The Banking Question Begins to Open Up in Earnest!

The western Canadian papers are discussing our banks; eastern Canadian papers question is now our main issue. As we pointed out yesterday the aim to be sought at the same time improve the position of the banks as part of the commercial and financial organization of the country. All we want to do is to make the banks more useful and to change our masters if not into servants to level them down to equals.

In the United States the question there commands equal attention; they are now in the midst of the greatest financial stringency since the war; and this hap pens just at the time that a new and improved system is about to be put into op eration—the system of national reserve discount banks, decentralizing the reserves increasing the emergency currency to help things over. The secretary of the treas ury, Mr. McAdoo, has criticized the banks for their high rates of interest, and their failure to come alertly to the support of business. And the comptroller of the currency has got into the discussion. His name is John Skelton Williams, he was in politics, he is an authority on finance, a member of the new national reserve board.

Speaking at Indianapolis before the State Bankers' Association, he opened by saying that centralized government [kaiserism] was passing; in the States one hundred millions of free people did the ruling.

He said that the Federal Reserve Act is the instrumentality thru which the American people will be freed from the domination of a financial oligarchy. It restores to the channels of commerce and industry hundreds of millions of dollars of money which was drawn from the sections where it was needed, to lie idle in the vaults of the big banks in two or three cities, or else be loaned by those banks largely on demand loans in the stock market. It provides for a system to meet completely and effectively the requirements of expanding or contracting business according to the season and the varying conditions, and it accomplishes along the most natural lines the mobilization of the bank reserves and devises the methods by which they can be most safely and most fairly

It practically removes from honestly and capably managed banks all fear of runs or the dread of suspension or failure, by providing the means for quickly converting into currency the commercial paper in which its funds may have been that several hundred million dollars heretofore kept in transit and in unavailable balances, will be released for the needs of business, while the delay and expensed making collections of checks will both be eliminated.

Mr. Williams did not see an early opening of the New York Stock Exchange in eight; it would allow four billions of American securities, now in Europe, to be thrown back at America at panic prices; and even if bought, they could not be paid for in gold. It would take time to get the situation as far as these securities were concerned in good shape again; but the banking and currency system would be improved at once by the new laws.

The New York Times which takes umbrage at Secretary McAdoo's action in naming a number of the hoarding banks, asserts that the banks are independent of the people and above the government in a way that will startle the people of the the participation of the government in the banking business of the country. In Canada we have often heard very much the same thing and many of us have grown up under the tradition that the country owes more to the banks than the banks to the country. Undoubtedly, before confederation the people of upper and lower Canada were glad to get the medium of exchange furnished by banks of issue, and for a time looked to the banks rather than to the provincial government for the currency and credit required by business. But Canada has grown some in the past seventy years. We believe now that the banks should no more be independent of the people and superior to the government than should the railways or other public utility corporations holding a franchise from the government. A similar view obtains in the United States and we do not think The New York Times, if it is trying to serve the banks, will get anywhere by saying as it does in its leading editorial minding their own business and are not answerable to the secretary. Moreover the secretary has more to ask from the banks than they have to ask from His influence is limited to depositing and withdrawing treasury funds, which some banks have declined on the treasury's terms. But the treasury is dependent on the banks for many things in its embarrassments from time to time and even in ordinary business. For the treasury is a depositor and a porrower, not an overseer of the banks.

True The Times steps down its energy of defiance by rather lamely drawing distinction between the disciplinary powers of the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency. It also argues that Secretary McAdoo was "hasty" in naming certain country banks. We have, however, reproduced the above excerpt to show the attitude of the bankers and their press. In the United States the government is aserting its authority over the banks and is to some extent going into the banking business. In Canada we have been less progressive and when the banks tell our government, our parliament, and our people to mind their own bus on the mysteries of finance, we are inclined to ac cept the rebuke and to go way back and sit down. Some Canadians are all but persuaded that the financial question is too difficult for the government to deal with and that we have no choice but to maintain our present system of banking and currency, unless and until the banks propose amendment. But as said at the outset, the question will not now down until settled and settled right, right for the public and fair to the banks.

Coming back to the Canadian west read this editorial in the Conservative organ in Alberta

Calgary Herald: There has been a great deal of comment lately concerning the attitude of the banks to commercial and farmers' accounts in western Canada. Criticism of this matter was properly conveyed by R. B. Bennett to the representative of one of Canada's leading banking institutions on a recent occasion, and with all due deference to the banking interests, it cannot be said that the reply then given, or any reply that has yet been given, came near to equaling in definiteness the statements of those who complain.

in definiteness the statements of those who complain.

It would seem that the banks should be placed on the defensive in this matter, and in view of the large powers granted them by government, and the large additional powers recently granted them from the same source, they should take the public into their confidence and say what they are prepared to do for the source, they should take the public into their confidence and say what they are prepared to do for the society.

Some idea of the work Accomplished. the public into their confidence and say what they are prepared to do for the sustaining of business credit, the continuance of business operations, and particularly the protection and encouragement of the farming industry.

To the "man on the street" it certainly seems as tho the government had done its share by its recent legislation to enable the banks to do their share for the sustaining of reasonable conditions in these regards. Also to the same "man on the street" it certainly does seem as tho the banks were just about as tight: toward the public as they could possibly have been if the government had not ing in definiteness the statements of those who complain.

And read this one from the Province of Saskatchewan CHARGES AGAINST THE BANKS.

Medicine Hat Morning Times: Mutterings against the financial institutions of Canada are beginning to be superseded by clearer utterances voiced by those who are not afraid to say what they think. In Calgary, the western superintendent of the Canadian Bank of Commerce declared that the financial institutions of the country are eager to give assistance to the farmers, particularly to those who were engaged in the business of stock raising. He was followed by R. B. Bennett, M.P., who pointed out that the banks in being permitted to issue currency to an amount double the cash to their credit possessed the most valuable franchise in the country and certainly in his opinion owe some duty to the people of the country which has given them such a special privilege. Mr. Bennett knew of many cases in which the banks, instead of assisting farmer: were forcing them to sell their stock.

At the present moment there is such universal complaint against the financial institutions of Canada that we are satisfied that they cannot be properly fulfilling their functions toward the people. Prominent and reliable manufacturers state that they cannot secure the capital which they desire to use in meeting the great opportunity before Canada and we opinted out the other day that this opportunity cannot be met without capital and lots of it. No one is asking the banks to make reckless loans, but the demand is being voiced that they should perform their trust by loaning to bona fide producers money in reasonable quantities with appropriate security.

On the outbreak of hostilities the Canadian banks had out on loan to the New York stock gamblers the enormous sum of 137 millions of dollars and a lesser, but still large sum in Toronto and Montreal. The stock exchanges are closed and the banks cannot recover their money. We can only dream what would happen if this huge sum had been advanced to those pursuing agriculture, manufacturing, distributing and other legitimate pursuits in Canada. Properly applied, the money would have greatly stimulated industry and employment, whereas in the hands of non-producers like the gamblers it is not creating a dollar of legitimate wealth. Indeed, such transactions as those which we condemn succeed in nothing more desirable than an increase in the number of parasites who fatten on the industry of others. The sending of such sums out of the country to be used in such enterprises is not good business and it is not safe business.

What the farmers, manufacturers and others are reasonably demanding in Capada today is that, upon adequate security, they shall be advanced a margin sufficient to permit them to carry on their productive businesses. We are told that the banks refuse to take this risk altho it has been established that they have been in the habit of taking larger risks with gamblers and foreign gamblers at that When we stan to think we can see that they have been in the habit of taking larger risks with gamblers and foreign gamblers at that When we stan to think we can see that they have been in the habit of taking larger risks with gamblers and foreign gamblers are that When we stan to think we can see that they have been in the habit of taking larger risks with gamblers and foreign gamblers. manufacturing, distributing and other legitimate pursuits in Canada. Properly have been in the habit of taking larger risks with gamblers and foreign gamblers at that. When we stop to think we can see that the whole financial and industrial structure of the country rests upon the risk which the banks refuse to the country re so banks and there would be no need for them. Unless the average yield per mere and the demand for manufactured goods were such as to guarantee the safety of the margin which is sought the banks and every person else would be out of business and Canada would be a wilderness. We would like to see this whole financial situation discussed in parliament of Canada and we think that Mr. Bennett would be an appropriate person to precipitate the discussion. The trouble in the past has been that one half of the parliamentarians in Canada

Let us close by saying that The World would like to hear Mr. Bennett speaking in parliament. He is a great talker and he did vote against the wholesale re al of the bank charters in 1913 and he will speak out next session if there one and he be there. And we close by saying that our jump from the east to the west, from the States to Canada and back again, as displayed in the foregoing, all olete proposition; that new principles and methods must be adopted. Here in Canada our banking is quite ancient and our currency a survival. We've got to have big new (as far as we are concerned) principles in which the nation supplies the currency and the bank of discount and becomes the senior partner of the banks. This system will give plenty of money and safe money, as it is wanted and in

He declares that he has been greatly impress with the progress made by Canadian railroads, and by the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, in particular.

The immensity of the Grand Trunk System's mileage and the unlimited possibility of further extension first impressed him, he says: Next, the remarkable engineering ture of the undertaking at a time when the present rapid development could hardly have been foreseen.

"I was particularly struck with the good understanding which exists beween the executive and the staff. The result of this mutual confidence nanifest in the local enthusiasm and efficiency of the various departments of work at headquarters in Montreal, as well as elsewhere, and made for a general esprit de corps which is not often met with. Outside the office atmosphere the same spirit was evinced between the traveling public and the staff. The hotels of the Grand Trunk are wonderfully homelike and surprisingly cheap. The 'Chateau Laurier, one of the finest hotels in the world is suitably located and a truly magnificent building. The method of dealing with passengers' luggage strikes one as remarkably simple and effec-tive, and is a real time and worry saver. On the commercial side, the grain elevator added to the many things that interested a stranger, and so did the large freight terminal I had the privilege of going over. Another noticeable feature that impressed me not a little was the unsolicited efforts made by one and all to see that traffic not merely in a concrete sense, but in individual merchandise, was expeditiously transported. This regard for commerce has evolved itself into a system known as the 'manifest freight service,' whereby it is within the region of possibility to keep an eye not only on each whole trainload of important merchandise, but on each car-load as well, from the moment of despatch from shipping point, as they term it in Canada, to destination."

Is the Whitney Tradition to Be Cast Aside?

In spite of the protest of party orstripe and calibre as the old leader, the conduct of affairs yesterday has not given admirers of the late premier the assurance which they had hoped ing a new leader would be after the old tradition - open, above board, square, fair and level.

To have a leader chosen for the province by the federal authorities from Ottawa is none of these things. Sir James Whitney would have repudiated any such action with all the force his language could express. No one could have misunderstood him. To suggest that he is worthily followed by those who resort to hole-and-corner methods is to dishonor the man who was honest enough to be bold and bold enough to be honest.

It is neither honest nor bold to evade calling a caucus of the Conservative members and to engineer the choice of a tool, a putty man, who will obey the behests of the Ottawa Government. This is not what the members of the Ontario Legislature were elected for, nor is it what they want. Party discipline may have reduced them to a article. But we venture to think that frame of mind in which they are afraid if the highly specialized industries of likely to be a shining leader of culture BEE-TREE DISCOVERED to say what they think, but we have the United States, and the United and spirituality, or the protector of not the least doubt that we are ex- Kingdom can undersell the Canadian and that if a caucus were in session they would have courage enough to express them.

We are not specially concerned whom the caucus chooses so long as he re- buying was manufactured; the shoppresents the members of the legislature and their desire to carry on the Whitney method and the Whitney tradition. We do not believe that a caucus would efface itself before the as it goes, we fear the manufacturer Grand Panjamdrums from Ottawa, but stands in need of some more substanif the members of the legislature did tial encouragement. Those who opso, then we at least would know where Ontario stood and could begin again.

With an Ottawa nominee the Conservative party in Ontario would be working in the dark, the members dressed themselves to the banks, withcould have no real loyalty to a machine cut whose assistance the manufacturer in which they had no interest and can neither successfully hold his home form a brigade of French-Ca over which they had no control. The market or capture those markets in party would very soon, as in the case South America, which are said to by men of that race and consisting of the Liberals in 1904-5, be on the way to disintegration and collapse. It supine enough to permit their prerogatives to be extinguished.

The World used a phrase on Saturday last that has already established vide for government regulations of itself in the political history of prices and wages. However that may TO DISTRIBUTE APPLES Ontario: we spoke of the Whitney tradition. It now takes the place of competition can only be excluded or the Whitney policy. This phrase has a restricted by governmental action. real and forceful meaning to the people of Ontario. It stands for public rights many cases just now is better banking as against corporation aggressiveness, for efficiency, for public ownership, for good faith kept with the people. And for courage.

It is not in accordance with the Whitney tradition to choose a successor to Sir James in the way that has been laid down by the Ottawa authori- America. ties. Nominally the lieutenant-governor should choose the new premier. Practically it should be the members of the Conservative party in the legislature in caucus assembled. Democratically, the people of Ontario.

What right has the federal government to butt into the situation at all? Are the people, or the members of the legislature to have a chance of exercising their rights in the matter? Will time be given to thresh it out? Or, are where they branch thru Britain. In men outside the Whitney tradition to Ontario we are building up a great do it and tell the members and the civilization and we are just beginpublic: "Here's your chief; we've picked him for you!" The Toronto World perfume of hope about it never met before, with the single exception, perhaps, of the national policy of Sir John Macdonald.

The people of Ontario will not be satisfied to allow the Whitney tradition, and all it means, to become involved in the exigencles of Dominion politics, or the Dominion Government; it must be kept away from these. That tradition would soon go to pieces if directed from Ottawa, whereas if maintained at its former vigor and strength it would be a source of great vitality to Conservatives and Liberals as well as to all the other provinces.

How to Build Up Home Industries

Whatever manufacturing of any consequence we have in this country is directly due to the National Policy, formulated by Sir John Macdonaid in 1879. That great statesman UNITED STATES.

Unfortunately after the death of Sir John Macdonald no statesman arose to adapt the National Policy to neet changing conditions. The Laurer government hacked at it here and there and finally evolved no less than seven tariff tables. We had the general tariff, the intermediate tariff, the British preference, the French treaty, gans that everyone connected with the the German surtax, the anti-dumping Whitney Government was of the same clause and finally the peanut tariff schedule fixed up at the Albany conference between Mr. Fielding and Mr. Taft. THEATRES

The best thing that can be said of any play new-a-days is that it is so good that it makes the audience forget for the time being that there is a terrible war in Europe. And that is exactly what they say about "Jerry," the comedy in which Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the Princess Theatre next week. Catherine Chisholm Cushing wrote this piece for laughing purposes only and Miss Burke and her company play it with the same object in view. The story is of a lively young Chicago girl—impersonated by Miss Burke, of course—who captures a husband in a stald Philadelphia suburb. The sale of seats begins this morning.

MARIE TEMPEST'S COMPANY.

Miss Marie Tempest will introduce her own.company, from her own theatre. The Playhouse, London to Toronto, next Monday evening at the Alexandra Theatre. Miss Tempese herself is too well-known to require an introduction. First after her comes W. Graham Browns. ner comes W. Graham Browne, one of the best known juvenile leading men in Eng-land, with the added distinction of be-ing an excellent character actor. Miss land, with the added distinction of being an excellent character actor. Miss Kate Serjeantson is the finest grand dame on the London stage. Her handsome presence and distinguished manner have been quite noticeable features of Miss Tempest's production. Lauderdale Mattland is another of London's most popular young leading men, who has met with much favor in dramatic productions made at The Playhouse and other theatres. Kenyon Musgrave is the comedian and character actor of the company. Miss Lillian Cayanagh is a pretty and clever ingenue who has a made a reputation during the past few years, and Miss Janet Alexander is a charming and dashing actress and a great London favorite. Miss Tempest's first offering will be the comedy "Mary Goes First," by Henry Arthur Jones. This will be followed during the week by "At the Barn," "Art and Opportunity" and "The Mar-"Art and Opportunity" and "The Mar-rlage of Kitty." There has been a big demand for seats since the sale opened yesterday morning.

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS."

Telling, as it does, the story of the odd romance of a pretty little circus rider and a village pastor in the middle west, "Polly of the Circus," with Elsie St. Leon, will be presented at the Grand Opera House all next week. It is a drama as original as it is refreshing, and is one of those rare plays that appeal to the gallery gods. as it is refreshing, and is one of those rare plays that appeal to the gallery gods with the same force as to the occupants of orchestra chairs. The reproduction of a circus in full swing in the third act is one of the greatest pieces of stage realism. Dainty Elsie St. Leon will be seen again in the title role. The scenic production is remarkable. The third act setting, where an actual sawdust ring performance, with all the incidents and accessories is shown, is especially notable. accessories is shown, is especially notable.

HIPPODROME BILL.

A musical comedy revue that includes all of the season's latest song hits, newest versions of the modern dances, and clean, wholesome comedy, offered by Frederick Bowers and company, will be the headline attraction at the Hippodrome this week. "The New Butler" is the title of a laughable farce offered as the special feature by William Wilson and company. Doc O'Neill. heralded as the funniest man in vaudeville, will bring the funniest man in vaudeville, will bring to the Hippodrome next week an original offerinks. Coates, Keene and Johnston will offer a musical melange, said to be particularly clever. Peakes' Educated Blockheads have an unique offering, brimming with clever lines and amusing situations. The invisible symphony or-chestra and the latest photo plays will complete an unusually good bill.

With Greatest Secrecy.

Camp was broken gradually and quietly. It was a big job to move over 30,000 men and 7,500 horses to Quebec and look after the emparkation. But and look after the embarkation. But there were no hitches. We who lived there were no hitches. We who lived in the camp hardly knew what was going on around us. Battalions would move out at dawn to a siding two miles from headquarters and they would not be missed. There seemed to be the greatest secrecy in sending the men to Quebec, Now and then one would hear the strains of the R. C. H. A. Band, or the skirl of the pipes, and would imagine that some troops were moving, but who they troops were moving, but who they were it was impossible to say, because the camp was a remarkably large place and the various regiments had lost their identity by having been given battalion numbers. For instance, TRAINING CORPS the crack Queen's Own Rifles were known as No. 3 battalion, first brigade, known as No. 3 battalion, first brigade, and with the Queen's Own were the Grenadiers and the Governor-General's Body Guards of Toronto.

When the regulars moved out there was great enthusiasm shown by the troops, simply because they marched down the centre of the camp, led by the R. C. H. A. Band, which played stirring regimental airs, and everybody knew they were off for Quebec. The Royal Canadian Dragoons, followed by the Queen's Own and other Ontario regiments, plowed thru the mud to the siding, cheered all the way by onlookers. They Missed the Band.
When they stopped before boarding the special trains the troops gave three cheers for the band, which was not accompanying the contingent, and which had been practically the sole provider of music at the concentration camp. "Good-by, boys," came from many lips, and then the bandmaster ordered more music. Fifty yards away to the Toronto Improvement Conference, it was decided to request each Ratepayers' Association to take upon themselves the responsibility of organizing the different citizens' military training corps within their jurisdiction in accordance with the plan decided upon.

And when the band had gone a soldier drew an accordeon from his until they were practically out of sight. And when the band had gone decided upon.

Rivalry Over Woman. That there was rivalry between Sparling and Ward over Mrs. Miller was borne out by the evidence today. Mrs. Wardrobe, sister of Mrs. Miller, testified that Sparling had told her at the Beach that he wanted Mrs. Miller to quit Ward and go back to him, stating that he had a marriage license for her. Mrs. Miller's husband is alive, the couple having been separated for eight years. Mrs. Miller had previously worked for Sparling in his store on Queen street west, Toronto, and had lived under the same roof with him.

Ward Threatened Shooting. Manager Allan of the Park House, where Sparling had boarded during his trief stay at the Beach, stated that Ward had asked him to put Sparling out, and that he was a convicted thief.

Varsity had thirty-five men out to practice last night and it was the usual work. Practically two full teams will be used against the Old Boys on Saturday. Captain Charlie Gage will use the following men: Flying wings, Boulter and Gage; halves, Lindsay, Carr, McKenzie, Holmes, Milne, Saunders, Drope and O'Counor; quarter, Canfield and Symons; scrimmage, Gardiner, Gooderham, Lumsden and Wilson; wings, Cassells, Manning, Nicholson, McKenzie, Peterkin and Perry.

Argonauts had another big squad at Rosedale last night, and Rev. "Biddy" Barr and Jack Newton did the coaching. A chalk talk was the order after the practice. The double-blue will have a formidable outfit, as will be seen from the men available. The full list follows: the men available. The full list follows:

This will be the staged and while last year the Old Boys were beaten by rather a one-sided score, at must not be forgotten that in 1911, when the first game was played, the Old Boys won, 12-6, as they also did in 1912, by 30-29. This places the Old Boys with two wins to their credit out of three.

Billy Foulds, who is getting the Old Boys together, thinks he will have an outfit this year good enough to add another victory to their credit, and to date has had word from the following men

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—With the pennant in both the major leagues clinched, by Philadelphia in the American League and Boston in the National, interest today centres in plans for the forthcoming world's series. The first two games are to be played in the Quaker City on Oct. 9 and 10, the next two take place in Boston Oct. 12 and 13, the fifth in Philadelphia Oct. 14, and the sixth in Boston Oct. 16, if more than four games are required to decide the world's championship. The National Baseball Commission made an intimation to that effect.

The great surprise of the season, of

The great surprise of the season, of course, is the victory of the Boston Braves under the leadership of George Stallings, former manager of the ill-fated New York American Leaguers and the Buffalo Bisons and a baseball man of ex-

New York American Leaguers and the Buffalo Bisons and a baseball man of experience.

Asked for a statement today he said:
"I am tickled to death over the successful outcome of our long and trying battle for the pennant. The players are deserving of all the credit in the world for their splendid efforts and their courageous fight against heavy odds. They have worked hard, not only in the ball games, but at practice as well. Never once have we let up. Our slogan has been "keep going," and we have never permitted ourselves to believe that we had the championship won until that actually happened.

"The Braves' lineup will remain the same until the end of the season. The baseball public will pay its money in the expectation of seeing the regular players in action and I don't think we have any right to fool the public. The boys have shown not the slightest sign of wear so far. While the campaign has been a trying one, they have kept their heads about them and made a hard task comparatively easy. They are as fresh today as they were when they first started the spurt that carried them to first place and to the league championship.

"As far as the world's series with the Athletics goes there is simply this to say: 'Our team has won something like sixty-four out of the last seventy-nine games. Any team that can travel at that speed has little to fear. Our record speaks for itself. I don't see how any comment I might make should tell the story as well as the facts themselves."

BILL SYRON IS BIG UMPIRE

The following Kew Beach players were at practice in uniform Tuesday night: Buett, Barber, Dunn, Hargrave, Williams, Roadhouse, Seton, Heffernan and Wightman. These small practices are very disheartening to all connected with the club, and more especially after the poor team work shown on Saturday. It should not be necessary to impress upon the players the fact that a very hard game, which will count as two losses or two wins, will be played Saturday against Dons, and that a loss will practically put Kew Beach out of the running. With the exception of two men, one out of town and the other at present a little under the weather, no excuse will be found for fallure to turn out Thursday night, and Saturday's team will be plcked from those out in uniform then, without regard to past performances.

Parkdale's junior team held a snappy workout yesterday evening at Exhibition Fark. From the thirty-five men present two teams were lined up and given an hour's strenuous work. Captain Tuthill was in charge and kept the back division busy perfecting some new three-man plays, which should keep Balmy Beach guessing on Saturday when the two teams meet on Trinity College campus.

Argonauts had another big squad at Brand Strand St. excelled a seat; "Frand stand St. eventles samply this to say: 'Our team has were simply this to say: 'Our team has the workow any team that can travel at that speed has little to fear. Our record speaks for itself. I don't see how any comment I might and Wight the last seventy see has little to fear. Our record speaks for itself. BILL BYRON IS BIG UMPIRE CHOSEN BY NATIONAL LEAGUE

The umpires will be Klem and Byron of the National League, and Dineen and Hildebrand. of the American League.
There will be three official scorers: J. D. Spink of St. Louis, and one man picked by the Philadelphia baseball writers and one by the Boston writers.

It will be seen by this list that three former Leafs will share in the big money. Teddy Cather, Dick Rudolph and Fred Mitchell being the players.

NEW SCORE BOARD FOR WORLD'S SERIES

The new Nokes Electrascore will be seen at Massey Hall during the world's championship baseball series. This scoreboard is a very large apparatus, with figures and names of such dimensions that they may be plainly seen from a long distance. In the centre of the stage is placed a frame 26 feet long, 16 feet high and three feet deep. On this board is a well defined field, eight feet square, of copper wire, painted green, with the diamond of light brown. Beneath this field are one thousand seven hundred and fifty lights, so arranged that a continuous line may be described to any part of the field. Thus any combination of movements of field men (in green lights), of players (in red lights), and of the ball (in white lights) may be shown. The unique feature of the Electrascore is that the ball and the players are in constant and actual movement all the time.

LOCAL MEN WILL HAVE CHARGE IN PRESS BOX

DETROIT, Sept. 30.—Joe S. Jackson, president of the Baseball Writers' Association, stated tonight that all matters connected with the press box during the coming world's series baseball games would be in charge of Joseph M. McCready of Philadelphia, for Shibe Park, and Raiph E. McMillin of Boston, for Fenway Field.

The latest "find" in the Queens Rugby line-up is H. Rowland of Port Hope. He plays on the back division, and worked out with Hazlett and Hill. He is somewhat the build of Leckie, and a good 143 Yonge Street.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Foreign ex-

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 .- Foreign exchange continues to be the main featearly shipment of gold to Ottawa, in connection with United States foreign obligations, and that large exports of cotton have recently been made caused a relaxation of the high rates that prevailed early in the week.

Investment conditions are showing further improvement, this fact being demonstrated by a steady, moderate increase in the inquiry for bonds. An interesting sidelight on the domestic materiary situation was afforded by the proposed sale of $40,000,000 of sixmonth and one-year 5 per cent. notes by the New York Central Railway to a syndicate, which is to take them on a 7 per cent. basis. Other financing of like character for several other transportation companies is under negotiation.

Stock Yards on wednesday were 103 cartle, 1544 hogs, 2390 sheep and lambs, 141 calves and 55 horses.

At the close of the market on Tuesday there were fully 2600 cattle reported as being unsold, which, with the fresh arrivals on the market, made upwards of 3500 cattle of all classes on sale. As usual, there were few choice lots amongst them.

Trade was more than dull, it was simply paralyzed, as there seemed to be nothing doing, excepting that the packers were buying canner cows and bulls. Sellers stated that they had not even been asked to name a price for butchem cattle.

Over Abundance of Supply on Montreal Market Leads to Decline.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—A drop of 50 cents occurred in the price per cwt. of the best grades of butcher cattle at the stock market today. The supply of cattle was over abundant and the demand was very small, conequently lower prices than on Monday ruled thruout the entire market. Sheep prices were firm in the early buying but eased later and the last quoted lower with all other. Hogs continued to decline and were 25 cents lower. Calves were the exception of the day, the supply being light and the demand good. Trading in all departments was dull and sales of any size were few and far be-tween. The prices for round lots were as follows:

Choice butcher steers $7.50 to $7.75,

There was virtually no money market today, October 1 exigencies causing a general withdrawal of most available funds. October interest and dividend for the railroads, industrial companies and various utilities aggregate $73,537,000, against $86,621,000 in the same quarter of last year. The reduction is largely the result of numerous reduced or suspended dividends brought about by the European war.

Demand for commercial paper is also at a standstill, but this condition is certain of rectification, so bankers believe, before the end of another foringht. Many stock exchange loans falling due tomorrow are to be renewed at 7 per cent. according to rumor, but in some instances the 8 per cent. rate is likely to prevail.

Absence of domestic demand for finished products in iron and steel is being neutralized in a measure by an increase of foreign orders. The US. Siteel Corporation is now booking exgort orders in much the same volume as before the war, but the outlook is admittedly discouraging. Reports of a coming wage reduction in that industry lack confirmation in authoritative quarters.
