SHALL WE HAVE A MECHANICS' INSTITUTE?

It has been suggested that a rink or other place of amusement be provided in which our youth may spend some of their winter evenings. Does it never occur to anyone that the minds of our youth, as well as their bodies, need exercise if we would have them morally or physically healthy? Such a place can be established at a trifling cost, and it would benefit not only the young, but many an older person as well. Our Provincial Government is very liberal with its grants for the establishment and maintenance of Mechanics' Institutes. The plan of the Government is to help those who help themselves, and for every dollar raised by the Institute they give an equivalent amount. Besides this they give a grant on membership of $50 for each one hundred members. It may be asked what purpose does such an Institute serve? The Departmental regulations recognize three purposes or objects:

- 1.—The establishing of a public library.
- 2.—The establishing of a reading room.
- 3.—The establishing of a night school for the benefit of clerks and artisans who are employed during the day, or the establishing of an art school.

It will be thus seen that it has very important functions to fulfil, and that such an institution would fill a long felt want in this village. May we not hope that we shall this winter see the nucleus of an Institute library in Farmersville? If some person who has the intellectual and moral well-being of the community at heart would only move in the matter, we feel certain that he would be well supported in the enterprise.

She was accompanied by Mr. Byron Lexter, who purposes a more or less extended visit to the commercial metropolis of the United States, and will also, ere his return, take in the sights of Boston, Portland, Quebec and Montreal.

After a brief illness, the late John House, of Plum Hollow, passed away on the 9th inst., mourned by a large circle of relatives and friends, who will feel his loss as a heavy affliction. The deceased had a character for uprightness and integrity, and his cheerful disposition and kindly nature made him popular with all. He had just finished a fine residence in this village, intending to occupy it, but the heavy hand of death was laid upon him, the Disposer of Events having decreed a cutting short of a useful life.

Rev. Mr. Miller preached here Sunday evening, the 6th.

George Cooper, of Edwardsville, N. Y., dealer in dry goods and groceries, (formerly of this place) gave us a call Saturday last.

The October make of our cheese factory was taken away on Saturday last.

A magic lantern exhibition and lecture was given in the school house on last week, affording amusement and instruction to all who attended.

Grading on the railroad is nearly completed through here, and carpenters are preparing material for trestle work, culverts, etc.

Mrs. Phillip Cromwell, a former resident of this place, lately of Rochester, Ottawa, died very suddenly at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Turner, on Friday last. Her remains passed through here Sunday afternoon, and were placed in the Farmersville vault.

Totoed.

On Wednesday morning fire was discovered in the roof of Mr. Robt. Stewart's house in this village. As it had made some progress the structure was given up for lost and its contents were carried out. While this was going on the neighbors by great exertion managed to subdue the flames and the furniture was then carried back. By this time Mr. Stewart went to a neighbor for his dinner and during his absence the fire, which seems to have only been partially subdued, broke out afresh. The second outbreak nothing could stop and in a few moments the building and all its contents had gone up in smoke. It is said there was no insurance. The family were unable to get out even their clothing, and to make matters worse some $200 in money went with the rest. Mr. Stewart is a hard working man and has the sympathy of his neighbors.

Glou Buell.

Died, of apoplexy, at Ottawa, on the 12th inst., Melissa Botsford, widow of the late Phillip Cromwell, and sister of Mrs. Richard Howe. A memorial service was held here on Sunday by the Rev. J. E. Richardson, after which the body was taken to the Farmersville cemetery vault. The entire community sympathizes with the friends of the deceased in their sad bereavement.

Died, of consumption, on the 10th inst., Mrs. Frank Preston, daughter of Mr. Henry Lee. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Richardson, on Sunday morning, at Lynch. The parents have lost a loving daughter, the husband an affectionate wife, the children a kind mother, and the church a devoted christian. Truly a good woman has fallen.

The leading man of this place, has just purchased a farm of no small dimensions. If he can't manage it there will be another syndicate formed, when we may say good-bye to D-I-I Farm.

Mr. Chaney Botsford, who was said to have been killed in the lumber woods of Michigan last fall, turned up again on Saturday in Brockville. He says he was never killed until the past summer, when he was starved to death in Wisconsin. He is now on the lookout for a wife. She must have the stamps or she won't suit.

Mr. Wm. Stewart, of Stewart's Crossing, has made a very convenient change in his farm buildings. The barn and stables have been removed from "Charlotte Valley" across the railway track to "Point Peter," and the stalls have all been fitted up in style. The barn will soon be completed, and then, with a centre shed connecting the two buildings, matters will be arranged that he and his good wife will take as much solid comfort as any other folks in the neighborhood.

Quite an excitement prevails in other parts of the village, over a pig killed on Sunday last between one of our prominent neighbors as the party of the first part, and his wife, a pet pig and his nearest neighbor, as parties of the second part. The party of the first part came off victorious, having coerced his wife and the pig into submission, and administered a very severe shaking up to the neighbor, sending him home speedily across lots ejaculating: "You'll pay for this, so you will!" Probably C. J. will try the case. At the time of writing the pig is alive. If death does ensue, it will be nothing less than wilful murder.

Adilton.

The topic of the day is the good quality and low price of goods to be found at H. S. Moffatt's. Many of our young men are using the golden opportunity of working on the B. & W. R. R. Wages are fair. Mr. and Mrs. L. Wilson, of Kempsville, are the guests of Mr. W. Lewis. We hope Mr. Wilson will remain some time, owing to his genial and business like manner in coming in and out among us.

Our popular and highly esteemed teacher, Mr. W. A. Lewis, is succeeding remarkably well in training the young idea how to shoot. Will is a jolly good fellow and we wish him success.

Mr. Thos. Smart, late of Brockville, has written a series of letters from California, giving glowing accounts of the prospects in that State. The letters are addressed to Mr. John Rhodes, of Brockville, and we make a few interesting extracts:

"Riverside, Cal., Oct. 12.—We arrived here yesterday, right side up with care. Irving and Gage met us at San Bernardino and drove us out to their headquarters, where we stayed overnight. This morning we drove to their wells which are something wonderful. We followed the canal for 12 miles, reaching Riverside, where we now are. The weather is just like June weather at home. The foliage is all green yet, and beautiful fan palms, which we saw in Washington growing in hot houses, are flourishing out of doors without any care. Roses bloom the year round. Grapes of the most delicious sweetness are as common as as dirt, and are selling at $10 a ton. This certainly is a wonderful land, literally flowing with milk and honey. If I could only give you some of the fruit which we picked this morning, it would make your teeth water. I would like to live here if I could get into something safe, as the air is so pure it makes me feel like a new man."

"Riverside, Oct. 16th.—Here I am with Albert Abbott, writing to folks at home. Albert is captivated with everything and is going to invest. We have decided to buy a tract under the Gage canal system, but as yet have not got it located. There is no use in my telling you about the country, its productions, its wealth, its resources, its climate or its beauty, as I cannot describe it, and if I could you would think it was the dream of an enthusiast."

"Riverside, Oct. 17.—We have decided today to buy from Gage the section No. 77, containing 160 acres, at $100 per acre. It adjoins the railway station, and is sure to go up to $500 an acre as soon as water is let into the canal. In fact, a man owns 40 acres some distance from the land we selected, and holds it at $400 per acre; and without water it is absolutely useless. In the piece we bought the water privileges go with the land, which is the great thing here. It is hard to explain the advantages of this deal in a letter. One must be here and see what is going on, in order to understand it—for instance the rise in the value of the same kind of land since March last, the time the water was let into East Riverside, where land is now held at and sells for $1,000 per acre.

Orange groves are held at from two to three thousand dollars per acre, and pay good interest at that figure. Real estate in the towns and cities is out of the question, as the owners are asking from $150 to $300 per foot, and we can see no money in it at that price."

"Riverside, Oct. 18.—Since my last letter I have thought it would be well for me to tell you what we intend doing. There are two or three parties who wish to buy a lot from us the same as you get it. We took the block of 160 acres with that intention. We propose putting in a crop of barley, which is sown in November and harvested in February, and being cut green is the principal hay crop. It sells readily at from $18 to $20 per ton. The yield is about two and a half tons per acre, and we will get men to cut and press it at a rate per ton. Orange trees are not out until February or March, as a rule, and the irrigating water is not turned on until March. The old rains during the winter are sufficient for the grain without irrigation. THOS. SMART."

"Interesting extracts from another letter next week."

Mr. C. B. McClary, of Lansdowne, visited his uncle of this place on Tuesday last.

Mr. G. A. McIntosh intends going west soon to visit his brother, J. McIntosh, for a short time.

Mr. P. Covey purchased a fine young horse one day last week from Mr. R. Johnston, of Lyn.

Mr. G. A. McIntosh is overhauling his horse stable and drive house. Mr. John Palmer is doing the work. The right man in the right place. What a fine proof of the taste, sense and posterity care of the British Aristocracy over a youthful and valuable industry. In the face of the above our professional gentlemen and dignitaries may entertain no fear of compromising themselves by encouraging agriculture.

The Lombardy correspondent of the Smith's Falls Independent says that the wife of Adam Lawson recently gave birth to a son. The father is 75 years of age and the mother 50.

A young lawyer of Lunenburg, N. S., named Obadiah Levy, went through a mock marriage with Miss Leighton of Faneock, and after living with her for about a week he absconded with all her money, amounting to $5,000.

The English Church received in tithes about $20,000,000 a year. Of this amount, $5,000,000 is expended in hospitals, schools, churches, and other charities, and the remaining $15,000,000 goes to pay the salaries of the clergy.

A religious paper says: "No man who can tell a lie ought to be employed on a daily newspaper." Oh come, don't that go a little too far? Editors ought to be able to tell the truth, and they ought to be able to tell the truth, and they ought to be able to tell the truth.

Mr. G. F. Donnelly, who has been on our staff for some weeks, left on Wednesday last for Richmond Hill, to take charge of the paper published at that town. We wish him the success which his abilities and gentlemanly qualities entitle him to.
 On Sunday next the Rev. Wm. McGregor, of St. Williams, Ont., will preach in the Baptist pulpits of Plum Hollow in the morning, Toledo in the afternoon, and Farmersville in the evening. It is possible that Mr. McGregor will eventually be the pastor of this congregation.
 ALL-WOOD GREY FLANNETS.—Excellent line at 25c. See it. Sold elsewhere at 25c. and 30c. A. PARSON & SON.
 Mr. John A. Nichols, the celebrated temperance lecturer, and Prof. A. D. Lane, the skilled vocalist and musical conductor, were greeted by a large audience in the Methodist Church last night. The lecture was an intellectual treat, and we believe the church will be crowded this evening by an audience anxious to hear the second lecture.
 The Methodist Church was crowded Sunday evening, when the pastor delivered a sermon, as announced, on the subject of "Temperance." Mr. Rogers' discourse was an eloquent denunciation of the evil of intemperance, and in referring to local questions of vital importance it was characterized by outspoken and manly utterances. Nothing was said hastily, but every word seemed to be the result of deep thought and excellent judgment. Such an able temperance homily is seldom heard by church-going people, and we are sure the congregation was deeply and favorably impressed.
 The choir of the Methodist Church, assisted by local amateurs, will give a social entertainment in the church, on the evening of Tuesday the 21st inst., commencing punctually at 8 o'clock. The programme will include one or two choruses by the choir, solos and duets by favorite vocalists, pianoforte solos by skilled performers and selections by the Farmersville orchestra, as well as one or two readings or recitations. The entertainment promises to be very enjoyable, and with the admission fee placed at 15 cents, it should be well patronized. Programmes will be distributed throughout the village on the day preceding the entertainment. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of music for the choir.
 The High School Literary Society's programme on the 25th inst. should be both interesting and instructive. It will be drawn chiefly from Longfellow and will comprise readings and recitations from this author, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music, and essays on "the life and works of the great American poet. We understand that it is the intention of this society to give, at an early date, with the help of friends outside, a concert for the special delectation of "our old folks." We trust that they will carry out their present intentions, as this kind of concert, which has proved so popular in other towns, would undoubtedly be appreciated here, and it would also aid materially in diminishing the debt on the piano in that institution.
 The following note is published under the signature of W. J. Webster, secretary:—At a congregational meeting held in the Presbyterian church, Westport, on the 4th inst., among other matters there was a resolution passed concerning the minister of the charge, the Rev. David Y. Ross. In view of the fact that it was reported in the preceding with a call to return Mr. Ross' services, the meeting unanimously agreed to do all in their power to make Mr. Ross comfortable in their midst, especially in the prompt payment of his salary. The resolution concluded as follows: "We sign, cordially and trustfully, the Rev. David Y. Ross, M. A., our faithful and loving pastor, may remain with us to be our teacher and example in promoting our spiritual welfare." It is expected that the liberal spirit displayed by his Westport congregation will induce Mr. Ross to remain in his present charge.

 JONES.—Have you got your life insured?
 SMITH.—Yes I have, with Mr. Halladay.
 J.—He has been taking to me, but I fancy his company isn't as good as some of the others.
 S.—What makes you think so?
 J.—Oh, it's a mutual company, and I haven't thought it as safe as a stock company.
 S.—I used to think that way too, and I really thought that it was an assessment company, but when I read into the matter I found that it was an old London company, and that the principle, having the largest deposit of any mutual company, and putting by a reserve on the same basis as any old line. This being the case, I decided to insure in it.
 J.—Well, even that. What are the advantages of the stock company?
 S.—It has several, but the principal one lies in the fact that it has no stockholders to take care of, but the policy holders.
 J.—Are not these men entitled to interest on the money?
 S.—Yes, they are, and they get from eight to fifteen per cent. yearly, and you know the company can't hold it for more than six per cent. But in addition to this these men get from five to twenty per cent. of the policy holders' profits every three or five years, amounting to thousands of dollars.
 J.—Do you mean to tell me that the stockholders of the stock company get from ten to twenty per cent. of the profits?
 S.—That is just what I mean, for I invested first before I insured. And the reason that Law Society's examinations; two out of three obtained 2nd Class, and 23 out of 36 obtained 3rd Class certificates.

 Mr. John A. Nichols, the celebrated temperance lecturer, and Prof. A. D. Lane, the skilled vocalist and musical conductor, were greeted by a large audience in the Methodist Church last night. The lecture was an intellectual treat, and we believe the church will be crowded this evening by an audience anxious to hear the second lecture.
 The choir of the Methodist Church, assisted by local amateurs, will give a social entertainment in the church, on the evening of Tuesday the 21st inst., commencing punctually at 8 o'clock. The programme will include one or two choruses by the choir, solos and duets by favorite vocalists, pianoforte solos by skilled performers and selections by the Farmersville orchestra, as well as one or two readings or recitations. The entertainment promises to be very enjoyable, and with the admission fee placed at 15 cents, it should be well patronized. Programmes will be distributed throughout the village on the day preceding the entertainment. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of music for the choir.
 The High School Literary Society's programme on the 25th inst. should be both interesting and instructive. It will be drawn chiefly from Longfellow and will comprise readings and recitations from this author, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music, and essays on "the life and works of the great American poet. We understand that it is the intention of this society to give, at an early date, with the help of friends outside, a concert for the special delectation of "our old folks." We trust that they will carry out their present intentions, as this kind of concert, which has proved so popular in other towns, would undoubtedly be appreciated here, and it would also aid materially in diminishing the debt on the piano in that institution.
 The following note is published under the signature of W. J. Webster, secretary:—At a congregational meeting held in the Presbyterian church, Westport, on the 4th inst., among other matters there was a resolution passed concerning the minister of the charge, the Rev. David Y. Ross. In view of the fact that it was reported in the preceding with a call to return Mr. Ross' services, the meeting unanimously agreed to do all in their power to make Mr. Ross comfortable in their midst, especially in the prompt payment of his salary. The resolution concluded as follows: "We sign, cordially and trustfully, the Rev. David Y. Ross, M. A., our faithful and loving pastor, may remain with us to be our teacher and example in promoting our spiritual welfare." It is expected that the liberal spirit displayed by his Westport congregation will induce Mr. Ross to remain in his present charge.

The lecture was an intellectual treat, and we believe the church will be crowded this evening by an audience anxious to hear the second lecture.

The Methodist Church was crowded Sunday evening, when the pastor delivered a sermon, as announced, on the subject of "Temperance." Mr. Rogers' discourse was an eloquent denunciation of the evil of intemperance, and in referring to local questions of vital importance it was characterized by outspoken and manly utterances. Nothing was said hastily, but every word seemed to be the result of deep thought and excellent judgment. Such an able temperance homily is seldom heard by church-going people, and we are sure the congregation was deeply and favorably impressed.

Webster, secretary:—At a congregational meeting held in the Presbyterian church, Westport, on the 4th inst., among other matters there was a resolution passed concerning the minister of the charge, the Rev. David Y. Ross. In view of the fact that it was reported in the press that another congregation was proceeding with a call to obtain Mr. Ross' services, the meeting unanimously agreed to do all in their power to make Mr. Ross comfortable in their midst, especially in the prompt payment of his salary. The resolution concluded as follows: "We sincerely hope and trust that the Rev. David Y. Ross, M. A., our faithful and loving pastor, may remain with us to be our teacher and example in promoting our spiritual welfare." It is expected that the liberal spirit displayed by his Westport congregation will induce Mr. Ross to remain in his present charge.

JONES.—Have you got your life insured?
SMITH.—Yes, I have, with Mr. Halladay.
J.—He has been taking to me, but I fancy his company isn't as good as some of the others.
S.—What makes you think so?
J.—Oh, it's a mutual company, and I haven't thought it safe as a stock company.
S.—I used to think that way too, and I really thought that it was an assessment company, which based around the bar at every death. But upon looking into the matter I found that principle, having the largest deposit of any Canadian Company, and putting by a reserve fund of $1,000,000. What are its advantages over the stock companies?
S.—It has several, but the principal one lies in the fact that it has no stockholders to take the profits from the policy holders.
J.—Are not these men entitled to interest on their money?
S.—Yes, they are, and they get from eight to fifteen per cent. yearly; and you know the cost, but in addition to this they get a profit from 10 to 20 per cent. of the policy holders' profits every three or five years, amounting to thousands of dollars.
J.—Do you mean to tell me that the stockholders of a life company get from 10 to 20 per cent. of all profits no matter from what source, besides dividends on their paid-up capital?
S.—That is just what I mean, for I investigated it before I insured. And the reason that the Ontario Mutual is giving cheaper insurance than any other company is because all its profits go to the policy holders.
J.—I thank you for the information—I am well satisfied with it—I will do as you have done, insure with
