CARLYLE AND EMERSON'S COR

The correspondence of Thomas Carlyle and Ralph Waldo Emerson from 1834 to1872 has just been published. We make some extracts from Carlyle's letters as taken from the Scotsman. They are thoroughly Carlylean, containing no doubt much truth, but little charity. Here is how he dashes off a writer in the Foreign Free Gra Quarterly:_

"The Foreign Quarterty Reviewer of Stra-uss I take to be one Blackie, an advocate in Edinburgh, a frothy, semi-confused disciple of mine and other men's. I guess this, but I have not read the article; the man Blackie is from Aberdeen, has been roaming over Europe, and carries more sail than ballast." (Carlyle to Emerson, 7th November 1838.) Carlyle's estimate of Leigh Hunt has often been made public; he characterises him to Emerson in a sentence, as "full of quips and cranks, with good humor and hand $55,152.

It is evident, however, that the rate of increase for New Brunswick should be 28 per cent. The mistake is not a typographical, but a clerical error, and occurred in the Minister's office, as will be seen by an examination of the table. New Brunswick is sufficiently low already without representing it at such an unenviable figure.	L M P P B S

THE UNIVERSITIES BILL.

A bill has been introduced into the House of Commons for the better administration and endowment of the Universities of Scotland. The Commissioners to be appointed under the bill will have the power to control not only the government and policy of the Universities, but their revenues and endowments. They said the power to control not only the government and policy of the Universities, but their revenues and endowments. They control the street or road between the railroad crossing at Mr. Gill's and Mr. John Neill's gate is district, and requires a great déal of repair. The water here in the spring of the year is quite dep and a culvert has been long talked of to prevent the water from flowing into the commissions of the care-payers whether it was lawful to spend the money for any other purpose. There is quite a large sum levied off the rate-payers of this parish every year, and very little of it is apparently spent in repairing the roads. The state of the main street or road between the railroad crossing at Mr. Gill's and Mr. John Neill's gate is districted in Manitoba for railway purposes. The railway officials valued the material taken at $72, but Mr. Woodworth claims $19,348.

on Tuesday Mr. Childers made his Budget statement, the gist of which is that the current year's excess of revenue permits the Government to propose a reduction of 1½d. per £1 on Income-tax, the abolition of the passenger duty on railway fares of 1d. per mile and under, the setting aside of £170,000 to enable the Postmaster-General to establish sixpenny telegrams, and some minor charges.

The cisanother matter of great importance to which I wish to call the attention of the personnel to complete the proper authorities. At the session of our provincial Parliament of 1882, it may be remembered a bill was introduced into the House and passed, empowering the civic authorities of the Parish of St. Mary's to collect money and build sidewalks in certain parts of the Parish specified in the bill: the money was collected last summer, and as I am informed, some of it was spent for other purposes. It is a question agitating the minds of some of the rate-payers whether it was lawful to spend the money for any other.
