

securing the men to work the Le Roi mine, and those who delude themselves with this hope are building their hopes on an airy foundation.

This leads up to the status of the men now idle in Roseland. We might reiterate the query propounded yesterday: "Where do the ordinary members of the union get off at?" As things stand at this moment the door is open for them to apply for their old positions in the Le Roi. We would ask every thinking man to ask himself how long this door will stand open.

WAIT TILL THE 15TH. WAIT TILL THE 19TH. WAIT TILL THE 29TH. WAIT TILL MR. BRATNOBER COMES. WAIT TILL MR. FRECHEVILLE COMES.

It is in this series of "waits" that the agitators have conveyed cheer to the hearts of the men who have trusted them to fight their battles.

Apropos of the foregoing, the following extract from the Iron Age of September 12 will be interesting to the people of Roseland, and more particularly to the miners, who have, like the steel workers, been worked to a finish by the promises of irresponsible agitators who glibly promise what they know can never be fulfilled.

"President Shaffer has held out promises that if the men would stand out for another week or two they would win the fight, and all would secure their old positions. This has been the desired effect of renewing the courage of the men, but at the same time the United States Steel corporation were proceeding steadily in the starting up of their idle mills, and as fast as a mill has been started it has been taken from the union list and placed among non-union mills, to be operated in that manner always hereafter.

"The officials see now that the strike was a mistake and are anxious to rectify it as far as possible, but President Shaffer is stubborn and refuses to call the strike off."

Since this article appeared in the Iron Age the strike has been called off, and below is given a list of the mills which have been taken from the control of the Amalgamated Association, and which will, in future, be run as non-union plants: Star, Crescent, Banfield, Monesson, Demmer, Old Meadow, Salsburg, Hyde Park, Canal Dover, Cambridge.

The steel strike and the Roseland strike have several points in common. Both were born in deceit and nourished in trickery. Both were marked by the presence of men at the head of affairs who had promises in mouthfuls and performed nothing. The steel strike has collapsed, and the Roseland strike is tottering on the verge of a downfall equally as complete.

THE WOUNDED CHINAMAN—Kip Yung, the Chinaman who had such a narrow escape on Monday from being killed by the train, left the hospital and proceeded to his home in Trail yesterday. His face is badly cut up, the surgeon having to put several stitches in it. It appears that he came up from Trail on business in connection with the store he keeps there, and meeting with several friends took too freely of strong drink. He left them with the intention of catching the afternoon train, but thinking that he was a little late to get on at the station he walked down the track to meet it at Union avenue. Getting a little sleepy, during his walk he lay down with the result that his face is slightly disfigured, and his constitution generally shaken.

PRESIDENT IS DEAD

The End of Wm. McKinley's Life Came This Morning.

Last Hour of Consciousness Spent With His Wife.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, Sept. 14.—President McKinley died at 2:15. He had been unconscious since 7:05 p. m. His last conscious hour on earth was spent with his wife, to whom he devoted a life time of care. He died unattended by a minister of the gospel, but his last words were an humble submission to the will of the God in whom he believed.

His relatives and members of his official family were at the Milburn House, except Secretary Wilson, who did not avail himself of the opportunity, and some of his close personal and political friends took leave of him. This painful ceremony was simple. His friends simply came to the door of the sick room, cast a longing glance at him and turned tearfully away. He was practically unconscious during this time.

HOW THE END CAME.—The age of the people of Buffalo against the president's assassin when they learned today that he was dying was boundless. Thousands surround the jail, and the police force of the city and two regiments of soldiers were necessary to secure his protection.

BAND PRACTICE.—The city band held its regular practice last evening, and went through some very artistic pieces. Under the making excellent progress under the leadership of Mr. W. Verran. It is quite probable that the band will play for the memorial parade that will be held in honor of President McKinley.

A BRAKEMAN INJURED.—George Nodell, a popular brakeman on the Red Mountain railway, met with an accident yesterday afternoon. He left here in the noon train in the pursuit of his regular duty, and when between Sheep creek and Northport, he was either letting a brake off or putting it on, when he slipped and fell. He was fortunate enough not to fall between the cars, but was precipitated over the side. The bank being steep at that point he slid, and his left foot came in contact with the rail, with the result that it was hanging by a thread of skin.

TOURNAMENT FINISHED.—The annual tournament of the Roseland Tennis club concluded yesterday afternoon with a game that will go down in the annals of the game in Roseland as one of the closest games on record.

THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Gangrene Set Up in the Path of the Fatal Bullet.

A Theory That the Missile May Have Been Poisoned.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, Sept. 14.—The following report of the autopsy on the remains of President McKinley was issued at 5 o'clock: "The bullet which struck over the breast bone did not pass through the skin and did little harm. The other bullet passed through both walls of the stomach near its lower border. Both holes were found to be perfectly closed by the stiches, but the tissue around each hole had become gangrenous.

AS VIEWED OUTSIDE.—The situation at Roseland. The miners' union at Roseland intended to show that the mines there cannot be operated without union labor. It is precisely the kind of stuff that Sovereign and his associates used to get up about the mines in the Coeur d'Alene when they started up with non-union men the last time—two years ago.

A WARDNER PAPER DISCUSSES THE SITUATION AT ROSSLAND. VAIN HOPE OF THE UNION TO WORRY MINE OWNERS ON THIS SIDE.

The Wardner, Idaho, News of September 14th has the following: Last Sunday's Review contained a statement from the president of the miners' union at Roseland intended to show that the mines there cannot be operated without union labor.

THE ABOVE INDICATES THE DIFFERENCE between the protection that is granted laborers in that country and this. The fact that they are so well protected much more rapidly than they did here, where the laborers and miners received but little protection until martial law was declared.

A DANCE.—The 20th Century club gave a very enjoyable impromptu dance last evening in Prof. Dreyfous' hall, in honor of Miss Kenning and Miss Irene Lockhart, who leave for the east tomorrow.

CASE OF CZOLGOSZ

THE PRISONER INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY ON MURDER CHARGE.

REFUSES TO ANSWER AND COUNSEL ARE NAMED FOR HIS DEFENCE.

BUFFALO, Sept. 16.—Leon F. Czolgosz, alias Fred Nieman, was indicted today by the federal court grand jury for the crime of murder in the first degree, in fatally shooting President William McKinley at the Temple of Music, in the Pan-American exposition grounds, at 4:15 o'clock on the afternoon of September 6th.

When arraigned before Judge Edward K. Emery in the county court at 5:36 o'clock the prisoner stubbornly refused to answer questions repeatedly asked of him by District Attorney Penney as to whether he had counsel or wanted counsel. The district attorney then suggested that inasmuch as the defendant refused to answer, counsel should be arranged. Judge Emery assigned Hon. Leon L. Lewis and Hon. Robert C. Titus, former supreme court justices of this city, whose names had been suggested by the Erie county bar association. Czolgosz will probably be arraigned again tomorrow morning to plead to the indictment.

District Attorney Penney presented the evidence in the murder case to the grand jury from 10 o'clock in the morning until a few minutes past 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Aside from the surgeons and physicians in the case no witnesses were sworn other than those who were in the Temple of Music and witnessed the shooting. At 4:15 this afternoon, just exactly 10 days after the murder, the grand jury voted unanimously to indict Czolgosz for murder in the first degree. At 4:45 o'clock the secret indictment was presented to Judge Emery in the county court. Then ensued a wait of an hour, but the rumor that the murderer was to be arraigned spread and in a short time the court room was crowded.

Czolgosz is of medium height, of fairly good build, and has light hair, but a 10 days' growth of beard on his face gave him an unkempt appearance. Apparently he feigned insanity, not stupidity, and his glance roamed about, but his eyes were always downcast. Not once did he look the county prosecutor or the judge in the face.

"Czolgosz, have you got a lawyer?" "Do you wish a lawyer?" "You have been indicted for murder in the first degree, do you wish a lawyer to defend you?" "Look at me and answer."

District Attorney Penney fired those at the prisoner, his voice rising with each succeeding question, but Czolgosz stubbornly refused to answer. The district attorney respectfully suggested that counsel be assigned to defend the prisoner and ascertain what he had better do as to his plea to the indictment before arraignment. Judge Emery then asked the prisoner before the bar if he had counsel, but got no answer, despite the fact that the judge was speaking, and that he must answer. The court then said: "Czolgosz, you have appeared for arraignment in the court without counsel. The law makes it the duty of the court to assign counsel. The association of our county has considered the matter and suggested the names of certain gentlemen of good character for such assignment. The court has seriously considered the question, and after such consideration has concluded to follow the suggestions made by the association. The court therefore assigns Hon. Loren L. Lewis and the Hon. Robert C. Titus as your counsel." Judge Emery directed the officers to notify the attorneys and remove the prisoner.

Czolgosz was handcuffed to the detectives who started out of the court room with him. The crowds surged after them, but found the exit barred by four strong policemen. Outside the crowded door the prisoner was surrounded by 12 policemen with clubs drawn and under the command of Captain Michael J. Rosen, jailer George N. Mitchell and several deputy sheriffs. The prisoner was hurried down stairs and into the jail across Delaware avenue. Whether he was left there for the night or taken elsewhere the police refused to say. District Attorney Penney said as he left the court room that Justices Lewis and Titus would be given an opportunity to talk with the prisoner, and that he hoped to arraign Czolgosz to take his plea to the indictment. The district attorney will also set the trial of the prisoner for next Monday at about 10 o'clock.

ROSSLAND ART WORK.—The Spokesman-Review speaking of art work at the Spokane fair says: "The Roseland (B.C.) exhibit which had been delayed in transit, was placed in the building and attracted much attention. In the professional class the work of Mrs. W. F. McNeill is receiving much praise. The pieces most admired are the head of a St. Bernard dog in oils. The dog grandisire was valued at $6,000. A piece in black and white landscape, with the dog and his little master in the picture, is also much admired. In the amateur class the work of Miss H. Adams is probably the best at the fair. It is a piece in still life representing a box of bone bonis, a wine decanter and a goblet. It is attracting as much notice as anything in the art exhibit. It is a remarkable piece of work. Miss Adams also shows a landscape scene in this taken from Beacon Hill park, Victoria, B.C. While good, it has not the merit of the still life.
