CHAPTER VIII.
A Penitent Peer.
"Put not your trust in women!" he said; "they are a broken reed. I would that it could have been otherwise, that I could have let the money drift to you and go with the land; but it cannot be. Justice and atonement—justice and atonement!" and murmuring those words again and again, he withdrew his hand from Percy's grasp and fell into the old attitude of abstraction.
Percy stood looking at him for a few minutes, then moved slowly away.
As he reached the door, which Stephen Gringe had shuffled forward to open, he looked back and saw that the earl had completely forgotten his existence, and was crouching over the fire with a slight shiver and air of perfect unconsciousness.
Percy sighed—it was such a noble wreck! and passed out.
Stephen Gringe shuffled after him, and caught him up as he stood in the hall, consulting his watch.
"Mr. Percy, you will not go on today, sir?" said the old man, in a troubled voice.
Percy turned to him with a smile.
"Yes, at once, Stephen."
"Not to-day, sir! Stay, Mr. Percy, one day in the old house. It isn't right that the heir—"
Then he stopped.
"No," said Percy. "Why should I stay, Stephen—the earl is no worse than usual!"
Stephen Gringe shook his head.
"I should not see him—he told me so himself."
"The earl sees no one but me, Mr. Percy. I have been with him since he was a boy!" said the old man, in his thin voice.
"I know that, Stephen," said Percy, laying his hand on the bent shoulder with that frank, gracious kindness which won the hearts of his inferiors. "I know how faithful and devoted you have been, Stephen, and I know that while you are by his side my uncle needs no other protector or guardian, so I can leave him all the easier. Tell me, why should I stay?"
Stephen Gringe looked up at him, and then at the long line of pictures—at the men in armor, at the old, tattered flags; then he drew a little nearer to the young heir, and with a timid, deprecating, and yet cunning air, placed his shrunken hand on the strong, muscular arm.

"Master Percy, forgive an old servant who's grown gray in the Vering service—I've had you in my arms many's the time and oft, Mr. Percy—can't this thing be?"
"Do you mean can I marry Miss Harrup, the coal-owner's daughter, Stephen?" said Percy, with a grim smile.
"Ay," said the old man, his small, sharp eyes searching the open, candid face above him with painful eagerness—"ay, she's not a bad lass, Mr. Percy—not good for the heir of Vering!—who is good enough?" and he drew himself up with a gesture of fierce pride—"but she is a straight, comely young lady; and the earl did not over-reckon the money, Mr. Percy."
Percy shook his head with a smile.
"No, Stephen, it cannot be—it is too late. Ah, and if you had tempted me a year ago, I should have stood hard against it; but now! why, Stephen, I am in love with the loveliest woman in the world, and I wouldn't lose her to save Vering itself!"
The old man looked at him hard and grim for a moment, then turned aside with a groan.
"I knew it was no use," he muttered, shaking his head—"few men could move a Chester an inch out of his road."
Then he gathered himself together.
"You'll stay to dinner, Mr. Percy? It shall be served in the court room—I'll see the cook—"
Percy shook his head.
"No, Stephen, thank you. I've been thinking that I would like to walk across the fields—the old footpath I remember so well—to the station. Will you send my portmanteau on? Come, don't look so grieved, my old friend! 'Pon my life, I think you take my loss of the earl's money to heart more than I do!" and he laughed gently. "And now I will be off."
A footman came up noiselessly with the light dress coat Percy had worn.
Stephen Gringe took it from him, and dismissed him with a gesture, then helped Percy on with it.
"It don't seem long ago, Mr. Percy," he murmured, "since I used to put your little velvet jacket on; you weren't so broad across the shoulders then, and I could reach up to your head better. 'Ah!' and he groaned.
"Old times—good old times, Stephen," said Percy, shaking the old

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:
Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.
This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.
All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

gured me to death, in a gentlemanly way, but I was as silent as a—
"Never mind the fellows at the club," said Percy, with pardonable but suppressed impatience, "tell me about—"
"Her?" said Charlie. "Well, I went, Percy, as early as twelve o'clock, and was shown into the drawing-room. It was quite empty, and I expect neither she nor Lady Devigne was down. But presently she came in—glided in like an angel, and as beautiful as a dream," he added, his face lit up with boyish enthusiasm, "and she gave her hand with that smile—ah, Percy, you are a lucky fellow! Well, I told her that you had been sent for, and explained how queer the old file—I beg your pardon—how strange the earl was; and then I gave her your note. What do you think she did?" he broke off, with a shake of the head.
"Can't guess," said Percy. "Read it, perhaps?"
"No! Raised it to her lips, and kissed it!—she did indeed. And—oh, Percy, if you'll forgive me—I thought it was rather hard that she didn't pay me in that way, seeing the note was so short and the message, as I spun it out, was so long!"
"Impudent young vagabond!" laughed Percy. "And then—"
"Oh!" sighed the boy, "we sat and talked for ever so long—all about you and the earl; and she didn't seem to get tired, though I ran on for an hour. And at last I thought it better to go—I didn't want to be turned out—and she opened the conservatory door for me. 'This is the way my favorite pussy comes in,' she said; 'you shall be my tame cat, too, if you like.' My! if I liked! And then I went, Percy; but, just as I turned to raise my hat, I saw her hide your letter away in the bosom of her dress."
Percy turned aside to hide the glow that he knew was shining in his eyes.
"Put her to the test!" he murmured; "as if she could be anything but true! Yes; I will tell her all to-night at once, and get the sweet assurance from her own lips that the wretched gold is dress weighed against her pure, maiden love!"

Asparagus is delicious served with brown butter for a change, instead of on toast with dressing.
"No, dear boy!" said Percy, with his hand on the lad's shoulder.
"The earl is as usual, I suppose—certainly no worse."
"The business they wanted to see me about concerned myself, and was not very pleasant; but we won't talk about that. What news have you for me, Charlie?" and his handsome face flushed slightly.
"Ah!" said Charlie, in a low voice, as if he were so full of the subject that he did not know at which part of it to begin, "my word, Percy, the fellows at the club are raving mad with envy and uncharitableness! It's got about somehow; Count Hudspiel saw you at the carriage last night, and must have guessed at it. They had-

Nerviline Stops Earache in 10 Seconds
Fixes Toothache in 2 Minutes.

It Seems to Possess Almost Some Divine Power Over Pain.
BUB ON NERVILINE.
Toothache is usually due to neuralgia in the gums or to the congestion and swelling of the nerve pulp.
"As 'Nerviline' relieves congestion, you can easily see why it cures toothache.
Nerviline does more—cures any ache or pain—in any part of the body. It matters not where your pain is. It may be in a joint or muscle; it may be neuralgia or lumbago; it may be a surface pain in deeply situated in the back, side or chest. Nerviline will reach it; Nerviline will drive it out.
What is Nerviline, you ask? Just a liniment, but very much stronger in pain-subduing power than other liniments—One that penetrates more deeply in the tissue than any other liniment. It is a liniment that cures quickly, that gives permanent relief. You might spend ten or a hundred dollars, but you couldn't buy as much relief as you get from a single bottle of Nerviline.
We guarantee Nerviline: we refund your money if it does not relieve you. In many lands it is a household trust, a remedy that has justified itself under the experience of those who have used it. Guaranteed for neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, pleurisy, strains or sprains; the large 50 cent family size bottle is more economical than the 25 cent trial size. Dealers everywhere sell Nerviline.

How to Save Your Eyes

Try This Free Prescription.

"Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps the eyes busy. You work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally they have ailments that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one tablet in 1/2 glass of water and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but it is so effectively effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't neglect a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription. The Valinas Drug Co. of Toronto will fill the above prescription by mail, if your druggist cannot.

A prominent City Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family."

Save the Little Men.

The wants of children has a triple form. We prevent them from seeing when they are blind born and born. We are careless of them throughout infancy. We send them to school too early when they are grown children. Many facts have recently been published on these three points.

"What is happening under our eyes at Lums?" asks Mr. Arthur H. D. Aylard in the Times.

"We are alliving through our own carelessness and blindness, thousands of men to die needlessly—month by month. For want of the care which, with a serious national effort, we could easily provide now in war-time, we are losing large numbers of fine, strong men—babies who are born splendidly healthy and ready to do their share for their country some day.

"What are the facts? The infantile mortality, after falling, is rising again. For every 1,000 births in England and Wales in 1915, 110 children under one year died. A medical officer of health has said that we might reduce this rate by half. Then there is a death-rate of babies before birth nearly as large. If we could reduce these two rates by only a quarter we could save in three or four years over 100,000 lives, or the number we have lost by death at the front.

"How is it to be done? More health visitors, more infant welfare centres.

Grain Laden Steamer Ashore in St. Mary's Bay.

The Norwegian steamer Lyngford, bound from Baltimore, U.S.A., to Cardiff, England, with a cargo of grain, went ashore at St. Vincent's, Holywood, in St. Mary's Bay, during a dense fog at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, according to a message received shortly after the mishap by Messrs. Bowring Bros. Ltd., agents here for Lloyds, London. The ship, which left the U.S. at 11 o'clock, was on board Mr. Tasker Cook and Mr. M. P. Cashin, accompanied by a posse of police, left for the scene of the wreck. The Lyngford is at present owned by Messrs. O. M. Miltrey & Co. of Christiana, and is 2510 tons gross and 1573 tons net. She was formerly the Greek steamer Evangelos, built in 1890 by Short Bros., at Sunderland, England, her engines being constructed by G. Clark & Co. Ltd. The ship left Baltimore on May 21st with her grain cargo and passed Cape Henry the following day.

These two quite simple things alone will save thousands of lives. What stands in the way of this fundamentally patriotic work? In many places it is city councillors, town councillors, county councillors, or their advisers. They do not mean to be unpatriotic, but from this point of view they are. Excuses-for inaction and delay, of course, abound. But these are all swept away by the best authorities, who are doing splendid life-saving work. The Government gives 50 per cent. of the cost. On an average through the country less than a halfpenny rate would go a long way and save thousands of lives. Is it not appalling that the tradition of saving the ratepayers' pocket, which is a kind of religion with many, or a most disastrous indifference, is bringing the nation into jeopardy? This is not economy, it is fearful waste.

"Some day we shall have centres within reach of the mothers just as we have schools within reach of the children. And some day we shall be sorry that we let these 'little men,' whom the country wants, die needlessly now under our eyes.

"Information as to the position in any locality and advice will, I am sure, be gladly given by the secretary of the National Association for the Prevention of Infant Mortality, whose chairman is Sir Thomas Barlow, 4, Tavistock Square, W. C."

"The infantile death-rate is far higher in enlightened Germany than in this country," says the Times. "To tell the truth, the Germans are in a very bad way with regard to the future of their race, in spite of all their material success, or perhaps because of it. The prospects of their national vitality are extremely dark, as thoughtful German observers very well know.

"Our birth-rate has been falling longer than Germany's, and it stands considerably lower. Though we save more infant life, we might save a great deal more than we do."

A New Novel by a New Writer.

The Honey Pot by Countess Barcynska. It is a story of the stage, and never perhaps have the expectations and disappointments of the aspirant for a successful stage career been more naturally described. Two girls, Maggie and Lexie, hold the interest throughout. They are excellently contrasted. Maggie, the daughter of an actress, having been associated with the stage from her earliest childhood and influenced by its freedom, while Lexie has been brought up in refinement and wants a career for the use of her talent. It is not too much to say that Maggie, the lovable and loving girl who, with all her worldly wisdom, falls a prey to the man who captures her fancy, is a triumph of characterization. Natural and human she is the heart of the book; but hardly less interesting is Lexie's stubborn fight with its happy ending and the many intimate pictures of the life of the chorus girl. The whole story rings true. Paper, 65c.; Cloth, 90c.

THE WHOLE DUTY OF MEN.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Once upon a time there was a man whose wife was very fond of dogs. The man did not love them, but he did not dislike them, and so he said he was willing his wife should have one and himself bought it for her. Which was a kind act, where-by his wife was as much pleased as she was to have the dog.

But—and hereby hangs not only this tale but many others—having made a sacrifice, the man thought he had done his whole duty. He did not think he needed to be pleasant about it.

When The Dog Ate Up The Neighbor's Overshoes.

Whenever the dog made any trouble, at a neighbor's overshoe, he barked to come in, the man considered that an opportunity for him to scold about what a nuisance it was to have a dog. To be sure, he didn't have to bear the brunt of the trouble. His wife always did that, because she loved the dog and was willing to. It was she who paid for the overshoe and got up to let Bruce in when he barked. Nevertheless, the man complained about the things in a fault-finding, irritable manner that cast a cloud over his wife's heart.

Finally she surprised him. She said, "John, I am going to sell Bruce."

"What, tired of him?"
"Far from it. I love him very much, and you know it. I shall miss him dreadfully. He was lots of company for me when you were away and I felt much safer evenings with him around. But I am tired of being found fault with every time he makes a little trouble. You feel so strongly about him I think I had better give him up."

He Couldn't Bear To Deprive Her Of Him.

At that the man was filled with compunction. He didn't really dislike the dog, just liked to relieve his mind of other irritations by finding fault about him. "Oh, no! dear," he said, "I couldn't bear to deprive you of him."

"Yet you can bear to deprive me of most of my pleasure in him," she said. "I'm nervous all the time for fear he will do some little thing that you will be cross about. I'd love to keep him, but not unless you can be pleasant about it. If he really bothers you so much that you can't, we'll get rid of him."

They Decided To Meet Half Way.

They didn't get rid of the dog. Instead they agreed to meet half way, to make an effort not to be carelessly irritable, she to be patient with him when he really was put out.

How many people there are who make sacrifices and then nullify them because they can't be pleasant about them!

"We like rather different amusements," a wife once told me, "and when we disagreed as to what to do of an evening or a holiday, it used to be that either John had his way and I acted abused and found fault with everything that didn't go smoothly, or I had my way and he did the fault-finding. Finally we decided that there wasn't any sense in spoiling our pleasure that way, and so now we take turns both giving and being pleasant about it."

A wise philosophy, don't you think?

Empire Day at Winterton.

Will the celebrations at Winterton this year be remembered? Certainly they will, and particularly by the children of the settlement. A beautiful and inspiring sight it was to see two hundred children of the Empire marching round with flags and banners waving, and patriotic airs piercing the air. Numbers of older folk greeted the youth of the place with a kindly smile as they passed along. After the parade the children assembled in the grounds of the C. of E. School where instructions were given concerning a concert which was to be held in the night. The boys were asked to forfeit their half-holiday for the benefit of the Red Cross Fund. How? By coming and arranging the seats in the S. U. F. Hall for the night's entertainment.

At 7.30 people began to assemble at the Hall and all seemed anxious to greet the performers of the evening with well merited applause. The program consisted of songs, recitations and choruses, interspersed with some of the latest gramophone records, through the kindness of Mr. Joshua Hiscock. We have to thank Miss Winsor, of the Methodist School; Captain Barter, of the Salvation Army School; Mr. Laing and Miss Mitchell, of the Church of England School, for the interest taken in arranging such a lengthy and up-to-date programme on behalf of the Red Cross Fund. We must not forget to mention that Mr. E. J. Sansom, J. P., kindly consented to act as chairman for the evening, and in a few well chosen words set forward the claims of the Red Cross. The proceeds of the concert amounted to eleven dollars, and together with subscriptions amounting to six dollars and twenty-four cents, make out Empire Day contribution to the Red Cross Fund.

The children of Winterton, Mr. Editor, acted their part well, and when they get a lead in working for any patriotic purpose they perform their work in a loyal, whole-hearted way, which becomes them as faithful little sons and daughters of the great British Empire to which they are proud to belong.

God Save the King. PATRIOT.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."
"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists."

Note From Mr. Sheard

The Editor Evening Telegram, City.

Dear Sir,—After reading the press comments respecting certain statements alleged to have been made by Dr. Grenfell, I wired the Doctor at Sydney, N.S., and have since received the following reply:—

"Utterly unable to understand, have never felt or expressed anything but unbounded admiration of Newfoundland during War, have neither felt or mentioned any unusual needs of country. Fortunately (Sir Herbert B.) Ames attended meetings. Whole heart in Newfoundland."
Will you please publish.

Great Skin Cure Stirs Country.

A new scientific discovery for skin diseases is attracting the attention of all doctors in Newfoundland and Canada. This discovery gives instant relief to the most aggravated cases of Eczema and allied diseases and brings about permanent cures in a fortnight. It is called the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

Apparently no case of eczema can stand against this simple remedy, D. D. D. Prescription. As soon as the first few drops of this cleansing, soothing liquid are applied, the itch is gone.
D. D. D. cures because it penetrates the skin and washes away impurities, unlike greasy salves which merely clog the pores and aggravate disease. D. D. D. penetrates to the disease germ, kills them, and then soothes and heals the skin.
D. D. D. is being used with great success for all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Pimples, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Barber's Itch and in fact all skin diseases.

Test this great cure; don't delay. Get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere.

The Municipal Bill

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE MEET.

The tenth regular meeting of the Citizens' Committee was held in the Board of Trade Rooms last night. The meeting opened at 8.30, Chairman Soper presiding, the Secretary read the minutes of the last meeting which were adopted. In reply to communications sent to the Secretaries of the Truckmen's Union and Cabman's Union as regards salt on the streets being injurious to horses, Mr. John Neville, on behalf of the cabmen replied in person and informed the meeting that no such union now existed. A sub-committee was appointed to get the cabmen's and veterinary surgeons opinion on the matter. It was ordered that the Colonial Secretary be written to receive a deputation of the Citizens' Committee in relation to the correct definition of the qualification of voters. Messrs. Soper, Barter and Joyce were appointed to act.

The average attendance for ten meetings has been 70 per cent. of total number on committee.

Discussion on the new Bill was then continued from last meeting. Sections 31 to 32 were gone through. Sections 33 and 34 which calls for the election of Deputy Mayor was deferred till after the plebiscite in September.

It was thought advisable that in publishing the notices of bye-laws, etc., in the Royal Gazette, that a copy be sent to two other "city daily papers" at the same time.
The meeting adjourned at 10.30. The next meeting will be held on Monday.

Sessions of the Branch continued throughout yesterday, beginning at 10 a.m. with the President in the chair. General business occupied the first hour, after which the special business election of officers for the ensuing year took place, results showing a re-election of all but two. One office being discontinued, the other a new selection owing to family illness.

Mrs. (Dr.) Fenwick was elected alternate delegate to the Board. The session concluded at 12.45, and resumed again at 2.45 p.m. Devotional exercises were led by Miss Wagg, after which various reports were submitted, by the different secretaries. Mrs. W. Currie, Secretary Literature; Mrs. Parkins, Secretary Christian Stewardship; Mrs. E. Lindsay, Corresponding Secretary. A sum of money was voted the Secretary of Literature for supplies. A very pleasant item by ten girls of the Mission Band and a little tot from the Cradle Roll delighted the gathering, each girl typifying some particular feature of the "Palm Branch." Special mention is made of little Lily Weeks (6 years old) who completely captured her audience.

Carbonear extends invitation to the Branch for next year's gathering. A bouquet of flowers was provided for the Hon. President, Mrs. (Dr.) Curtis, Newfoundland's first organizer. The session closed at 5.30.

The concluding meeting of the Branch began at 7.45 p.m. with devotional service by the Pastor of the Church, a large audience filled the Lecture Room. The report of the year's work followed the devotional service. Seldom has such a report been listened to, as was read by Mrs. E. Lindsay, rare in its insight, truly appreciative of all effort in every department, and a keen sense of valuation, on the W.M.S. work as a whole. During the reading of this report, Miss Wagg, foreign missionary candidate was called to the platform and presented with a life membership, the gift of her fellow-workers, who provided the necessary $25.00 to effect it. The choir then sang an anthem, followed by the President's address. Miss Curtis' solo, as usual, was just delightful.

Rewards were presented to the most progressive (numerically) Bands and Circles, Cochrane St. and Wesley capturing the prizes, while certificates were given to four others. Mrs. (Dr.) Fenwick gave a paper, "Why Should all Christian Women be members of the W.M.S.?" The conclusion of the paper left little doubt why?

New Ice-Breaker Going to Russia.

Ottawa, May 27.—The world's largest ice-breaker, "The J. D. Hazen," which some time ago was sold to the Russian Government, will be sent to Archangel as soon as she is completed. The ship launched a few days ago in Montreal is now being fitted up in a manner somewhat different from what would have been the case had she remained in the St. Lawrence. Accommodation for passengers is being provided.

By the arrangement made with the Russian Government the ship is to be taken over at cost, which is roughly a million dollars. The Hazen is the third ice-breaker to go to Russia from Canada, the Earl Grey and the Minto having been sold last year. They have done most effective work in keeping open Russian ports and in rescuing ice-bound ships carrying munitions and supplies to the Allies.

Claim Pockets Were Made to Aid Shoplifting

"Prisoner, take off your coat." The court's order was obeyed, and Blanche Desroche slipped her arms out of a blue overcoat, which was then hung, lining outwards over the dock. The coat revealed two enormous black patch pockets sewn to the inside lining, alleged to have been used for the purpose of "shoplifting."

Blanche Desroche and Mary LeGault, alias Alice Ledue, and charged with stealing merchandise from Goodwin's store. They were arrested by one of the house detectives. In her testimony the detective stated that she found the inside pockets of the Desroche woman's coat filled with various goods. She had found nothing on the other accused, but a search of her house revealed a quantity of goods. Both will be committed to stand trial by Judge Lafontaine. — Montreal Star.

A Weather Myth.

The Idea that the Old-fashioned Winter Was a Fairy-Famous Frosts Were Rare—Records Show that Remarkable Showstorms and Long Seasons of Hard Freezing Were Not All the Rule—Testimony of Peppy and Evelyn.

Perhaps the greatest of weather myths is the legend of the "old-fashioned winter"—that prolonged season of ice and snow which is supposed to have held the land in its grip every year. So firmly has this idea been held for many years that it came as a shock, when meteorologists first began to delve into the records, of the past and prove its inaccuracy.

There can be no doubt that Charles Dickens, Washington Irving, artists who depicted winter scenes, and, in a later era, the Christmas number and the Christmas card are mainly responsible for the belief that up to about half a century ago the British winters were always extremely severe.

Such records as we possess prove the fallacy of the idea. No records of the weather were kept up to about fifty or sixty years ago, so that we have to rely on the statements of private diaries and old family records, and therefore it takes a lot of research to obtain any data at all.

In older times no one troubled to make note of average weather for writing was an art possessed only by few, and writing materials were hard to obtain; hence it is that mention is made only of something unusual, some abnormally mild winter or heavy fall of snow or prolonged frosts. And when all is said there are comparatively few of the latter, although they were likely to be recorded, while the milder ones would be passed over. A few years ago there was published in France some notes concerning very mild winters in early times. Gregory of Tours tells us that 534 was exceptionally mild, as were the winters of 808, 834, 844 and 1007, when influenza was rife.

Another mild season occurred in 1223, when the birds are said to have hatched their young by February, while the weather journal of the Rev. William Merle, which is in the Bodleian library at Oxford, shows us that during the middle of the fourteenth century the weather was very much as it is now and that mild winters were not uncommon.

There were one or two mild winters during the next hundred years, the most notable one being that of 1495, when barley and corn were in the ear at the end of January.

Writings of the sixteenth century have similar testimony to offer, the one or two exceptions only going to prove the rule because they aroused so much comment. Peppy and Evelyn come to our aid from the middle to the end of the seventh century and prove conclusively that the old-fashioned winter is a myth. The diaries of these famous writers have been analyzed, and as a result it is found that falls of snow are mentioned only thirteen times over nearly sixty years, while exceptionally heavy storms are referred to only three times.

In the same period there were but six prolonged frosts, and apparently only the famous one of 1683-4 and another a few years later were so severe as the modern ones. Peppy's comments on the mild winter, and in December of the following year he notes that he awoke to find the roofs covered with snow, which he had not seen for three years.

Evelyn has the same story to tell—a few hard winters and many mild ones. Such years were 1686-7, Dec. 29, "Little appearance of winter as yet," and 1692-3, Feb. 4, "Hitherto an exceedingly mild winter—an extraordinary dry and warm season, without frost and like a new spring, such as has not been known for many years."

Here and there we come across references to the weather which are just like the letters written to modern newspapers informing readers that "roses and primroses were in bloom in my garden on Christmas day." Gilbert White's record of the weather between 1768 and 1798 helps to end the myth, for the same number of years at the present day would show pretty much the same sort of weather, as thirteen of the Decembers were mild and wet.

There were mild winters in the beginning of the nineteenth century, as well as one or two severe ones, so that we may rest assured that the "old-fashioned winter" was just like the new-fashioned ones.—Ernest C. Pulbrook in London Family Herald.

WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—As mention was made in the press last week that I would offer myself as a candidate for Mayor in the civic election soon to be held I ask your kind permission to state my position in the matter. The announcement to which I refer was not official on my part, still as several hundreds of my friends and fellow citizens had requested me to become a candidate for Mayor I offered no objection to the statement pending consideration of a matter so important as this is. I have decided, however, after mature reflection and deliberation, to stand aside at this juncture of civic affairs, and thus to reserve the question of my re-entrance into Municipal politics until the new charter is shaped in conformity with the people's wishes. The very limited and restricted time, only two years, to be granted to the Council now to be elected, does not impress me as giving sufficient scope for matters Municipal, except to pick up the tail ends of the work of the present Commissioners.

I should like to avail of this opportunity to express my very warmest thanks to the hundreds of my numerous friends amongst all classes, and from all over the city, who have come forward spontaneously within the past few weeks and freely and cheerfully tendered me their valued influence and support for the Mayorality chair. Their kindness I deeply appreciate and I trust our mutual good friendship will long continue. The support they have thus voluntarily tendered me now, and the splendid and successful rally they made in my favor during two previous civic elections, are to me treasures I shall ever feel proud of and deeply cherish in my memory, and I hope that in the not far distant future I may be privileged to again avail of their noble and generous assistance. In conclusion I wish to remark that I understand several gentlemen were about to express a desire to be put in nomination for Mayor but that the mention of my name in the papers postponed action on their part. As I now make this official announcement of my withdrawal these gentlemen need not entertain any idea of opposition from me. So far as I am concerned I now leave a clear field to any candidate who felt embarrassed at my entrance.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES T. MARTIN.

Obituary.

MR. JOHN PARMITER.

It is with regret that I record the death of the oldest resident of Topsail in the person of Mr. John Parmiter, which occurred on Monday, May 29th, at 4.30 p.m. He was born in the year 1823 having reached the advanced age of 93 years and 6 months. His character was indisputable. He was never found idle, but could be classed with the busiest and most hard-working of men. The late Mr. Parmiter was a faithful member and communicant of the Anglican Church, to the interest of which he always gave his first consideration. He is a native of Manuels, but for 63 years resided in Topsail where he was interred on Wednesday, 31st, in the presence of a large and sympathetic concourse of people. He leaves to mourn a wife, four daughters, namely Mrs. Andrew Squires, of Topsail, Miss Parmiter, of Halifax, Mrs. Joseph Moores and Mrs. Samuel Roberts, of St. John's; three sons, two of whom are living at Topsail, the other at Sydney, and also four grandsons, their names are: Pte. Fred. Parmiter, who is in training at the C.L.B. Armoury; Pte. Cecil Parmiter, Pte. Harrison Moores, who are both with the Nfld. Regiment, and Pte. Frank Roberts, who has already made the supreme sacrifice. To the bereaved relatives the condolence of our little community and of others is conveyed.

The King's Birthday.

To-morrow is the King's Birthday, and we join with the citizens of the Empire who are proud to be his subjects, in wishing him many happy returns of the day. For the past twenty-two months we have all been engaged in the conduct of the greatest war which the world has ever known, and it is worthy of reflection to consider how His Majesty has conducted himself during these trying times. A notable contrast is obvious between the conduct of King George and his cousin the Kaiser. The latter from the very start of the war has kept himself in the limelight the whole time. We were told from the first that he would dine in Paris and in a short time within the opening of the campaign. Next news was that he would eat his Christmas dinner in Paris. We were told much the same concerning a victorious visit of the Kaiser to St. Petersburg. We were constantly advised also that he was rushing from front to front and the idea was attempted to convey to the world that the success of any movement in any of the fields of campaign was due to the personal direction and incentive of the Kaiser. This continued during the whole twenty-two months of the struggle. The great offensive in the Verdun centre which is now going on for upwards of three months, was heralded to the world by the presence of the Kaiser and Crown Prince, but latterly when the offensive was proved to be a costly struggle, without any adequate advantage obtained, we have heard less of the Kaiser's visits to the Verdun front and of the personal conduct of that offensive by the Crown Prince. From the very opening of the struggle the idea was conveyed that the Kaiser was another Alexander, who was capable of conquering the old world and whose ambitions would not be satisfied until he had added a new world to his list of conquests. In contrast with this the modesty of King George becomes at once apparent. He has not put himself in the limelight either in connection with operations on land or on the sea. He has been retiring and helpful in a quiet way. He has not interfered with the War Office or the Generalis conducting the war on the various fronts. Although a sailor of many years experience of the sea, he, in no way, offered any personal interference with the conduct of the sea campaign. When difficulties have arisen in which his influence could be exerted to remove them, he has done so unobtrusively. Although he is reigning in times of war he has never forgotten that he is a constitutional monarch and has in no way embarrassed his ministers by petulant or officious interference in the management of affairs. Some of his subjects, who had been prominent in the State in the past, might well follow his example with credit to themselves and benefit to the State. In closing we repeat our wishes of prosperity and happiness to His Majesty King George.

The Governor will hold a Levee on the occasion of His Majesty's Birthday—at noon on 3rd June.
Uniform or morning dress.

In Memory of Mrs. Dr. Jones.

On Wednesday all that was mortal of Netta (Mrs. Dr. Jones) was laid to rest. We leave her sleeping, but the memory of one who was near and dear to all will not be forgotten. The writer remembers her from childhood and as she lived so she died, always happy and the thought uppermost in her mind was that those who she came in contact with as well as others should be the same. Mrs. Dr. Jones had been an invalid for years, during which time she bore the disease without a murmur strong in the hope that in time she would get well. But God willed otherwise and has taken her to us all. We recall the words of Tennyson who filled to overflowing with the mystery of the sea, when dying said: "I hope to see my Pilot face to face when I have crossed the bar." She has gone, the suffering and pain is over, the bar has been crossed, God giveth her sleep.

And, friends, dear friends, when it shall be
That this low breath is gone from me,
And round my bier ye come to weep,
Let one most loving of you all
Say, "Not a tear must o'er her fall—
He giveth His beloved sleep."

Train Notes.

The outgoing express will arrive at Port aux Basques early to-morrow morning.

Alpinist Took Austrian Place Upon High Cliff.

Impossible Task Brilliantly Accomplished by Italian Soldiers.

Officers of the Italian Naval Reserve from the Drahan were entertained Thursday night at the Roma Commercial Club, Osborne Street. Interesting sidelights on the war in the Alps were revealed by details which the officers got at first hand in Italy.
How badly Austria's original plans miscarried was shown in the capture of the height known as Col de Lana, the key position to several valleys. This fortress was so formidably armed on three sides and so inaccessible on the fourth, where the rock dropped sheer for hundreds of feet, that the Austrians had built handsome houses for the officers' wives and installed magnificent Roman baths at great cost. The year spent in preparing the position was undone in a single night. The Italian's most skilled alpinists climbed the perpendicular rock. Each of the attacking party was roped to his comrade, and the seemingly impossible feat of climbing by daylight had been accomplished in the uncertain shadows of a moonlight night. The feat had been timed so that there would be as much light from the moon as possible, when the rock cliff was tackled. Re-arranging their forces the Italians advanced and found only a patrol of eight men to guard this side of the position. In one rush the fortress was taken by surprise.

Italy, the officers said, had huge reserves of men that she had not yet put into action. The moment the front widened enough to enable Italy to make her real weight felt, close to her own supply bases, Italy's hour would come. No fear was felt as to the outcome when the infantry of the opposing armies met to decide the issue on the border line of Austria and Italy.—Ex.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

AUSTRIANS AT DOUAUMONT.

Several thousand Austrian troops were observed among recent reinforcements brought to the vicinity of Douaumont. Among military observers here this is believed to indicate Germany insisted that Austria divide her effectives with Germany in spite of the fact that the Austrian offensive is being pressed against Italy.

COMMONS ADJOURNS.

LONDON, To-Day. The Commons this evening agreed to the motion made by Premier Asquith for an adjournment of the House to June 20.

WAR BUDGET.

LONDON, To-Day. The British official statement issued at midnight reads: Our aeroplanes yesterday had a long running fight with three hostile machines. One of ours was driven down and one of the latter was missing. During the night hostile aircraft dropped eight bombs on Peperinghe without damage. Throughout the day there was continuous heavy shelling by British and German guns of all calibres in the neighborhood of Vimy ridge, the fiercest times becoming intense. Artillery activity extended in a minor degree in direction of Loos, Ypres and the River Somme. There was some mining in the vicinity of Loos, at Rentrant and our trench line about Fricourt, just north of Somme. Except for ordinary trench activity there was no infantry engagement the past 24 hours.

THREE STEAMERS SUNK.

LONDON, To-day. Lloyds reports the British steamer Baron Tweedmouth and Julia Park, both unarmed, sunk. The British steamer Lady Ninian is reported sunk. The Baron Tweedmouth, 5907 tons gross, was last reported as having arrived in the Clyde on April 23. She was built in Glasgow in 1907. The Julia Park, 2900 tons, was last reported as having arrived at Liverpool on May 14. She was built at Glasgow in 1894. The Lady Ninian bound from Newport News, May 9, for Leghorn, passed Gibraltar May 26. She was 4297 tons gross, built at West Hartlepool in 1906.

GERMANY'S POOR TURNED INTO COMPULSORY VEGETARIANS.

LONDON, To-day. That the poorer classes in Germany are being turned into compulsory vegetarians is a statement made in a comprehensive report regarding the economic conditions in the Central Empires, by the Central News correspondent. The report shows strong evidence of the possible failure to supply oils and fats, also increasing stringency in the restriction of the use of textiles both raw materials and finished goods. The monthly ration of sugar and barley equal half of the normal consumption, while present stocks will be exhausted in about a month. The correspondent points out however, that the cry about starving women and children is raised in order to create prejudice among neutrals against the blockade, and is not justified by the fact. Despite food riots, organized labor still supports the war. Only imminence of starvation or the prospect of military defeat can change this attitude. Lively artillery duels are progressing in the Lagarina Valley between Posna and Upper Astico Rivers. Artillery engagements and infantry firing is in progress along the whole Russian front, but no changes of positions and the Russians or Teutons have been reported. The Turks are taking the offensive on three points of Asia Minor against the Russians and have temporarily, at least, brought the Russian advance toward Mesopotamia to a standstill. All Turkish attacks were repulsed, except at Mamakhatur, 50 miles west of Erzerum which was evacuated by the Russians; here fighting was over a front about 20 miles.

An attempt by the Turks, who are said to be heavily reinforced by the Austrians and Germans to press back the Russians near Baiburt and Diarbokir, failed. Serbs recently reported as having landed at Salonika, are now on the Entente Allied front on the Greek-Serbia border, is indicated by the latest German official communication, which says that a weak attack made by the Entente armies at the southern end of Lake Doiran was repulsed, and that north of the lake, Serbians, wearing British uniforms, were made prisoners.

The Germans switched offensive from the region of Le Mort Homme northwest of Verdun to sector between Thiaumont farm and Vaux northeast fortress and have succeeded here in entering French first line of trenches between Fort Douaumont and Vaux pond; attack made over front about two miles was preceded by violent artillery preparations. The French met the German onslaughts with their machine guns and succeeded in holding back attacking forces everywhere except at point between Fort Douaumont and Vaux Pond, heavy losses were inflicted on Teutons. According to Paris heavy fighting around Le Mort Homme, Avocourt Wood has dwindled to intermittent bombardments since repulse of German attacks and launching of counter attack by French which gave them German trenches four hundred metres extending southeast Le Mort Homme. Activity artillery remainder front France also lessened in violence. Vosges mountains near Altkirch Germans report occupation of French positions 350 metres long and about 350 metres deep, capture prisoners and booty. Italians, according to Rome, continued to hold back attacks by Austrians on various points along Tyrol front, especially bitter fighting has taken place in the region of Postana torrent southeast of Arasero where Austrians either were stopped or driven back in disorder.

ST PIERRE BULLETIN.

On right bank after very violent artillery preparation the enemy attacked our positions from Thiaumont Farm to Vaux, after several unsuccessful assaults the enemy succeeded in getting footing in our first line of trenches between Douaumont Fort and Vaux Pond. Elsewhere German attacks were shattered by our machine gunfiring which inflicted terrible losses on the enemy. Aviation this a.m.: A group of German aeroplanes threw several bombs on the open town of Bar le Duc eighteen persons of the civilian population were killed of whom two women and four children, also twenty-five wounded, amongst who were six women and eleven children. NEW YORK, To-Day.

A cable to the New York Times from Paris says Premier Briand's ready acceptance in principle of a secret session whereof the mere threat was sufficient to overthrow Viviani has taken the wind from his opponents' sails, and it is probable that if a secret session is held it will be devoid of sensation. As in England the position of the Cabinet is greatly strengthened, but intrigues continue especially by certain groups directing attacks against those responsible for the prosecution of military operations with a view to discrediting the Government. Indirect I am charged by a very high authority to deny one of their favorite suggestions, namely, that there is lack of co-operation between the French and British general staffs, as on the contrary it is with the French staff's accord that the British methodically continue preparations and decline to be hurried into action before the psychological moment. The authority characterizes as a shameful lie the allegation that the British are indifferent to French sacrifices at Verdun. It says the difficulty has been to restrain the British until the appointed time, and that when the day comes—is perhaps not far distant—critics will be silenced and the rest of the world astonished.

ROUMANIA AND THE CENTRAL POWERS.

LONDON, To-Day.

A Rotterdam-despatch in the Daily News says: According to a special correspondent of the Nieuw Rotterdamse Courant, Bucharest, important negotiations between Roumania, Bulgaria and Turkey are proceeding which, if successful, will give Roumania an outlet on the Bosphorus. Roumania's improved relations with the Central Powers are further indicated by an agreement in viting for the mutual exchange of profits, one consequence of which is the closing of the Russian frontier. The German troops have been withdrawn from the Bulgarian fortresses on the Danube.

FRENCH PROGRESS AT VERDUN.

Paris, 2 Day. In the course of the heavy shelling on the Verdun front which continued through the night, the French progressed slightly by the south Cauterettes Wood. The struggle between Thiaumont Farm and Vaux east of the Meuse, is described as extremely violent, the artillery action on both sides being exceptionally heavy throughout yesterday and last night. Aside from the Verdun fighting, the night passed quietly along the front.

Allies Decree Break-Up of Two Empires.

Dethronement of Prussia, Incorporation of Austria in German Confederacy, Autonomy of Poland and Independence of Bohemia Among Objects Decided On.

Chicago, May 27.—In a communication to the Chicago Daily News from Florence, Italy, dated April 14, Edgar Ansel Mowrer, a staff correspondent of that newspaper, says the Allies have already framed terms of peace in accordance with a compact entered into last year. He says Great Britain, France, Russia and Italy last year entered into a compact of 14 years' duration, which contemplates as a provision for peace the disintegration of the German Empire, Austria-Hungary and Turkey to be wiped off the map, an independent nation to be made of Bohemia and the cession of Constantinople to Russia.

Mr. Mowrer says his information comes from a diplomat of high standing, and adds: "According to my informant, between April 25 and April 27, 1915, representatives of the four larger nations now on the side of the Allies, sitting in conference in Paris, drew up an agreement, some of the conditions of which deserve to be made known."

Alliance for 14 Years.—"The four nations bound themselves in close alliance for 14 years from the date of signing; that is, until approximately May 1, 1929."

"If completely successful in the present war, they are determined to impose stringent and definite conditions of peace which result decidedly to the advantage of all of them."

"Germany will be compelled to relinquish certain parts of Schleswig to Denmark."

"Heligoland passes to Great Britain. Belgium, restored, annexes the grand duchy of Luxemburg and perhaps slightly extends territory on the east."

"France takes possession of Alsace-Lorraine."

"Germany cedes all that was Poland to Poland, newly reconstituted."

"Prussia restores to the old states of the German confederacy their former governments and relinquishes all domination over them. German-speaking Austria enters the confederacy as an offset to Prussia."

Italy redempts the Trentino as far north as the mountain divide, annexes the ancient duchy of Goritz as far as Laibach, and the valley of the Sava, takes possession of Istria with Trieste, seizes part of the Delmantian coast with many of the important islands, and such cities as Zara, formerly Italian, and to this day bearing the name of

PROSECUTED FOR TREASON.

Fishery News

The latest fishery reports received by the Board of Trade are: From F. R. Dinham (Eagle Point to Mall Bay). The catch to date is 2350 qts. No traps are in the water but 10 dories and skiffs are fishing; nets are doing nothing yet. There is plenty of herring and the lobster fishery is very good, in fact the best for several years. The weather is fine and moderate.

From A. H. Ingraham (Ramea).—Prospects are the worst for years and bait is scarce. The fishery for May month was the poorest ever seen here. The lobster fishery is poor. Twelve dories, 12 skiffs and 5 boats are fishing, but no traps. The catch to date is 2000 qts., with 100 for last week.

From G. F. Read (West Point to Otter's Point).—There is plenty of herring but codfishery prospects are poor. The traps, 20 dories and skiffs and 10 boats are fishing. Nothing has yet been done with lobsters. The total catch is 2000 qts. with 100 for last week.

Three Charged With Murder in Liverpool, N.S.

Liverpool, N.S., May 27.—H. A. Mosher, Paul Hamm and Blanche, widow of the late Harley B. Waterman, all of Pleasant River, are under arrest here charged with being implicated in what is supposed to have been the murder of Harley B. Waterman on or about April 7 of last year.

Thirteen months ago the body of Waterman was found beneath pulpwood some distance from the deceased's home, it being reported at that time that Waterman came to his death by logs rolling upon him.

Many rumors have since been in circulation among the people of the community, and lately Provincial Officer Patrick McAuliffe was instructed to make an investigation. He has since secured what is considered sufficient evidence to make prisoners of the suspected parties, whose preliminary trial comes up here next Monday.

Paul Hamm was brought here last night from Windsor, N.S., by Officer McAuliffe, he being a member of the 112th battalion now stationed in that town.

ON DOCK.—The Kyle, immediately after reaching port yesterday went on dock where she will be painted and receive general repairs. The Scottish Hero also docked yesterday for like repairs.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS ENTERTAINED BY KITCHENER.

LONDON, June 1. A party of wounded soldiers was entertained at Lord Kitchener's residence on Saturday, an included several Canadians. The latter were taken to the reception in motors by Major Clifford, of London, Ont. Each man received a cordial handshake from Lord Kitchener, who was most gracious to the men, especially the Canadians, and made cordial enquiries as to their progress.

ASQUITH MOVES ADJOURNMENT OF PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, June 1. Mr. Asquith in the Commons to-day moved the adjournment of Parliament until June 20th, which gave members the opportunity to discuss any subject they desired to take up. John Dillon did not have a hopeful view of the efforts being made by David Lloyd George to reconcile the various Irish factions. He said, however, that no Irishman with the slightest sense of responsibility or regard for the future would say anything which would increase the difficulties of Lloyd George in his task.

IN MACEDONIA.

BERLIN, June 1. A general movement of the Anglo-French forces in Salonika toward the Macedonian border, has been in progress for some time, as reported in an official statement issued by the Bulgarian Army headquarters, under date May 24th. The report tells of the driving back of a French reconnoitering party near the frontier.

IN EGYPT.

LONDON, June 1. Some 2,000 riflemen, comprising the force of Ali Dinar, were defeated by the British on May 22, near El Pasher, Sudan, according to an official statement issued this afternoon. The Sir-dar, says the statement, reports that he estimates that the enemy defeated at Berlinga, near El Pasher, comprised 2,500 riflemen. The enemy cavalry suffered heavily. The number of rifles confiscated was more than 32,000. Arms are still pouring in. Four guns, 55,000 rounds of small arms and ammunition, gun powder and a large quantity of materials for its manufacture, were also taken. The Commander-in-Chief reported that mounted Anzac, Australians and New Zealanders, drove the enemy eastward from the coast to Bir Salmana, 20 miles from Quatia, 25 miles east of the Suez Canal, on May 31, the enemy, who was following by aeroplanes, losing heavily.

P. A. BONNOTT'S RHEUMATISM CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

And With It Went All These Symptoms Which Mark the Earlier Stages of Kidney Trouble.

Grand Clairiere, Man., June 2nd. (Special).—"All persons who suffer from rheumatism should use Dodd's Kidney Pills." This is the statement volunteered by Mr. P. A. Bonnot, a well known resident of this place. Asked to give the reasons why Mr. Bonnot said:

"I suffered for three years from rheumatism. I consulted a doctor without getting any results. Four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills fixed me up."

That rheumatism is caused by sick kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood was again shown in Mr. Bonnot's case. His earlier symptoms were: heart flutterings, broken and unrefreshing sleep, flitting appetite, a tired nervous feeling, a heaviness after meals, neuralgia and back-ache.

When he cured his kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills the rheumatism and all the other symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared.

Patriotic Baseball.

Last night at the residence of Mrs. John Browning, Messrs. Hawvermale, Higgins and Grace, delegates from the Baseball League, met the lady promoters of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club and talked over the opening baseball game between the Cubs and B. I. S., on June 14th. It was decided that the entire proceeds of the game be devoted towards the funds of this recently formed Club. The Ladies' Committee intend to serve tea and refreshments while the game is on and that their worthy self-sacrificing efforts will meet with abundant success goes without saying.

"The Irish at the Front"

The latest and perhaps the finest selection of true war narratives has just been issued under the title of "The Irish at the Front," by Michael MacDonagh. If anyone doubts the great debt which we owe to our brave Irish boys, this book will sweep their doubts away.

Mr. Redmond's Praise.

"It is these soldiers of ours," says Mr. John Redmond, M. P., in the preface, "with their astonishing courage and their beautiful faith, with their natural military genius, with their tenderness as well as strength; carrying with them their green flags and their Irish war-pipes; advancing to the charge, their fearless officers at their head, and followed by their beloved chaplains, as great-hearted as themselves; bringing with them a quality all their own to the sordid modern battlefield; exhibiting the character of the Irishman at its noblest and greatest—it is these soldiers of ours to whose keeping the cause of Ireland has passed to-day."

One of the finest and earliest examples of their spirit occurred during the historic retreat from Mons. The retreat lasted twelve days. Eighty-two thousand Britishers defied a quarter of a million Huns, defending the tottering ideal of European civilization. This is how an Irish private put it:

"In This Word—or the Next!"

"It was a grand time we had, and I wouldn't have missed it for lashin's of money. The Germans kept pressing our rearward all the time. They were at least five to one, and we were in danger of being cut off. At last the colonel could stand it no longer, so the word was passed round that we were to give them hell and all. 'Rangers of Connaught,' says he, 'the eyes of all Ireland are on you to-day, and I know you never could disgrace the old country by allowing Germans to beat you while you have arms in your hands and hearts in your breasts! Up, then, and at them, and if you don't give them the soundest thrashing they ever got, you needn't look me in the face again in this world—or the next!'"

"And we went for them with just what you would know of a prayer to the Mother of our Lord to be merciful to the loved ones at home if we should fall in the fight. We charged through and through them until they broke and ran like frightened hares in terror of hounds."

Drawn From All Sources.

Perhaps the historian of the future will make August 7th, 1915, as the most notable day in Irish military history.

On this famous Saturday, while many men at home were still enjoying their peaceful pre-war pleasures, the 30th and 31st Brigades of the 10th Division were ordered to clear the Turks out of the heights of Karakol Dagh, and to take a hill three or four miles inland from Savla Bay known as Chocolate Hill.

These men were Irish, every one of them. They had never before taken any hand in the grim business of killing. They were clerks from offices and counting houses, assistants from drapery and grocery shops, civil servants, public-school boys, artisans, farm-hands, labourers, officers by the Irish barristers, engineers, and University students.

Suddenly these raw recruits were plunged into the bloody whirlpool of war, and were confronted with a task grim enough to make the most hardened campaigner blink.

"But," as someone observed, "they were Irish."

They accomplished their task. How they did it many of them are still wondering to-day. At one point they had to pass over a long spit of sand, not twenty yards wide, that divided the sea from a broad, sun-dried lagoon.

"The enemy had its 'exact range,'" says the narrator. "Many a man was brought down as he attempted to cross it at a run. Then Colonel Downing, of the 7th Dublin, came upon the scene. He paused, lit a cigarette, and walked over the ridge as coolly as if he were doing Grafton Street, Dublin. After this experience the troops wheeled to the right, and marching south-east across Salt Lake, faced the rear flank of their objective."

Just as dark descended Chocolate Hill was taken.

It is small wonder that so many Victoria Crosses are to be found on Irish breasts. Up to the end of last year twenty-one had been secured by the sons of Erin. Taking one case at random, this is how Private Morrow obtained his V.C. in the words of one of the men he saved:

"The enemy opened fire unexpectedly. A shell fell in the trench, burying over a dozen men, of whom I was one, in the wreckage. Those who were able ran to shelter, for that shell was followed by many more; and the trench having been laid bare, the enemy opened a hot rifle and machine-gun fire upon it. At the same time the enemy was making an attack in force. Accordingly, it was a risky thing to be there.

They Don't Boast.

"Morrow didn't mind. He came up to where we were pinned under the remains of the parapet and a dug-out. He dragged me out, and carried me on his back to a place of safety. Then he went back to look for others. He made the journey six times, bringing all the men that were alive. It was slow, laborious work, and all the time Morrow was under heavy fire from the Germans."

Islands Built to Order.

This Little Article Proves that the Feet is not so Difficult as it Sounds.

In the Bismarck Archipelago, now occupied by us, are two small islands that the Germans, with characteristic resourcefulness, built up for themselves in a sea where formerly no land was.

This, however, is not quite so difficult as it sounds. One must have a foundation, of course—a coral reef for preference. Given this, and also an unlimited supply of native labour, and island-building in these comparatively calm and tideless waters becomes almost as easily possible as does house-building elsewhere.

The Solomon Islanders, for instance, are adepts at the art. When the population of any island of the group becomes too big for comfort, they just set to work and build another one, and the surplus families emigrate to it and settle down there.

The usual plan is to choose a coral reef, which must not be submerged more than three or four feet. A raft is first constructed, and anchored near the centre of the reef, where the water is shallowest. To this, coral, torn from the outer fringe of the reef, is brought and piled up pyramid-fashion to form the nucleus of the island. Last year, earth is carried in canoes from the nearest land and spread over the coral, coconut-trees are planted, and houses erected.

Shipwrecked British sailors once built for themselves an island of refuge after this fashion. In 1884 the Queensland labour-recruiting schooner was cast away and battered to pieces on the Indispensable Reef, which is completely submerged, and situated more than three hundred miles from the nearest inhabited land.

The plight of her crew seemed hopeless. But instead of giving way to despair, they set to work to manufacture an island on the lines indicated above, and lived on it for several months, subsisting on clams and sea-fish dried in the sun, until they were finally found and rescued by a relief ship sent in search of them.

In South-West Bay, Malekula, one of the New Hebrides Group, is situated a tiny sugar-loaf-shaped island, which was entirely rebuilt some years ago by order of our Admiralty at the request of a native chief.

The original island was selected by the commander of one of our warships in those waters as a handy object for target practice. As a result it was practically blown to pieces. The Chief of Malekula, to whom it belonged, not unnaturally objected, and the captain of the man-of-war was ordered to make good the damage occasioned by his guns.

This was done. But the Chief was still not satisfied. The reconstructed island, he complained, was neither so big nor so solid as the original one. "Oh, hang it all!" ejaculated the badgered commander. "What's your beastly little island worth? I'll buy it from you!"

"Ten sticks of tobacco," replied the Chief promptly, and held out his hand. The tobacco was as promptly produced, and from that day to this the fragment of sea-girt coral-rock thus curiously acquired has been known as "Ten Stick Island."

The British Columbia prohibition bill introduced in the Legislature on May 17th, is modelled after the act in Manitoba. As druggists have refused to take any responsibility under the bill to sell liquor on a doctor's prescription, the government will provide dispensaries for the selling of liquor for medicinal purposes. The government has denied any compensation to the liquor interests, but as a compromise the prohibitionists have agreed to consent to an extra six months' delay before prohibition comes into effect. The date will therefore be July 1, next year, instead of January 1.

THE OLD STUNT.

The time has come to swat the flies, so, brethren, let us all arise, and wield our swatters; let's swat with all our wonted fires, and to the work bring aunts and aunts, and sons and daughters and daughters. There is no better exercise, the doctor says, than swatting flies; the doc continues: "It helps the nerves that knew a slump, it makes the torpid liver lumpy, it strengthens sinews." How sinful are the trifling dubs, who waste their time with Injun clubs, and padded mittens! If they would take their swatting-sticks, and show the flies some fancy tricks, they'd feel like kittens. On high trapeze man breaks his back, or trots around a cinder track in clogs and sweaters; he walks ten miles for exercise, and if he'd only won some flies, 'twould serve him better. He soon would have an appetite to make him view with keen delight beefsteak and 'taters; his rusty whiskers soon would shine, and he could punish eight or nine large alligators.

or deferred. Similarly, manufacturers concerned with the home trade are notifying their customers that they cannot guarantee supplies of winter goods. In one instance mentioned to me very large stocks bought and paid for in America since the beginning of the year are still lying at New York awaiting their turn for transport to this country; and until they arrive no further supplies of this particular class of goods will be available for civilian use because the whole output of the English factories is reserved for our military requirements when the cold weather sets in again.

ENTERPRISE IN THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

Except for the stimulation that the usual machinery exhibits have this year come under the ban of the Government, it was difficult to realize that we were approaching the third year of the war when the annual Drapery and Outfitting Trades Exhibition opened in the Agricultural Hall, London, on May 1st. There was striking evidence on all sides of the enterprise and resource displayed by British firms, whose activities are all the more creditable in view of the severe depletion of stocks. One of the managers of the exhibition indicated where British enterprise had made good the gaps so that Germany's trade had completely vanished. Never again, he said, would there be any need to go to our enemies for anything in the dry goods trade. Excellent progress has been made in capturing the printing cotton trade, of which Germany made a feature. The difficulty with regard to dyeing is being gradually overcome. According to a representative of the industry with whom I had some conversation, there was no reason why we should not hold our advantage provided that labor, the supply of which was largely governed by the military position, remained satisfactory. Over 150 of the best known firms in the trade exhibited. The bit cotton and woolen manufacturers had stands in the Central Hall, while the Gilbey Hall, given over to smart gowns and costumes, millinery and footgear, and to handsome mannequins wearing the latest creations, might have been a fashionable annex to Bond Street.

THE WANDLE RETURNS.

For nearly a year trawlers and small craft from the Orkneys to Deal have been having adventures with German submarines, and it would be inexpedient to say what the result was. But there is no record of any of these brave craft having a public reception when they got home until the sea collier Wandle, of the Wandsworth Gas Company, came in to the Thames on May 4th, after her famous and successful fight with and escape from a U. boat. It was like London of the old days to see the riverside crowded with cheering people in rowing boats and barges, waving flags, and more especially the mood of it all, the half-mocking, half-admiring mood that is the spirit of London. "Cheero," roared the riverside men gathered on the Temple pier. "Cheero," replied the four figures in the bow, whirling their shirt-sleeved arms as the Wandle went past. She is a fair sized collier barge of a newish type, with a stink black funnel near the stern. She has been recently painted, and except a smash from a shell on the port side, looked like any other Thames collier. All the way up the river she was welcomed by the sirens of the ships, but at the Victoria Embankment, where there are no ships, she had to blow her own horn, and by keeping her hinged funnel on the slant after passing the bridge she seemed to be cake-walking up the river. At her stern, quietly apart, sat the men who worked the gun, only now and then relaxing into a hand-wave. The little gun—it is a purely defensive weapon over the stern—gave a grey glimmer in the sunshine. Whether the submarine was sunk or not, it is a great victory for the Wandle, for the submarine must have been twice as fast, and if she had not beaten it off the little collier would have been under the waves and these waving figures would have had short shift.

PRIVATE GOODS FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES.

I am told that in various parts of the Empire the local Government is commandeering in order to avoid any anxiety if the shipments which would normally be made during the next four months should be irregular.

THE ENTERTAINMENTS TAX.

The tax on amusements (the novel impost which levies toll on all tickets sold giving admission to theatres, music-halls, moving picture theatres, sports meetings, concerts, etc.) which comes into operation on the 15th May will probably be collected by adhesive stamps at the more expensive entertainments and by Government tickets at the cinemas, and, generally speaking, admissions under a shilling. Vast supplies of the Government tickets are being printed just now under Government supervision. Officials are kept busy all day watching miles of strip tickets being printed, and destroying all waste from the machines. The firms which have obtained the contracts from the Government to supply these tickets ought to be congratulated, as they are sure of being kept busy. The stamp, or the official supplied ticket, has to be torn across on admission, and it is interesting to note that not only is there a 250 penalty on the proprietor of the entertainment for any breach of the law, but there is also a penalty on the person admitted.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, May 8th, 1916.
THE KING'S IMPROVED HEALTH.
King George has found to his satisfaction during the Easter tide that he is now able to resume his exercise in the saddle with impunity. There is no longer any question of a relapse, and it is hoped in the entourage that His Majesty will soon again ride out to review his troops. The question of another Royal visit to the British and Allied front in France naturally is one for the future, but meantime the King is beginning to allocate his time for the summer months. It is anticipated that Buckingham Palace will remain the headquarters of the Royal Family for an indefinite period, though it may be hoped that in the early autumn some fuller relaxation will become possible and expedient than during the last two years.

THE DUBLIN PAPERS.
The Dublin papers are rapidly pulling themselves together after the disastrous stoppage. The reappearance of the "Express and Mail" took place on May 3rd. The "Independent" rose again on May 4th and also the "Freeman's Journal." The last, however, has had the heaviest misfortune of all, for while the fire stopped just short of the "Independent" building in Middle Abbey Street, the "Freeman's Journal" office, which was next and partly built into the Post Office, was hopelessly involved in the "fire which destroyed that building. All the machinery and plant has gone, so that the sheet which is to appear will be only a temporary substitute for the chief Nationalist organ. The "Freeman's Journal" celebrated its 150th anniversary three years ago. It was established by a patriot named Lucas, but went through many hands, including at one time in the eighteenth century those of a notorious person named Higgins, who was known as "Sham Spence" and was in the pay of the Castle. Later it reverted into patriotic ownership, and for nearly a century has been on the popular side, more particularly from the time when it came into the ownership of the Gray family.

WHAT ASTONISHED THE COLONIAL.

WHEN HANDS ARE NEGLECTED.

When you have arrived back in town after your vacation, and find that your hands are burned and brown looking after the romps on the seashore, and the rowing and tennis playing in the sun, you will probably have more time to fix up the skin, for the winter to come.

No brown, rough hands look well in a ball room in the winter, so it will be well for little Miss Vacationist to work assiduously on her complexion and hands before the first invitation to the tango party arrives.

Lemon juice or diluted peroxide are very good remedies to be applied at night. If this is too strong it should be mixed with a little glycerine.

Nails can be kept pink and free from white spots by greasing the cuticle with cold cream each night. When the hands are washed in the morning the flesh should be pushed back with the towel before the hand is thoroughly dry, use an orange-wood stick to loosen the cuticle.

No other manicuring implement is required except a pair of scissors such as surgeons use for operating on eyes and a pin file.

Girls who keep their scissors sharp employ only the wide part of the snippers in cutting the nails. The points must not be used for anything but the cuticle.

Gloves can be worn to bring quick relief to sunburned hands, the best gloves to use are made of cotton and can be easily washed. They should be washed every two or three days, if they are used every night.

Pat Henry.
 By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old Slwash."

Pat Henry was a barefoot boy in Hanover County, Virginia, who had a ready tongue, and was suspected of stealing apples, and was nobody in particular, not having descended from the first or even the fifteenth families of Virginia. He was born on May 29, 1736, and history would not have had any interest whatever in this date if Pat had not been such a poor business man.
 Pat grew up without being pestered by society or annoyed with education, and at the age of eighteen he married and opened a store. He did not have to go to the bother of closing it. The sheriff kindly did it for him. Pat then rented a farm and tried to cultivate it. His efforts proved so hard on the farm that he soon gave it up. Everybody said Pat was a good fellow and would be fine company in the poorhouse some day.

When Pat failed on the farm he took up the law, in which almost anyone could succeed at that time, a lawyer's duty being simply to prove that he had the right on his side. While waiting for clients Pat began to make speeches after the custom of lawyers and people discovered that he had a razor-sharp tongue with a way double edge like a Crispy bread knife.

Virginia was being very much abused by King George of England just then and Pat Henry got to making remarks about it in public. Whenever he got warmed up a little and began to swing his arms and allude to tyranny and the baseness of being slaves, he got his audience heated up to the point of demanding tyrants on toast and in the end he was elected a delegate to the first Continental Congress. He went to Philadelphia and there got up and discussed King George in words which had a scathe in every syllable. His anxious friends tugged at his coat tails and bade him sit down for the sake of his health and respiration, but Henry replied: "Give me liberty or give me death," and he continued to ask for one or the other with such vehemence that the Congress eventually heated up and boiled over on July 4, 1776.

After this Pat Henry was known as Patrick Henry and was elected Governor of Virginia four times hand honours. He died in 1799 full of business, he would very likely have lived and died a fat conservative in a state of continual alarm over the agitations of irresponsible reformers. It is much easier to shout for reform when one is only imperiling someone else's money, and we should never cease being thankful for the Patrick Henrys, Benjamin Franklins and Abraham Lincolns who did not have enough prosperity to keep them entirely busy safeguarding it.

There is a political crisis in British Columbia, brought on by the Lieutenant-Governor refusing to sign the prohibition measure, his reason, it is understood, being that it contains no provisions for compensation. Unless the Governor comes to time it is believed that the temper Government, notwithstanding its large majority, may resign and go to the country on the prohibition and anti-compensation issue.

 Sweet spirits of nitre will remove ink spots from wood.
 If frozen too quickly, ice cream will be coarse-grained.
 When one needs a stimulant, one of the best is hot milk.
 Improperly kept food exposes the family to ptomaine poisoning.
 Juniket is a convenient dessert for the cook to make on a busy day.
 Perennials are better than annuals to plant in most gardens.
 Sugar gingerbread makes a wholesome sweet for the children.
 English walnuts added to orange gelatine give it a delicious flavor.
 Grease spots can be removed from the floor by means of alcohol.
 Allow 20 inches space for each person when setting a dining table.
 Parsley or celery rubbed on the hands will destroy the odor of onions.
 Middies of white crepe save laundry work, as they don't have to be ironed.
 Whatever fruit is in season should be made the most of, especially for desserts.
 When preparing pickles a wooden spoon or fork should be used, never a metal one.
 A boiled custard with crushed berries added to it after cooking is a delicious dish.
 Candied fruits, flowers and aromatic leaves can be made at home at small expense.
 Use a stump of a candle instead of a cork for the glue bottle end it will not stick.
 A piece of fungus broken from an old tree is a splendid buffer for mahogany furniture.
 If pantry shelves are painted white they will be easily kept clean and will look attractive.
 The first requisite in the summer home is coolness—and all furnishings should be the simplest.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!
 The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."
 Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect, that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.
 We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showrooms and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X Lamp and GASTHEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.
