THE Hallowe'en pranks were not of a very high order. How respectable young men can find amusement in carrying water closets from one place to another is a mystery. COUNTY constables in parts of Ontario are after a change in the schedule of fees. They are paid now for the work they do in the county, but assert that the entire system of policing the counties should be changed. The present tariff of fees was formulated 40 years ago, and few changes have since been made. If the county council should sanction a change, the decision would rest with the Provincial Government. Farmers, merchants and others can be county constables, and while under the jurisdiction of the county, can exercise duties in other circles. The county constables assert that they are at the beck and call of everyone, and should be paid higher fees to accord with the higher cost of living.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

At the next session of the Legislature Hon. Dr. Beames, Minister of Public Works will introduce legislation to change the legal width of roads from 66 feet to 60 feet. Narrower thoroughfares and wider tires are in harmony with the good roads throughout Ontario.

Have the courage to out the most agreeable acquaintance you have when you are convinced that he lacks principle; pass a friend's infirmities but not his vice. He that does a base thing in zeal for his friends, burns the golden thread that binds their hearts together.

According to an article in the Financial Post, the number of homesteads taken up in Western Canada by Americans during the last three years is 31,957, the new settlers having come in the following numbers from the following states: North Dakota, 11,428; Minnesota, 5,417;

"Be kind to the crow," is the injunction issued to city and country dwellers alike by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The crow has been found, as the result of first-hand study by experts of the biological survey, to be a friend of the farmer and a champion of the corn crop. Therefore, though black by birth, the crow has been given a lily white certificate of character by the government scientists. The department experts have reached the conclusion that the crow consumed enough grasshoppers, cutworms, white grubs and other injurious insects to make him highly valuable to farmers. There is, however, one bad habit which the crow has and that is the destruction of young birds and bird's eggs.

Street Accidents in London, England, have increased at an alarming rate with the increasing use of automobiles. Giving evidence before a parliamentary committee on motor traffic in London, Colonel Hellard, chief of the London traffic branch of the Board of Trade, recently stated that in the metropolitan area last year there were 537 deaths from street accidents, as compared with 155 in 1904, while over 20,000 persons were injured, as compared with about half that number in 1904. London's experience is that the motor bus as a man-killer has Juggernaut looking like a baby's go-cart.

Backward, turn backward, Oh Time in your flight, give us a girl with skirts not so tight; give us a girl whose charms, many or few, are not exposed by too much peek-a-boo; give us a girl, no matter what age, who won't use the street for a vaudeville stage; give us a girl not too sharply in view; dress her in skirts the sun cannot shine thru. And give us the dances of days gone by, with plenty of clothes and steps not so high; put turkey-trot capers and buttermilk glides, hurdy-gurdy twists and wiggle-tail glides, and other such bunny hugs all on a level as products of hell inspired by the devil; and let us feast our optics once more on the pure, sweet woman of the days of yore. Yes, Time, turn backward and grant our request for God's richest blessing, but not undressed.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Circus Advertising

With the circus man advertising is an exact science. The medium that he patronizes must deliver the goods or said medium proves that it is not a real medium and thus loses the patronage. The circus man is neither narrow nor a novice. There is no caste or prejudice about him. Results are all that count. It is significant, therefore, that Barnum and Bailey have this season, during their tour of Canada, confined their advertising almost exclusively to the newspapers. Their experience has demonstrated that they get more for their money from the newspapers than from any other agency. And they are following the guide posts of experience. Thus, incidentally, is the trend of the times shown. The general public has formed the habit of looking to the newspapers for advertising information as well as news information. The business man who uses the newspaper is the man who gets results. This has developed into a business receipt and principle.

SUMMER BRASSIERES.

Expensive to Buy, They Are Exceedingly Easy and Cheap to Make. Now that the corsetless figure is in style and corsets are made so low in the bust, the average woman is obliged to wear a brassiere, or in other words, a sort of corset cover that is corded or boned to fit the form. These brassieres are quite expensive when purchased in the shops, but they are exceedingly easy to fashion at home. Pictured are three of the very latest effects in these waists. One of them is made from allover strong eyelet embroidery. It consists of nothing more than two front pieces with boned darts and a back portion. To conceal the front closing wide embroidery heading is used down the center through which ribbon is run. A loop is left at the end for securing to the corset. Ribbon is run at the top of the brassier and forms straps over the shoulders. Another one of the brassieres illustrated is more elaborate, being of net with pretty ribbon ornamentations and floral garnitures. The third is of embroidery allover with insertion and lace trimmings.

For Fancy Work.

A new notion in painting or in fancy work, as you will be coming from England. It is called "pen painting" because of the process involved. By this process a special kind of oil paint is applied to fabrics, and on gowns produces an entirely different effect from the hitherto seen stencil work. On fans, particularly of gauze, the result is very pretty. This seems the best of the suggestions given for it, though picture frames and book covers are done by the same method. Book covers of satin might be successfully decorated in this way for special occasions; that is, presentation books, books for the bride, etc.

Worth Knowing.

A few minced dates added to fudge as it comes from the stove will make a novel and dainty confection. In cooking peas and beans the water should be allowed to boil away to almost nothing. When the seasoning is put in this makes a delicious juice. If the clothes boiler leaks while in use the hole may be temporarily stopped up by putting a handful of corn meal into the water. It will fill the hole. Stale macaroons, which can be bought cheap at the baker's, make the most delicious addition to pudding and custards if pulverized and sprinkled over the top.

The Provincial Highways Commission is about to embark upon a series of meetings throughout Ontario in an effort to gain the pulse of the good roads movement and to learn the individual demands of different localities. Six cities have been settled upon as the convenient centers of Old Ontario. At London on December 16th, representatives will be called from a portion of Western Ontario, including the counties of Essex, Kent, Lambton, Huron, Elgin, Middlesex and Oxford. There are seven matters on which information will be sought in particular. These include: (1) The benefit to be derived from road improvement. (2) The kind of roads considered desirable for the locality represented. (3) The sources from which revenue for roads should be derived. (4) The value of statute labor. (5) The classification of roads and the governing body in which control of each should be placed. (6) The roads of the locality, which are or which should be constructed as main roads for local market or other accumulated and important traffic. (7) The width of tires and the control of automobile, traction engine, motor truck or other traffic.

THEY SOOTHE EXCITED NERVES—Nervous affections are usually attributable to defective digestion, as the stomach dominates the nerve centres. A course of Farnlee's Vegetable Pills will still all disturbances of this character, and by restoring the stomach to normal action relieve the nerves from irritation. There is no sedative like them and in the correction of irregularities of the digestive process, no preparation has done so effectively work, as can be testified to by thousands.

NEW FRIENDSHIPS.
 The "Open Sesame" of Good Fellowship is Kindness and Sympathy.
 A young married woman with her husband was about to leave the town in which she had been born, raised and married, to make her home in another state where an excellent business opportunity had been offered to her husband. On the eve of departure she was expressing to some of her friends her regret as leaving, and assuring them that never would she find in her new home the valued and loving friends from whom she was going away. Her old grandfather heard her, and putting a hand on her shoulder, he said:
 "My dear, when you go to your new home take with you one thing. Show to every one with whom you come in contact that kindness and sympathy which is their due, and most important of all, respect the rights of others, and you will find no lack of friends and neighbors in your new home town."
 The young bride took his advice, and in the new town where she and her husband make their home they find that this policy has made them friends by the score. In these words of wisdom of the old grandfather lay the key to their happiness in their new home.

The Madonna Fichu.
 Why the madonna fichu is so called nobody seems to know, but at any rate it makes a satisfactory covering for the blouse of ugly cut or evil fit, since it conceals most of the back and front and a goodly portion of the sleeve tops.
 The madonna fichu actually is a shoulder cape, with a deeply rounded back reaching to the belt, and so broad is it at the shoulders that its lower edge terminates halfway between the top and the elbow of the sleeves.
 The front bands, instead of tapering, continue broad for their entire length and have square ends which come flatly against the figure and are fastened to some part of the frock by invisible hooks and eyes.

An Easy Egg Dish.
 Mix equal quantities of water and good real gravy, two tablespoonfuls of each, with a teaspoonful of vinegar and a seasoning of pepper and salt. Put the whole in a stewpan, and stir in gradually the yolks of two well-beaten eggs. When it thickens, and before it boils, have ready half a dozen nicely poached eggs. Pour the sauce over them, garnish with parsley and serve promptly. This is an excellent emergency dish, and only takes about ten minutes to prepare.

A Girl's Bedroom.

Shiloh
 The family remedy for Coughs and Colds. Small dose. Small bottle. Best since 1870.

A Powder Box Bag.
 A pretty and useful gift which may be made at the last minute as a bag for the powder box: Use a yard of four inch ribbon in a pretty flowered design, cut in thirds, lay one piece over the other and fasten together by briar stitching. Double when all seams are joined, and gather the ends enough to be sewn to a circular piece of cardboard two and a quarter inches in diameter. Cut two of these and cover with the ribbon. Having attached one side, which will be the right side as the seam will not show, cover with the other circular bit. An inch from the top set on a lace banding just wide enough to hold the draw strings and feather or briar stitch it on. Put into it a box of powder, and the whole makes a very acceptable present.

LUNCHEON SETS.
 Novelties in Summer Linens For the Bungalow.
 Several attractive novelties in summer linens for the country house are being shown now. Our old friend, the willow pattern, which has become as standard a thing in china as bread and butter are in food, has been adopted as an embroidery design for linen.
 Bungalow willow sets, as these luncheon outfits are called, are in white linen with the traditional Chinese design embroidered in two shades of blue. The price is $14.50 for a set consisting of a twenty-seven inch centerpiece and three dozen doilies—one dozen in each of the three customary sizes. Small napkins to match at $5 a dozen.
 Willow china can be used with this corresponding linen with striking effect. Too striking, in fact, for anything except country house entertaining. Even there it will seem to many women to be "too much of a richness" and they will prefer to use a plainer china with the willow linen.
 Austrian linens are another novelty. They come in white, a pale grayish blue and a dull creamy yellow. The color is not solid, however, as many white threads are woven in with the dyed ones. The allover designs are very simple geometrical ones, scarcely perceptible at a distance. The fabric itself is rather heavy but much closer and firmer than some of the German linens used for summer luncheons and teas. The Austrian sets are a little more expensive than those in the willow pattern.

White Irish linen, embroidered in Japan in a deep border of small white knots with an occasional small floral spray in shaded blue silk, is the material for other sets, which cost $25 apiece.

Very inexpensive sets, but at the same time very attractive ones, are in heavy natural color grass linen with scalloped edges embroidered in blue. These will be extremely serviceable and will make a novel and picturesque effect. And their price, $4.50 a set (including centerpiece and three sets of doilies), will appeal to the woman who cannot afford to buy expensive table linens for her simple country house. For the summer home nothing is more convenient for informal entertaining than the cozy little tea wagon seen in the illustration. It may be wheeled out on the lawn, and as it is made from wicker the transit is a comparatively easy one for the person who pushes the cart.

Placing the House.
 Don't put the house too close to the main road. Have it at least 100 feet away. When you get it too close dust comes into the house, and you sacrifice the privacy of the home to a certain extent. Houses too close to the road do not look well and are not as valuable. Notice this next time you drive to town. Provide a windbreak and trees for shade. Have the main highway in view from certain windows in the house.

Power of Suggestion.
 The man was hale and hearty at 10 a.m.
 At 10.05 some one handed him a medical almanac.
 The man glanced at it and became interested. He read it through from cover to cover.
 At 10.25 he was suffering from diabetes, Bright's disease, malaria, dyspepsia, insomnia, lumbago, blood poison, cancer of the stomach, sciatica, scrofula and rheumatism.

Baby Footwear

The babies, bless them! should be as much attended to as the "grown-ups" so far as footwear is concerned. Too many shcemen make more of an effort to please the mothers than the babies when fitting the tots with footwear. And yet the babies have their rights. Many a child's feet is spoiled in its early infancy through improper fitting.

We have studied this matter closely and we respectfully ask you to call in and discuss the question with us before you buy that next pair. Here are some little novelties we have for the babies: High Cinchillo Button Boots... 50c. All sizes in Rubbers at old prices.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, October 29th, 1913, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Smith, of the townline, Enniskillen, when their daughter, Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Thomas Clement Smith, of Plympton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. M. Mead, of Baptist church. The bride, who was tastefully dressed in messaline silk with lace and pearl trimmings, entered the parlor to strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss B. McLeod, cousin of the bride. Little Vera Smith, cousin of the bride, prettily dressed in blue taffeta, veiled in blue chiffon, acted as flower girl. After the ceremony the many guests sat down to a dainty wedding dinner. The young couple received many useful and valuable presents. They left during the afternoon by the 2.20 train from Wanstead for Detroit, with the best wishes of a host of friends.

A Night Long and Happily Remembered

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Molly Dearborn's father signalled the trolley car at the corner of the village street and helped Kitty Baker on the high step to one of the front seats.

"Thank you, Mr. Dearborn; good night," cried Kitty, waving her hand as he swung off the morning car.

"Good night," he called back, adding to the conductor as the rear of the car passed him, "Please let that young lady off at Belmont street."

The conductor shouted back some answer, and the almost empty car whizzed away into the darkness of the surrounding country.

"Grandmother will scold," she thought, turning up the collar of her coat and lifting her face to the strong breeze that swept through the open car. "She will tell me that Bakers and Withersams always rode in their own carriages and that no lady returned home unescorted from any merry-making. But we are quite poor now, and our days of splendor are past. As long as I work side by side in the same office as Molly I must use the same vehicle that she does."

Kitty smiled a little as she thought of the errand that had taken her to Molly's that evening. Molly was to be married, and Kitty had gone out to Homedale to see all the dainty details of the trousseau and to discuss the simple plans. She was to be bridesmaid when Molly was married in the village church.

The conductor thrust a calloused, blackened palm under her pretty nose, and Kitty fumbled for a nickel and paid it. The bell jangled several times; then there was nothing save the flash of the car toward the city between walls of green trees on either side of the track.

Thinking of weddings reminded Kitty of one that might have been hers if her pride had not caused her to break through with Len Thornleigh when the Baked fortune went to smash at her father's death. It had been Len's first year at college, and he had chafed bitterly because he must wait three years before he could leave and support her. He wanted to break off and go into his father's business without completing his college career, but the great magnate had demurred and held Len to a promise made years before.

Kitty had not seen Len since she had sent him that cruel letter that made him see light at last. Nothing but cruelty would have opened his eyes. She closed her eyes now, and a strange sob rose to her lips as she thought of the last three years of waiting.

They stopped at a little hooded station and changed conductors. Kitty Baker never knew it. She sat there drowsily, her face very tender, thinking of Len Thornleigh.

The bell ringing up fares roused her a little, and she groped for another five cent piece. There was nothing left in her purse save a silver quarter. She held it in her gloved fingers, waiting for the conductor.

When he came she did not look up. He leaned across the intervening space and held out his hand.

Kitty stared down at the hand. It was very different from the hand of the other conductor. This was a clean, brown, muscular looking hand, with well kept nails and a plain gold ring on the little finger.

It was a familiar hand. A sudden horror smote Kitty Baker, and she thrust forward the silver quarter. Somehow it spun away out of her fingers and went into the darkness.

"Oh!" she cried sharply. "I haven't another penny with me!" Then she looked into his face and saw that if the hand was the hand of Len Thornleigh the face certainly belonged to the son of the great financier. His eyes met hers uncertainly, steadily and became bits of gray agate.

It could not be Len, for he did not recognize her. It was a wonderful resemblance.

"That was all the money I had," apologized Kitty. "What shall I do?"

"You can pay me another time," he said gravely and touched his hat. He rang up her fare and went away to the back of the car.

Kitty sat paralyzed with surprise. It was Len Thornleigh's voice she had heard too.

Her good sense told her that this was absurd—to imagine that this trolley conductor could be Len Thornleigh! Why, Len drove around in his own high power motorcars, and she had read only the day before that his father was building a great country house at Marblehead.

The car whistled shrilly as it went down the steep incline that approached a narrow bridge over the little river. As they rumbled over the bridge the car slackened speed and came to a sudden standstill at the same instant that the lights went out.

The conductor went forward and sat down with the motorman. They talked together in low tones. Kitty looked back through the car and saw one man sitting alone on the rear seat. He appeared to be asleep, although he stirred as she looked at him.

It was very quiet there waiting for the power to return to the trolley car. Kitty turned steadily and wondered if grandmother would scold very much when she returned home.

She closed her eyes, and the wind blew little tendrils of her brown hair over her white forehead.

A hot breath on her neck roused her instantly.

"Might as well be sociable," said a thick voice behind her, and she turned to find that the solitary passenger had walked along the running board and taken a seat back of her. "Don't care how long we stay, do you?" He laughed recklessly, and Kitty sat there frozen with horror.

If the conductor or the motorman would only turn around:

"S'pose I might as well sit beside you," mumbled the man as he essayed to climb over the seat.

"Please don't!" cried Kitty, unaware of the sharp terror in her voice.

A dark form swung into view from the front platform, and the motorman thrust his head through the open front window.

The conductor pushed the loafer back into the seat and hustled him into the rear of the car. "Stay there," he ordered sternly, "or I'll put you off—understand?"

The loafer grumbled himself into an uneasy slumber, and the conductor came up and stood at the end of Kitty's seat. Kitty could see his form outlined against the open end.

"I am sorry he frightened you," he said courteously. "I should not have left the car only I thought he was asleep."

"It is no matter," trembled Kitty. "Must we wait long?"

"I cannot say. There is something wrong at the power house. The service has been poor all day."

He sat down on the end of her seat and removed his cap, letting the wind ruffle his hair. He did not address her again.

Kitty knew that he was sitting there to protect her, and she felt a grateful stir of warmth at his thoughtfulness. It was what one would expect from a man that looked so much like Len Thornleigh!

Suddenly he put up his hand and ruffled his hair in such a familiar manner that Kitty Baker overstepped the bounds of conventionality and exclaimed:

"Len!"

Like a flash he turned toward her and sat staring. In that instant the light flared up and revealed her face. Again they were in darkness, but he was sliding along the seat toward her.

"Kitty! Is it really you?" he asked hoarsely.

"Why, Len, Len! Is it you after all!" she half sobbed.

Somehow her hands were in his and he was holding them tightly, shaking them up and down.

"What are you doing here?" he asked brusquely, as one unaccustomed to seeing his womankind riding unprotected in public vehicles at midnight.

Kitty told him frankly, finding a delicious sense of relief in talking to him again.

"And you?" she asked at last.

"Working—earning my living," he said grimly.

"Then you are poor. Something has happened. Oh, Len, I am so glad!" Kitty's voice was betraying.

"Now that I am a wage earner you can tell me if you love me," he said gently.

"Oh, Len, of course I do!" sobbed Kitty on his shoulder, and the motorman discreetly turned his back upon them.

"And you will marry me?" he asked after an interval.

"Yes," she whispered, "if you can take grandmother too."

"Of course. I wish there were more of you to take, uncles and cousins and aunts," he chuckled gayly, then suddenly: "But how about my father's money? You hate the stuff."

"Yes, in a way, only I felt I could not hold you to your promise when I was so poor, and—and I thought you were working for your living now," Kitty drew away from his arms.

"I am. When you drew that line against my money I went to father and told him if I went through college I would earn every penny myself. I couldn't let the girl I loved go out to work every day and be such a drone myself. He let me do it, and I've done all sorts of things, Kitty. This trolley work is fine and cool and healthy in the summer time!" He laughed a big, healthy laugh.

"Your father—was disappointed?"

"Not in the least. Guess what his last words were when I took this job, Kitty?" There was laughter in his voice.

"Tell me."

"Go out and grub for your living. It won't hurt you. And if you can't find that little girl of yours—Dan Baker's daughter—just kidnap her and tell her there is a big, lonesome house waiting for her here." Len's voice was very tender when he concluded.

"And grandmother, too?" asked Kitty weakly.

"Room for a dozen like her. You know all our women folks have died," said Len in a hushed voice.

"Len, I believe you need us," whispered Kitty, and this time she did not resist when his arms went around her.

The lights flared up again as the power returned to stay now, and Len went back to his post while the car went on toward the city, leaving the bridge behind—that mystical bridge that had brought these two parted lovers so strangely together again.

The motorman glanced back into the car. He saw Kitty's happy, blushing face dreaming there on the front seat. He saw Thornleigh's beaming countenance on the back platform and sent him an understanding signal of congratulation and good fellowship.

"Thornleigh found his girl," he thought to himself, and he stared toward the approaching city, thinking of the girl waiting there for him.

It was Sunday afternoon, and Mabel's little sister, Ruth, aged four, was seated beside Mabel on the sofa. Mabel had an understanding signal of Mabel's fiancé, "Aren't I your sweetheart, Mr. Bumper?"

"Well," answered Mr. Bumper, with a fond glance at Mabel, "you're the next thing to it."

This Woman Knows How D. D. D. Cures Skin Trouble!

(This letter is just received.) Toronto. "I am the mother of twelve children. I took a bad leg at the birth of my last child. I was laid up five weeks, with a doctor attending me who does nothing but treat this kind of skin disease. Six weeks ago I heard of D. D. D. As I used to tear my leg at night until it was a bleeding mass I applied a bottle of D. D. D. and can't tell you the ease it gave me. I never used to sleep with the pain. Many a time I nearly fell with dizziness from want of sleep. Now my leg is completely healed up, thanks to the blessed D. D. D. I never expected a cure. I only got D. D. D. to take the terrible itch away. But by degrees I saw the big sore getting smaller. I have a thankful heart today. Mrs. Stitt, 202 N. Weston Rd., West Toronto." The cures of D. D. D. are past belief. All druggists have this soothing, cooling wash and also the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap. Come to us and we will sell you the first full size bottle on the guarantee, that it will stop the itch at once or your money refunded. T. B. Taylor & Son, Druggists, Watford.

Why Women Have Nerves

The "bliss"—anxiety—sleeplessness—and warnings of pain and distress are sent by the nerves like flying messengers throughout body and limbs. Such feelings may or may not be accompanied by headache or headache or bearing down. The local disorders and inflammation, if there is any, should be treated with Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets. Then the nervous system and the entire womanly make-up feels the tonic effect of

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION when taken systematically and for any period of time. It is not a "cure-all" but has given uniform satisfaction for over forty years, being designed for the single purpose of curing woman's peculiar ailments.

Why He Does It

For a fortnight he's been gazing with persistence most amazing at the hats the showing as the proper lids for fall, yet he mutters, "J. A. Caesar! Though this winter proves a freezer, I won't doff my old straw bonnet for a hat like those at all! Let the village urehins guy me as they merrily go by me when the winter winds are whistling round my trusty summer hat; when the Arctic blasts are snorting I would feel much better sporting my old straw-and-ribbon sky-piece than a lid like that—or that! All my pieces of mind it shatters when I notice what the hatters are displaying in their windows as the newest things to wear; when I see this season's cadies, if it were not for the ladies, I would vent my pent-up feelings in a long and forceful swear. Oh, my straw hat may look foolish and may prove a trifle foolish when the mercury has tumbled down to minus ten degrees—yes, it may look rather silly but you'll not catch little Willie placing on his dome of reason any funny jokes like these. So I guess that this here chicken to his straw will still be stickin' when the snow is on the hillside and the fall has fled away. When you ever see me wearing hats like these at which I'm staring you can bet your bottom dollar it will be a frosty day!"

The Sunday School is old

The Ontario Sunday School convention at Ottawa reminds us that the first "Sunday school exhibition" was recently opened at Sittingbourne in England. In connection with this function The London Chronicle gives some interesting dates. As long ago as 1580 an eminent cardinal began the Sunday instruction of children at Milan. In England the idea did not appear until the next century, when Joseph Alleine, the Puritan, adopted it. John Wesley, too, held Sunday classes at Savannah, and then came Robert Raikes, who founded his first school in 1782, and the Sunday School Union 20 years later.

This Little Bird Has A Great Capacity

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—Results of a scientific investigation of the capacity of birds to destroy insects were announced today at the University of Wisconsin by A. R. Cahn, assistant in the zoological laboratory.

A Virginia wren, a marsh bird of half a pound weight, showed the remarkable ability of devouring pests. In one day the bird ate 144 amphipods, 12 grasshoppers, 12 meal worms, three water bugs, one water scorpion three inches long, two small sunfish, one stickleback, a sort of fish 2 1/2 inches long, one caterpillar and 15 flies.

The second day, in addition to the menu of the day before, it ate five live hornets, one crawfish two inches long, one frog 1 1/2 inches long, and one grass snake eight inches long.

The snake caused the bird some worry but after the bird tried eight times to swallow the snake alive it finally killed the reptile and gulped it down.

In the two days the bird ate more than its own weight.

IT HAS MANY QUALITIES.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is armed against many ills. It will cure a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, cure the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself, and can be got for a quarter of a dollar.

Just Suppose

The merchants waited until the last minute before ordering their Christmas stock, or suppose that the manufacturers waited until the last week before beginning the manufacture of Christmas goods. Merchant and manufacturer begin months ahead in order to have things ready for you. You should begin weeks ahead in order to have things ready for Santa Claus.

Months and months ago the presents were made that you will give to your loved ones this year. There is no reason for delaying the purchase, and by buying early you avoid trouble and bother.

Buy something to-day and a part of the load will be off your mind.

A Prediction as to Winged Ocean Liners

The waterplane, I believe, is the forerunner of an entirely new kind of ocean-going ship. At present a ship's speed is checked by the reason of the tremendous resistance offered to her passage by the water.

Now if we could produce a vessel that travelled on top of the water she would only have to overcome the resistance of the air, which is not nearly so powerful as water resistance.

This is the kind of vessel which, I fancy, the waterplane foreshadows—the ocean-going liner of the future.

The ship of the future will probably be flat-bottomed, winged and with a rudder-tail. She will sometimes rise above the waves, and at other times travel along the top of the waters, but only touch them with her flat bottom.

When a ship now travels at 23 knots she will in the days to come make 60 or perhaps even 70 knots, because she will skim, instead of being sunk in, the water. I expect to see this type of vessel make her appearance during the next twenty years. And when she has actually come into being a revolution will have been effected in transit and travelling facilities in comparison to which the introduction of steamship, railways and motor cars will seem insignificant.

There is no success in an evil business. You may get the money but you lose just the same.

If devoid of the spark of inspiration get close to the chap who has it. A spark may fall on you and light up your entire mentality.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves.

One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach clean and untenable to the parasites.

And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Port Arthur, Ont., Oct. 30.—Grave fears are entertained for a party of hunters, W. Gray, Collingwood; Chas. Woodward, of Molson's Bank, and W. Taylor, who left a week ago last Saturday and were due to arrive back last Friday. No explanation can be given for their extra long stay near Black Bay. A tug will be sent to look for them.

Kneeling by the side of his bed with the gas turned full on, Mykta Matyck, an Italian about 40 years of age, was found dead in an upper room at 209 York street, Toronto, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the proprietor of the house, a Chinaman named Ing Sing.

Matyck had locked the door and the police theory is that he committed suicide. The body was taken to the morgue and no inquest will be held.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Railroad blasting operations on a tributary of the Fraser River, in Washington, having killed more than one million salmon and prevented the spawning of between two and three billion sockeye salmon eggs, the department of commerce announced today that the fish-loving American public might expect a decided shortage in its favorite article of food three to five years hence. The department pronounced the slaughter of the fish to be a "catastrophe."

A REAL ASTHMA RELIEF.—Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has never been advertised by extravagant statements. Its claims are conservative in nature, when judged by the cures which it performs. Expect real relief and permanent benefit when you buy this remedy and you will not have cause for disappointment. It gives permanent relief in many cases where other so-called remedies have utterly failed.

Boston, Oct. 30.—Upon her confession that she arranged marriages between white girls and Chinese men, Maud Young Dan, the white wife of a Boston Chinaman, was given an indeterminate term in the women's prison at Sherburne today. The evidence showed that the defendant took five young girls from one New England city to another and had them married to Chinese by mock ceremonies.

Munich, Bavaria, Oct. 30.—A bill authorizing Prince Regent Ludvig of Bavaria to bring his regency to an end and proclaim himself King of Bavaria in place of the insane King Otto was passed today by the Lower House of the Bavarian Diet. Only the Socialist deputies and two Democrats voted against the measure, which had been already approved by the Upper House.

Leamington, Oct. 30.—A Syrian employed at the Heinz pickle factory had a narrow escape from being electrocuted on Wednesday. While loading a refrigerator car on a siding at the factory he had occasion to go on top of the car and bumped into the live wire overhead. The shock threw him to the ground and he was picked up for dead, but taken to the private hospital of Mrs. Tisdale near by and medical aid summoned. The doctors succeeded in bringing him around and he is now considered out of danger. The scalp was badly burned and portions of the hair clung to the trolley wire.

The Call For Beef

From a tabular statement submitted by a speaker at the Chicago Convention of American Packers it appeared that in eleven of the principal agricultural nations of the world there had been an average increase in population of 20.5 per cent and of cattle a fraction more than 8 per cent, during a period representing approximately ten years. The only country showing a larger proportionate increase in cattle was Australia, where the population increased 18 per cent, and cattle 40 per cent. Canada showed a relative increase of 35 and 20 per cent, respectively. Argentina was unchanged. The United States with an increase of 20 per cent in population had a decrease of 30 per cent in cattle, while Brazil increased 20 per cent in population and had the same percentage of decrease in cattle. These figures make it plain that relief cannot permanently come from changes in the direction of meat shipments from the countries that have a surplus to export.

Hope of lower prices can only come from a better system of stock raising. A movement in that direction has already begun in the western states of the Union and in the central and eastern states long stretches of land are equally available for pastoral purposes. The United States Department of Agriculture is bringing its attention to this side of the problem, and one of its proposals is to free the small farmer from dependence on the big packing houses by the establishment of abattoirs in centres all over the country, the encouragement of cattle raising on small holdings and co-operative live stock associations. Legislation to forward this object is expected to pass congress at its regular session. Mr. Galloway, assistant secretary to the department, has stated that in his estimation the real solution is the establishment of abattoirs in the smaller cities. They have hitherto been discouraged by the large meat-packers.

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying the best of remedies—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

THE HALF-SPEED MAN AND WOMAN

What it Means When You Feel "All Out of Sorts."

You know what it means to feel "all out of sorts." Most people have felt this way at some time. Nerves out of order, irritable, languid, depressed. An aching head, a jagged brain, appetite bad and digestion weak. With some people this condition comes and goes; with others it is chronic; they can't shake it off. It interferes with business, spoils recreation and robs life of all its joys. These men and women are only able to live and work at "half speed."

Half speed people have lost that abundant natural vitality which enables others to go "full-speed-ahead" through life. Their energy and nerve power have evaporated—they cannot work long without breaking down. The trouble is nerve weakness and is caused by poor, watery blood. You can begin to improve your condition to-day by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

They make rich, red blood once more pulsate through your veins, and your nervous thrill with fresh vigor. Here is convincing evidence that new strength and full health can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Newton Mayhew, North Tryon, P. E. I., says "I am a farmer and naturally have to work very hard. The result was that I found myself very much run down. My blood became thin and watery, and my muscles flabby. I took doctor's treatment but it did not help me and I grew so weak that I could scarcely work at all. As I found the medical treatment was not helping me I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in these I found the medicine I needed, as in a short time I was restored to my old health and vigor. I shall always recommend these Pills to all sufferers."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or will be mailed, postpaid, at 80 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
