LEON CZOLGOSZ

Met His Fate This Morning Without a Sign of Fear.

Seventeen Hundred Volts of Electricity Passed Through His Body, and Death was Instantaneous.

LEON CZOLGOSZ.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 28.—At 12:30 o'clock this morning Leon F. Czolgosz, murderer of President William McKinley, paid the extreme penalty exacted by the law for his crime. He was shocked to death by 1,700 volts of electricity. He went to the chair in exactly the same manner as have the majority of all the other murderers in the state, showing no particular sign of fear, but in fact, doing what few of them have done, talking to the witnesses while he was being strapped in the chair.

"I killed the president because he was an enemy of the good people—the good working people. I am not sorry for my crime."

These were his words as the guards hurried him into the chair. He supplemented a moment later, mumbling through the half adjusted face straps:

"I am awfully sorry I could not see my father."

Czolgosz retired last night at 10 o'clock and slept so soundly that when Warden Mead went to the cell shortly before five this morning the guard inside had to shake Czolgosz to awaken him. He sat up on the edge of his cot and made no reply to the warden's greeting of good-morning. The prison official took from his pocket the death warrant and read it slowly and distinctly to the assassin, who hardly raised his eyes during the ceremony. Just as the warden stepped away from the cell door, Czolgosz called to him and said:

"I would like to talk with the superintendent."

The warden responded: "He will be down presently."

Then the condemned man rolled over on his cot, apparently anxious to sleep again. At 5:15 however, the guard brought to him a pair of dark trousers with the left leg slit so as to allow the free application of the electrode and a light gray outfit shirt. He was told to get up and put these on, which he did. Contrary to the usual custom, he was given a new pair of shoes. When dressed he laid down on the cot again and in this attitude Superintendent Collins found him at 5:30, when he went down to visit him. The superintendent stood in front of the steel bars and when the guard had called Czolgosz's attention, he said:

"I want to make a statement before you kill me."

"What do you wish to say, Czolgosz?" asked the superintendent.

"I want to make it when there are a lot of people present. I want them to hear me," said the prisoner.

"Well, you cannot," said the superintendent.

"Then I won't talk at all," said the prisoner sullenly.

After the superintendent had left, the guards brought Czolgosz's breakfast, consisting of coffee, toast, eggs and bacon, and he ate with quite a good deal of relish. While he was partaking of this the witnesses were gathered in the office of Warden Mead, and at 7:45 o'clock the procession passed to the death chamber, going through the long south corridor.

In the chamber Electrician Davis and former Warden Thayer, of Danmore, had arranged the chair-test, placing a bank of 22 incandescent lights across the arms and connecting the electrode wires at either end. The witnesses were ordered seated and then Warden Mead briefly addressed them, saying: "You are here to witness the legal death of Leon F. Czolgosz. I desire that you keep your seats and keep absolute silence in the death chamber, no matter what may transpire. There are plenty of guards and prison officials to preserve order and attend to the proper details."

The prison physician, Dr. Gerin, and Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, of New York, took a position to the left of the chair, Warden Mead stood directly in front, and Electrician Davis retired to the little room containing the electrical switchboard. Thayer gave the signal and the current was turned through the electric lights, flooding the chamber with brilliant light and dramatically showing the power that was used to kill the prisoner.

Warden Mead gave the signal to have the prisoner brought in, and at 7:10 o'clock Chief Keeper Tupper swung open the big steel door leading to the condemned cells, and as the steel bars behind which Czolgosz had been kept were swung aside the two guards marched the prisoner out into the corridor, two others following behind, and the chief keeper walking in front. The guards on either side of Czolgosz had hold of his arms either as if to support him, or to keep him from making a demonstration. As he stepped over the threshold he stumbled, but they held him up and as they urged him forward toward the chair he stumbled again on the little rubber covered platform upon which the chair rested. His head was erect and with his gray flannel shirt turned back at the neck, he looked quite boyish. He was intensely pale and as he tried to throw his head back and erect, his chin quivered very perceptibly. As he was being seated he looked about at the assembled witnesses with quite a steady stare and said:

"I killed the president because he was an enemy of the good people—the working people."

for a brief two or three seconds. The body, which had collapsed as the current was reduced, stiffened up again against the straps, when it was turned off again. Dr. MacDonald stepped to the chair and put his head over the heart. He said he felt no pulsation, but suggested that the current be turned on for a few seconds again. Once more the body became rigid. At 7:15 the current was turned off for good.

From the time Czolgosz had left his cell until the full penalty was paid, less than four minutes had elapsed. The physicians present used the stethoscope and other tests to determine if any life remained and at 7:17 the warden, raising his hand, announced: "Gentlemen, the prisoner is dead?"

The witnesses filed from the chamber, many of them visibly affected and the body, which five minutes before had been full of life and vigor, was taken from the chair and laid on the operating table.

When the body of Czolgosz had been removed from the room where he was killed to the autopsy table, Auburn prison returned to the routine of its ordinary life. The prisoners who had been kept locked in their cells, were released at 7:45 o'clock and prison work was resumed at once. There was no excitement among the convicts and no unusual scene about the prison. A crowd that numbered scarcely a hundred, stood around the prison gate to watch the witnesses enter and wait until they re-appeared. The witnesses dispersed quickly, some of them leaving for their homes.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The physicians holding the autopsy have decided after a critical examination, that Czolgosz's brain was "normal if not above normal."

CAMP MEETING EPISODE.

Two White Men and Eleven Negroes Dead as Result of Race Riot.

COLUMBIA, Miss., Oct. 29.—The town of Columbia and its vicinity was thrown into great excitement yesterday by several messengers from the vicinity of Balltown, La., about 25 miles below here, who brought the news that a race riot had been precipitated between the whites and blacks of that section by the shooting and burning of the Negro, Bill Morris, who criminally assaulted and almost murdered Mrs. John Ball a few days ago. Several runners brought the news that numerous white men had been killed, and that the negroes were arming themselves for the fray. This information created the wildest excitement and a number of men, headed by Deputy Sheriff Branton of this county and Marshal T. T. Ford, of Columbia, all fully armed, left for the scene of the trouble.

Telegrams were sent to Governor Heard, of Louisiana, by citizens of Washington parish who were in Columbia, informing him of the situation, and an attempt was made by Sheriff Ball, of Marion County to reach Governor Longino of Mississippi. The wires were down and nothing could be accomplished until last evening, when answers were received instructing the sheriffs to call out the nearest troops if needed.

It seems a negro named Crea Lott was really at the bottom of the trouble. He was reported to the officers of Washington parish that Lott, who lived near Booth, La., was running a restaurant without a license at a camp meeting at Live Oak church, where a negro revival was in progress. The constable of the district gathered a posse and started to investigate. Lott was apprised of the approach in advance and was ready for trouble when it reached Live Oak church. The posse was about one hundred yards from the church when from ambush the negroes opened fire from two or three directions. The constable bade his men pay no attention to the firing as it was from a distance. He said all he wanted to do was to capture Lott.

When the restaurant, where Lott had his goods was reached, the posse was fired on by Lott and negroes concealed behind the counters. The firing became general, between the posse and the restaurant crowd and also between whites and negroes all over the ground. At this juncture the posse deemed it necessary to fire the Lott restaurant in order to dislodge his gang. Lott rushed out when the torch was applied and discharged a double-barrelled shot gun into the crowd of whites. Twenty-two bullets took effect in the side of Joe Seal, one of the posse, from the effects of which he died. A negro who followed Lott shot a man named Elliott, one of the posse, through the stomach with a .35 calibre pistol. The negroes tried to escape, but others had their guns levelled and riddled their bodies with bullets. Lott was a shapeless mass of blood and brains before his body hit the ground.

During the fight a negro preacher came out of the church armed with a musket. He was shot and killed before he could use it.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away there were five dead negro men, three women, two burned beyond recognition, who perished in Lott's restaurant, and one child who was with its mother in the restaurant and perished with her.

The fences, trees, church, house and camps were thoroughly riddled with bullets. There must have been fully two thousand shots fired. It is rumored that since the fight one Negro has been found dead in the swamps and several wounded have applied for assistance at neighboring houses. The negroes took to the woods like scared rabbits after and during the shooting, and almost none can be found in the neighborhood. Sheriff Simmons, of Washington Parish and posse, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Barton, of Marion county, and posse, were on the ground early this morning, and assisted in burying the dead and taking care of the wounded.

Quiet prevails this morning, according to the latest reports from Balltown, but further trouble is not at all unlikely.

LOCAL NEWS.

Next Sunday will be Rally Day in the Carleton Baptist church. A good programme has been prepared.

There are a number of cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria in the city. Two or three cases of diphtheritic croup are also reported.

Yesterday afternoon a horse belonging to a man by the name of Greig fell on Charlotte street. The shaft of the wagon was broken, but the horse was not injured.

William Diamond, of Carleton, wishes the Star to state that he was not employed at all by the authorities in the small-pox cases. He has had nothing whatever to do with them.

The first consignment of rock cod from Grand Manan was brought to the city last night. A magnificent specimen weighing over forty pounds, was exhibited at the fish stall in the market this morning.

This forenoon Jacob Nofel applied at the police court for a warrant against James Ramsay, Jimmy the Squaller, charging him with assault. From the appearance of Nofel's left eye it would seem as though Jimmy had done something more than squeal. The warrant was issued.

While No. 3 hose cart was out for exercise on King street east this forenoon in charge of Driver Donohue, W. A. Hickman took a number of instantaneous photos of the piece of apparatus as it passed and re-passed on the run.

This afternoon the funeral of the late Jean G. Bryden, daughter of William Bryden, took place from the residence of Charles E. V. Cowan of Randolph. Services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Dykeman, after which the body was taken for interment to Ingleisle.

The habit of "jiggling" from school or playing truant has become quite common of late, and many reports have been made about it. This morning Sergt. Campbell took charge of one young lad from Brussels street who had been indulging in this favorite form of amusement and escorted him to the central station, where the boy, thoroughly frightened, gave an earnest promise that he would never stay away from school again.

SHEFFIELD STREET CRUELTY.

An Infant Nearly Perishing From Neglect.

Some sixteen or seventeen years ago Johnny Dugan, of Sheffield street, instead of following the example set by the original gentleman of that name in stealing McCarthy's wife, became acquainted with McCarthy's daughter Mary. During the succeeding years "Mary and John, down in the old Skysail Alley, fell deep in love and were engaged to be wed." Their life has since then been one long uninterrupted honeymoon; but, like the moon, they have sometimes been full. Their children have, through no fault of the parents, grown up, and are well known residents of Sheffield street. But now a change is noticeable in the manner of the upbringing of the children and from an entry on the police books today it would seem as though the latest addition to the Dugan family, a child only one year old, was destined to come to a premature end.

Last night, between nine and ten o'clock officers Finley and Baxter visited the Dugan bachelors' yard, and upon entering found that the place was furnished with a filthy shake-down, and some remnants of furniture. In a maulin condition on the floor were Mary and John, properly drunk. There was, in spite of the cold, no fire in the stove and no fuel with which to build one. Nor was the cupboard in any better condition than the one in which Mother Hubbard endeavored to find the bones. The little child was lightly clad, seemed to be half starved and was almost dead from neglect. The parents have been reported to the court and will appear before the magistrate tomorrow in order to explain their conduct.

PERSONAL.

Miss Margaret Johnson, of Fredericton, is visiting friends in the city. Hon. H. A. McKeown, who went up to Boston on Saturday, returned today.

Miss Mary Connell, one of Woodstock's popular young ladies, will, next Thursday, become Mrs. J. Benson, of Chatham—Woodstock Press.

Mrs. A. Harley, who has been visiting her home at Halifax, has returned to Fredericton and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Winklow.

John B. Belding, station agent of the Boston & Maine railway at Gilbertville, Mass., and formerly of Apohaqui, Kings Co., was operated on for appendicitis, two weeks ago last Saturday, and until three days ago was very dangerously ill. He is now in a fair way for recovery.

La. Col. McLean came in from Woodstock at noon today.

Robert Roach, a well known resident of Newfoundland, and formerly well known throughout this province, came to Nova Scotia, passed through New York, accompanied by his little daughter, who had undergone an operation for his disease.

Chas. M. Bostwick, Jr., arrived home today via Boston, after a trip to the Pan-American and to various American cities.

J. Corcoran, of the I. C. R., Moncton, passed through today after a visit to Boston and New York.

J. B. Eagles and Mrs. Eagles, who have been visiting Boston and New York, returned to Woodstock today.

John R. Knight, Mrs. Knight and their son, of Douglas Avenue, returned today from Boston. Mrs. Knight has been visiting that city for some weeks.

"A CHILD'S SUPPLICATION."
 Last evening at bedtime, while the little daughter of a prominent citizen was saying her customary prayer at her mother's knee before going to sleep she added, as her own especial supplication: "Oh, Lord, don't let us take the smallpox. I'll tell you what to do with it. Send it to the war and give it to the Boers. Amen."

SMALLPOX.

After It Was Thought to Be Under Control Another Case Was Reported To-day.

The board of health officials were this morning of the opinion that they had the epidemic under control. Up to that time no new cases had been reported since Sunday morning, and those who have taken the disease are said to have but a mild form. All of the patients are doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. The rumors of new cases has also diminished. Yesterday there was but one suspected case, that of Andrew Faulkner of Parraboro, a seaman on the schooner Levuka, now lying in Market alley. It proved, however, to be nothing more serious than measles.

However the demand for vaccination has not abated, and the doctors are busy operating on the large number of applicants. As a result the call for vaccine has been unprecedented. Cream of tartar is, the druggists say, in great demand on account of the old receipt of Dr. Botsford published in last night's Star. Many people put more faith in it than they do in vaccine, although a number are using both.

Early in the afternoon, however, the hopes of the board of health officials were considerably dampened by the report of another case. It is that of Mrs. R. J. Wilkins, of 104 Wright street, and was reported by Dr. Morris. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins and one child. The house was put in strict quarantine. Mrs. Wilkins may be taken to the epidemic hospital, ill at her home, City Road.

Miss Debow, the first to take the disease, is reported today to be seriously ill. Mrs. D. McCarthy of Wall street and the young daughter of Geo. Ketchum of Garden street were yesterday afternoon removed to the epidemic hospital, where everything is progressing favorably. Seven of the nine cases in town are now being treated there, and all are apparently doing well. No symptoms of any trouble have appeared in the General Hospital, which is also being kept under the strictest quarantine.

At the meeting of the board of health yesterday provision was made for the feeding of the quarantined families and for placing the quarantine placards at the entrance to the public hospital, to which no admission will be given without a written order from the chairman of the board. It was also decided to follow up the pupils of Miss Robinson's private school on Leinster street, which had been attended by Mr. Ketchum's daughter, and to see that all in an intoxicated condition are now being treated there, and all are apparently doing well. No symptoms of any trouble have appeared in the General Hospital, which is also being kept under the strictest quarantine.

Of the individuals who jumped the quarantine at the Hamilton house, Marsh road, the majority have been apprehended and replaced. The police arrested one of them, George Ryder, last night in an intoxicated condition and placed him in the lockup on Gilbert's lane. He will today be handed over to the health authorities and returned to quarantine. The lockup in which he spent the night will be thoroughly fumigated and no other occupant is placed in it.

Many of the merchants of the city are taking strict precautions against infection, such as fumigating all bills coming in and providing for the vaccination of recent customers. In the Bank of Montreal the money is put through a course of thorough fumigation with a preparation called "Sanitas," both morning and evening, and one of the rules of the institution is that all its employees shall be vaccinated. Other banks are likewise taking precautions.

The outside work of the Victorian Order is being carried on by the new nurses, whose services may be obtained by telephoning at any hour of the day to the office of Dr. Emery, Waterloo street.

A special meeting of the board of school trustees was held last night, when a resolution was passed requiring that all children attending the public schools must be vaccinated or give evidence of recent vaccination by Nov. 4th. Any who do not conform to this requirement will not be admitted to the school buildings.

The chairman of the board of school trustees was authorized to close any school in case of emergency.

POLICE COURT.

One Drunk, a Liquor Case and Ada May King.

John O'Neill, entered on the police books as a native of Ireland, was arrested by Sergt. Campbell on St. John street last evening. O'Neill appears to have spiritual longings which need frequent assuaging and this was the cause of both his downfall and his uplifting. This morning, owing to the absence of Sergt. Campbell, who had waited in the court room nearly an hour and had finally gone back to his duty, O'Neill was remanded to await the officer's reappearance.

Margaret McCarthy was reported for keeping liquor for sale in her place on North street on Sunday last. When notified by Sergt. Campbell to attend court this morning Margaret refused, as she was in dread of being put in jail, but finally overcame her fears and appeared. She pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined fifty dollars and thirty days. The magistrate remarked that according to the books the defendant and Mary Donovan were the only violators of the liquor act in the city. Margaret is very old and feeble, but refuses to go into the almshouse, although the opportunity has been afforded her.

Ada May King, for stealing a number of rings, was yesterday sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd for six years upon her own request.

WILL GO SOUTH.

His Honor Judge Forbes will leave on Friday for an extended trip south. He will go to Bermuda by way of Halifax and will visit the different British West India Islands and Cuba, returning through the United States. During his absence of about three months, Judge Wedderburn will look after his courts.

The royal train will be open for inspection this evening and will be lighted by electricity.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Advertisers in the STAR are requested to send in copy not later than TEN O'CLOCK IN THE FORENOON, in order that the matter may be set up in time for that day's issue.

RAID ON COUNTERFEITERS.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—A counterfeiting establishment for pennies was found in Cambridge this afternoon, according to the statements of secret service officers, after United States Deputy Marshal Waters and Bailiff Ruhl had arrested William Weiner and Charles Sarantofsky. The counterfeiting was done in a second hand furniture store on Main street. The die, press, sheet copper and other material were seized, and there is evidence that the city has been flooded with bad pennies for a year.

SO AS BY FIRE.

PRETORIA, Oct. 29.—Commandant General Botha's recent escape from the British columns pursuing him was a close affair. Major Remington marched on the commander-in-chief's quarters at night. The die, press, sheet copper and other material were seized, and there is evidence that the city has been flooded with bad pennies for a year.

I. C. R. SALARIES INCREASED.

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 29.—Quite a number of salary increases are reported in the Intercolonial offices here. Thos. Williams, chief accountant, gets $600 more; C. W. Burnyeat, of the same department, $200; Harry Williams, of the engineering office, $300; A. McLellan, private secretary, $15 per month, and Frank Forge, C. G. Strong, G. C. Allen and J. W. Humphrey, of the passenger department, $10 each per month.

SAID PASHA.

Said Pasha, as presented by the Robinson Opera Company in the York Theatre last night, was thoroughly enjoyed by an audience which literally filled the building.

The Robinson Opera Company have improved since their last appearance here, and by their opening performance of last night fully sustained the high reputation they have already gained. The opera, as well known in St. John, but it is one that seems to be more enjoyed every time it is seen. The comedy of the piece, furnished by Young and Whyte, kept the audience in almost continuous laughter, nor was the work of the other performers in any way behind that of the comedians.

Miss Jarbeau and Miss Kilcayne, as Serena and Afri, took their parts in a most pleasing manner; their singing being especially enjoyable. The part of Said Pasha was well taken by Mr. Thompson, as were also those of Hassan Bey, Terrano and the Begum by P. V. French, Clayton Ferguson and Victor DeLacy.

This afternoon, as their first matinee, the company will present the Chinese of Normandy, and this evening, Fra Diavola will put on.

Y. M. A. ENTERTAINMENT.

An entertainment and social was held by the St. Luke's Young Men's Association in the schoolroom of the church last evening. There was a large attendance, and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner. The following programme was presented: Opening remarks by the president, H. Campbell; solo, E. Taylor; gramophone selections, J. Thompson; solo, J. Brown; flute solo, Mr. Watkins; harmonica solo, A. Taylor; solo, E. Kincaid; chorus, members Y. M. A.; gramophone selections, J. Thompson; presentation of the Gallia cup to a group contained by the door of philanthropy, W. J. Harrison, E. Bramham and W. Jones. The presentation was made by the Rev. R. P. McKim, who congratulated the crew on their success in winning the cup at the last annual regatta.

After the programme refreshments were served by the Y. M. A.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

The missionary committee of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Methodist Conference was to have met in the parlors of Centenary church at ten o'clock this forenoon, but owing to the absence of Rev. Dr. Evans of Hampton, the secretary treasurer of the committee, who was unavoidably detained, the regular meeting was not held. The committee, which is composed of the churches of the different districts, held an informal meeting. Those in attendance are Rev. G. W. Fisher of Moncton, president of the conference; Rev. ROOSEVELT'S OPINION.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt's article in the Forthnightly Review on "Reform through social work; some forces that tell for decency in New York," continues to attract attention in Great Britain, says the London correspondent of the world.

"The highest philanthropy," he writes, "is that which springs from a feeling of brotherhood, which therefore rests on a self-respecting, healthy basis of mutual obligation and common effort." Captain Norton F. Goddard, he declares, is the only man in New York who ever entered upon a career as a district leader by the door of philanthropy, and having referred to his establishment of the civic club, he adds: "Very speedily Goddard found himself brought into hostile, embarrassing contact with that huge, highly organized system of corruption tempered with malevolent charity, Tammany Hall. Every toe of decency, from the policy player to the protected proprietor of a law-breaking saloon, has had some connection with Tammany. Every move in any direction has resulted from contact of some sort with the man or the institution under Tammany's control."
