The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER XLIII.
No knight would ride down the avenue to woo her. She wondered if many women gave their lives for love.
"Come to the library, Leah," said the general. "I like bracing, clear, frosty weather like this; but I felt a twinge in my right arm this morning, and I must not neglect it." Seeing that Hettie looked at him inquisitively, he continued: "An old wound is like an old friend. I received a sword-cut on this arm more than twenty years ago, and sometimes on very cold days it teases me even now; the moral of which is that it is easier to give a wound than to cure a wound. Do not leave your cozy corner, Hettie; I will send Leah back to you in ten minutes."
As they walked down the terrace together, Hettie wondered if the time would ever come when they would discuss matters before her, if she would ever be really one of themselves, if, when Leah was married, she would take her place in her uncle's confidence.
Not caring to watch Leah and her uncle, Hettie looked down the avenue, and saw a gentleman walking up to the house. She drew back, thinking that it was some visitor for the general and the next minute had forgotten about the occurrence.

CHAPTER XLIV.
Sir Basil walked slowly up the avenue; he looked tired and pale—not at all like a gay bridegroom. Shadows in his eyes told of sleepless nights, of weary days, of sad thoughts. Yet he had in his manner something of the man who has fought a good fight and has overcome. He reflected, as he walked between the long lines of leafless trees, that after all he was more fortunate than many men. He had known the rapture of true love, even though it had lasted so short a time. Many men lived and died without ever knowing one such hour as had fallen to his lot by the sweet southern sea. The glow of it, the warmth of it, would last him through life, even through the chill of long years.
How well he remembered the first morning that he came to Brentwood, and the beautiful face shining in the midst of the passion-flowers! What a fatal morning it had been for him! He could recall the peculiar expression of Leah's face the first moment her eyes met his; and she had told him since, that in that first moment she had loved him. How loving and faithful she had been to him ever since! How many men would give their lives for the love she lavished on him—and he

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. was so good! He made many good resolutions as he walked up the avenue, where the November sun shone brightly through the bare branches. He would be more loving to her. Never again should his thoughts rove to the fair, pale face that had lain on his breast for five minutes, never to lie there again. He would forget it, and think of the beautiful face that had smiled only for him. He would be loving loyal to her, and in time Heaven would send him peace. No man was either great or wise, or truly noble until he had suffered pain. It was the lot of every man; some live without pleasure, happiness, or love, but no one lives without pain.
"I will make it all up to her," he thought; and then through the leafless trees he saw the terraces and the pretty balustrade where the great clusters of passion-flowers grew in summer—the very spot in which he had first seen her; and, unless he was mistaken, she was there now. Yes, he could see the folds of a long black dress on the white stone of the terrace; he could see one white hand lying idly on the hedge where the brown tendrils looked withered and dead. She was surely there; she had told him she loved that spot best, because it was there she had seen him first. She was looking toward the house. He would go to her noiselessly and take her in his arms; he would kiss her and say loving words to her.
He went quietly up the great white steps, where the marble statues stood and the huge vases were filled with evergreens, round the great clusters of almond-trees to the corner: that Leah loved best. He smiled to himself. Ah, he was not mistaken!

A tall, slender figure stood there, with a black dress trailing on the steps, a white hand resting on the balustrade. He could not see her face or head, for she was looking toward the house. Should he call her name? If he uttered but one word, she would turn to him with her face all bright with glad and happy love. No; he would go up to her and clasped her in his arms and kiss her, while he made her guess who he was.
One arm was half round her, and his dark handsome head bent over her before he perceived that the beautiful masses of hair were of gold. The next moment the fair face seemed to flash into his own, a cry came from the pale lips, a great shock overwhelmed them.
There was a terrible moment of fear and pain, of bewilderment and surprise, followed by a deep silence that was full of agony. Then faintly from him came the name "Hettie!" so tremulously spoken that it was like a sigh.
"Hettie," he repeated, "is it you?" She shrank back with a little wailing cry, which seemed to go straight to his heart.
Could it be Hettie? Was that the golden head which had lain for a few happy minutes on his breast? Was that the fair pale face which he had covered with kisses and tears? Could it be the girl whom he had left by the sea, never to meet again?
"It is really Hettie," he said; and he laid his hand upon hers, as though he half fancied she would melt into thin air: "I cannot trust my own eyes. Speak one word to me. Are you really Hettie Ray?"

He had seen her last in her homely dress, plainly made of plain material, in the midst of her homely surroundings. Now she stood arrayed in costly silk, with great folds of crape, with a certain subtle change—more fair and lovely than ever in his eyes—Hettie still, but a very different Hettie from the simply-dressed maiden he had known at Southwood.
She raised her blue eyes and looked at him.
"Do you not know me?" she said reproachfully. "Surely I am Hettie Ray, just as surely as I am the most miserable girl in the wide world."
"Hettie, Hettie, what brought you here?" He made no attempt to caress her. He drew back from her, and looked at her with wild, troubled eyes.
"What brought you here?" he repeated. "I have tried my best; I have fought a fiercer fight with my heart than any man ever fought; and now, when I had begun to hope for peace, you rise from the very ground, as it were. Made me, Hettie, in Heaven's name, tell me what brings you here?"
The face before him was miserable enough; there was the very anguish of woe in the blue eyes.
"Do you not know," she said slowly, "who I am?"

"You are Hettie Ray," he replied.
"Alas, alas!" she cried, wringing her hands. "I begin to see now; I begin to understand. What have I done that Heaven should punish me so? What have I done?"
"Hettie," he said, gently, "I do not understand. What is the matter?"
"Who are you?" she cried. She stood before him, with her hands clasped, her pale face raised, hanging as it were on the words that were to fall from his lips. "Who are you?" she repeated. "Do not keep me in suspense. Tell me quickly."
Still no glimmer of the truth came to him. He wondered at the intense anxiety of her manner.
"I forgot," he said: "you never knew my name. I am Sir Basil Carlton of Glen."
She repeated the words after him, her white lips trembling. They brought no memory to her.
"Sir Basil Carlton!" she repeated. "I do not mean that. Who are you? Tell me for Heaven's sake, are you Leah's fiance? They said he was coming to-day. Heaven cannot be so cruel—you are not Leah's fiance!"
"I am Leah's lover, my poor darling," he said, sadly.
"And she loves you so! Oh! how has it happened? We were talking about you the other day—no, this morning; it seems to me long since she told me about her lover, and how she loved him. O, Heaven, how it all comes back to me! I told her such a great love could never be a happy one; but how little I thought—!" She paused, and then, after a minute's silence, she looked at him again.
"You," she said—"you are Leah's lover. She loves you so dearly, she said she should die if she were parted from you. And you—I remember you told me that you did not love her, that it was circumstances which had led to the engagement. And she loves you so! Oh, hapless Leah, oh, miserable, thrice-wretched me!"
She shrank back, crouching against the withered sprays of the passion-flowers. All her strength and youth seemed to leave her; her white face and wild eyes were terrible to see.
Half frightened because of her despair, he drew nearer to her.
"Hettie," he said, "what is Leah to you? Tell me who she is."
"Do you not know?" she said. "Have they not told you?"
"Told me what?" he cried. "What is it?"
A sickening sense of insecurity came to her. If neither Leah nor Sir Arthur had said anything to him, what could she say? Was he to know all about her? If she told him that she was Leah's sister, and that they were both daughters of Martin Ray, what would happen?

Her heart grew faint with dread and pain. She held out her hands to him with an imploring gesture.
"Do you not know?" she said. "Can you not guess who I am?"
"How can I? Why, Hettie, what need is there for mystery? You can have nothing to fear in telling me. What brings you, Martin Ray's daughter, to Brentwood, and what are you to Leah?"
"You cannot guess?" she said. "You have no idea."
"None. I cannot guess. What are you keeping from me, Hettie?"
"My story and Leah's," she replied; "and I cannot tell it to you. You must ask them to tell it."
In his sudden surprise and complete bewilderment he never thought of what Martin Ray had told him of his two daughters; all power of thought and memory had gone from him.
"Hettie, you have lost faith in me!" he said.
"No; it is not that. I—see, there is some one coming. Do not let me be seen."
The quick footstep of one of the men-servants was heard on the terrace. Without a word, Sir Basil went to meet him.
"Sir Arthur would be glad to see you in the library at once, Sir Basil," said the man. If he felt any curiosity about the figure crouching against the balustrade he gave no sign.

THE ART OF CHEWING.

Your whole system depends for its health and strength on the stomach. The stomach, in turn, depends on the teeth. The very foundation of health is therefore laid at the first step in food conversation—the act of chewing. Food improperly chewed enters the stomach in a wrong condition, and it brings about a wrong fermentation which causes flat, indigestion, then kindred ailments. The proper chewing of the food will prevent these evils. Chew your food plentifully.

British Premier Takes Unusual Course.

Storm of Protest Aroused--Canadian Finance Minister Delivers Budget Speech--Round the World by Air--Thirty Thousand Mile Flight Started.

LLOYD GEORGE RAISES STORM. LONDON, May 24.

Lloyd George's decision to put up Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Minister of War, to relate the results of the Geneva Conference, reserving his own speech until he has heard all his critics have to say, has raised a political storm. The Prime Minister's opponents contend the country has a right to hear an account of his stewardship from himself, and even the papers supporting him are urging him to reconsider his decision. Labor and Independent Liberal Members decided to-day not to speak in the debate until the Premier was heard.

CANADIAN TARIFF PROPOSALS.

OTTAWA, May 24. Making his Budget Speech to-day, Hon. W. S. Fielding stressed the inadequacy of the present tax system and indicated that additional tax burdens were being imposed. A tariff reduction of 2 1/2 to 5 per cent, on agricultural implements and fishing supplies will be made. The British preference will be increased in some respects and an offer of preferential rates to Australia is made. Regarding reciprocity with the United States, Mr. Fielding said the Government would await developments in Washington. A tax of ten cents per gallon on mineral waters and soft drinks was announced. The cigar excise rates are raised from $5 to $9 per thousand and that on transfers of stock is raised from 2 to 5 cents per share. The sales tax is to be increased 50 per cent. The duty on cotton, woolen, rubber, and knitted clothing and on boots and shoes is reduced 2 1/2 per cent. The confectionery tax is 5 per cent, and ale and beer 15 cents per gallon. Mr. Fielding said further loans would be necessary at no distant date, and it was planned to make the next loan a purely domestic issue. Mr. Fielding said it was not proposed to reduce the tariff on American goods except on agricultural implements and one or two similar items. Most of the reductions proposed were made under British preference provisions, and not on a reduction of the tariff applying to the United States. The Government has decided that the provisions of the last taxation proposals requiring foods to be marked with the country of origin was undesirable, it had never been enforced and would now be repealed. The Government had also decided that the provision of the last tariff dealing with valuations of imports from countries where the currency was depreciated below fifty per cent, was an unwarranted interference with trade. It meant Canada had been charging duty as high as some cases as 1000 per cent on German goods or that Canadian importers bought from Holland or England instead of direct from Germany. The Finance Minister declared Canada was willing to enter into negotiations with the United States for better trade relations, but pending the outcome of the Fordney Tariff Bill Canada would hold her hand.

Tarvia Prevents Dust; Tarvia Preserves Roads.

In the United States and Canada Tarvia is the standard by which all other road-binders and preservatives are judged.

Tarvia is made in three grades—"Tarvia X" for road construction, "Tarvia B" for preservation of road surface and "Tarvia K-P" for repairing roads. Both "Tarvia B" and "Tarvia K-P" have been used in St. John's Municipal works for several years.

"Tarvia B" actually enters the road surface, acts as a cement and resists the wear and tear of traffic. By cementing together the dust particles "Tarvia B" prevents the formation of dust.

After the application of "Tarvia B" to a road surface a thin layer of sand should be applied to take care of the excess liquid and to prevent tracking. This layer of sand will prevent horses from slipping and will prolong the life of the road surface.

Broken stones are not as satisfactory or as economical as sand for this purpose.

A road after being treated with "Tarvia B" does not become muddy in rainy weather, but sheds the water and dries off quickly after the rain, leaving the road in admirable condition while untreated roads are still deep with mud.

"Tarvia B" surfacing should be applied annually but only when roads are in good condition and free from surplus dust. All holes and depressions should be repaired with fine broken stone and "Tarvia K-P".

When "Tarvia B" is applied by mechanical sprinker, care should be taken to have men with brooms and hand sprinklers go over the ground so that excess "Tarvia B" may be brushed out and not allowed to run waste and so that bare spots be treated and the entire road surface secured.

A loose, "happy-go-lucky" application is sheer waste of time and money. "Whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well."

"Tarvia B" is admirably adapted to the treatment of sidewalks and walks in parks, hospital grounds and cemeteries. Wooden plankings of bridges will last longer if treated with "Tarvia B". Fence posts, sills and houses etc. will be greatly benefited by treatment with "Tarvia B". Further particulars will be gladly given upon application to—

Three-Act Comedy

STAGED AT THE GRACE IN AID OF NATIONAL WAR MEMORIAL.

The play "Oh, Susannah," which has been referred to in your columns on more than one occasion, under the direction of Mrs. W. T. Bellamy, was staged by a troupe of local amateurs on Tuesday, 16th inst., in the Academy Hall, and was a great success—the proceeds, $266, in aid of the National War Memorial, having totally eclipsed the highest expectations of those most interested. The whole performance was splendidly rendered, each performer acting most creditably. Miss Gertrude O'Brien, as "Aurora"—(the maid) was without doubt the star of the evening. This young lady, who is fast becoming no stranger to the footlights of our local stages, certainly excelled on those occasions. Mrs. Bellamy, in good style played the part of Aunt Susannah—a very lovable and prime-looking spinster. Mrs. O'Hara (The Irish landlady) was well represented by Miss Carmel Casey; while the Misses M. and K. Lee, as Pearl and Ruby, daughters of Mr. Plant, acted to perfection "his precious jewels." Miss N. Duff made her appearance as a very charming bride for John Sheppard, the perplexed patient M. D., of 13 Marmalade St., Pimlico, which part, in his usual clever way, was taken by Mr. Jas. A. Power, whose talents in this line are well known. Mr. R. B. Ledrew appeared to good effect, as "Tupper" the doctor's butler, while Mr. A. J. Walsh, in extra good style, filled the role of Mr. Plant (A South Sea soldier), who is always ready with their services for the public. The returned soldiers acted as teachers which was pleasing to note. After the performance dancing was engaged in until 1.30 a.m., which brought a close to the very enjoyable evening for the large gathering present.

Mr. Col. T. Nangle, who had motored from St. John's for the occasion, addressed the audience between the second and third acts, thanking them on behalf of the performers, for their patronage. It is needless to add that the Padre's remarks were listened to with rapt attention. His presence, in itself, called forth no small amount of cheer. During the intervals, candy and ice cream were for sale, and selections from time to time by the British Band, who are always ever ready with their services for the public. The returned soldiers acted as teachers which was pleasing to note.

After the performance dancing was engaged in until 1.30 a.m., which brought a close to the very enjoyable evening for the large gathering present.

Mrs. Bellamy's effort has been a splendid one, and we congratulate her and her colleagues on the success of the play "Oh, Susannah."

It may be added that Padre Nangle was so pleased with this performance that he expressed the wish of having it repeated in St. John's.—COR.

Census Evaders Were Shot.

A census is a thing that is about as old as human government, though we get the word "census" from the Romans among whom the word "census" means to estimate or make a count, and hence came "census," meaning a measure of inhabitants. The people had to be measured or "enumerated" or numbered for purposes of taxation and military service and the old Romans had their "census," which was made at varying intervals.

It is most likely that the ancient Egyptians had their census, perhaps an annual census, though, of course they called it something else, for each inhabitant had to pay a tax and give an account of the way he made his living. In Herodotus's history it is set down:

"Under the reign of Amasis, Egypt is said to have enjoyed great prosperity, both in respect to the benefits derived from the river to the land, and from the land to the people, and it is said to have contained at that time 20,000 inhabited cities. Amasis it was who established the law among the Egyptians that every Egyptian should annually declare to the governor of his district by what means he maintained himself, and if he failed to do this or did not show that he lived by honest means he should be punished with death. Solon, the Athenian, having brought this law from Egypt, established it at Athens, and that people still continued to observe it as being an unobjectionable regulation."

The first census of the United States was made in 1790, though there were censuses taken in the colonies at an earlier time. It has been set down that the first census in England, covering the whole kingdom, was made in 1801, but it is a matter of record that a census of all England was taken in the year 859, or very close to that year. This census may be seen in an old document called the Tribal Hidage, printed in Birch's "Cartularium Saxonicum" (a card of chart of the Saxons). It gives a list of 23 old English districts, the number of families in each and a sum total, which, slightly corrected, gives the number of families in all England at that date. There were then 156,000 families, or about 1 1/2 million souls, in England.—Kansas City Star.

What of the Future?

No matter what the result of the conferences between the Government and the Railway Company, the public have at least some small satisfaction in that trains were started on Tuesday evening, and the running continued. Thus the deadlock has been somewhat relieved and freight and passengers will receive transport for so long as the present agreement, which apparently is but temporary, lasts. It is rumored in Water Street circles that the Government has agreed to pay the Company the balance due on guaranteed loss up to June 30. Other reports state that the present is but by way of interim arrangement to facilitate traffic long held up. So far as can be learned, however, and the Government press is responsible for the statement, the decision of Tuesday has nothing whatever to do with the policy being pursued, either of Government or Company. At the same time something must have been accomplished to induce the Company to resume operations. In the face of their announcement a few days ago that they were determined to wash their hands of the whole service, it is somewhat strange that they should release their trains on a temporary operation. The question, therefore, naturally arises, have the claims for arrears of guarantee against losses 1921-22 been met by the Government and paid over.

There is an air of mystery about the whole proceedings. No explanation has been made by the Government: no statement has emanated from the Company. All that the people are aware of is that trains are moving. Under easier circumstances this might be sufficient to allay anxiety as to the future of the service, but at the moment it is not compatible with good business that the people—who in the fiscal settlement have to pay—should be kept in the dark. Some have gone so far as to say that the Government has bought out the Company. That may or may not be the fact that Mr. R. C. Morgan is again on his way to Newfoundland gives color to this latest rumor. Even though a limited service will be maintained is not sufficient to allay suspicion that a new deal has been put through. The Premier declared in the House of Assembly on Monday last when replying to a question of Sir Michael Cashin that he hoped to be able to do some operating of the railway before Mr. Morgan arrived. Tuesday's movements of express and shore trains give color to this, but what has the Colony been let in for? What liabilities may have been incurred from this sudden change of mind on the part of the Company? It is not well that this mysterious conjunction of Government and Contractor should be kept secret. The people have to pay, no matter what the temporary agreement consists of, and it is up to the Prime Minister to outline his plans to-day.

It is significant, and to be carefully noted with regard to the intentions of the Railway Company that they did not apply for a renewal of the Canadian subsidy paid them for Cabot Strait Steamship Service—North Sydney to Port aux Basques. This subsidy which is so much per trip per annum expired in March last. This matter was discussed by the North Sydney Board of Trade at a meeting of that body held when the news of the suspension of railway and steamboat traffic between Newfoundland and Cape Breton reached that town. North Sydney is exceedingly jealous of its connection and trade with Newfoundland, and great anxiety existed there lest because of the tie-up a loss in traffic might be a consequence. The subsidy paid by the Canadian Government to the Railway Company is several thousand dollars, collectable per trip of the steamer or steamers operating across Cabot Strait. That the Company did not make application for a renewal at the termination of the subsidy period points to facts, that if urged, are incontrovertible. What is the inner meaning of this neglect to seek such a substantial sum? Was the whole course of procedure as adopted from May 15, figured out and premeditated? On the face of the North Sydney Board of Trade allegation, it looks very much that way. Again let the people consider the decision of the Shipping Dept. to dispatch the s.s. Eagle to South West Coast ports. All in all there must be something brewing. What that something may be made public in the House of Assembly this afternoon, when the Prime Minister makes his promised statement. Meanwhile let the country practice a policy of watchful waiting.

While I have no objection to any fair criticism of me as a politician or a statesman, I very much object to your attacking me professionally as a lawyer, and interfering with my means of livelihood. As a prominent member of the Government, and, especially, as I am the one solely responsible in the public eye for any advice on law to be given the Government, your assertion that I am a lightweight in law, and may be confidently counted on to do the wrong thing, is a direct slur upon my professional reputation and my means of living, and one which with any respect for myself, or my professional firm, I cannot let pass unnoticed.

Unless you publish as a leading article a retraction of your libellous statement before Friday next, I shall take it that you are prepared to prove it, and shall give you a chance to do so in the Supreme Court.

Yours truly, W. R. WARREN.

We gladly publish the above letter. Everybody in this Colony knows of Mr. Warren's excellent standing at our local bar, and, therefore, it would be absurd to suppose that the world complained of ("lightweight") could do him a harm. Besides, as a word of comparison, is it really defamatory, even in Mr. Warren's own opinion? He is not a "lightweight" as a Newfoundland lawyer, but compared with Birkenhead, Haldane, Simon, etc., he would himself, perhaps, plead guilty. And why should he take our words so specially to himself. He is not the only "prominent" member of the Government, or the only one responsible for advice on law points. The Premier and the Hon. Mr. Footo are also lawyers, and prominent, and they are as responsible as he. However, we apologise for using the word "lightweight" and substitute "heavyweight," with the addition that Mr. Warren is a competent and reliable practitioner, in whom persons having legal affairs demanding attention can implicitly rely.—(Editor Telegram.)

Concert Broadcasted.

TELEGRAM EDITOR DELIVERS SPEECH. Mr. C. T. James, editor of the Telegram, has the unique distinction of being the first newspaperman to have a speech broadcasted to owners of wireless telegraphy outfits. The speech was on current topics and was delivered during the concert arranged by Messrs. J. J. Collins and Brown of the Marconi Company on Tuesday night. When the concert had concluded several people telephoned that the speech had been heard clearly and distinctly. In the course of a few days, through the energy of Mr. Collins, those who may be "listening in" will receive a surprise as he has a special treat in course of preparation. Active movements are being taken to procure apparatus sufficiently powerful to receive the New York concerts and when this is accomplished there is no doubt that radio telephony will become as great a hobby in Newfoundland as it is now in the United States. For an interesting, profitable and entertaining hobby there is nothing that can compare with radio telephony.

A Letter and a Withdrawal.

23 May, 1922. Messrs. W. J. Herder and C. T. James, Evening Telegram.

Dear Sirs.—On Saturday, May 20th, you published a leading article in large type, entitled "Highly Dangerous," in which occurs the following sentence: "One thing only is certain in this connection, and that is the unhappy fact that the Government of the day is composed of lightweights in law and statesmanship, and may be confidently counted on to do the wrong thing."

While I have no objection to any fair criticism of me as a politician or a statesman, I very much object to your attacking me professionally as a lawyer, and interfering with my means of livelihood. As a prominent member of the Government, and, especially, as I am the one solely responsible in the public eye for any advice on law to be given the Government, your assertion that I am a lightweight in law, and may be confidently counted on to do the wrong thing, is a direct slur upon my professional reputation and my means of living, and one which with any respect for myself, or my professional firm, I cannot let pass unnoticed.

It has a most refreshing effect and is very pleasant. Price 40 cents a bottle. Personal.

R. C. Morgan, former Chairman of the Railway Management Committee, is due at North Sydney to-night and will leave by the Sagons for Port aux Basques. The express is due here on Saturday night and Mr. Morgan will probably assume complete control of railway operations on Monday.

The Railway Situation.

BOOK DEBTS AS SECURITY FOR GOVERNMENT GUARANTEE.

The agreement for the temporary operation of the railway while negotiations for a settlement are pending will be signed to-day or to-morrow. In the meantime all trains are again in motion. The Bank of Montreal had advanced the Reids sufficient funds to meet the April payroll on Government guarantee, said Sir Richard Squires to the Telegram this morning, and he further stated that the Company had hypothecated a proportion of their book debts as security. All wage cheques have been paid for the month of April as a result of this agreement. What the ultimate settlement of the railway problem will be is a matter for conjecture. The Government are still faced with only two alternatives, litigation or purchase, and which is likely to prove more advantageous to the country has yet to be discovered. Mr. R. C. Morgan's return appears to be proof positive that the Government either intend to buy out the Reids or to run the railway temporarily until a decision is reached. Purchase and operation by the Government of the railway would necessitate a big initial expense as the rolling stock needs replacement.

Unveiling of Memorial Window at the Kirk.

Next Sunday morning St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will be the scene of a very interesting service. His Excellency the Governor will unveil the memorial window to the men of the congregation who gave their lives in the war. The window is a very beautiful and original piece of art and was specially designed for St. Andrew's and made by one of the oldest and best known firms in Scotland. Arrangements are being made to make this a very interesting service. Rev. E. S. Coffin, R.A. of Harbor Grace will take charge of the dedicatory portion of the service. Rev. Robert J. Power will take the address which will be an interpretation of the window. Prof. Moncrieff Mawer and his choir have been at work on the music for some time and can be trusted to give a good account of themselves.

HIS DIARY.

May 23.—At once comes news that the trains will move to-day, being that a settlement is made for the moment. I to take out my motor coach but find how the air is out of a tyre, whereas I look for the hole and find it not. At last comes a man from the garage who shows me how to change a rim, and I will do it myself another time. The trains did run this evening, but my wife angry, being how her new gown is not yet come. May 24 (Empire Day)—Lay long, being a bitter, cold day, and dull, so that I did content myself with reading a new book. At night, to the Casino play-house, where I saw "Sweethearts" which I have never seen before, and is one of the best acted plays ever here, and variety of dancing and music, that I ever saw. I did hear how a fellow scribe did lose his heart to o of the players, and wish him well of it. On coming home I did rave so of the beauty of the ladies in the play that my wife did command me that I go to no others, but I will do it and she will not know.

Well Merited Honor.

LOCAL WRITER MADE MEMBER OF DIALECT SOCIETY.

Mr. H. F. Shortis, whose writings given to the public through the medium of the Telegram have won him unstinted praise, has been elected to membership in the American Dialect Society. The President of the Society is Professor J. W. Bright of Harvard University, and Mr. Percy W. Long, also of Harvard, the Secretary. Mr. Shortis's proposer was Mr. George A. England, the American novelist and journalist who made a trip to the ice fields in S. Terra Nova, and his second the Secretary. A letter to Mr. Shortis from Mr. Long speaks of the "considerable assistance you afforded Mr. England during his recent visit," and refers to "your very valuable collection of material relating to the history of Newfoundland" which he regards as a "priceless store of data, and which will probably never be duplicated." Mr. Shortis has already completed four volumes of a popular history of Newfoundland and has another in preparation. It is to be hoped that this will shortly be given to the public in book form.

New Road Ordinance.

STREET BARRED TO MOTORISTS. From now on LeMarchant Road is barred to motorists from 6 p.m. until 11 p.m. Sundays. This pronouncement was made by Judge Morris in the Magistrate's Court this morning when fixing a motorist five dollars for exceeding the speed limit. This will appear a hardship to many motorists who are accustomed to use this road when returning to town from the country on Sunday nights. While the ordinance was made in the interests of the public it would be a great deal wiser if the Council made decent sidewalks on this road and compelled pedestrians to keep to them. It will be interesting to know whether arrangements will be made to enable the many motorists living on LeMarchant Road to leave or return to their homes on Sundays.

Newfoundland Medical Students.

ALL PASSES SUCCESSFUL EXAMS. Amongst the passengers arriving by S. E. Kyle was Mr. Jas. McGrath, who is returning from his pre-medical studies at St. Francis Xavier College, Antigonish, N.S. Mr. McGrath proved very successful in his studies and led his classes in English, Chemistry and other subjects. After his vacation he will take up his studies at another centre. Mr. Joseph Murphy, late of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who is also studying medicine at St. Francis Xavier, another Newfoundlander who also did well in his class. He likewise showed up well in the field of sport and during the winter played defence on the school team which won the championship of the Maritime provinces. Other medical students who arrived by the Kyle are Messrs. J. J. Kennedy, son of Contractor Kennedy; Louis Conry and Gerald Strapp. These are taking their courses at McGill University. Mr. Chas. Fox, son of Mr. James Fox, another successful student at McGill. He will take his degree in medicine this year and probably will take up practice in St. John's on his return.

Athletic Carnival.

DE LUXE AT CANON WOOD HALL.

Excellent entertainment was given by those who attended the Athletic Carnival and concert which Mr. Holmes produced in Canon Wood Hall last night. The chairman was E. C. Earp. Songs were rendered by Miss Hilda Holmes, Mrs. C. P. Garland and Misses. Recitations were by Mrs. H. Overbridge and Mr. P. O'Neil in their own inimitable style. The remainder of the program consisted of exhibitions on parallel and horizontal bars by Holmes and his clever assistants. The balancing feats performed by Holmes were wonderful and drew considerable applause. The item was "Piffo de Luxe" by Fitz. Startz and Gasp, the latter giving a very humorous performance. Light refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment. In thanking the audience for their presence and assistance for their excellent entertainment the chairman said that it was an unique occasion as it was the first time in which St. Thomas's had interests with King George Hall. The good work performed by the audience was deserving of praise and support, and he hoped that Thursday night's audience would be equally as large.

"Sweethearts."

GOVERNOR COMPLEMENTS DIRECTOR.

(By Our Dramatic Critic.)
 For a Musical Comedy Company to win the approval of a St. John's audience is an undoubted proof that its members possess unusual ability. The Manhattan Musical Comedy Troupe, should consequently feel well pleased with the unstinted applause which rewarded their efforts during the first four performances of "Sweethearts" at the Casino. I have heard that none of the Company had ever played together before and although for this reason, the show was shortened considerably there was not an imperfection to be seen. In fact I have no hesitation in saying that a better Company never visited St. John's. I liked Miss Ruth Oswald very much. Her voice has a quality which charms all hearers and her acting is superb. I want say too much about her looks or those of the other fair members of the Company as my wife happens to be looking over my shoulder as I write. All I can say is that if ever I envied anyone, it was Billie Clifton when he found his "daughters." Miss Marguerite Terry was the charming soubrette and her delightful dancing won well deserved applause. Mr. James Liddy made a perfect "Prince" and won a host of female admirers. At the risk of disappointing these, however, I must state that I have heard he is married. Messrs. Henry White and Billy Clifton were very good as were also the other male members of the Company. Mr. J. Paul Callan, in particular, played the role of an English fop with great success. His Excellency the Governor occupied a box and at the conclusion of the performance, sent for the stage director, Mr. Callan, and congratulated him on the success of the show. Patriotic numbers were rendered during the evening. A revised version of this plotless but entertaining show will be run for the remainder of the week.

Who led all the applause at the conclusion of Miss Geraldine Edgars magnificent violin solo? Our best critics. She has taken them all by storm.

Obituary.

MR. THOMAS MURPHY.
 It is with regret we record the death of Mr. Thomas Murphy, son of Ellen and the late Nicholas J. Murphy, which occurred yesterday morning, after a long and tedious illness, borne with truly Christian fortitude and resignation to the Will of God, and after having received all the rites of Holy Church. "Tom," as his friends were pleased to call him, who has been cut down in the very prime of life, and in the midst of an exceptionally useful career, was a young man of fine presence and charming personality which won the respect of all who knew him and had the privilege of an intimate acquaintance. He seemed to possess all those qualities of mind and heart in a man, so that his memory will not soon be forgotten. The deceased received his education at the Christian Brothers' School, St. Patrick's Hall, and upon leaving that institution, he was appointed to the position of page in the House of Assembly. After occupying the above office, he was appointed Clerk in the office of the Registrar General of Births, Marriages and Deaths, where he remained until compelled to retire, owing to delicate health, about six years ago. Never of a robust constitution, he remained at his post as long as possible, and about twelve months ago, it was seen that his health was gradually declining, and six months ago he was compelled to take to his bed. During his term in the public service, he was exceptionally courteous and obliging, and the call of duty never found him unwilling or reluctant. He leaves to mourn a mother, four brothers and one sister, to whom the Telegram extends sincere sympathy in their bereavement.—Regulest in pace.

Empire Day Program.

AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

Empire Day was formally observed at St. Mary's Parish School yesterday morning, the visitors being the rector, Rev. A. B. Stirling and Hon. E. M. Mosdell, M.B. There was a splendid attendance of scholars who joined heartily in the singing of the National Anthem with which proceedings were opened. Then followed the saluting of the flag, with the pledge of loyalty. Mr. H. J. Bishop, principal of the school, called upon Dr. Mosdell to address the boys and girls and the youthful assemblage then listened with rapt attention to a brief and informal talk on the history and development of the Union Jack and the significance of the Christian emblems embodied therein with the lessons to be drawn from the colors of the flag. The rector followed with a short and earnest address on the significance of the small things of life in the formation of the characters of our manhood and womanhood. Towards the close of the proceedings Mr. Bishop announced that he was in receipt of a handsome prize from the Prime Minister Sir Richard Squires, for English literature and composition. The winner was declared to be Olive Carter to whom Dr. Mosdell then presented the roll-up. Special additional features were the choral singing of the Newfoundland Ode; a remarkably well rendered recitation, The Flag, by Queeble Vallis, and the recitation by the scholars in unison of Kipling's Recessional. The program and arrangements were very well carried out under the supervision of Mr. Bishop and his assistant, Miss Reeves.

All the Gallery girls are a-quiver when James Liddy comes on the stage. Isn't he handsome? Maybe they don't envy Miss Oswald in those close-up scenes. Tum, yum! And the boys would give something to be in James' shoes.

Well Worth Seeing.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I wish every young man in this city could be at Canon Wood Hall this evening and see the Gymnasium and Athletic exhibition by Mr. Holmes and his pupils. The performance last evening was really excellent. It was difficult to believe that the young Newfoundlanders taking part had been only a few months in training. Their physical development was very marked, each man looking in the very pink of condition. Mr. Holmes is to be congratulated upon the success attained by his gymnastic class at the Institute.

Yours truly,

Coffee When Boiled Loses Its Flavor.

The housekeeper who prides herself on her coffee realizes that the delicious flavor characteristic of the great American beverage when properly brewed cannot be coaxed out of the bean by haphazard methods.

For the past two years chemists in the department of biology and public health at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have been studying coffee for the purpose of establishing facts of practical value to the coffee maker. One of their most important conclusions as set forth by Prof. S. C. Prescott, head of the department, declares emphatically that coffee should never be boiled.

The reason for this according to Prof. Prescott, is that the boiling causes certain chemical changes which emphasize the bitter elements in the coffee bean and give coffee a harsh taste which does not appeal to the average palate.

BUT BOIL YOUR WATER.

The method he recommends is, first, to bring the water to a full boil in a separate vessel, then to remove it from the fire and add the ground coffee. After the coffee grounds and the water are mixed, the infusion should be kept hot but not permitted to boil. This is the principle utilized in all drip coffee pots, but it may be applied to an ordinary coffee pot if the infusion is cleared by straining through filter paper or muslin cloth.

Prof. Prescott recommends that coffee should not stand on the grounds longer than is necessary to extract the delicate flavoring oils which are quickly released when the ground coffee comes in contact with water at the proper temperature.

Real Strength in Spider's Web.

AND BEES, WASPS AND EVEN A MOUSE.

The strength of the spider and of materials which he employs in building almost incomprehensible in the case of the insect and the strength of his thread are taken into account. Some recent experiments were reported by a government naturalist on this subject quite surprising. A spider's web was made by a spider which weighed 14 milligrams supported a weight of four grams, or 70 times the weight of the spider. When a spider spins a web down to the ceiling or from the branch of a tree, and we see him descending and seeing the thread at all, we are perfectly sure that he is not in any danger of falling but that he has every other spider's web down to his invisible rope. Knowing this fact with respect to spider threads, we need not be surprised that the threads of a web, in fact, are very strong. A very considerable strength is able to hold bees and wasps, and is very powerful in proportion to their size, and to bend and break under a weight of ten times their own.

tedly, and now and then viciously, bit or stung the tail of the mouse. The animal struggled, but failed to free himself.

After a time the spider began to operate its web in such a way as to lift the mouse clear of the floor and suspend him in the web. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the mouse's feet no longer touched the floor. In the early evening he was nearly an inch in the air.

At 9 o'clock in the evening the mouse showed signs of death. He was, indeed, still alive, but made no movement except when the spider stung him. Next morning he was quite dead and hung nearly three inches above the floor.

The spider's effort in lifting and stinging the mouse was evidently not to kill the mouse, but to free him from the web—that is, to bring his weight to bear upon it and to stimulate him to struggle. The spider did not want the mouse; he wanted him out of his web.

Another observer reported to the same society that he had witnessed the capture of a small fish by a large black spider in the water of a ditch. The fish struggled vainly to get away from the spider, but plainly could not have done so if the watcher, more merciful than the other observer, had not interfered and separated the antagonists.—Washington Star.

POP ANSON.

The grand old man has gone to sleep, to rest his weary frame, and as our motto we should keep his watchword, "Play the game." "A game's not finished till it's done." Pop Anson used to say; and more than once the game was won. That's what we need now, I've read the works of many sages, of sages gray and wise, and in those words no rede appears more grateful to the eyes than Old Pop Anson's "Play the Game," when things were all askew, and players, lacking lofty aim, were groggy, here and blue. Confucius sat upon a fence and reeled off sound advice, and ancient Greeks, possessed of sense, put up such useful sayings, and Romans, too, in olden times, made words of wisdom fly, in epigrams and sounding rhymes that were not meant to die. And those old patriarchs, indeed, piled up a wealth of sense, but none gave forth a finer rede than Anson's "Play the Game." Let's paste this motto in our hats as down this world we slide, and in our bellies fewer bats will stirwar habitude. And it will make our quarrels brief, and we will dodge a lot of grief that makes the sliding hard. The winds will sigh, the rain will drip, above his sleeping frame,

When Meteors Bump Us

WE ARE CONSTANTLY BOMBARDING OUR EARTH WITHOUT HURTING US. Once upon a time people used to think it was wicked to believe that it was possible for stones to fall from the sky upon the earth. Statements to that effect were branded as hapless and wholly untrue, says M. Camille Flammarion in his book, "Death and its Mystery."

Yet meteorites are continually falling upon the earth, and always have been. Tens of thousands of people must have seen them.

Many of them are of very considerable size. One that fell not long ago in America was estimated to weigh between 2wt. and 3wt. It burst into fragments at a height of about a thousand feet above the earth, and the sound of the explosion was distinctly heard over an area of fifty square miles, being followed by a rush of whirling fragments through the air.

About one hundred of these were found embedded in the earth; the heaviest piece recovered weighed just over 20lb., and there were several weighing 4lb. and over. This particular meteorite was a mixture of metal and rock, all fused together. Some Meteors Don't Come to Stay. Another very large meteorite fell into the sea once, and narrowly escaped hitting a ship.

This gave rise to considerable correspondence in the newspapers as to the chance of ships being sunk by such a happening.

Of course, it might happen. But an expert reckoned that the odds against it were as one hundred thousand millions to one.

On another occasion an immense meteor passed from the Irish Sea right across Ireland. But it was not seen to fall anywhere.

This gave rise to the theory that some very large meteors may not land upon our planet at all; but fly off into space again before hitting us. This theory is supported by the fact that another even larger meteor once travelled right across Europe, from the North Sea to the Mediterranean.

What became of it if it did not fly off again into space?

Most meteors are made either of pure iron, or a mixture of iron and stone fused together. But lumps of pure copper, beautifully bright and polished, have been found in certain meteorites.

A bouffant dance frock of navy crepe pique has a white embroidered yoke and cap sleeves and allover perforated in embroidery.

A very smart sports coat is of the straight variety, made of knitted goods, striped in yellow and white, and trimmed with white brushed wool. Beautiful combinations of colors play an important part in midday's wardrobe. Such combinations as rose with yellow, sapphire bands on lavender, and periwinkle, blue with tan, have been seen.

Legislative Council.

TUESDAY, May 23.
The House met at 4 p.m.

The third reading of Bill entitled "An Act further to amend Chapter 22 of the Consolidated Statutes entitled 'Of the Customs,'" was deferred.

A Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 35 of the Consolidated Statutes entitled 'Of the Postal and Telegraph Services'" passed third reading with amendment.

The Bills "An Act to amend the Act 5 Geo. V, Cap. 10, entitled 'An Act respecting Stamp Duties,'" and "An Act to facilitate the Reciprocal Enforcement of Judgements, Orders, and Awards in Newfoundland and other parts of His Majesty's Dominions" passed third reading without amendment.

Hon. Tasker Cook sat as Chairman of Committee on the Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 108 of the Consolidated Statutes entitled 'Of the Protection of Animals.'" During the second reading of this Bill there was much discussion and amendments were suggested.

Hon. Geo. Shea urged the passage of the Bill contending that the law was designed more to apply to outside shippers of cattle than to local people. He said that the Bill had passed a special committee of the Lower House and imposed no hardship. He thought that no harm could be done by erring on the right side.

Sir Patrick McGrath said that the carrying of cattle was better attended to than years ago, when the animals were of so much less value. He had made enquiries as to the method of carrying cattle by the Kyles and he was told that the practice was to make the run across from the Canadian shore when the weather was favorable. The animals were carried in the well deck, tied head to the rail and pouched off. He was informed that the period allowed by the Bill (May 30 to Oct. 1) for carrying cattle on deck was too short and should be extended. He suggested amending the date to read from May 1st to Oct. 31st.

Hon. Eli Dave thought that the Bill would impose unnecessary hardship. He said that probably not 20% of local vessels had a hatch as large as required by the Bill. He would like to hear of sufficient and good reasons of cruelty to animals under present carrying conditions before he would vote for the drastic measure now proposed. Where cattle were landed by steam which there might, he thought, be a necessity for a 7 x 9 hatch but where cattle were hoisted by block and tackle there was no need for a 7 ft. wide hatch, as that width would allow two animals side by side to come through.

Hon. Tasker Cook, who left the chair to take part in the debate, said he agreed with what both the previous speakers had said. The Bill was so worded that it appeared to him it was desired to prevent cruelty to any number of cattle over 10, but that no provision was made for a less number. The amendment as suggested was put in the bill, after which it was moved on its last stage.

The War Pensions Bill also passed the Committee stage with some amendments to the verbiage.

Sir Patrick McGrath gave his hearty support to the bill. He thought that war pensions was one of our most justifiable outlays. It was thought by many to be a heavy burden, but in comparison it was perhaps one of the lightest. The cost, to this colony is about three dollars per head whilst in Canada the pensions and re-establishment cost the people of the Dominion $6 per capita and in the British Isles the assessment totals 45 shillings or $10.20. In reference to the war pensions burden in the old country Sir Patrick said that efforts to relieve the strain were being made by the raising of a loan which would be passed on to the next generation. In a similar manner relief from our burden could be accomplished. The speaker made reference to the pensions from the U.S. Civil War. The number of pensions being paid was surprising and although the war ended sixty years ago the payment of the last pension showed an increase over that of the previous year. The attention of the Government leader was drawn to the fact that there was practically no fire protection for the documents in relation to the war records of the $500 men who went overseas. The records were stored in the Militia Building but were not kept in fire-proof safes, and should a conflagration take place all this valuable data would be lost.

The Bill entitled "An Act for the more effectual transfer of certain properties to the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of St. John's," was given second reading, after which the House adjourned until Friday at 4 p.m.

"The Scoffer", a Tale of Human Interest.

A DRAMA OF WONDERFUL CONFLICTS AT THE NICKEL.

A picture that is considered by the "wise men" of motion pictures to be the most wonderful dramatic narrative of a decade is the attraction at the Nickel theatre tonight. The title of this film is "The Scoffer" and is an Allan Dwan production. The story unfolds in extraordinary in many ways, which concerns a God-fearing physician whose love turns to vicious hate through the cruelty of fate. What happens to this man as a result of his change of belief and how he is finally made to realize that his first attitude is, after all, the only tenable one, goes to make up a narrative which is said to be gripping and full of suspense. Dr. Stannard Wayne is the God-fearing physician who regards his every service to sick humanity as a solemn duty and he rejoices every time he is able to help anyone regain health. Norma Talmage, the queen of them all, will be seen at the Nickel Theatre, commencing Monday next in "The Passion Flower," her latest and greatest dramatic offering for First National Exhibitors.

"Dinty" is at the Crescent To-Night.

John Murray Anderson's "League of Nations" has nothing on Wesley Barry's League of Nations in the Great Marshall Nellan production, entitled "Dinty." One of the best attractions of a decade is "Dinty." It is the tale of a fighting newboy, who has an old Irish mother to support. San Francisco's Chinatown is the locality for some of the scenes, and the photoplay is replete with dramatic as well as amusing incidents. Among the unique characters who appear in support of Wes Barry are a Chinese youngster and a jolly little pickaninny. Romance, pathos, humor and thrilling adventure makes this one of the most extraordinary productions ever filmed. It is a motion picture triumph for both Barry and Nellan, and cannot fail to delight every man, woman and child who attend the popular Crescent tonight. This film will be shown three days, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Another important item on the bill is the song interpretations by Miss Donn. This in itself is an attraction too good to be missed.

THE GALENA.

Last night we heard a lady sing a glorious lullaby.

A simple little song of faith drifted through the sky.

The music of a violin, the voice of a choir.

The coding of a merchantman, singing his desire;

The air was filled with words of hope and joy.

And these when we were once came down for us to hear.

Now there's a little piece of shining bright

Which is the radio's soul, I think.

If it's touched just right

The air gives up its harmonies

Nothing will it give

Unless you reach the very spot

It is sensitive.

Men call it the galena, and the boys, very wise,

Will tell you in its tender radio's secret lies.

Now save the wire is on the

the songs are all unheard

For the galena's cold and dull

Not catch a word.

The air will still be beautiful music and with mirth,

But every lovely wave will pass leaving you chained to the

To be in tune with what's above

like the life we live—

This bit of metal must be where it is sensitive.

Perhaps our souls are much like

Perhaps we walk along

Blind to the beauty of the world

deaf to its song;

Perhaps a cry for help goes out somehow very near.

But with our soul's galena dull

call escapes our ear.

Who knows how much of joy is through all the years we

Because we fail to keep our alive and sensitive.

Empire Day Concert.
AT PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE.
 On Tuesday afternoon the Presbyterian College held its usual Empire Day concert. The programme was as follows:—
 The Recessional—(Kipling.)
 My Land—(Junior Pupils.)
 1st Half Empire Catechism—(Senior Pupils) with the following innovation:—
 Q.—To which of these do you belong?
 A.—To Newfoundland.
 Q.—What's Newfoundland sometimes called?
 A.—Being the oldest of Britain's colonies it is sometimes called "the corner-stone of the British Empire."
 Q.—Tell me another special reason why we should be proud to belong to Newfoundland?
 A.—Because, both on land and sea, Newfoundland did more than her share to help the Motherland in the Great War.
 Newfoundland Ode—(All.)
 Hymn—"Lord bless our Fatherland"
 —Miss Glendinning.
 2nd Half Empire Catechism—(Senior Pupils.)
 Flag of Old England—(Senior Pupils.)
 Address by Mr. Harold Mitchell.
 Scots who hae—(All.)
GOD SAVE THE KING.
 Mr. Harold Mitchell, who was introduced by the Headmaster as "a veteran who had fought for Newfoundland and Empire and was now willing to speak for Newfoundland and Empire," chose as his subject "Patriotism." Interesting, vigorous and manly in tone, yet couched in language which the youngest could understand, the address was eagerly listened to by every boy and girl and by a number of parents also present. That Mr. Mitchell will receive a welcome from the boys and girls of the Presbyterian College the next time he consents to address them is very certain.

 Messrs. EIGHTON & DEMPSEY are standardizing on Kitchen's control for their towing launches on the West Coast of Africa. Harbor Grace Notes.
 Since the tie-up of trains on Monday last, and a week having passed, we are beginning to become accustomed to prevailing conditions, but all await with interest each day the arrival of the public messages received from time to time, to ascertain new developments, if any, relative to the railway situation. Passengers had been at the station on Tuesday morning to board the train for different points along the line, but found to their surprise that no trains were running. On Wednesday a special arrived from Brigus Junction, which brought along a small foreign mail. She passed through again later in the afternoon to the Junction. Our first local mail since Monday came along on Thursday night by the S.S. Watchful. She brought along some passengers also, and, after calling as far as Lower Island Cove and other places, had quite a number on board on the return trip to St. John's. The mail car arrived on Friday afternoon from around the Bay, and again about 2 a.m. yesterday. The deadlock still continues, yet we are not entirely shut off by any means.
 Mr. F. C. Archibald, M.H.A., and Miss L. Thompson, arrived from the city by the S.S. Watchful.
 Mr. E. Simmons was a passenger to St. John's by the S.S. Watchful, which ship left port at 2 a.m. Friday.
 Mr. James Stowe, of St. John's, who has been in town for the last few weeks, returned home by the S.S. Watchful.
 Mrs. Jas. Pike and Mrs. (Capt.) Rideout were also passengers by the S.S. Watchful for the city.
 Mr. William L. Courage, who had been working at Alexander Bay with the Terra Nova Sulphite Co., returned home last week. He left by the S.S. Watchful on Friday to connect with the S.S. Rosalind enroute for Buffalo, where he has secured employment. His many friends here wish him good luck in his new sphere of work.
 Miss Jessie Sheppard is at present in St. John's on a visit.
 The body of the late Mrs. W. H. Sheppard, who passed away at Montreal on a recent date, was brought to town by the special train which arrived on Wednesday. Her son, Leonard, accompanied the remains. Funeral took place on Thursday from the residence of her son, Mr. Edward Sheppard, Harvey Street, and was very well attended. Interment was made in the Church of England Cemetery, Rev. W. R. J. Higgin of officiating.
 Mr. Ambrose Pike, an old and respected resident of Bear's Cove, passed out from earthly scenes on the 5th instant. Owing to advanced years, for some time he has been laid aside, and the end came at the good old age of 88. He was a fine type of man, one of the good old stock which is fast passing away. For over 25 years he acted as Sexton of the Methodist Church, and will be remembered by the older folks especially. An aged widow survives him at the old homestead, also five sons, Horatio, Charles and Allan residing abroad, Mr. Geo. Pike of Bear's Cove and Harvey (since last fall) living at home; three daughters Mrs. Leander Parsons of Hamilton, Ont., Mrs. Edward Taylor of Bristol's Hope, and another daughter living in New Brunswick, Canada; also a large number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. On Sunday, 7th inst., was laid in Mother Earth the mortal remains of our old friend, Rev. W. H. Browning performing the last rites. After life's warfare he sleeps well. "Until the day dawn and the shadows flee away."
 The death of another old landmark has occurred recently, that of Mrs. Mary Cahill, widow of the late Patrick Cahill. Her niece, Miss Nellie Ryan, had been living with her at her home on Carbonar Road. The funeral took place on the 12th inst. Interment being made in the R.C. Cemetery. R. I.P.

 Mr. Nicholas Perry, who had been very ill all the winter, was out of doors during the week past and is fast improving in health.
 Mr. Jas. Pike of Harvey Street, who was confined to his home for some weeks past, is now able to get out again.
 Motor boat "E. L. Stewart" arrived from Bell Island this afternoon with coal for the Marine Dock.
 Schr. "Hiawatha," Capt. Richard Crocker, went on dock on the 17th inst. and came off again at noon today.
 Schr. Laura J., Mabel Levette, Gladys and Change were docked during last week.
 Schr. Geo. Westley, Capt. D. J. Laita, was docked on the 18th inst. and is now ready to be launched again.
 Schr. "Annie C. Hall" is at present on Dock. Schr. Dixmude, Perfect and Dorothy Dröver are awaiting Dockage, and will, no doubt, be docked shortly.
 Messrs. E. Gosse, L. Hayden, T. Jones, E. Foley, H. Curtis and E. Davis went to St. John's last week by the schr. "Coronation" to connect with the S.S. Rosalind for points in Canada and the States.
 The members of Lodge "Diamond Jubilee," No. 236, S.O.E.B.S., paraded to Christ Church yesterday (Sunday) evening and attended Divine Service. On the 24th inst., Empire Day, the members of this Lodge are celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversary with a banquet to be held in their hall on that evening—O.R.

PROMPT ACTION AVERTS DISASTER.
 The presence of mind of Mr. S. Ed. dy, who used his coat to beat out the flames from burning gasoline saved a motor car from destruction at the Red Taxi Company's garage on Tuesday afternoon. A car had been brought in with a leaky gasoline tank when some person, unconsciously threw a lighted match on the ground causing the petrol to burst into flames which spread to the tank. Only prompt action averted a serious fire.

THE LOST FRIEND.

Did you ever mislay a friend without being able in any way to account for the accident? Here's the sort of thing I mean. You have a perfectly good friend someone you enjoy and like and whom you feel quite sure enjoys and likes you. Whenever you plan to see each other, or whenever chance brings you together you meet with delight and cordiality and straight-way you have a hundred things to say. And then one day you meet your friend and behold, the cordiality that you expect does not come to greet ness in her manner, she smiles with her lips instead of with her eyes, asks formally about your health, and the health of your family, instead of bursting out with something she has been waiting to tell you, and turns at the first opportunity to talk with her neighbor on the other side. But You Do Care! Perhaps you convince yourself that you imagined that coldness, and call her up the next day and suggest that she take that walk that you have long been planning. Whereupon she is awfully sorry-but she has got engagements for every day in the week. That settles it. You hang up the telephone and tell yourself that you don't know what's the matter with her, and you don't care. Your own. Instead there is a coldness of its unkindness lost and probably some added. Leaving a Scar. Sometimes of course your friend will tax you with saying what you did, and the sore will be opened up and by the aid of nature and what ever ointment you are able to apply, will heal (but very likely) leave a scar! Alas sometimes you yourself will tax her with her coldness and bring the trouble to the surface that way. But the commoner outcome is unexplained coldness on her part, offense on yours, then coldness on yours, then a lost friend.

Is it worth it? Do not those who prefer loyalty to the fleeting pleasure of being witty or caustic at their friend's expense choose the better part? Criminals of the Air Without the Law. MURDER DONE IN AIRPLANE UNPUNISHABLE FOR LACK OF JURISDICTION OVER AERIAL TRANSPORT. WASHINGTON, May 16, (Special).—Murder committed in an airplane in flight from Mitchell Field, Long Island, New York, to the government field at Washington might go unpunished because existing laws cannot be applied in such a case. This is the opinion of legal authority. It is stated at Army Air Service headquarters, in view of the non-existence of Federal regulation and control of aerial traffic. The slayer would escape on the plea of "non-jurisdiction" since it is practically impossible to establish jurisdiction in a flight traversing portions of the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and the district of Columbia. Conflict over the question of jurisdiction in a criminal case of the kind would certainly arise in any action to punish a person known to be responsible, it is declared. A marriage or other contract of agreement, or a birth or death during a flight over a group of states would involve difference of legal opinion, it is pointed out, for now no laws on the statute books cover situations which may become common in these days of increasing aerial transport. A seaplane operated beyond the three mile limit is absolutely beyond the law, and criminal acts committed during flight over the sea are wholly immune, the legal experts assert. Federal control and regulation of aerial communication and transportation is the only solution for conditions which will become extremely troublesome should the states attempt to enforce local regulatory statutes, it is said. Aerial traffic being practically interstate, it is intimated that it must be regulated by the Federal government as interstate transport on land. Such control, the lawyers say, will in no way conflict with state police rights. Even airplane landing field is regarded as an interstate port, and in view of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America and other organizations supporting the "Wadsworth Hicks bill for Federal control of the air, such control alone can solve problems already pressing. The argument is also advanced that landing fields are potential international ports and as such must come under Federal jurisdiction. In support of this contention it is declared that ship lines will in the near future be making trips from Europe without stop into the interior of the United States. A passenger may make an interstate trip say to St. Louis and there embark for a continuous voyage to Paris. Complications arising during air passage over a combination of state and Federal routes are likely to be innumerable and, it is said, would cause a maze over the question of jurisdiction no court or courts could ever hope to disentangle. The Federal aerial regulation and control bill which has been passed by the Senate is still before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Chairman Winslow is confident, however, that it will be enacted into law before the present session of Congress is ended. The bureau of control provided in the bill would be under the Department of Commerce.

Complications arising during air passage over a combination of state and Federal routes are likely to be innumerable and, it is said, would cause a maze over the question of jurisdiction no court or courts could ever hope to disentangle. The Federal aerial regulation and control bill which has been passed by the Senate is still before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Chairman Winslow is confident, however, that it will be enacted into law before the present session of Congress is ended. The bureau of control provided in the bill would be under the Department of Commerce.

Fashions and Fads.

Embroideries in pearls, jet and bright silks are used on afternoon and evening gowns. A gown of light colored material has sleeves and side panels of the same dark material. Many gingham frocks show narrow bow ties for the neck, which are made of the material. Old-fashioned printed calicos and embroidered, unbleached muslins make quaint little summer frocks. The ribbon sash promises to be in much demand for light frocks of orange, yellow or dotted Swiss. Flannel tatters covers the under-arms and forms a motif across the crown of a black straw hat. There are now tweed dresses and some of homespun which have fringed collar, cuffs and hem. Many white sweaters for summer-wear show a blocked design, the blocks being outlined in a color. A frock of embroidered batiste is worn over a foundation slip of tatters and washed with caution. A hat of sulphur straw is faced

Two Noted Revolutionaries.

At the age of 72, the death of M. Francis Kossuth occurred at Budapest on May 25, 1914. He was but eight years old when his famous father, Louis Kossuth, the great reform leader, had to flee from the country after the collapse of the Hungarian Revolution in 1849. The Austrians made the small boy a prisoner and kept him for a year in the fortress of Pressburg, as a "political offender." On his release he was taken to his father, who had been living in exile at Kutchin, in Asia Minor, and when the great patriot came to England, he brought his son with him and placed him in an English school. He afterwards visited France and Italy, and spent in the latter country several years as a civil engineer. It was not until the death of his father at Turin in 1854, that Francis Kossuth returned to Hungary and devoted himself to politics. He became the leader of the Party of Independence, and waged a strenuous war against the Austrophil Cabinets until in 1866 a National Cabinet lasted three years, and on its recognition Francis Kossuth once more went into opposition. Owing to illness he did not play a prominent part in public life for some years before his death. He was twice married, first to an Englishwoman who died in 1837, then to the widow of his friend, Count Bentousky.

The Will

There comes a time in the life of every man when he must leave his worldly possessions to the care of another. In anticipation of this, therefore, the first obligation resting on an individual who is possessed of property is the making of a will, and this should be done before the capacities become impaired by time or the ravages of disease. THE MONTREAL TRUST COMPANY will act as Executor for Estates large and small. It is thoroughly equipped to efficiently and economically undertake the administration of Estates and will carry out the intentions and desires of the Testator, bearing in mind at all times the best interest of the Estate.

"I am glad to take this opportunity to tell you of my complete satisfaction with this machine. It is exactly the typewriter for an author like myself. It is so light and small that it can be taken anywhere, and it is so sound and foolproof that it is always in good condition. I have needed a typewriter for years, but I could not find anything sufficiently portable, hardy, willing and easy, until I discovered Corona."

How Ironize Yeast

FREE! Mail Coupon for Famous 3-Day Trial Treatment. Watch the Quick Results.

Makes Huskies out of thin, nervous run-down men

Everyone has heard of the seeming "miracles" performed by yeast. And now Science announces the discovery of a remarkable new process—a process which enables yeast to build weight, increase energy and clear the skin often in just half the usual time! This process is known as the process of ironization. It is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, which millions are now taking with really astonishing results in many cases.

Watch the Quick Results!
If you are thin—if you are run-down, pale or scrawny looking—if your skin is blemished by humiliating pimples, blackheads or boils, mail coupon below for the Famous Three Day Trial Treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. Take these remarkable tablets—two with each meal. Then watch the results! Pimples, blackheads, boils, etc., usually begin to disappear almost "while you wait." You will feel an almost immediate increase in your ability to tackle hard work or play. And as for putting new, firm flesh on your bones—many thin folks report gaining from five to nine pounds on that very first package.

How the New Process Works
Yeast, as everyone knows, contains certain mysterious elements which seem to have a wonderful effect on health. But the trouble with plain yeast, or so-called "vitamine tablets," is that they do not go far enough to bring 100% results. For while yeast contains these elements, experiments prove that some other agent is needed in order to convert them into new energy, firm flesh and health.

Certain types of iron, Science tells us, are of great value in converting the food we eat into living cells and tissue. So working on this problem, Scientists finally discovered the process of ironization. It is this process which enables you to derive from yeast ALL of the wonderful benefits it holds for you.

Get IRONIZED YEAST today. It is sold at all dealers on our positive guarantee of satisfactory results from the first package—or your money instantly refunded. You are cautioned against accepting cheap inferior imitations of IRONIZED YEAST, which in most cases are nothing more than plain inefficient mixtures of ordinary yeast and iron. Always insist on genuine IRONIZED YEAST. It is the only way you can be sure of getting the best.

Why We Wink.

WHEN WE DO IT WE WASH OUR EYES.

Have you ever tried to see how long you could go without winking? You will find it very difficult to carry on for more than a minute or so, and very uncomfortable, too.

This winking business, you see, is very necessary. It is, in fact, an arrangement of Nature for keeping your eyeballs clean, moist and comfortable.

The eyelids might be called the automatic oiler of the eye, only the fluid is not oil, but a somewhat salty mixture which is secreted by the tear glands.

There is one of these glands at the inner corner of each eye. If you examine your eye by pulling down the lower eyelid with the finger, you can easily see the mouth of this little gland, no bigger than a pin prick. The passage from it connects with the nose, and that is why, when you have a bad cold, your eyes water so constantly.

It is absolutely necessary that you should wink, and wink fairly often. But you don't need to think about it. Your sub-conscious self sees to that. It is a process which, for want of a better word, we call instinctive. Winking is accomplished with even less conscious effort than breathing.

Some people wink more often than others. A nervous person may even wink as often, perhaps, as 50,000 thousand times during the sixteen waking hours of the day. In such case the eyelids travel about 25,000 inches in the day, and so we arrive at the rather startling fact that, in the case of a person fifty years old, his eyelids have travelled a total distance of more than seven thousand miles.

A wink is not a long operation. It occupies altogether about two-fifths of a second. Even when you are reading, the process continues, but so rapid is the wink that you are not conscious of any interruption.

Haig and Barrie.

ST. ANDREWS INSTALLATIONS

The ceremonies in connection with the installation of Earl Haig as Chancellor and Sir James M. Barrie as Lord Rector of St. Andrew's University took place on Wednesday. Students of both sexes in their scarlet robes and trenchers, making splashes of colour in the sunshine, were early astr to impart vivacity to the formal entry into the town of Earl Haig. The Field-Marshal motor-ed from Mount Melville with his most. Dr. Younger, the Chancellor's Assessor, and was met at the boundary by Dr. Irvine, Principal of the University, and Mr. Eason, president of the Students' Representative Council, and a large body of undergraduates. The motor cars were dispensed with and an open landau was requisitioned, but the horses were removed and their places taken by willing students, who manned the rope and enthusiastically dragged the carriage to the Principal's house. Here a family group gave welcome to the famous soldier, who then thanked the students for their attentions.

Earl Haig later unveiled the war memorial, which has been erected in the form of an arch inside the University Chapel.

The function of installing the Chancellor and the Lord Rector took place in the Volunteer Hall in the presence of a large and distinguished gathering, with the students making their presence audible in the familiar manner. Principal Irvine occupied the chair at the outset of the proceedings, and performed the ceremony of installing Earl Haig as Chancellor.

Sir James Barrie, in his speech, was delightful and arresting. His matter was whimsical, mystical, elusive, with here and there a touch of biting wit and stinging sarcasm. His theme was "Courage," and he applied it to youth acquiring a knowledge of the things that cause world clashes.—Glasgow Weekly Herald, May 6th.
