Owing to prohibition being in force nary a drop of can devie was forthcoming to brace him up after his plunge, but he will do no more gardening in that vicinity this spring. The well was closed up some 21 years ago. The depth of it has not yet been officially certified to, so we give the story as it is currently reported.

Why Rain Follows Lightning

Why does a heavy downpour of rain often follow a clap of thunder? Not, as is popularly believed, because the thunder jostles the clouds particles together in raindrops. In the violent turmoil between the positive and negative electricity in a thundercloud there will be places where the production of drops, by condensation, and there subsequent breaking up proceeds more rapidly than elsewhere. Hence in these places there will be more drops to fall as rain, and also more electrification, the rainfall occurring about the same time as the flash.

We have then, starting towards the earth at the same time, light, sound and raindrops. The light, traveling at a speed of about 186,000 miles a second, reaching us almost instantly. The sound travels far more slowly—about 1,090 feet a second—but the rain falls much slower still. Thus we observe, first the lightning, then the thunder and then rain.—Popular Science Monthly.

Recollections of a Warwick Missionary in the Pioneer Days

The Canadian Congregationalist of March 3rd gives an interesting interview with the Rev. Daniel McCallum, of Kingston, who between the years 1850 and 1860 was a missionary in Western Ontario. Mr. McCallum came in the early fifties to Watford. Below are a few extracts from the interview. Mr. McCallum is now in his 90th year and still hale and hearty.

"When I went to Watford and Forest first there was not one wheeled vehicle in the township, so the roads were cut, but they were very rough. What did the people use? Well, they had the sleighs they used in winter, and horses and oxen.

"How did I get to Watford? Well, you know the Congregational College was in Toronto then and I was a student and sent to Watford for the summer. I had to take a boat to Hamilton for the railway had not come then. From Hamilton I took the stage to London, one time going round by Stratford where I had relatives, the first time I passed through there were only two houses. When I got to London I left my books at the station (stage station) and indeed I had trouble enough getting them afterwards. From London I took another stage for about twenty-five miles and then had to walk the rest of the way. I had my service in Watford in the morning and then went to Forest by a blazed trail through the woods for the afternoon

MRS. KERN'S ADVICE

Now I have a good appetite, sleep soundly and am well and strong. Every nervous, weak, run-down woman should try Vinol."—Mrs. D. W. KERN.

We guarantee Vinol to create a healthy appetite, aid digestion and build up weak, run-down women, delicate children and feeble old people.

Taylor & Son, druggists, Watford, Ont., are the best druggists in all Ontario towns.

service, then going on next day holding service in the evening at a couple of other points and so working back home.

"For my books I had to send a friend who was going in later on with a load of produce. The people were very kindly and I had a good summer and in the fall they wanted me to stay on but I was to go to Megantic in Quebec where they needed one who had the Gaelic too. But that did not turn out right as they got someone else so I went back to Watford.

"What salary did I get? When I was regularly settled there I got $250 a year. Oh, I got very good board with a widow who had two sons and three daughters or three sons and two daughters, I forget which. I got board for one dollar a week at first—but afterwards it was raised to a dollar and a quarter a week. But I saved money at that and had some money on hand to get married with.

"We were married at St. Andrew's in Quebec up the Ottawa, and went to Point Fortune to take the boat for Lachine, where we took the train, which was running by that time, for we were married in 1857. The train should have got us into Toronto early next morning, but something happened to the engine and it did not get us into Toronto till late the next night and we could not get anything to eat on the way. There was no provision made for getting anything. Some of the passengers had food with them but we could not get any.

"Next day we took the train to London and then the stage from there. When I got back from the trip I did not have quite a dollar left.

"The parsonage? Well, it was a little log house. There was the bedroom and the room with the hearth in it and later we had a long narrow room added on one side. Then after a while I got a chance to buy some good lumber and put it upon the beams to season. Then I got a carpenter to build an upper room.

"A stove? No, we had no stove at first; mother used a bake kettle put up in front of the hearth and then after a while we had the tin oven you put in the fireplace and raked the coals over it. It baked very good bread too. There was no flour mill near at first and the farmers had to take their grain a long way, but after that there got to be one mill near Watford and by and by another at Forest. The salary, well, when we were married the salary was raised to $400 a year.

"The people paid up very well. Most of their produce they took to London in those days. The price of eggs? Well, you could hardly say they had any price, everybody kept hens—mother always kept some—and so there was hardly a sale for them. I have bought them at six cents a dozen.

"The services we held? They were at first in the log cabins and sometimes in the schoolhouses till we got churches built, and sometimes if the weather was good and the people too many to get into the cabins we held the service outdoors."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and this is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

That Old Horse

Yes, he has pulled the heavy loads in winter and cultivated the crop in summer. The family have driven into church every Sunday morning. The children have piled on his back and ridden around the field and enjoyed it very much.

He has been faithful and true to you and your family. To the best of his ability he has made himself valuable to you. The money he has made cannot be told, for you have never kept an account of the worth of the horse; but for twenty years he has been worth from fifty cents to a dollar a day.

Well, what are you expecting to do with the old horse, now? He is stiff in the joints and blind in one eye. He cannot pull a load, and the children are grown and gone, so they cannot ride him about any more.

Did you say that you were going to trade him off or sell him to a peddler? That would mean a hard time for the faithful animal. Surely you would not part with the horse that has helped to pay for your farm, to keep the family, and to rear the children.

He has earned his right to a peaceable quiet old age, with good feed of grain and hay and the same warm stall. He has not failed you when he was strong, and you should not fail him when he is old and useless.

Let him come in and get his feed every day, and permit him to lie down to rest on the same good bed of straw, and when he comes at last to the end of the journey, bury him beneath the friendly soil he has so often tilled for you.—Farm Journal

THE IRISH CANADIAN RANGERS

Mr. Murty, a contributor to an Irish newspaper writes the following humorous letter:—

MY DEAR DENIS,—These bowld sojer boys, the Irish-Canadian Rangers that we have all been givin' a warm Irish welcome to, have set the whole of us a splendid lesson. They've shown us that in spite of inside factions and discords we're Irish over all at the heart's core, and that we shouldn't forget it. This grand company of Irish lads from the big Dominion are of all classes and all sects, but in the job in front of them they're all brothers, without a shadow of difference. And comin' to us here in Ireland in that karacter of amity they have diffused, as it were, the same fine fraternal spirit over every Irish crowd that they have touched, and that has joined in welcomin' them to the Oul' Sod. That's one thing they've done, and I call it fine. Faith, meby 'tis a sign of better days in front of us, when the squabbles of one kind and another that keeps us in boarded-off compartments, so to speak, will be peacefully arranged, and that we'll all begin to learn the truth that if we're ever to be happy in this dear little country of ours there must first be peace at home.

Well, I'm no preacher, but I stand over what I'm after puttin' down, and I further say that I regard this visit to Ireland of the Duchess of Connaught's Own Irish-Canadian Rangers as auspicious—that's the word—auspicious. Before engagin' in war, they've brought all the way across the sea to Oul' Ireland, not only the Maple Leaf of their own country, but also the Olive Branch of Peace and Goodwill. In Dublin, in Armagh, and in Belfast they have already worked wonders in unitin' both the Orange and the Green in the noble duty of salutin' them and biddin' them welcome, and from Archbishop's down to the javeys on the hazards they have got the right hand of good fellowship, and the best of good wishes and good luck.

Faith, I commingled with the hearty Canadian boys at the Lord Mayor's Smokin' Concert, in the grand big Round Room of the Mansion House, on Saturday evening, and helped them to raise a heavy cloud of tobacco smoke up to the tent-like drapery that makes a monster canopy over that splendid and historic meetin' place. Never did I see the Round Room better tenanted. There in the centre of the room was the hundreds of guests in their khaki uniforms, fillin' all that space, and ranged in a circle round them the white statues of Burke, and Goldsmith, and other Irish notabilities, standin' on their pedestals, as tho' contemplatin' with satisfaction such a warm social reunion of Dublin Irishmen and their friends from the big Dominion who had banded themselves together to help in the downfall of Prussian oppression and barbarism.

The ladies that lined the Gallery, and their civilian friends on the side seats below, took a cordial share in the enjoyment, and the Lord Mayor, as host, was every inch an Irishman and a gentleman, and did the hospitable host to the satisfaction of all. The musical fare was from the pick of the theatres, and the Manager of the Tivoli, who arranged the program, was all there and no mistake. And as for the Band of the Faugh-a-Ballaghs, it was splendid, no less.

Fine chatty, free and aisy goin' boys these Canadian Irish are, and so I tell you; and when it comes to meetin' the foe, faith, nobody who looks at them and hears them will have any doubt but that they'll do as well as the brave Canadians who've already proved themselves gallant and first rate men in the front line. In a half hour's talk with some of them I learnt more of the joggery of Canada than ever I knew before. It appears to be a big place, faith. Also, I heard that if you were to empty the Liffey (includin' the small of former times) into one of the Canadian lakes, or into the St. Lawrence River, it wouldn't add a ripple to it.

"Well," sez I, "tis glad I am to see that when the names was bein' given out in Canada that you managed to give that big river a rare Irish name—but what kind of gibberish (sez I) is Saskatchewan, or Saskatchewan, and some other of them places that you mentioned?"

One lad told me that they sometimes retained the old Indian names, and he sed I could hardly complain of such names when we had in Ireland for the names of places such jaw-breakers as Sessiaghdonaghey (a place in the north where his people came from) or Newtownmountkennedy, and some others that (to my surprise) he managed to bring to the fore. Oh, faith, the Canadian lads can hold their own in an argumint, and so I tell you; and when it comes to them facin' the enemy and axin the Huns "What for?" you may be sure that they'll make their mark without a shadow of doubt. Anyhow they'll have the best of good wishes from the four corners of Ireland. Carried Beets Through Drought

ALFRED ROSE, Belle River, Ontario, says:

"I bought several tons of Homestead Fertilizer last Spring and used it on Spring wheat. It did exceptionally well—yielded beyond everybody's expectations. I also used a ton on twelve acres of sugar beets sown with a beet drill with a fertilizer attachment. It was remarkable how it helped the growth, and during the dry spell of weather my beets remained green and thrifty while my neighbor's beets that had no fertilizer became yellow.

I find Homestead Bone Black fertilizer does even more good than claimed for it."

Good Start—Better Color

H. LOFT, Iderton, Ont., says: "I used Homestead Bone Black Fertilizer on the wheat this Fall, and from what I have seen I think it pays to sow Fertilizer. It gives the wheat a good start and keeps it a better color."

NOTE AND COMMENT

Remember this, a man can show a heap more patriotism by waving a hoe this year than he can by flipping the flag.—Guelph Mercury.

This war is not only solidifying the British Empire, but it is drawing together the United States and South and Central America. The Kaiser is a great unifier.—Hamilton Times.

Experts express the fear that the world is about to experience a famine. Self-preservation therefore demands that everyone produce foodstuff to the limit.

Officers and men of the overseas forces and nursing sisters who have served six months, a portion of such time overseas, are to be carried on the pay roll for three months after their honorable discharge. An Order-in-Council to this effect has been passed on the recommendation of the Minister of Militia.

An awkward predicament is promised for those Canadians who have gone to the United States to escape enforced military service which was never imposed by the Canadian Government. The British Government is about to make an arrangement with the United States whereby all British subjects there will be conscripted and taken to England. The names and addresses of most of these men are known and as they would come under the head of British the first to be selected would probably be those who have fled from Canada.

The Bruce County women have declared their independence of party politics. Pending a meeting of the provincial organization, the sub-executive of the W. C. T. U. of this county, at a meeting held in this town, pledged itself to support only those candidates who will support advanced legislation for the safeguarding of the home. They will demand of the candidates that they work to secure amendments that will prohibit the marriage of feeble-minded, that will provide for the appointment of women judges to deal with juvenile offenders, and for the appointment of public health nurses to the provincial board of health.

Where and How to Sleep

High-strung nerves, stomach trouble, headaches and general ill health may all result from sleeping under poor, hygienic conditions, says Dr. Julian Clarke in Farm and Home. It makes little difference upon what you sleep providing you are accustomed to that kind of bed and wake the next day refreshed and fit. But if you would rest well and get most out of your sleep, the body should have some preparation before retiring. Too many people tumble into bed with a body truly filthy and a skin very little more active than raw hide. The waxy material from the skin glands becomes mixed with sweat and dust during the day, and when this mixture becomes dry the pores are closed up and becomes diseased and inactive. Good health cannot continue indefinitely under these conditions, and if the wastes are not properly gotten rid of, the sleep will be restless and fitful. A bath of some kind will well repay the trouble not only at the time, but in helping to keep the internal organs healthy, because an active skin will do its share in clearing up the debris of the day just past.

If you must keep all the other windows closed tight, for goodness sake open the windows of the bedroom. Night air is dangerous, the way most folks shut it out of the house.

There is every reason why you should keep the bedroom windows open, and except in rare instances, there is no reason why they should be closed, even in the coldest winter. If drafts from open windows are objectionable, the location of the bed should be changed.

Unfortunately houses have not been built for comfortable living. Get your windows down from the top in the bedrooms, and nail them down so that they cannot be closed. If you cannot live in the fresh air, this world is not the place for you.

After you have learned to sleep in the pure air, you will have fewer bodily ailments. The great sacrifice of useful lives to tuberculosis would not occur if the sleeping rooms had the sash entirely removed, instead of being closed tightly.

EXTERMINATING COUCH GRASS

Experimental Farms Note
When the land for the Experimental Station now located at Mordeu, Man., was purchased in 1915, it was found to be badly infested with couch grass (also called quack, twitch or quack grass).

In an effort to exterminate this weed, sixty-five acres of that part of the farm which appeared to be the worst infested was treated as follows:

About the first of June, it was ploughed four inches deep and well harrowed. The spring tooth cultivator was then used, serving to draw the roots well to the top of the ground. Next a chain harrow was employed. This implement brought all the loose grass to the surface and left it in large rolls all over the field. These rolls were then forked into heaps to dry and were burned about August 1st.

Immediately after this the land was again ploughed and again given the treatment outlined above, and was finally ploughed a third time late in the fall.

In the spring of 1916, it was well harrowed then sown and cross-sown with barley at the rate of 1 1/2 bushels per acre each way. There was a good crop of grain and it was almost impossible to find a blade of couch grass on the whole area.

$5,000,000
THE above figures represent the estimated loss by farmers through SMUT in grain crops in Ontario in 1915.
If you had a field of oats, barley or wheat you, no doubt, contributed to this loss. By reason of the prevalence of smut last year the danger is rendered greater this year. There is one way to prevent this and that is to Treat Your Seed for Smut
The method usually adopted is as follows:—
Mix one pint of FORMALIN with 40 gallons of water, or two table-spoonfuls to one pail of water. Place the grain to be treated in a heap on a clean canvas or floor. Sprinkle the formalin solution over the grain, then shovel. Repeat this UNTIL EVERY GRAIN IS MOISTENED by the solution; then COVER THE PILE WITH SACKING and leave for three or four hours. At the end of this time spread the grain out thinly to dry; shovelling it over three or four times will hasten the drying. Forty gallons of the formalin solution is sufficient to sprinkle thirty to forty bushels of grain; smaller amounts in proportion. Immersing the grain in a bag is sometimes practiced and is equally effective.

A little more rest in the days of old;
A broader view and a saner mind,
And a little more love for all mankind;
And so we are faring adown the way
That leads to the gates of a better day.
A little more love for the friends of youth,
A little less zeal for established truth,
A little more charity in our views,
A little less thirst for the daily news;
And so we are folding our tents away,
And passing in silence at close of day.
A little more leisure to sit and dream
A little more real the things unseen;
A little nearer to those ahead,
With visions of those long loved and dead;
And so we are going where all must go,
To the place the living may never know.
A little more laughter, a few more tears,
And we shall have told our increasing years;
The book is closed and the prayers are said,
And we are a part of the countless dead—
Thrice happy, is then some soul can say,
"I live because he has passed my way."

HEALTHIEST ONE IN THE FAMILY

No Sign Of Dropsy And Kidney Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

HATTIE WARREN
Fort Robinson, Ont., July 8th, 1915.
"We have used 'Fruit-a-tives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with Kidney Disease. The Doctor said she was threatened with Dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time, the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We can not say too much for 'Fruit-a-tives' and would never be without them."

AND NOW FOR SEEDING

Soil Should Be Allowed to Warm Up Before Planting.

SOME FIRST CROPS TO PUT IN

Beans Are a Splendid Food Product to Grow This Year—How to Proceed in Several Lines.

(By S. C. JOHNSTON, Vegetable Specialist, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Having discussed the methods of preparing the garden soil to receive the seed we now turn to the sowing of the seed itself. There is no need to hurry the sowing of the seed. Better results will be obtained if the amateur gardener will wait until the soil is warm and easily worked. The vegetables discussed are arranged as nearly as possible according to the time they should be planted.

LETTUCE. Lettuce is grown for its leaves, and is our best known salad plant. It is a short-season plant, and is often grown to follow or precede another crop. It is quite hardy and may be planted quite early in the spring, grown to maturity, and followed with a tender crop such as tomatoes, or it may be planted between any plants of the cabbage family. It is a good plan in a small garden to plant only a few feet at one time and follow this with successive plantings made every ten days or two weeks until July 1st. The lettuce seed may be sown in rows comparatively thin at a depth of a quarter of an inch. The plants should be thinned to stand two inches apart. If one desires large single heads of lettuce the plants should be thinned to stand from seven to nine inches apart. The thinnings may be transplanted to another part of the garden.

RADISH. The radish plant is grown for its roots, which are eaten raw just as soon as they are large enough to use. It is quite hardy, and may be planted very early in the spring. Radishes are frequently sown with other crops which are not such rapid growers, such as parsnips. They should, however, be pulled out before the parsnips or other crops need the ground. Successive planting is also advised for this crop. Radish seed may be planted in rows, four inches apart or broadcasted, the depth preferred being from a quarter to half an inch only. Radish as a general rule require no thinning, and the soil between the rows should be kept loose with the hoe. A crop of winter radish may be obtained if the seed is sown about the first of August. These should be thinned out to three inches apart.

SPINACH. Spinach is a short season crop which is grown to provide table greens. The plant matures in about six weeks from planting, and seed should be sown very early in the spring, as the plants run to seed during the hot summer months. The seeds may be planted in rows or broadcasted, and should be sown at a depth of one half inch. Successive planting may be made if so desired. When the leaves are large enough to use they may be pulled off or the whole plant may be cut from the root.

ONION. The onion is grown for seasoning, pickling, and for eating raw. A large percentage of onions stored for winter use are grown from seed planted in the soil very early in the spring. The soil should be rich, moist and well drained, but fresh manure is not the best to apply. The seeds should be planted at a depth of about one-half inch, and the rows should be from twelve to fourteen inches apart. The seed should be planted very thinly so that there will be no need for extra thinning of the onion. Cultivation should cease when the onion tops are such a size as to prevent easy work. In the fall when the tops are about two-thirds died down the onions should be pulled and laid in windrows so arranged that the bulbs are covered with the tops of the onions. This prevents any sunburn which causes considerable trouble in storage. After they have been kept in this position for five or six days they may be gathered up and placed in a slat box or basket and tied up some way so that the rain will not get at them and the wind will have plenty of chance to circulate around the bulbs. The tops may be removed from the onions at this time if so desired, or they may be left on. Dutch sets may be planted as close together as they will stand in a straight row very early in the season. They should be barely covered with soil, which should be well firmed by tramping on it, and the green onions should be pulled as soon as they are ready for use.

PEAS. Peas may be planted very early in the season, and for the early crop the seed should be sown in a furrow of two inches deep and the seeds placed an inch apart. Some arrangements should be made so that the pea vines will have some support. Limbs of trees or chicken wire may be used for this purpose, as the vines will cling to this support and will be kept up from the ground. This support should be set preferably at the time of planting. This soil should be drawn up around the vines.

BEANS. Generally speaking, it is not a good practice to add fresh manure to the soil where one expects to grow beans. They prefer a moist, deep loam. The seeds should be planted fairly early in the spring. The rows being at least eighteen inches apart. A furrow two inches deep may be made with the corner of a hoe and the seeds placed from two to three inches apart in the bottom of this furrow. Another way which is sometimes followed in planting beans is to make holes two inches deep twelve inches apart and in each hole three or four seeds be placed. It is always advised not to touch the plant when they are wet.

Growing 'Taters in the Town

Oh, the living's getting high,
And we have to eat or die,
And prices all go up instead of down;
But the end is now in view,
So don't worry, fret or stew,
For we'll soon be growing 'taters in the town.

In every backyard lot
There will be a little plot,
With rows so straight and even up and down;
So we'll gather up the chickens
And put hobbles on the kittens
So they cannot spoil the 'taters in the town.

When the 'taters spring in view
And the beetles start to chew
We'll arm ourselves with dope the bugs to down;
With lead and Paris green,
In the patch we may be seen,
When we start at growing 'taters in the town.

Every night and morning too,
When the earth is fresh with dew,
We can dig and hoe until the weeds are down;
And then, my friends, you know
You can sit and watch them grow,
The 'taters we'll be growing in the town.

How we'll watch with anxious eye,
When the tops begin to die,
For the tubers lying there so thick and brown;
And we'll dig and pick and hew,
Just to get a bag or two
Of 'taters that's been growing in the town.

But the living's just as high,
And we have to eat or die,
And the prices still are up instead of down;
We made an awful hustle,
And we used a lot of muscle,
But we grew some fine potatoes in the town.

The Call of the Farm

The Farmer needs help in putting in his crops, if there is to be a winter-war bumper harvest to gladden the heart of fighting men at the front. The farmer needs help, and needs it quickly. Every farmer who is short of labor should know at once what help is available, and when it can be obtained.

There is one source from which the country may draw valuable aid in times like these, when thousands of the young men from the farms have gone overseas to fight for King and country. The high schools of this Province could fill the gaps of labor on the farms of Ontario, and save the situation, were the Department of Education fully seized of the importance of acting promptly and decisively. There are no difficulties in the way that will not yield to bold treatment. Not only the boys, but also the girls, have expressed their readiness to help in this great war work on the farms. All they ask is that the regulations which at present deter them from helping their country and the Empire in this time of need shall be modified so as to leave them free to give practical expression to their patriotic desire to do their bit in the war. There is good reason to believe that the obstacles in their way will be removed, once it is made clear that public opinion is behind the Department of Education in any step it may take to set free those who are willing to go on the farm. The regulations that prevent boys who went on farms last year from offering their services again, and that make it difficult, if not impossible, for other high school boys and girls to offer their services this year, cannot be defended in the light of this gigantic war.

Canada and the Empire are at war. No one who can aid in winning the war can remain neutral. All difficulties in the way of releasing high school boys and girls vanish into nothingness when compared with the great issues at stake in this war. To deny to our boys and girls the opportunity of striking a blow for the liberties of the world by increasing the production of food, is to deny them the greatest educational advantage that will ever come their way in development of the civic spirit and the widening of outlook, without which book knowledge is of small account. The farm needs help. Red tape must give way to the necessities of the day. Let the Department of Education act, and act quickly.

Do It Now—Disorders of digestive apparatus should be dealt with at once before complications arise that may be difficult to cope with. The surest remedy to this end and one that is within reach of all, is Parmele's Vegetable Pills, the best laxative and sedative on the market. Do not delay, but try them now. One trial will convince anyone that they are the best stomach regulator that can be got.

THE COST OF GROWING POTATOES
 Experimental Farms Note

In potato growing provinces like New Brunswick there is always more or less discussion as to what it should cost to grow a good crop of potatoes and statements vary from as low as $40.00 per acre to as high as $125.00. Naturally there will be much variation in cost according to local conditions and especially to the ability of the land to produce without expensive fertilizing. It should be borne in mind that it will usually cost the potato specialist more to grow his crop than it will the farmer who follows mixed farming and makes his potato crop merely one of his many activities.

With a view to getting actual figures under average conditions in New Brunswick, a careful record has been made at the Dominion Experimental Station, Fredericton, for the past two seasons with an acre of land set apart for this particular purpose.

Neither rent of land nor depreciation of machinery was included in the calculation, for these two are items that are largely in the hands of the individual grower. As a general rule, however, it would be fair to charge as rent, 10% of the value of the land, and special potato machinery will depreciate from 25% to 50% per year if used steadily for ten days each season. In 1915, the depreciation of the potato digger alone, used at the Experimental Station, was $6.00 per acre.

In 1915, the acre was planted with Green Mountain, Irish Cobbler and Empire State. Seed, cultural operations and harvesting cost in all $67.93. Eighty barrels of 165 pounds each of marketable potatoes were obtained and sold at $1.75 per barrel making a profit over cost of production of 90c. per barrel. Seven barrels of culls were sold for $3.50, so that the total profit for the acre amounted to $75.50.

This land was rather wet naturally and during the very rainy weather of June and July was several times flooded, causing missed hills and inferior plants generally. This land was originally cleared many years ago and after cutting hay for thirty years it was allowed to grow up to spruce, birch and alder. It was again cleared in 1913 and grew buckwheat in 1914.

In 1916, an acre was planted with Green Mountain seed. The total cost amounted to $82.33 the increase over 1915 being due to high priced seed, higher priced fertilizer ingredients and very dear copper sulphate. One hundred and twenty barrels of marketable potatoes were harvested and could have been sold at $2.25 per barrel, making a profit per barrel over cost of production of $1.564, plus six barrels of culls at 50c, $3.00, making a total profit of $190.20.

Market price when potatoes were dug was $2.25 per barrel. Later they could have been sold at $3.25, but are held for seed.

This land grew hay for many years and was broken up and grew potatoes with 750 pounds fertilizer in 1913, corn with 18 tons barnyard manure in 1914, oats without manure in 1914, oats without manure in 1915. This land is on a slope, fairly well drained and except for washing out slightly between the rows felt no bad effects from the June deluge.

The Penny Savings Bank

The Penny Bank has been in operation long enough to demonstrate its value and utility. It has passed the experimental stage. Instead of becoming, as some supposed it might, a fosterer of the miserly spirit, it has actually been the reverse, many instances showing that the saving of boys and girls have been put to splendid use. During the depression in Toronto in 1907-8, the bank accounts of many children, small though they were, saved the day for almost destitute families and there are not a few cases where the Penny Banks have proved the salvation of families in times of sickness. It has often given boys a start in life, which they otherwise would not have had, and has served to counteract vicious tendencies. It has been the enemy of the cheap candy store, where so many boys and girls get into the habit of selfishly squandering their money. It has in short been a splendid supplementary force in education.
