SIREN ROUSED EVERY VESSEL TO THE RESCUE

Hospital Ship Anglia Made Every Effort to Reach Shore Before She Sank.

DIFFICULTIES WERE TERRIBLE

Stern of the Vessel Rose Higher and Higher and She Veered Sideways.

Finally Seemed to Stand on Her Bow for One Instant Then Plunged Under.

London, Nov. 18.—(New York Times Cable).—The Daily Mail's Dover correspondent sends the following:

"Vivid narratives are told by the crew of the Collier Lusitania which in rendering aid to the Anglia, was herself sunk.

"After the explosion the bows of the hospital ship seemed to melt away until the sea lapped her rails and splashed upon the decks. Mortally wounded as she was, the Anglia surged forward in a vain attempt to reach shore before she sank. Her siren roused every vessel near and from every quarter came boats to the rescue.

"Those watching from the deck of the Lusitania saw soldiers coming up from below and assembling on the deck, calmly waiting the order to pass into the boats. Every moment their footing became more precarious as gradually the Anglia settled by bows.

"But by now the rescuers were near. A vessel braving all danger from her sudden foundering, ran right under the stern and in a moment the crew were working like trojans to transfer the wounded to safety.

"The difficulties were terrible, every moment the stern of the Anglia rose higher and as it rose the vessel veered sideways as if about to turn turtle.

SAILORS' SPLENDID WORK

"Nothing daunted, the men of the Anglia, their officers, and the men of other ships kept at the work of rescue and rapidly, though even then all too slow, the wounded were transferred to boats. Some of the wounded unable to retain their precarious footing, slipped into the sea from which they were snatched in the nick of time by sailors, many of whom plunged overboard, the better to help in the rescue.

"Others on the Anglia jumped overboard, but all the while the nurses

CITY ACQUIRES OLD POST OFFICE; DEAL COMPLETED

Alderman Pitcher, Who Has Handled the Affair in Most Capable Manner Announces That the Structure Now is Property of Municipality.

All the preliminaries have now been completed in connection with the acquiring of the old post office by the city, and the structure is now to all intents and purposes, owned by the municipality.

For the successful consummation of the deal, the credit must go to Ald. S. P. Pitcher, who has handled the whole affair in a most capable and businesslike manner.

The first valuation put upon the building by the department was $38,000. Ald. Pitcher, by correspondence and a visit to Ottawa, finally had the whole matter re-opened, and secured the acceptance of an offer of $25,000. Of this amount, $5,100 is to be paid down, and the balance of $20,000 to be handed over at the conclusion of the war when the structure will no longer be needed for military purposes. The building is to be handed over to the municipality in good shape.

The intention is to use the structure as a city hall, and it will be very

THE COURIER PHOTOGRAPHS

Arrangements Made to Distribute Them in Different School Districts.

The demand for the Courier school children photos has become so great that it has been found necessary to arrange for the distribution of these handsomely mounted prints in the different school districts, in order that the subscriptions may be more easily handled. Carrying out this idea, arrangements have been made with H. E. Ayliffe, photo supplies, 320 Colborne street, A. A. Freeborn, grocer, 257 Marlboro street, and F. E. Morrison, druggist, 119 Oxford street. At these stores, samples of these group prints will be on exhibition, and orders for the Courier and the desired group may be left. These merchants will be pleased to explain the ease with which a group containing the photo of your child may be secured. They cost you nothing. Remember this. The group you desire will be freely given. All you need to do is to pay one month's subscription in advance (25 cents) for the Daily Courier, either for yourself or for a friend, and say which group you wish. Watch the Courier every day. King Edward school children will be featured for the rest of this week. You need to get your order in early, as only a limited number are finished and mounted. Do not wait until the photo you want appears. If your child goes to school in Brantford it has been photographed. All we need to know is the school he or she attends, and your order will be booked for you, so that you will be sure of a picture.

VERY FEW MEN RETURNED AS YET, HAVE BEEN RELEASED

Most of Invalided Soldiers Still Held Up at Quebec Awaiting Their Discharge

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Quebec, Nov. 18.—Of the 620 invalided soldiers that returned to Canada at the end of last week, landing at Quebec, from the C. P. R. liner Matagana, a very small number have so far been paid off and have left for their respective homes.

The work of compiling and revising the list of all the men, and of ascertaining their home towns for the militia records was a tedious one, but it was tackled with a will by the local militia officers in charge under Major Sharples. The work of setting every detail of the list in due form was completed to-day only.

RETURNING HOME.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

PARIS, Nov. 18, 4.30 p.m.—Premier Asquith and his associates in the British war council, who have been in conference here with their French official colleagues, left to-day on their return trip to London.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE JOINT WAR CONFERENCE

Though Not Known Definitely it is Believed That Balkan Situation is Under Discussion—Serb Armies Borne Backwards by Wide Turning Movement of Bulgarians.

MONASTIR IN GREAT DANGER

Anglo-French Successes Reported From the South-West—Bulgarians Being Compelled to Retreat on the Vardar Front and in Rabrovo Section.

London, Nov. 18.—News from the Balkans continues to be a patchwork of unconfirmed rumors and contradictory assertions without official statements to establish clearly the present status of affairs.

The Serbian armies with insufficient ammunition and inferior numbers, have been attempting vainly to meet the wide turning movement of the Bulgarians, threatening Prip and Monastir. Some despatches from Athens report Prip already is in Bulgarian hands. All admit the Serbian position there is untenable and that evacuation of the city is inevitable.

News that Bulgarian advance southward is proceeding rapidly and has reached a point within a few hours of Monastir is said to have caused consternation in that city, whose population is fleeing to Greek territory.

WAR CONFERENCE POPULAR

Both England and France have greeted with great enthusiasm the joint war conference held in Paris. It is regarded as marking greater solidarity and more concerted action among the allied armies. Although no official information has been received concerning the subjects discussed at the conference, it is assumed the principal matter under consideration is the Balkan situation.

Big Storm in East.

By Special Wire to the Courier. St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 18.—Much damage has been caused to water front property and to coast shipping by a storm which has raged over Newfoundland for two days. Telegraph service to many points is interrupted. Ferris are felt for the safety of vessels on the Grand Banks and along the northern coast of the island.

RECRUITING DEPOT CLOSED

One Effort Now Will be for the New Brant Battalion.

It is understood that the Recruiting depot which has recently existed in Brantford, is to be closed and that an order has been received from headquarters to this effect.

The method was to obtain volunteers who would designate the different units to which they wished to belong—the 38th, the Battery and the Dragons.

Now that it has been decided to raise a Brant County Battalion it has been felt by all interested that the one effort should be to recruit for that alone and hence the necessity has passed for the recruiting depot as before constituted.

It is a case now of one and all getting together, shoulder to shoulder on behalf of the Brant Battalion without any division of interests and there can be no doubt that the full complement will speedily be raised.

FIRST STEPS TO MEET CONDITIONS AFTER THE WAR

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Nov. 18.—Initial steps in a movement towards the co-ordination of all the industrial interests in the country to face the economic situation, which it is believed will surgely follow the conclusion of peace in Europe, were taken here yesterday at a meeting of the national founders association. The meeting was addressed by five organizations of manufacturers, which represent 15,000 members and an investment of $14,000,000.

Speakers declared that when peace comes there will be a scarcity of skilled labor due to the losses of life in the war, which it is feared may increase the price of labor to such a point that it is desirable from the manufacturers point of view to start now in the hopes of extending the field of machinery in many operations.

Those who spoke included William H. Barr, of the National Drymen; H. H. Rice, of the National Mill Trades Association; Col. George Pope of the National Association of Manufacturers; John P. Wood, of the National Association of Woolen Manufacturers and Albert G. Duncan of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

Liberal M.P. Dead.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 18.—A despatch from Charlottetown announces the death of James Reid, Liberal member of parliament for Restigouche county, N.B., after a short illness. He was 76 years old.

TWO O'NEILL BOYS ARE KILLED IN ACTION AT BATTLE FRONT

Percy O'Neill and Vernon Scott O'Neill of 19th. Battalion Killed by the Same Shell as Struck Pte. James Lowe—Percy O'Neill Was Barber Here.

The names of two more heroes who enlisted in Brantford, appear in the honor roll from the front. They are Percy Roy O'Neill and Vernon Scott O'Neill of the Nineteenth Battalion, who were killed by the same shell as Pte. Lowe, whose death was reported yesterday. The father and mother are both dead and they were the only two sons of the family. Mrs. Wilcox, residing on Duke St. is a sister and also Miss Evie O'Neill, who resides here. Other sisters are Miss Lizzie O'Neill of Vancouver and Miss Lottie Hamilton.

Percy was a well known barber in the city. He was partner in the firm of Miller and O'Neill in the Hamel Cigar Store, Colborne St. and later had a shop in Jack Kelly's cigar store, 48 Colborne street, which he was running at the time he decided to enlist. His brother Vernon at one time worked here as a knitter, but he had latterly been in Woodstock, coming to Brantford for the week ends. They decided to offer their services together and enrolled themselves in the Major Bert Newmann's company. Percy was actively identified with the Y. M. C. A. and occupied one of the rooms in the new building until the time of his departure. His brother used to stay with him while in the city and Mr. Goodwin speaks in the highest terms of both. The two were also members of the First Baptist Church choir and Vernon, who had a splendid tenor voice, used to give solos there. Rev. Mr. Brown talking to a Courier man, paid a high tribute to each. Percy belonged to Harmony Lodge, I.O.O.F.

A LITTLE HATE FROM FRITZ OCCASIONALLY

In That Snappy Manner Does a Soldier Describe Hun Attacks.

HEARD GUNS IN GREAT DRIVE

Night Before Letter was Written Saw Thrilling Aeroplane Duel.

Machine Gun on the Plane Was Famous Canuck Weapon Lost at Ypres.

Colonel Leonard has received the following letter from a soldier at the front who formerly was in 'D' squadron, 25th Brant Dragoons. He describes seeing an aeroplane duel in which the enemy's machine was brought down. On the captured plane was the machine gun lost by the Canadians at Ypres in April and now regained. This particular incident was mentioned in the official report sent to Ottawa.

Somewhere in Belgium, November 2nd, 1915.

Colonel Leonard, Dear Sir—Received the papers you sent many thanks for same. We are at the same spot which I wrote of last time and everything has been pretty quiet since that time. Of course we get a little hate from Fritz occasionally, but he never does much damage.

During the last big advance we took an offensive part in case the Germans made an attack to relieve the pressure around Loos and La Bassée. The bombardment lasted a long time and could be heard quite plainly from where we were located, which was a long way from the scene of operations.

Last week there was an aeroplane duel right above us and our aviator succeeded in bringing down the German plane. It came down at a fast pace and when it hit the ground it turned right over, killing the pilot. The observer was only ground a little and was made a prisoner.

The aeroplane could be seen from the German lines, as it lay right on the open behind our fire trench, and they tried to wreck it with shells, but although they fired about 90 shells they didn't get one direct hit. They had a machine gun mounted on the aeroplane which proved to be one of those which the Canadians lost at Ypres, so it has got back to us in rather a strange manner.

The rainy season seems to have started here but there has been lots of sun.

Dressed in Khaki, He Left London This Morning, Unnoticed by Crowd.

Was Widely Known as Soldier Before He Began His Political Career.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, Nov. 18.—Winston Spencer Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty and chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, in the uniform of his regiment, left for the front this morning. His wife bade him farewell at the railroad station where he passed unrecognized on the platform as he waited to enter a special car.

Mr. Churchill became widely known as a soldier before he began his political career. He entered the army in 1895, after being graduated from Sandhurst. He served with the Malakand field force in 1897, was present at the operations in Bajaur, served with Titch and Nile expeditionary forces, being present at the battle of Khartoum. He also saw service as a lieutenant of South Africa light horse before he became a newspaper correspondent to report the Boer war.

Mr. Churchill is listed as a major of the Queen's Own Oxfordshire Hussars, and it probably this regiment which he has left to join.

T. J. BARTON & SON
105 COLBORNE STREET, BRANTFORD

WITH THE SOLDIERS

Maj. Scobell announced this morning that he would probably leave on Saturday for the headquarters of his new battalion, the 136th. He will receive the rank of Lieut.-Colonel and will have under him, as second in command, Major C. R. McCullough of Toronto.

Only three names were registered at the Brantford recruiting depot this morning as having passed the medical examination. These are: Samuel Reed, Canadian, 43 years, married, painter, Burford. George Reginald Barnett, English, 34 years, single, farmer. Charles Severs, English, 32 years, married, 8 years Army Ordnance Corps, 99 Sheridan street.

Two would-be recruits did not come up to the standard because of defective vision in one case, and varicose veins in the other, and consequently had to be refused.

Former Mayor Johnson of Augusta, Me., a 33rd degree Mason, is dead.

Changes in the pure food laws have been suggested to President Wilson.

To stop "playing hooky," Chicago public schools are to have moving pictures.

The Colonel will go to Oshawa on Friday to inspect the other half of his battalion and see that they are getting along satisfactorily. He will return to the city in time though for the visit of his 700 men to Paris on Saturday.

BRITAIN STOPS LOADING OF GREEK SHIPS

Until Greece Shows Better Attitude Her Ships in British Ports Will be Held Up.

FRANCE ALSO DOES THE SAME

London, Nov. 17.—It is officially announced that no further loading of Greek ships in British ports will be permitted.

A despatch from Liverpool denies that the Greek ships at that port have been seized. The stopping of loading, according to the Liverpool authorities is merely intended as a warning to Greece.

Sixty ships and 1,500 Greek sailors alone are affected by the order.

The Greek Legation here says Great Britain has consented that all Greek ships loaded or loading may proceed to their destinations, but that no fresh loadings will be permitted.

Paris, Nov. 17.—A Havas despatch from Marseilles says the Government has ordered the port authorities to accept no further shipments of merchandise destined for Greece.

AVIATORS FROM CANADA WILL GO TO BRITAIN

Training Course Will be Finished Abroad Under Direction of Admiralty.

Those Not Going at Once to Get Instruction at Halifax.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Canada's 150 aviation students, whose courses are under way at the Curtiss School at Toronto Island, will proceed to Britain to complete their training under the direction of the British Admiralty. They will be summoned to Britain in batches of 12, the first 48 leaving for the Old Land before the New Year.

Admiral C. E. Kingsmill of the Canadian Naval Service communicated the news of the gathering of young aviators at the Toronto Canoe Club, yesterday afternoon. The news of the early call to actual service was greeted by prolonged cheering.

As to the position of the students who were not required in the first drafts, Admiral Kingsmill stated that the Canadian authorities had decided to offer them opportunity to proceed to Halifax and continue their training upon the same terms, where work in signalling, telegraphing and drill will be carried out. Admiral Kingsmill also made the announcement that it had been decided to pay every student at the rate of $1.25 per day for each day of the first seven weeks of his course.

In an interview with the press following the conference, Admiral Kingsmill stated that the British Admiralty had asked that in view of the conditions in Canada, the young Canadian aviators be sent on to England to complete their training. There is an immediate call for 48 of them and these will proceed across the Atlantic before the end of the present year in order of seniority of aerial service. All travelling and maintenance expenses will be paid by the Marine Department. Admiral Kingsmill anticipates that the complete force of 150 young men will be in England before the early spring. This is expected to conclude the call for Canadian aviators for some time, as the British Admiralty has indicated that it has sufficient volunteers in this branch of the service at its disposal.

Politics in Portugal.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Paris, Nov. 18.—Premier Castro of Portugal again proffered the resignation of the cabinet to President Machado yesterday, but the executive refused to accept, requesting the ministry to remain in power until parliament gave some indication as to who would be acceptable as successors to the present members of the cabinet, says a Havas despatch from Lisbon.

SEA'S FOG MENACE TO LOSE ITS TERROR

Massachusetts Professor Invents Phonometer to Detect Direction of Foghorn.

New York, Nov. 18.—Prof. A. G. Webster of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., yesterday demonstrated an investigation which he asserts will practically eliminate fog dangers at sea. His invention detects the exact direction from which the sound of a foghorn is proceeding. The demonstration was made before the National Academy of Science in the American Museum of Natural History.

Dr. Webster said he had named his invention the "Phonometer." He has not yet patented it.

The phonometer consists of two steel megaphones joined together at the narrowest ends. These are then attached to the main instrument.

The latter consists of an adjustable tube, in the centre of which a small metal disc is suspended on three fine wires. A small mirror, one millimeter square, is fastened to the disc. In the front of this is a small telescope with a tiny electric bulb.

The light from the electric bulb is reflected from the mirror onto a graduated scale, which is seen through the megaphone attachment is moved around until the light shows its maximum brightness. A compass connected with the instrument then tells the exact direction from which the sound is coming.

Obituary

ELIZABETH J. E. DAY.

On Wednesday, Nov. 17th, at the late residence, 30 Peel street, there passed away the beloved wife of George B. Day, Elizabeth Jane Erwin, in her seventy-sixth year. The deceased lady was in good health and her many friends will be surprised and grieved to learn of her sudden death. She leaves besides her husband, a daughter, Mrs. F. L. Lundy of Hamilton.

The funeral will be a private one and will be held on Friday afternoon, interment taking place in Greenwood cemetery.

RUSSIAN SHIPS BOMBARD HUNS OFF COURLAND

General Ruzky Has Not Yet Completed His Movement West of Riga.

STUBBORN FIGHTING ON THE STYR

London, Nov. 18.—Hostilities have ceased for the time being in the Riga region of the eastern front, but the presence of Russian warships on the coast of Courland, where they have been bombarding the German positions, suggests that Gen. Ruzky has not concluded the offensive which he undertook west of Riga.

The Germans are still endeavoring to effect a crossing of the Dvina. Yesterday's official Petrograd report chronicles an attempt by detachments of the enemy to cross the river below Dvinsk at several points by means of boats, but says they were repulsed.

West of Dvinsk, in the Lake Svient district, the Germans were driven from some of their trenches and compelled to fall back. A large quantity of booty was captured in the abandoned trenches. The report also states that a Zeppelin flew over the Dvinsk district Monday night and dropped bombs on some of the German trenches, causing losses and a panic among the Germans.

Stubborn fighting continues on the left bank of the Dvina, where the enemy to approach the river were repulsed.

HOSPITAL SHIP ANGLIA STRUCK A MINE; LOST

Sailing from France to Dover When Mishap Occurred in Mid-Channel.

Eighty-five Lives Lost, and Tug to the Rescue Also Struck a Mine.

London, Nov. 18.—The hospital ship Anglia, with about 300 wounded men aboard, in addition to the crew, nurses and attendants, bound from France for Dover, struck a mine in mid-Channel yesterday and sank in a very short time. Eighty-five men, most of them seriously wounded, and a theorie in their coats, lost their lives.

The collier Lusitania, which was nearby at the time of the accident, immediately went to the assistance of the Anglia, and her boats had just been lowered when she also struck a mine and foundered. All her crew were saved.

A patrol vessel succeeded in rescuing 300 of the Anglia's passengers and crew, including some nurses. A number of bodies were recovered.

PATROL BOAT SAVES 300

The Press Bureau issued the following report:

"The hospital ship Anglia struck a mine in the Channel yesterday and sank. There were on board at the time about 13 officers and 372 men, making a total of 385. Of this number about 300 were saved by a patrol boat.

"A vessel that was proceeding to the rescue of those in the Anglia struck a mine while en route and also sunk."

CONVEYED KING GEORGE

The Anglia is the ship which conveyed King George across the Channel on the occasion of his recent visit to France. The King last night sent to the First Lord of the Admiralty a message expressing his regret at the ship's destruction.

The King's message in regard to the loss incurred, and trusts that the survivors have not unduly suffered from the terrible exposure to which they must have been subjected. Please express the King's heartfelt sympathy with the families of those who perished.

"(Signed) Stenfordham."

Earlier reports had it that the Anglia was torpedoed by a submarine. The official announcement that the disaster was due to a mine makes it appear that the Germans have recently been sowing the Channel with fresh mines.

COMMISSIONED LAST YEAR

The Anglia was a merchantman which was taken over by the British Admiralty after the opening of the war and refitted as a hospital ship. She was commissioned in August of last year.

There are four British steamships named Anglia. The one converted into a hospital ship probably is the

PEACE MAY BE DISCUSSED BY CARDINALS

Representatives of Several Belligerents at Rome Leads to That Belief.

MERCIER WILL ATTEND

Rome, Nov. 18.—Cardinal von Hartman, Archbishop of Cologne, will arrive here soon to remain for the Consistory in December, it was officially stated at the Vatican to-day. This announcement, following the statement that Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, also would attend the Consistory, is considered significant, as because of the war Cardinal Mercier was not expected to be able to attend.

Cardinal von Hartman enjoys the confidence not only of the Pope, but of Emperor William. He was employed by the Pontiff in all negotiations to obtain better treatment for French ecclesiastics who had been made prisoners of the exchange of wounded soldiers and of civilians unable to fight. The Cardinal conducts negotiations directly with the Emperor, from whom he has recently obtained commutation of the death sentences passed on several prominent Belgian Catholics.

Cardinals Gasquet and Billot are on their way here to represent Great Britain, while the arrival of Cardinal Bégin, Archbishop of Quebec, is announced. The fact that ecclesiastics representing several of the warring nations will be at the Vatican at the same time has given rise to the belief that steps toward peace may be discussed.

ITALIANS CAPTURE AN OUTPOST OF GORIZIA

Strong Austrian Position North-west of the City Taken—Great Artillery Activity Along Whole Front—Austrian Counter-Attacks Repulsed.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Rome, Nov. 18.—A victory for the Italian forces which are attempting to capture Gorizia was announced to-day by the war office. A strong Austrian position northwest of the city was captured. The statement followed: "There is great activity on the part of the artillery on both sides all along the front. The enemy's artillery seeks not only to strike our defenses, but above all to destroy systematically the country conquered by us, even where there are no effective garrisons of troops.

On Nov. 14, the enemy fired 12-inch shells into the villages of Locca and Bessia in the valley. Yesterday the enemy's batteries directed bombardments against the once flourishing towns of Mossa and Lucinico, on the Isonzo plain. These towns are now heaps of smoking ruins.

KEEP WARM BY THE FIRE-PLACES WHICH ARE IN THEIR DUG-OUTS

Private Bert Davis Sends Vivid Letter Telling of Life in the Trenches—Writes the Epistle Sitting Beside a Coal Fire—Feels Proud That He is in France, Despite Hard Life.

Mrs. Davis, 80 Spring St. received yesterday a letter from her son Bert, who is in the 4th Battalion. He has been at the front since February when the first contingent crossed over to France. The Davis family have a good record for service. Besides Bert, another son, in fact, the only other son, Harry, also went from here in the first contingent, but he was wounded some time ago and is now at Epsom, England. Corporal Jack Drake, a brother-in-law of the boys, from whom a letter appeared in these columns a few days ago, went over with the 36th, while the father belongs to the 58th.

The work in the trenches is very trying. The weather has been wet and the mud heavy. It gets cold at night but coal has been issued to the men and they make fires in their dugouts.

The letter follows:
Dear Mother and Sisters,
I suppose it is no use putting "and father" now, so I must get on with this way. I received your letter quite safe yesterday and was pleased to hear that you are still keeping well. So I had gone to Niagara, and by this time I guess he is well on his way to England. I am glad he has got in the band as it will be much easier for him, and if he ever gets out here he will be kept on a job out of the firing line. That is one consolation anyhow, as all the bands that I have seen out here have got jobs at the transport or quartermasters stores and they are all happy as larks. I have not heard from Harry for two or three weeks, but I believe he is at Epsom. He is seeing quite a bit of the country isn't he. I think Jack is still at the base unless he came back since Sunday as I saw a lot of the 19th Bat on Sunday. I went over to see them on Saturday afternoon and a big crowd of them came over to see us on Sunday so it was quite like old times to see so many of them.

Enclosed in the letter are three picture post cards showing war pictures from "The Sphere." The descriptions, of course, are in French which the young soldier translates, having picked up a good deal of the language. One of them shows a particularly good view of soldiers with machine guns, beating off an attack of Germans. The defenders are stationed across a road, and the enemy can be seen swarming up a road, and either side of it, pressing to the attack.

BRITAIN NOT ALTOGETHER UNPREPARED

Viscount Haldane Claims She Took Precautionary Measures Before the War.

London, Nov. 18.—Viscount Haldane, the former War Secretary, speaking at Hampstead last night, declared that the Germans would have reached Paris, and perhaps Calais, had not the Government taken precautionary action upon the warnings which he himself and others had given of the German intentions. The British Government, he said, did everything possible to get aggressive ideas out of the heads of the other nations on the continent, but that did not prevent the Government from taking precautionary measures. Great Britain was not taken unawares, but was able to mobilize the army and navy at the first moment of the outbreak of the war.

Lord Haldane expressed the belief that there is not a single Government among the powers that has not been wholly surprised and taken unawares by the magnitude and duration of the struggle which has since developed, and that nobody has since been much surprised as the German General Staff, which "had expected a walk-over in about three months."

NOW is the Time to Buy Farms!

Everyone agrees that now is the time to buy. Prices are higher than formerly for farm products; no one is so prosperous as the farmer of to-day. We offer for sale the following—Catalogue No. 5311, located in the County of Wentworth, Township of Beverley, 270 acres of which 225 are cleared—40 timbered with elm and soft maple, original growth. Soil—clay loam. Fences—wire, rail and stump. There is a good frame cottage containing 8 rooms, hard water in cellar, soft water outside. Bank barn 74 by 22, 20 ft. posts; drive barn 24x36, 18 ft. posts; hard water in barn; stable for 40 head of cattle and 10 horses; hay barn 30x80; small orchard of apples; schools and churches within a mile.

Price 12,000

Will take $4000 or more down—balance secured by first mortgage bearing interest at 6 per cent per annum. This is a great bargain. Also a number of other farms for sale—25 to 100 acres. For further particulars write or call upon

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, flitty and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any— that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, thus exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Dr. Cecile Greil Deposes Ancona Was Fired After She Had Stopped.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Washington, Nov. 18.—An affidavit by Dr. Cecile Greil, the only native American survivor of the Italian liner, Ancona, directly contradicts the Austro-Hungarian Government's official statement that the ship was not shelled by the attacking submarine after she stopped. The state department to-day notified of the existence of the affidavit by Consular dispatches.

The text of the message, which was sent by American Consul Mason of Algiers, follows:
"Cecile Greil (Greil) intelligent, impartial witness, deposition not conclusive as to whether any effort was made to escape by Ancona. First indication of danger was when in timing. Disturbance on deck, stoppage"

The Situation.

The fact has recently been made fully apparent that kid-gloved diplomacy and chivalrous treatment does not cut any figure at all with the Balkan States. Still further, that their friendly protestations are not worth a moment's credence, for they are more likely than not to be a temporary cloak for the accomplishment of sinister design. The Huns have undoubtedly understood them better. They have taken care, through systematic agencies, to see in the systems named that only news of the war has been disseminated favorable to the German cause, while she has made tempting material offers and pointed to Belgium as an illustration of what happens to any small state daring to thwart the Prussian aspirations and the Prussian war machine. In plain language, it is necessary to go to Ferdinand, Constantine and the rest with a club, and in this regard it is very satisfactory to know that John Bull has put a stop to the loading of Greek ships in British ports. The Greeks depend a great deal upon their shipping, and it is about time for them to get some such job to that interest. Meanwhile the condition of the Serbians continues to look more and more desperate.

There is nothing of importance from the Western front, while in the Eastern theatre the Russians are notching some more successes. The presence in Paris of Premier Assoluto, Sir J. Balfour, Lloyd-George, and Sir Edward Grey, for a mutual conference with the French authorities, is certainly an epoch-making event. When one considers the strained relations which for so long a period existed between the two countries, the incident is little short of marvellous. It serves to re-emphasize the united determination and co-operation of the Allies.

The United States Note. The United States note which was recently sent to Great Britain regarding the interference with American cargoes was very fierce in tone, and was largely backed up by papers across the border. Our neighbors lost sight of the fact that if John Bull did not remain master of the seas, their own plight would be very bad indeed. Imagine Germany having similar control and of what would have happened to them if such had proved to be the case.

The Christian Science Monitor of Boston, a publication of excellent reputation, takes a more moderate stand. After reviewing the entire situation it says:

"Where all international principles, 'rights' and 'laws'—if some previous notes emanating from Washington, and not addressed to London, are to be taken as authority—have been flung to the winds with apparent impunity, it is difficult to see how some fine spun theories regarding the equities can be made to apply solely to Great Britain. Great Britain as the greatest naval power in the world, as champion on the seas of the Entente Allies, as general manager of the blockade against Germany and Austria—as the one nation equipped to patrol and police the ocean—is separated and singled out and held responsible by the United States for all interference with and interruption of the commerce of the latter. Perhaps there is excuse for this. Perhaps when the war is all over and the time for settlement shall have arrived, the United States will be able to establish many of its present contentions. To us the greatest weakness of the note lies in its references to the past and to precedent. The war that was begun by the invasion of Luxembourg and Belgium in August, 1914, wiped out the past, destroyed all precedent, so far as the comity of nations was concerned, and opened a new epoch and turned a new page in the history of international relationship. The 'scrap of paper' incident was the beginning of an end that is not yet in sight, but impartial onlookers have progressed along the new line of thought far enough in the last fifteen months to see that Great Britain cannot be held to the observance of 'precedents,' 'principles,' 'rights,' 'laws,' so-called, if they are openly ignored by its enemies.

"There is no doubt that the United States and Great Britain must some day settle the difficulties that have arisen between them during the present war, and there is no doubt that these differences will be settled equitably, but the settlement must, we think, be based upon the existence of conditions that had until very recently no place in the domain of international controversy."

As a matter of fact, there would be plenty of precedent in the case of what the North did to British interests at the time of the Civil War, and John Bull has equally this time to take his own course, no matter what neutral nations may inadvertently suffer.

work done in the trenches during the summer. Nearly all the communicating trenches and main trenches had floors boards raised a few inches from the ground so we won't have wet feet so much as when we came out here last spring. Most of the Battalions have their own canteen some distance behind the bring line, where goods can be had much cheaper than from the natives, who fairly put up prices. An enclosed is a piece of wing from the German aeroplane, also cutting from newspaper about life in the trenches, written by Piper Inglis, a chum of mine. This is all the news at present, hoping it finds you in the best of health.

AUSTRIAN PLANE BOMBED CITY OF BELLUNO, ITALY

Three People Injured Slightly, Otherwise No Material Damage.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Belluno, Italy, Nov. 18.—An Austrian aeroplane bombed this city at eight o'clock this morning. Only one bomb exploded, slightly injuring three people. No material damage was done.

The report of the aerial raid on Belluno, is the one mentioned in a Rome despatch sent out last night by the Stefani News Agency, which said an Austrian aeroplane appeared over the city at eight o'clock and dropped five bombs. The name of the place bombed was not given, and it was inferred the despatch might refer to Rome. Belluno is on the Piave, 51 miles north of Venice.

Lieut. Andrews Killed.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Kingston, Ont., Nov. 18.—While riding over Cataract bridge this morning, Lieut. Gordon Andrews, son of W. S. Andrews, of Toronto, fell off his fractious horse and received injuries which caused his death shortly afterwards in the general hospital. He was attending the Royal School of Artillery. He was a newspaper writer.

Fireman Killed.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 18.—Albert Abbott, aged 32, married and one child, was killed forty-two hours after joining the city fire department. As the motor truck, returning from a call, was backing into the fire hall, he fell off and the wheels passed over his head.

Siren Roused

worked with splendid devotion with the crew to transfer their patients to the boats. "Soon the Anglia had settled so far by the head that one of her propellers was clear of the water. The other still revolving gave a circular motion to the doomed vessel, adding tenfold to the difficulties of the rescuers. But nothing discouraged them and the sailors kept on, their hopes running high that all would be saved. PLUNGED INTO THE DEEP

"The end came with dramatic suddenness. With wounded, nurses, doctors and sailors still clinging to the stern, the Anglia seemed for one brief second to stand on her bows and then she disappeared. "But even now the Red Cross on her main mast flaunts six feet clear above the troubled waters of the channel, marking the spot where many brave men and women, too, it is feared, sleep in their last sleep."

Discussing the loss of the Anglia, the Daily Mail says: "The mine may have been laid by one of the German submarines or by some submerged neutral vessel. It was no doubt to prepare the world for such an episode that last Friday the German wireless published a report that British hospital ships were being used for the conveyance of troops and munitions of war. The tale was entirely false, but the circulation of such a falsehood usually indicates a German intention to attempt a new variety of foul play. It would not be the first time that such an outrage had been committed. So far back as February a German submarine deliberately fired a torpedo at the British hospital ship Asturias."

"I beg to inform you that Private W. Kirby who is now at Duchess of Connaught Hospital, Taplow, Bucks, was visited a day or two ago by our authorized visitor. She sends us the report that he has been admitted to this hospital suffering from shock, caused by shell explosion. She has not sent us any details at present, but you may be quite sure that as soon as we hear further we will let you know at once. You may be quite sure, too, that while he is in the hospital he will receive every care that it is possible to give him. Our visitor sees the men every few days and sees that they are kept supplied with any comforts that they may want such as newspapers, cigarettes, etc. Private Kirby asks for pipe and tobacco and these we are sending him at once. I know how anxious you must be feeling about him, but we will send you a report every few days to keep you fully informed as to his progress. Yours truly, Mildred S. Walters.

"THE GODDESS"
UNIQUE SERIAL STORY
 BY GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.
 After the tragic death of John Amesbury, his prostrated wife, one of America's greatest beauties dies. At her death, Prof. Stilliter, an agent of the interests, kidnaps the beautiful three-year-old baby girl, and brings her up in a paradise, where she sees no man, but thinks she is taught by angels, who instruct her for her mission to reform the world. At the age of eighteen she is suddenly thrust into the world, where agents of the interests are ready to pretend to find her.

The one to feel the loss of the little Amesbury girl most, after she had been spirited away by the interests, was Tommy Barclay.

Fifteen years later Tommy goes to the Adirondacks. The interests are responsible for this trip, by accident; he is the first to meet the little Amesbury girl, as she comes forth from her paradise as Celestia, the girl from heaven. Neither Tommy or Celestia recognize each other. Tommy finds in an easy matter to rescue Celestia from Prof. Stilliter, and they hide in the mountains, later they are pursued by Stilliter, and escape to an island, where they spend the night.

That night Stilliter, following his Indian guide, reached the island, found Celestia and Tommy, but does not disturb them. In the morning, Tommy goes for a swim. During his absence Stilliter attempts to steal Celestia, who runs to Tommy for help, followed by Stilliter. The latter once realizes Tommy's predicament, he takes advantage of it by taking not only Celestia but Tommy's clothes. Stilliter reaches Four Corners with Celestia just in time to catch an express for New York. There he places Celestia in Bellevue Hospital, where her sanity is proven by the authorities. Tommy reaches Bellevue just before Stilliter's departure.

CHAPTER 5
 Mr. Sargent turned somewhat impatiently, but on perceiving that Tommy belonged to the world of wealth and fashion, and was not a reporter, his manner changed to one of brusque courtesy.

"I've only just discovered," said Tommy, "that Celestia—I am not at liberty to tell you her real name, (he wasn't for the simple reason that he didn't know what it was)—is being held here until her friends can be discovered. I am one of her friends and I have come to take her away."

"I have no authority to turn her over to you. Don't misunderstand me, but I don't even know who you are," said Dr. Sargent.

"I can't tell you who she is," said Tommy. "It wouldn't be right. But I'm Thomas Barclay and I can really give satisfactory references if I have to."

Dr. Sargent smiled now in a really friendly manner.

"I don't wish to be indiscreet, but is she a relative of yours?"

"Not yet?"

"Not yet? I don't think I quite understand."

"Why," said Tommy, "it's very simple. I am engaged to her."

Still for a moment Dr. Sargent hesitated. Then he smiled and said: "After all, she is not under detention. She's as sane as I am except ravishing beautiful young creature is the nearest station."

 Tommy drew a long breath to quiet his anger. Then he said gravely: "I'm always wrong about everything. Why, Mary, I always thought that you had great, charity, and common sense. And I was even wrong about that."

And he turned upon his heel and left the room.

It was getting dark and something had to be done quickly.

"Celestia," said Tommy as he entered the cab, "I'm going to try my father. We've had a sort of row, but I'm sure of each other, and we've a dear old housekeeper, and she'll look after you."

"And your young friend—Mary—what did she say?"

"Nothing interesting or important," said Tommy.

Celestia was silent for a few moments, then in a small voice she said: "I don't want to go. I'm a terrible trouble to you. Your father won't take me in; I know he won't. And I know that I wouldn't be happy when I turned into a human being. They told me I would be. But I didn't know how unhappy and lonely I'd have to be."

Tommy, deeply touched, suddenly took her in his arms and kissed her, and her lips moved against his. Then she freed herself with sudden energy and exclaimed: "I mustn't—I mustn't—'Why mustn't you, Celestia, dear?'"

"Just because I want to so much, so I know I mustn't."

In his heart, beating wildly and excitedly, Tommy thought "but you will—you will!"

And he ran up the stairs of Barclay's house, hoping that the man he called father would refuse the protection of his roof to Celestia.

But Barclay, notified by Stilliter of Celestia's evasion with Tommy, wasn't only too anxious to detain her until she could once more be turned over to the professor's guardianship.

This was more important than any risks to his plans which he might be running in having the girl in his own house. So when Tommy, looking very manly, told his father about Celestia, he at once said: "Poor thing, poor child—of course you must take her in, take her in first and think afterward."

"God bless you, you're a brick," cried Tommy, and he dashed off.

In less than a minute he returned, greatly agitated. She's gone," he cried, "the cab."

"Did you take the man's number?"

Visions of certain New York pitfalls flashed through Barclay's mind.

LEAGUE OF KINGS FORMED BY KAISER

This Organization of Balkan Monarchs Was Started Before the War.
ENTENTE POLICY WHOLLY MISPLACED
Only Way to Convince Balkan States is to Show Great Military Strength.

(By Dr. E. J. Dillon)

Rome, Nov. 18.—The Balkan Peninsula will remain the centre of political interest until the danger of further treachery from the neutral States is definitely dispelled.

I write with first-hand knowledge of the facts, not all of which are yet realized or even known. For example the circumstance is not yet appreciated generally believed that a league of monarchs was pre-arranged by the Kaiser and was completed in principle before the war broke out, and that the original conception was more comprehensive than the final achievement.

This falling off between intention and realization was due in great part not to resistance on the part of the monarchs tempted, but solely to the veto of certain of their influential subjects. The promptitude and thoroughness of Germany, who forestalled the unsuspecting entente powers, formed a syndicate of Kings, and she began by obtaining assurances that she would warmly help her, while some would help her.

BALKAN PEOPLES SLIPPERY
 But with this success the Teutons were not content, for they knew what slippery customers the Balkan peoples are and how little worth stipulations have in their eyes if their interests beckon them in an opposite direction.

Thus, judging them according to their own standard, Germany successfully strove by co-ordinating military action with diplomatic pressure, to keep them to their engagements with the Kaiser and detach them from their liabilities to his actual or potential enemies.

Anticipation with this plan, with the methods which its results realized, with certain of its results and with the mental and moral fibre of the personages experimented on, has emboldened me to affirm ever since the war began that the Entente could at any time have employed policy of chivalrous kindness and delicate tact was wholly misplaced.

INTEREST BEFORE DUTY
 For the only principle respected by the Balkan personages in question has been the putting of interest before duty, and the only way by which the Entente could at any time have employed policy of chivalrous kindness and delicate tact was wholly misplaced.

To-day, more peremptorily than ever, is the adoption of this method postulated by events. The assurances of benevolent neutrality lavished by Premier Skoulioudis are less solemn treaty obligations assumed by all Greece towards Serbia; they are far less solid than the promises made by Venizelos, who was backed by the King, the Cabinet, parliament, and the nation at the time, but who is now being systematically discovered. Skoulioudis is not the spokesman of parliament or of the nation. He is the mere nominee of a Field Marshal systematically doing violence to Greece's constitution and sacrificing her national honor in order to redeem his promise to his Prussian broker.

CONSTANTINE WILL REMAIN
 Skoulioudis will disappear in a private life to-morrow, but King Constantine, who represents no national dynasty, will remain. Venizelos, who

GERMAN DESTROYER THEN WENT AWAY

Pursued British Steamer Into Swedish Waters.

Copenhagen, Nov. 18.—The British steamer departed from Trelleborg, Sweden, where she had been lying since the beginning of the war, was marked by an exciting naval adventure, in which the vessel escaped capture by a German destroyer through assistance rendered by the Swedish torpedo boat Polux.

On Tuesday, when south of Landskrona, 16 miles northeast of Copenhagen, the Thelma was pursued by the German destroyer W 22, into the Swedish territorial waters. While the Germans were in the act of boarding the steamer, the Polux forced them to return to their boat, and, running the two vessels, informed the Germans that every means would be employed to prevent the Thelma from being taken.

After an interval of silence, in which both warships cleared for action, the German destroyer steamed away.

GREAT PROBLEM NOW IS GREECE'S ATTITUDE

The Question of What Will Become of Serbian Troops If They Retreat Into Greece is Becoming Serious—Britain Cannot Stand By and Watch Greece Stock Herself With Material and Then Join the Teutons.

London, Nov. 18.—A Chronicle editorial on the visit of the British Ministers to Paris says—"We cannot but believe that it marks a new and valuable stage along the path of Anglo-French co-operation. It is not necessary to suppose that any new issues are arising necessitating a special conference. At the same time the moment is one of pressing problems and not the least in regard to the attitude of Greece."

Continued Bulgarian advances towards Monastir threaten to throw portions of the Serbian army across the Greek frontier, and at least one of the Greek Ministers has publicly declared that in that event they will be interned, though it is said that any action against the Serbian troops need not imply action against the Anglo-French troops. The attempt to dictate terms for the direct profit of their common campaign. The allied troops who have gone to Salonica, were sent there originally by the invitation of King and his country, and it is not for either of them to turn round now and to act as if it never has been was laboriously educating the anarchic Greek people, and who possessed the confidence of the nation, is today a mere private individual.

How could the Entente States accept the assurance, however solemn, of any Minister or Cabinet appointed by the King for the special purpose of carrying out Germany's designs against themselves? If there were truth or honor left in the governing circle of Greece, Venizelos and his colleagues would now be in power, but there is none.

The King has determined a- all costs to create a Germanophile Parliament hostile to the Entente powers.

PRUSSIA STILL SUPREME.
 Yet he expects these powers to rely upon the oral promise of a provisional Minister that the allies need apprehend no stain in the governing circle of Greece, Venizelos and his colleagues would now be in power, but there is none.

"I am of the opinion that abstention is advisable under the prevailing circumstances, for even if the Liberals won the electoral campaign and were returned to Parliament in a majority they would still find it impossible to realize their program."

That means that even if the Greek people should announce their determination to do their duty and eschew disloyalty, the Field Marshal of the Prussian army would none the less execute his brother-in-law's designs.

The effective constraint of Greece's interests and our own is the only method that can now be employed with any hope of success.

BUILDING BY-LAW FOR ALL THE DOMINION

Conservation Commission is Considering Matter to Help Reduce Fire Losses.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—The Dominion of Canada may soon have a general building by-law to cover all the provinces and maintain some uniformity in construction.

The Dominion Conservation Commission is taking up the matter in an effort to reduce the great annual fire loss in Canada. It has asked the city architects of a number of the chief cities of Canada to give their opinions of what such a national building by-law should contain.

From City Architect Pearce of Toronto the commission has received several suggestions. One is that it would be a great help if a central bureau could be maintained where the municipalities could get information in reference to the fire-resisting qualities and the strength of different materials used in buildings. City departments are now forced to get such information from fire underwriters or cities in the United States. Toronto uses the testing lab-

Brantford Forty Years Ago Was Centre of a Fine Country District

The South Brant Agricultural Fair Was a Noted Annual Event—Cope Stinson's Famous Training Stables—Kerby House Used to Have Scores of Guests Every Summer From the Southern States.

Bear in mind, Brant's historic old town, was a thriving agricultural district at this time, and you could almost be prejudiced though they are by Greece's treaty of her treaty, have not felt it right or practicable to coerce her into taking positive action to fulfill it.

In the third place we ourselves, together with France and Russia, have a treaty with Greece whereby she has pledged herself to maintain constitutional government. We gave value for the pledge, we ceded the Ionian Islands. It is ridiculous to say then that we have no footing for complaint if King Constantine now abrogates constitutional Government, as, indeed, he has already done and has established crown dictatorship for the direct profit of our enemies. How the British Government regards the matter is sufficiently shown by our action in respect of the Greek steamers in British ports. Obviously we cannot stand by till Greece has stocked herself with overseas requisites and then see her join the central powers."

Major Lemmon of the Courier-Capt. Stewart of the Expositor and J. W. Grayson of the Telegram wrote interestingly of the news of the day and kept the burghers ever wise as to all going on. Ben Hunn and Charley Farrell were the public auctioneers.

A. Watts and Co. (Robert Henry partner, Mayor and politician), were the principal wholesale grocers and soap manufacturers; Geo. Watt and Sons, wholesale grocers and Ignatius Cockshutt, leading retail merchant.

The Fair was the largest sugar manufacturer in Western Ontario. Phil Hart and Billy Hawkins were officers connected with the Internal Revenue Department. "Texas" Arthur Smith, Charley Clement, Charley Williams and "Red" Smith were men of leisure and social prominence.

Who does not recall Dick McQuinn and John Omond, the North Ward grocers and politicians; Jim Loney, the East Ward grocer and politician; Joe Loney and Cantillon, the Market St. grocers, also Quinlan, McMeans, Turner, Dennis and J. J. Hawkins, grocers, Tom Elliott, coal dealer, all dabbled in politics, and were more or less all city officers, aldermen, etc.

There was Joe Craig, Geo. Hardy, Ben Foster and Ben Whitham, the fruit dealers; Geo. Glasco, the turrier; Dan Sager the druggist; Dick Orchard, merchant tailor; Jim Sutherland of the book store; Tom Colter, Col. Palmer, Mort Keachie, George Elliott, Jim Workman, and a host of other young men prominently before the public.

LACROSSE AND BASEBALL "BUGS."

At this time, R. P. Moodie, local agent of the Grand Trunk Ry., and Fred A. Tiffin, local agent of the Great Western Ry. were soliciting for this southern trade via their respective routes. In calling to mind the fruit dealers, there was Charley Williams, Dave Diggs and C. Wilton, the barbers, and they could generally tell you all about the lacrosse and baseball "bugs" of the town. A GLORIOUS WORK

London Daily Telegraph:—The British people may well be proud of the work which has been done during the present war through combined operations of the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Union is strength. In a spirit of loyal devotion to a great cause, the two organizations have co-operated to a splendid purpose. It is impossible to form an estimate of the results achieved—the dying whose last hours have been soled, the timely aid given to the wounded, the comforts sent to prisoners, the heart agony in thousands of homes which has been relieved by the kindly offices in tracing men reported missing and wounded. In the history of warfare there has been nothing like it.

The Diamond From the Sky

By ROY L. McCARDELL

Copyright, 1915, by Roy L. McCardell

Hagar now realized she should have taken Blake more into her confidence, for all the detective knew was that his client had been seeking Arthur Stanley with no good intentions to the fugitive. So when later on the same day he had located Arthur with Blair he had given the same information as to where Arthur might be found that night to Sheriff Sam Swain, freshly arrived from Fairfax.

He Dropped the Jewel Into the Mail Box.

Down the street, the quiet, deserted residence street of Richmond's fashionable residential neighborhood, fled Arthur. Behind him the sound of the police whistles and the pursuit grew fainter. Arthur, in splendid physical trim and spurred by excitement, ran like a deer. He slipped down an obscure alley, crossed by the backs of a half score of mansions and found himself in a mean street that led down to the railroad tracks. The pursuit was left far behind or else it had gone off in a false scent in another direction.

Arthur slackened his pace and regained his breath. He looked down at himself and saw that he was in evening attire. True, in the struggle his clothes had received some rough handling. His dress coat was torn under the sleeve and his low cut waistcoat flapped apart, bereft of its buttons. And Arthur gave a little laugh as he saw his shadow under a dim street lamp and realized that despite the strenuous encounter through which he had just passed his silk hat, somewhat rumpled and battered, as examination proved, was still upon his head.

"How will I ever escape in these togs?" he said to himself ruefully. "They'll have my description broadcast in an hour." Yet he did not falter for all that, but hurried on in the night through the deserted streets, and in some fifteen minutes' brisk walk found himself, by rare good luck, in the railroad yards and by a long freight train, just slowly moving out.

With reckless haste he threw himself under a freight car and drew himself upon the brake beam. His head ached from the noise and the reaction of all he had passed through in the crowded hour at Mrs. Randolph's hall. Every bone in his body ached as he held to the jolting, creaking brake beam. Cramped and bruised from the position in which he lay on his narrow, perilous perch above the grinding wheels, a dreadful impulse seized upon Arthur to let go his straining grasp and end the now fearful fever of his life beneath the clanking wheels that ground and ground beneath him.

What was he after all but a living falsehood and a cheat? Not a Stanley of Stanley Hall, spending with a free hand as became a reckless gentleman, but a gypsy impostor, a cheat, wasting substance that was not his! A fugitive from justice and a bankrupt deceived by all who had known him to be the murderer of a kind and gentle old man who had never harmed him, but on the contrary had been his friend and had been one of the agencies by which he, a hedge born gypsy, had been reared in a mansion under a high name never his.

It has become known that the entire fortune of the late C. W. Post, of Ertle Creek, Mich., would go to his daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Chase, regardless of his carefully prepared will. Amilio Vacano, fourteen, of No. 1232 Ocean avenue, Ozone Park, L.I., was shot in the heart and killed in a hold-up "joke" by Dominico Zello, twenty nine, of No. 1237 Lawn avenue Ozone Park.

Ex-Sgt. Froud Makes Some Frank Admissions in London Graft Charges.

Rations Were Not All Delivered, But Sold to Hotels by Teamster.

London, Ont., Nov. 17.—Capt Tom L. Haygarth, deposed quartermaster of the 33rd battalion, who yesterday refused to testify at the court of enquiry signalling officer's graft charges and allegations of laxity in the administration of the corps, changed his mind and was on the stand for a considerable time. Despite the fact that many predictions have been made that he would get the "higher-ups" and that he would tell a story that would "turn London upside down," the most startling information the Captain offered was that Lieut. Fairhead, of the A. S. C. staff at divisional headquarters had said that he would "give $10,000 to get Major Hennessy out of town." Major J. T. Hennessy is divisional signalling officer. No intimation was given as to what information he has bottled up.

MUCH MEAT TAKEN.

H. H. Froud, formerly sergeant cook of the 33rd Battalion, who was reduced and penalized by court-martial recently, swore that he obtained meat, butter, and other supplies from the quartermaster's store and he sent them to his home. He also received $5 weekly from Thomas Keenan, driver for Frank Jackson, meat contractor, and he had taken boxes of cigars from George Dean, bread contractor. He said that from 400 to 500 pounds of meat were sent weekly from stores of Jackson's meat shop.

William Blake, a civilian teamster, who had rationed the A.S.C. supply depots to units in camp swore that sugar, bacon, cheese and other goods for the 33rd battalion were frequently left on his wagon. Subsequently he said other supplies were sold and delivered to the Walper Hotel, the home of a man named Clarkson at 307 Oxford street; John Penn plasterer contractor, on William Street north; Armit's butcher shop, and Charles Brichin.

PROVISIONS HELD OUT

Sergt. G. F. Burch, of the A. S. C., who was reduced and given 90 days by court-martial, was brought from the cells to testify. He swore that by order of Capt. Haygarth, quantities of meat were not delivered to the 33rd. He declared that the meat was sold and that the money was divided between himself and Pere. Pere, he understood, split with Capt. Haygarth. Burch also claimed that Capt. Haygarth frequently signed convey notes or receipts for goods, before they had been loaded at the supply depot and consequently should shortages be discovered, the A.S.C. could produce receipts and the men would have no redress. Burch claimed that Andrew Clarkson, of Dundas and Burwell streets, a civilian, bought some of the stolen supplies and retailed them about the city. He says he sold Mrs. Walper, of the Walper Hotel sugar at $1 a hundredweight, butter at $10 per box and bacon at 15 cents a pound.

Evidence that when the ticket system was installed in the canteen bogus tickets were in circulation was also brought out.

Major McCrimmon, junior major of the battalion, told of complaints from the men because of shortages. At times the men had refused to come out on early morning parades because they said they had had practically no breakfast.

Several witnesses testified that liquor had been brought into camp and that various officers and men consumed it.

A final decree of divorce will be granted Al. Davies, New York riding master and tango expert to-day. He will then be free to marry Eugenia Kelly, heiress to a fortune of luxurious dimensions.

FRENCH OFFICIAL

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, Nov. 18, 2.40 p.m.—There has been violent cannonading in the forest of Givency, in the Artois district, according to the announcement given out by the French War Office this afternoon.

The text of the statement follows: "In the Artois district there has been a violent cannonade in the forest of Givency. We have brought about a concentration of the fire of our trench guns against the German positions at Herbecourt, in the valley Somme, and we have bombarded very vigorously the German trenches at Autrechtes, on the north bank of the River Aisne."

"On the remainder of the front last night passed without incident."

Former Supreme Court Justice Edward E. McCall's removal as chairman of the First District Public Service Commission is demanded by Governor Whitman, of New York, up on four charges of misconduct.
