Plumbago in paying quantities has been found at Perth.

1,000 calf skins wanted at Moti & Robeson's.

It is against the law to catch pickered on and after the 15th of April until the 15th of May.

1000 gals. maple syrup wanted at Moti & Robeson's.

The Athens high school students are reorganizing their football club for the coming season.

The corn festival announced to be held in the Baptist church to-morrow has been postponed until 29th.

Carriages built to order, repairing and painting done in first class style at moderate prices—A. James.

At the meeting of the Epworth League on Tuesday, April 25th, a public lecture will be delivered by Rev. A. A. Radley.

Do you want 20 pounds of tea? If so, you can save just Two Dollars by getting it at the Tea Store, Brocks ville.—T. W. DENNIS.

Miss Jessie Imrie, a recent graduate of Brockville Business College, has a position with C. T. R. as stenographer at Montreal.

Mr. W. H. Jacob has about completed his cottage at Charleston. It is situated on a well wooded point of the main land, beyond the Wilson cottage.

W. T. Vanloot, Frankville, recently captured an eagle at Robinson's mills that measured 7 feet 8 in. from tip to tip of its wings. It is being set up in Brockville.

The Salvation Army supper on Tuesday evening last was quite successful, though not so well attended as the large number present at the ordinary services would lead one to expect.

The entrance examinations in Ontario will this year commence on June 28th. Examinations for primary and junior leaving teachers' certificates and University Pass Matriculation examinations will commence June 14th.

A number of the younger members of the Athens council of B. T. of T. visited Brockville council on Tuesday evening last. They were very agreeably entertained by the Brockville Templars and remained until a late hour.

The Athens Oddfellows will attend divine worship in the Methodist church on the morning of Sunday next. Service will be conducted by Rev. G. S. White, of Sealey's Bay. Members will meet at the lodge room at 10 a. m.

On Wednesday last the ice in Charleston commenced "shoving" under the impulse of a south wind and, as usual, did considerable damage to the pier at Cedar park. The ice is now leaving the lake rapidly and fishing has commenced.

Sara Lord Bayley, the famous elocutionist, will recite in Athens on the evening of Monday, May 1st, under the auspices of Athens lodge of Foresters. This accomplished lady has a continental reputation and her coming will be looked forward to eagerly. Further announcements later.

An accident of precisely the same nature as ended the life of the young man Dorway at Chipperville happened to Samuel Johnson near Oxford station on Saturday, 8th inst. He was carrying a pig when a large limb fell and striking him on the head killed him instantly.

One of the incidents of Thursday's sitting of the Legislature was the presentation by Hon. C. F. Bassett of a petition from L. O. L. No. 14, of Addison praying that provision be made for a plebiscite on the question of prohibition. It was an occasion for opposition applause.

Mr. A. E. Donovan will leave for London, Eng., about the middle of May, having been selected by the Sun Life Insurance Co. as one of a number of its leading agents who will introduce the business of the company into the great English metropolis during the coming summer. Mr. Donovan will accompany him.

The last number of the Fortnightly Review, of Harbor Street College Institute, Toronto, contains an excellent essay on "Genius" from the pen of Mr. L. A. Kennedy, M. A. We are pleased to note in another column of the Review that Mr. Kennedy's ability as an elocutionist meets with favorable appreciation at Institute entertainments.

Chessmen Friends. On Friday evening last Grand Vice-Chancellor W. P. Bell of Kingston instituted a council of the Chosen Friends in Athens, with a charter membership of twenty. The honorable position of Past-Chancellor was given to Mr. Jas. Ross, who had been active in securing the institution of the council. The following officers were elected:—

Chancellor..... J. P. Lamb. Vice-Chancellor..... I. C. Aguirre. Recorder..... H. H. Arnold. Treasurer..... W. F. Earl. Marshal..... C. H. Wilson. Warden..... W. B. Connerly. Guard..... M. Ritter. Sentinel..... W. G. McLaughlin. Mod. Exam..... Dr. S. S. Cornell. Trustee: 1st year M. A. Everts (chairman); 2nd year I. C. Aguirre; 3rd year Phil. Wilcox.

Mr. W. W. Robinson has returned to take his old position in the cheese factory at Munster.

D. & A. Corsets at G. W. Beach's

Mr. W. Foster, of Newboro, spent Sunday in Athens with Mr. J. Cavley.

Rev. A. A. Radley of Frankville will occupy the pulpit at the Presbyterian church, next Sabbath evening.

Call at G. W. Beach's and see the new spring hats for men and boys.

A grand rally of the temperance workers of Ontario is to be held in Toronto on August 22nd and 23rd.

Go to G. W. Beach's for alabaster, kalsomine, floor paint, wall paper, and curtain poles.

Mr. W. M. Allan, who resided on 6th concession of Elizabethstown, died on Friday last, aged 78 years.

The Smith's Falls council has voted $100 to the Mechanics' Institute of that town.

The bill requiring unnaturalized males of 21 years of age or over to pay an annual tax of $3, has been passed in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

At a meeting of the committee of the Eastern Ontario Dairyman's Association J. P. Peris of Maxwell was appointed inspector for the eastern division.

Prescott has organized a Cheese Board which will meet for the first time on Saturday, April 22, in the Board of Trade rooms, town hall.

Thirteen thousand copies of the Bible are issued by the British and Foreign Bible Society every day. The Scriptures have been published in 304 languages.

Our Athens milliners are complimented upon their excellent display this spring, which is said to contain the very latest styles and most approved materials and designs.

Erastus Livingston gave his annual spring party on Tuesday last. It was a big feast of sylvan sweets, hen fruit, etc., and was greatly enjoyed by his numerous guests.

The Gannaque Journal came to hand last week in an enlarged and greatly improved form and bearing unmistakable evidence that it is properly appreciated by its advertising patrons.

Almeron Robeson is still very low, having taken a turn for the worse Saturday. He is conscious and able to converse with those who call to see him, but his doctor gives little hope of his recovery.

Richard Kelly, a well-known farmer living on the stone road west of Athens, has been ill for a long time. Latterly the symptoms of disease have been more serious, having been aggravated by a fall which he received about two weeks ago.

The Hon. the Minister of Education has appointed Mr. Wm. Johnston, M. A., L. L. B., examiner at the Ottawa Normal school professional examinations. We congratulate Mr. Johnston on his appointment to this responsible position.

Quite a number of Athenians are in Brockville this week. A. E. McLean and E. Tennant are on the petti jury and W. M. Stevens on the grand jury. Several from this vicinity have been summoned to give evidence in the Rowson case.

Last week we printed a package of neat folders advertising the new Hotel, Charleston Lake, as a summer resort. Mr. Duffield's last year's guests have been writing for advertising matter, which is a pleasing indication of their friendly feeling for the house.

The united counties of Leeds and Grenville have a surplus. But they have now two murder cases, the Luckey case of Smith's Falls and the Shipman-Fitzsimmons case of Gannaque, and the prosecution of these will eat a large hole in the surplus. Besides these, there is the Kennedy poisoning case at Kemptonville.

The storm of Saturday last is worthy of record as being worse than any experienced during the past winter. It came from the North-east and prevailed all day, fully five inches of snow falling. Sunday was a beautiful spring day, bright and warm, and the snow melted and slight rain used though cutters, the sleighing was all gone before evening.

Is this town "loyal" enough to hold a celebration on the Queen's birthday? Gannaque baseball team are endeavoring to arrange for a match with Athens club to be played on that day. This alone would draw a crowd. Let those who love athletic sports consider the matter. Usually all Athens people go away from home on public holidays. Would it not be well, just for a change, to provide at least one of these occasions for the town on the 24th?

The corner lotter is again happy! He has resumed his old habits of extolling tobacco juice, staring the passers-by out of countenance and generally taking his usual allotment of the sidewalk viz., three thirds, along with the profane and vulgar phrases which were so common in the years gone by. He generally makes himself the most conspicuous about the time people are going and returning from church on the Sabbath.—Ex.

We congratulate our friend Lovrin, of Athens, on the great improvement he has made in the Reporter. For the size of his town he always ran a tip-top paper but now he fairly outdoes all his past efforts. The Reporter is a credit to its enterprising publisher and should be a great benefit to the Ridesan Record.

Big Butter Record. Greenbush, April 20, '98. Editor Reporter: Dear Sir, I noticed in your valuable publication (some time ago) an account of a Jersey heifer 1 yr. and 10 mo. old, owned by Mr. J. J. Delia, from which he made 5 lbs. of butter in one week, or an average of 1 1/2 oz. per day. I write to say that I have a Jersey heifer which was dropped the 10th of April, though I think it had to have been 93. By actual test, from 6 days milk, '98. It produced 7 1/2 lbs. of butter or an average of 1 lb. 4 oz. of butter per week, thus beating the Vanalstine heifer by 6 1/2 oz. per day or 9 lbs. per week. Let us hear from you again, Delia. R. E. FORBES.

AN ICE QUESTION. foresight, when getting the butter ready, to include among the butter put into a small coop in which were six fat chickens I owned, and without which I never went to bed. These had enough eggs every day to keep alive. The fish we caught when our balloon stood over the sea.

"But the chicken?" said Molly. "What did they live on?" "The Major bloated."

"I am sorry you asked that question, Molly," he said. "But I assure it is if you will permit never to tell anyone. It was only time in my life that I ever practiced an intentional deception, and I have always regretted it, although our very lives depend upon it."

"What was it Uncle Major?" asked Jack.

"I took the egg shells and ground them into powder and fed them to the chicken. The police officers supposed it was cornmeal they were getting," confessed the Major. "I know it was mean—but what could I do?"

"Nothing," said Molly softly. "And I don't think it was so bad after all. Any other person than you would have kept them laying eggs until they starved, and then they would have killed them and eaten them up. You let them live."

"That may be so, Molly," said the Major with a smile that showed how relieved his conscience was by the little maid's suggestion. "But I couldn't do that, you see, because they were pets."

Then Jack and Molly climbed down and went to their play, strongly of the opinion that, though a bold warrior, the Major was a singularly kind, soft-hearted man after all.—Chicago Tribune.

A Labor of Love.

"Were you in it long?" queried Molly, taking possession of the Major's knee.

"Well, it seemed long enough," the Major answered. "Three months of it in the country playing the part of a soldier, but all right since a very short time, but three months in a balloon and the constant center of attack from every source is too long for me."

"Were you up in the air for three whole months?" asked Molly, his eyes wide open with amazement.

"All but two days," said the Major. "For two of those days we were in the top of the tree in India. The way of it was this: I was always, as you know, a great favorite with the Emperor, and in 1870, he found himself involved in a war with Germany, he replied to one of his courtiers, who warned him that his army was not in condition to fight the Prussians: 'Any army is prepared for war whose Commander-in-Chief means Major Carraway and his advisers. Let me have Carraway at my right hand and I will fight the world.'

"The most beautiful man in the world is the man that studies himself most. If beauty draws us by a single hair, what a pull the hairdressing skirt will have! Beasts as a rule want money, and even the man who beats carpets is out for the dust."

"Now," said the nervous man, as he took out the clock striking apparatus, "we'll have a nice quiet home with a housemaid and a watchman, and hold's moving—say nothing of particular interest, but I'll be sure to get you a pair of boots as a rule want money, and even the man who beats carpets is out for the dust."

Miss Jessie Imrie, a recent graduate of Brockville Business College, has a position with the G. T. R. as stenographer, at Montreal. Mr. W. H. Jacob has about completed his cottage at Charleston. It is situated on a well wooded point of the main land, beyond the Wilson cottage.

W. T. Vanloss, Franklinville, recently captured an eagle at Robinson's mills that measured 7 feet 8 in. from tip to tip of its wings. It is being set up in Brockville. The Salvation Army supper on Tuesday evening last was quite successful, though not so well attended as the large numbers present at the ordinary services would lead one to expect.

The entrance examinations in Ontario will this year commence on the 25th. Examinations for primary and junior leaving teachers' certificates and University Pass Matriculation examinations will commence June 14th. A number of the younger members of the Athens council of R. T. of Tuesday visited Brockville council on Tuesday evening last. They were very agreeably entertained by the Brockville Templars and remained until a late hour.

The Athens Oddfellows will attend divine worship in the Methodist church on the morning of Sunday next. Service will be conducted by Rev. G. S. White, of Seeley's Bay. Members will meet at the lodge room at 10 a. m. On Wednesday last the ice in Charleston commenced "shoving" under the impulse of a steady wind, and the usual, did considerable damage to the pier at Cedar park. The ice is now leaving the lake rapidly and fishing has commenced.

Sara Lord Bayley, the famous elocutionist, will recite in Athens on the evening of Monday, May 1st, under the auspices of Athens Lodge of Foresters. The accomplished lady has a continental reputation and her coming will be looked forward to eagerly. Further announcements later. Several from this vicinity have been summoned to give evidence in the Rowsome case. Last week we printed a package of neat folders advertising Harbor View Hotel, Charleston Lake, as a summer resort. Mr. Duffell's last year's Major. "If we didn't have a great deal of our gas, and our condition would have been worse than ever. As I was we were right over the center of the desert. There was no way of getting out of it except by long and weary marches over the hot, burning sands, with the chances largely in favor of our never getting out of it alive. The only thing that saved us was the fact that we were carrying a large quantity of water in our canteens. This we did, having to wait four mortal weeks." "You said two weeks a minute ago, Major," said Jack. "Two! Well, yes, it was two, now that I think of it. It's a natural mistake," said the Major, stroking his mustache. "I was a little off my head, but with nothing to do but whistle for a breeze, is equal to four weeks anywhere else. That's the way with it, you know, two weeks or four, whichever it is, the breeze comes finally, and along about midnight the wind comes up in the night, and I and my servant were caught by a southerly blast and blown into Athens where, piled in the air directly over the desert of Sahara, we encountered a dead calm, which kept us installed for two miserable weeks." "Why didn't you come down?" asked Molly. "I didn't dare to," explained the Major. "If we didn't have a great deal of our gas, and our condition would have been worse than ever. "I was a little off my head, but with nothing to do but whistle for a breeze, is equal to four weeks anywhere else. That's the way with it, you know, two weeks or four, whichever it is, the breeze comes finally, and along about midnight the wind comes up in the night, and I and my servant were caught by a southerly blast and blown into Athens where, piled in the air directly over the desert of Sahara, we encountered a dead calm, which kept us installed for two miserable weeks." "Why didn't you come down?" asked Molly. "I didn't dare to," explained the Major. "If we didn't have a great deal of our gas, and our condition would have been worse than ever. As I was we were right over the center of the desert. There was no way of getting out of it except by long and weary marches over the hot, burning sands, with the chances largely in favor of our never getting out of it alive. The only thing that saved us was the fact that we were carrying a large quantity of water in our canteens. This we did, having to wait four mortal weeks." "You said two weeks a minute ago, Major," said Jack. "Two! Well, yes, it was two, now that I think of it. It's a natural mistake," said the Major, stroking his mustache.
