Grand Anglican Bi-Centenary Celebration

Opening of New Cathedral at Halifax and Church Congress Presided Over by Numerous Bishops and Dignitaries.— Celebration at Annapolis Royal

The month of September, 1910, or more particularly the first week in that month is to be memorable in the annals of the Church of England in Canada, and especially in the Diocese of Nova Scotia.

The first, because it will mark by a special celebration, (the anti-dating one month) the 200th anniversary of the first Church of England Service in Canada, which service was held by the Rev. John Harrison, at Port Royal (now Annapolis Royal) on Tuesday, October 10th, 1710. In Nicholson's Journal of the Seize and Surrender of Port Royal occurs the following entry:—

"Tuesday the 10th (Oct. 1710) was solemnized a day of Thanksgiving for the success of Her Majesty's Arms in reducing Port Royal etc., etc., being so appointed by the General. After Divine Service, which was performed in the Chapel by the Reverend Mr. John Harrison, Chaplain to Commodore Martin (and now 1st. Chaplain to the Garrison by Commission from the General) a sermon was preached by the Reverend Mr. Samuel Hecker, Chaplain to the Hon. Col. Reading's Marines."

Second, because the 3rd Cathedral of All Saints, Halifax, now in the course of erection, will be formally opened with impressive ceremony.

Thirdly, because a Church Congress is to be held, (though of course on a much smaller scale) after the great pan-Anglican Congress held in London, England, two years ago, and attended by delegates from all parts of the world. Thus, September will see not only notable events, but also notable people in Nova Scotia.

The programme will be somewhat as follows:—

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3rd.
THE OPENING OF ALL SAINTS' CATHEDRAL

7 a. m. Holy Communion.

8 a. m. Holy Communion

11 a. m. Morning Prayer.

Preacher, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Courtney.

2 p. m. Luncheon at the South End Rink.

Addresses of welcome from the Dean and Chapter, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, His Worship, the Mayor.

Replies by representative visitors.

4.30 p. m. Garden Party at Government House.

7.30 p. m. Evening Prayer and Organ Recital.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 4th.

7 a. m. Holy Communion.

8 a. m. Holy Communion.

11 a. m. Choral Celebration.

Preacher, the Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop of London.

3 p. m. Litany—Children's Service.

Preacher, Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of the Philippines.

4.30 p. m. Men's Mass Meeting.

Chairman—Bishop Courtney
Speaker—Rt. Rev. Bishop

Taylor-Smith, Chaplain General of His Majesty's Forces.

7 p. m. Evensong.

Preacher, the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Massachusetts.

In addition to this there will be special services in the Parish of Halifax and Dartmouth with the following as preachers morning and evening respectively.

St. Paul's, Bishops of Glasgow and Tennessee.

St. George's, Bishops of Washington and Duluth.

St. Mark's, Bishop Taylor Smith, Bishop of Huron.

Trinity, Bishops of Ontario and Niagara.

St. Matthias, Bishops of Central New York, and Toronto.

Dartmouth, Archbishop Matheson, and Bishop of Indianapolis.

Bedford, Bishop of Algoma.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, (5th, 6th, and 7th) the Church Congress will be held, meetings being held in St. Paul's Hall, and the Masonic Hall. With regard to this as some mistaken ideas are prevalent it may be well to say that it is not a business gathering, nor a Synod in any sense of the word. It is rather a gathering of people from all parts of the world, but especially from among the Anglicans of the Dominion of Canada, for the careful and intelligent discussion of living religious issues of the day, most of the subjects to be discussed being of real interest to Christians of every name and denomination, such subjects as "The social evil," "The liquor traffic," "The church's attitude toward socialism," "The child and the State," "The child in the home," "In the school," "In the Sunday School," "In the church," "Our relation with other Christian churches," etc., etc.

In all there will be twenty Congress meetings at each of which a leading Bishop will preside. There will be three selected speakers, taken from the leaders of thought of the Anglican church in England, Scotland, The United States and Canada, who will be allowed twenty minutes each. The remainder of the time being taken up by volunteer speakers from amongst those who send up their cards, at the selection of the chairman.

As the expenses connected with such a gathering as this are necessarily very large indeed, Special Congress Tickets are being issued at $5.00 each, which may be obtained from the Rev. C. W. Vernon, Halifax and for the holders of these tickets a seat will be reserved at two of the opening services of the Cathedral. Otherwise a charge of 25c. will be made for each Congress meeting. The $5.00 ticket will admit the purchaser and a friend to all Congress meetings.

There will, however, be eight public meetings for which no tickets will be required or charge made beyond a collection, as follows:—

The Rural Science School, Truro N. S.

At the Rural Science School for teachers, which was convened on July 12th, there was an enrolled attendance at this school of one hundred and thirty-six teachers, of whom fifty-three took Physical Drill alone and eighty-three took classes in connection with the Rural Science course, which is provided each summer at these institutions. This summer session was a very successful one and the teachers in attendance put in a most profitable part of their holidays studying plants, birds, insects, rocks, soils, and, at the same time, observing the operations in connection with the Agricultural College Farm.

The underlying idea of this school is to give the teachers in attendance a deeper knowledge of science related to agriculture and other industries, so that they can reach these to better advantage, more especially in the rural schools, and thus lay a foundation for more intelligent application of agriculture in the various spheres of industry. When teachers have completed the full course laid down in connection with this Rural Science School, which will require from two to three vacation periods, as well as interim study they will receive the Rural Science Diploma, and when evidence is given that they are putting their teaching into practice, will receive an extra Government grant.—Truro News.

Monday:

4.15 p. m. Children's meeting at All Saints.

8 p. m. at St. Paul's church.

8 p. m. at St. George's church.

Tuesday:

4.15 p. m. Women's Meeting at Ladies' College.

8 p. m. at All Saints.

8 p. m. at Trinity church.

Wednesday:

8 p. m. at All Saints.

8 p. m. at St. Paul's church.

The Children's Service and Men's Mass Meeting at the Cathedral on Sunday afternoon will also be quite free, as also seats at the Cathedral opening services not claimed fifteen minutes before the commencement of the services.

Amongst the speakers at these meetings will be—

The Bishop of London, the Philippines, Moosonee, Fredericton, Washington, Bishop Taylor Smith, Chaplain General of His Majesty's Forces, and several distinguished laymen.

On Thursday, September 8th.—The members of the Congress will visit Windsor where a Special Convocation of Kings College will be held for the conferring honorary degrees on some of the distinguished visitors. There will also be speeches by four Bishops representing the Canadian American, English and Scottish churches.

On Friday, September 9th. The bicentenary celebration will conclude with a special gathering at Annapolis Royal, the scene of the historic service held in 1710.

We hope to give our readers full particulars of this gathering next week, simply observing now that there will be an open-air service in the evening with the Right-Rev. the Lord Bishop of London, Dr. Wainwright-Ingram, as preacher. As this Bishop is such an unique personality doubtless all who possibly can, irrespective of creed, will make a pilgrimage to Annapolis on that day to see and hear him.

In connection with the above, excursion rates will be granted by ordinary trains on all railways at one fare return. For Halifax good for going Sep. 1st to 5th and good to return till Sep. 15th. For Annapolis Royal Sep. 8th and 9th good to return to Sep. 12th, for those returning Friday 9th a special train will leave Annapolis for Kenville and intermediate stations at 10 p. m.

NOT MURDER BUT SUICIDE.

The Sydney herder has resulted in a Coroner's verdict of death by suicide in a fit of temporary insanity. E. J. Griffin, of Quincy, Mass., was found, with his throat cut, in an alleyway.

War on the Tussock Moth

Principal Fearon Urges Immediate Action to Rid Halifax and Nova Scotia of this Destructive Pest which is Already Depredating Shade and Foliage Trees.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

Sir:—Last year's neglect to take some action regarding the destruction of the Tussock Moth proves very conclusively that one year's seeding means nine years' war; and if this action is not taken now and this fall and winter, we shall most assuredly have a very serious pest next summer.

These insects are now in the larvae stage and much could be done at present if one and all united to kill them wherever they appeared, otherwise they will be in millions in another week or two as the full winged moth.

A NATIVE AMERICAN.

This caterpillar is a native of North America and extends its ravages as far as the North of Nova Scotia. It feeds on every species of trees, shade and fruit alike, except the conifers. The insect passes the winter in the egg state which eggs are laid by the wingless female moth in late September or early October and hatched the following May and June. They pass through two stages or months and each change brings with it a new appearance.

FIRST INDICATION.

The first indication of their depredations is the skeletonizing of the leaves by the newly hatched young. After passing to the second stage the insects begin to eat holes in the leaves and in the next stages the whole leaf is devoured with the exception of the midrib and veins, as can be seen by a glance at the foliage of any of the hundreds of our own trees already destroyed in around the City. They will even eat bark or the tips of the twigs which break off and fall to the ground with their leaves.

The young insects after being hatched crawl down the trunks of the trees which they have denuded of their leaves and will travel a considerable distance to other trees which they promptly proceed to devour. Others spin themselves down or are carried on the clothing of persons and spread very rapidly.

AN IRRITATING PEST.

The hairs on the bodies are barbed and often produce considerable irritation and even inflammation by the insects crawling over the delicate skin of the trunk and shoulders. In the more southern localities there are two or three generations in the one season, but there has not been sufficient observation to prove if this is so in Nova Scotia.

Far more important than our ornamental and shade trees are those of our forests and if it is true, as reported, that in the case of the Gipsy spruce there has not been sufficient observation to prove if this is so in Nova Scotia.

At any rate if the beauty and usefulness of our shade and fruit trees are to be preserved next summer it is most essential that a vigorous raid be made on the pest now and in the approaching fall and winter.

EASILY DETECTED.

As the eggs of this insect are of a glistening white color and are generally placed on the trunk or lower branches of the trees they can therefore be easily seen and destroyed. With one exception this is the only shade tree insect which has a wingless female, and which of course lays the eggs, and consequently banding the trees to prevent their ascending has been found to be a good preventive.

Perhaps the most effective remedy is arachnid poisoning by means of a steam sprayer as used where the pest has appeared in the United States.

PROMPT ACTION NEEDED.

Whatever is going to be done should be done promptly and thoroughly and this can only be accomplished properly by the City authorities. Surely it would be well to consult Professor Cummings, of the Agricultural College, Truro, to find out the most modern and effective way to, at least, prevent the spread of this pest, and I am sure under the able direction of Mr. Power of the Public Gardens, much could be done this fall and winter towards preserving the beauty and usefulness of our shade and fruit trees.

Shelburne Wants a Steamship Line

Exasperating residents of the town of Shelburne are in correspondence with the Eastern Steamship Company with a view to inducing that corporation to give the town a direct steamship service with Boston. For a service such as the town asks for would cost the company in the vicinity of $100,000 per year. Failing to attract the American company, efforts will be put forth to have a Plant boat make the port a place of call. The people say that they can furnish the boat or boats with a large volume of freight, winter and summer. The tourist travel, they say, is increasing and a number of New York gentlemen will erect in the near future a hotel which will cost $100,000. The building will be owned and occupied by those who erect it. According to the plans, which have been prepared the structure will be a grand affair. These plans have been examined by a representative of the Rhodes, Curry Company, who went to Shelburne for that express purpose. It now rests with the good people of Shelburne to convince one of the transportation companies that a direct line to Boston would be a paying proposition. When they can do that their wishes may be completed—with provided the Halifax and Southwestern people do not interfere.—Yarmouth Times.

Stock Raising and Farming

Taking up the subject of dairying, which Principal Cumming, of the Agricultural College, regards as an industry for which Nova Scotia affords better facilities than for some other provinces, he points out that whereas five years ago there were very few dairies for dairy bulls bred on the college farm, they cannot now supply the demand, and last winter were compelled to import a large number. He tells of several new butter factories, and of one locality where in the past two years three new pure bred dairy herds have been established, while the demand for improved stock is steadily growing.

Principal Cumming next treats of hog-raising and points out that every breeder could have sold last spring two or three times as many young pigs as he had to offer. Sheep-raising is holding its own. In horse-raising greater attention is being paid to draft horses, with forty draft stallions in the province.

Dealing with efforts to improve the methods of crop raising, Principal Cumming points out that the provincial department of agriculture offers prizes for the best three-acre fields of oats for seed purposes while in Pictou, Cumberland and Antigonish private citizens have offered prizes for the best fields of turnips.

The growth of fruit raising has been remarkable. Principal Cumming quotes this table of export of apples for five year periods since 1880:—

1880-1885	23,920 bbls.
1885-1890	83,249 "
1890-1895	118,552 "
1895-1900	259,200 "
1900-1905	330,406 "
1905-1910	482,298 "

It is estimated that the number of young trees set out and the improved cultivation of those already bearing will bring the export of the next decade up to fifty per cent. above that for 1905-1910.

"And as yet," says Principal Cumming, "we are but on the fringe of our possibilities, for the striking feature of our apple valleys is not the amount of land occupied by orchards, but the amount of land yet to be occupied. The management of this when they obtained control of the Dominion Atlantic Railway."—Exchange.

FARM HELP FROM THE PEN

Across the Continent to British Columbia

Trip from Bridgetown to Victoria Interestingly Sketched by Dr. M.E. Armstrong, a Delegate to the Methodist Conference in the Western City

Dear Monitor:

On train west of Winnipeg.—When I consented to give you a few impressions and notes of our trip across the continent, I did not realize that our time tables did not put in any intermissions or provide any place in the long ride for writing notes. So I have looked in vain all the way for an hour to do this but without success, hence the long delay in these notes reaching you.

On leaving home and passing along to Digby one's first thoughts are, "can we find any where a prettier picture than that presented from the car windows in our own County. The neatly cultivated fields, the large meadows and marshes with their heavy crops of grass, the abundant orchards, the splendid farm houses and barns, surrounded by many ornamental and shade trees suggest a state of prosperity and comfort that is almost ideal for country life.

Reaching St. John at 5 p. m. we are soon on board the C. P. R. train for Montreal, ready for the first portion of our long journey.

St. John and Montreal are four hundred and eighty-three miles apart and of this journey, nearly one hundred miles lies through New Brunswick and as we pass along, glimpses of the St. John river is given us occasionally, and some nice farming sections are passed, but the most part we go through a new country as yet unsettled, at least along the railway.

Crossing into Maine we are carried for two hundred miles through the northern portion of this state but as night has shut down, the loyal Canadian is blind-folded, as it were until he again reaches Canadian soil in the eastern section of Quebec province, where we find ourselves at day break. Our train makes very few stops, but numbers of pretty places are passed, the towns not seeming unlike our own and the grass fields and meadows still uncut, broken by an occasional stately elm or grove of other hard wooded trees, much like portions of our province.

Sherbrooke (pop. 15,000) is a pretty city and gives evidence of a busy and thrifty town. Lots of large factories are packed and many new buildings. Lenoxville nearby is smaller, but it seems to have a great many pretty residences. Both places are situated on rivers or lake fronts and we see much evidence of lumbering and boating as we pass along, indicating that their water front can be used for both business and pleasure.

We soon pass a town with the familiar name of Foster, where a good number of small houses have been recently built, and other names also suggest English settlements. The country districts here are splendid and quite thickly settled, but from the car window the roads seem very narrow, compared with our own. Further on the architecture of both houses and barns changes and we know we are now passing into the French districts. The farms are smaller, well cultivated, and the farm buildings smaller than ours. The barns appear to have their floors ten feet or more above the ground, in some cases they are so high that the large barn doors require to have the roof elevated over them to accommodate them, this is done, we learn, to save the hard work of pitching the hay and grain high up into the barn, they therefore drive as near as possible to the top of it and pitch the hay down instead of up. The barns do not look quite as well, but I dare say, works out all right.

Passing numerous milling towns on lakes and large rivers we soon reach and cross the great St. Lawrence river, and come into Montreal at 8 a. m., by the C. P. R. Bridge, two miles up the river from the old Victoria Bridge, used by the I. C. R. The activity at the depot here is an eye-opener to a provincialist and compares very favorably with that seen in Boston, one wonders, where everybody is going or coming so early in the day. We get our first idea of the immense amount of travel going on at this season of the year. From the parcel room where our bags are checked for the day to the ticket offices, every department is crowded.

A day in Montreal convinces one that it is a busy city from a commercial standpoint, and one notes the many evidences of tearing down and building greater that is going on throughout the commercial portions. In other sections whole streets are building up as new factories are opened.

The city as a whole has not the well-kept appearance one would look for; in places the sidewalks are uneven and worn, the street cars closed and low as compared with those of Toronto and Boston,—however, the service seemed very efficient in every way.

We were permitted to look in at the Nova Scotia Bank for a few minutes and were pleased to meet three of our own town boys, all of whom are filling important positions and making their mark. They were Joseph Ruggles, who is assistant manager of this branch, James Young and Robt. Hoyt accountants.

Leaving Montreal at 10 p. m. we are carried to Toronto, three hundred and thirty-eight miles, during the night and very little chance is given us to see this beautiful section of country, except the portion near Toronto in the early morning. The C. P. R. runs back from the river and Lake between these two cities while the G. T. R., which was the first railroad on the scene, follows the River St. Lawrence and Lake front and touches the large towns between these two places.

Joker's Corner

THE WRONG HANDKERCHIEF.

William Loeb, Jr., Collector of the Port of New York, went down to one of the steamship docks one very hot day last summer to watch his men examine the baggage of the incoming passengers. He was walking around when a man rushed up to him evidently much excited.

"Mr. Loeb!" he shouted. "You are the matter?"

"Yes," Loeb replied. "What is the matter?"

"Why," said the man, "I am having a great deal of trouble with your inspectors. They claim I am trying to smuggle something. I am not, Mr. Loeb; I give you my word I am not. I wouldn't smuggle anything. I wish you would see about this and put a stop to it. I wouldn't smuggle anything, and they are throwing all my things out on the dock."

"Then the man reached into his coat pocket to get a handkerchief to mop his perspiring brow, and pulled out a great wad of the most expensive lace.

SHE TOOK NOTICE.

An inspector one day visited a country taught by a young lady, and in the course of the lesson, said: "Now children, I wish you to take notice of what I do, and then write an account of it."

Then he stepped to the blackboard and wrote a sentence upon it.

All the children except one wrote in effect that the "master" came into the school and wrote on the blackboard, "I love a good school."

One little girl, however, followed instructions more literally, and completed the story by adding: "And then he went to the platform set down, played with his watch chain, twirled his moustache, and winked at the lady teacher."

DIDN'T HAVE TO KILL IT.

An English resident of Shanghai, having made a good dinner from a tasty, but unrecognizable dish, congratulated him on the excellent meal.

"I hope you didn't kill one of those dogs to provide the soup," jestingly remarked his daughter, referring of course to the pariahs which haunt the Chinese streets.

Wan Hoo made a solemn gesture of dissent.

"No killee dawg, missus," he explained, "Him alledy dead when I pickee up."

WEIGHING IN.

Picking up a sharp knife from the meat stand the customer extends it to the butcher with the remark: "I haven't any use for it, but you may cut it off, and I'll take it along anyhow."

"Cut what off?" gasps the astonished butcher.

"Your hand. You weighed it with the roast, you know, and I want all I pay for."

HER RESPONSIBILITY

"Susannah," asked the preacher when it came her turn to answer the usual question in such cases, "do you take this man to be your wedded husband, for better or for worse?"

"Jes' as he is, parson," she interrupted! "Jes' as he is. Ef he gits any better ah'll know de good Ladd's gwine to take 'im; an' ef he gits any wusser, w'y, ah'll t'xal to 'im myself."--Youth's Companion.

READY RELIEF.

Physician--"Have you any aches or pains this morning?"

Patient--"Yes, doctor; it hurts me to breathe; in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath."

Physician--"All right. I'll give you something that will stop that."--Good Housekeeping.

Britain's Greatest Battle Ship Launched

Portsmouth, Eng., Aug. 20.—The Orion, Great Britain's newest and greatest battleship, was launched here today in the presence of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain and a distinguished gathering of naval officers and representatives from public life.

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh.

W. S. PINEO, "Woodlands," Middleton, N. S.

New York, Aug. 19.—The "plot" against Mayor Gagnor's life involving Policeman Joseph P. Hook came up this afternoon, after a hearing by Deputy Police Commissioner Walsh, for lack of evidence. Hook was charged by two small girls with being intoxicated the night before the Mayor was shot and with remarking vindictively that the Mayor would "get his" either on his departure for Europe or on his return.

Earth Swallowed This Young Lady

Was Sitting on Bank When She Dropped Eight Feet—Snow and Ice Prevented Her Going into Three Hundred Feet Water.

Londonderry, Aug. 22.—A young lady, sixteen years of age, Miss McEachern, had a thrilling experience and narrow escape from a horrible death one day last week. Miss McEachern is a visitor at the house of Mr. McTavish, Lornvale, two miles from town, and the day in question she with a number of others went to pick berries up on the side of the mountain. She sat down to rest, and suddenly there after disappeared as though the earth had swallowed her up, and so it had for she disappeared into an old ore shaft partially concealed by debris of one kind and another. Her companions, who quickly took in the situation, appealed to some men who were working in a hayfield nearby, who hastened to the rescue.

Mr. W. D. Scott, secured a rope, secured one end of it to a solid object, the other end of it about his waist and proceeded to ascend the pit. When he had reached a depth of eight feet, he found Miss McEachern standing on some ice and snow, but the horror of the situation will be better understood when it is learned that beneath that frail coating of ice and snow was water to the depth of three hundred feet.

The unfortunate young woman was quickly taken to the surface. Mr. Scott removing the rope from her person, and securing to that of a young woman, willing hands quickly drawing her back to terra firma, and Dr. Dickson, sunlit again. Dr. Dickson, was called to attend her, but aside from the awful fright, and a few bruises, strange to say she was otherwise unharmed.

She had an experience that she will never forget.

S. P. C. A. LETHAL BOX TO DESTROY ANIMALS.

(Halifax Herald) Through the kind efforts of a member of the London S. P. C. A., the S. P. C. A. has procured particulars for the manufacture of a Lethal box to be used by veterinarians in the city for the destruction of small animals.

The Silliker Car Company has undertaken to manufacture this box as an experiment and it will be placed at a central part of the City, where persons finding stray cats or having them to destroy can see that they are humanely disposed of. The box is a plain one, zinc lined, small trays placed inside for the chloroform, and the chloroform poured in by the means of a pipe. On investigation being made by the S. P. C. of late it was found that animals were disposed of in a very cruel and unnecessary manner, even by so-called experts, and it has, therefore, decided that animals are hereafter put out of misery in the most humane way possible.

NO MORE LOANS TO BUY AUTOS.

In future, anyone who intends to use the cash to buy a motor car, will be refused a loan by the bankers of Kansas City and of the South-west who are dependent on the Kansas City banks. The boycott is brought about, the bankers say, by the extravagance of the people of the section in buying automobiles. Thirty-five million dollars were invested in motor cars in the last year in Kansas. One million dollars may be added to this to keep these motor cars in repair for these same twelve months. One Kansas City banker says his safe contained fifty-two real estate mortgages the money for which he knew went for automobiles.

THE MAN WHO SMILES.

Rev. E. E. Daley, of Truro, preached excellent sermons at both services in the First Baptist church on Sunday. In the morning his text was, "Is not your heart troubled?" Gloom and despondency are often the outcome of a sense of condemnation sometimes of care, sometimes of a consciousness that we must die. There is in the Christian religion that which creates good cheer. There is merit in meeting life with a smile. "People," said the preacher, "don't want whiners; they want the man who smiles."—Moncton Transcript.

The Habit of Saving

(Yarmouth Herald) It seems to be difficult these days, when there are so many attractions, and so many pleasure resorts, for the young people to save much money, or in fact, to keep out of debt. Their chief anxiety appears to be not what they can save, but how much pleasure they can secure regardless of expense or of their income.

It is an ancient and honorable habit of saving, or laying aside a certain sum of money, be it ever so small, but at stated intervals, should early be formed and carried along until years of discretion have been reached. This habit once formed becomes ineradicable, and will be as hard to get rid of as the habit of smoking. It also inculcates self-respect and gives a standing to the individual that nothing else can accomplish. It is an economic, intellectual and even moral anchor for the individual and for society, and there is no reason why the person practicing it should be called miserly, mean or close. On the other hand the person should receive the warmest congratulations and praise for it, for it is a habit of great value at that period in the young man's life.

There are many opportunities for the young to deposit their small savings either in chartered banks or in government savings banks. Nothing accumulates so quickly and so safely as compound interest, and the young man who early learns to deposit even fifty cents a week, will be amazed to know just what the sum will amount to in twenty years with interest compounded. The object of these savings banks is to promote thrift among young men, especially among the boys and girls of limited means.

Our object will be accomplished if we turn some one's attention to this matter and induce him to pause and consider, first how much he is losing by spending all his money in the way of soap take wages and by away, whereas by the course indicated in this article he may in a few years realize quite a sum from the accumulations of his small weekly or monthly deposits.

It has been computed that a sum of money left for a hundred years at three and one half per cent. will in crease thirty fold. Money at the same rate doubles in twenty years. Nearly everyone can save five cents a day. This amount saved each day ($1.50 a month), if deposited in a savings bank at four per cent. will amount to $182.50 in ten years. It will earn $49.06 interest, making its total value at the end of that period $222.56—a surprising result of the setting aside of a single cent a day.

In fifteen years the steady saving of one dollar a week will show a result of $1065.79, and if you kept the practice only for fifty years you will accumulate $8957.16. $50 put into a savings bank each year will amount at the end of twenty years at three per cent. to $1353.33. These figures might be continued indefinitely, but sufficient have been given to allow the young men and women of today to pause and consider. There is no safer plan to grow rich or have an income when old age comes creeping along, than in the course indicated above. All the money you spend now for peanuts, candies, cigars, etc., will benefit you nothing, neither at the present nor in the future. It is hard for the young to realize this fact, but it is true nevertheless.

Trade Schools of the Old Country

The Ontario superintendent of education has just returned from a tour in Europe, whether he went to gain knowledge at first hand of systems of technical education. In an interview published in the Toronto Telegram, he tells a very interesting story, which explains the success of continental countries in the industrial competition of the present time.

"The trade schools of London, Manchester, Liverpool, Edinburgh and Glasgow were visited first. From there Dr. Seath went to Paris, where he spent a week. "They have about thirteen or fourteen schools in the city," said the doctor, "about half of them are for girls. The characteristic of French schools in particular was the artistic side of them. Girls are taught garment making, corset making and the making of artificial flowers. The wall-paper designed there by the boys are about the best I saw."

"As I understand it, the system adopted in Munich is different from the rest of Bavaria," continued Mr. Seath. "In Munich the theoretical part and practical work go together as they do in France and Switzerland, but in many places in Germany theory is taught in the school, and in practice in the workshop. Drawing and designing, the fundamentals of technical training, are made a great deal of in Munich."

"In Germany they have trade schools for every trade," said the doctor, "and they are very well equipped, and Germany sweeps in most of the states of Germany they have a law by which the local board in charge of trade schools can compel manufacturers to send their apprentices to attend the trade schools in their own towns. Everyone must attend after the compulsory period of a continuation school, in order to graduate. Elevator boys and servant girls attend these classes, sessions of which are held on Sundays. This work began in the Sunday school system, but it is no such thing as unskilled labor as we know it," declared the superintendent. "Germany is a most highly organized country. There is compulsory military training, and each man is indexed. In Germany the son follows his father's trade. They haven't the same means of rising as we have in Canada or in the United States. Munich is exceptional in that it is a city of small industries and that is how trade schools are so well developed. Pretty generally in Germany, France, Switzerland and England manual training is featured."

What says C. H. Purdy, of Bear River, Warden of Digby Co. "I was a complete cripple with Rheumatism, saw EMPHATIC LINIMENT advertised and tried it, after every known treatment and rheumatic cure. Here I am today and well after using only a few bottles. I recommend it to all sufferers. Don't be without it."

8,500 MEN LOSE WORK.

Biddeford, Me., Aug. 20.—In addition to the closing of the Peppercall, Laconia and York mills in this city and Saco from Sept. 3rd until 12th, in common with the New England mills curtailment, the Saco and Pates machine shops will be closed during the same period. These shops employ between 1,100 and 1,200 hands. There are 2,500 employees in the York mills and 5,000 in the Peppercall and Laconia mills.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS.

But For the Most Part the Savage Beasts Were Immune. One morning not long ago, before the weather got so hot that the lion longed for the comfort of the tropical jungle, a party of three made a pilgrimage to the Riverdale Zoo on an unusual quest. It was to make observations and photographs upon the effect which different music as rendered by a phonograph has upon different animals.

There is the usual temptation to offer hasty conclusions as to the character of animals from the manner in which they receive different selections, but this will be resisted, while a few general and safe conclusions are hazarded. For example, the noble lion was regarded as a fit subject for something robust. Ah, we have it. We will try Caruso on him. With the first mild notes of the Italian songster, the lion stood and pawed the floor in the best animation. Then as Caruso warmed up the lion became more attentive, and as the song grew in volume until the wolf fairly raised, the king of the jungle turned and stood facing the phonograph in a state of wary contemplation that was a tribute to the king of tenors.

Of all the unresponsive inhabitants of the Zoo, the goats took the prize. This experiment just put them where they belong in the scale of culture. The phonograph man hunted out a Sousa march which we felt sure would have no effect whatever. Cornet solos and other delicacies were tried in vain, but when a march of some sort came out some grass in the mouth of the horn there was a procession up the inclined plane that did more credit to the goat's stomach than to the goat's brain.

The procession of experimenters presently visited the Scotch deer. Here, we thought, is an opportunity to test this claiminess to new music. So out over the Don Plains there pealed Harry Lauder in his best voice, singing "Step Yer Ticklin' Rock." The so-called Scotch deer must have come from a remote fastness, for Harry Lauder had no charms for him. Each deer remained at the far side his pen and would not be comforted. The llama made a picturesque effect as he came up to the phonograph, all alertness and curiosity. He was evidently pleased with the cornet solo selected for his diversion. When we came to the deal with the back selection drove them hither and thither over the pen. Then we remembered the old story of the man lost in the woods who saved his life by scolding the wolves with a violin. So we put in a violin solo by Mischa Elman. The wolf stood on his hind legs, threw his head back and howled.

So the narrative might go on. The monkeys jumped about and scolded; the peacock strutted at the sound of the band music; the eagle, who was responsive to all other efforts, went alive on hearing a waltz song by Madame Schumann-Heink.—The Toronto Globe.

Growth of Postoffice.

The figures show that in the ten years previous to the Postmaster-General's report for last year, new post offices had been established at the rate of one for every working-day. Last year, the postoffices in the province were 1,000 more than in the Canadian West this rate of extension must be greatly accelerated. Last year, the postoffices in the province were 1,000 more than in the same territory twenty years ago. In Saskatchewan alone there were, last year, 861 postoffices, or almost one-third more than in the whole of the West in 1890. The increase has not been in the West alone, however, but has been general throughout the Dominion. Ontario last year had 3,694 postoffices, as against 3,228 ten years ago, and 2,971 twenty years ago. That the increase in postoffice means better facilities for existing population as well as new facilities for new places is proved by the fact that Prince Edward Island, which has increased but little in population, had last year, 425 postoffices, against 408 in 1890, and 315 in 1870. For New Brunswick the figures are 1,387 for 1909 as against 1,180 ten years ago and 1,088 twenty years ago. The number of offices in the Yukon last year was 21.

Sir William Butler.

Canada remembers Sir William Butler as the author of "The Great Lone Land," a book on western Canada before railways and migrations of people were features of prairie life. Sir William died recently in the old country at the age of 72. He was one of the brilliant roll of soldiers whom Ireland has given to the Empire's service. Sir William was born in Tipperary, and started soldiering at the age of 20. He served in many parts of the world, and saw much active service, in which he was greatly distinguished himself. After four years in the east, he went in 1870, with the Red River expedition in western Canada. The years 1874 and 1874 saw him in Afghanistan, and the following year he went on a special mission to Bloemfontein. In the Zulu war (1879-80) he was staff officer at the British sea base. In 1882 he was in Egypt, and fought at Kassassin and Tel-el-Kebir. Two years later he was acting by Gen. Wolseley to organize the Nile Expedition for the rescue of Gordon. He made a brilliant effort, and the fact that it was too late was no fault of his.

Perilous Angling.

George Ham, of the C.P.R., was telling some friends about a proposed fishing-trip to a lake in the Rockies which he had in contemplation. "Are there any trout out there?" asked one friend. "Thousands of 'em," replied Mr. Ham. "Will they bite easily?" asked another friend. "Will they?" said Ham. "Why, they're absolutely vicious. A man has to hide behind a tree to bait a book."

—“What is the matter with Bridgetown?” the Monitor was asked the other day. The question was asked to express his ideas as to what is the matter with Bridgetown. “Lack of interest among your business men and citizens in general,” was the response, and too many cliques “pulling in opposite directions. Here you have a beautiful little town, with all necessary advantages as to situation,—two railroads intersecting it, head of navigation, and a fine agricultural country surrounding it. You have also a number of small industries, most of them, on a well established basis. Why don't you people go to work and make the town alive and bring in the population to develop your industries and enlarge the business growth of the town?”

The same question asked of a Bridgetown citizen would likely bring the response “Lack of capital.” The outside, however, struck the nail on the head when he said “Lack of interest.” He might have added “Lack of faith.”

It is an indisputable fact that there is too little of the spirit of loyalty among us, and too much of an inclination to belittle our attainments and our opportunities. It is with towns as with individuals. No progress can be made by the individual who has no faith in his own power and capacity, neither can a community progress unless the individuals comprising it have faith in their united strength and their opportunities.

How can we expect to attract outsiders to our town and enlist capital to venture in developing our industries? By croaking “hard times” and sending our money away to help develop other towns and cities, and belittling our home opportunities and possibilities? Let us rather express our faith in our town, our people and our industries,—avoid petty jealousies and personal grievances, and always and ever be ready to lend a helping hand, remembering in union there is strength and “no man liveth to himself alone.”

Do we fully appreciate our possibilities and capabilities? Look at the industries we have already,—two large tanneries, two barrel factories, two vinegar factories, wood-working factory, barrel factory, foundry, marble works, etc., and raw material ready at hand for unlimited development. What more should an average town need except capital and enterprise to develop them?

In addition our commercial side is well represented by neat attractive stores carrying all lines of merchandise and two banking institutions. Our educational needs are well supplied in a handsomely equipped school-building with efficient staff of teachers. Our churches are of a substantial character as religious organizations. As a community of homes, Bridgetown takes second place with no town of its size. Even in the matter of amusements there is little to be desired, while the various social orders are well represented. Nor do we lack anything in modern commodities, possessing a splendid water system electric lighting, telephone, etc.

These are our assets,—our stock in trade. A western town with such advantages would progress with leaps and bounds. Every citizen would swear by his town and its opportunities would be sung in the ears of everyone who would listen. Rookies describing its peculiar advantages would fill mail bags day after day and year after year, newspapers would advertise its growth and progress, till the name became a familiar household word.

It is not time that we eastern towns should awaken to the fact that we are losing our birthright,—that we have a place to fill in the development of our province,—our dominion,—the world that can be filled by none other than ourselves,—and that our lack of loyalty and energy is a disgrace to us?

The Monitor would be glad to record in the near future an organization of the business forces of Bridgetown,—an organization that shall still in our citizens faith in themselves and awaken outside of the limits of the town an interest in the town's possibilities and future development.

In the meantime correspondence bearing on this subject will be gladly received and published in these columns.

PENALTIES FOR VANDALISM.

With all our Arbor Day formalities and all our praiseworthy talk of conservation, the destruction of trees as the victims of laziness or carelessness goes on at a deplorable rate. It has been estimated that there are in this region actually more trees mutilated and destroyed by trolley, telephone, lighting, and other concerns and by ignorant, careless or malicious persons than are planted on Arbor Day. Possibly that estimate is exaggerated, though we should think not greatly. It is high time for the vandalism to be checked, and the only efficient method of checking it is to impose inexorably upon offenders penalties commensurate with their misdeeds.—Bangor Exchange

Our school year is in charge of one of our own girls, Miss Ruth Gilliat, who has been a successful teacher for several years in other sections.

The annual S. S. picnic of the United Baptist Church together with the Methodist S. S. of Upper Granville, will be held Saturday afternoon, Sept. 3rd on the grounds of Mr. John L. Ambersham, Granville Ferry. Parents and friends of the children are cordially invited to attend.

The W. M. A. S. for the month of Sept. will meet on the afternoon of Sept. 8th at the home of Mrs. Howard D. Young.

Mrs. Milton Harris and Miss Eugenie Mills, both of whom have been seriously ill in Boston, have recovered sufficiently to come home and will spend several weeks with their mother, Mrs. E. C. Mills.

Torbrook.

Mr. Harry Spurr, of Peabody, after an absence of eight years, is visiting his old home and will accompany his family on their return home.

Mrs. L. A. Allen and Miss Eva McAloney have returned from a week's outing at Port Lorne.

Miss Ora Elliott has returned to the Torbrook school and Miss Snow, of Port Wade, is engaged at the Mines Section.

The annual picnic of the Baptist and Methodist Sunday-School was held at Margaretville on Wednesday, and was much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. W. O. Parker and daughter, Ruby, Mrs. Fred Mulhall and little Kathleen, of Middleton, have been visiting friends here during the past week.

Mrs. Bond and son, of Londonderry are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hattie.

Mr. Winalow, of New York, is spending a few days with Mr. A. M. Spinney.

Miss Sadie Spinney has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Bessie Parker, during the past week.

“Oh! for more air!” Less time in the school-room and more time in the open air, was the plea of Dr. Albert Mathieu, the other day, before the School Hygiene Congress in Paris, a plea which cannot fail to be subscribed to by the boys and girls concerned.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

There is a tang of autumn in the air.

Daniel Ryan at the Court House tonight, in the comedy, "Is marriage a Failure?"

Halifax has adopted a new Slogan "Halifax—the Empire Port—make it greater."

August has been a popular month for weddings this season and there are more to follow.

A quantity of correspondence and other matter is unavoidably held over for another issue.

Mr. Howe was convicted of a violation of the Scott Act on the 8th inst., and was fined fifty dollars and costs.

A deer was seen by Norman Dargie and Robert Burns at Round Hill as they were driving along the road on Monday.

Sportmen and others will be interested in the Game Laws published in this issue. It appears that the open season for partridges is from October 1st to Nov. 1st.

The water was turned off the district east of Washington Street Monday afternoon, while a new hydrant was placed in position at the corner of Park and Rectory streets.

The marriage is announced to take place on Wednesday morning, September 14th, of Mr. J. Parker Whitman to Miss Gladys Messenger, daughter of J. Edward Messenger, of Centuria.

The public schools opened on Monday morning with the exception of grades three and four and five and six, the teachers of these grades, Miss Graves and Miss Troop being at the Provincial Institute in Truro this week.

In consequence of the absence of the Rector, there will be no services in St. James' church on Sunday next, neither in St. Mary's, Belleisle, or St. Peter's-by-the-sea, Youngs Cove, but in each place the Sunday-School will meet at the usual hour.

A number of our citizens will be going to Halifax this week to take in the Bicentenary celebration of the first Church of England Service in Canada. Among others will be Mrs. H. Ruggles, The Hon. O. T. and Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Albert Morse and Rev. E. Underwood.

On the evening of Labor Day, Monday, September 5th there will be a concert in the Bentville Hall, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the Methodist Church, of that community for the purpose of paying for the new organ recently placed in the church. Members of Providence church choir and others will assist in the program. An admission fee of twenty cents for adults and ten cents for children will be charged.

Another big offer has been made to Union Bank shareholders. An English syndicate has offered $240 a share for all Royal Bank of Canada shares they come in possession of by the merger, of the Union with the Royal. As the Royal shares go on a 12 per cent dividend basis in January 1911, it is unlikely that many shares will be parted with as the shareholders would find it difficult to invest their funds to a better advantage.

Following the accident on the H. & S. W. reporter by the Monitor last week, as occurring near Bridgetown, another disaster occurred on the following day near Albany, when spreading rails caused the cars to leave the track. The car next the engine loaded with lumber toppled over, the lumber being thrown in all directions. The next car a combination mail and baggage car fell to the other side against a boulder. The passenger car behind fortunately was not upset. The engine was uninjured and proceeded to Middleton and returned with a freight car in which the passengers continued their journey.

The Lawrenceton School will hold an Exhibition opening at the school-house at 2 p. m., Friday, Sept. 2nd. The scholars will show vegetables, flowers, and cooking of their own production. Parents are invited to bring any product of the farm or garden, to enlarge the exhibit, but no prize will be offered them. In addition to the exhibit a prize essay, written by one of the scholars on "A Country Residence," will be read. A most interesting feature of the afternoon will be an address on "some phases of gardening," delivered by Prof. McGill, of Middleton. Additional pleasure of the afternoon will be music by the Band and the ice-cream sold in the interests of the school. The small admission fee of ten cents will be asked of the adults. The children and pupils will enter free.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Many friends will regret to learn that Mrs. Wm. G. McLaughlin, of Round Hill, is very ill, no hope being entertained for her recovery.

The sultry August weather of last week was followed by a drop in temperature on Saturday. The days are bright and beautiful but the nights are quite frosty.

The sidewalks and gutters have received considerable attention from our street superintendent this summer and the town in general is looking the better for it.

Monitor readers will be especially interested in Dr. Armstrong's sketch of his trip across the continent to Victoria, B. C., as a member of the Methodist Conference party.

The harvest excursions have begun but there is not the usual exodus from this locality. Two of our young men, Charles Wheeler and B. Phinney left for Strathcona last week.

The inspection of horses and equipping of members of "C" Squadron, K. C. H. will take place at the Armoury grounds, Middleton, on Saturday, Sept. 3rd. Commencing at eight o'clock a. m.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foster will regret to learn of the very serious condition of Mrs. Foster, who has been very ill for several months, and for whom hope of recovery is now abandoned.

The marriage is announced to take place on Tuesday morning, September 6th, of Miss Edythe A. Troop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. F. Troop, Granville Centre, to Mr. Louis Balam, of Paradise.

There is danger to our shade and forest trees from the Tussock Moth which has already begun its depredations. A letter to the Halifax Chronicle advising the method of dealing with this pest is republished in this issue.

The robbery of the Digby railway station a few weeks since, when $125 in cash was stolen, is discovered to have been done by a degenerate young American lad rusticated at Smiths Cove, where he also committed depredations among the cabins at Argonaut Knoll. He has been placed in Digby jail.

The Monitor-Sentinel was asked through a letter from Toronto to furnish the name of a salesman who handles "Gold Dredging Stock" and is informed that as soon as satisfactory men are secured the advertising campaign will be stated. The Monitor wants no part in the advertising campaign, and trusts Nova Scotians will not be fooled into the prevalent "wild cat schemes" but will keep their money for home investment, where it is needed and where it will be safe.

The annual re-union of the Paradise and Clarence W. M. A. S. will be held in the Clarence church Monday, Sept. 5th at 3 p. m. Port Lorne society invited. The programme for the afternoon will be provided by Paradise and Port Lorne societies. All the sisters of the church are cordially invited to attend. Tea served in the vestry. A public meeting of musical interest will be held at 7.30. One pleasing feature of which will be the music furnished by the choir from Port Lorne, which for the past two summers has been under the skillful leadership of Prof. F. J. Smith, of New Jersey. Silver collection for missions taken at both services.

Several members of the Bridgetown Tennis Club went to Wolfville on Wednesday last to play a tourney match with the Wolfville club. The match resulted in a score of 22 for the Wolfville team. The Bridgetown players were Dr. Burns, Mr. Beckwith, Mr. Bell, Mr. Fred Kinney, Mrs. Fay and Miss Louise Ruggles. The Wolfville players were Dr. Leslie Eaton, Robie W. Tufts, Dr. Roach, Herman Dewitt, Mr. Pombay, Mrs. Burpee Wallace, Mrs. (Dr.) Moore and Miss Enid Tufts. The visitors were entertained at several social functions—a drive, concert and dance at Evangelins beach, and a brilliant tennis tea on the grounds of the club a large number being present. They were also entertained by the club at the home of Dr. Moore.

LOWELL HAS EARTHQUAKE. Lowell, Mass., Aug. 21—Residents of a portion of the city of Lowell and of several of the surrounding towns Merimac Valley, were disturbed physically and mentally, by a seismic disturbance which occurred about 1.45 o'clock this afternoon. Chelmsford Centre felt the shock distinctly. In Lowell those sections of the city known as the "Highlands," Faybuckville and Belvidere, felt the shocks most distinctly.

Mrs. S. W. Armstrong and Miss Lottie Howard, of Sonerville, Mass., arrived Saturday for a visit in the Annapolis Valley. During their stay in town they will be the guests of Mrs. E. S. Piggott.

HALIFAX AS ROYAL LINE TERMINUS.

The Royal liners will make Halifax their Canadian terminus, commencing December 1st.

This statement has been made with more or less persistency and on varied authority, of late, but the latest authority is William McKenzie himself, whose mission to Halifax a few weeks ago was especially in connection with this matter. The decision to make Halifax the winter terminus was arrived at after a conference with the I. C. R. authorities, and it is given out that the G. E. R. have secured satisfactory arrangements for at least the winter months. The Royal Edward and the Royal George will discharge and take on all their freight here, as well as passengers.

The G. N. R. is now endeavoring to make arrangements with the I. C. R. whereby Halifax will receive a good share of the company's summer business. While in Halifax Mr. McKenzie expressed himself as confident of the outcome.

The Royal steamers are fitted with the latest devices in cold storage, and will not let the C. P. R. get away with all the apples without a struggle.—Herald.

HAMILTON ASYLUM KEEPERS ARRESTED.

Toronto, Aug. 22—(Special)—Fred McCullough and Montith Trappell, two keepers at the Hamilton asylum have been arrested on a charge of aiding and abetting the escape of Blair and Taggart, two murderers.

Miss Jane had no listened closely; she had heard enough, however, to answer readily: "You only make me feel worse, telling me such matters. The woman is a terribly hard place. Hands clasped together, a melancholy droop to her mouth, Miss Jane was a picture of the luxury of grief as she sat there surrounded by the comforts of life.

"The world will be a terribly hard place for that little slip of a girl if somebody doesn't give her a home." Mrs. Barnes began, anxiously folding her work.

"I suppose it's a poor, puny child, girl, you said? Probably deformed, or has rickets or some such dreadful disease," Miss Jane remarked with a shudder.

"No," returned Mrs. Barnes. "It's a well-favored little girl, of old-fashioned looking little girl."

"Can she have the underclothes, too?" "The better-dressed she is the more chance there is of somebody's adopting her."

The child's eyes were fixed roundly rather dreamily on the pink roses; one soft little hand reached slowly out to touch them.

Mrs. Barnes hesitated imperceptibly before answering Miss Gates: "Yes, she can have them all, if they will do her any good."

"Some of the things are too big, but she'll grow to them," replied Miss Gates, "She's worn out most everything she had when they came to the poorhouse."

Miss Jane started forward. It was suddenly terrible to have "poorhouse" associated with this wistful-faced steady-eyed child.

Just then the little girl looked up at Miss Jane, and, heedful of what had been passing, said in a voice with an irresistible cadence: "Those are like the roses in my mummy's garden at my home."

For a moment Miss Jane and the child looked at one another, the child's fearless gaze studying the woman's face, Miss Jane's heart expanding with a great, overwhelming purpose.

Knocking suddenly, she put her arm

MISS JANE AND LITTLE DOROTHY

A child? A fragment of the morn. —William Watson.

Tears welled into Miss Jane's eyes. Subtly aggrieved always, she felt more than ordinary depression on this spring morning when everything in Nature expressed living hope. "I wish I could help somebody. I might as well be dead."

Mrs. Barnes—Miss Jane's companion for ten years past—did not offer any protest against a complaint to which she had grown accustomed. But something which had happened made the wretchedly depressed woman say, after a moment's deliberation: "That poor soul I told you of, the mother they brought to the almshouse in March, has died."

"I wish I had died," declared Miss Jane passionately.

Mrs. Barnes bent lower over her reading: "Maybe if we didn't trust the Lord to do what's best, we might wonder why he takes mothers sometimes, instead of people who haven't any children."

Meek-spirited Mrs. Barnes was not prone to answer back; Miss Jane straightened herself aggressively.

Instead of waiting for Miss Jane to resume the conversation, however, Mrs. Barnes went on, "I really fear her: 'The woman made an awful time because she had to die and leave her little girl all alone in the world. You remember, don't you? She lost her husband six months ago, and she was worn out taking care of him, and there wasn't any money, so the selectmen had to put the mother and child into the almshouse."

Miss Jane turned her handsome head languidly: "I remember you told me all this," she said, as if dismissing the subject.

"That just broke the poor soul's spirit," persisted Mrs. Barnes. "She had known better days, they say. The night before she died, she just begged and begged the matron, Miss Gates, not to keep the little girl there but to send her home for her. And Miss Gates—who's kind-hearted for all she has to do with miserable pauper creatures most of the time—she says she had to promise so that the woman might die peaceful like. She was telling me about it, down town this morning, and she says she's dreadful put out to know where to find a home for that frightened little girl, who hasn't got any money."

This had been an unusually long speech for Mrs. Barnes; her hands were trembling and moisture dimmed her spectacles, so that she took misshapen stitches.

Miss Jane had no listened closely; she had heard enough, however, to answer readily: "You only make me feel worse, telling me such matters. The woman is a terribly hard place. Hands clasped together, a melancholy droop to her mouth, Miss Jane was a picture of the luxury of grief as she sat there surrounded by the comforts of life.

"The world will be a terribly hard place for that little slip of a girl if somebody doesn't give her a home." Mrs. Barnes began, anxiously folding her work.

"I suppose it's a poor, puny child, girl, you said? Probably deformed, or has rickets or some such dreadful disease," Miss Jane remarked with a shudder.

"No," returned Mrs. Barnes. "It's a well-favored little girl, of old-fashioned looking little girl."

"Can she have the underclothes, too?" "The better-dressed she is the more chance there is of somebody's adopting her."

The child's eyes were fixed roundly rather dreamily on the pink roses; one soft little hand reached slowly out to touch them.

Mrs. Barnes hesitated imperceptibly before answering Miss Gates: "Yes, she can have them all, if they will do her any good."

"Some of the things are too big, but she'll grow to them," replied Miss Gates, "She's worn out most everything she had when they came to the poorhouse."

Miss Jane started forward. It was suddenly terrible to have "poorhouse" associated with this wistful-faced steady-eyed child.

Just then the little girl looked up at Miss Jane, and, heedful of what had been passing, said in a voice with an irresistible cadence: "Those are like the roses in my mummy's garden at my home."

For a moment Miss Jane and the child looked at one another, the child's fearless gaze studying the woman's face, Miss Jane's heart expanding with a great, overwhelming purpose.

Knocking suddenly, she put her arm

All Sensible People Drink Ale and Stout! Why Not You?

about the slight figure and said: "You haven't any home now?"

"No. O, yes, the poorhouse. The child corrected herself with a trembling lip, yet with a quick grateful glance at Miss Gates, who had stopped talking to look up at her.

"How old are you, dear?" Miss Jane asked.

"Four years old last January," the voice was like delicate music.

"Dorothy," replied Miss Jane, "I haven't any little girl?" questioned the child shyly.

"No, Dorothy."

"I haven't any mummy here now," said the child slowly, "and you haven't any little girl?"

"No," said Miss Jane; then, with a strange new tenderness in her voice she repeated: "Will you come to live with me?"

"I like you," sighed the child leaning forward in wistful abandon against Miss Jane's shoulder.

Mrs. Barnes stared out of the window, swallowing great sobs. Her plan had met with a success far beyond her expectations.

"She may as well stay now," Miss Gates spoke very gently, "I can send over her things by old Tim."

"I will send for them immediately," Miss Jane looked up, already defensive.

"That evening when the earth and the trees had been lulled into quiet by the south wind, Miss Jane sat in the dim-lighted hall upstairs, just outside the spare-room where Dorothy lay asleep.

"She seems like a flower—that dear little face and that big white pillow!" Miss Jane said, rather incoherently, to Mrs. Barnes, who had just wandered restlessly out from her own room.

"There's nothing like a baby, in all the world, except two babies—or, twenty!" replied Mrs. Barnes unsteadily.

"It's just as selfish of old maids as it is of married women not to have children, maybe worse," continued Miss Jane. "The Bible says more are the children of the unmarried than of them who have husbands. I shall be proud of my bonnie baby girl."

Years had dropped from Miss Jane as if by magic. Her face glowed with a new life.

"When folks are proud, they have things taken away from them." Mrs. Barnes' voice trembled.

"If the Lord should take away this little girl, I would find another one," said Miss Jane, with solemn conviction. "I suppose you never thought of anything as my adopting the child."

Mrs. Barnes was spared answering, for Miss Jane went on, eagerly: "In fact, when Dorothy is eight or nine years old, I think I shall adopt another child, and keep on adopting one every few years, as long as I live. Each child will be self-sufficient, as being spoiled and selfish. As for me, it will mean that I shall always have something around of the morning and the springtime. That is just what children are—morning and springtime."

For the remainder of the evening Miss Jane kept watch over the sleeping child, while Mrs. Barnes, in her room, sat in the dark, thinking.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY TRAIN AT TRURO.

George Doyle, a Brakeman, Killed in I. C. R. Yard—Elas Barber Lost His Life at South Mattland.

Truro, August 21—An accident which resulted this evening in the death of Brakeman George Doyle, occurred in the new Intercolonial yard this morning. He was run over and killed by the fast freight No. 176 from Mulgrave, the first pair of engine truck wheels passing over him before the engine was stopped. No. 67, was in charge of Engineer Al Stevens, of Truro. It is supposed that Doyle while in the act of closing the switch ahead of the freight lost his grip on the switch handle, fell across the track in front of the train, and struck his head on the sleepers losing consciousness. The switch was found open with Doyle's lantern beside it. Engineman Stevens did not see the man lying on the track, but stopped for the open switch. Doyle was about twenty-three years of age and has been in the employ of the I. C. R. a comparatively short time. He leaves a widow and two children.

Elas Barber, of South Mattland, sixty-five years of age, was killed yesterday while at work loading lumber into a schooner at that place. Barber was attending the sling by which the cargo was being conveyed from the shore to the vessel. He lost his foot hold and fell fifteen feet to the rocks, striking his head and fracturing his skull.

Japan Takes Over Korea

TWELVE MILLIONS OF PEOPLE AND VAST TERRITORY TO BECOME PART OF JAPAN.

Tokio, Aug. 21 — Within the week "the hermit Kingdom" and the Empire of Korea will become historical terms, twelve millions of people will be added to the population of Japan, and territory as large as England will become part of the Japanese Emperor's dominions. The Treaty of Portsmouth, which settled the war between Japan and Russia reads that Japan shall have the "guidance, protection and control" of Korea, and the last stage of this agreement is now becoming an actuality after three years of experimenting to discover a practical method of conserving the national entity of the Korean peninsula.

A NEW TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT

One day in July, 1909, a Presbyterian clergyman in the city of Armagh persuaded twelve hard drinkers to sign the pledge. Before parting with them he said: "Now perhaps each of you could bring a pal to my house tomorrow and induce him to sign." "I think I can catch my pal," said one of the men, and that was the origin of the "Catch My Pal" movement now sweeping over the north of Ireland. Scarcely a town or village in Ulster is without an enthusiastic band of members, each of whom wears an enameled brass button bearing the words, "Catch My Pal Union." The public houses in many of the provincial manufacturing towns have lost fully fifty per cent of their trade. Of the three thousand inhabitants of Cookstown, County Tyrone, over seven hundred men joined the union in November and December, and the percentage is equally great in other towns. And in this movement Ireland seems determined to pay back Scotland for the legendary gift of St. Patrick. Misdoctors have been sent already to west of Scotland, and the movement is said to have taken root in Glasgow.

NEGRO GIRL WORTH FIVE MILLIONS.

Perhaps the most unique personality among the wealthy women of the United States is Isabel Lewis, a thirteen year old negro girl. She is the richest girl in Oklahoma and lives in a little log cabin in an obscure part of the State.

Years ago one hundred and sixty acres of land were allotted to the father of the girl, a former slave of the Creek Nation, a trifle in Indiana. Then, some one discovered oil on the land, and the young negro, to whom the land was accredited, found herself the possessor of an income of from $200 to $650 a day, and owning land exceeding in value $5,000,000.

3,000 YEARS AGO THE EGYPTIANS CURED DISEASE WITH FRUIT

To-day, Canadians Are Doing It With "Fruit-a-lives"

—The Famous Fruit Medicine

We are apt to consider the age we live in as the most wonderful age that the world has ever known. It is in many respects. Yet the ancients surpassed us in some things. Engineers of our 40-story skyscrapers still marvel at the massive pyramids and the sphinx. So, too, the Egyptian physicians of 3,000 years ago, used fruit juices as a medicine for treating blood trouble, liver and kidney disease, and stomach weakness. Their method of mixing fruit juice as a medicine, is also one of the lost arts. A well known Canadian physician, however, perfected a method of utilizing fruit juices, which is one of the greatest discoveries of modern medical research. "Fruit-a-lives" is the natural cure for Chronic Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Torpid Liver, Kidney Disease, Pains in the Back, Bad Complexion, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Headache and Neuralgia. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

THE MAN WHO DESPAIRS TURNS HIS STRENGTH AGAINST HIMSELF.

He who despairs scuttles his own ship. He borrows holes in the bottom and lets in the bitter water of the seas of despondency to sink and destroy him. What if things do go against you and the battle of life seems to be all but lost. Keep up the fight. Only when you are hardest pressed does the best that is in you develop. Men go down fighting, doing their level best as long as there is a breath left in them for that sign of sublimity but, mark this well, the man who is so filled with determination there is no room for despair, generally does not go down at all. He is the winner of all his battles.

Despair is giving your strength to the strength of those persons or circumstances which oppose you! You are giving more power to the oppressor to oppress you. By despairing you are inviting adversity to scourge you with its knotted whip, for to him who submits to Adversity Adversity gives no mercy.

There is a magnetism in the spectacle of a fighter who seems to despair when he is fighting the battle of life is some poor man patiently working in a bare home or whether it is a lone man fighting odds in a street combat. Aid suddenly and uncalled for comes at last to the courageous, because each heart will at length attract its own.

The extent to which the common house fly may become the bearer of diseases was illustrated recently in the case of a typhoid fever epidemic in the town of Lyons, N. Y., where eighteen cases of the disease were traced to milk that had been exposed to visitation by swarms of flies which also had access to typhoid infection. The health authorities of New York State definitely located the source of infection, ordered a change of methods in the dairy in question, and the epidemic died out.

Nova Scotia Guides' Association Meets

Passed Resolution Asking That Inland Fisheries be Placed Under Control of Provincial Government.

Yarmouth, Aug. 19.—The Nova Scotia Guides' Association is holding its annual meeting at Lakeside Park. The outside members present are—Chief Game Commissioner Knight, of Halifax; Provincial Game Inspector C. Odell, of Annapolis, the President of the Association as well as the officers of the branches outside of Yarmouth. At the regular annual business meeting the following officers were elected:—President, Dr. E. Breck, Annapolis; Vice-President, L. D. Mitchell, Annapolis; Secretary-Treasurer, Roy S. Kelley, Yarmouth Council, Paula Gushing, New Granton, Queens Co; A. I. Thomas, South Milford, Annapolis Co., N. B. Hatfield, Deerfield, Yarmouth Co.

At the meeting of last night the following resolution was adopted unanimously—

"Whereas, the present system of divided jurisdiction over the inland fisheries of this province is beyond all doubt resulting in the steady and alarming depletion of our trout and salmon waters, owing to notorious and unpunished breaches of the law, and inadequate restocking of the waters, and

"Whereas, the collection of the funds resulting from the sale of fishing permits is being carried on in a most un-uniform, arbitrary and therefore unjust manner, and

"Whereas, the order-in-council of the Dominion Government of September 12th, 1907, diverts the revenue from the fishing permits to the Dominion instead of the Provincial treasury, and

"Whereas, other provinces of Canada have assumed partial control of their inland fisheries with the greatest advantage to themselves,

"Therefore, be it resolved that this Association do earnestly petition the Government of Nova Scotia to take immediate steps to acquire from the Dominion Government the control and administration of the inland fisheries of this province."

About sixty licensed guides from the Western Counties of Annapolis, Digby, Yarmouth, Shelburne and Queens are in attendance at these meetings besides many local sportsmen.

Today was given over to sports, such as rifle shooting, trap shooting, double canoe races, log chopping, fly casting, trout casting, log burling, canoe tilting, etc., all of which were keenly contested, although the weather was exceedingly disagreeable. At eight o'clock this evening, the annual banquet was held, and addresses delivered by E. H. Armstrong, M. P.

The Nova Scotia Guides' Association is filling a long felt want in Nova Scotia, and is doing much to bring game and fisheries under control and the furthering of their protection.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Sold by all dealers.

FORESTS IN NOVA SCOTIA ARE PROTECTED.

The great destructive forest fires in the Western States and Canada are in a large measure due to the insufficient means taken to protect the fires. In Nova Scotia there have been few forest fires of late, because at last the people are beginning to realize the value of the trees and the forests here are being pretty well protected. The inhabitants seem to know and are not nearly as careless.

At present there is a survey party going all over the province looking and studying the local conditions and the best methods which are most adapted for Nova Scotia in protecting of the tree areas, reforestation of the country. So far there has been no scientific survey of the forests been carried out; but this survey party which has now been working last summer and this summer will have finished their work by the end of the season as they are now somewhere in the extreme western counties. Then a report will be compiled and the measures recommended by them will no doubt be adopted shortly. For the present there are the forest rangers to take care of the crown lands. These men are officers appointed by the Government. There is a chief ranger for the whole province and chief rangers for each county or so for there are in all about fifteen. Then there are also sub-rangers. If anyone wishes to light fires for the purpose of clearing land they must obtain permits from these rangers and thus in some measure the forests are protected from careless and wanton destruction.

THE BULL A VALUABLE ANIMAL.

In many cases less attention is given to the bull than to the cow. Many farmers desire to possess superior cows, but from appearances on the average farm one frequently sees some looking specimens doing duty as bulls. It forces one to believe that there are numerous farmers who do not care what breed, form, size or other points they own so long as the animals can do the work required.

This is an extremely unfortunate attitude, and when put in practice, as it is far too often, it is quite certain that the stock produced will be of an inferior character. It is here the mistake becomes conspicuous and more noticeable later when the progeny is marketed.

Superior cows are very desirable, but a good bull is more so, and it should be the ambition of all to own such, not only as a credit to oneself, but as a money getter.

A cow may be as good as is possible, but use an inferior bull and her calf will be moderate, to say the least, but use a substantial bull and ninety-nine chances to one the calf will be better either than the sire or dam.

Attempts to breed from a poor class of cows with a bull of a similar character only results in the production of a lot of weeds, but if a really good bull is used for inferior cows the stock will be improved perceptibly both in appearance and value.

A pure bred bull of any kind is an acceptable animal, but crossed ones are doubtful. That some are good it must be admitted, but the majority are rubbish. It does not matter what the object of breeding be—milk production in the extreme or beef with great development on the most valued sires—a superior bull will always make its mark and have a large share in securing all that is required for ornament and utility.

THE VALUABLE SEPARATOR.

Care Should Be Exercised to Keep This Instrument Clean.

The cream separator enters into the matter of the production of pure cream as one of the greatest factors of cleanliness. To insure the production of cream free from bacterial infection to any marked degree it is necessary to exert the greatest care in the keeping clean of the separator. Although the average housewife on the farm may and does use good judgment and pride in taking care of the separator, there are a sufficient number of housewives that do not require much agitation of the subject.

The separator must be washed after each and every separation if the greatest care is to be exercised and at least once a day if freedom from expensive bacterial infection is desired. Many cases are familiar where no further washing is made other than that of flushing the machine out with hot or cold water. With this manner of washing it is impossible to keep clean and free from bacterial infection.

Not only does cleanliness in the matter of washing exert great influence, but it is necessary to locate the separator in a place that is sanitary as well as convenient. Too often the former factor is forgotten; too often does the farmer place his separator where it will be the most difficult for him, with no thought whatever of the sanitary conditions surrounding.

Not only do undesirable bacteria, purdective in their nature, fall into the milk and cream, but the odors of an unclean stable are absorbed by the cream. The volatile fats of butter fat, constituting 8 per cent of the entire quantity, absorb very readily any odor that may be associated near the cream.

Thus to insure a cream free from odors or taints it is impossible to place the separator anywhere but in a clean place without injuring the quality of the cream. Thus the separator exerts much influence in the keeping clean of cream. Since its introduction the separator has revolutionized the cream business, but it has not eliminated that great factor of cleanliness.

Hogs Pay For Keeping.

No animal on the farm is better adapted to turning good feed quickly into marketable meat than the hog, and none can better repay from a market standpoint a discriminating system of feeding. This is particularly true as to first cost, for the hog is by nature planned to utilize the least expensive feeds and will manufacture into roastsome pork much that might otherwise be reckoned of little value. If not waste. In any phase of farm economy the hog is a feature, and his proper feeding has in innumerable instances been the factor that kept a farm's profit on the right side of the ledger.

BEST RATION FOR COACH STALLIONS.

According to a prominent breeder, there is nothing better than the usual stallion ration of 4/5ths and bran. Cracked oats mixed about one-fourth as much bran by weight make a good combination. It is bulky, safe, nutritious and agreeable to the stallion's taste, digestion and requirements. A bran mash once or twice a week has for years been deemed desirable for its laxative effect unless the stallion has access to grass, but some of the leading practitioners condemn the weekly bran mash as conducive to colic.

Some owners prefer to depend entirely on cured feed throughout the season, but others equally successful obtain a few minutes' grazing daily at the balter or the run of a grass lot as very essential to the health and vigor of their stallions. The freedom of a rocky lot with a high strong fence is a splendid thing, grass or no grass.

The essential thing in the feeding is to furnish the horse abundant nourishment, keeping his system in vigorous, healthy form. Whatever grass is fed should be grazed by the horse. It is not safe to feed it in the barn, for almost surely some of it will at some time sour in the manger and produce trouble. It is better to graze the horse in the evening rather than in the morning.

Timothy hay is the safest kind to feed, and most of it should be fed long. If the horse bolts his grain cut some hay short and mix about two quarts of the with each feed of grain. The total amount of the grain feed per day should be about one pound for each hundred pounds that the horse weighs, but more should be given if he has a large amount of road work or is a hard keeper.

There is great variation in the requirements of different horses in this respect. Of hay he should have about a pound a day for each hundred pounds that he weighs, and little variation would be made from this rule unless he gets considerable grass.

Give the grain in three equal feeds, and give about half the hay at night.

FINE SET COACH STALLION.

(By courtesy of Iowa State College.) and the rest divided between morning and noon. If strictly first class clover or alfalfa hay is available a little of it may be fed with evident benefit. A little oilmeal, but over a pound a day, as fed by some successful stallions with good results.

It is doubtful if sufficient benefit follows the use of eggs to make it worth washing is made other than that of the horse appears to be poorly nourished and has a very large patrouse there may be something gained by feeding them.

Men who feed eggs generally give two to four eggs beaten up in as many quarts of milk. To this may be added a double handful of oilmeal, first scalded, and the whole fed warm after supper.

Butter Hints.

In some parts of the country during the last fifteen years the price of grain has increased from 50 to 150 per cent, while dairy products have gone up only 25 per cent. It is not the dairyman who overcharges.

Pure bred cows pay the best, but not every pure bred cow is a good one. You must select among them the same as among scrubs, but the general average is higher and the pay better.

The sire is often said to be half the herd. If so, he should be a good one, and you can afford to have no other. Nor can you stand back on a little more cost. If the true value is there, money saved is cost's money lost.

The trouble with fibredred is that without care it perpetuates the bad as well as the good points of the breed. This should be obviated by careful mating.

Lumps on Horses' Legs.

On the appearance of any lump about the legs of a horse it should be bathed diligently with water as hot as can be borne. What might develop into a spavin may sometimes in this way be checked at the start.

Oilmeal is Valuable.

Two tablespoonfuls of oilmeal put in the horse's ground feed each time will keep the bowels relaxed and healthy, the appetite and spirit keen and the coat sleek. It is better than any condition powder.
