If the war office authorities can see their way to confirming the news there will be great rejoicing throughout the British empire.

Commandant Dewet must still be reckoned with, however, and unless he can be persuaded to lay down his arms hostilities must proceed.

PUGILISTIC LAW MAKERS.

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—The session opened with a promise of storms. Later the Czechs resorted to obstruction, making speeches in their own tongue. The pan-Germans protested against this abuse of freedom of speech and a party of them invaded the Czech benches. The result was a fierce fisticuffs fight. A pan-German, named Srim, attempted to chastise a Czech named Frest, whereupon the Radical Czechs surrounded him. Stim's friends rushed to his rescue and the various groups became mixed up in a free fight, during which the president's bell and voice were drowned in the uproar. But eventually the president succeeded in making it known that the session was suspended. Before the house could be cleared, however, the rival members again clinched and fierce blows were exchanged.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 27.—As a result of the refusal of the Lake Carriers Association to grant the demands of the Maritime Engineers for additional help in the engine rooms of steamers. National President George Unier this afternoon declared a strike in force affecting about 1,800 engineers on the Grand Lakes. Prominent vessel owners today freely expressed the hope that the engineers might succeed in tying up lake commerce until July 1, as it would result in high carrying rates later and thereby insure a most prosperous year for the owners.

On the other hand President Uhler of the Maritime Engineers Association declared that his organization was never in better financial condition for a long struggle than at present. The strike order affects all members of the organization on passenger as well as freight boots. It is said that fully $5 per cent of the engineers on the Great Lakes are members of the organization.

LEFT HIS DOGS

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Times says:—When the Duke of Manchester sailed for England he left behind two terriers that he had intended to take with him. They were tagged with large labels on which were their names and that of the owner. But complications arose between the Duke and the man from whom he bought the dogs, some months ago, and as a result the mobleman had to leave the dogs behind. The reason he did not carry them with him" said a friend of the dogs former owner, "was that he had not paid for them."

"Mr. Kelly of Boston, who is a friend of mine, sold the terriers to the duke last year. Manchester promised to pay $1,500 for the pair. He did not pay. So when Kelly heard the duke was to sail he came to New York. "But when he went to the hotel the duke was not at home. However, Kelly took his lawyer to the hotel and lay in wait for the duke. He found him in the lobby. The duke said he had not the money. His father-in-law, when asked to pay the bill, refused to pay so much money for dogs, so the duke had to let Kelly take them."

"I do not regard this visitor as a comet. Nor is it the star of the Magi, for I have shown that to have been am aspect rather than a merely transient visitor. There is another star, called the Star of Bethlehem, whose period may be that of this one—about 317 years. Its appearance chimes very well with the aspect of the heavens at the visit of the Magi 1,902 years ago. "Astronomers have been on the watch for such a phenomenon as this for the past twelve years. It is notable that the period of the present star may fit both the date of Tycho Brahe and that of the visit of the Magi to Bethlehem 1902 years ago.

BLOWING OUT THE GAS. (Ottawa Citizen.)

(Ottawa Citizen.)

The other evening a young couple were nearly asphyxiated by gas in their bedroom in a Woodstock hotel. They came from the country and no doubt the newspaper humorists will be ringing the changes on the "blew-out-the-gas" joke. "Blew out the gas" is an easy explanation of these incidents which are only too numerous, but there may be another side to the question: In many hotels the gas fixtures are of a very cheap and primitive character and it is frequently difficult to turn the gas off without turning it on again. The light being extinguished it is hard to detect the escape of gas until the odor is diffused through the room. If in the meantime cape of gas until the odor is diffused rough the room. If in the meantime e occupant goes to sleep he is likely to sleep into eternity. In view of e number of asphyxiation cases in tels it would be well to have the sifutures, where gas is used, inected before the licenses are reward.

JOHN L. CRITICISES MRS. NATION ys Her Methods Are Not Ladyll and Lays It to Her Poor Head.

The depredations of Mrs. Carrie Nation, the Kansas saloon smasher, have been carefully followed by her eminent fellow clitzen, John L. Sullivan, always on the level. When John isn't entertaining visitors at his Forty-second street cafe, he's reading the newspapers; for the former champion of the world isn't drinking these days. Mirs. Nation, because of her pugnacity, has particularly interested Sullivan, though he does not approve of her methods.

you want in Topeks, and there always will be.

"Say, if this old lady is on the level, why doesn't she go down to Atchison or Leavenworth, two hot Kansas towns where the saloon is wide open and there's a lot of tough fellows hangin' around She's wise, see! Why, they'd throw her in the river if she got gay down there. I'd like to see her come in my place and start to smash things! Why. I'd just say to her:

"See here, madame, this place is insured and if you break a pane of glass off you go to the cooler!" Then if she went on breaking the place up, I'd put her out, hatchet and all, and when Sullivan puts anybody out o' here, she goes, see? Of course, we all know that Kansas is a prohibition state and that Mrs. Nation has a chance when she gets to smashing up the ginmills, but if she tries it in New York here she'll take some rough rides in the patrol wagon.

York here she'll take some rough rides in the patrol wagon.

"There's something the matter with her head! That's all there is to it. You can bet all the coin in the land that I'm right. When a woman so far forgets she's a lady and goes to smashing up saloons with an axe she's fit for a quiet place up in the country where she can't do any harm. Temperance is a good thing to preach and sometimes it's a good thing for those who preach it. Maybe Mrs. Nation is after a graft of some kind like the rest of us. It's a hard life and money's tight when you haven't got any and need it.

During the time the Canadian contingents were in South Africa in active service the popular regimental mascot was a monkey, and there were usually three or four of these little animals in each regiment. The South African ape is a remarkable intelligent animal, and they furnished no end of amusement to the boys by their strange ways and cunning antics. Wene the regiment was on the march the monkey presided over the transport, and rode on top of the heavily laden mule waggons. Not a few of these monkeys were smuggled down country and on board the troopship which brought is boys back to Canadian. Sergt. ## EDITOR AND WIFE JAILED.

BANGOR, Feb. 26.—At 5.10 o'clock Monday' afternoon Patrolman Knaide walked into the office of the publication known as the Hornet and placed Mrs. Mary Davis under argest on a writ for criminal libel issued by Judge Bailey of the municipal court on complaint of County Attorney B. L. Smith. The writ charges that in the issue of the Hornet of Feb. 16 there appeared an article of a malicious and libelious nature in regard to Rev. Edward A. Davis, of Oldtown. Mrs. Davis was taken to the police station and locked up in a cell on the second tier, where she remained all night.

When Robert B. Davis, editor and proprietor of the Hornet, was sentenced to jail, his wife, Mrs. Mary Davis, assumed charge of the paper, which explains why the writ was issued against her. BANGOR, Feb. 26.-At 5.10 o'clock

(Bangor Commercial, Wednesday.) For criminal libel against Rev. Edward Davis, pastor of the Cld Town Baptist church, printed in the publication known as the Hornet, on Feb. 16, Mrs. Mary Davis and Fred G. Whippie were sentenced to 11 months at hard labor in the county jail by Judge Bailey in the municipal court on Tuesday morning. The mittimuses in the two cases will not be issued until asked for by County Attorney. Smith, but it is agreed that hereafter no more numbers of the Hornet, libelous or not fibelous, good, bad or indifferent shall be issued. Upon their appearance Mrs. Davis and Whipple will at once commence serving their sentence.

Two numbers of the Hornet have been issued by Mrs. Davis and Whipple since Robert B. Davis, the editor, was centenced to 11 months' imprisonment by Chief Justice Wiswell in the supreme court. It is now confidently believed that the existence of the Hornet is at an end.

There promises to be a little trouble over the claim made by Philadelphia for the college pitcher, E. D. White of Georgetows University, who accepted terms with Toronto some weeks ago. Manager Barrow at the time forwarded him a contract, but it has not yet been returned, although he has written him several letters since. The fact that White agreed to sign is considered binding in base ball, and the local club will not walve the right to White's services without making a vigorous fight. Worcester is also after the collegian. Last summer in Worcester, in a game against Holy Cross, White performed the feat of striking out the first ten men who faced him. The big left-bander was satisfied when he had accomplished that, but he held the game well in hand and allowed only scattering his. Red Croes Society and Ladies of St. John, Walter Irvine and Walker Bell. After the toast of the King had been suitably honored, Edward Craig proposed the health of Capt, Jones—the only officer who had gone through the campaign with his men.

In reply, Capt. Jones spoke feelingly of the warm sentiments he would always cherish for the men, and expressed his pleasure at the thought of meeting them amid such congenial surroundings at least once a year. He thought the proposed association of the men of G and H Companies to honor Paardeburg day would partially fall in its purpose, as many of the men would be unable to go to Halifax or any place outside of St. John for the yearly meet.

Mr. Craig favored a meeting once a year for St. John boys, and said June 5th must not be forgotten—the day on which Canada's sons marched into Pretoria.

Ralph Markham referred to Lord Roberts' never falling kindness and courtesy to the men and his humane sentiments generally, instancing a case where Lord Roberts sent his own doctor to attend the sick child of a Boer woman who was in the vicinity of the camp.

Arthur Morley proposed the health of the absent ones—those who would never return, but whose lives had been willingly given for the Empire. They sleep beneath the veldt, but those who returned should not forget them. Edward Craig responded simply yet eloquently.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Young Mrs. Winthrop, at the Opera house is probably the best play put on this season by the Valentine Stock company. The characters of this charming little society play were admirably represented. Miss O'Brien appeared to better advantage as Mrs. Winthrop than in any other character the writer has seen her in. Miss Helen Wilton is very young to appear on the stage, but she did much credit to her mother's careful training last evening. Miss Blancke always performs her part most conscientiously, and as Mrs. Dick Chetwynd was very entertaining. Douglas Winthrop, the wealthy New Yorker, was well represented by Mr. Horning and the other parts well sustained. The staging consisted of one sitting only, but it deserves special mention as being carefully prepared and well thought out. Young Mrs. Winthrop is the bill for tonight, and should receive the patronage of our people.

The work of tearing down the Reed's Point wharf is now going on, and as a result there is much timber of no value for further building lying around. This stuff is somewhat in the way. While it is not much good for building purposes it would make splendid fire wood, and the members of the council who are looking after the work have given orders that people who want it for this purpose may come and take it away. This offer will work advantageously both ways, by clearing, the lumber from the place and by supplying free fire wood.

stance of a couple of passersby a mall child might have been drowned at the corner of Exmouth and Richmond streets yesterday at noon. This counds incredible, but drowning at hat very corner was quite within the younds of possibility. The sewer had shoked up, and a deep pool of water accumulated around the basin, a snow mound serving to make the miniature dam the deeper. The children were dam the deeper. The children were damned to the corner quickly and a tiny tot jumped from the middle of the road for safety. She slipped on the little hill of snow about the pool and falling on her back slid down head first into the water. Her head was submerged, and quirms were of no avail. Then assistance came. The child was choked, so that she could hardly speak, and in a few seconds more would no doubt have become insensible. Drowning on the streets of St. John would be a sad novelty, and it behooves the men with the steam thawing apparatus to keep their weather eye on overflowed sewer and puddled streets, for youthful St. John is a roistering youngster, and thinks as his elders did once upon a time, when they believed their lives were safe on the public streets.

ANOTHER BEAR IN NORTH END. ANOTHER BEAR IN NORTH END

ANOTHER BEAR IN NORTH END.

The residents at the other end of Adelaide street, north end, across the Newman Brook bridge, have a new sensation. The ghost of a few weeks ago has been supplanted by a bear. This time they can "give figgers" for their claims. Saturday evening at dusk quite a large black bear made his appearance on the Hannah property, and was seen by neighbors who were returning from milking. Bruin walked across an open field, inspected the government rifle range, and made a circuitous trip back into the woods. Next morning a couple of residents shouldered their muskets and tracked the intruder, but he was not located. The sight of a bear out on the Millidgeville road is quite probable, but if somebody does not soon capture it the good folk of that legality will but if somebody does not soon capture it the good folk of that locality will have to discver a sea serpent in New man brook to keep up the excitement

THE TOWEL HAS COME.

Some time ago the lavatories in the cold water were supplied, and a nice plece of yellow soap lay ready for use in a handsome mickel stand, to call for towels. But the people did. They called several times and were not heeded. The road was being run on business brinciples, and so long as the travelling public carried coat-tails and pocket handkerchiefs, towels were considered by the government to be superflucus luxuries. But that has passed now, and the gentleman's lavatory rejoices in a solitary roller towel. Its purchase has probably been charged up to capital accounts.

FRESH FISH SCARCE.

The local fish market is rather bare of fresh fish just at present. The large demand in the American and upper Canadian markets partly accounts for the scarcity of the supply here. Other quotations are: Halibut twelve to fifteen cents per pound; smelts, eight to ten cents; cod and haddock, four to five cents; cod steak eight cents a pound, and herring ten to fifteen cents and bloaters eighteen to twenty-four cents a dozen.

"Mag" Sullivan, is in jail again awaiting trial. She appeared in court yesterday as a witness, and succeeded in convicting: Nell Mitchell of Sheffield street of selling liquor with a license, a fine of $100 being imposed. The Mitchell woman is now in jail. Tomorrow Margaret Sullvan will appear before the magistrate to tell why she should not be termed a yzgrant. The subject of this article is the best known woman offender in St. John. Her career has been long and somewhat varied. Now close upon the three-score mark in age, she moves about with exceptional agility, and talks in short pertinent sentences, displaying not infrequently a keen wit.

The frequent leniencies shown this incorrigible woman by Magistrate Ritchie, in the hope that a helping hand thus lent would work in her a change for the better, only seemed a waste of good nature.
