$1-Farmersville Reporter.—$1. THE REPORTER, now in its eighth year of publication, is the only paper of the kind published in the County of Leeds. It is a weekly paper, and is published every week, except on Sundays and public holidays. It is published at the office of the Reporter, 205 King St., Brockville, Ontario.

Thursday November 15th has been set apart as Thanksgiving Day. Capt. Wright, in command of the S. A. corps at Kingston, has been fined $20 and costs for obstructing a street by holding a meeting thereon. The case has been appealed.

PREBYTERIAN ANNIVERSARY.

The anniversary services in connection with St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Farmersville, held on Sunday, were largely attended. The Rev. D. Kellough, M.A., of Spencerville, well known as a powerful pulpit orator, preached the morning and evening sermons, and the Rev. J. Wilson, B.A., pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted the afternoon service.

The tea meeting last night was one of the most successful affairs ever held in Farmersville. The tables were tastefully and profusely spread, and so tempting were the viands that the persons present who did not eat more than was good for them of roast turkey, duck and chicken and other delicacies, combined with lovely pastry and rare fruits, were few and far between.

The programme which followed the tea was very enjoyable one. The speakers were the Revs. Richards, Wilson, Munro and Kellough, each of whom made more or less lively little speeches, in which they gave and referred to one another's remarks in a humorous but not necessarily more instructive. The musical part of the programme was provided by the choir, Mrs. Stevens and Miss Lovrin, who acquitted themselves well in the rendition of their solos. A very good number was the duet singing by Mr. H. Kincaid and Mrs. Gallacher, while the choir sang by Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Gallagher and Messrs. Kincaid and Clow was well rendered. Mr. Clow also gave a solo. The chorus singing by the choir was justly appreciated. Miss Mand A. Holsie added fresh to her reputation in the reciting of an oration on the subject of the heroes who died for the abolition of slavery.

The Rev. J. P. Parr, pastor, presided over the entertainment. We understand the meeting netted over eighty dollars.

A WORD WITH THE "RECORDER." The Recorder of Thursday had a paragraph in reply to some remarks contained in our issue of last week, in reference to the establishment of a fair at Brockville. The Recorder claims that we made some decidedly complimentary allusions to the town of Brockville, and sneered at the push our remarks referred to those formerly connected with the old Brockville E. D. A. Society and the managers of the Driving Park—nothing more; nothing less. Our contemporary further remarks:

"When one looks through the advertising columns of the Recorder the thought arises for some moments at Brockville, with very little ground for it, that the town is a very small one, and that it is very small indeed, as usually in fact, as his chance of securing any of the 'snaps' of the numerous fairs in this county, the printing for which, with unprofitable exceptions, has been done in this office for years."

Thursday November 15th has been set apart as Thanksgiving Day. Capt. Wright, in command of the S. A. corps at Kingston, has been fined $20 and costs for obstructing a street by holding a meeting thereon. The case has been appealed.

THE FALL ASSIZE COURT. A Very Light Criminal Docket.—A Short Synopsis of the Principal Cases of the Fall Assize Court at Brockville on the 15th inst., before Judge Rose.

The Grand jury was composed of the following:—R. J. Jolly (foreman), J. C. Boddington, Jas. Curry, Alexander, John Halladay, P. Jackson, C. Keeler, J. B. Leverette, Jas. Logan, C. L. Lamb, Stewart Montgomery, John Murphy, R. Myers, G. P. Maloy, P. H. McNamara, H. McKinley, R. Poole, P. Purvis, L. Rogers, D. Real and Wm. Wallace.

In his charge the Judge referred among other things to the insufficient accommodations at the court house, and he also strongly condemned perjury in cases under the Scott Act.

The Grand Jury's presentation contained a reference to the light criminal cases on the calendar—Queen v. Maggie LeBar, arson; Queen v. Jas. E. McDonald, perjury; Queen v. Philander Whelan, murder.

Maggie LeBar, an old reader will remember, has been awaiting her trial on a charge of setting fire to a barn of Alfred Taro, of the City Hotel, Brockville. The evidence was rather voluminous, and was in the opinion of the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. It appeared that the correct name of the delinquent is Mary Dolan. James E. McDonald was up on a charge of perjury, arising out of a prosecution of C. H. Parker under the Scott Act, in which Parker was acquitted, and subsequent to which McDonald was committed for perjury. The Grand Jury found no bill, and McDonald was discharged.

Philander Whelan, the Grand Jury threw out the indictment for murder, and found a true bill for manslaughter. Two witnesses were examined. Alexander Kane, who was with the boys at the time of the shooting, testified that he did not see the shot fired, but was told by Whelan that Philander Whelan shot him. Cornelius Kane, father of the first witness, deposed that the young man was brought to his house after the shooting. The deceased told him before his death that the shot was fired accidentally. The Judge asked if there was any stronger evidence against the prisoner, and being answered in the negative, he stayed further proceedings and ordered Whelan to be discharged from the custody. There was an affecting scene in court when Whelan regained his liberty. His mother was bathed in joyful tears, and repeatedly kissed her boy as they left the court.

The criminal cases were disposed of without a conviction, a fact which is greatly to the credit of the United Counties.

GILBERT v. GORRIS, et al.—This was a contested will case, in which considerable interest was taken. The parties to this case live near Delta. A large number of witnesses were examined, and from the evidence the following facts were adduced. Enos Gilbert made a will in December, 1876, leaving the bulk of his property to an adopted son, Merrick Golden. Hiram Gilbert, then about two years old, son of Enos Gilbert, only received a legacy of $500, and was given into the care of Hiram Griffin, with whom he was brought up. It was proved that the making of the will Enos Gilbert committed suicide by cutting his throat. Plaintiff sought to recover possession of the property, on the ground of the disability of the testator, Dr. McGee, of Elgin, testified as to some strange actions which led him to believe that deceased was of unsound mind. Being cross-examined, plaintiff indicated insanity were not so distinctly defined by witness. Dr. Sinclair, of Delta, also gave testimony on this point. He had been called in to dress the wound in the neck of deceased, and did not notice anything wrong with his intellect. The jury returned a verdict for defendants.

BEAMAN v. CARD.—This case, arising out of some sand, was expected to be spicy, but was postponed until the spring assizes.

MCGUINNESS v. C. P. R.—Plaintiff lost two fingers through falling over an obstruction at the station platform at Smith's Falls. His claim of damages on the ground that the platform was insufficiently lighted. Before the case had proceeded to a final verdict, the defendants consented to a verdict of $475 and costs.

FRAGO v. C. P. R.—Plaintiff claimed damages for injuries received in his employ of the company. He was the employ of Smith's Falls, and while coupling cars, fell on account of a hole in the ground, which was claimed to be the result of the defendants' negligence. The jury held that the company was not blameable, and returned a verdict against plaintiff.

MCGUINNESS v. WILSON.—The parties were partners in the construction of the Roman Catholic Church at Kempton, during the erection of which there arose serious disagreements between them. A verdict was given for the plaintiff, and a dissolution ordered, the accounts of the firm to be referred to Judge Reynolds.

THOMPSON v. BURNS.—The plaintiff sued for permission to foreclose a mortgage before its maturity, on the ground that by the action of debt the property was being seriously deteriorated. Verdict for plaintiff.

The court closed at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, and Mr. Justice Rose took train for Toronto the same afternoon.

COUNTY NEWS.

A Budget of News and Gossip.—Personal Intelligence.—A Little of Everything, well Mixed up.

ADDITION. MONDAY, Oct. 22.—Mr. A. McVaugh has been quite indisposed this last week. We hope it will not be serious.

Mr. Wilbert Lewis, of this place, has gone to Toronto to spend the winter. Every one wishing to exchange dry cattle for first class dairy cows should call on Mr. Walter Lewis, as he intends shipping to Montreal next week. Mr. A. Cole of Kitley, has opened out a cabinet shop in our village. We wish him success.

If there is anything in signs, wedding bells will soon ring in our village again. Mr. Ezra Wiltsie, an Addison boy, has gone to Farmersville, as clerk in Mr. Beach's store.

FRONT OF YONGE. MONDAY, Oct. 22.—The Presbyterian church in Charleston Lake. The Fall Assize Court at Brockville on the 15th inst., before Judge Rose.

Miss Alice Tennant, daughter of Mr. David Tennant, of Caintown, is attending the high school in Farmersville.

A jar of beans in the store of Mrs. Hoggaborn is bringing out a great many guesses.

This is the time of year to catch white fish in Charleston Lake. The fish will now be found on the shoals.

Mr. D. Tennant, whose barns were consumed by fire, has a large party of men in the bush getting out timber for a new one.

There were no bouquets of ambrosia locks taken from the head of any boys in school section No. 7, Caintown.

That was a dreadful calamity which happened to the property of Mr. D. Tennant last week. The devouring elements in one night left said gentleman almost a ruined man. All his grain, hay, and all his farming implements, harness, and one valuable horse, were swept away by fire.

WESTPORT. The Baptist tea meeting of the 10th inst. was a decided success, notwithstanding the falling of all the work on the local talent by the nonappearance of the Smith's Falls choir and of some of the expected speakers.

The cattle fair, as usual, was well attended by the rural population.

The Westport roller mill is doing an immense business this fall. Although running night and day Mr. Fredenburg fails to fill in full all the orders received. Flour sells as high as $6.50 per barrel.

Since the Westport and K. P. stage line has ceased to be a one horse affair and has passed into the hands of Messrs. Whelan & McCann, the public obtain that accommodation which was so long desired.

Our fishing inspector must be discharging his duties well, if we are to judge from the number of nets that pass through his hands.

Ed. Dier and A. McCann have moved into their new houses.

J. North and Wm. Stewart are pushing work on their new house.

The engine house at the station is nearing completion.

Mrs. Richard Green who has had a dangerous attack of typhoid fever is slightly improving.

Winifred Ripley, who has been setting up roller-mill machinery for a time the past year, has returned home for a time.

NEWBORN. MONDAY, Oct. 22.—Miss Bell Drin returned home from Portland, Maine, on a visit to her friends here. She will remain a few days before returning.

Hart Trooper's home is enlivened by the advent of another daughter born last week.

Mr. Walford, father of Mrs. Jas. Bell, with his son from the western States, are visiting here.

The Newboro sports went in for a hunting match on Saturday last with Jas. Lyons and Will Hart for captains with twelve men each. Lyons proved victorious by nearly 200 count. Owing to sad circumstances the supper was put off until some future time.

Mr. Horace Kilborn is visiting friends in Potoskey, Michigan.

A knock down took place last week in which one of our citizens showed considerable talent by the way he vanquished his antagonist.

Mrs. Scott, an aged and estimable lady, who for some years has made her home with her brother, Mr. John Poole, died last week. Her remains were taken to Elgin vault for interment. It is astonishing how many aged persons have died in this vicinity inside of a year.

On Saturday afternoon last our usually quiet village was thrown into a state of intense excitement, the occasion being the sudden death from heart disease of Mr. William Brewster, one of our most esteemed and popular citizens. He was in his usual good health and spirits and was engaged most of the day in drawing his coal from the station. While returning with a load there arose serious disagreements between them. A verdict was given for the plaintiff, and a dissolution ordered, the accounts of the firm to be referred to Judge Reynolds.

THOMPSON v. BURNS.—The plaintiff sued for permission to foreclose a mortgage before its maturity, on the ground that by the action of debt the property was being seriously deteriorated. Verdict for plaintiff.

The court closed at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, and Mr. Justice Rose took train for Toronto the same afternoon.
