JOHN G. SILLS IS WARDEN OF HASTINGS COUNTY

Elected Unanimously Yesterday— Minister of Public Works Asked to Address County Council This Week— Address by Warden Sills

John Gilbert Sills, of Foxboro, deputy-reeve of the township of Thurlow, was on Tuesday afternoon elected warden of Hastings County, by the unanimous vote of the reeves and deputy-reeves. Warden Sills is a native of Thurlow, is of U.E.L. descent and is a son of the late William Sills. He has spent all his life in agricultural pursuits. For some time he conducted a general store in Foxboro, while residing on his farm in the seventh concession. For twenty-three years he has been in municipal life. Nine years he served as township assessor. Then in 1907 he entered the township council as councillor. In 1909 he was elected deputy and has since sat in the county council. He has served on most of the committees and has occupied important chairmanships in the gift of his fellow-councillors.

Warden Sills is a man of conviction but he also possesses the admirable quality of never becoming ruffled. While sometimes the debate has waxed hot, he has taken the floor and quieted the storm. He never indulges in personalities and refrains from unfair treatment of an antagonist in debate. His winning smile, open countenance and fair-mindedness make him a popular representative for the banner township of Thurlow.

Mr. Sills is a member of the Independent Order of Foresters and of the Masonic Order. His family consists of his wife, two daughters and one son, Lieut. Roy Sills. Mr. Sills is a member of the Methodist Church.

County clerk Nugent called the council to order yesterday afternoon, welcoming the members to the board.

Mr. Chas. Ballard proposed, seconded by J. A. Moore, that Mr. John G. Sills be warden for the County of Hastings for the year 1920. This was the sole nomination and the clerk declared Mr. Sills warden amid cheers.

Mr. Joseph Burns asked if the warden were elected as a U.F.O.

The clerk said he knew of no politics in the council and understood Mr. Sills was elected as a citizen of the county.

Mr. S. Jackson stated that horse racing at fairs should either be recognized or it should be eliminated by the Government and he would like the Association to take action in this matter.

Mr. R. J. Garbutt said that it was the general opinion that if horse races at fairs were eliminated fairs would have to be abandoned.

Mr. W. J. Hill said that the Act was clear in this matter, namely if a horse was judged and then sent around the track for speed it was within the law. Horse racing was however, not recognized by the Government.

Major Ponton being called upon stated that Mayor Riggs had been called away from the city and he (the speaker) had been asked to represent him at this meeting. It was a pleasure to welcome the members of the fair Association to Belleville. He hoped that the Association would make Belleville their annual meeting place. In speaking of the Belleville Fair, Major Ponton said that the city council and the Chamber of Commerce would do all they could to assist the fair.

Mr. W. A. members were ever ready to do all they could to promote what ever was a benefit to any municipality.

Mr. McFarlane thanked Major Ponton for his remarks.

Mr. W. J. Hill of Madoc said that prizes had to be increased, as more money was necessary to be raised for the successful carrying on of the fair so he thought fees should be increased. A uniform rate should be adopted.

Mr. James Armstrong of Warkworth said that the admission fee was raised last year from 25c to 35c admission and it did not in any way effect the attendance at the Warkworth Fair.

A motion was unanimously adopted that the fees of the members of the Association be $2 per annum instead of $1.

Election of Officers.
The election of officers was proceeded with resulting as follows:

President — Clem H. Ketcheson of Sidney; First vice-President — Angus Nicholson of Madoc; Second vice-President — B. Leavens of Picton; Secretary — treasurer — Dr. Hay of Campbellford; Auditors — W. J. Hill of Madoc and J. A. Kerr of Belleville.

Delegates to Provincial Fair Association meeting in Toronto — T. A. McFarlane.

Mr. Angus Nicholson extended a hearty invitation on behalf of Madoc to hold the next annual meeting at that village.

Mr. Clem Ketcheson invited the members to meet at Frankford.

Mr. T. A. McFarlane — A motion was made two years ago that the annual meeting be held in Belleville and it has not been rescinded.

Mr. Mains moved, seconded by A. Hunter a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring president Mr. T. A. McFarlane.

The motion was carried by a standing vote and was fittingly acknowledged by the recipient.

Mr. Clem H. Ketcheson thanked the members for electing him president and he would do all in his power for the interest of the Association.

FRANKFORD VILLAGE ASKS INCORPORATION

Deputation Waits Upon County Council— Work of the Children's Aid Society—Y.M.C.A. to Cover County.

Greater Frankford Village is asking for incorporation. Yesterday afternoon four citizens of the village comprised a deputation that waited upon the County Council, asking that steps be taken to bring about incorporation and presenting a petition. Dr. J. U. Simmons declared the village of Frankford was made a police village in 1854 but the preliminaries were dropped. "We have a population of between 375 and 900 living souls, with the prospects of thirty or forty new tenants. We desire incorporation. We want the old limits of Frankford. We want our boundaries extended to include the paper mill and box-board company. This factory will employ in time 500 hands. Many of the workmen desire to be citizens of Frankford. The company will erect 75 houses within three years. We propose to enlarge the town."

"We have a taxable property worth in the precincts of our new town of over $2,000,000. The village has no police protection. We propose to apply our own law and order. We desire to control expenditure. We are dissatisfied. We ask to be set aside to manage our own affairs. We want sidewalks, street sprinkling. Today this is a voluntary matter. We like legislation to enable us to protect ourselves and govern our own expenditure."

Mr. Dunlop declared Frankford residents desired the streets lighted at night.

Warden Sills asked for an expression of opinion.

Dr. Embury, of Bancroft, said Frankford desired the new order badly. It is the history of all villages that once incorporated, conditions improve.

Mr. Chas. Thompson, of Rawdon, favored incorporation of Frankford village, and moved that the matter be referred to by-laws.

Reeve Vermylen pointed out that Frankford residents were the ones to decide, but said that the tax rates would grow from 2 mills (county rate) to 20 mills (village rate). The added duties included the erection and cost of maintenance of a town hall, the appointment of assessors, clerk and treasurer.

It was elicited that Madoc village tax rate is 37 mills; Bancroft, 58 mills.

The reeves of villages in the county said they did not regret incorporation.

Mr. Wright said Deloro was the smallest village in Ontario, yet did not regret having become incorporated. It costs more, but it is a satisfaction to have control of affairs.

The matter was referred to the Committee on By-laws. A petition from the residents of the village and documents were presented to the Council.

A deputation from the Children's Aid Society approached the Council for a grant.

Mr. E. W. Ackerman asked for assistance towards the Society.

Inspector Ruston told of the work of the Society. Most of the cases were the result of poverty, filth, and immorality. The work is increasing. Men and women are taking a deeper interest in the child.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, treasurer of the Society, referred to the generous awakening of interest throughout the county and city in the Children's Aid work. The matter of a grant was referred to Ways and Means.

Mr. C. R. Brown, Mr. F. V. Wilson and Mr. J. Elliott presented phases of the after-war program of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Wilson, district secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for Eastern Ontario, described the county program. This included a secretary serving the whole county.

Mr. Brown said now the Y.M.C.A. was going to the farm, and asked support of the new program.

Mr. Trudeau, of Hungerford, appeared in person to present a claim for damages to an engine, which fell through a culvert. The account was $77. On motion, the account was referred to Ways and Means.

Warden Sills stated that he had received information that the Hon. Mr. Biggs was unable to come to Belleville to address the County Council.

The council concurred in a resolution of Kent County Council to memorialize the Legislature to have the law amended as to the closing of highways owing to dangerous conditions of roads. The County of Hastings' delegation to the Good Roads Association will bring the matter to the attention of the Highway Department.

On motion, no action was taken in reference to the county assisting in keeping in repairs on a water trough in the village of Tweed.

Mr. F. Trudeau presented an account of $77 for damages to a threshing machine which went through a culvert in Hungerford township.

Mr. Clare stated the accident occurred near Tweed on an old culvert which was defective. The matter was laid over for further consideration.

The application of Mr. Tom Johnson to be appointed a road foreman in place of Mr. Defoe was referred to the superintendent to deal with.

CENTRAL ONTARIO FAIR DATES ARE ARRANGED

Association Held Annual Meeting in City Yesterday—Belleville Has Three Days Fair, Sept. 6, 7, 8—Officers Elected.

The Central Ontario Fair Association met in Belleville yesterday afternoon and arranged for the fall fairs in this section of the province.

Mr. T. A. McFarlane President occupied the chair and stated the object of the meeting. Dr. Hay of Campbellford, Secretary, read the minutes at the last meeting which were approved. He also stated that the receipts were $250 over the expenditures.

Mr. McFarlane thanked the members for the sympathy extended to him and members of his family in the bereavement he was called upon to bear owing to the loss of a member of his family. He visited some of the fairs last year and he noted the falling off in the display of livestock. This should not be allowed to continue, and to increase interest in the display of live stock he wanted to suggest that the prize list be increased. The agricultural situation was changing and greater problems were confronting the agriculturists. At all the fairs an endeavour should be made to have manufacturers displaying more interest by making displays. The question of farm labor was a serious one, especially when greater production seemed to be a necessity.

Dates of Fairs.
The arranging of dates of fairs was then proceeded with and the places and dates are as follows:

MANUFACTURERS OF PAPER IGNORE HOME MARKET

Although some manufacturers demand the highest possible protection in their home market they show no interest in the home market when an unusual situation makes it possible to sell their wares abroad at higher prices.

The Montreal Gazette, the organ of the big interests, defends these manufacturers. It wants the government to abolish the paper controller; it is indignant at government interference with trade and of manufacturers.

The Montreal Gazette says that if the government will put an end to the Paper Controller and all his works the difficulty will soon cease to be the pap-fed newspapers will stand on their feet, and no longer will there be talk of shortage of newsprint or suspension of publication.

"It is rather a striking commentary on the Gazette's reference to 'pap-fed newspapers' that it is itself the most pap-fed newspaper concern in the Dominion of Canada.

Table with 2 columns: Department, Amount. Militia Department $77,548; Trade and Commerce 12,948; Legislation 8,338; Immigration 2,706; Agriculture 1,612; Naval Service Department 175; Interior Department 190.

Or a total of $103,514. And apropos the attitude of the Gazette, the Ottawa Journal (Conservative) observes: "One would imagine that if there were any common sense in the Montreal Gazette or in the manufacturers of this country, who mostly depend upon Canadian legislation for their profits, there would be no disposition to defy Canadian law on the basis of the sacredness of the law of supply and demand."

French Deputies In An Uproar—News dispatch. Now we know France is back to normal. A Montreal paper quotes Manitoba wheat flour at $3.40 per barrel—but it was twenty-five years ago. D'Annunzio's control of Fiume has brought starvation to that city. Being a poet, hunger, of course, doesn't inconvenience Gabriele.

On the first day of March the United States Government will return the railways of the United States to their owners. Since they were taken over by Washington in December, 1917, they have gone behind more than half a billion dollars. For the years 1918 and 1919 the operating expenses, which the public has supplied, is placed at over $550,000,000, the expenses for 1918 being about 70 per cent to gross earnings, and in 1919, 90 per cent. Vast sums are due the Government from the systems for improvement of equipment, made during Government control and management, but much of the betterment was made for purposes of war.

The extent of any fire in a protected community depends in large measure upon the promptness with which the fire-extinguishing appliances are brought into operation. The fire alarm system of a city or town ought, therefore, to be as nearly perfect as money and skill can make it.

What a priceless possession is English Bible! We have been enriched by it in two ways, namely, its influence upon the English language, and for our knowledge of God as to the first, mostly as a piece of literature it has helped to make the language what it is to-day.

Thirty-five million tree seeds will be shipped to Europe by the American Forestry Association from Boston next Thursday. These tree seeds are being sent to the forestry departments of the Governments of France, Belgium and Great Britain.

"We will all agree," said President Pack of the American Forestry Association, "that no finer gift could be made as showing our appreciation from Boston next Thursday. These tree seeds. When we look to the future and vision what a memorial these living, growing trees will become to the children of those who defend their country in the war, I think we will also agree that no finer monument can be erected in Europe by the people of the United States."

SINCE I HAVE DONE MY BEST Since I have done my best, I do not fear the outcome, here I stand Prepared for judgment when men view The labor of my heart and hand, If good, then happy I shall be, If not, contented I abide, And though the prize is not for me, My joy shall be in having tried.

OTHER EDITORS' OPINIONS

YOUR VOICE. If I would know a man as he is, I ask him to talk with me. For I would not only bring into my mind the thoughts that flow from him, but I would listen to his voice. For in the inflections of a voice there is every quality of a man's true character.

There is nothing quite so marvellous as the human voice, especially when it is the expression of worthy thoughts and is backed by a solid purpose. Speak kindly to a strange dog and he will wag his tail. Even the dumb animals have great intelligence when it comes to weighing character, through the sound of the human voice.

I think of the voices of those I love as the choicest music in my memory. I classify each voice — each faintest inflection — and I am inspired by each in turn. Your voice may be trained. Any one may have a beautiful and pleasant voice. So — Cultivate a pleasant voice. Speak kindly — but first be kindly, and then you cannot help but speak that way. Talk little, but make that little much.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS. What a priceless possession is English Bible! We have been enriched by it in two ways, namely, its influence upon the English language, and for our knowledge of God as to the first, mostly as a piece of literature it has helped to make the language what it is to-day.

Canadians are fast becoming extravagant. Americans have long been extravagant. All people had better call a halt. Thrift and care in all expenditures are advised. A great industrial and financial crisis may soon come on this continent. Of late we have observed that women especially, and men as well, seem intoxicated with the delight over paying heretofore unheard of prices for articles of clothing or domestic uses and many are indulging themselves in imported luxuries regardless of the fact that they are aiding a threatening national bankruptcy.

ATTRACTIVE ADVERTISING. Who says that people do not read the ads? Here is one that nobody will miss: "I have a baby girl I do not want to chloroform, give away or exchange for a dog. If there is anyone in House-ton who will rent us two or more furnished rooms, please address 130 care post."

An advertisement can be made as attractive as the latest scandal if it be properly composed. — Hamilton Times.

NEWS OF FORWARD MOVEMENT AMONG BAY OF QUINTE METHODISTS

A church on the front street is worth two blind pigs any other place.

Mayor Quinn, Bowmanville, recently elected by acclamation, is Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School which has increased its regular attendance from 350 to 425 during the Methodist National Campaign.

Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Methodists united in a Forward Movement Evangelistic campaign at Coldsprings, Northumberland County Local Pastors led, and the community spirit has been advanced.

Vaudeville religion is fizzing. The Methodists are using "Minute Men" in the Forward Movement. They are lay members and the absolute rule is they must in no circumstances speak more than five minutes at any meeting.

"Minute Men" are giving "pep" to the Methodist National Campaign. His Honor Judge Deroche, Belleville is a "Minute Man" in the Methodist National Campaign.

Mayor J. E. Robinson, Napanee, elected by acclamation, is Superintendent of Trinity Methodist Sunday School. Presbyterian and Methodist Churches of Bethany, Durham Co., are at present engaged in Forward Movement Evangelistic meetings.

Nelson Parliament, M.P.P., Speaker designate of the Ontario Legislature, has been invited to address the Canadian Club, Boston, Mass. He is the Superintendent of the rural Methodist Sunday School near Redfernville, Prince Edward Co., and is a "Minute Man" in the Methodist National Campaign.

The Anglican, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches at Lakeside are holding union meetings January 5th to 9th. A worker in the Inter-Church Forward Movement recently said that our debts to God include paying our subscription to the local paper.

A religious survey of the town of Lindsay is a feature of the Inter-Church National Campaign. Seugog Island has had a great revival in the Methodist Church, with seventy converts.

Ninety per cent. of the ministers of the Bay of Quinte Conference have come from the colleges. George St. Methodist Church, Peterborough, has increased the membership of the Sunday School by 175 in the Methodist National Campaign.

Cobourg Methodist Church is lined up for the Forward Movement having six divisions for the town and two for the country, each division with a captain of four committees and each committee with a lieutenant.

Albert College, Belleville, belongs to the Methodist Church, but has had hundreds of young men and women of all churches among its students. The city of Belleville has given a magnificent site for a new Albert College. The Methodist National Campaign will help this project.

The Cannington District of the Bay of Quinte Conference has had 150 additions to its membership recently. H. W. Ackerman, Esq., Belleville a prominent financier, is chairman of the Bay of Quinte Conference Board of Finance in the Forward Movement. Twelve other prominent laymen are associated with him.

Premier Drury says the Inter-Church Movement is likely to do more good to Canada and Ontario than all other movements combined. The Duke of Devonshire and Sir Robert Borden commended the Forward Movement of the Churches.

Bancroft Epworth League holds meetings in school houses in North Hastings where there are no regular church services. At Hay Bay, in Lennox County, was built in 1792 the first Methodist Church in Canada. The original deed is still extant and the Church now belongs to the General Conference. Rev. Howard L. P. Seymour, the present pastor, is one of three brothers who are preachers, the sons of the late Rev. J. C. Seymour, a frequent contributor to the press. Some of the Seymour family have been in the Methodist Church ministry ever since the days of John Wesley.

The Rev. Dr. C. T. Scott, Bridge St. Methodist Church, Belleville, is at the head of what is known as "Quinte's Flying Squadron," a Forward Movement unit of ministers and laymen who speak on a certain Sunday in a large number of Methodist Churches in the same district. The Inter-Church Movement is a unifying force in the community. Let the forward Movement finish its work.

Market Today Was Very Slimly At-tended

Last night's snowstorm had its effect on the attendance at the market today. The roads are heavy and in consequence there was a scarcity of hay. The outer market was almost a blank, only two or three sleighs being upon the square. The inner market was also small.

Eggs sold at 80 to 85 cents, but dealers quoted for shipment to Montreal 60c, 65c, and 70c. Prices on the local market are expected to decline in accord with the prices prevailing in the large centres.

Butter was steady at 65c per pound. Chickens sold at $2.50 to $4.00 per pair.

Potatoes are worth $4 per bag wholesale. None were offered today on the market.

Hogs are likely to bring from $17.50 to $18.00 for the next few days.

New Units of Measure

From now on the measurer of time, space, mass and energy will have to figure in steres, grades, sthenes, kilojoules, piezes, coulombs, thermies, lumens, luxes, photos, diotries, poncellets—words for weights and measures that are now part of the metric system.

The President of France, by executive decree signed July 26th by M. Poincare and officially promulgated August 5th, has given names under the metric system to the secondary units by measures, subdivided into geometric units of mass, time, mechanics, electric, calorific and optics. The decree enumerates and defines these units.

The unit of surface is defined as the square metre, the area contained in a square one metre's length on all sides. The designation area, is given to the square decimetre in soil measurement.

The cubic metre is the name of the unit of volume, contained in a cube one metre's length on every side. For the measurement of wood, the stere is declared the name equivalent to a cubic metre. The cubic decimetre, as always, will answer to the name of litre for the measurement of liquids, cereals and pulverized materials.

The right angle is recognized as the unit of angle, and is divisible while the old measurements of degrees, minutes and seconds are allowed to continue simultaneously in use. The hundredth part of a right angle is to be known as a grade.

The Carat Stays

The decree graciously permits, presumably in compliance toward ancient and accepted custom, that in transactions relative to diamonds, fine pearls and precious stones the denomination of carat may be given to the decigramme. So the carat maintains a commercial standing.

As to units of time, it is granted that "in addition to the second, the principal unit, one may use the minute, which is composed of 60 seconds and the hour, which is composed of 60 minutes"—just as has been generally understood by all who can read time for some time.

The unit of force is the sthene—a force which in a second communicates to a mass equal to a ton the development of speed of a metre a second.

Kilojoule is the unit of energy. It represents the work produced by a sthene "whose point of application is displaced a metre in the direction of the force." The unit of power is the kilowatt—a second which produces one kilojoule a second.

BIG EATING INDUSTRY

FAVORITE PASTIME OF THE ARGENTINES.
People of Buenos Ayres Are Greatly Interested in Their Meals and Have a Long List of Dishes—Both the Men and Women Are Well Cushioned With Fat.

To eat his way through life would seem to be one of the main ambitions of the native Argentine, if the case is correctly stated by James H. Collins in his article in the Philadelphia Ledger, entitled "Eating: Biggest Business in the Argentine Capital."

Interests with eating according to Mr. Collins, business is dispensed with. "The business day is arranged with eating first and business secondary," he says. "The restaurants are full at 2 a.m. after a strenuous day beginning between 9 and 10 in the morning. The daily Buenos Ayres eating program is set out as follows:

"Breakfast consists of a roll and coffee. Then there is an hour at the office and two hours for a hearty meal, during which many business places close. The American and British compute hours to lunch reaching Belgrano in twenty minutes by train. From two to five the offices are open again, and then everybody goes out to tea, which is a real meal, consisting of tea, coffee or chocolate, with liberal helpings of sandwiches and cakes.

"On Sunday people gather and devote two hours to this function. It absolutely spoils the new arrival's dinner, but at eight o'clock the Argentinians sit down to the heaviest meal of the day and then go to the opera or theatre, where performances seldom begin before nine or ten o'clock. After the show the restaurants fill again, but here, rather curiously, the Argentine appetite balks. The day winds up with tea, coffee, chocolate wine or liquor, accompanied by just a bite of delicatessen. The Argentine is then willing to call it a day."

The Yankee's well known light lunch, eaten quickly so the eater can get back to business, fills the Argentine with wonder. His idea of a lunch is the following, says Mr. Collins:

"First the 'hambre,' or cold meat, the indispensable overture to every Buenos Ayres meal. This is strikingly like the 'kaltespeisen' of Berlin, where fifty cold dishes decorated the entrance of every restaurant, fish and lobsters frozen in blocks of ice, color effects of caviar and mayonnaise, egg and sausage, pate and cold meat, and three waiters appearing on one side and four on the other, each bearing several dishes on his arm, and heaped your plate until you said 'also!'"

"The Buenos Ayres Argentine sampler, but includes delicious slices of breast meat from the juiciest turkey in the world, then shavings of ham cured in the Smithfield style, tongue, roast beef, game, delicious Argentine pate in the form of castles, meat jelly, stuffed eggs, salads and relishes.

"The waiter brings a superb assortment, displaying flambe to the cold eye of the satiated Argentine and heaping his plate until he says 'Basta!' Being a Latin, he can say 'Basta!' silently, with his left little finger or right eyebrow.

"To the Argentines flambe is only the beginning of a meal. There is consommé, soup, fish, spaghetti, a hot-corn course, a vegetable course served alone, with chicken later, followed by a sweet, and coffee and a liqueur.

"The soup is no dish water affair, but a delicious mixture of several well-cooked vegetables or a thick cream soup. The fish is not the scrap of tasteless flounder filet served at a banquet, but one of the local fishes of the Rio Plata, cooked whole, which the waiter brings in, cutting through the skin with a sharp knife on the spot. The spaghetti is invariably called 'tagliolini,' and is usually made fresh from Argentine wheat and perhaps colored green with spinach. The meat may be a delicious casserole dish, followed by a single vegetable as a slight inter-ruption of the steady flow of meat, and then comes the chicken, which calls for description all by itself. Only when the sweets are reached does the bill-fare begin to break down, for pie and cream and like desserts are not common in Buenos Ayres, and the 'dulce' is often replaced with cheese or fruit.

"One of the amusing oddities of the Buenos Ayres bill-of-fare is the Latin-American struggle with steak as we know it, both in the article itself and the queer words used to designate it. Steak is distinctly a Yankee delicacy."

"Somebody is always taking the joy out of life," and so it is not surprising to learn that, while the pleasures of the table are enjoyed in Argentina as in no other spot on the planet, they are short-lived, most Argentines being said to die comparatively young from overeating.

"Flambe" means 'cold' in Spanish, and in Argentina is an idiosyncratic term for dead bodies as well as cold meats. And a street leading to one of the cemeteries is popularly known as 'Calle Flambe,' which may be taken for whatever it may signify. Unquestionably, both men and women of this capital eat with a heartiness unknown to us, and it is declared satisfactory when the diner is 'des de pavo'—stuffed like a turkey.

In hospitable Argentina homes the list of dishes is also long, and the guest is urged to eat them all, because each was perhaps made by some member of the family, and unless one eats it, it is assumed that he does not like the food. Both the men and women are well cushioned with fat, which is regarded even as evidence of health in men and comeliness in women. On the whole, slender women are largely an Anglo-Saxon trait, for throughout Latin America, as in the Orient, plumpness is esteemed, and were it put on a basis of world population our ideal slender woman would be in a slender majority.—Literary Digest.

LOOKS TO SIBERIA.

Other Great Gold Fields of World Have Passed On.
The golden sands of the Pactolus, in Asia Minor, have made that little river famous for all time. From that source Croesus, King of Lydia, is said to have obtained much of his wealth.

But the stream was worked until it became barren—just as always happens wherever gravels rich in the yellow metal was found. The alluvial placers of California had their day, and more recently those of the Klondike likewise—though in the latter district dredges, washing great quantities of material, still are producing much gold while appearing of the same kind in California literally devours the pebbly banks of streams, contributing 40 per cent. of the present gold output of that state.

Modern methods, particularly the "cyanide process," which makes possible the cheap extraction of gold from low-grade ores, has enormously increased the world's annual production of one of progressive exhaustion, and it seems manifest that at present rates of output it will remain no great deposits of the metal to be discovered.

Even the wonderful mines of the Witwatersrand in the Transvaal, which now contribute two-fifths of the world's total output of gold, have not an indefinite "life" before them. It is reckoned that the resources will be exhausted within fifty years.

With this prospect in view, eyes are being turned in the direction of northern Siberia, where in streams tributary to the Lena river, which empties into the Arctic Ocean, there are extraordinarily rich gold-bearing gravels—the richest, indeed, ever known. One small stream, Bodoab Creek, has yielded nearly two hundred million dollars.

It is pointed out in the gold output of the region will eventually equal or perhaps exceed the present production of the Transvaal. But up to now the mining methods adopted have been so primitive as to suggest the prehistoric, and not even a beginning has been made in attacking the gold-bearing rocks.

The problem is that will engage the attention of experienced gold mining engineers from America, South Africa and Australia, as soon as political conditions in Russia render practicable the development of this great source of future wealth.

France's Lost Colors.
The Treaty of Peace with Germany provides that within six months after "the coming into force of the present treaty" Germany shall restore to France the "archives, archives, works of art, souvenirs," and "particularly the French flags" taken in the war of 1870-71 and the present war. The French are very explicit about the matter, and the French Prussian war. For more than forty years these flags have been stored away in German cellars.

Now, however, the Germans indignantly charging the Germans with having removed and concealed the flags, the French are protesting against the intention of placing them in an excuse for not being able to comply with the provisions. A French idiom says: "The flags are in the hands of the Prussians, who have been removed without authority, and the whole outlook is unfavorable for the recovery of the French trophies.

Hawaiian Idols Unearthed.
Of the two old Hawaiian idols lately found concealed in the earth at Hookepa, Pauhukalo, one, a female idol, is in a fairly good state of preservation. The idol is supposed to be that of Kihwahine, the Uliaine of Maui myths. Her hands are the springs at Pauhukalo, the Kauhau Pond, and the matchless pools in the wooded glens around Pihilo, Makawao.

In some of the latest legends woven around her she is reputed to have lured two natives at different times on a merry chase only to see her disappear in one or another of the deep water pools among the wooded glens of Pihilo. One, a doctor, ended his aimless wanderings to her glenwood haunts by becoming a paralytic, the other, a woodchopper, never ceased to describe the charms of this "wonderful woman with the golden hair," always able to elude his grasp, but ever showing him on to her lair among the vines and trees and pools and crags of the glens about Pihilo.

Why an Engine Puffs.
Why does a locomotive engine puff? And why do some seem more asthmatical than others and puff more?

It all depends on the size of the driving wheels, which govern the number of puffs which the engine gives in a certain distance.

For every turn of the wheel it gives four separate puffs. It has been reckoned that if the circumference of the wheel is twenty feet and the train is going at fifty miles an hour, an engine, on an average, gives 820 puffs a minute. The puff is really due to the abrupt emission of waste steam from the smokestack. When there are more than eighteen puffs a second the human ear cannot distinguish them separately.

Guilty Hands Betray Themselves

Photography Aids Detectives in Work—Insight Into Scotland Yard Methods of Tracking Criminals.

Two men stood together in the little room. The place was in darkness, save for the stream of focused light from the powerful lantern one of the men held in his hand, directed on the object the other was bending over and examining with the aid of a large magnifying lens.

"Printed" on the Candle

"There is not the slightest doubt about it," he said—"there are three of them."

"Finger-prints?" asked the other, the lantern-holder.

"Yes."

"Clearly defined?"

"They will photograph beautifully."

He laid the candle down gently on the table. Those dents in that candle meant another triumph for the famous detective. Already he almost felt himself gripping the wrist of the murderous hand that had left its prints there.

He had found the piece of candle lying beside the body of a man mysteriously murdered—stabbed to death—in a dingy garret in Soho. On the table in the room was an empty candlestick. Having dealt his victim those swift blows, stretching him at his feet, the murderer had snatched at the candle and bent over him to see whether there was still in him any flicker of life. Then he had dropped the candle and crept swiftly, stealthily away.

Overwhelmed by Clues.

Little did he dream that his fingers, sorely clutching that candle, were printing there evidence that would bring him to the gallows. Would there really be finger-prints upon it? Detective Kane wondered. His surmise that there might be proved correct. The photograph was "beautiful." The murderer was run down and hanged.

Called in to the scene of some sensational, mysterious crime, the first question the detectives ask themselves is: "Are there any finger-prints of the perpetrator?"

"Every room is full of finger-prints," declared one of our most famous Scotland Yard detectives. Sometimes, though you know there must be finger-prints somewhere about, they battle every effort to discover them.

Scarcely Visible to the Eye.

The detective suspects there are prints on some light-colored object—a piece of china or enamelware—but even the microscope fails to reveal them. The photographic expert fills a hat, broad camel-hair brush with dust of finely-powdered graphite or plumbago, holds it over the surface of the article, and shakes the dust upon it. When it is sufficient powdered he blows off the dust that does not adhere to the surface with a pair of small bellows, and photographs what remains. That photograph is the photograph of the finger-tips that have touched the surface. In this way, in the case of a sensational crime only a year or two ago, prints were recovered from a white teacup that led to the conviction of a guilty woman.

ness, the fierce heart-throbs of desire, of terror; the frenzied wish to have done it and found safety—all conduce to render the finger-tips more excellent witnesses against him in the impressions they leave behind.

Chemistry Aids Him

A piece of ordinary paper that he has held in his hand, and that shows no sign on its surface even when examined by the most powerful microscope, may, under treatment by the expert, be an evidence against him. He treats it with a solution of silver nitrate of about six per cent strength, and the print of the guilty hand becomes clear to the camera. It was by this means that one of the wickedest criminals—a woman who, by means of anonymous letters, sowed broadcast unfounded suspicions respecting innocent persons, and wrecked the happiness of many homes of those she hated—was brought to justice.

All Obstacles Are Surmounted.

Finger-prints on dust are readily photographed if they are on a dark surface. If they are on the dust of a window-pane, the best results are obtained by placing a dark background behind them, and photographing with the light coming obliquely from behind. Innumerable burglars who have entered by windows and skylights have learnt, to their cost, how effective this method of reproducing their finger-prints is. Finger-prints in blood on a light surface present no difficulties. On a dark surface, such as the finger-prints on a sapphire cashbox, the photograph is made in a dark room, lit from the front with magnesium ribbon or an electric arc, care being taken to screen the direct rays from the camera lens.

Have Earned a Place in Canadian Homes

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS WORK FOR WOMEN

Is Once More Shown in the Case of Mrs. Robert Bell, Who Says She Can Never Thank Dodd's Kidney Pills Enough.

Golden Valley, Ont. Jan. 28.—(Special).—"I had kidney trouble. My nerves were bad. I felt tired all the time. I was all run down.

"My troubles are all gone since using Dodd's Kidney Pills. My appetite is good and I am increasing in weight."

These are the statements of Mrs. Robert Bell, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place. They must be of interest to thousands of tired, suffering women in Canada. Thousands of other Canadian women who have used Dodd's Kidney Pills know them to be true.

For Dodd's Kidney Pills are no experiment. They are a household remedy in thousands of Canadian homes. They have earned their place by the pains they have relieved and the health they have brought. Ask your neighbors about them. You can hardly fail to find women who exclaim with Mrs. Bell, "I can never thank Dodd's Kidney Pills enough."

Property at the corner of Waterloo ave., and Dublin st., Guelph has been purchased and will be constructed into a clubhouse for returned soldiers.

The liveliest topic of conversation in Kingston, outside of the proposed appointment of an industrial commissioner, is the notice of motion before the City Council to charge ladies with poll tax. Some young ladies have been heard to say that they never asked for the vote anyway; it was forced upon them and it is not fair that they should be compelled to assume all the obligations of the male sex as well.

Killed The Cow.
"So we killed the cow, and then we changed our bread and milk diet to bread and beef. The colony had become unaccustomed to meat, and as a result everyone was sick for six or seven days."
On West Point the colony resorted to more drastic means to keep their milk cows alive. They had plenty of flour and the women baked bread for the cows so that the children could be supplied with milk. They also had salt meat, and fared better than we did. Several barrels of flour were fed to the cattle in bread form.

Praises the Seal
The morale of the colony kept up wonderfully although the women were disheartened by the repeated failures of the Arammore and Montclair to reach the island. He had great praise for the ship Seal. She is a small ship of some 277 tons with barely 85 horsepower engines, and yet she fought her way through the ice floes which stopped larger and stronger craft than her. The members of the colonies were taken by canoes through the icy waters to the steamer.

Nothing But "Bread and Cow."
"The weather was so bad," said Mr. Bergeron when interviewed by The Globe "that from the first of December there was no chance for the keepers to go out hunting the game which was swept outward to sea. At my station there were four children and we were worse off than the people at West Point, for we had no sugar, molasses, butter or meat. In fact, nothing but bread and a cow. The fall and winter supplies were supposed to be in by November 21, but there was no sign of a ship. So our rations consisted of bread and milk alone."

Too Stormy to Hunt.
The colony he said, had been without supplies since last November, when the supply ships failed to reach them because of the ice and storms. Chances of hunting and shooting wild game were lost because of continued storms, and the colony faced starvation against the slim hope that a ship would get through to them.
Forty barrels of fish which in an emergency might have seen the colony through the winter were washed into the sea by the storms and lost. The gales were the worst in fifty years, and part of the concrete landing station that had been built by the Government at the island was washed away.

Saved From Death by Cow

Thrilling Experience of Colony On Belle Isle.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 26.—The Globe prints the following special dispatch from Quebec under date of January 15th: The lighthousekeeper's cow saved the Belle Isle colony from starvation while it waited relief from the outside world at the lonely island off the Labrador coast. As long as there was feed for her the cow supplied milk, which, with bread provided the complete menu of the colony for a month and a half. When the cow feed was finished the cow was killed and the beef and bread kept the colony alive until the ship Seal rescued the members of the colony.

"We lived one month and a half on bread and milk, and if help had come some weeks later they would have found the entire colony dead from hunger," said Raoul Bergeron, one of the refugees who reached Quebec today with his wife and two children, and William George Wyatt, who was with him at East Point, Belle Isle, a few days since.

The other refugees stayed on Newfoundland. All their belongings are still on Belle Isle the Seal having taken them off with the least possible freight, owing to conditions that prevented her going near to the land.

An Industrial Commissioner

Kingston, Jan. 27.—Without waiting to hear the results of Industrial Commissioners' work in other cities, the Industrial Committee of the City Council, and the Board of Trade, have wisely asked the City Council to appoint one at a cost of $4,000 a year, which will pay his salary and travelling expenses, and his services as Secretary of the Board of Trade. We have urged the absolute necessity of such an appointment for a long time; it is essential if the city is to grow; and we have urged this because of seeing what other cities have succeeded in doing by having been far-seeing enough to have such an official. But the success obviously all depends upon the man chosen; one must be carefully sought who can "deliver the goods."

A live, quick, energetic man should soon be able to show results with the splendid advantages which Kingston has to offer industries. It is a moot point, however, whether he should be required to devote any time to the Secretaryship of the Board of Trade; we do not at first sight favor this; it would probably be better to let him devote his entire attention to his work as Industrial Commissioner. But the point is that such an official is absolutely needed, if Kingston is to make up for lost industries, and secure new ones. Opportunities sometimes come of themselves, but it is wiser to seek them, and it should be remembered that "Hell is paved with good intentions, and roofed with lost opportunities."

Letter Carriers to Take Referendum

Will Decide Strike Or No Strike Within The Next Few Weeks.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Restlessness among letter carriers in many places in Canada because of low wages, which has been brought to light by strike votes and protest meetings in several cities, notably Toronto, Hamilton, London and Quebec, is to be made the subject of a national inquiry by the head officers of the organization of letter carriers of Canada.

Announcement has been made in Ottawa that this inquiry will probably take the form of a referendum, asking if the letter carriers are in favor of a general strike from coast to coast to enforce wage demands. No definite information could be gleaned last night but it is believed that the machinery for taking the referendum has been prepared and that the result of the vote will be in the head offices of the union within a few weeks.

Child Swallowed Toy Hatchet

Reformer:—Glendon James, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Centre St., Oshawa, was under medical observation yesterday, having swallowed a small hatchet shaped metal axe, about 2 inches long, such as is given for a prize in a pop corn bag.

Mrs. James with her mother, Mrs. James Moore of Whitby had gone to Bowmanville on Tuesday and had left her two children, with their grandmother, Mrs. Milford Wilkins, to be looked after during her absence. It was while here that Glendon who had the habit of inserting articles in his mouth, other than can dies, swallowed the hatchet and it lodged somewhere in the child's anatomy. However, the play toy was successfully emitted through the intestines and an operation was fortunate if not necessary.

One never knows how foolish some men act until they "break into the father class."
If you must look at people's faults shut your eyes.

The Cry of the Hungry

By Lillian Leveridge
"O-na-ne! O-na-ne! O-na-ne!"
Do you hear it—that wail on the wind?
What is it? The voice of a phantom
That flees from some terror behind?
'Tis a cry of unspeakable anguish,
Of bitter and awful despair,
An echo of voices that mingle
In passion, importunate prayer.
"O-na-ne! O-na-ne! O-na-ne!"
Our fireside is cosy and warm.
Draw closer the sheltering curtains,
Shut out that weird wail in the storm!
But it pierces through brick and through mortar,
Yes, even the walls of the heart,
Like a stranger unbidden, unwelcome,
That enters and will not depart.
"O-na-ne! O-na-ne! O-na-ne!"
That sound like a shuddering sob—
Forget it! and list to the music
Of the kettle that sings on the hob.
The coffee is steaming and fragrant,
A bountiful table is spread.
Come, let us give thanks for our blessings—
We'll pray for the thousands unfed!
"O-na-ne! O-na-ne! O-na-ne!"
Our women are dainty and fair,
Their garments like petals of flowers
That sway in the summer-sweet air,
For Duty's twin sister is Beauty,
Where Fashion sits flaunting her flags—
But there waits in the desolate darkness
A spectre in fluttering rags!
"O-na-ne! O-na-ne! O-na-ne!"
O hush! We have fought for our peace,
We sent forth our sons to the battle,
From tyrants the world to release.
They went in the flower of their manhood—
And many have never returned!
So, now we would rest on our laurels,
Enjoying the ease we have earned.
"O-na-ne! O-na-ne! O-na-ne!"
It will not, it will not be still—
That cry with its pitiful cadence
That floats from a faraway hill,
Speak! Speak, then, O voice from the silence!
Unburden your sorrow and loss!
For we—we have glimpsed in the glooming
A vision of Christ on the cross.

The Indian and the Mexican

Editor Ontario,—
I wish to claim your indulgence for a short time while I speak of a few of the characteristics peculiar to the Indian, as well as to the Mexican. In a study of Mexico, we should keep in mind the great extent of country and varieties of people that occupy it. In extent it is as large as the combined area of France, Germany, Austria-Hungary and England, while there are one hundred and thirty-three different tribes of Indians besides the mixed races and Europeans.

The population is over 15,000,000, of which 6,000,000 claim to be direct descendants of the ancient Indian tribes who occupied this country when Cortez landed on what is now known as Vera Cruz, 1519; and about 6,000,000 are Mestizos, mixed Indian and Spanish, called Mestizos to distinguish them from the other mixed races of this country. Besides these there are over a million Creoles, children of European parents, who were born in Mexico.

During the 300 years from 1519 to 1820 the country was under the rule of Spain, who ruled it as only Spain could rule it. Soon the poor Indians with open arms, found themselves despoiled of their gold and silver, Montezuma, the king, and his brother prisoners. Their nobles were treacherously murdered in cold blood, their lands taken and given to the Spanish nobles and they themselves to all practical purposes, slaves. Three centuries of oppression, cruelty and rapine drove the Mexicans to revolt. A long and cruel war followed, which ended in the Mexicans winning their freedom and the establishment of the Republic of Mexico, which sprang up, as so many nations have, out of the furnace of affliction.

The Mexican problem is the Mexican Indian, and a careful study of the Mexican Indian by those competent to express an opinion concede that it is almost impossible to raise him above the level, socially and morally, on which he now stands.

Take, for instance, that he is in receipt of a daily wage of 75 cents, or $4.50 a week, and you increase his wage a dollar a day, he will work at the new wage but as soon as he has earned his $6.00 he will take the rest of the week a holiday, so that the only effect of increasing his wages is to reduce the number of days he will work. It seems almost impossible to raise his ambition, awaken his enthusiasm, or to urge him to shake off indifference. Whether this condition is due to long centuries of oppression and slavery or to something innate in his mental make-up, I cannot tell.

If he is put to work under a good white overseer he makes a good laborer so long as he is under supervision, but he cannot be trusted without an overseer.

The average Mexican is innocent of what is known as "conscience." If he gets the chance he will appropriate to his own use the property of his master without compunction. One characteristic of the Mexican and Indian is the use of the word "manana," "tomorrow." The idea is expressed in the sentence "never do today what you can put off till tomorrow." An Indian is to come and do a piece of work for you. You meet and say to him: "When will you come to do that work?" He is ready with his answer: "Oh, manana" (pronounced man-you-a), and likely has no intention of ever doing it.

After the conquest of Mexico, the Spaniards seized all the lands and gave tracts of land to their followers, in one case 20,000,000 equal to half the area of England. These large tracts are called haciendas, and are plantations for raising sugar-cane, coffee, pulque, wool, etc. As it requires a large number of employees to work these estates they forced the natives to do the work, thus reducing them to slavery. They are called peons, and the system is called peonage—peon, a worker.

The peon, like the serfs of Russia, used to be, are a part and parcel of the estate on which he lives. The proprietor furnishes all the peons and their families all they need to eat, drink and wear, which is charged against him. By law he receives a certain wage, but he never receives wages enough to lay anything by; and in fact is nearly always in debt; and as long as he is in debt to the estate he is not allowed to leave the estate. If he should do so, or should commit a crime, he is brought back, tried, and he is farmed out or his labor sold, so that he is worse than he was before, for the commissioner to whom his labor is sold will see to it that he does not idle.

The great part of the population belong to the peon or to the laboring class, who manage to eke out an existence. As to home life among the peon classes, there is hardly any. A house of one room, roofed by tin cans flattened out and nailed on like shingles. One suburb of Bisbee in which nearly all are Mexicans, is called "Tin Town" for this reason. In these one-roomed houses sometimes a father, mother and five or six children live, eat, sleep and try to live.

S. A. Gardner,
Bisbee, Arizona, Jan. 12, 1920.

WHEN A "FLIVVER" NEEDS A FRIEND

He tucked away his little Ford, upon a winter day; then he forgot his new machine and calmly walked away.

The cold winds blew, the water froze the snow it heaped around; but still that Ford stood aching upon the cold, cold ground.

When winter's blast had ended quite and robins began to sing, his thoughts turned toward the broad highway like birds upon the wing. Back to the shed the owner went, his little Ford was there; its paint was cracked, its top was creased, and tires devoid of air.

Forth from its damaged cooling part the water slowly dripped. He started up the engine new; the water jacket ripped.

And while he cursed, the engine groaned, a wreck 'twas plain to see, his pocket book gave one mad leap (you can't get things done free).

"Ah me! Oh me! no more tried," he said I but used my head, in putting up my awardee, it would not now be dead.

"Had I but drawn the water off, and jacked it from its wheels, I would not face the expert's bill, or go without my meals."

"Out through the country would I speed, a man from care set free; but now I own a mess of junk that couldn't chase a flea."

The moral of this short, and tale, to you is surely plain; wax will not stand the summer's heat, nor flowers the winter's rain. If you would keep your car intact from winter's zero weather, take our advice herein contained—obey it, serve it to the letter.

STALKING SEALS

How Mammals Are Hunted in North-Canada

The seal's sun naps on the Arctic ice are continually disturbed by his dreams of his enemy, the polar bear, or at least that seems a reasonable way of interpreting his behaviour, for after sleeping for thirty seconds or perhaps a minute, he will wake up, raise his head as high as he conveniently can, which is fourteen or sixteen inches, and make a complete survey of the horizon. If nothing suspicious is seen, this survey takes about ten seconds, after which he drops his head on the ice again and sleeps a minute more.

Sometimes the ice is a little rough in his vicinity and you can crawl up and shoot him from behind cover but more frequently he has chosen a level expanse where no concealment is possible, and you must therefore approach him realizing that he is going to see you before you are near enough to shoot him.

No mammal that is known has eyesight which at all compares with that of a man. A wolf can see you under favorable conditions a little more than half a mile away, a caribou at a little more than a quarter of a mile, and a seal commonly at about three hundred yards, if you are standing up, or one hundred and fifty to two hundred yards if you are lying down. You can walk or crawl toward a seal, until less than four hundred yards away, after which you begin a careful approach. You crawl ahead of him, your white face and you lie flat, and motionless while he awakes.

First Death From The Sleeping Sickness

Was That of Cornelius Roddy, Aged 16, on Monday

Cobourg, Jan. 21.—The first death to occur in Cobourg from the sleeping sickness, a new disease that has baffled medical experts in Canada, was that of Cornelius John Roddy, a 16-year-old boy, on Monday morning. Deceased was taken ill a week ago last Friday and went to the doctor the following day. He at first complained of drowsiness, this later turning to a continual sleep, from which he could only be aroused at intervals. Several doctors from town, as well as outside, were called into consultation, but no effective way of fighting the disease could be evolved and he passed away Monday morning.

He was the only son of Cornelius Roddy, of Burnley, and had resided in Cobourg with his aunt since the death of his mother when he was a young boy. He was a boy of fine build and exceptional promise, and in his death his relatives have the public's deepest sympathy.

The funeral took place on Wednesday morning to St. Michael's church and cemetery.

Engines Turn Over One Man Is Dead

Hurtled Back By Drift—Bucked an 18-Foot Snow Bank

Oswego, Jan. 21.—Two locomotives and a push plow went off the tracks two and a half miles west of Wolcott near Sodus yesterday morning while attempting to buck an 18-foot drift at a speed of 50 miles an hour, with the result that one man is dead, another may die, and two others are less seriously injured.

James Carroll, an engineer of Charlotte died of his injuries.

The two locomotives and snow plow left Charlotte ahead of the 9 o'clock train from Rochester to Oswego, to open the road. While travelling at 50 miles an hour they struck the 18 foot snow drift. It was as if they had struck a bank of iron, and the two locomotives and the snow plow were hurled back.

So great was the force of the impact that the first locomotive was thrown almost clear of the right of way up against the fence. The second engine was turned over on its side, crosswise of the track.

Even the Leap Year girl should remember that it's a good plan to look before you leap.

Whiskey 82 Years Old

Entombed in Ohio Church Cornerstone Since 1837.

Cincinnati, Jan. 21.—Long after the last cellar has gone dry and the last drop of whiskey consumed there will remain a bottle of liquor that, according to tradition, is entombed in the corner stone of the Universalist Church at Montgomery, Ohio. None other than William Swalm, aged 72, village historian and former schoolmaster of Montgomery, is authority for the tradition that a quart of liquor is concealed in the foundation of the church, which was built in 1837.

"In those days liquor was as respectable as water," says Swalm. "Preachers drank it just like other folks did. It was customary to place liquor in the cornerstone for the same reason that folks drink each other's health in liquor."

Swalm recalled that in the "good old days" whiskey sold for three cents a drink.

Military Hospital to be Moved Next May

As Soon as New D.S.C.R. Hospital at London is Completed

Cobourg, Jan. 21.—Major-General Cobourg, Jan. 22.—Maj.-Gen. Pottingham, director-general of medical services, Ottawa; Col. Gardiner, assistant director of medical services, Kingston; and Col. Gillespie, barracks officer, Kingston, visited Cobourg Military Hospital on Thursday last. It is understood that the patients in Cobourg Military Hospital will be transferred to London, Ont., as soon as the D.S.C.R. hospital, now under construction there, is finished. If there is sufficient accommodation at present there are over 150 patients here and a staff of 83. Just what disposition will be made of the buildings here is not at present known. At present the Cobourg Military Hospital is under the control of the C.A.M.C., but after the patients leave here they will be under control of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

English Woman is Sized Up

Much Unlike Her Cousin Here, Says Canadian Writer

J. V. McAree, "Fourth Column" writer of the Toronto Mail and Empire, who has been visiting England and recording his impressions for his newspaper, has made some comparisons of the English woman with her Canadian cousin. He writes:

"Her necessities opened occupations to the women of England from which they decline to demobilize. The hotel clerks, called reception clerks, are women. There are women ticket collectors or inspectors at the railway stations and on some of the cars. They sell newspapers on the streets. The liquor traffic is in their hands. Of course, the barmaids are a pre-war institution in England. They successfully discharge the function of dispensers of drinks and confidential friends of their customers. One can glance into a taproom, usually not much more commodious than a telephone booth, in the hours when liquor is sold, and see the barmaid knitting or reading while a dozen regular patrons sit solemnly round, chatting in undertones or listening, the whole in an atmosphere of domesticity that would bring tears to the eyes of anyone sympathetically inclined who did not happen to be a wife. The barmaid has a rather peculiar position. She probably hears some rough talk, but at the same time she enjoys the protection of her regular patrons, and any stranger who might in his cups venture to take a liberty would live to regret it if he lived.

In London one sees women police. They walk in pairs and have an extremely assertive look. They may make arrests, warn girls of the perils that beset them, advise strangers and generally keep an eye on our little sisters of the pavement tripping their rationed furlong on Piccadilly. The women police are trained in Jujitsu, and are quite capable of handling a prisoner as the men do. No English police so far as we have seen, carry firearms. Their most legal weapon is a lantern. The police prefer to go unarmed for they have an idea that if they carried revolvers the criminal classes would do likewise. As it is now, the police have little trouble with their customers. To resist arrest or strike a policeman is a serious offence. In a riot an unarmed policeman is as likely as not to have the sympathy of the crowd. If he were armed and used his weapons with American prodigality, sentiment would

If Farmers Adopt Eight Hour Day

Production Will Be Cut Down by at Least One-Half—Increase Cost of Food—Direct Result of the Farmers' Strike in Russia.

Labor radicals in the industrial centres speak and act as if the world depended entirely upon them, while they are independent of everything and everybody. Here is an editorial from a Western paper (Successful Farming) which should convince even the most unthinking radical that he and his are dependent upon society as a whole, and without it he would starve, freeze, or go naked.

"We ask city workers to ponder a moment—what might happen if the farmers should do what the workers are doing—demanding shorter hours and higher pay. The farmers are their own bosses, so they would not have to quarrel with anybody. They could hold out on strike until they got good and ready, for they can feed themselves.

"You working fellows, suppose for a moment that the farmers adopted the eight-hour day. It would cut down production at least half. Suppose they also set a price on their labor and their products based on an eight-hour basic scale. Where would you get your food? Only the rich could buy it at all, for the price would be prohibitive to men on strike. If the cost of living is too high now, how will lessened production affect it? How will increased cost of production bring down prices?

"If you city workers expect the farmers to go on feeding you at the old price, you have got to get back to work at the old wage and make it possible for the farmer to buy cheaper, so he can produce cheaper. This is not a one-sided game. It takes two to play it, and if you city fellows quit don't get sore if you get hungry soon. Either the farmers must do as you are doing, shorten the hours and demand higher pay, or else they must lengthen the hours and produce more without more pay.

"The farmers have been patient with you. When they lose their patience, look out. If they quit, who is going to feed you? What city workers have in common with farmers is not so much political as economic. What are you going to do about it?"

In many countries of Europe, food production this year was half the usual amount, because the farmers could not plant the average crops. Relief societies are now trying to save the children from starvation and tuberculosis. In the radicals' heaven—Russia—farmers have gone on strike and refused to produce more than sufficient for their own needs. Possession of a piece of bread is now something to fight for.

Miss Jones Gets Belgian Award

Miss Della Jones, of Calgary, cousin of Mr. G. R. Jones, of Eldorado, was recently the recipient of the Médaille de la Reine Elisabeth, a Belgian decoration, for the excellent work she performed as a member of the Southern Alberta Belgian relief committee during the war. Miss Jones, who was educated in the East was a teacher at Woodstock for some time and then became a member's secretary at the Parliament buildings. Subsequently she joined the staff of the Calgary Herald, where she is at present engaged in an important work. Mr. de Buriel, the Belgian consul, making the presentation, paid tribute to the unselfish and unflinching services of Miss Jones. The decoration is described as a token of Belgium's gratitude to the ladies who have deserved well of Belgium.—Madcoc Review.

Report on Farm Conditions

The following is a summary of the reports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture: Fall wheat at present is well protected by snow and so far has suffered but little from winter. Cattle are generally in good condition notwithstanding the comparatively cold weather, and the rather limited quantity of grain on hand. The good supply of ensilage on hand is credited with helping out the situation more than anything else. While marketing in most quarters is rather slow, Grey reports weekly shipments of well finished cattle.

The milk supply is about normal for the season. A condensary in Elgin is paying $3.40 a cwt., for milk with a 4 per cent. of fat standard.

Many horses are being carried over a little leaner than usual. Essex reports an extra supply of work horses. Kent states that hogs are now rather scarce. Prices for bacon animals ranges from $16 to $17.25.

Very little grain is being marketed. Hay is being disposed of at from $30 to $32 a ton in the more settled parts of the province and from $30 to $35 in Port Arthur district. In Western Ontario straw is bringing $10 a ton.

Considerable corn and tobacco yet remain to be marketed in Essex. Peterboro states that a carload of potatoes were shipped from Norwood by the U. F. O. during the week at $2.75 a bag. Grenville reports sales at $2.25 a bag, and other representatives state that the weather of late has been too cold for handling potatoes.

Grey reports that with most of the sweet clover out of the hands of the farmers, wholesalers are now offering $17 a bushel for seed, while holders ask as high as $21. The ice harvest is now one, and old cutters in Peterboro say that this year's ice is the best for storing that they have ever seen.

A number of farmers in Kent are already applying for men for work in the spring. Yes, Alfred, matrimony has its advantages. A bachelor has to pay to attend lectures, but a married man gets his at home.

Prepared to Fight Influenza Again

Department of Health is Watching Epidemic in United States

Ottawa, Jan., 24. — The following statement was issued here by the Federal Department of Health: While the Federal Department of Health has as yet no information of the recurrence of the influenza epidemic in any part of Canada, the report of new cases in Chicago means that the people of Canada must face the possibility of a return of the epidemic. In view of this possibility the Department of Health is keeping in close touch with the United States Public Health Service, and is receiving full information of the progress of the disease there and of the methods found valuable in the United States towards relieving the disease and combating the epidemic.

The Dominion Council of Health at its meeting in October, 1914, thoroughly discussed the matter and mapped out a campaign to be carried out in case of the return of the disease in Canada, and all the provincial boards of health have been quietly and efficiently preparing for eventualities. These preparations include provision for rapid expansion of hospital facilities, registration of all available nurses, emergency training of volunteers and registration of volunteer home workers.

Lindsay Power is Blamed

When interviewed by the Peterboro Examiner this morning on local power troubles Mr. H. D. Fisk, manager of the Utilities Commission said that the trouble had not been caused by anchor ice. He explained clearly the failure of the power here was due to trouble on the Lindsay part of the line which runs north from Port Hope to Lindsay. About midway, the line is switched and brought into Peterboro. When the Lindsay trouble occurred, it of course threw the Peterboro line out of commission and a man had to be dispatched in a horse and sleigh to cut the Lindsay section.

It is about eight miles to where the switch is and as the roads were all but impassable it naturally took some time to reach the switch, so yesterday morning the power was off for an hour or so.

To-day the system is working all right, the Lindsay trouble having been repaired. — Peterboro Examiner.

Destroyed by Fire

Fire at the noon hour on Monday destroyed the premises on Victoria street, owned by Mr. E. Conkright and occupied until recently by Mr. J. Lutman as a barber shop. Mrs. Conkright and the children were at home in the residence at the rear of the building and were not aware that the place was on fire until passers-by gave the alarm. Mr. Conkright was up town on business at the time and on returning at the sound of the fire alarm was unable to enter the place owing to the headway gained by the flames. Hoses were quickly placed from the fire hall tank to the scene and after a brief delay occasioned by a frozen link a good stream of water was playing on the blaze. The fire by this time had burst through the windows and was licking its way up the walls but in a comparative short space of time the blaze was under control. Before all danger was over, however, the supply of water gave out at the fire hall tank and the engine had to be moved to the tank at the corner of Victoria and Jamieson streets. Here another delay occurred and it appeared for a time that all efforts to get the pump to work would fail. In the meantime willing workers got busy with hooks and pulled the remaining part of the building to pieces thus removing any further fear of danger to Mr. Blakey's furniture store, next door. By this time the pump responded again and the debris was thoroughly drenched. As there was no fire in the building that forenoon Mr. Conkright can not account for the origin of the blaze. Detective electric wiring is one theory that has been advanced as to the cause. The dwelling apartments remained intact, but are practically ruined by water and smoke. The house furnishings were also more or less damaged by removal. There was a small insurance. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Conkright in their loss, which occurring as it did in zero weather adds to the burden. — Tweed Advocate.

Kingston Chosen for Machine-Gun Bgde. Headquarters

Permanent Force Unit Has Fifteen Officers, 100 of Other Ranks.

Kingston, Jan., 24. — It has been announced that the headquarters of the machine-gun brigade of the permanent force will be stationed at Kingston, and the brigade will be stationed at Barrfield barracks.

Lieut. Col. E. W. Sisson of the machine-gun brigade Ottawa, was in this city to-day conferring with Major General Williams in regard to the matter. It is announced that the brigade will consist of fifteen officers, and about 100 other ranks, though this will eventually be increased to about 500 men. The brigade will occupy the wing of the barracks now being made useful for hospital purposes. It is not likely, however, that the entire 500 men will be stationed here, owing to the lack of accommodation. Companies will be established in some of the cities and towns in the district.

Col. Sisson is expected to take charge of the brigade here in a few days.

30,000 Canadians Have Received 1914-15 Star

And Hundreds Now Are Said To Be Eligible For It.

Ottawa, Jan., 24. — Thirty thousand Canadians have been awarded the 1914-15 Star to date, according to the records of the militia department. Applications are still being received for them and there are probably still some hundreds of men and many women who are eligible for them but have not received them yet.

The staff of the records branch has been kept busy issuing "King's certificates of discharge," and is not nearly through with the distribution of them yet. Hundreds of applications are being dealt with daily and this entails considerable time and labor, as all records of individuals making such application must be looked into carefully.

The honors and awards section of the branch received many requests and queries in a day. Letters from soldiers' widows are particularly numerous and cover a wide range of subjects.

The Memorial Cross to be awarded widows and mothers of deceased soldiers is the subject of many these days. But the correspondence goes all the way to Penton Road medals, several of which have been given out in the last 2 months.

NATHAN D. UNGER.

The death of Nathan D. Unger occurred in Hallowell Jan., 12, 1920, at the residence of his son Wilfred where he moved only a few weeks before his death. The deceased was born in Richmond 84 years ago and resided there the greater part of his life. Some twelve years ago he removed to Prince Edward County purchasing a farm at Elmbrooke which he disposed of a short time ago. He was a son of the late Daniel Unger, a local preacher. As a young man he consecrated his life to God and remained firm to the end. In 1863 he married Rhoda Hettie VanBlarcom. During their long married life of fifty-six years, he was always very kind and congenial in his home, and always willing to lend a helping hand to others who needed help. He was a Methodist in religion and a life long Liberal in politics. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and seven children — Mrs. G. C. Joyce, Deseronto; Mrs. E. W. Dean, Water town N. Y.; Mrs. J. D. THE CRITIC

My father says the paper that he reads ain't put up right. He finds a lot of fault, he does, perusing it at night. He says there ain't a single thing in it worth while to read, and that it doesn't print the kind of stuff that people need. He tosses it aside and says it is strictly "on the bum." But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He reads about the wedding and he snorts like all git out. He reads the social doings with a most derisive snort; He says they make the papers for the wimmin folk alone. He'll read about the parties and he'll tune and fret and groan. He says of information it don't contain a crumb. But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He's always first to grab it and he reads it plumb clear through. He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—that is true. He says "They don't know what we want, them, darn newspaper guys; I'm going to take a day some time and go and put them wise. Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb." But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. —Exchange.

POISONED OLIVES

Only One Survivor in a Family of Seven.

New York, Jan., 24. — Death won a double victory in a grim race with and express train and a government mail airplane when two more members of the Paul Delbene family, poisoned from eating olives died in Fordham hospital owing to the late arrival of the special serum necessary to save their lives. Hospital physicians, however, made an injection in the arm of Cecchetti Delbene, ten years old, the only surviving member of the family of seven, with serum received from Washington. This morning the physicians said they believed the serum had saved the girl's life. Unless unforeseen complications develop, they certainly believe she will recover.

Another package of serum, which was being rushed eastward from Chicago by mail airplane, failed to arrive the machine having been disabled and forced to land at Black Oak, Ind.

Health Commissioner Copeland has traced the poisoned olives to an east side store. The olives originally came from California.

DEATH FROM SLEEPING SICKNESS.

Brantford Lady is Chairman of City Board of Health.

A Free Public Library.

Q. Y. Chown who has bought the former Milk Trust building, with the intention of handing it over to Kingston as a free public library building, desires that all societies and organizations of Kingston hold a meeting together in order to appoint a citizens' committee, that they may arrive at the best methods of carrying on this work. He wants the co-operation and approval of all citizens so that when the money for alterations and repairs is raised the city will assume the maintenance. This meeting will be held in the council chamber next Monday. If there is not sufficient interest shown to warrant the continuance of this project Mr. Chown will withdraw the gift and lease the building to a prospective tenant. Should this occur, the present library will have to discontinue its work, as the building they now occupy has been sold, and there is no other building suitable to carry on the work, even under existing conditions.

To Build New Mill.

The Toronto Paper Company has let the contract for the erection of a new pulp mill near their present plant at Cornwall, which will have a capacity of 60 tons a day, four times that of the present plant. It is expected that the plant will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000 and that 75 men will be employed.

A Successful Show.

Elley Wright, superintendent of the Canadian Briscoe Motor Co., who returned Thursday from attending the Montreal Motor Show, reports one of the most successful exhibitions ever held in Canadian motor circles. The local firm had three cars on exhibition at the show, a Rolls-Royce Blue, with white wire wheels, black leather top and black leather upholstery; a red "Special" and a black standard model. The Canadian Briscoe Motor Co.'s cars are meeting with great favor from the general public and a most successful season is anticipated. Brockville Recorder & Times.

Had Sheep Killed.

Mr. Thomas Brackenridge, of Westwood, is looking for the owner of a very fine collie dog which he has in his possession and which he will gladly give to the owner on application. The dog entered the barn of Mr. Brackenridge lately and succeeded in killing 3 sheep belonging to his fine flock. Mr. Brackenridge heard the noise early in the morning and went to the barn and succeeded in getting a rope around the neck of Mr. Dog and he now hangs to a scaffold. Mr. Brackenridge is a firm believer in capital punishment. — Hastings Star.

Not Sleeping Sickness.

Reports have been current about town that Ernest "Dan" Drinkle, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Drinkle, 237 Nassau Street, was a victim of sleeping sickness. Enquiry at the Drinkle home on Nassau Street finds the boy wide awake and far from being looked upon as an sleeping victim. Dr. McDonald who is attending him states the temperature one week ago was 103 degrees and that his diagnosis of the case was not sleeping sickness. — Oshawa Reformer.

On the afternoon mail the money arrived in two registered letters one containing $100 and the other $105, the total amount of cash stolen. The cheque for $10, which was taken was not returned but, of course this cannot be cashed.

No such person, as may be supposed, lives in Portsmouth. The letters were postmarked "Kingston" Lt. Granger was arranging to bring a detective to the village to work on the case but now that all the money has been returned he will let the matter drop though he might trace the sender of the letters through the post office.

Bishop's Travelling Expenses.

In the report of the executive meeting which appeared on Tuesday, it is stated that the Bishop of Ontario received an increase of $500 for expenses. This is quite incorrect. What happened was that on the motion of the Chancellor of the Diocese, the executive resolved to recommend to synod that the Bishop's allowance for expenses be increased from $300 to $500, an increase of $200, to help him meet the extra expense involved by the withdrawal of railway passes hitherto issued to the Bishops.

It was also agreed that an industrial commissioner who will act as secretary of the Board of Trade be appointed his salary and expenses to be borne by the council and Board of Trade in proportions to be decided later. Many Put Trust in the Unknown with those things that are within his grasp but is reaching always for the unattainable. Too often, he loses that which he might easily gain by blindly pursuing that which is always just out of his reach.

Why "Con" Man Thrives

Coupled, in a way, with his faith in the unknown is the tendency, on the part of so many people to place confidence in a stranger in preference to one who is known and has been tried and proven. It is this tendency which makes possible the operations of the "con" man, the get-rich-quick artist, the unscrupulous promoter and the salesman of worthless mining stocks. The man who would not think of trusting Bill Jones, his next-door neighbor and fellow church member, will confidently turn over his life's savings to a stranger who unfolds a tale of riches to be won. Bill Jones might talk his head off in behalf of a legitimate proposition without getting a dollar where the slick stranger with the worthless proposition can get thousands.

It is these two tendencies which, apparently, are so widely prevalent among all classes of people that have made possible the success of the great mail order houses in the big cities. A knowledge of psychology is as important to the mail order man as a knowledge of business practices. He plays upon those tendencies of man to take a chance, to trust in the unknown rather than the known, to place confidence in the stranger rather than the friend.

Hope to Draw Prize.

Those who buy merchandise from a mail order house are moved partly, whether they realize it or not, by that trait in their nature which prompts them to trust in the unknown rather than in that with which they are familiar. They are hoping, it may be unconsciously, that they will draw a prize. They do not know what they will get, for it is impossible for one to know what he is going to get when he orders merchandise from a picture and a highly colored description in a catalogue. He is taking a chance on the unknown.

Buying merchandise from the local merchant, on the other hand, contains none of these elements of chance that enter into the dealings with the mail order house. When one buys a stove from the hardware store in his home town, he may get none of the thrills that come from taking a chance but he will get a stove that will last longer and keep him warmer than the one that he might get from the mail order house and to the average individual, these things are likely to be more important than the thrills.

Using Your Eyes.

When you buy from the local merchant you see the thing that you are buying, you inspect it carefully, examine the workmanship and the quality of the material of which it is made and in many cases you have the privilege of testing it before paying for it. You have not only your own eyes, and knowledge of values to rely upon, but you have the advantage of the advice of the merchant who has an expert knowledge of the merchandise which he is selling and who, in 99 cases out of 100, can be relied upon to tell the truth about it. Then you have the guarantee that is backed not only by the retail merchant, but in many cases by the manufacturer. If the article which you buy does not prove satisfactory after it is given a fair test, you can take it back to the store where you bought it, in most cases, and get your money back. The retailer may get his money back from the manufacturer but if he doesn't, he stands the loss. In any event, you are protected.

Why a person will place his confidence in a stranger rather than a friend or will trust in the unknown rather than in that which is tangible is something that is hard to understand. Even the mail order house does not pretend to know why it is so but it accepts conditions as it finds them and makes the most of the opportunities that they offer.

Mr. Shatts also submitted a membership card which will be sent to every member giving his name and extending to him the privileges of the Chamber of Commerce in cities of Canada and the United States. Col. Marsh was appointed convener of a committee to plan the formation of a Manufacturers' Section of the Chamber of Commerce.

Peterboro Will Hold 4-Day Fair

WILL ERECT NEW GRAND STAND THIS YEAR.

$9,800 Spent Last Year On Improvements.

Peterboro, Jan. 25. — At the annual meeting of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition directors and members it was decided to hold a four days' fair next fall — on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, on the week following the close of the Toronto Exhibition.

One or two members did not want to conflict with Lindsay's four days, but it was generally conceded that the meeting's duty was to consider Peterboro's interests alone, and that Lindsay could look after herself. Mr. Webber Turner declared that it should cost but little more for four days' special attractions than for three, and that the additional day decided on might materially swell the exhibition's total receipts and add a substantial balance "anyway," he said, "nothing ventured, nothing gained."

$9,800 Spent Last Year.

General discussion revealed the fact that $9,800 had been spent in permanent improvements at the grounds last year, and the need this year of grandstand accommodation for 5,000 people was very much emphasized.

LAI'D TO REST

THE LATE ELIZA HART

Death removed a citizen of some forty two years standing last Wednesday morning when Eliza Hart, daughter of the late Patrick Hart and Mary Wright passed away at the home of her sister Mrs. D. sole survivor of the family. The funeral of the late Eliza Hart took place to St. Vincent de Paul cemetery where requiem high mass was sung by the Rev. P. J. Hartigan, P.P. The remains were afterwards conveyed to the vault in Deseronto cemetery.

Obituary

In the passing on Saturday last of Mr. Thos. Gibbard there was lost a citizen long and closely identified with all the best interests of Napanee.

The firm "Gibbard & Son" established by his father, the late John Gibbard of honoured memory had been long and widely known by its well earned reputation for fair dealing with both its employees and the general public. The late Thos. Gibbard was a man of probity and unusual energy in business, and when some years ago he headed the business to his son, George, the present head of the firm, it had a name and reputation that was in itself a valuable asset.

Mr. Thos. Gibbard was ever deeply interested in the prosperity and welfare of his native town, and ready to give time and means to every proposal he thought would promote that end.

Generous by nature frank in speech honest in purpose he had many friends and he well deserved them. The very large attendance of all classes at the services at both the home and the Church where he worshipped so many years, evinced the high esteem in which he was held in this community. His only son, George, now the President of the Co., and the daughters will have the sincere sympathy of all who knew their father and they will be much comforted by the many tokens of public esteem.

It is a further prophecy that worth and goodness will continue; for the things we have come to respect and admire in others are surely the things we seek to emulate and perpetuate in ourselves. — Napanee Beaver.

Tribute to General Macdonnell.

The Queen's University Journal says: "Queen's would always delight to honor the head of our sister college, notably that of our nearest neighbor, the R. M. C., but on Monday night the Returned Men's Club were able to pay this honor not only as students but as comrades. It is a high honor to have served under so great a soldier as General Macdonnell. We prefer this simpler military style to the more formal social title which he bears, not because we share with our politicians a dislike for the King's honors but because a general who not only calls but thinks of his men as his children provokes from us a warmer welcome and token of respect than the style Sir Archibald seems to effect.

A man who has served the whole of his life in his country's cause, who gave his only son to the nation he loved to serve, and who after reaching the summit of his profession and winning the gratitude of his people has adopted other men's sons to lead them into as devoted citizenship as his own — such a man honors those whom he calls his children."

They also feel that people who have not had their children vaccinated will be those who are taking the greatest risk. — Oshawa Reformer.

A refrigerator car containing a large quantity of two and a half per cent. beer, caught fire while stationed on the back line of the Oshawa Railway Company, close to the Malleable Works, last Fri., evening. The fire was caused by a coal oil stove in an ice box at the end of the car, upsetting. The firemen went to the rescue before a great deal of damage was done to the car, but it is thought that the local option drinks would suffer greater damage owing to the liquid being exposed to the zero temperature and freezing in the bottles. — Lindsey Post.

Dr. Service is in the head of the Chentu. He is interviewing the doctors and dentists in town and also looking for Christian young women who would be interested in going to West China as nurses in the Mission Hospitals there. — Port Hope Guide.

Synod Executive Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the executive committee of the Diocese of Ontario held in Kingston on Monday, Bishop Bidwell expressed his personal appreciation of the work done by Rev. Canon Bedford Jones and expressed his regret at his coming removal from the diocese to become principal of the University of Bishop's College. Other members of the committee also paid eloquent tributes to Rev. Canon Bedford Jones. An application for the sale of land at Delta the proceeds to be used in the erection of a chapel for the church there was granted. Among those present of the Diocese, Rev. Canon Bedford Jones, Dr. W. Ferries on the Route Again.

On Wednesday evening last Ontario No. 2 went on the route again after a three-months lay-up and now both ferries are busy, the freight from this side across being very heavy. The boats have run into stormy weather the past two months. In October No. 1 made 41 return trips, but since Nov. 1 have been unable to make that many. The U. S. embargo on passengers crossing over on the ferries is still in effect. — Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

Nurse for Prison Work.

There has been no appointment of an assistant matron at the female ward of the Portsmouth penitentiary. Upon inquiry at the warden's office it was learned that Miss M. Draper was taken on duty in a temporary capacity pending an appointment by the Civil Service Commission. Miss McMahon's transfer to Dorchester penitentiary with the female prisoners belonging to the maritime province leaves a vacancy on the Portsmouth penitentiary staff and it is expected that competent nurse will be appointed to the position in order that treatment in cases of illness might be properly carried out. The female ward has never had the services of a nurse.

All Favor Major Hooper.

The resignation of Postmaster McEwen at Carleton Place, creates a vacancy that will likely have several applications but the name most freely mentioned is that of Major W. H. Hooper who did service in the South African War and later came through the last great war and spent three years as a prisoner in Germany. He is worthy of recognition and his selection for the post would be a very satisfactory one to his many friends says the Carleton Place Herald. Last spring Major Hooper came to Kingston, acting as dispersal officer. In October he secured his discharge. The Carleton Place Board of Trade has unambiguously endorsed his appointment.

THE CHILDREN

(Found in the desk of Charles Dickens at his death.)

When the lessons and tasks are all ended, And the school for the day is dismissed, And the little ones gather around me To bid me "good night" and be kissed; Oh, the little white arms that encircle my neck in a tender embrace! Oh, the smiles that are halos of heaven, Shedding sunshine and love on my face.

And when they are gone I sit dreaming, Of my childhood, too lovely to last; Of love that my heart will remember When it wakes the pulse of the past; Ere the world and its wickedness made me, A partner of sorrow and sin; When the glory of God was about me And the glory of gladness within.

Oh, my heart grows as weak as a woman's, And the fountains of feelings will flow. When I think of the paths, steep and stony, Where the feet of the dear ones must go; Of the mountains of sin hanging o'er them, Of the tempests of fate growing wild.

Oh, there is nothing on earth half so holy, As the innocent heart of a child. They are idols of hearts and of households, They are angels of God in disguise His sunlight still sleeps in their tresses, His glory still beams in their eyes.

Oh, those truant from earth and from heaven, They have made me more manly and mild, And I know how Jesus could liken The kingdom of God to a child.

Seek not a life for the dear ones, All radiant, as others have done, But that life may have just as much shadow To temper the glare of the sun; I would pray God to guard them from evil, But my prayer will bound back to myself.

Ah! a seraph may pray for a sinner But the sinner must pray for him self. The twig is so easily bended, I have banished the rule of the rod; I have taught them the goodness of knowledge, They have taught me the goodness of God.

My heart is a dungeon of darkness, Where I shut them from breaking a rule; My frown is a sufficient correction My love is the law of the school. I shall leave the old house in the autumn To traverse the threshold no more. Ah! how I shall sigh for the dear ones

That meet me each morn at the door. I shall miss the good nights and the kisses, And the gush of their innocent glees, The group on the green and flowers That are brought every morning to me.

I shall miss them at morn and at evening, Their song in the school and the street, I shall miss the low hum of their voices And the tramp of their delicate feet.

When the lessons and tasks are all ended, And death says the school is dismissed, May the little ones gather around me To bid me "good night" and be kissed.

Drury, Doherty and Biggs Will Speak in Peterboro Feb. 2nd

Peterboro, Jan. 23. — Premier Drury, F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works, and Manning W. Doherty will be in the city one week from Monday, February 2nd, and will address the farmers of the district and others at the annual banquet of the local branch of the U. F. O., to be held in Victoria Hall. This event should prove a red letter day in the history of Peterboro. Messrs. Biggs and Doherty will reach the city at noon on the day in question and will in the afternoon address a gathering of the recently amalgamated dairymen. Premier Drury will arrive later in time to speak at the banquet in the evening.

So large is the crowd expected that Victoria Hall was selected as the most capacious place available. It was felt that the Empress Hotel would be unable to take care of the throng that is sure to be anxious to hear the issues of the day discussed by three of the members of the new Cabinet. Mr. R. B. Roger, president of the local Farmers' Club will preside at the banquet. It is seldom that Peterboro has the honor of a visit from a Provincial Premier and two of his Cabinet associates all in one day. Full particulars of the proposed visit will be announced from time to time.

Rogers, Douro Township; Bruce Savigny and Morley Smithson, Otonabee Township, and Harry Webber, North Monaghan, will represent the farmers. The interest of various urban and suburban societies and especially Public school boards of the towns, villages and townships will be solicited. The project will be presented to the county council next week.

Earth's Weak Crust

Certain Zones Where Volcanoes Are Prominent

Scientists find that almost all volcanoes are situated in what are assumed to be areas of weakness in the earth's crust, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly. These areas are in the ocean basins, the lands bordering these basins, or mountains, which flank or construct outlines of continents. The chief areas of distribution of volcanoes are: (1) The Pacific-Caribbean belt, following the Andes of South America, the lesser Antilles, Central America and Mexico, Kamchatka, the Japanese Islands, the Philippines and Sunda Sea Islands, New Zealand and Victoria Land, in the Antarctic; (2) The Mediterranean-Caspian region; (3) Atlantic region, including the volcanoes of Iceland and the Azores; (4) Pacific region, with volcanoes in Polynesia, Hawaiian and other islands. Why at such points the earth's crust should be especially weak does not seem to have been convincingly explained.

Sufficient time has not yet elapsed to determine the indirect effects of the recent eruption of Mount Kilauea in Java which wiped out over a score of villages and killed thousands of the natives, but recollection of Karakoto's volcanic outbreak in 1883, which within six weeks sprinkled its lava dust over the whole world has given an interesting suggestion to certain members of the medical profession. During the closing year of the war and influenza epidemic raged in many parts of the world. The manner of its outbreak in different countries indicated that the germs of the disease had been conveyed by the currents of the air. The theory therefore has been broached that the poison gases with which many sectors of the fighting area was drenched were carried by the wind in ever direction, causing the influenza to break out in Spain, Germany, England, France, South America, Africa, Asia, as well as in the United States and some of the South American countries. That the influenza was a corollary of the war is undoubted. Any similar gigantic conflict, it is argued, would be attended with a similar widespread pestilence — another reason why every effort

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU

32 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont. "I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1918, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician. I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again. I look upon this fruit medicaine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial." A Crude Wireless

Long Used by An Indian Tribe of the Amazon Valley

In these days of wireless telegraphy it may be interesting to learn that as long ago as July, 1898, The Geographical Journal recorded the discovery of a wireless telegraphic apparatus in use among the Catuquinan, an Indian tribe of the Amazon Valley, in South America.

The apparatus, called chambarysu, consists of a hole in the ground about half filled with coarse sand; above this layers of fine sand, fragments of wood and bone and powdered mica fill it almost to the surface of the ground. The materials are surrounded by a case of hard palm wood, which extends above the surface. The upper part of the apparatus consists of layers of hide, wood and hard rubber. Between the upper layers and the lower layers there is a hollow space. With a club, much like the stick used to play the bass drum, the native strikes the layer of rubber that forms the top of the instrument.

One of these instruments is concealed in each hamlet of the tribe. The villages are not more than a mile apart and are placed in a direct north and south line. Although a person standing outside the building in which the apparatus is kept cannot hear a blow of the stick on the rubber top, it is quite distinct in a similar building a mile distant. When one of these instruments is struck the neighboring ones to the north and south echo the blow. The Indian stationed at each one of the posts answers the signal, and by means of code messages a long conversation may be carried on.

The first Willys-Knight "20" to be exhibited in Canada was shown during the recent Motor Show at Montreal. This new model has been expected for some time, so that its appearance in Montreal enhanced the value of the Show. The "20's" were also a feature of the New York Show earlier in the month.

The accompanying illustration will give an idea of the general body-lines of the new cars. Hood design has been changed to one of pentagonal character, while the various units, the lamps, radiator, and low-sprung body, are all in harmony. The chassis is one of remarkable balance. Long, flexible, semi-elliptic springs give the car an increased degree of comfort. The engine is the well-known Knight sleeve-valve motor, so that it is a case of Willys-Knight engineers having had to build a car to match a wonderful motor. How well they have succeeded is revealed by the beauty of the body-lines, as well as the interior refinements that make the new "20" a noteworthy addition to the motor car products of this continent. At present, the company is confining its quantity production at the Toronto plant to the Overland 4, the light car with the Triplex Springs, but it is anticipated that the expansion of this growing industry will permit of actual Willys-Knight production by the coming summer.

Ask for the Old Paths

By Rev. W. Harris Wallace, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church

Thus saith the Lord, stand ye in the way, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest to your souls.—Jeremiah 6:16

In "Pilgrim's Progress" we read of Christian and Hopeful, "as they went they wished for a better way. Now, a little before them, there was on the left hand of the road a meadow, and a stile to go over into it; and that meadow was called By-path Meadow. Then said Christian to his fellow, 'If this meadow lie along by our way, let's go over into it.' Then he went to the stile to see; and behold, a path lay along by the way on the other side of the fence. 'This according to my wish,' he said, 'here is the easiest going; come, good Hopeful, and let us go over.' Hopeful: 'But how if this path lead us out of the way?' Christian: 'That's not like,' said the other; 'look, doth it not go along by the wayside?' So Hopeful, being persuaded by his fellow, went after him over the stile. When they were gone over they found it very easy for their feet, and, looking before them they espied a man walking as they did; (and his name was Vainglory). So they called after him and asked him whither that way led. He said, 'To the Celestial Gate.' 'Look,' said Christian, 'didst not I tell you?' By this you see we are right. So they followed; and he went before them. But behold, the night came on, and it grew very dark, so that they that went behind lost the sight of him that went before; and he that went before, not seeing the way before him, fell into a deep pit, and was dashed in pieces by his fall." The story goes on to tell of the finding of the two pilgrims by Giant Despair, and all they suffered at his hands, and how they did not recover their full joy of rest of soul again until, as Bunyan has it, "they came to the king's highway again, and so were safe."

Ask for the Old Paths

The usual idea in accepting and interpreting this text is that we must believe what our fathers believed, and follow in their footsteps. But we must not narrow the text; it needs a broader interpretation.

The people of Jeremiah's day believed, but they were disobedient to the Word of God, as declared by the prophet. They were orthodox, but their religion had no soul in it, no spirit. Their profession was a sham; they were mere formalists. Phillips Brooks said: "Less and less men will ask of any opinion, 'Is it orthodox?' More and more they will ask: 'Is it true?' More and more the belief in the absolute safety of the freest truth-seeking, in truth-seeking as the only safe work of the human mind, will deepen and increase. Truth will come to seem not a deposit, fixed and limited, but an infinite domain wherein the soul is hidden to range with insatiable desire, guarded only by the fear of God above it, and the spirit of God within it, educated by its mistakes, and obtaining larger knowledge only as it attains complete purity of purpose and thoroughness of devotion and energy of hope. As that truer understanding of what truth is grows wide and clear, men will cease to talk or think much of orthodoxy, and the humble service which it is made to render it will render all the better when it is stripped of the purple and the sceptre, the dominion and tyranny to which it has no right.

The Bible itself gives us a broader interpretation of the text. Take, for example, the name of God. We go back to Genesis, we find the old Hebrews calling God "Elohim," the mighty one. That was their idea of God as Creator. Good, so far. But come down the stream of history, and revelation, to the days of Jesus. What a contrast! It is not the old idea of Genesis Jesus gives, but He tells us God is our Father. He taught His disciples to pray, "Our Father which art in heaven." What a difference—almost as far as the east is from the west—between the "Elohim" of Genesis and the "Our Father" of the Gospels!

The history of the Church follows the same course. We find that change is stamped on every age and generation. We do not think or worship as our fathers did, say, fifty years ago. The thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns. We cannot stand still. In true religion there is always a forward movement. Christianity is still mighty; it needs to be distributed to prove its worth and power. As the waters of Bethesda needed to be agitated to renew their healing power.

What is the Old Way?

It is the right way, because it is the way of righteousness. It is the good way, because it is the way of doing justly, loving mercy, and walking humbly with God. It is keeping the commandments of God, especially the new, loving one another, for it is the sum of all the commandments. We can never be saved by mere forms of ritual. The prophet came to God's people in their distress, in their moral and spiritual degradation, and he said to them: "There is just one hope for you; you must begin to do right; you must abandon all your unfaithful ways; you must go back to the old paths of justice and truth." The old way is simply the path of obedience, which God has laid down from all eternity for man's life. It is the way of life; and disobedience to the will of God is the way of death.

This is the very truth which Jesus always uttered. We recall when the scribe came to Him with the question: "What must I do to have eternal life?" Jesus answered at once: "Keep the commandments." Paul used the same terms: "Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God." And if the Gospel were new, it can only be in this respect, that it made possible the keeping of the commandments. The Gospel makes it possible for a man to find the old paths, the good and right way, and walk therein. It is God's grace, the new creation, having entered the heart and life of a man, enabling him to trust and obey Christ.

The prophet is at one with Jesus in offering rest of soul to those who find the good way and walk therein. Only Jesus had the power, which Jeremiah had not, of giving the rest Jesus fulfils everything in Himself, for He said: "I am the way; no man cometh unto the Father but by me." Hear Him again: "All that the Father giveth me shall come to me, and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." And He sums up all in that incomparable saying: "I am the way, the truth, and the life." When we believe that, we can hear and heed the invitation, "come to me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me, and ye shall find rest unto your souls; for my yoke is easy and my burden is light." With the thought of the redeeming love of Christ, by the great sacrifice He made for us upon the Cross, we have the strongest motive for taking up our cross daily and following Jesus. We all need to pray for grace to follow Him to the end, for all are tempted to enter by-paths that lead away from the good way that leads to the Celestial City.

Does the road wind uphill all the way?

Yes, to the very end. Will the day's journey take the whole long day? From morn to night, my friend, But is there for the night a resting place? A roof for when the slow dark hours begin? May not the darkness hide it from my face? You cannot miss that inn. Shall I meet other wayfarers at night? Those who have gone before. Then must I knock or call when just in sight? They will not keep you standing at the door. Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak? Of labor you shall find the sum. Will there be beds for me and all who seek? Yea, beds for all who come.

It is a simple preparation warranted to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. East Peterboro Member Resigns Places His Resignation at the Disposal of Premier Drury.

Norwood Register: — Mr. E. N. McDonald member of the Ontario Legislature for East Peterboro went up to Toronto Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of placing his resignation at the disposal of the Premier.

It will be remembered that Mr. McDonald shortly after the provincial election offered his seat to the Premier but it was not accepted at that time. The difficulties in the way of finding places for all of the members has since led Mr. McDonald to feel it is his duty after a consultation with the local members of the U. F. O., to place his resignation at the disposal of the Cabinet.

The Skinner Co. Also Protects Men

Adopted the Group Insurance Plan on January 10th.

Gananoque Reporter: — In referring last week to the Parmenter & Bulloch Co., having insured the lives of all their employees, we were unaware that another of Gananoque's progressive employers of labor had at about the same time similarly protected their men.

On January tenth the Skinner Co. put into force the group insurance plan for the benefit of all their employees and since that date every man's life is protected in sums varying from $500 to $2000 according to time of service with the company. The plan is the same as generally adopted, namely, $500 for the first year's service with the company and $100 for each year of additional service until a maximum of $2,000 is reached.

The plan is generally recognized as good business for an employing company, as conducive to more steady service as well as direct and tangible benefit to the employee and his family.

Old Pin Fire Shot Gun Brings Back Memories

It Had Been Almost Forgotten In City Treasurer's Vault.

Stratford, Jan. 26. — While looking over some old files in his vault last Thursday morning, City Treasurer, Wm. Lawrence, came across an old pin fire shot gun, which was brought to him from England by his father in 1873. The pin fire shot gun will be recalled by many old hunters as a real old timer and will envy Mr. Lawrence the proud possessor. The gun has not been in use for about 25 years, but it is in good state of preservation. The stock is made of good old walnut, and the gun works by the old under lever action.

Otherwise it will be necessary for her to remain away from school until the quarantine is raised. Many Put Trust in the Unknown
A curious trait in human nature makes itself apparent very frequently. That is an inclination to trust in the unknown rather than in that with which one is familiar. A person is very apt to take a chance, even though he may know that the odds are 100 to one against him, instead of being satisfied with lesser rewards about which there is no possibility of doubt. It is, possibly, the flaring up of the ever-present gambling instinct but there is something more in it than that. There is in it the unexplained tendency on the part of most people to reach for the chimerical and ignore the tangible and substantial things which is near at hand. Man is seldom satisfied.
