CHAPTER XXXIV.

"I, TOO, AM FREE."

Doris went slowly in the direction Percy Levant had taken; but she did not see him, and presently, losing herself in her thoughts, she wandered across the lawn which stretched between the inn and the high-road, and leaning against the low wall, gave herself to brooding over the confession which the marquis had made—if confession it could be called!

Presently she was startled by the sound of wheels coming down the steep road to her right, and a few minutes afterwards she saw a travelling carriage pull up at the door of the inn, amidst a great bustle and confusion, the stamping of horses' hoofs, the click of changing harness, and the shouting of outriders.

Then she heard voices asking and answering questions, and amongst them the marquis's suave tones, begging someone's travellers, presumably to enter and rest themselves while the horses were fed.

Doris listened in an absent kind of fashion, in which the noises and voices came to her like those in a dream, until, suddenly looking up, she saw the moon had risen above the tree tops, and she turned to go back to the harbour in which Lady Despard was doubtless sleeping the sleep of the just. As she did so, she heard a slow step at her side, and glancing in its direction, saw a tall figure coming towards her with a slow and listless step. She was drawing back into the shadow of the shrubs to let him pass without seeing her, when suddenly the moon smiled from behind a cloud, and poured its light full on his face, and she saw that it was Lord Cecil Neville!

Yes, it was his face, but how altered! Pale and haggard it looked, as if as many years as minutes had passed over it since she saw it last in all its bright, fresh youthfulness, and it was the shock caused by this change in the beloved face, as much as the sudden

She turned her head away, her lips quivering at the dull accents of pain in his voice.

"Few mortals are happy, my lord," she replied, in a low voice.

He waved his hand impatiently.

"For Heaven's sake, don't address me as if we were strangers!" he broke out. "It is a farce in which I find it impossible to play! Doris!"—he stopped and drew nearer to her—"are you so hard of heart, or so light of memory, that you can forget, absolutely forget, all that passed between us—you and I? Have you forgotten Barton meadows? the day I fell off the horse at your feet? the day I told you that I loved you, and asked you to be my wife? the day you promised to be my wife?"

She shrank back against the wall, and put her hands against it as if to sustain her and keep her from falling.

"Have you clean forgotten?" he demanded, bitterly.

"I have tried to forget," she panted.

"Oh, Heaven!" he exclaimed, with suppressed passion; "and they say women have hearts—they boast that women are gentle and merciful! You tried to forget; and, of course, you succeeded! What I—"he drew near to her and looked longingly at her pale face, all the lovelier for its pallor and the intense light shining in the beautiful eyes, the tremour on the perfectly curved lips—"while I have thought of you day by day, night by night! I swear that there is not a night in which I have not dreamed of you, in which you have not stood beside me to mock me with those eyes of yours, to murmur the vows which fell so readily from those sweet lips. Great heavens! how cruel, how merciless even the best of you can be!"

In the fury of his agony it almost seemed as if he were about to strike her with his upraised hand, and Doris felt a wild thrill run through her as the conviction that he still loved her forced itself upon her.

"He loves me still! He loves me still!" she almost cried aloud.

"Yes, the best of you," he repeated, dully, like a man whose senses are half-numbed with pain. "For I counted you the best, and—Heaven help me!—I still count you so! Doris—I don't know by what name I should call you, but till I die you will be Doris to me—Doris, why did you deceive me? I have lain awake at nights trying to answer that question. I ask you to tell me now, now that all is over between us—And he bit his lips till the blood came, as he gazed at the lovely, downcast face. "All is over, and we are miles apart—worlds apart," and he stifled a groan, "and you can tell me safely. Why did you treat me as you did? Was it simply deviltry, coquetry—what? What fun, amusement was there in it? They said you were practising your profession upon me; that I was a mere block, which you were acting—always acting—up to. Was that true?"

She made no reply, but stood statue-like, her hands pressed against the rough wall, her heart beating in dull, heavy throbs which seemed to stifle her.

"Was it true? If so, then you were the wickedest, the cruellest woman God ever made!" he said, fiercely. "There are some women whose trade it is—professed flirts—to fool and betray men; but they carry the sign of their trade on faces and voices, and we men are aware of them. But you—you, with that innocent face of yours, with that sweet, girlish voice of yours, with those eyes whose truth a man might stake his soul upon—" He stopped, and gazed at her as if his soul were slipping from him. "Why don't you answer me?" he broke off, almost savagely.

Her dry lips quivered, a longing so intense as to be almost irresistible assailed her; the desire to exclaim "I did not deceive you; I did love you; I still love you. No treachery of mine parted us!" but she remembered the promise she had made to Percy Levant, the promise renewed only that morning; remembered that he—Lord Cecil—was either already married or pledged to marry Lady Grace, and she remained silent.

He drew a long breath and shrugged his shoulders.

"You can't answer. I suppose it was merely for amusement that you led me on to loving you, merely for amusement that you promised to be my wife, and still merely for amusement—broke my heart!"

She turned. They say the worm will turn if trodden on too persistently.

"Was it only a broken heart you offered to Lady Grace, my lord?" she said.

The moment after she had spoken the words she would have recalled them, for she saw by the sudden pallor of his face, the quiver of his lips, how much they had cost him.

"I see," he said, in a low voice; "you seek to excuse yourself of unfaithfulness by accusing me!"

"No, no," she breathed; but he went on, disregarding her.

"Yes, I am engaged to Lady Grace! It is quite true. All the world knows it with a suppressed bitterness; but I did not ask her to be my wife until you had—jilted me! Jilted! It is too high a word. Men use it as a jest. But you did not jilt, you deserted and betrayed me!"

"I—!" she panted.

"Yes!" he said, passionately. "You waited until I had left England—left England to please and conciliate my uncle—and then, disregarding my letters, my appeals to your love and your honour, you coldly—like a finished coquette!—cast me off with a few cold words. Good heavens! I cannot recall it without feeling the old pain, the old madness!" He broke off. "Oh, Doris! you have broken other hearts than mine, I daresay; but you never broke one that loved you half as dearly, half as truly, as mine did! I would have staked my life, my honour, on your truthfulness. I would have upheld it in the face of the whole world, and—with a bitter smile—"should have been rightly laughed at for my pains! Doris, the treachery that was sport to you was death to me! Look at me!" he drew nearer to her and folded his arms. "That day I lay with my head in your lap I was a young man, with all a young man's keen desire for life and belief in happiness! I feel like an old man now, bereft of all hope, haunted by the memory of your deceit. This is your work. Be proud of it, if you can!"

She hid her face in her hands, lest it should tell him too much; and he mistook the gesture and attitude for a confession of her guilt, and it moved him to a softer mood.

"I beg your pardon," he stammered. "Don't—for Heaven's sake—don't cry! That won't do any good. I'm awfully sorry I should have blurted out what I felt. It's—its all past and gone now. Of course, you are married."

Her lips formed the word "no," though it was not audible.

HOW A YOUNG GIRL SUFFERED
And Was Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Told By Her Mother.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sickly and pale and she had to stay home from school most of the time. She suffered agonies from backache and dizziness and was without appetite. For three months she was under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining about her back and side aching so I didn't know what to do. I read in the papers about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters."—Mrs. M. FROST, 516 Marcy Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

GOVERNOR TAKES CONTROL.
BOSTON, Sept. 11. Governor Colridge this afternoon by acclamation took over complete control of the situation surrounding the police strike and usage of military forces in Boston. The Governor said he took this action in his own capacity as commander in chief of the military forces of the State, all of which have been called out.

FEDERAL TROOPS LIKELY.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. The War Department is ready to meet any request for Federal troops to assist in maintaining order in Boston, although Sec'y. Baker late to-day had not received any telegram from Governor Colridge. No instructions have been sent Major General Clarence R. Edwards.

BOLSHEVIK SUCCESS.

THE SACRIFICE OF ALL CONCESSIONS.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. The rejection of the Peace Treaty with the League of Nations convention or adoption of amendments would mean the sacrifice by the United States of all the concessions obtained from Germany under the dictated peace minority members of the report presented to-day to the Senate. The report prepared by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska ranking Democrat member, urged the speedy ratification of the treaty without amendments or reservations.

ROMANIA'S EXCUSE.
PARIS, Sept. 10. The Roumanian delegation to the peace conference explaining their attitude in refusing to sign the treaty with Austria to-day, holds that since Roumania acquired membership in the League of Nations through signing the treaty with Germany the League must be the tribunal which will eventually consider its claims and decide whether Roumania can be forced to accept the treaty providing for Foreign interference in her domestic affairs.

PROTEST FROM MONTENEGRO.
PARIS, Sept. 10. The royal government of Montenegro has sent a protest to Peace Conference because her representatives were not permitted to sign the Austrian treaty.

MAGAZINE EXPLODES.
COLOGNE, Sept. 11. A magazine exploded in the neighborhood of Nouwied this morning, and it is believed many were killed.

HURRICANE IN FLORIDA.
KEY WEST, FLA., Sept. 11. With daylight to-day following the storm of yesterday and night of darkness, people of Key West, and surrounding territory were able for the first time to survey the destruction wrought by the hurricane that swept through here on Tuesday night. Not a home in the city has escaped damage and many were totally wrecked. The Harbor presented a tangled mass of fishing vessels and other small craft, but latest reports failed to show deaths over three on the dredge Grampus.

BLESSES PEOPLE.
BOSTON, Sept. 11. Cardinal Mercier primate of Belgium was welcomed to Baltimore yesterday afternoon by throngs which filled the streets from the railroad station to the residence of Cardinal Gibbons whose guest he will be, until Wednesday. Standing on the top step of the Cardinal residence he blessed the people of the city, an unusual event even in religious annals in this country.

TURKEY TO-MORROW.
PARIS, Sept. 11. The Supreme Council will take up the drafting of peace terms with Turkey to-morrow. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain will arrive here for the purpose. He will be assisted in the conference by Field Marshal Allenby, commander of the Allied forces in Asia Minor, who has just arrived in France. The question of the future schedule work of the Peace Conference also will be taken up, many members of the conference arguing adjournment after full examinations of Roumania's reply to the Peace Conference.

GERMAN GOODS LIABLE TO SEIZURE.
MELBOURNE, Sept. 11. (Reuter's.)—Although the cables state that trade between Germany and Britain has been resumed, any German goods arriving in Australia are still liable to seizure and confiscation. Commercial men are still waiting for the Government to make some detailed announcement regarding the embargo on trade relations with the Germans.

THE STORY OF THE TANKS.
LONDON, Sept. 11. (Reuter's despatch.)—Speaking before the British association of science Tennyson Deycourt told the history of the tanks. The military wanted a tank capable of crossing gaps five feet wide. The weight had been fourteen tons on an axle which also had to carry the crew. The machine was proved a failure. Later two tractors had been lined up. Again a tank with fifteen foot wheels was manufactured. Finally was produced the tank as used on the Somme. This was improved upon until the very latest tanks possess smoke screens, bullet proof spherical gunmountings, unditching gear, signalling apparatus and special arrangements for traversing soft ground.

PRESENTATION TO SIR E. HATCH.
LONDON, Sept. 11. (Reuter's.)—As an acknowledgment of the work of the "Beyond the Sea" Assn., which entertained officers from the Dominions and lady war workers during the war, the Duchess of Norfolk and Sir Ernest Hatch received a presentation from the Royal Club of the "Beyond the Sea" Association yesterday. Lord Morris presided. The speakers included Lady Drummond of the Canadian Red Cross, Sir Frederick Young of Australia, and General Lefevre of South Africa. Sir Ernest Hatch informed the Press that a movement has been started to establish a permanent Dominions Club for both sexes. A British Hospitality Committee has already been formed under the chairmanship of the Duke of Connaught.

CANNOT REDUCE NAVY.

LONDON, Sept. 11. (Reuter's.)—Rt. Hon. Sir Walter Long speaking at Glasgow, said that the Admiralty was being condemned in some quarters for alleged undue delay in instituting a policy of economies, but he was not willing to have the navy cut down hurriedly. Until peace was signed it would have been a crime to relax efforts to see that the navy was ready if called upon. It was also said that since peace was signed the Admiralty had been slow. He would not admit that there was any foundation for that charge. They had held meetings every day at the Admiralty and had discussed every phase of the naval problem in trying to effect economies safely. The admiralty and the Government were not prepared to play ducks and drakes at the same time.

At the City Hall.

The Municipal Council held its regular weekly session last evening. The Mayor presided, and Councilors Muirly, Ayrz and Vincombe were present. After reading the minutes, etc., the following business was gone through:

A letter was read from Deputy Mayor Morris from Montreal, extending greetings.

Job Bros. asked to have the water main extended to the boundary of their premises, South Side. Council will lay pipe a certain distance and will give Job Bros. the necessary pipe to complete the work, provided they do it themselves and give a right-of-way where the pipe goes through their property.

A. H. Murray wrote about the sewerage condition near their wharves. No action.

W. Griffiths wrote regarding the lack of surface drains on Avantic Avenue. Referred to the Engineer.

Chas. Eddy asked permission to erect a garage rear of Prince of Wales Street. Deferred until plan is submitted.

S. A. Eddy asked permission to lease a part of the Parade Ground for the purpose of building a motor livery. Permission could not be granted.

A. A. Skinner complained of the condition of the fence next his house Long's Hill. Referred to the Engineer for report.

Gas Company sent bill of repairs to gas pipe on Duckworth Street, injured by the erection of the Council's arch. Provided the amount is correct the bill will be paid.

The Reid Mfg. Co. wrote they would proceed with the installation of lights ordered by the Council.

Mrs. M. Carbery complained of the gully opposite her door, South Side. Engineer will require.

Ed. Keel wrote he would pay his proportion of cost for water and sewerage, Warberry Street.

A tender for the erection of chimneys in house, Quidi Vidi Road, was referred to Inspector Coaker and Architect Barber.

A requisition for tulips for Bannerman Park, was agreed to.

It was ordered to notify the owner of property, LeMarchant Road, that it is the Council's intention to lay sewer and shift line of street in that locality, and that the matter of taking of land would be settled in the usual way by arbitration.

The Imperial Mfg. Co. submitted plan of repairs to building, Prescott Street. Deferred for enquiry.

J. Lockyer, Allan's Square, was given permission to make an addition to house.

Plan of garage for Michael Keen, Fleming Street, was approved.

Thomas Brothers submitted plan of alterations to Bannerman House. Approved.

James R. Johnson's plan of repairs to house, Barnes' Road, passed, provided steps do not encroach on the street.

A plan of bungalow for Mr. Sweetapple, was held over.

Imperial Oil Co.'s plan for the erection of a stable, South Side, passed. P. J. Butt's plan of house, Prince of Wales' Street, was approved.

The City Engineer reported on water and sewerage work on Prince of Wales' St., and Warberry Street, curb, gutter and gully connection work, Military Road, and on road work generally through the city. The Road Inspector, Health Officer and Plumbing Inspector submitted their weekly reports.

After disposing of some routine business and passing pay rolls and bills, the meeting adjourned.

New Fishing Craft for Newfoundland.

There was towed to Gloucester, Mass., from Essex recently, the tern schooner Baulah Maa, of about 270 tons gross measurement, built by A. D. Story for W. and T. Hollett, of Burin, Nfld. She is a very pretty vessel, an improvement on the Harry and Verna, built for the same parties by Mr. Story in 1918.

She is one of the first vessels built at Essex under British Lloyd's specifications, and when fitted will be classed A1. She will be rigged by Harry Christensen, and when ready will sail for her home port to engage in the fish exporting trade from Newfoundland to Europe.

Mr. Story is to start another tern schooner for the same parties to be delivered in December. He is one of Massachusetts' foremost shipbuilders, and has now in his shipyards one steam trawler for Gloucester parties which he will soon launch, and a tern schooner for Thos. Wakely & Son, of Harbor Buffett, Nfld.

Drowned at Salmonier.

There was drowned at Salmonier, while on the fishing grounds recently, a respected resident in the person of John Nolan, the greatest loss that has occurred here for many a year. The drowned man leaves a wife and nine small children, the oldest not exceeding 12 years. His wife is in a most delicate state of health and was overcome with the shock on Saturday evening, when her brother broke the sad news to her. Mr. Nolan also leaves three sisters and two brothers, one at Gloucester, the other living at this place, to whom deep sympathy is tendered.—Com.

To-day's Messages

FOR WOLFE'S MONUMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 11. Wolfe's Monument, in Westminster Abbey, which until a few months back was fairly hidden by Canadian colors has now only two such emblems left, the remainder having been claimed by the battalions and taken back to Canada. (Dean Ryle, of the Abbey, has received, with considerable favor, the suggestion that the Dominion might present a permanent color to be laid on the Monument, in remembrance of how all the Canadian Regimental colors had sought a resting place there while the battalions were fighting. This Monument was recently described by a London paper as "an ugly thing with a vengeance, and not too large, too broad, too high and too hideous in every way." A silk flag will be deposited on Wolfe's Tomb in Greenwich on Saturday.

HOW MUCH DOES WELD GET?

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA, Sept. 11. It is stated that Premier Hughes informed a meeting of the Ministerial Party that the indemnity, to be paid to Australia, would be rather less than sixty million pounds sterling.

A FAIR PRICE.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Sept. 11. The Government has guaranteed farmers five shillings per bushel for the 1920-1921 wheat crop.

JAPO-CHINESE SECRET CONVENTION.

PEKING, Sept. 10. The China-Japanese military convention, signed last year with a view to co-ordinating the efforts of China and Japan in Siberia, has been under discussion between Tokio and Peking. The present understanding is that the agreement will be abrogated, but that secret arrangements in the same sense will be concluded.

THE HONDURAN TROUBLE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. The departure of President Bertrand, of Honduras, from the Tegucigalpa was followed by looting and rioting in various parts of the Republic. A small force of American marines was landed from the cruiser Cleveland, at Puerto Cortez, to protect foreigners. Attempts are being made by foreign diplomats in Tegucigalpa to arrange a peace. A British warship is expected to arrive tomorrow.

IRISH CONDITIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 11. (Reuter's Despatch.) The Fernery Times, referring to the recent disorders in Fernery, states that the outrages were committed by soldiers who from part of the army of occupation. It was an act of retaliation, but not in kind. The "Times" also mentions a long tale of a widespread organized resistance to the army, culminating in the assassination, recently, of a party of soldiers and a jury's refusal to bring in a verdict of murder. It says this reveals the state of indignation in Ireland, to which recent people are reduced, and which naturally exasperated the soldiers. A Fernery correspondent states, "even the most vindictive nationalists feel that the statement of the Roman Catholic Bishops in June last, that acts of violence that 'we deplore' sprang entirely from the British army of occupation rule is no longer adequate." The Manchester Guardian deprecates the military riot, which is explained, but not excused, it says, "by the cowardly murder of a soldier." Alluding to the epidemic of murders of soldiers, it says that the situation is reminiscent of the worst features of the old land war. It admits that violence breeds violence and urges courageous statesmanship. The member of Parliament for Tyrone, in speaking at Belfast stated that if the Government will not allow Lord French to put down outrages in his own way, then Lord French ought to retire. If these continued the sooner the Unionists stand at bay the better. The Irish question could only be settled by grit and determination.

Facts of the Great War.

These are some of the amazing facts in Sir Douglas Haig's final despatch:—

General Headquarters received 9,000 telegrams in one day, and 3,400 letters by despatch-riders. One army headquarters had 10,000 telegrams in a day, and the daily telegrams on the lines of communications were 23,000. There were 1,500 miles of telegraphs and telephones, and 3,588 miles of railways, on which 1,800 trains ran weekly.

In six weeks 5,000,000 rations were supplied by our armies in France, to 800,000 civilians in the relieved areas. Two hundred tons dead weight of supplies and stores were required daily for the maintenance of each division.

The total daily ration strength of our armies was 2,700,000. An addition of one ounce to each man's rations represented an extra 70 tons.

Over 400,000 horses and mules and 47,000 motor vehicles were used, and 4,500 miles of road made or maintained.

In 1914 there was one machine-gun to 500 infantrymen in the British army; at the armistice there was one machine-gun to 30 infantrymen.

Over 700,000 tons of ammunition were fired by our artillery on the Western front from last August to the armistice.

The number of individual landings at the ports managed by the British armies in France exceeded 10,000,000 up to the armistice; while in the last seven months of the war the average weekly tonnage landed at those ports was 175,000 tons.—The Bits.

THE DAILY DOPE BY THE CUB-EDITOR

WOMEN.

They're saucy and they're sly, and they're mighty hard to please. We have to cater to them all upon our bended knees. They're flighty and inquisitive. Exasperating, too! And every man must find it out. Somehow before he's through. They reason with a suddenness that makes a feller jump; and they don't find it hard at all to make him look a chump. They cannot give a reason for a single thing they do. They jump at a conclusion with no valid cause in view. They're tender and they're heartless, and they're prudish and they're reckless and they're all around. They cost a lot of money, but they're nice to have around. —Brooklyn Eagle.

THIS REALLY HAPPENED.

A college professor who is very absent-minded got in a crowded electric car, and had to stand up. As the conductor came to take his fare, the professor suddenly perceived a well-known society woman of his acquaintance. He at once put his hand in his pocket, took out a copper, and handed it nonchalantly to the woman, then, turning, he made an elaborate bow and shook hands cordially with the conductor.

YES—WHAT CHANGE!

A food faddist harangued a mob on the marvelous benefits to be obtained from a vegetarian diet. "Friends," he cried, "two years ago I was a walking skeleton—a haggard, miserable wreck. What do you suppose brought this great change in me?" He paused to see the effect of his words. Then one of the listeners asked: "What change?"

Work is not the object of existence.

J. R. Clynes, M.P.

LAUGH.

There's a scientific reason why you should. "Yon Cassius," said Caesar, "hath a lean and hungry look. He thinks too much. Such men are dangerous." Beware of the man who never laughs. Do not let him marry your daughter. The chances are he will die young and leave her and the children for you to support.

If you've got out of the habit of laughing, it won't be long before you get out of the habit of living. Germans have a horror of the man who can laugh.

THE TROUBLE.

Robert Jaggsby's countenance was not at any time remarkable or indications of intellectual brilliance, but now, as he stood before the camera for the purpose of "being took," his expression was so insane that even the polite photographer was moved to protest.

"You'll excuse me," he remarked, "but do you want this photograph for a beauty competition or an advertisement for a rat poison? Because, if it is for any purpose, you'd better try to look a little more pleasant."

"That's just the trouble," exclaimed Robert; "you see, I've the misfortune to be a trifle bandy, and I'm trying to hold my knees so that it won't show. When I smile I forget all about my knees and when I pay attention to my knees I forget to smile."

IT'S QUITE LEGAL.

You cannot challenge a decision because it is not given in a court of law. Judges can hold courts anywhere, and they have—in bed-rooms, under trees, on golf links, or while—as one judge did—having a bath.

WHAT WEALTH IS FOR.

"The final outcome and consummation of all wealth," says Ruskin, "is in producing as many as possible full-breathed, bright-eyed, and happy human creatures."

WHO WON THE WAR!

"It is right to speak of our Allies," says Marshal Haig, "but it was the British Army that won the war." Of course it was the British Army that won the war. It was also the French army that won the war. The Italian army also won the war. So did the Russian Army, and if it hadn't been for the American army, all of the other armies would have lost the war. —Utica Observer.

PASS THE SALT.

Two reporters were boasting of the speed of their shorthand writing. "Whenever I am reporting at a meeting on a warm evening, all the people try to get near my table." "Why?" asked the other. "Because," said the pen-pusher, "my hand goes so fast that it creates a current of air like a fan."

"A mere nothing," said No. two. "I always had to report on wet paper, or else the current of air caused by the movement of my hand would blow it away. Besides, the paper had to be wetted every few minutes, because the friction caused by the rapid movements of my arms would set fire to it in no time."

HE DID, BUT IT WOULDN'T.

THE AUTHOR'S SCRIBBLE.

Those who have read and admired the polished sentences of G. K. Chesterton, the famous novelist, would receive a rude shock if they could see the article or poem they admired in its manuscript form. For the handwriting of the famous G. K. is scarcely commensurate with his other abilities.

His manuscript or "copy," as it is called, is very difficult to read, and there is scarcely another author who places as much reliance in his printers.

The direct opposite of this was Charles Dickens, who, though he never employed a typewriter, was able to boast that of the authors of his time he made fewest corrections on a printer's proof. This is more remarkable because Dickens was the most prolific writer of his day.

OH, THOSE PRIVATE 'STILLS!

"Darling!" he cried, in tones of deep emotion. "At last—at last you are safely in my arms and nothing shall part us!"

The object of his touching words and passionate embrace made no response, but remained cold and silent. Tears welled into his eyes.

"Dearest," he continued, "how can I prove my love? Is there no sacrifice I can make for your sweet sake—no suffering I can endure?"

This final appeal was irresistible. "The best thing you can do, my man," said a gruff voice, "is to come along with me!"

And a brutal policeman unfastened him from the lamp-post and led him silently away.

CHOOSING

I stopped by a show window when I was the Big Girl. I admire some beautiful beautiful rugs were part of window display. But before I had been there moment, I myself more interested in man and girl who also looking at the display, the the display itself.

"Which rug do you like best?" woman was asking the little girl. The little girl who was not seven or eight, gravely picked hers—not an oriental, but not a bad-looking rug either, and she requested her mother to choose.

The Rug With the Shine to It. The mother chose a beautiful oriental in soft tones of old blue not so bright as yours," she said. "I don't like it," she said. "Can't you almost feel the soft looking at it? And see what of shine there is to it. It makes you think of moonlight."

"Yes, it does, kind of," said little girl, evidently half wowed from her own choice, "and she gray one. Mother (picking up other, this time an oriental) got a moonlight look, too."

Just at this moment the glanced up and caught my look. I liked it and smiled. "We're so like beautiful things," she said. "Don't you think we are pretty?"

"Wonderfully," I said with enthusiasm I did not have to say. "We're always choosing Mother and I," chimed in the sister, "and it's lots of fun!"

You Can't Start Liking the rug! Too Young.

"I suppose it's a good prospect of a seven year old to eat an oriental rug," went on mother, "but I have an idea you can't start liking the real thing until you're young."

They went away, hand in hand, evidently the most congenial pair, and left me thinking mother who used to repeat beautiful poetry she knew child even before he began also of several other mother thought that was perfect nonsense. But is it perfect nonsense?

CHOOSING RUGS AT SEVEN.

I stopped before a show window the other day when I was in the Big City to admire some very beautiful oriental rugs which were part of the window display. But before I had been there a moment, I found myself more interested in a woman and a little girl who were also looking at the display, than in the display itself.

"Which rug do you like best?" the woman was asking the little girl.

"Yes, it does, kind of," said the little girl, evidently half won away from her own choice, "and see that gray one, Mother (picking out another, this time an oriental) that's got a moonlight look, too."

Just at this moment the mother glanced up and caught my look of interest and smiled. "We're learning to like beautiful things," she said. "Don't you think we are progressing?"

"Wonderfully," I said with an enthusiasm I did not have to assume. "We're always choosing things Mother and I," chimed in the youngster, "and it's lots of fun."

You Can't Start Liking the Beautiful Too Young.

"I suppose it's a good deal to expect of a seven year old to appreciate an oriental rug," went on the mother, "but I have an idea that you can't start liking the really beautiful things too young."

They went away, hand in hand, evidently the most congenial companions, and left me thinking of a mother who used to repeat the most beautiful poetry she knew to her child even before he began to talk—also of several other mothers who thought that was perfect nonsense. ROCKS AHEAD.

The country's going to the deuce, and anarchy is breaking loose. Whoever way we chance to turn we find new ills, and threats to burn, and if you throw a crisis in the neck. We hear such bunk, and bushells m o r e, each morning in the soft drinks store, where all the graybeards congregate to mourn the sinking ship of state. Cheer up! We heard the same old gag before this country had a flag; we heard it, or our fathers did, ere Bill Tell shot at Gesser's lid. They used to hear the same old dope when Caesar was the Roman's hope. And Noah heard it when he sailed, that time the drouth predictions failed. "Our garden's going to the dogs," cried Adam, when he chased the hogs, which had destroyed, with tooth and tusk, the rhubarb and the currant bush. Our distant prehistoric sires, who had no chairs or comfy fires, but had to roost around in trees, were guilty of the same old wheeze. There always will be rocks ahead, and goblins, dire and bogies dread, but our old ship of state will glide to safety on the further side. So let's forget our doubts and fears, and order four denatured beers.

Little Benny's Note Book.

BY LEE PAPE.

Me and Puds Simkins and Reddy Merly and Leroy Shooter was setting on my front steps lawking, and pop was standing on the top step smeking and thinking, and us fellows started to talk about wat we would do if we had a million dollars, Puds Simkins saying, I know wat I'd do, all rite, I'd buy a hole serkus and have it going on all the time, and I wouldnt leave enybody in to see it except my friends, and I wouldnt even leave them in if they got too lippy.

I nokw wat I'd do, sed Reddy Merly, I'd buy about a duzzin fire engines and I'd drive a different one to every fire and help to put it out, and sometimes I'd leave my friends drive the other ones, and sometimes I wouldnt.

If I had a million dollars I'd change it all into dimes, sed Leroy Shooter, I'd have more dimes than anybody else in the world, and I'd bid a mounthin out of them and set on the top of it with 10 big bull dogs garding it down at the bottom, and if eny of my friends wanted a dime I'd leave them take one if I felt like it, but if eny of them tried to take one without asking me ferst, the bull dogs would chase them about a mile and a half.

Wich jest then pop sed, Well how about you, Benny?—wat would you do if you were a millionair? Sumthing more sensible and more beneficial to mankind in general, I hope.

Yes sir, I sed, I'd offer prizes with it I'd give a prize to whoever was the best at serten things.

Good, sed pop, wat kind of things, for instants? and I sed, O, different things, I'd give a prize to whoever could hold their breth the longest, and whoever could wawk the ferthest on their hands, and whoever could wissel the loudest with their fingers, and different things like that.

Yee gods, sed pop. And he threw the rest of his segar away, only being about enuff of it left to throw away enyhow, and went in the house.

Brainy Bees.

What a bee does not know is supposed to be not worth knowing. That may or may not be true, but the two following incidents—one of which was witnessed by the writer—testify to the remarkable sagacity and efficiency of bees.

On one occasion a hive was being "splied upon" by a wasp. When a wasp ascertains that a hive is worth attacking, he carries the news to his friends, and sometimes succeeds in ousting or severely worrying the bees. While the wasp-scout was nosing around, the bees stayed in the hive, but every time the wasp approached the small entrance hole a bee came out and walked round in a circle, doing sentry-work, till the wasp departed.

An hour later a wasp—presumably the scout—was found dead on its back on the top of the hive, and the bees were busy again.

What He Thought.

(From Pearson's Weekly.)

A woman hailed a tramcar conductor in the excited manner customary with many of her sex, but the car did not stop until some of the people inside had called attention of the conductor to the fact that the woman wished to enter. As she got in she glanced at the man indignantly.

"Why didn't you stop the car for me?" she snapped.

"How was I to know you wanted to get on?" asked the conductor.

"Didn't you see me swinging my arms and jumping up and down waving my umbrella?"

"Of course. Could anyone help seeing you?"

"Then why didn't you stop?"

"Because I thought you were dancing to that street organ!"

His Own Worst Enemy.

(From the Hartford Courant.)

Ultimate Consumer incautiously gets in the way at every turn. Not only is he the victim of high prices, but, according to certain experts, he is the cause of them. He is a careless cuss, buying any sort of price for what he thinks he wants, although he may loudly complain about it afterward. He mightily hates to deny himself anything, and so he gets it in the neck quite hard and quite frequently.

Billing and Coaling.

The Opposition turtle doves are now engaged in the congenial and pleasant occupation of billing and coaling preparatory to making up all the differences between them and uniting in a political marriage of convenience. The Advocate is now merely an echo of the Star and Post, and has its orders to quote back files. Now this business is apt to become dangerous, because it is one in which all can engage. Not so many moons ago the Star and Advocate were tilting at each other, the Advocate being at that particular period as strong a supporter of the Government as the Star was hostile, and many and pretty were the journalistic compliments exchanged. All these, to go back no further, are on hand, and their publication will assist in refreshing the public mind regarding the opinions, which the then combatants, but now prospective allies, held concerning each other.

Then there is the personal opinion of the President of the Fishermen's Protective Union, an opinion by no means favorable toward the young leader of the Liberal (?) Reform Party, and an opinion which was fluently and freely expressed in circular letters to every Council of the organization in Newfoundland. The President of the F.P.U. made no bones whatever in these circulars, (and all those who received them will remember it distinctly), as to what he thought of the man with whom he is now coquetting. The public will also be interested in hearing this opinion and one of these days we may, perhaps, find space for it. As a character sketch it is entirely unique, and as there can be no doubt whatever that the President thoroughly knew the man of whom he is so fluently and cogently wrote, cautioning all his Councils against him, it will be worth watching closely to see just how the members of the F.P.U. will accept a Squires-Coaker amalgamation.

Oh! you typographical error!

Invite Him Here.

As will be seen by those who read the foreign messages, America just now has the honor of entertaining a most distinguished visitor in the person of Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium. Cardinal Mercier, who was stationed in Belgium during the years of the war, has often come before the notice of the reading world, and there are few unfamiliar with his name. The Telegram suggests that the proper authorities invite the Cardinal to Newfoundland before his stay in the New World ends, perhaps for all time. This is an excellent opportunity of demonstrating how Newfoundlanders can extend a real welcome to one for whom they have deep respect and great veneration.

Fotball Dinner.

St. Andrew's Football Team, This Year's Football Champions entertained by the Society.

The St. Andrew's Football Team, the year's champions, was dined last evening by the Society at the Club-rooms, Smallwood Building. Mr. H. D. Reid, President of the Society, occupied the chair, while the guests were: Messrs. M. Chaplin, Hon. W. J. Higgins, president and vice-president respectively of the Football League, Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., spiritual director of the Society, B. B. Harris, Secretary, and Fred O'Brien, treasurer, of the League, and representatives of the Press. The room was draped in the most artistic and effective manner seen in the city for a long time, the floral decorations being the kind donated by Mr. H. D. Reid, who has no compeer in Newfoundland as an expert where flowers are concerned. The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary were responsible for the arrangement and decoration of the tables, while Mr. F. B. Wood was the caterer, succeeding in providing a repast that was done ample justice to. Following this came the toast list:

- 'The King'—Prop. the President; 'God Save the King.'
'Nfld. Football League'—Prop. H. D. Reid, Esq.; Resp. M. Chaplin, Esq.
'Our Guests'—Prop. R. G. Ross; Resp. Capt. A. Foster (Saints), W. Duggan (Star).
'Ourselves'—Prop. W. A. Munn; Resp. 'We are jolly good fellows.'
'The Land We Live In'—Prop. H. H. Crawford; Resp. Hon. W. J. Higgins, K. C.
'The Ladies'—Prop. W. G. Burns; Resp. S. Lumsden.
'The Press'—Prop. R. E. Innes; Resp. R. Joy (Herald), J. Browne (Advocate), J. Coffey (News), E. D. Halaburton (Star), and J. R. Smallwood (Telegram).

In toasting the Football League Mr. Reid sketched, in an interesting manner, the introduction of the game of Association football into England by the Roman and its subsequent progress down to today. Mr. Chaplin, in responding, recounted many stories of the game as played in this country about 1900, mentioning the names of many of the old-time players, some of whom were then present. After Mr. W. A. Munn had touched upon some of the Society's aims during the forthcoming few months, the speech of the evening was delivered by Mr. E. H. Crawford, who proposed the toast, 'The Land We Live In.' This speech was of such a high order, as he very rarely heard at such gatherings, and was so good that the Telegram would be pleased to have a verbatim report of it for publication. Mr. Higgins responded, touching upon the unlimited possibilities of the country and the desirability of having a flourishing tourist traffic. Mr. Higgins also referred to the late Mr. Tom McNeil, who was so largely instrumental in having the game of football introduced in Newfoundland. Mr. Mark Chaplin made the Cup presentation, Captain Foster, of the Saints team receiving it and replying suitably. Songs by Messrs. D. McIntosh, R. G. Ross, W. Duggan, Lieut. J. Irvine, E. Fox, Wallace, McFarlane, and H. Crawford, Sr. were delightfully rendered. The singing of Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem brought to a close the most enjoyable gathering of St. Andrew's Society held for many a day.

Military Man to Lecture.

Capt. Edgar Penney, M.C., Royal Engineers, who has just lately arrived home, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Penney of Carbonear. The captain is an old Methodist College boy, and when he was broke out, was taking a course in Metallurgy at McGill University, Montreal. He volunteered and joined the Princess Pats, in 1915, receiving a commission in the London Post Office Rifles, went to France and while with them was promoted to a full Lieutenancy. Later while on furlough in England, he was transferred to the Royal Engineers, with whom he distinguished himself by winning the Military Cross and his Captainty. Captain Penny will lecture on the war in the Methodist College Hall on Monday night next, which by his four years experience should prove intensely interesting, and will doubtless attract a large audience, considering its object no less than the personality of the gallant lecturer.

American Dancer at Smithville.

Miss Crawford, of New York, Treats Private Gathering to Exhibition of Classic Dancing. The dance given by Miss May Parker at Smithville last evening was very successful and those present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The event of the occasion was the dancing by Miss Crawford, of New York, who is here now on a visit. This dancing, which was of a classic type, was watched with deep interest, the C.C.C. band accompanying her in two items. At the other two the piano accompanied. It is not often that St. John's sees such good dancing, and it seems a pity that Miss Crawford should leave the country without treating a larger number of people to an exhibition of her art as a dancer.

Two Accidents.

What nearly proved a serious accident occurred at Bell Island yesterday. While several young men were shooting at a mark with 22 rifles, one of them fired at the mark, and a man named Harrigan who was passing at the time received the small bullet in the thigh. Dr. J. B. Lynch was summoned, and had the young man conveyed to the General Hospital, the doctor accompanying him.

About the same time, a man named Michael Kennedy, of the same place, was working at some machinery, and in uncrowning a nut he overexerted himself, and an old wound in the side, which was caused by an operation some short time ago, burst, and the blood flowed copiously, the man becoming seriously ill. Dr. Lynch had him placed in the wagon at the same time with Harrigan, and conveyed to hospital also. We learn that neither of the injuries are serious, and the shooting affair was purely accidental.

Last Evening's Footer.

Last evening's game between the Cadets and the C. E. I. resulted in a tie—each side scoring one goal. A large gathering of spectators attended and were treated to an excellent exhibition, the game being well fought all through. In the opening round no scoring was done, but shortly after the start of the second, the C. E. I. forwards got away, and succeeded in beating Noseworthy. Only three minutes later, Earles evaded matters by driving the ball between the posts for the C.E.I. The balance of the game was fast and hard, but no further scoring was done, and at full time the tally stood 1 to 1. Mr. Geo. Hunt was referee and the players were:— C. E. I. Goal, Noseworthy; backs, M. Churchill, Thistle; halves, N. Hunt, Drover, Fox; forwards, Earles, Adams, Jerrett, E. Churchill, R. Stick.

As the Victory Cup games are being played on the knock-out system, this draw fill necessitate another match between the Cadets and C. E. I., and it will be played next Monday.

Park Band Concert.

Large numbers of people turned up to enjoy the concert by the C. L. B. Band in Victoria Park last evening. The weather was excellent for such an occasion. The music by the Band was of an unusually high order, and was, without doubt, the best heard at any band concert for the season. The many people present were delighted with the musical selections and were all too sorry that the end of the evening came so quickly.

Education.

(Twillingate Sun.) The Sun was the first paper in this country—and up to last month the only one—to talk un denominational education. It is encouraging to know that we have at least got an influential paper as the Telegram going as well, and to have forced denominational heads to admit their belated belief in what they call an inter-denominational educational system. But the Sun will be dissatisfied until the denominational is entirely stricken out of our educational system. Not "inter" but "un" denominational education is the salvation of this country—inter means "between" and un means "not".

Sagona Arrives.

The s.s. Sagona, Capt. Parsons, arrived from Labrador ports yesterday morning, having been as far north as Hopedale. The captain reports a great improvement in the fishery along the coast, particularly north. At Venison Islands and along to Battle Harbor fish is plentiful when jiggers are used and at the latter place there is an abundance of herring.

Dried Fish.

Although the dried fish market is lacking in new and outstanding features, there are indications of improvement both at producing centers and distribution points. According to reports during the week, there has been a revival of business with the fall and winter business, and West Indies, where the demand has been sluggish for the past few weeks. Rio Rico is in better condition than at last reports, according to late advices, and Cuba is none the worse as a result of the recent activities of authorities in connection with alleged profiteers in dried fish. Whatever the situation is the Southward, including South America, the export trade of New York is preparing for the fall and winter business, and large purchases are being made in Nova Scotia and elsewhere in anticipation of a good demand later in the season. So far as can be learned prices are held firmly at the prevailing quotations, and in no case has there been any pronounced cutting of prices by any factors in the trade here. Reports from the eastward indicate that there is a fair supply available. The catch has not been heavy, however, and strikes and other difficulties have interfered somewhat with curing operations, but it may be estimated that there will be a fair average supply when the season is over. Europe is demanding dried fish from the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, and as there were heavy stocks at the latter place, a matter which might have been serious, has been happily adjusted. It is the consensus in New York that there will be a good business this fall and winter.—N. Y. Fishing Gazette.

How He Acquired It.
While Mr. Carnegie made such commendable use of his fortune, there will be a difference of opinion over some of the methods which he employed to acquire it. His original investment in the steel-making industry was $500,000, and it is well known that in twenty-seven years he sold out for nearly $500,000,000. He was always a "driver"; production and still more production were his aims, and his conduct toward his employees, at any rate in the earlier stages of his career, was exactly the opposite of the theories he advanced in speeches and books. The management of the strike at the Homestead works in 1892 was a blot upon his memory.—Toronto Globe.

Not Used to It.

Two French women who married American Army officers or soldiers and subsequently had been distributed in the United States, returned on the same steamer. Most of them, the newspaper reports, returned not because of personal feelings for their husbands, but because of the inability of the brides to adjust themselves to the American way of living.

Do You Remember The Old Corn Doctor?

He stood on the street, in the olden days, and offered a "magic corn cure."
The same ingredients, harsh and inefficient, are sold in countless forms today.

But they did not end corn, and they do not now. Nor does padding, nor does paring—methods older still.

The One Right Way
Modern scientists in the Bauer & Black laboratories have evolved a perfect method and embodied it in Blue-jay.

In 48 hours, while the corn is forgotten, Blue-jay completely ends it, and forever. Hardly one corn in ten needs a second application.

The way is sure. It is easy, pleasant, scientific. Quit old-fashioned methods. Try Blue-jay on one corn—tonight.

The Inter-Town Baseball Series at Grand Falls, 1919.

OFFICIAL.

Leaving here by special train at 8:30 on Thursday, Sept. 4, and having the misfortune of a five hours' delay through a broken down freight engine, the St. John's and Grand Falls teams and fans arrived at the inland town in the wee sma' hours of Friday morning, after a most tedious and wearisome journey to some, but to others—the jokers of the party—it was one continuous round of merriment and fun in which burnt cork was the more unfortunate members of the party who were embraced in the arms of Morpheus.

The visitors were met on arrival by Manager J. H. Judge, of the Baseball Association, who, with Messrs. Raines, Schroat and Brazil, escorted them to two new bungalows where very comfortable quarters had been specially prepared by the A.N.D. Co., Ltd. Through the kindness of Mr. Berwick arrangements had been made for the special cars containing the party to be brought right into the centre of the town from the main line, thus obviating every discomfort.

Tired after the rather strenuous week and the long journey, most of Friday forenoon found the players of both clubs in bed, but just after lunch Manager D. P. Duff had his team at the hall-park giving them a vigorous work out to take the kinks out of their system and to loosen them up for the fourth game of the inter-town series scheduled for 5 o'clock that afternoon. They found the Grand Falls diamond very fast (it being what is known as a "skin-diamond") and altogether different from the slow turf of St. George's Field. The papermen were quite frank in offering suggestions to the City team as to how the ball of Munn's. Manager Duff yanked him at this juncture and put Walter Callahan to cover shortstop territory. McHenry hit by pitched ball; Canning submarined Lockyer amidships; Fortier singled scoring McHenry; Quick fled to Bill Callahan. 2 runs. 3rd Innings.

St. John's—Canning failed to connect safely; Hall biffed the ozone; Walter Callahan was good for a double sacker but he was left to die a lingering death on second when Murphy struck out. 0 runs. Grand Falls—Hiltz got Braine's foul fly but Cohen reached first on Walter Callahan's error. Claudie walked Searles but struck out Crawley. With two down, Hiltz again made the same atrocious overthrow as he did in the first—scoring Searles; Pitcher out at first. 1 run.

4th Innings.
St. John's—Brett hit by pitched ball; Kielly rapped out a smart one as did Billy Callahan, scoring Brett; Gosse fled to Braine; Hiltz's hit scored Kielly and Callahan; Cohen grabbed a hard foul fly of Canning's; Walter Callahan waited on Duff; Pitcher's four wide ones; Murphy scored Hiltz; Brett fled to Braine thus retiring the side. 4 runs. Grand Falls—Lockyer was safe on Walter Callahan's error but was out when Murphy worked the "hidden ball" trick on him. McHenry fled to Brett and Fortier biffed. 0 runs.

5th Innings.
St. John's—Sebat Foran now went in the box for the papermen and promptly struck out Kielly. Billy Callahan popped to Fortier, and three fast ones fooled Gosse. 0 runs. Grand Falls—Billy Callahan's booting the pill let Quick reach first. He promptly stole second, and Braine's safe drive got him third. Cohen laid down a pretty sacrifice and Quick came in. Searles failed to find Hall, and Canning's beautiful peg from third finished Crawley's hopes, and sent the team back to their bench. 1 run.

6th Innings.
St. John's—Hiltz vainly swung the willow; Canning singled but died at the keystone. Hall struck out. 0 runs. Grand Falls—Hall stopped Foran's drive from the bat; Lockyer's hit was too feeble; McHenry's drive was good for two sacks, and he got to third when Hiltz dropped a strike, but he was left there when Hall gathered up Fortier's grounder. 0 runs.

7th Innings.
St. John's—Walter Callahan vainly smote the air; Cohen lost Murphy's infield fly in a mixup with Foran; Brett couldn't find them, and Kielly asked one to Quick. 0 runs. Grand Falls—Walter Callahan secured Quick's fly. Claudie fooled Braine but gave Cohen a ride to first. Searle struck out. 0 runs.

8th Innings.
St. John's—Foran was now steaming them over the plate, and sent Billy Callahan back to the bench almost as quickly as he came up. Gosse's crack didn't materialize, and Hiltz couldn't pick one out. 0 runs. Grand Falls—Crawley fled to Murphy; Foran struck out; Lockyer got to first when he shouldn't have, and reached third on overthrows. Hall passed up McHenry, and gave him the hit in the back. Things looked nasty for the home team, but they left the papermen on the bags when Quick's hit was gathered in. 0 runs.

9th Innings.
St. John's—Canning was good for a hit. Hall couldn't imitate him. Canning reached third on Searle's error. Walter Callahan couldn't pass Quick, but Murphy lined one out scoring Canning, but overdid his steal to third, thus retiring the side. 1 run.

ENTERTAINING THE VISITORS.
When the players had had a most refreshing shower and supper, they attended the "Nickel" in a body; as guests of the management, after which they were taken in charge of by friends and entertained at their homes. Those who had not been through the huge plant of the A.N.D. Co. before, spent a most enjoyable and instructive couple of hours with officials of the Company who spared no effort to make clear to the uninitiated the wonderful process of paper-making and the manufacture of pulp. A most pleasant "auction 45" drive was given at the Slocum bungalow where the players were greeted with that proverbial hospitality for which the hostess is noted.

Before midnight Manager Duff had his pets all rounded up and safely stowed away in the blankets to have them in the fettle for the fifth game, which St. John's earnestly hoped to win so that they might stay in the series; otherwise the Cup was to become the property of Grand Falls.

5th GAME OF SERIES.
10 o'clock the hour appointed for the clash, found a large concourse of fans at the park, but the weather man evidently looked with disfavour on the combat. It was a mere frown however, and before the game was well

McLean Spent Four Hundred Dollars in His Efforts to Get Well—Tanlac Restores Health

"I consider my first bottle of Tanlac has been worth all of one hundred dollars to me," declared Dan McLean, 385 Esplanade Street, Sydney, Nova Scotia, while in Turnbull's drug store for more of the medicine, recently. Mr. McLean has been following the carpenter's trade for the past forty years. He has lived in Sydney for twenty years and is well known.

"On the 10th of last September," he continued, "I was taken down with the 'flu' and was never able to get anything to put me on my feet until I found Tanlac, but now I feel that I could not hit a lick of work for more than eight months and this meant a loss of from $120 to $180 a month for me, and that is what was making before getting down. I also paid out $400 for treatment and medicine trying to get my health back, so you can see what a weakling I am. I could not walk from town to my room without stopping several times on the way to rest and after the trip I would put like a steam engine.

"Seeing by the papers that Tanlac was helping so many a fellow who were in a run down condition, and thinking it might help me to get on my feet, I bought a bottle. Well, it may sound exaggerated but the truth after taking my fourth dose of Tanlac I could tell it was what I needed and was going to do the work. I have been gaining ground ever since. Why, I never ate more than fifty cents' worth of food a week before I got Tanlac, but have used up all the time and no matter what kind of food is set before me, I enjoy it. I just finished my first bottle of Tanlac and I also feel well enough already to go back to work. Tanlac beats anything I have seen or heard about; it is no more of a medicine than the best of the best. I sleep like a log. I also had the worst kind of headaches, but they have been broken up entirely. Tanlac is simply making a new man of me and I honestly believe it's the best medicine in the world, and anyone who gives it a trial will be convinced."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac Representative.

under way "Old Sol" blossomed forth in all his radiance. Umpire Duff was behind the plate with Mr. Shapleigh on the bags, and the game got away with Grand Falls at bat and St. John's in the field. The play by innings follows:

St. John's—Manager Judge took a pitcher and sent Foran to twirl the ball. He sent three fast ones over which Clouston couldn't find. Hall's stature did him however. Clouston's foul fly found a safe resting place in Clouston's big mitt; Munn reached first. Lockyer's error leading Hall to third and there he was left when Murphy failed to reach the initial sack. 0 runs.

8th INNINGS.
Grand Falls—Crawley fled to Clouston; the "hop" on Brett's error after fielding Sebat Foran's hot grounder was too much for Murphy who dropped it like a hot cake. Lockyer swung vainly, and Gus Foran's pop fly was got by Clouston. 0 runs.
St. John's—Brett and Gosse hit safely and Billy Callahan was presented with a walk. After a smart run Clouston got Kielly's uplift. Clouston's deep centrefield fly was labelled for an easy 3-bagger with the sacks filled, but was picked up by Braine after a spectacular running catch, right on his toes. His impetus bowled him over but he held the ball amid great applause. 1 run.

4th INNINGS.
Grand Falls—And then like a bolt from the blue it all happened, and it makes very painful writing! Canning's first and only error in all the series started the fireworks when he let Fortier's smash get through his legs. Clouston found Hall, but not so Braine. Clouston had fielder's choice on Braine's gentle tap and threw home to chokes off Fortier but Clouston failed to bring on him in time. Searle puffed, scoring Quick. Brett's error gave Crawley safety. Searles scoring on the play. Sebat Foran hit one a sweet crack, good for two bases, and brought in Crawley. Hall was replaced by Canning in the box, who fooled Lockyer. A wild pitch left in Foran.

McHenry got a walk and by dint of clever stealing beat the throws to second and third. Canning's low ones fooled Fortier. Quick brought in McHenry. A hot liner from Braine's bat brought in Quick and the innings might have gone on for ever if Cohen hadn't popped. 9 runs.
St. John's—The previous innings had put the game on ice for Grand Falls, and the old silverware now looked pretty good to them. The rolling from the pavillion and side lines was terrific, and it was impossible to hear Umpire Duff calling balls and strikes. The St. John's inning was short and quick—Munn struck out; Murphy fled to Cohen, and Brett duplicated the performance to Quick. Foran putting over only 5 hurts. 0 runs.

5th INNINGS.
Grand Falls—'Twas too much for Claudie's gallant little heart, and he went back on the mound. Searle and Crawley soaked him sincerely; Foran sacrificed scoring Searles, but Hall fooled Lockyer and McHenry. 1 run.

Umpire Shapleigh, whose vision was blocked, called him safe, but was over ruled by Umpire-in-Chief Duff who had a clear view of the play. This caused quite a furore, and it took some time to straighten matters out as Grand Falls claimed that the Chief had no jurisdiction except between third and home. After a very heated discussion Umpire Duff's ruling was sustained and play was resumed. Braine was thrown out at first. 0 runs.

Thus, after seven years' plucky fighting, the 1919 Inter Town Baseball championship was won by Grand Falls and the H. D. Reid Cup is entrusted to them until next season.

GARDEN PARTY. After doing such magnificent work during the War period, the Women's Patriotic Association of Grand Falls was converted into a Mutual Aid Society—having for its object the betterment of social conditions and the upkeep of a community nurse. In order to augment their funds, an informal Garden Party was held on the ball grounds where teas were served with the festive side-shows very much in evidence. Owing to the possibility of the inter-town series being prolonged, it was thought better by the Grand Falls' Athletic Committee to cancel their regular Sports' Day programme. So that, when the papermen won the fifth game (thus winning the championship) in the morning, there were no sporting events to entertain those who attended the Garden Party. Both teams jumped into the breach and gave an exhibition game which St. John's were fortunate in winning by 16 runs to 11. If any player thought he could pitch, or had any aspirations whatever to slab artistry, he was welcome to go in the "box" owing to the fact that the regular pitchers of both teams were quite worn out after their arduous week's work. The opportunity was availed of by nearly every than overcome by the fact that the Grand Falls team had won manfully and well and had proved their superiority in every department of the game as was evidenced by their winning four of the five games played. In extending his congratulations to the winners he took the opportunity of expressing his regret that the fans at Grand Falls had not seen the St. John's team play the same brand of baseball that they did in the series in their home town, but the unfamiliar and peculiar conditions at the ball field were somewhat trying to his team. Nevertheless, he could not detract one iota from his opponents' win as his team was hopelessly outpointed, and he further congratulated Grand Falls on their morals, discipline and businesslike management, and the fair and sportsmanlike manner in which the series were conducted.

When the Cup was handed over, the St. John's boys made the rafters ring with cheers sincere and true for the winners. The flowing bowl was then passed around and the new owners' health enthusiastically drunk.

Manager Jimmy Judge, in receiving the silverware on behalf of his team, thanked Mr. Duff for all the nice things he had said about his boys, and wished to congratulate St. John's in proving themselves as good losers as they had been winners. Their winning the cup had been the result of long and systematic studied effort, and he felt sure in saying that their success would tend to give an added stimulus to baseball in Newfoundland. He expressed the wish that next year they hoped to have Bell Island, Hear's Content, and Bay Roberts visit Grand Falls in an endeavour to wrest it from them. He availed of the occasion to thank the citizens of St. John's for their reception of the Grand Falls' team during their visit here and for the many kindnesses shown them.

Mr. A. E. Suresham, secretary and director of the A.N.D. Co. who is visiting here in his official capacity, was present with Manager Scott, Sup. Thos. F. Judge, and Mr. Hansen, and after being introduced to the gathering, made a brief speech in which he congratulated the "home team" on their success after their seven years of effort, and how pleased Lord Northcliffe and the directors of the Company would be at their attainment. He admired the way in which St. John's had played the game, and the sportsmanlike manner in which they took their defeat. It had made him all the more proud to have the honour of being vice-president of the Athletic Association, and sincerely hoped that the same feelings which characterised the games in the past would continue.

Cheers were then given for Mr. H. D. Reid (the donor of the Cup), Mr. Suresham, and the St. John's team, after which a short musical program was rendered by Messrs. Hy. Baird, E. Clouston, J. Seale's, S. Faour, and Professor Fulton's orchestra, with an exhibition of nigger back-and-wing dancing by Messrs. Shapleigh and Hiltz.

A most enjoyable and highly successful dance was then held at which the visitors met the "youth beauty and wit" of Grand Falls and enjoyed the art Terpsichorean until midnight.

SPENDING SUNDAY. Sunday afternoon was devoted to touring by motor the upper parts of the beautiful Exploits River, and in social visits and address. At 10 o'clock the No. 8 eastbound express thundered along, and the return journey was made in record time.

VALE! The good folk of Grand Falls famed for their hospitality—outdid themselves this year if such were possible, and most unremittently were they in the care and attentions which they lavished on the visitors. Living as they do under such ideal conditions, they comprise a happy contented and most progressive little township, and from them cannot but radiate that warmth of heart and kindness so potent in making the pleasure of a visit there linger in our memories for all time to come.

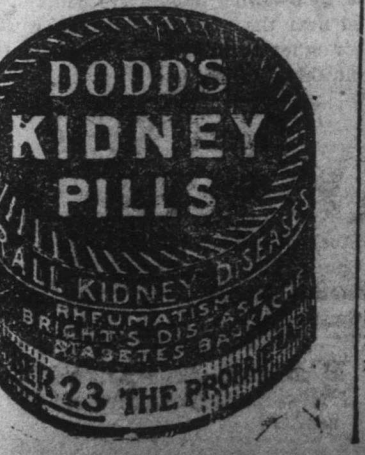

Manager Duff and the St. John's players were most grateful to Mr. H. D. Reid and the genial passenger agent of the company—Mr. Frank Pittman, for the facilities afforded them; to Conductors Hutchings and Pishie for their many courtesies; and to the Inter Town Trustees—Hon. W. J. Higgins, Messrs. Hawvermale and Chaplin—for their arrangements.

Congratulations, then, to the winners, and vale to the 1919 series!—G. sep. 61

He Needed a Wash. The tramp, unshaven and unkempt, lurched up to the door of a public-house, and, wishing for an excuse to speak to the girl who was cleaning the glass of the door, asked: "Where's the bar, miss?" "What kind of bar?" queried the girl, as icily as she could. "Why, the public bar, of course!" he drawled. "What sort of a bar do you suppose I meant?" "Well," she said, and her brows arched slightly, "I ought to have known better, but I thought perhaps you might mean a bar of soap."

Memorial and Flower Service

AT TRINITY. Sunday, Sept. 7th, was set apart by St. Paul's congregation at Trinity, as the day for the annual Flower Service, and the commemoration of the faithful in Paradise.

The day began with a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, in the Mortuary Chapel. It was a delightful morning, and the Service which was well attended, was as beautiful as the Lord's own and only Service must be at any time; whilst the special thread of thought and prayer for the souls in Paradise, which ran through the Service, brought Paradise and the souls therein so near to us all, that it was impossible not to realize to the full, the Communion of Saints.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock a large number of men, women and children assembled in the cemetery for a special outdoor service of prayer, praise, and teaching. The graves had been decorated with flowers. The weather was ideal. The responses in prayer, and psalm were hearty and devotional, and the sermon on the undying life and development of the soul in Paradise, and our duties towards it in thought and prayer, was "a sermon for the times" and must be productive of good.

Newfoundlanders Wedded at N. Sydney.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. Charles Spencer, Clifford Street, on Wednesday last, when Jennie, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hillier of Fortune, Nfld., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Geo. Batista, of Port aux Basques, Nfld., Rev. Mr. Appleby, of the Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. Collin Taver, purser of the steamer "Glencoe," acted as best man, and Miss Pearl Spencer, cousin of the bride, performed the duties of bridesmaid. The bride was tastefully attired in a dress of Georgette crepe over cream satin. The marriage luncheon was partaken of at the home of Mrs. Spencer, aunt of the bride, at 7 p.m. The happy couple left by the Glencoe at 9 p.m. for Port aux Basques, their future home. The presents sent to the bride were many and costly, and included a cabinet of silverware from the officers and crew of the Glencoe, on which steamer the bride acted as stewardess for the past three years.—North Sydney Herald.

The World War for Democracy.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir:—In reference to your correspondent's letter about a proper title for the recent war—I would suggest this title—viz—"The World War for Democracy, (or the "Working-man's War," or the "World War for Human Liberty." I would suggest the title of "The World War for Democracy" for these reasons:—(1) It was really a conflict between Democracy and Autocracy. (2) The most democratic nations have borne the brunt of it. (3) The Allied soldiers were a citizen army—and not militarists—like those of Europe. (4) The professed purpose of the Allied nations was the well being of Democracy. (5) The overthrown military power of the Central nations—was Autocracy in its aggressive sense. The soldiers used to kick citizens off the sidewalks. (6) The European nations, Germany and Austria always professed despite Democracy. As did also Turkey, and Roumania, and Japan. (7) The theory of Democracy, even without its practice, is much better than the condition of European and Asiatic nations, which have not even the theory. (8) Under Democracy the people's rights have some chance of being championed. (9) Newfoundland has always favored Democratic government. (10) For all these reasons—I commend to your readers—at least for Newfoundland scholars—this title of "The World War for Democracy." At least the words—"World War" and Democracy should be used in some such combination as that which I here urge "The World War for Democracy."

Yours truly, HISTORIAN.

The Witless Bay Garden Party will take place next Sunday. Everything possible is being done to make a pleasant time for all. A variety of games in preparation, but better still, there will be provided lots of moonshine, and no constellations needed. Don't miss this the event of the season.—sept.12

Catch Cries.

(Twillingate Sun.)

It is amusing to see the cries which the different political parties are trying to get the electorate to take hold of. The Herald puts in overtime boosting the cry "Squires 'Can't be trusted.'" The Daily Star on its part carries stuck all over the paper the legend "Support Squires against graft." It must be remembered that P. T. is a master at devising catch cries, and it remains to be seen whether he can produce one that will do effective work as the "Bond's day is done" did. Coaker is also a master mind at the same game, only his "Can't lose" became capable of use by either side, though his "Morris must go, for Coaker says so" was very much more effective. We can't help wondering if the electorate can still be fooled with such childish stuff as these catch cries are, or whether it is getting sense. Anyhow a couple of months more will tell.

Ethie From Straits.

(Western Star.)

The S. S. Ethie, Capt. E. English, returned from the Straits of Belle Isle Thursday night. She reports cod scarce in the vicinity of Belle Hr. But along the southern part of the Straits there continues a very good sign. Grant hauls for 12,000 quintals and is still getting some. Whiteley has finished the voyage. Along Newfoundland side of the Straits the codfishery is over. At Bell Burns the fishery was not a very good one for the season, due partly because of the caplin not coming to land. At Daniel's Hr. fishermen did well, and also at Flower's Cove, though at the latter place there was a scarcity of salt at one time, which tended to hamper operations. A large number of passengers came by the ship and many of them were unable to obtain sleeping accommodations.

The Englishman Won.

A good story concerning a conversation between an American and an Englishman, in which the latter scored, was told by General Pershing while he was in London recently. My countryman (said Pershing) was telling one of yours a tall story about a wonderful sausage-making machine they had in Chicago.

"It's a big affair," he explained, but quite simple. All you have to do is to drive a pig up a plank, through a hole in a machine, and five minutes later out come thousands of sausages. "What becomes of the hide?" queried the Englishman.

"The hide, sir?" retorted the American. "Oh, that falls out of another slot in the machine, and out come portmanteaux, purses, or, if you like, shoes or saddles—merely a matter of turning a screw."

"Oh is that all?" said the Englishman. "We've used that machine in England for the last thirty-five years. What's more we've improved on it. Sometimes we found the sausages not up to the standard. Well, what happened? All we had to do was to put them back in the machine, reverse the engine."

"Go on!" cried the American. What happens?"

"Out walks the pig as fit as a fiddle!"

Stops Building Warships.

Great Britain has ordered work stopped on all new warships except those practically ready to be launched.

This order does not come too soon. If there is to be good faith among the nations, if they really mean to make an honest attempt to settle future differences by agreement instead of by war, there can be no excuse for Britain to keep on expanding her navy.

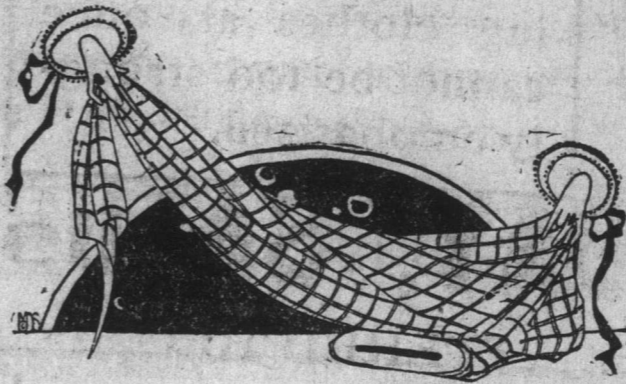

In any event what does Britain want with more warships just now? She has more than enough for present purposes. Much better to spend the money rebuilding her merchant fleet, or replanting her forests, or repairing some other of the ravages of the recent years.

Of course there exists, in Britain as elsewhere, the type of mind that thinks that the lesson of the past is to begin preparations right away so as not to be caught unready the next time. These fellows should read the fable about the jumper who, in order to regain impetus, started running when he was half a mile, or perhaps it was a mile and a half, behind the taking-off mark.—Vancouver Sun.

Temporary Closure.

(Western Star.)

The big saw mill at Lomond has closed down sawing operations for a while, as all last season's cut of logs has been disposed of. A great deal of the lumber sawn here has been disposed of locally, while one cargo of 215,000 ft. of deal was shipped to Liverpool. Another cargo will be sent to the Old Country as soon as the vessel Arrish is ready to load. The company has under construction a large scow of about 48 ft. in length, which will be used for conveying supplies to the various camps up river. Preparations are being made for the fall logging operations, and it is expected to have nine different camps working the coming fall. In addition to the buildings already at Lomond, three large dwelling houses are being erected near the mill, and excavation work for other buildings is progressing favorably.

Major LeMoine Resigns
St. Mark's, Halifax.

The news that Major the Reverend N. LeMoine has resigned the rectorship of St. Mark's Church, Halifax, will be received with genuine regret by all familiar with the work which he has done as its rector for a period of thirty-two years, during which he brought it to be one of the most flourishing of all the Anglican Churches in the city. Major LeMoine, who received his education at St. Augustine's, Canterbury, came to Halifax from Fr. Grace, Newfoundland, in 1887, to take the post of curate at St. Paul's under the late Dr. Hole. In September of the same year he was appointed rector of St. Mark's, succeeding Rev. Mr. Winterbourne, and at St. Mark's he has spent all the years since then. St. Mark's was the "Church of the Navy," under the old regime when Halifax was a naval station, with the ships of the North Atlantic squadron here for six months of every year, so he has officiated at many noteworthy services. The work of the church and congregation summed up more soberly. When, through the kindness of Thomas Robinson, the remnant of the congregation were provided with a hall for worship, Rev. Mr. McAliden was appointed to take charge, Major LeMoine having meantime been appointed to a chaplaincy. Mr. McAliden also has resigned to go to the parish of Greenwich, New Brunswick—Canadian Churchman.

[The Rev. Major LeMoine referred to is a native of Channel, and a son of the late John and Anne LeMoine of that town. Many friends on the Avalonian Peninsula will remember the Reverend gentleman, who won much esteem during his incumbency of Christ Church, Hr. Grace.—E.T.]

Died at Salmonier.

Death has again visited the home of Phillip and Minnie Ryan of Salmonier and this last time claimed for its victim, Michael, their darling son. The deceased was only in his 18th year, but had been in delicate health from his early boyhood, having then received a severe chill which left him a cripple for life. He was of a quiet, gentle disposition, was remarkable for his patience and cheerfulness, and during his life he was ever ready to give assistance to others in various little ways. Five months previous to his death, on August 12th, he was stricken with a very severe illness, and during that time his sufferings were intense. He had all the care and attention that his loving parents could give, and all the consolation of his holy religion. He was predeceased but one year ago by his sister Lizzy. To the grief stricken parents we offer our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sorrow. R. I. P.—Com.
