About 7.30 last evening the twostorey residence of Andrew Farrell, on Ravensden avenue, was destroyed. eausing a loss of almost $1,600. The house was insured in two companies to the extent of $1800. The insurance policies, however, were destroyed by the fire, as was all the furniture and contents of the house. The family now possess only the clothing they wore when the fire broke out.

Earlscourt Reels First. The Earlscourt fire reels were first on the scene, using the city hydrant near by. They were followed about twenty minutes later by the Forth street and West Toronto reels. Steady streams of water were kept playing upon the building, but the blaze continued to make headway for over half an hour after it started. When it was finally brought under control the house was a complete ruin.

(Special to The Toronto World) rices of general commodities in Canada continues upwards. Statistics ssued by the labor department show that during 1913 the upward move-ment was most noticeable in animals and meats. The average prices in this class of foodstuffs rose during the year from the department's number 1675 in January to 185.9 in December. Dairy products also advanced considerably, rising from 160.4 in January to 182 in December. There was a very neavy decline in the price of furs as a group, the index number falling from 358 in January to 247 in the last three months of the year. The general level of miscellaneous groceries thruout the year was two points lower than 1912. In textiles prices rose from 127.8 in January to 136.9 in December. As a result of the decline in the prices of furs the general index number for the year was about the same as for 1912, namely 136.9 in December last com-pared with 136.8 in December, 1912. Washington Conference Resulted in Decision to Ask Canada's Co-Operation in Project That May Cost Three Hundred Millions-Plan Shelved When Taft Met Defeat.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 .- (Can. Press) .- A project for the joint construction by the governments of the United States and Canada of a deep waterway for ocean-going steamers from Montreal to Duluth, Minn., has been inaugurated thru the international joint commission which has jurisdiction over the boundary waters of the two countries.

The discussions instituted thru the international joint commission are the result of a recent conference in Washington in which Secretary Bryan. Chairman James A. Tawney, of the American section of the international commission and Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, participated. It was arranged that the matter should be taken up first with the Canadian Government thru the commis-sion. Chairman Tawney will confer soon with T. Chase Casgrain, K.C., chairman of the Canadian section.

The project for an ocean waterway from the head of navigation on Lake Superior to the Atlantic has been agitated for many years. It was con-sidered seriously at the time when President Taft entered into reciprocity negotiations with Canada, May Cost $300,000,000.

ATTACKS ON TORONTO

British Correspondent Says They Are Unjustified and Greatly Exaggerated.

LONDON, Jan. 25 .- (C.A.P.) -To LONDON, Jan. 25.—(C.A.P.)—To read the correspondence on the so-called distress in Canada one might surmise the "black flag" was hoisted against this prosperous part of the globe," writes George W. Robinson to The Yorkshire Post. "True it is there is some destitution in some parts, but this is not owing to lack of employment, but mainly because the right class of emigrant is not there to battle with the varied spheres of labor—too many unskilled and no capital exist.

"One writer makes an attack on Toronto, which, to say the least, is unjustifiable. I have been located in this prosperous city three years, and have just come away. At the time of my departure (Christmas), there was absolutely little or no sign of impending distress, and I emphatically state that unless weather conditions are adverse there is no like shood of such disaster. The main cause of people being out of employment in Toronto and neighborhood is because they won't "put their shoulders, to the wheel." The Britisher, for the most part, wants a "soft" job, leaving the rough manual labor to the hard-working foreigners. Foreigners, as a rule, are never out of work, but the Britisher is.

"To put the matter in a nutshell, if One writer makes an attack on Tortisher is.

"To put the matter in a nutshell, if the Britisher will tackle anything that comes to hand, he will, like the foreigner, have no cause of complaint. Then, especially the Englishmen, must give up "bossing the Canadians;" they won't tolerate it, and this "bossing" is one reason why Englishmen take a back seat in Canada.

"With regard to restaurants being closed in Toronto thru distress, this is a bigger fabrication than the distress question. I am intimately contress question. I am intimately connected with this kine, and can safely say that not half-a-dozen have been closed thru any other cause than the strict bylaws of the medical health

Tetrazzini and Signor Titta Ruffo, with their managers and party, will arrive in Toronts this morning from Minneapolis, where they sang on Saturday night to the largest concert audience ever assembled in that city. The great Italian diva and her equally distinguished baritone associate make it a practice to reach every city where they appear at least two or three days before a concert. It gives them the period of rest which they require after long railway journeys, and gives them a chance to look about and place themselves en rapport with the people of the particular metropolis before "Madero failed," said Pesqueira, "be-cause he generously accepted the pre-tended support of the reactionaries, whose first manifestation was the un-

HALIFAX OCEAN TERMINALS.

(Special Correspondent)

HALIFAX, Jan. 24.—A contract for the first section of these terminals has been let to Foley. Welch. Stewart and Fanquier at an estimated cost of $5.-208,748. In connection with these new terminals we have been officially advised that the existing tracks to North Street Station, the deep water terminus, and pier No. 2 will be retained, but nothing has been definitely decided as to the existing stations at North street as it is a well-known fact that audiences in every city in America vary to a great extent. What one approves of another dislikes, and so on. The sale for Wednesday night's concent has now reached the gigantic proportions anticipated and a capacity audience is a matter of certainty. Judging by comments of music lovers who have bought seats at Massey Hall, the program announced on Saturday is one that is admirably suited to local musical taste. to the existing stations at North street and at Richmond. The new union pas-senger station to be provided at the ocean terminals will be designed to ac-commodate all railways entering the city, and will be a spacious and im-posing structure. At the Strand today (Monday) another instalment will be given of the thrilling "Adventures of Kathlyn," that have already aroused such remarkable public interest. The new reel shows the heroing successful in ob-posing structure.

In addition to this, contracts have been let to the Dominion Bridge Co. for the construction of several new bridges. Along the line of the Cana-dian Government railways from Montreal to Antigonish contracts for new grades and crossing levels and new electric signals have been awarded. Engineers under charge of J.H. Congdon Engineers under charge of J.H. Congdon are in the field making surveys for the revised grades and building a second track between Painsec Junction and Oxford Junction. It is expected that this survey will be completed in the spring. The Canadian Government railways are to be greatly in and the whole system brought to the very highest state of efficiency is the program of the management.

FT. EATON COMITE

THE BANK BILLS were carrying on a conversation among themselves as they lay in the till—that is, those of them that lay pretty deep down in the cash drawer. The bills on top never ventured to utter a remark, for sure as they did a hand would seize them, crumple them up into a tube, and away they would be whisked through the darkness, and out into somebody's pocketbook. But those that were far enough under to when feel they might indulge in a MONEY little gossip, were discussing TALKS. the weather, one poor thin, somewhat ragged-looking dollar complaining that it was hard luck being left outside a purse in a little open lar complaining that it was hard luck being left outside a purse in a little open mesh bag on a day that went twenty below zero. A fine, stiff "five" with a fresh young face was inclined to differ from the speaker, saying that it spoilt one's figure to be crushed up in a tiny coin purse, and that for his part he much preferred being thrown into the bag itself, even if it was one of those silver link affairs. As it was, he had been pretty fortunate so far in one of those silver link affairs. As it was, he had been pretty fortunate so far in spending most of his time stretched out comfortably in men's wallets.

At this a middle-aged "ten" chipped in with the opinion that any kind of weather and any kind of conveyance was better than being shut up for a whole year in a stuffy box, with only an occasional whist of air when its owner opened the lid to add another dollar or two, and count over her little pile. He went on to explain that he had fallen into the possession of a certain lady who was "saving up" for a fur coat, and who, because she didn't have a bank account, or something, kept her savings in an old jewel box in a drawer of her bureau, along with a queer brooch with a bit of faded hair in it, a ring that had lost most of its stones, an envelope containing a along with a queer brock with a faded hair in it, a ring that had lost most of its stones, an envelope containing a pressed rose, and a bundle of letters tied up with ribbon.

"How romantic!" exclaimed a dollar that had made its debut in 1911 and wore the miniatures of Earl and Countess Grey.

"How did you ever get out of the box?" inquired a bill from across the border, ornamented with a wide-winged eagle.

"Because she got her coat today," remarked the ten.

"There must have been a big crowd of you squashed in with the jewelry," observed some other; "fur coats cost a lot of money."

"There were three other tens, two fives,

"fur coats cost a lot of money."

"There were three other tens, two fives, and a few ones and twos. She was here at nine o'clock and got a lovely Hudson seal jacket at half-price. She seemed so over-loyed at her purchase, I really forgave her for holding me a prisoner all these months."

"How splendid to be able to make people's dreams come true like that," came in soulful tones from a dollar who had not before spoken. "If only we might always serve in some such happy capacity, instead of being given in tips and getting lost at fore spoken. "If only we might always serve in some such happy capacity, instead of being given in tips and getting lost at bridge and things like that. I was thinking just a little while ago that never do I feel such real satisfaction in life as when I am the means of procuring double measure of value for somebody."

"Then you would have felt pleased with yourself this morning, if you had been in my place," said one of the fives. "Along with another five and a two and a fifty cents, I got the smartest black ratine coat for a dear little woman—it had been twenty-five dollars the day before."

"If it comes to bragging I can beat you all oue I helped to get an opera cloak for fifty dollars that had been over a hundred," said another ten. "What were you going to say, my dear ?" observing that a companion looked very wise.

"Oh, these first two months of the year, with their Sales and Speciais, give dollars a chance to do magic work. The last week of January is always bursting with bargains, and in February comes the great time in house furnishings. This is the third year that I've been brought here in somebody's purse. I hope——"

But at this juncture the bill above her was picked up, and before the sentence could be finished she, too, was crumpled into a tube and sent whirling off on that dark journey to one of the departments, and thence into a fat leather bag.

Inspector Orkney of the mounted police, and his wife, her aunt. She took at once to the outdoor winter sports of the Saskatchewan town, and when the uncle made a trip of inspection to Seventeen Mile Post, about one hundred miles north of Regina, she insisted on being taken along. She learned to shoot and to use snow-shees and skis, but her ambition far exceeded her skill in their use, and one exceeded her skill in their use, and one day when, despite the advice of her uncle, she had wandered off alone on snowshoes, she failed to come back. The uninhabitated timber country around Seventeen Mile Post was full of wolves, and nearly frantic with worry, Inspector Orkney ordered out every available man to search for her. It was night time when young Ordway, only four years away from his Winchester. England, home found the girl. She had tripped and fallen and lay half senseless in a snow bank, from which

"Papa Will Be Wild," Says Reform Leader Points to Signs of the Times Before Student Audience.

NEW YORK. Jan. 25—Just before the United Fruit Line steamship Pastores sailed this afternoon for Jamaica and other ports in the West Indies. a stalwart young man and a pretty girl aboard scribbled a message and commanded a messenger boy to send it off at once. It was directed to John Wurtele, a wealthy retired lumberman of No. 1492 Michigan avenue. Chicago, and in effect it said:

"Sidney and I are married. Forgive us and wireless your blessing." It was signed "Mrs. Mildred Orkney Wurtele Ordway." and the owner of this considerable name, who has possessed it less than twenty-four hours, giggled as sent the message off.

"Papa will be wild." she commented, laughing. "But we don't care. If he does not answer that we'll wireless him until he does."

Sidney G. Ordway, until six weeks ago a member of the northwestern mounted police, agreed that they would but he said he was so happy he did not care whether Mr. Wurtele sent blessings or not. The couple corresponded, too, when Miss Wurtele went back home, but two months ago, when Ordway asked her father's consent to his marrying her, the father declined to listen to him. OMES can only be bright and cheerful when there is health and vigor in all the family. A thoro knowledge of the principles of right liv-ing on the part of the elder folks will insure this. So when we see well-meaning young people doing good in the world, but doing it in an enfeebled, half-hearted way, and suddenly dying or becoming invalided, we feel a great wave of anger sweep over us at their parents' ignorance.

There are many books on home nursing that mothers can read understandingly without technical knowledge of physiology, and mothers who study these simple helps will not be nervous when one of their children sneezes or has a slight fever.

These mothers will know, too, when Johnny has eaten too solid a supper or when Jane has had too hard a frolic. The trained observation and good judgment, with a well-stocked medicine chest, will avert many an illness, save doctor bills and often painful operations. The medicine chest need not be elaborate to be useful, and it may have

The use of hot and cold external applications should be learned, a well as the differences in the action of a drawing plaster and a soothing poultice. Bandaging is another important point; you will want a roll of soft old linen, torn into strips and rolled up neatly, at hand constantly, if you are to be a popular mother. A bottle of fresh hydrogen peroxide is invaluable for cuts, and surgeons' and court plaster must not be omitted. For all small ailments like toothache, earache and colds, heat judiclously applied is the most soothing remedy. A wet fiannel laid over a hot iron, a bag of hot cornmeal, or hot salt, or the old, old remedy of steaming hops, are all good in their way, but not one of these makeshifts can give the comfort that is secured with a rubber hot-water bag. This may well be your first purchase, and after you have used it you will wonder how you ever kept house without it. Recipe for mustard plaster: A mild plaster is made by mixing mustard and flour in equal parts, and moistening with cold water until a paste that will spread easily is formed. If a stronger plaster is wanted, use less flour and more water. This paste is spread between two thickness of linen and applied above on below, never over the pain.

Tender skins that are liable to be blistered by a drawing plaster should be rubbed over with vaseline or oil before the plaster is applied

Rock Garden and Some Suitable Alpines

R.TODD

A rock garden, or, in other words, a plain rockery, lends itself to many delightful possibilities.

In the first place, a rock garden is often quite possible where even the smallest ordinary flower bed would be a failure. As has been clearly shown in former talks on this same subject, it is possible to so change the character of unsatisfactory soils by and with the aid of a few large stones, a rock or two, and perhaps an occasional boulder, that plant life is possible where, before, it could not be coaxed into existence.

By referring to these former talks it will be noticed how we explained several different methods of the proper building of rock gardens.

It was pointed out how to transform dark, heavy, gloomy corner, perhaps in a north corner of the fence, or un-der a stretch of shading wall, into a veritable fairy spot, wherein the nimble and fantastic elves of the night might the day's work. disport themselves to their hearts's

To all lovers of alpines, or rock plants, a spot such as this is the most fascinating place in the whole garden. These are the flower lovers who revel n nature as she truly is. These are he flower lovers who delight to gather in from the cool and hidden recesses the wild, rare ferns, graceful grasses, close climbing ground vines, that ask no other life than that of hiding with their grateful green, rugged boulders, cruel-pointed rocks, dying or dead trees, and so aid mother nature in her eternal efforts to cover up whatever is unlovely. In our own High Park and surrounding regions, are many rare and interesting plants that might easily be transplanted with success, in some of the rockeries that grace (?) some lawns in this fair city of ours. What is the use of a rugged pile of tones, the earth among whose holding crevices gives life to not even a strug-

Suitable Soil for Rock Gardens. As was pointed out previously, it is very necessary to provide suitable soil, and plenty of it, in the body of the rockery, as well as arranging the various layers of rocks in such a manner that many large crevices are pro-vided for the holding of a goodly portion of this soil, also. Alpines like to send their roots deep into the earth between the rocks. This is one of the absolute necessities required by rock plants. One may easily understand the whyfore of it, I think. Sprawled out upon the rocks, these plants are much more susceptible to the direct rays of the sun (where sun does reach them), than any other plants.

Consequently, the sun's rays will prove death-dealing to them, unless they are well provided with the life forces that will protect them from too much heat. With their roots well set. deep beneath the rocks, the alpines cannot but be very hardy.

Some babies need very little training in this respect; but it is very foclish for a mother to give up trying just because the little one does not readily acquire the habit of sleeping all night without food. There is nothing more injurious to the health of mother and baby than night nursing. CROWD DRAWN BY JOHN R. MOTT OVERFLOWED CONVOCATION HALL

Great Missionary Worker Preached a Sermon for Students -Religion a Matter of the Will-An Ideal College Life Would Combine Action With Reflection, Mott Thinks

The message delivered to Varsity three great classes of people who restudents yesterday by John R. Mott were not convinced intellectually: students yesterday by John R. Mott was indeed a message to students. Altho the noted missionary worker attracted hundreds of outsiders, it was essentially a message to students, who have their life and the choice of their life work before them. A striking personality. Dr. Mott possesses personal magnetism which cannot but be felt by the hearer. That religion is primarily a matter of the will, that that will force should be developed by the student as the essential to the making of a life of Christian usefulness, was the gist of the sermon delivered by Dr. Mott. "Find out what is right for you to do and then do it. Belief is a question of processes. These processes can be forced, altho belief cannot be directly forced."

The reasons why so many fail to use their will power were given by the speaker, and he concluded with an eloquent appeal for his auditors to think conclusively and then to act on their convictions; to settle the issue before them definitely and then to proceed to the next point.

Police Guarded Doors.

The spacious Convocation Hall was crowded to overflowing, extra chairs and the aisles being called into requisition. Hundreds were turned away disappointed. Altho it had been announced that the service was for students only, many older people armed with students' tickets presented themselves for admission, and not a few were turned away. Police aid had to be used to assist in maintaining order at the entrances.

Many ocular maladies in the winter which pass in medical coinage for "pink eye," "conjunctivitis," "inflamed lids," "sore eyes" and a horde of nomadic maladies, are really acute infections induced by the reflected glare of snow or ice.

Snow blindness is the scourge of the pacity for visual mischief in the daz-zling snow as in the ultra-violet rays from certain arc-lights, Those who have read the Canadian snow stories of Jack London, Leo Crane and George Bronson-Howard may recall that the sensible northerners use hood-winks, eye-covers and smoked glass goggles to protect their eyes from snow blindness, Ordinary eyeglasses and spectacles cut down the strength of the ultra-violet rays, because plain glass always does this. Ruby glass or pale garnet glasses would be decidedly better. Just as a photographer cuts out the chemical rays of light by having red windows and red lamps in his dark room, those who are much in the winter sun should wear red spectacles.

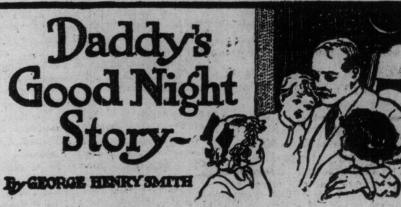

It is now plain for the first time that the noonday sun itself on a cold wintry day may induce "snow blindness" by virtue—or vice—of the invisible ice particles and fragments of moisture in the air.

At the present time the principle has been applied to gas companies employing $250,000,000 of capital, or over half the entire capital devoted to the gas industry in Britain

Still another well-managed copartnership in England is that of the Thompson Huddersfield mills, which in character more closely parallels the Ford proposal. It is entirely probable that now that the profitsharing movement has started in the United States it will develop with much greater rapidity than has been the case in Britain. For in the United States it is at last recognized that sweated labor is not sound business. Employers in many classes of industry have discovered that well paid efficient labor is the cheapest in the end. Mr. Ford no doubt believes that in so greatly improving the position of his workmen he will get more work and better work done and in this way establish his business on an even ready drowned.

e made in the United States for the purpose of improving working class conditions. According to its officials the United States Steel Corporation will shortly have in operation the first co-operative farm in the country for the supply of food products to its employes. The land forms part of the eight thousand acre farms of the corporation east of the City of Conneaut, Ohio, purchased in 1900 for the purpose of erecting a gigantic steel plant. When that project was later abandoned the big acreage was devoted to stock grazing and vegetable farming. Conneaut Harbor will now form a central point of distribution for all the subsidiaries of the corporation in the Central States, and as the scheme develops it is expected that a large proportion of its employes will be supplied with fresh meats and the city hall appeared in The News on farm products at much lower prices than are possible under the existing system of distribution.

MAYOR HOCKEN has to put thru the clean-up of the franchises and co-operate with the Ontario Hydro Commission in giving Toronto's immediate contributory ter-ritory a provincial hydro radial system. He has to gain a definite system. He has to gain a definite policy of annexation, which means full consideration of Ald. Wickett's plan for a metropolitan area, J. T. V. May's plan for police villages and other plans for straight annexation. He has to make certain that the inauguration of a purchasing department is absolutely necessary. He has to deal with the necessity for investigating the assessed values of all the property in the city, and he has to arrange for more statistics being available in each civic department.

CONTROLLER MCCARTHY, who is to specialize on civic works, has to grapple with extension of the waterworks plant, involving as it may, a lively dispute over the plans submitted by Commissioner Harris. He has also to make certain that the new Gerrard street viaduct over the Don will not be a repetition of the blunder in construction of the present bridge there.

CONTROLLER SIMPSON, who is to specialize on public welfare, can make his services invaluable. His most ambitious effort now is to get authority for the city buying cheap land outside the city limits and selling it off at cost to

Plans for Next Season Will

The National Opera Company of Canada en route from Montreal arrived in Toronto yesterday in a special train of twelve cars, seven of which carried the seenery for the seven complete productions which will be presented this week. The company numbers in all 191 people, and they are quartered at four different King street hotels.

Manager Theodore Bauer, who is at the King Edward Hotel, stated last night that the present aggregation is the largest and most expensive that has yet represented any traveling organization in America, and one that cannot be duplicated outside of the Metropolitan, New York. He further stated that the Dominion Government will be approached with a view to setting aside a national subject of the development of opera in Canada, following the practice in France, Germany and other European countries. If such a subsidy is granted the plans for next year's season will be on a much more extensive and even more lavish seale than forthis season. The company will visit other Canadian cities besides Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa, and will take in Winnipeg.

Locals Again Broke Into Win Column After Prolonged Slump.

again on Saturday night when they doubled the score on Quebec, beating rather a little surprise party on the Irishmen's part, but it was all the more welcome, coming as it did thru the defeat of the champions and after such a prolonged slump. If it had been over any of the other third division teams its taste would have hardly been so sweet, and to put one over on the hard checking champions was all the more praiseworthy.

It takes a lot of good playing to beat Quebec at any stage of a game, as they have a good bunch of back checkers, and altho they may not be as youthful as some of the other aggregations, they still have their cunning and experience. That the Ontarios outplayed them was very evident all the way, and they were well deserving of the victory on the play. They certainly looked a very different bunch from the team that lined up a week ago, and they seemed to have been enthused with some of the fighting spirit of their local rivals, the Torontos, since their tussle last Wednesday. They opened the game with a flash of speed and by continual changing Murphy kept his boys on the jump long enough to stave off the champions and hook the game for himself.

the score of 5 to 0 when they white-washed McGill. They won on their merits, and if it had not been for the butchering they received the score would have been much larger. McGill started the rough stuff and it did not take long line out the gaff. The same was just a repetition of last year's struggle. As scon as McGill saw that they were outclassed they started to bump the Varsity men all over the ice, and the mixing scon became general. This work spolled the speed of both teams, and the laxness of Referee Lake and his crude judgment of fouls and onside plays scon made the varsity were head and shoulders a better team than their opponents, and the outcome, altho fully expected, was not representative of the play. The team work of the locals was very good, but the unnecessary tripping at the goal mouth and the hard body checking anywhere and anyway soon put a crimp in the light blue and white men. Juniors Win From Brampton.

Varsity juniors swamped Brampton in their junior O.H.A. fixture Saturday affernoon and increased their lead in their district. The final score was 9 to 2 in favor of Varsity, and the result was never in doubt after the first ten minutes. A very unfortunate accident happened when Gamey Stratton was cut by a skate and lost a lot of blood. He will be out of the game for the rest of the winter, it is expected.

CAMERON OUT AND THE OTTAWAS WON

Torontos Kept Puck Out Untll Late in Second Period-Great Crowd Saw Game.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The Ottawas continued their winning streak in the N. H. A. last night, beating the Torontos by 4 to 1. That makes it seven straight for the Senators and puts them on top in the Stanley Cup race. For thirty-seven minutes there was no score. Seventeen minutes after the second period had begun Darragh dashed from end to end and scored for Ottawa. It was 1 to 0 for 11 minutes in the third when Ronan made it 2 to 0. McGiffin raised the hopes of the Toronto followers with a pretty goal for the blue shirts, but Darragh sealed it up with another rush in four minutes, and the puck had just been refaced when Ronan shot and caught Holmes off his guard, leaving, it 4 to 1. The Torontos put up a battle royal in the first and second periods, but they were played to a standstill in the third. The ice was soft on account of the mild weather, and both lines were thus handicapped. Holmes gave a remarkable exhibition in goal for the visitors, otherwise Ottawa's margin would have been greater. Cameron injured his shoulder in the first period and had to retire, which was a blow to Toronto.

Over 7000 persons were in attendance,

Storm Signals Helped.

It had been expected, however, that it was going to have an effect on the Conditions at Sea—Difficulities of Weather Forecasting Outlined by Meteorological Expert Before Canadian Institute.

Ships now off the coast of Newfoundland are due to face one of the severest of storms experienced in veters. It was going to have an effect on the lakes and heavy gale storm signals had been displayed some time provious to its arrival. In this the storm signal system undoubtedly had the effect of preventing greater loss, althout the fact that the lake region was to get the full force of the storm had not been prepared for.

The difficulties experienced in telling the exact course which a storm will take were shown by the fact that of the 16,000 weather charts now in the possession of the Toronto Observatory, not two could be found which did not bear a marked difference. In Conditions at Sea-Difficuldian Institute on the Canadian storm warning system by R. F. Stupart, head of the Toronto Meteorological Bureau, on Saturday night, he stated that all During the lecture, which was illustrated, maps were thrown on the screen covering a period of years which showed forecasts made of the exceptional severity off the Newfoundland coast and that much would be heard of it on the arrival of those vesheard of it on the arrival of those vessels which must pass thru it.

In speaking of the storm which had such fatal results on the great lakes last fall, Mr. Stupart said that it was of such magnitude that it shot off from signal system owed its origin. In 1860 the first use of the telegraph for storm signal work on the continent was begun at Washington, but was abandoning off toward the Atlantic coast, as was thought would be the case, headed from its source of the stress of the civil war until 1870, when it was resumed under the supervision of the United States. m its source on the southeastern the supervision of the United States militia department. It was thru the militia that the Dominion had its first observatory, which was a building of logs covered over with plaster, and was erected in Toronto in 1840 in the vicinity of what is now Queen's Park.

United States Sends Forecasts.

In 1852 the militia turned over the Toronto Observatory to the colonial government and in 1855 a new building had been erected. It was in 1870, when the observatory work was under the late Professor Kingston, that the storm signal service was introduced in Canada, for which purpose the government made a grant of $5000. This was followed by the establishment of a few storm signal stations on the great lakes, and an exchange of reports was made with the weather bureau at Washington, which also had at that time a few storm signal stations thruout the United States. When Washington knew of a storm heading for the great lakes, word was sent from that great lakes, word was sent from that city to Toronto and from Toronto to the storm signal stations.

Newfoundland Threatened.

The Dominion now possessed 110 storm signal stations. Of these, three did not bear a marked difference. In view of this it was remarkable how earely the bureaus were wrong in their are on the British Columbia coast, 30 are on the great lakes, and the balance in the maritime provinces.

Newfoundland receives its warnings of storms thru the Canadian storm signal service which is in a most excellent position to know of storms heading for Newfoundland from the west. It was owing to this fact that the Toronto Observatory knew of the the Toronto Observatory knew of the big storm which was now about to break off the Newfoundland coast.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Selling for both accounts weakened the stock market today. The tone was heavy through the half-day session and most of the active shares were forced down a point or so. The rise of the week had extended to a point which made a reaction probable, and today's movement was regarded as merely a normal pause in the upward swing. That the market still possessed underlying strength was indicated by the ease with which offerings at the lower level were absorbed. The list grew steadier after the sharp setback at the opening and trading contracted as questions declined.

The tendency to take the large profits shown on long stock was the more pronounced because of Washington reports that important developments reports that important developments regarding the Mexican situation might soon occur. Traders preferred to close out their holdings rather than run trisk of unfavorable happenings over the week-end. The effect of this selling was increased by renewed operations on the short side. It was apparent that extensive covering recently had reduced the week-end. The effect of this selling was increased by renewed operations on the short side. It was apparent that extensive covering recently had reduced the short interest to a considerable extent, depriving the market of support from the last sale on Friday.

While the expected large gain in ash, amounting to $16,000,000, was shown in the bank statement, it was more than offset by the increase in reserve requirements due to an expansion of $85,000,000 in actual deposits, so that there was a decrease in surplus of more than $5,000,000. This change was due primarily to a $53,000,000 increase in loans, the result in a large part of financing. New York State's $51,000,000 bond issue put out this week.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Confederation Life Association, held on Jan. 23. Col. W. C. Macdonald was appointed managing director of the company. The president, J. K. Macdonald, who has been connected with Confederation Life Association for the past forty years. decided to give over the management of sociation for the past forty years, decided to give over the management of the company as a whole, so that he may devote more attention to the investment department. Under the guidance of J. K. Macdonald, the Confederation Life Association has become one of Canada's leading financial institutions, and it was almost imperative that the management of the everincreasing business of the company should be split up. J. K. Macdonald's knowledge of financial conditions and his keen business judgment will undoubtedly prove to be of great service to the Confederation Life Association in his management of the investment department.

ciation and his appointment to th important position of managing direc-tor follows an arduous and painstaking tor follows an arduous and painstaking service. In 1887 he was appointed actuary, having previously been engaged in actuarial work for the company. His training in actuarial work was under the guidance of Dr. Parks Fackler, consulting actuary of New York City. In his profession Col. Macdonald steadily rose and is now a charter member of the Actuarial Society of America, of which society he is president, having been appointed to that office two years ago. In the year 1905. Col. Macdonald In the year 1995, Col. Macdonald was elected to the position of secretary of the Confederation Life Association in addition to his duties of actuary, and assumed the responsibility with great credit to himself.

Col. Macdonald has become widely known thru his interest in military matters. Many years ago he joined the Queen's Own Rifles and served with them thru the northwest rebellion of 1885. When it was proposed in 1899 that a Highland regiment be started in Toronto, Col. Macdonald took a very active interest in the undertaking and was appointed major. He has since succeeded to the command of the regiment, now occupying the offic of lieutenant-colonel.

Col. Macdonald has had a large and varied experience of men, and has an active and energetic temperament, which, coupled with a thoro knowledge of the insurance business, should result in the continuance of the steady progress which has made the Con-federation Life Association one of the most respected of Canadian compa-

When Investments Mature

When a good investment matures, it impresses one with the importance of caution in placing the principal. To eliminate risk is the first thought of the wise investor. Our plan of "Guaranteed Investments" provides the most absolute security, and also a very satisfactory rate of interest return. We would like to give you full particulars. Write for our Booklet.

BIG SHORTAGE IN ARGENTINE WHEAT

Report That Crop is Only Half Last Year's Stimulated Prices.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Assertions that wheat crop in Argentina would be only about fifty per cent: of last year's total had a bullish effect today on prices here. The market closed firm, %c to ½e above last night. Corn gained ½e to %e net, and cats ½e to ¼e. In provisions, the outcome was unchanged to 12½e up, Radical pessimistic ideas about the Argentine wheat yield were given currency by one of the principal houses on change, and were said to be based on facts gathered by an expert who had made an extended trip thru the chief wheat growing provinces of the South American republic. The quality of the crop was declared by him to be so poor that Europe would be compelled to come to America for wheat to blend with Argentine imports. CHICAGO, Jan. 24.-Assertions that

o America for wheat to blend with Arentine imports.

Shutting down of immediate demand or ocean shipments acted as a check on he rise. There was no important reacion in prices, however, the majority of raders being convinced that, even aside rom the extreme opinions as to Argenina, the upturn was justified by crop amage in France, and by the danger rom lack of snow protection in the U. S.
inter crop belt.

Corn Also Strong.

Corn rose because of the bulge in pered down.

Oats reflected the strength of other tains. Transactions, tho, were on a mited scale.

Higher prices at the yards gave the voyision market a lift. Realizing of prots by holders ensued, however, and upt the advance within moderate winds.

It Walls Could Speak

What scenes they must have witnessed, those walls of ancient masonry of the University of Salamanca, as Du-mond depicts them for us in his painting? Here the Caput would meet his professors; here the Princes of the Church would gather for council, or visiting Royalty be received. Or, when the convent bells tolled the sunset hour, some solitary monk at his devotions might glance up to note how the glory of the great rose window brought out into relief the black letters, I.N.R.I., symbol of his faith. Truly enthralling in its historic atmosphere is this picture, now on exhibit on the fourth floor in a special gallery.
