A PASSING WISH.

O for the life of a Gipsy!
A strong-armed, barefoot girl;
And to have the wind forla waiting maid
'To keep my hair in curl; To bring me scent of the violet, And the red rose, and the pine ; And at night to spread my grassy bed—

O for the life of a Gipsy ! So gloriously free; Through the world to roam and to find 'Neath every greenwood tree; * To milk my cow in the meadow, And to have my corn fields planted By every lad in the la. d!

O for the life of a Gipsy! With the dew to fringe my gown; And to have the sun for a sweetheart To take each little chubby-che That I chose, and call her mine, And teach her to tramp from camp to c Ah! wouldn't it be divine !

O for the life of a Gipsey! To lie in the lazy shades; And to predict sweet fairlings To give them caps of pretty flowers, And shawls of wool so white; And troops of lovers to sing them songs At their window panes at night !

To hunt the hare for play ; And to take my trap on my shoulder And his away and away-When the stars began to shine To my glad wild crew, with hearts so to wouldn't it be divine?

O for the life of a Gipsy! To Le up at the dawning gray; And to have my dog, like my shadow. To have a hat of plaited straw, And a cloak of scarlet dye, And shoot like a light through the glens And make the owlets cry !

O for the life of a Gipsy! To roam the whole world through To have the wind for a waiting-maid And the sun for a sweetheart true :
