissioners cannot extend the duration of the certificates.

The Emigration Commissioners can occasionally select in this country a few married couples of the above classes for assisted passages at the higher rates of payment specified in Scale B. The Commissioners cannot, however, select any single men or single women on these terms, unless they are accompanying their parents on the voyage.

QUEENSLAND.—Under a recent Colonial Act the Governor in Council is authorized to appoint an Agent General in the United Kingdom for Emigration to Queensland. Mr. Jordan (No. 2, Old Broad Street, London, E.C.,) has been accordingly appointed by the Local Government to that office, and is authorized to grant, under certain conditions, free and assisted passages to the colony. He is also authorized to grant land orders to persons who proceed direct from Europe to the colony at their own expense. Land orders are issued to the extent of 30*l.* for each adult emigrant of 12 years of age or upwards, and of 15*l.* for each child between the ages of 1 and 12. They are available for the purchase of "country," "agricultural reserve," and "suburban lands," but not, it is understood, for the purchase of city or town lands.

Passage Certificates.—Persons resident in the colony may, on payment to the Colonial authorities of the following sums, obtain "Passage Certificates" for the introduction of their relatives or friends, viz. :—

Sex.	Under 12 years.	12 years and under 35.	12 years and under 45.	Above 45.
Males - - -	£4	£—	£6	£8
Females - - -	4	4	6	8

These certificates, like those issued in New South Wales, are available for 12 months from their date, and are not transferable.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—The emigrants who go out at the expense of the colonial funds are selected, not by the Emigration Commissioners, but by an agent (Mr. Dutton) specially appointed for the purpose by the Colonial Government. The emigrants are sent out in ships chartered and fitted up by the Emigration Commissioners.

1. Free Passages.—Free passages can occasionally be granted to South Australia. The classes of persons eligible for free passages are single female domestic servants of good character not over 35 years of age, and married couples of the labouring class under 45 years of age, having, if any, not more than two children under 7, or three under 10 years of age. The deposits to be paid as follows:—Single women, 10s. each; married men and their wives, and children under 12 years of age, 1l. each; and single men 1l. each.

2. Assisted Passages.—When free passages cannot be granted assisted passages are offered to suitable persons of the labouring class, on payment of the following sums:—

Males—Married men under 45 and single men under 40, 4l.

Females—Married women under 45 and single women under 35, 3l.

Children of the above between 1 and 12 years of age, half the above rates.

The applications of candidates for assisted passages are considered in preference to those of applicants for free passages.

3. Deposit Certificates.—Persons resident in the colony can avail themselves of the Assisted Passage Regulations for the introduction of their relatives and friends. On application to the colonial authorities, and on payment of the sums mentioned below, a "Passage Certificate" may be obtained which will entitle the holder to a passage in one of the Commissioners' ships.

Males—Married men under 45 and single men under 40, 4l. each.

Females—Married women under 45 and single women under 35, 3l. each.

Children under 14, half the above rates.

N.B.—It is required that the emigrants proceeding to the colony, under either of these systems, should, previous to embarkation, be personally inspected by the colonial agent, and sign an undertaking not to leave South Australia within two years after their arrival in the colony.

Applications for passages can be made either to the Emigration Commissioners in Park Street, Westminster, or to Mr. Dutton, 5, Copthall Court, City.

NEW ZEALAND.

The nature and extent of the assistance granted by the several Provincial Governments for promoting Emigration is shown in the following table:—

Name of Province.	Name and Address of Agent.	Nature of Assistance.
AUCKLAND -	Alex. F. Ridgeway and Sons, 2 Waterloo Place, Pall Mall, S.W. - Mr. R. Green, Newry, Ireland -	Free emigration is for the present suspended. Assisted passages are granted to persons whose friends in the Colony make arrangements with the Provincial Government for their being sent out. Land grants are made to persons approved for the purpose by the Colonial Agents, and who pay their own passages . The grants consist of 40 acres for each person of 18 years of age or upwards, and 20 acres for each child between the ages of 5 and 18 years. A fee of 10s. is charged for each of the larger, and 5s. for each of the smaller grants.
WELLINGTON	Mr. Morrison -	No free passages are granted to this Province. Assisted passages are granted only to Nominees of settlers in the Province. There are no free grants of land.
SOUTHLAND	Mr. Morrison -	Free and assisted emigration to this Province is at present suspended. There are no free grants of land.
CANTERBURY	John Marshman, Esq., 16, Charing Cross, S.W. -	Assisted passages are granted to agricultural labourers, shepherds, and domestic servants, and a few masons, bricklayers, joiners, and other tradesmen who may be approved by the Provincial Agent. Single men must not exceed 40 years of age, nor married persons 50, unless going out with a large family, but in no case must they exceed 60 years. The passage money is calculated at 17 l. per statute adult, and the Government give towards it a sum equal to the amount paid by the passenger, and it advances the balance, if any, of the passage money as a loan , repayable by quarterly instalments of 5 l. unless the emigrant attempts to leave the Province when the whole of the balance is payable on demand. In this Province there are no free grants of land. Crown land can be acquired only by purchase at 2 l. an acre.
HAWKES BAY	Mr. Morrison -	Settlers in this Province can secure assisted passages for their friends or others, on guaranteeing the repayment to the Provincial Government within 2 years of the full amount of the passage money. No free passages or grants of land are given in this Province.
NELSON -	Mr. Morrison -	Settlers in this Province can secure assisted passages for their friends or others, on guaranteeing the repayment to the Provincial Government within 2 years of the full amount of the passage money. No free passages or grants of land are given in this Province.
MARLBOROUGH -	Mr. Morrison -	Settlers in this Province can secure assisted passages for their friends or others, on guaranteeing the repayment to the Provincial Government within 2 years of the full amount of the passage money. No free passages or grants of land are given in this Province.
NEW PLYMOUTH -	Messrs. Gilbert, Kerr, and Co., 3, Abchurch Lane, E.C.	The nominees of settlers in the Province are the only persons who can be sent out to New Plymouth.
OTAGO -	Mr. John Auld, 20, St. Andrew's Square, Edinburgh.	There are no grants of land to emigrants to Otago. Assisted passages are granted to single female domestic servants only, who are required to pay one half the passage money (or 7 l.), either in country or after arrival in the colony.

TASMANIA.—There is no free emigration to this colony. The assisted emigration is carried on by means of "Bounty Tickets," which are procurable only in the colony, where also they are made payable. The holders of these tickets are left to make their own arrangements for passages with any private shipowner who will take the tickets in part payment.

The following Government notice, issued in Hobart Town under date 22d November 1861, contains the scale of payments, and the conditions under which the "Bounty Tickets" are granted.

Payments required from Applicants.

For a family ticket, including a man and his wife, with all their children under 12 years of age at the time of embarkation - - - - £15

For a ticket for a single female - - - - 5

For a ticket for a single male - - - - 10

All children under 12 years of age or upwards at embarkation are to be considered as adults, and must each have a separate single ticket.

Regulations.—1. Forms for signature by applicants to be obtained from the immigration agent at Hobart Town or Launceston, and at the several police offices in the interior.

2. The "Engagement" set out in the bounty ticket must be signed by the emigrant (for himself and family), agreeing not to leave Tasmania within four years after arrival without having previously paid to the immigration agent at Hobart Town or Launceston one fourth of the whole cost of the passage money for every year wanting to complete four years' residence in the colony, and a proportionate sum for every part of a year.

3. Persons who introduce immigrants under these regulations must provide for their reception on arrival.

Should any such immigrants be received into a Government establishment, a charge of 2s. a day, or part of a day, for each individual will be made against the introducer.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—The Emigration Commissioners cannot select any emigrants for free or assisted passages to the Cape of Good Hope. The only persons who can be sent out are the nominees of settlers in the colony, who, after inquiry by the Commissioners, may be found eligible under the colonial regulations.

NATAL.—No free passages are now granted to this colony. Persons resident in Natal can, however, nominate their relations or friends for passages in the Commissioners' ships, on giving to the Colonial Government a guarantee for the repayment of the passages, at the rate of 10*l.* per statute adult, within 12 months after the landing of the emigrants. Married persons, with the members of their families under 12 years of age, are required to repay the advance at the rate of 10*l.* per annum. Any excess of passage money beyond the 10*l.* is paid out of colonial funds.

The Emigration Commissioners are also authorized to provide passages to Natal to persons having relations in the colony, upon payment before embarkation, of the sum of 11*l.* each.

In consequence of the recommendation of the Legislative Council, in their last Session, the Colonial Government have it in contemplation to adopt measures for the further encouragement of immigration into the colony.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.—There are no colonial funds appropriated for emigration to this colony. It is only occasionally, when authorized by the Secretary of State, that the Commissioners can select emigrants for passages to this colony at the expense of imperial funds. On these occasions the emigrants are required to be for the most part unmarried females of good character, and a few married agricultural labourers, having, if any, not more than two young children.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.—In 1864 the Legislative Council voted 3,000*l.* towards the payment of free passages of unmarried female domestic servants, and towards the passages of farm labourers and married couples. The details of the scheme are not, however, known in this country; nor to whom applications for passages should be made.

To NORTH AMERICA and the other British Colonies there is no free or assisted emigration.
