FROZEN FOOT HEALED

Mr. William Jones, Trapper, of Oba, Ont., had a very badly frozen heel cured by Zam-Buk. Writing to the proprietors he says: "While on a long tramp I got one of my heels very badly frozen. By the time I got back to my shack the pain was intense. Fortunately I had some Zam-Buk on hand and applied it freely. The relief I felt was wonderful. I persevered until Zam-Buk had drawn out all the pain and soreness and the swelling had disappeared. I am glad to say that I have had no trouble with it since."

A PRESENTATION
TO JOHN T. HAWKE

Moncton, Dec. 26.—At the rooms of the Moncton Liberal Association on Saturday evening many active Liberals met to make a presentation to J. T. Hawke, proprietor of the Trans-Canada, Dr. C. A. Murray presided and speeches were made by the chairman, Hon. P. J. Veniot, who happened to be present, Hon. F. J. Sweeney and others. An address was read by John A. Doherty and a large library swivel desk chair of golden oak with leather upholstery, was presented to Mr. Hawke, accompanied by a second chair to match the library desk chair. The chairs were beautifully designed. In addition there was a beautiful mahogany desk lamp, with inkstand, large ink wells, electric light attached, shade and socket complete.

Mr. Hawke, who was taken entirely by surprise made a feeling response. He spoke of the necessity of harmony between English and French speaking Canadians, and charged that conscription had sowed seeds of discord. He paid a glowing tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier personally, and said that though the straight Liberal party was not in a majority apparently, yet Liberals controlled the new house of parliament. There were difficulties confronting the government as at present constituted, and in the outcome of the situation he believed a united Liberal party would be formed, which for many years to come would guide and control the destinies of the Dominion of Canada.

Moncton, Dec. 26, Charles Marcil 3037.

COLD WAVE HITS EASTERN CANADA

Many Years Record Broken By Present Cold Snap.

Boston.—One of the coldest Decembers which this city has experienced culminated to-day in below zero temperatures. The thermometer at the weather bureau registered seven degrees below zero. A high northwest wind added to the discomfort, many suffering because of the general lack of fuel.

Greenville, Maine, with a minimum of 24 below zero was the coldest point in New England from which official records were obtained.

Quebec.—This city is experiencing the coldest wave since 1860. The thermometer registered this morning 30 1-2 degrees below zero. This is officially registered at the observatory, but individual thermometers on the heights about the city registered as low as 38 below this morning.

Sherbrooke, Que.—The coldest dip of the season was experienced this morning when the thermometer registered 32 below. Trains were running late and the roads were so bad that few farmers attended the market.

The severe cold snap which commenced Wednesday of last week has been the most severe experienced here and throughout eastern Canada in many years.

In Campbellton the thermometer has hovered between fifteen degrees to thirty below, with wind from the north-west. Sunday was a bitter day, with the mercury about 14 below at 2 o'clock and 35 during the night.

INSTANT ACTION SURPRISES MANY HERE

This grocer's story surprises local people: "I had had stomach trouble. All food seemed to sour and form gas. Was always constipated. Nothing helped until I tried buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler's. ONE SPOONFUL astonished me with its INSTANT action." Because Adler's is a flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and gives prompt relief. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold.

AFTER SICKNESS THEY GAVE HER VINOL

And She Soon Got Back Her Strength

New Castle, Ind.—"The measles left me run down, no appetite, could not rest at night, and I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs, so I was unable to keep about my housework. My doctor advised me to take Vinol, and six bottles restored my health so I do all my housework, including washing. Vinol is the best medicine I ever used."—Alice Record, 437 So. 11th St., New Castle, Ind.

"Paper's Diaper" neutralizes excessive acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.

Time is in five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching, or gas or eructations of undigested food, no diarrhoea, flatulence, foul breath or headache.

Paper's Diaper is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach restorer in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large five-cent can of Paper's Diaper from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

BILLY SUNDAY AND PRO-GERMAN FIGHT

Lively Scene in Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga. Dec. 20.—Billy Sunday and W. H. Butterbaugh, a pacifist German sympathizer, to-night waged a furious fight on the platform at the Tabernacle before an audience of several thousands yelling men and fainting hysterical women.

Billy had just made a violent attack on the Germans, declaring he didn't believe God would be on the side of people who would stand aside and allow Turks to outrage women, when the attack came.

Several blows were passed, Billy getting the better of the argument. Then the crowd swarmed upon the platform, and in the excitement that followed Mayor Candler was choked by accident and Butterbaugh got a black eye.

Only the intervention of the police saved Billy's assailant from the rough treatment, people in the audience yelling "Lynch him."

The Germans are starving, we read. What again?

A DISGRACE TO CAMPBELLTON.

Some two years ago the town council talked of erecting a fire station and town hall. There was so much criticism of the undertaking that the matter was allowed to drop as the amount necessary was considered too great under existing conditions.

In the meantime Campbellton has contributed thousands of dollars to the Patriotic fund, the Military Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross funds, and last Friday night $5,000 for the Halifax relief was voted. We do not wish to imply that it was not right to subscribe the above amounts. Not at all, but surely funds should be provided for necessary work.

Last Friday while the council was voting $5,000 for Halifax relief a town official was mourning the loss of a baby which was born under circumstances which are a disgrace to the town of Campbellton.

The town employs a driver and caretaker of the Fire team. He has to be at his post twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. He is a young, married man, (a single man cannot be got to take the job) and two rooms were fitted up in the shack which houses the apparatus and the horses, for him to live in. During the mild weather conditions are not bad, but during the past two weeks the quarters provided are not fit for horses, to say nothing of human beings to live in.

When the weather was at its worst the young wife gave birth to a child, which later died. We ask our readers to imagine if they can, what living in two rooms in a board shack with the temperature about thirty degrees below zero would be, under these circumstances. Surely something can be done to remedy temporarily this state of affairs, and then let our citizens support the council in proceeding with the erection of the needed permanent building.

TIME FOR ACTION.

In Quebec, as in New Brunswick, true sportsmen are promoting a movement for better protection of the partridge, which is being gradually exterminated. The Quebec plan is for at least a three years' prohibitory law. This will be in effect unless much more vigorously enforced than has been the New Brunswick prohibition. The last two or three years has shown such an alarming decrease in these splendid game birds, despite laws against their slaughter for sale, that New Brunswick can hardly longer lay claim to being a partridge country. Apparently the situation in Quebec is little if any better. The time for action in the interests of preservation of our weathered and four-footed game has come. Unless something really effective is done a few years will forever end the claim that this province is a sportsman's paradise—Globe.

OBITUARY.

The death of Mrs. James Gerrard, one of Campbellton's pioneer residents took place New Year's morning at the home of her son, J. Herbert Gerrard aged 82 years. Deceased was the eldest daughter of the late Peter Gerrard and was born at Head Tide. Three children survive, Mrs. Chas. Adams and Messrs. Herbert and Peter Gerrard. The funeral was held this afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. H. Miller. Interment was made in the Rural cemetery.

A big packer's plot has been unearthed in the United States. It is time these packers were sent packing.

O. Henry Stories

VII.—Art and the Broncho

By O. HENRY

UP of the wilderness had come a painter. Genius whose coronation alone are democratic, had woven a chapter of chaparral for the brow of Lony Briscoe. Art, whose divine essence flows imperially from the finger tips of a cowboy or a dilettante emperor, had chosen for a medium the boy artist of the San Saba. The out come seven feet by twelve of beamed canvas, stood, gilt framed, in the lobby of the capital.

The legislature was in session. The capital city of that great western state was enjoying the season of activity and profit that the congregation of the artists bestowed. The boarding houses were corralling the easy dollars of the gamesome lawmakers. The greatest state in the west, an empire in area and resources, had arisen and repudiated the old time barbarism, in breaking and bloodshed. Order reigned within her borders. Life and property were as safe there, sir, as anywhere among the corrupt cities of the effete east. Pillbox, churches, strawberry feasts and labors corpus flourished. With impunity might the tenderfoot vent his "coveys" or his theories of culture. The arts and sciences received nurture and subsidy. And, therefore, it behooved the legislature of this great state to make appropriation for the purchase of Lony Briscoe's immortal painting.

Rarely has the San Saba country contributed to the spread of the fine arts. Its sons have excelled in the solid graces, in the throw of the lariat, the manipulation of the estimated 45, the intrepidity of the one card draw and the nocturnal stimulation of towns from undue lethargy. But hitherto it had not been famed as a stronghold of aesthetics. Lony Briscoe's brush had removed that disability. Here among the limestone rocks, the succulent cactus and the drought parched grass of that arid valley had been born the boy artist. Why he came to art is beyond speculation. Beyond doubt some spore of the afatus must have sprung up within him in spite of the desert soil of San Saba. The tricky spirit of creation must have incited him to attempted expression and then have sat hiliarious amid the white hot banes of the valley watching its mischievous work. Lony's picture, viewed as a thing of art, was something to have driven away dull care from the bosoms of the ricks.

The painting—one might almost say panorama—was designed to portray a typical western scene, interest culminating in a central animal figure, that of a stampeding steer. Life size, wild eyed, fiery, breaking away in a mad rush from the herd that close ridden by a typical cow puncher, occupied a position somewhat in the right background of the picture. The landscape presented fitting and faithful accessories. Chaparral, mesquite and pear were distributed in just proportions. A Spanish dagger plant, with its waxy blossoms in a creamy aggregation as large as a water bucket, contributed floral beauty and variety. The distance was undulating prairie bleached by stretches of the intermittent streams peculiar to the region lined with the rich green of live oak and water elm. A richly wooded rattlesnake lay coiled beneath a pale green clump of prickly pear in the foreground. A third of the canvas was ultramarine and like white—the typical western sky and the flying clouds, rainless and feathery.

Between the place and pillars in the commodious hallway near the door of the chamber of representatives stood the painting. Citizens and lawmakers passed there by two's and groups and sometimes crowds to gaze upon it. Many—perhaps a majority of them—had lived the prairie life and recalled easily the familiar scene. Old cattle-men stood, reminiscent and candidly peering, chatting with brothers of former camps and trails of the days it brought back to mind. Art critics were few in the town, and there was heard none of that jargon of color, perspective and feeling such as the east loves to use as a curb and a rod to the pretensions of the artists. 'Twas a great picture, most of them agreed, admiring the gilt frame—larger than any they had ever seen.

Senator Kinney was the picture's champion and sponsor. It was he who so often stepped forward and asserted, with the voice of a bronco buster, that it would be a lasting blot, sir, upon the name of this great state if it should decline to recognize in a proper manner the genius that had so bravely transferred to imperishable canvas a scene so typical of the great source of our state's wealth and prosperity, land—and—live stock.

Senator Kinney represented a section of the state in the extreme west—40 miles from the San Saba country, but the true love of art is not limited by miles and bounds. Nor was Benator Mullens, representing the San Saba country, lukewarm in his belief that the state should purchase the painting for his constituents. He was advised that the San Saba country was unanimous in its admiration of the great painting by one of its own deities. Hundreds of constituents had straddled their broncos and ridden miles to view it before its removal to the capital. Senator Mullens desired re-election, and he knew the importance of the San Saba vote. He also knew that with the help of Senator Kinney, who was a power in the legislature, the thing could be put through. Now, Senator Kinney had an irrigation bill that he wanted passed for the benefit of the farmers, and he knew Senator Mullens could render him valuable aid and information, the San Saba country already enjoying the benefits of similar legislation. With these interests happily dovetailed, wonder at the sudden interest in art at the state capital must, necessarily, be small. Thus Mullens had uncovered their pictures to the world under happier auspices than did Lony Briscoe.

Senator Kinney and Mullens came to an understanding in the matter of irrigation and art while partaking of long drinks in the cafe of the Empire hotel. "You," said Senator Kinney, "don't know. I'm no art critic, but it seems to me the thing won't work. It looks like the worst kind of a chromo to me. I don't want to cast any reflection upon the artistic talent of your constituents, Senator, but I myself, wouldn't give six bits for the picture—without the frame. How are you going to cram a thing like that down the throat of a legislature that kicks about a little item in the expense bill of $681 for rubber craters for only one term? It's wasting time. I'd like to help you, Mullens, but they'd laugh us out of the senate chamber if we were to try it."

"But you don't get the point," said Senator Mullens, in his deliberate tones, tapping Kinney's glass with his long forefinger. "I have my own doubts as to what the picture is intended to represent, a bullfight or a Japanese allegory, but I want this legislature to make an appropriation to purchase. Of course, the subject of the picture should have been in the state historical line, but it's too late to have the paint scraped off and changed. The state won't miss the money and the picture can be stowed away in a lumber room where it won't annoy any one. Now, here's the point to work on, leaving art to look after itself—the chap that painted the picture is the grandson of Lucien Briscoe."

"Say it again," said Kinney, leaning his head thoughtfully. "Of the old, original Lucien Briscoe?" "Of him. The man who, you know, the man who carved the highest peak of the wilderness. The man who settled the Indians. The man who cleaned out the horse thieves. The man who refused the crown. The state's favorite son. Do you see the point now?"

"Wrap up the picture," said Kinney. "As good as sold. Why didn't you say that at first, instead of philosophizing along about art. I'll resign my seat in the senate and go back to chain sawing for the county clerk. I'll give you a check for $100,000. I can't make this state buy a picture calculated by a grandson of Lucien Briscoe. Did you ever hear of a special appropriation for the purchase of a home for the daughter of On-Eyed Smothers? Well, that went like a mutton to adjuvins, and old On-Eyed never killed half as many Indians as Briscoe did. About what figure had you and the cashierman agreed upon to sandbag the treasury for?"

"I thought," said Mullens, "that maybe five hundred."

"Five hundred?" interrupted Kinney as he hammered on his gavel for a lead pencil and looked around for a waiter. "Only five hundred for a red steer or the head delivered by a grandson of Lucien Briscoe? What's your state pride, man? Two thousand is what I'll be. You'll introduce the bill and I'll get it up on the floor of the senate and wave the scalp of every Indian old Lucien ever murdered. Let's see; there was something else I should have said, wasn't there? No, yes; he declined all emoluments and pensions he was entitled to. Refused his head right and veteran donation certificates. Could have been governor, but wouldn't. Declined a pension. Now's the state's chance to pay up. I'll have to take the picture, but then I'll deserve some punishment for keeping the Briscoe family waiting so long. We'll bring this thing up about the middle of the month after the tax bill is settled. Now, Mullens, you need over as soon as you can and get me the figures on the cost of those irrigation ditches and water rights and the increased production per acre. I'm going to need you when that bill of mine comes up. I reckon we'll be able to pull along pretty well together this session and maybe others to come, eh, senator?"

Thus did fortune elect to smile upon the boy artist of the San Saba. Fate had already done her share when she arranged his atoms in the comcomogy of creation as the grandson of Lucien Briscoe.

The original Briscoe had been a pioneer both as to territorial occupation and in certain acts prompted by a great and simple heart. He had been one of the first settlers and crusaders against the wild forces of nature, the savages and the shallow politician. His name and memory were revered equally with any upon the list comprising Houston, Boone, Crockett, Clark and Green. He had lived simply, independently and untroubled by ambition. Even a less shrewd man than Senator Kinney could have prophesied that his state would hasten to honor and reward his grandson, come out of the chaparral at even so late a day.

President Wilson is assuming control of the American Railway system. Contrast with Canada's C. N. R. job.

Sherbrooke, Que.—The coldest dip of the season was experienced this morning when the thermometer registered 32 below. Trains were running late and the roads were so bad that few farmers attended the market.

General Pershing allows only wine and beer to his soldiers. But how some of the folks in Canada's dry provinces must envy said soldiers!

To the threat of peanut butter and oleomargarine as a competitor in the markets the superior and plaid cow retorts that you cannot milk a peanut nor make shoes of oleomargarine.

A NEW YEAR'S GIFT.

Every home in Canada should treat itself to The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal for 1918. It will bring pleasure and happiness to every member of the family for every week of the year. The price is only $1.25, and if your subscription is received on time you will receive a copy of their great War Map, six 2 1/2 x 6 1/4 feet in four colors and surrounded with a border of facsimile badges representing nearly every battalion that left Canada. It is the biggest value ever offered to the people of Canada and no home can well afford to be without it.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star has no equal on this Continent as a great family and farm paper.

It takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw skin, a toper to draw a cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd, and a well displayed advertisement in this paper to draw trade.

AND IT IS TRUE

A wife will insist that the husband shall not go out of the house on cold raw days without two undershirts, a liver pad and a muffler on, in addition to his regular clothes. Yet as soon as he is safely down town she will rush out of the hot kitchen bare-headed and bare-armed to hang out clothes so as to get ahead of the woman next door; or she will tramp off down town, and from house to house to work up some society or church enterprise with nothing on her head but a little saucerpan of a hat, and shoes not thicker than a newspaper. Isn't this so?

Retail merchants in Canada will, beginning January 7, co-operate with the food controller in educating their customers to ask for substitutes for wheat flour, wheat products and beef and bacon.

It is expected that Germany will now shift 500,000 men to the West Front. It will take a good many more than that to break through.

WHY SHE NEEDED IT

Mr. Robert Lansing, the American Secretary of State, tells a good story of how an old negro woman made her way into the executive offices at Washington one day recently and implored him, with tears in her eyes, to use his influence to obtain a pardon for her husband, who was in jail.

"What's he in for?" asked Mr. Lansing.

"Fo' nothin' but stealin' a ham," explained the wife.

"You don't want him pardoned," argued Mr. Lansing. "If he got out he would very likely only make trouble for you again."

"Deed, I does want him out ob that place," she objected. "I needs dat man."

"Why do you need him?" enquired Mr. Lansing, patiently.

"Me an' de chillun," said she, apparently in perfect seriousness, "needs nother ham!"

ROBBING THE PUBLIC.

Under guise of raising funds for patriotic work a pamphlet or booklet entitled "The Story of the Fighting 26th" is being sold at one dollar per copy. Advertising matter for the pamphlet gave the distinct impression that the history was in book form, whereas the publication is 10 1/4 inches by 15 inches, 48 pages with a paper cover. The text is the same which appeared in a Montreal weekly, with illustrations of our soldier boys, poorly printed on a cheap grade of book paper. In the 48 pages are over two pages of paid advertising for various firms. At 25c a copy the publishers were receiving all the publication is worth, but under the guise of raising funds for patriotic work the public are asked to pay $1.00 per copy for the booklet, 60 cents of which goes to the publishers and 40c for patriotic purposes. In matters of this kind the public has been patient and long suffering, but surely this affords a just reason for complaint.

This criticism has no bearing upon the subject matter of the publication but from a mechanical standpoint only.

When you can save 20 cents on every dollar's worth of dry goods you buy at Gallagher's, it is true economy.

SOFT COAL SHORTAGE.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

The total subscription to the Victory Loan was $417,230,400, and there were 807,361 individual subscribers—one in ten of the population of Canada, or, say, a subscription from every other family. This was a great success, not only in the amount of the subscription but in its wide distribution among the people. This success was attained as the result of liberal advertising and follow-up work by canvassers. Merchants who are not doing much advertising should take notice.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

Next week as in past years, has been appointed a week of prayer. The programme for the week is as follows:—

Friday Jan. 11th.—Presbyterian Church.
Speaker, Rev. W. Camp.
Subject, "Prayer and Evangelism."
Services begin at 7.30 and close at 8.30.
Offering each evening for the Red Cross.

DALHOUSIE.

Dalhousie, Jan. 2.—The unusual cold weather put a damper on holiday amusements. The New Year was quietly celebrated here. A few young people enjoyed some skating in the rink which they claim is dull amusement without music. There was a fairly good attendance at the Star Theatre. Those who remember the good old times of long ago in Dalhousie saw the absence of the old custom of many families enjoying driving on our streets on New Year's afternoon. There was even the absence of the figures 1918 on the store doors in chalk as has been seen during many years in the past. The Sunday School children were well treated.

Some of our French Canadian families celebrated the holiday in the good old Quebec way.

The year just passed has seen bitter election contests. The town election was probably the hottest of all. Dalhousie notwithstanding the great mistake made in the past can be made a fairly prosperous little town, if our citizens would unite for the general good of the place. We have a splendid harbor, no better place in Canada for tourists, lots of labor. A little more patriotism is required. Why send money away for goods when they can be purchased as cheaply at home. Every dollar that is sent away is doing an injury to the place in which we live. Our merchants not only pay high taxes on their real estate and stocks, but they are always willing to subscribe generously to every good cause. Does the citizens who send all his money away to other towns feel any better at the end of each year? He cannot if he has any love of country in his make up.

Miss Jennie Bateman has arrived from Montreal after a pleasant visit with relatives.

Mr. Geo. McNeil of the Royal Bank staff Bathurst spent New Year's at his home here.

Mr. E. R. Richard solicitor of the town, who arrived from his home in Dorchester, on Saturday left this morning for Fredericton to appear before the government for the town of Dalhousie about the site for the new mill of the P. Q. Lumber Co.

Mrs. C. H. LeBlais left by limited New Year's eve to visit her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Lemay at Toronto.

Miss Anastasia Pasquet, who has for several years been a faithful clerk with the firm of A. & R. Loggie, Ltd., here is taking a well earned vacation.

Mr. Harry Hart, the popular traveler of J. & A. McMillan, St. John, N. B., spent the holiday season at his home here.

Mr. Henri Trudelle went to Quebec to spend the New Year with his mother. Mr. Gregory Harquail of Campbellton spent the New Year the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Ed. Harquail.

Mr. Clarence Delaney spent the New Year's friends in St. John's.

The banks showed unusual business activities these last few days, the completion of the old year and the second payment of the victory war bonds kept the staffs bustling.

The ice has taken well in Dalhousie now and all preparation for the smelt fishing is almost completed.

The severe cold weather of the last few days has made the ice safe for crossing and the men have already begun to bush the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Fraser spent the New Year with friends in Campbellton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott spent Xmas here the guests of Mr. Chas. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Simpson spent the holiday season with their friends at Shigawake, P. Q.

IN THE OLD COTTAGE.

Derrigan lived in an old cottage which stood in a field near the high road to Dublin. The foundations of the house were lower than the road, through which ran a great water-main. As the living floor of the house was raised on posts to make it level with the highway, it left a large cellar underneath, where Derrigan kept several hens.

One day the water-main burst flooded the cellar and drowned the hens.

Derrigan immediately put in a claim for damages. After a long delay and much trouble, influential friends assisted the old man to get two pounds in settlement of his claim.

That evening he saw Mrs. Cassidy, his next door neighbor, sitting on her back steps.

"I got me money from the district council," he called to her.

"Did yes, then, Mr. Derrigan? It's glad I am. How much did yes get?"

"Two pounds."

"Glory be! An' hev' yes the money?"

"I hev not, but I had it."

"What did yes do with it?"

"Sure, I bought two pounds' worth of ducks wild it."

attention from the Teutons, should carefully examine the terms offered to the Bolsheviki Government of Russia. It will be found that Germany is demanding control of the Russian wheat market for an extended period, and special privileges for her manufacturers in Russia to the exclusion of all other countries. If this peace is ever implemented there are even Canadian manufacturers who in the past enjoyed a lucrative trade with Russia, that will be detrimentally affected in the future. This, however, is a minor phase of the matter.

That Canada is not absent from the thought of the Germans in connection with their post-bellum projects, is clear from a remark dropped by Dr. Kieffeld a noted German economist. He pointed out that in the years preceding the war, American and Japanese competition had begun to be felt by German manufacturers, "and," he added, "a State belonging to North America and under British dominion was actually in open commercial war with the German Empire." Dr. Kieffeld is of the opinion that the peace terms should be of a character that such a thing could never happen again, and he also demands that provisions be made whereby other nations would be compelled to supply Germany with raw materials as she may require.

The "State under British Dominion" to which he alludes, is obviously Canada, and one of the raw materials which he has in mind is undoubtedly Canadian nickel. Most readers will recall the episode which this German economist magnificently describes as "commercial war." In 1897, Hon. W. S. Fielding, then Minister of Finance, decided to give a preference to British manufacturers, and to make it operative, denounced the existing commercial treaties with Germany and Belgium. This simple action of giving a preference to Great Britain was denounced as an unfriendly act in Berlin, and a heavy surtax put on Canadian products. To this, Canada responded with a surtax on German manufactures, which prevailed for some years, until Germany made the discovery that she was getting the worst of the bargain, because she needed Canada's products, and Canada could get along without her manufactures. It was one of the most characteristic manifestations of the German mind, that she should denounce as an unfriendly act a preference given by Canada to Great Britain in which she did not participate. Dr. Kieffeld's statement shows that her views of the subject is unaltered.

In a premature peace it is quite clear that Germany would demand that no tariff regulations be made by Canada without her consent. In the demand that a supply of such raw materials as Germany may require of other countries be part of the terms, Canada is also vitally interested, if only in view of the fact that she controls in a large measure the world's nickel supply. If Germany has her way, she will compel Canada to relinquish sufficient nickel to provide armaments for use against this and others countries in other wars, or any other purpose she may elect. Those who regard Canada's interest in this war as a matter of intangible sentiment have little idea of how quickly we would feel Germany's heavy hand, if a Peace Conference were compelled to grant all the demands she deems necessary to the future security of her trade.—Saturday Night.

JACQUELINE RIVER.

The weather on Christmas Eve was most favorable the roads in excellent condition and the merchants report a good holiday trade. The different stores being very tastefully decorated with winter visited us in earnest the following week, and we experienced a real old-fashioned "cold snap" falling little short of the famous "cold Friday." The thermometer registering 16 below on Sunday morning.

Special sermons and music suitable for the Christmas festival were rendered in the churches.

A whist party and basket social was held in the Church Hall at Nash's Creek on Christmas night, and a large crowd were in attendance. Whist was played at about 20 tables. The prizes being awarded as follows: Ladies first prize, box of chocolates; 2nd to S. Furlong; gentlemen's first prize, smoker's set, was carried off by Corporal Charles Doyle; ladies consolation, was won by Miss Gertrude Doyle, while gentlemen's consolation, a tooth brush was awarded to Mr. Joseph Francous. The baskets were then disposed off. Mr. John Haley, acting as auctioneer, and a hearty luncheon paraken off. A sum in the vicinity of $47.00 was realized, which will be equally divided between the Halifax sufferers and educational purposes. Wedding bells were pealing joyously on New Year's Day. We hope they will continue all year. It is a good example to set at the beginning of the year.

Private James J. Furlong of Nash's Creek is expected home this week. His name having appeared Saturday in the list of those on board a hospital ship, just docked in St. John. Private Furlong's many friends will be pleased to welcome him back. He enlisted in the 132nd, and saw active service for some time, being transferred after that battalion was broken up. Private Furlong was wounded in the hand and also received a shell shock. His brother Private Walter Furlong was killed in action about a month ago. Private Furlong will stay home a couple of months.

Miss Marion Winton of Campbellton Grammar School spent her vacation at her home here.

Miss Kathleen Hayes who has been attending Provincial Normal School, Fredericton is also spending her vacation at her home in Nash's Creek.

Master Percy McNair of Nash's Creek, who is a student at St. Thomas College, Chatham, is the guest of his mother for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Richard Doyle of Seal Cove was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes recently.

Mr. James Frenette and Miss Eva Frenette spent Christmas at Mrs. Frenette's home in Bathurst.

Miss Olive Firlotte who has been the guest of her sister Mrs. James Daley, Athol spent the holidays at her home here.

Mr. Sylvia Boucher of Athol was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Firlotte for Christmas.

Mrs. Jeremiah Frenette and children spent the holidays at Mrs. Frenette's home in Bathurst.

We wish our many readers a most happy and prosperous New Year.

BLACK CAPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robinson and little daughter Annie left on New Year's day for their home in Lacolle Station after spending the holiday season with Mrs. Robinson's parents, Mayor and Mrs. Angus Campbell.

Miss Robina M. Stevenson who is teaching up the Restigouche River is spending the holidays in Black Cape with friends.

Miss Bessie Montgomery of New Richmond is spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Edward Steele.

Gnr. George Steele of the 79th Battery, who was spending a few days leave at his home here returned Wednesday the 26th, to Montreal to report for duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willett and family are leaving for Grand Cascapedia where they intend to reside. Their absence will be keenly felt among their many friends here, but we wish them the best of success in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willett are receiving the congratulations of their many friends on the arrival at their home of a daughter.

We regret to learn that Miss Bella Campbell is confined to the house through illness.

Mr. Alexander Campbell of Duluth, Minnesota, who is visiting his old home in Bonaventure River after an absence of thirty years is now visiting his brother, Duncan in this vicinity.

The Cause of Heart Trouble

Faulty digestion causes the generation of gases in the stomach which inflame and press down on the heart and interfere with its regular action, causing faintness and pain. 15 to 30 drops of Mother's Relief Curely Syrup after meals sets digestion right, which allows the heart to relax and regular.

Canada's Record Year

IN FISHERIES VALUE Ottawa, Dec. 28.—Owing to the great demand for fish, and the high prices prevailing, the total market value of Canadian fisheries for the last fiscal year constituted a record. It amounted to $59,308,578.

This was $3,847,670 greater than the value for the previous year.

ATHOL.

Miss Robentine McIntyre is spending the holidays at her home in Campbellton.

Miss M. Murphy is spending the holidays at her home in Newcastle. Miss Mabel Salmon spent Xmas at her home here.

Many friends of Mr. F. X. Russell will regret to hear that he is confined to his home through illness.

Friends of Miss Susie Salmon will be pleased to hear that she is improved after a somewhat serious illness.

Mr. Norman Brooks and son Roby, left last week for Halifax.

The Christmas closing was held on Friday last, and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Jos. Russell spent Christmas with Mrs. F. X. Russell.

Mr. Peter Christenson spent Christmas at his home here.

Mr. J. Glover of Bathurst spent the holiday at his home here.

Mr. Arthur Keeley left for Halifax last week.

Mr. Geo. Harper spent the week-end in Tide Head the guest of Mrs. Robert Harper.

NOUVELLE, Que.

The weather has been very cold for the past few days, about the coldest Nouvelle has yet seen.

Mr. Clarence McDonald and Mr. Roland Kerr have returned from La-Tuque where they were employed for the past few months.

Messrs. David and Philippe McBratney spent Xmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McBratney.

Mrs. Thomas Parker paid a short visit to Campbellton recently to see her daughter Mrs. E. Loubert who has been seriously ill.

Midnight mass was celebrated in the Roman Catholic Church at Xmas by the Rev. Father St. Laurent, a large number being present. The music and singing was very fine. Miss Yvonne Frenette presided at the organ while Alonzo Frenette accompanied with the violin.

MATAPEDIA.

A very successful farewell and surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Ferguson, to the Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Miller, on the eve of their departure to their new home in Piquash, N. S. Almost all the members of the Matapedia section of the congregation gathered to bid Mr. Miller, who was their pastor for five years, God-speed, and to wish him every success, and happiness in the new field of labor which he is about to enter.

The ladies, as usual, served a most delicious supper, after which Mr. John A. Robertson read the following address:—

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Miller: The friends who have gathered here this evening, wish to assure you of their appreciation of Mr. Miller's services, and of the many kindnesses received from you both. You will long be remembered among us, and will indeed be missed, both as pastor, and as true friend. For during the time you have been with us, you have certainly proved that a "friend in need, is a friend indeed." We shall miss the hearty pleasant greeting we always met with from you both, but we can only hope our loss will be your gain. And we wish you, in your new field of labor every success and prosperity. You will always be remembered in Matapedia as those who were always ready to extend a helping hand, and if circumstances ever permit you to see your way clear to come back to us, we can assure you sincerely of a hearty welcome. Whether you come back to us as minister, or as visitors, you will be equally welcome. In token of our appreciation, we herewith present you with this purse. Wishing you the compliments of the season, and all happiness in your new home."

Mr. and Mrs. Miller very feelingly and tenderly thanked the people for this renewed token of their love, and kindness.

Among the teachers we see home for the holidays are: Misses Bella Caldwell, H. Donnelly, W. Chisholm, Rosa Sherar, E. Caldwell, Blanche Caldwell, G. and B. Hamilton, Rena Astles, and Rhoda Garret.

THE CHIEF CHARM OF LOVELY WOMAN

Soft, Clear, Smooth Skin Comes With The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES."

NORAH WATSON 86 Drayton Ave., Toronto. Nov. 10th, 1915.

A beautiful complexion is a handsome woman's chief glory and the envy of her less fortunate rivals. Yet a soft, clear skin—glowing with health—is only the natural result of pure blood.

"I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using "Fruit-a-tives" for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without "Fruit-a-tives."

NORAH WATSON. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

NEW CARISLE.

On December, 28th., the Presbyterian Sunday School's yearly entertainment was held in the church and was well attended by the scholars as well as many of the parents. The programme was very good and proved to be one of the best of its kind held for many years. The best feature of the evening was the pastor's feature of the children. Rev. Mr. Anderson spoke to the children with all his heart and assured them of his interest in them, and is looking forward to a year of spiritual uplift and blessing. The collection amounted to $7.00 for Sunday School work.

Mr. Anderson has just returned from Douglastown, N. B., where he was visiting his father for two or three days, who is now in his 92nd year, and is still quite hearty and well.

Lieut. O. Sherar has received word from head quarters at Quebec that he will be attached to the Second Depot Battalion, First Quebec Regiment, and he will be taking up his work in the near future.

The election fever seems to have died out considerably and the many opponents to the government candidate and the government are not feeling too happy, although the two poles in this division gave the government candidate 12 of a majority. The Nation government has started out well and it is gratifying to the temperance people to realize that one of the very first acts was to declare Prohibition in the near future all over Canada. May the good work continue in these trying times.

Pte. Edgar Caldwell of the 26th Battalion, for the past eight months convalescing in Halifax, is spending the Xmas holidays with his mother and sisters here. Edgar was in Halifax at the time of the awful explosion, and escaped with only an injured finger.

Sergt. Alec Dawson of the 26th battalion arrived recently in town from overseas. Alec was with the 26th from St. John, until the past year, when he received shrapnel wounds and developed rheumatism of a very serious nature. After convalescing for some months, and undergoing operations he is fairly fit and his many friends are glad to see Alec's smile again.

Mr. H. Lawrence of Fort Daniel, spent a few days with his daughter, Mrs. G. P. LeGrand.

Miss Onex Kempfifer of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., in Quebec is spending the holidays with her mother and family.

Miss D. Major spent Christmas day at her home in Shigawaka.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cote, and family are in Quebec for the holiday season.

A number of the Home Guard Soldiers were home for Xmas. Among them we notice, Stewart Hall, Reed Morrison and John Gilker.

Among the teachers we see home for the holidays are: Misses Bella Caldwell, H. Donnelly, W. Chisholm, Rosa Sherar, E. Caldwell, Blanche Caldwell, G. and B. Hamilton, Rena Astles, and Rhoda Garret.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender "Little Stomach," Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When parents, nurses, babies, don't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, accumulated waste, indigestible food and sour bile gently moves out of his little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Pathe Records are Supreme

Supreme musically—supreme scientifically—supreme in the extent of repertoire.

Pathe records are supreme musically and scientifically because of the method of recording in a long, broad sound wave, and the reproduction by means of a round, polished, genuine sapphire ball, which completely fills the groove and gathers the music from every point of contact.

This combination produces a tone full, rich, natural and with forty per cent. more tone colors than any other record.

The sapphire ball never requires to be changed, and never wears out the record.

The Pathe repertoire of records is superior because not only does it include records by the most popular artists in America, but also contains selections by the best-loved European artists who have not yet left, and may never leave, the old world. Such artists as Ruffo, Muratore, Didur, Alboni, Cavallieri, Filzoi, Cisneros, Slezak, Weil, Ober, Urfus, Parvis, Boninsegna, Koralek, Georgini, Constantino, and many others record for Pathe. Band, orchestral, and instrumental records, without equal, are at your command through the Pathe Records. All the best in art and music is yours through Pathe. And the Pathe is kept strictly up to date.

If you already own a talking machine it can be equipped to play Pathe records. Call on any of the dealers mentioned below and see how you also may enjoy Pathe records.

SEE THE NEW PERIOD DESIGNS IN PATHEPHONES

In addition to the style here illustrated, which is the "William and Mary" period design, and sells at $15.00, Pathephones are made in other beautifully-ornamented models, including all the furniture periods most famous in history, and ranging in price from $10.00 to $25.00.

Everyone interested should ask for THE PATHE ART CATALOGUE, containing interesting chats on Period Furniture.

Don't be a shirker

Every community is divided into workers and shirkers, hoppers and mopers. The workers talk on cheerily, daily contributing to the prosperity of the place and full of hopes and plans for its future. The shirkers hang back, contribute nothing to its welfare, criticize those who do and talk despondingly of things in general. Strange as it may seem it is easier to be a worker than a shirker and certainly it is a good deal better all around. Then, also, there is the satisfaction of knowing that one's life amounts to something. Therefore don't shirk; work; don't mope, hope.

One's life is divided into two parts: the part that is lived and the part that is not. The part that is lived is the part that is worth

O. Henry Stories

VI.—Phoebe

you notice that Red Luck Kearny is still on deck. It was a shame, now, about that gun. The only needed to be showed two inches to clear the rail, and that's why I grabbed that rope's end. Who'd have thought that a sailor, even a sailing ship on a narrow coast, would have fastened a line in a bowline? Don't think I'm trying to dodge the responsibility, captain. It's my luck.

"There are men, Kearny," said I gravely, "who pass through life blaming upon luck and chance the mistakes that result from their own faults and incompetency. I do not say that you are such a man. But if all your misadventures are traceable to that star above the horizon, then you are a man who endows his colleagues with chairs of moral astronomy the better."

"It isn't the size of the star that counts," said Kearny. "It's the quality.
Just the way it is with women. That's why they gave the biggest planets masculine names and the little stars feminine ones—to even things up when it comes to getting their work done. I suppose they had called my star Agamemnon or Bill McCarty or something like that instead of Phoebe."

"Every time one of those old boys touched their vanity button and sent me down one of their whimsical pieces of bad luck I could talk back and tell them what I thought of 'em in suitable terms. But you can't address such remarks to a Phoebe."

"It pleases you to make a joke of it, Kearny," said I without smiling.
"But it is no joke to me to think of my getting mixed in the river once."
"As to that," said Kearny, abandoning his light mood at once, "I have already done what I could. I have had some experience in holding stone in quarries. Tores and I have already split three hawyers and stretched them from the steamer's stern to a tree on shore. We will rig a tackle and have the gun on terra firma before noon tomorrow."

"One could not remain long at odds with Red Luck Kearny."

"Once more," said I to him, "we will waive this question of luck. If you ever had experience in drilling rain-troops?"

"I was first sergeant and drill master," said Kearny, in the Chilean army, "for one year and captain of artillery for another."

"What became of your command?"
I asked.

"Shot down to a man," said Kearny,
"during the revolution against Balmaceda."

"Somehow the misfortunes of the evil seemed to me to turn to me their comedy side. I lay back upon my gun's hide and let the rain fall in the woods echoed. Kearny grinned.
"I told you how it was," he said.

"Tomorrow," I said, "I shall detail 100 men under your command for a man of arms drill and company evolutions. You will rank as lieutenant. Now, for God's sake, Kearny, I urged him, try to combat this superstition. It is one. Bad Luck may be like any other visitor—preferring to stop where it is expected. Get your mind off stars. Look upon Esperanza as your planet of good fortune."

"I thank you, captain," said Kearny quietly. "I will try to make it the best handicap I ever ran."

"By noon the next day the submerged Gatling was reeled, as Kearny had promised. Then Carlos and Manuel Ortiz and Kearny (my lieutenant) distributed the rifles among the troops and put them through an incessant drill. We fired no shots, black or solid, for of all costs Esperanza is the still, and we had no desire to sound any warnings in the ear of that corrupt government until they should carry with them the message of liberty and the downfall of oppression."

"In the afternoon came a mule rider bearing a written message to me from Don Rafael Valdivia in the capital, Agua Fria."

"Whenever that man's name comes to my lips words of tribute to his greatness, his noble simplicity and his conspicuous genius follow irresistibly.
He was a traveler, a student of peoples and governments, a master of sciences, a poet, an orator, a leader, a soldier, a critic of the world's campaigns and the idol of the people of Esperanza. I had been honored by his friendship for years. It was I who first turned his mind to the thought that he should leave for his mountain a new Esperanza—a country freed from the rule of unscrupulous tyrants and a people made happy and prosperous by wise and impartial legislation.
When he had consented to throw himself into the cause with the undivided zeal with which he endowed all of his acts. The colors of his great fortune were opened to those of us to whom were entrusted the secret moves of the game. His popularity was already so great that he had practically forced President Cruz to offer him the portfolio of minister of war."

"The time, Don Rafael said in his letter, was ripe. Success, he prophesied, was certain. The people were beginning to clamor publicly against Cruz's misrule. Bands of citizens in the capital were even going about with burning stones at public buildings and expressing their dissatisfaction. A small party of President Cruz's army had been sent to the mountains to suppress the movement. A General tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—friend and comrade on a cruise de la muerte.

"On the morning of the 14th we began our march toward the sea following the mountainous trail of the mule trail to the capital. Our small arms and provisions were laden on pack mules. Twenty men harnessed to each other pulled them steadily along the steep, alluvial lands. Our mules, well shod and well fed, moved with alacrity and heartiness. I and my three lieutenants were needed on the tough mountain peaks of the country."

"A mile out of camp one of the pack mules, becoming stubborn, broke away from the train and plunged from the path into the thickets. The alert Kearny sprang quickly after it and intercepted its flight. Rising in his stirrups, he released one foot and bestowed upon the mischievous animal a heavy kick.
The mule reared and fell with a crash broadcast upon the ground. As we gathered around it it wailed his great eyes almost, usually toward Kearny and expired. That was bad, but worse to our minds was the consequent disaster. Part of the mule's burden had been two pounds of the best coffee to be had in the tropics.
The bag burst and spilled the precious brown mass of the ground berries among the dense vines and weeds of the swampy land. Mala suerte! When you take away from an Esperanza his coffee you abstract his patriotism and 50 per cent of his value as a soldier. The men began to take up the precious stuff, but I beckoned Kearny back along the trail where they would not be. The limit had been reached."

"I took from my pocket a wallet of money and drew out some bills.
"Mr. Kearny," said I, here are some funds belonging to Don Rafael Valdivia, which I am expending in his cause. I know of no better service it can pay for him than this. Here is $100. Look after it, or no look, we go on to pay here. Star or no star, calamity seems to travel by your side. You will return to the steamer. She touches at Esperanza to discharge her lumber and iron and then puts back to New Orleans. Hand this note to the sailing master, who will give you passage."

"I wrote on a leaf torn from my book and placed it and the money in Kear-ny's hand."

"Goody," I said, extending my own
"It is not that I am displeased with you, but there is no place in this expedition for—let us say, the Señora Phoebe," as I said this with a smile,
"I would have liked to be in that little fight with you over in Agua Fria Success to the cause. Adios!"

"I turned around and set off down the trail, with Don Rafael's pack unattended, the demon star of Kearny, with a half smile I observed the sleight of hand of his malignant attendant, the demon star of Kearny, the ill luck. And then my thoughts strayed across the hills to the scene of our coming triumph, where the heroic and noble Don Rafael awaited our coming to set a new and shining star in the firmament of nations."

"I heard a slight rattling in the deep grass to my right. I turned and saw Kearny coming toward me. He was ragged and dew-drenched and limping.
His hat and coat were gone. About his waist he had tied some makeshift of cloth and grass. But his manner as he approached was that of a man who had been through a great deal of trouble and was well enough to be superior to it."

"Well, sir," I said, staring at him coldly. "If there is anything in persistence, I have the right thing for

HAD SAVED MONEY.

The exile had saved a bit of money, and came back to his native land for a holiday. There he met an old school fellow, and started to tell him of his success as an athlete.

"Just before I came back," he mentioned modestly, "I won a gold medal for a hundred yards sprint."

"Good for you," said his old friend. "I've got some trophies too. I've gold medals for the half mile, the mile, and the five-mile races; five silver cups for swimming, a marble clock and some more cups for cycling, and two or three belts for boxing and wrestling."

His old friend stared at him in amazement. "Shure," he gasped. "It's the champion athlete you are, isn't it?"

"Not at all," was the grinning reply. "Not at all, my boy. I kept a pawnbroker's shop."

First Reader—I can't think how it is you manage to fare so well here. I've industriously made myself pleasant to the landlady and her daughters, and yet I'm half-starved.

G. W. V. A.

A record general meeting of the G. W. V. A. was held last evening. Several matters of utmost importance to the society were dealt with.

Twenty dollars was voted to the Red Cross Fund. Dr. Murray was present and gave a pleasing address to the boys. A donation of $5.00 from Mayor A. A. Andrew, for furnishing rooms was acknowledged. At the close of the meeting the Campbellton boys entertained the visitors at lunch at the Canada Cafe. A very pleasant time was spent.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The question of the medical examination of all pupils attending the public schools is one which must soon be decided by our school board.

The following editorial from the Newcastle Union Advocate was prepared by a man who has given the matter much thought and should be read by all who are interested in our school management:

Our oft repeated demand for medical inspection of school children, previously made by the Newcastle Town Improvement League and several times before that by the Northumberland County Teachers' Institute is steadily gaining support.

It has been repeatedly endorsed by the Women's Institute of Newcastle and was vigorously supported at the last Provincial Convention of the N. B. Women's Institute and adopted.

At the annual meeting of the St. John Associated Charities a short time ago, the principle of Medical inspection was heartily endorsed. At that meeting, Hon. Dr. Roberts gave an address strongly urging the necessity for medical inspection in the schools. Numberless children, are attending school in a diseased condition and perhaps the disease is latent and is not suspected. This child is not only in need of medical care, but it is a menace to other children. Many children are maimed for life lose their sight or hearing, simply because the defect was not discovered. Medical supervision of the school would help overcome the disability. Hon. Dr. Roberts, continuing said: "Marriage ought not to take place between people who are diseased," and told of the results of a medical examination of the schools in Boston and New York, and said that the discoveries in regard to the condition of the children can hardly be believed. Normal school teaching ought to include the ability to recognize different diseases. Particular attention should be paid to children between eleven and fifteen years of age.

A recent issue of the St. John Globe has the following editorial on that subject:

"Medical inspection in the schools of England about a year ago revealed a startlingly low physical condition, and aroused the public to a sense of the responsibility that lay with the nation to alter the existing state of affairs. The future of the Empire depends upon the children of today. This is always true, but the war has emphasized this fact in a way that the most careless cannot longer ignore. Of course, medical inspection is but a step in the right direction. Probably when the results of that inspection are placed before the people there will be awakened the same sense of personal responsibility as stirred the English people to immediate action. There is no doubt that many children are hampered in their school work by physical ailments that in the incipient stage are not especially serious, but neglected develop conditions that become permanent. All sorts of things contribute to defective mental and physical inability of the children, improper feeding, lack of knowledge of sanitation, neglected minor ailments, things that of themselves are scarcely noticeable in the individual, but that when multiplied in hundreds of children produce a low ratio in the health reports, and lower the mental and moral standards of the community. Medical inspection in the schools will place the actual conditions before the public and then it will be necessary to find out the causes and to check them at the outset. It is a step in the right direction, and while the difficulties are many, weighed against a sturdy nation they should become as nought. A majority of the children in the schools in Saint John will suffer from the nervous and economic strain of the war. This suffering will doubtless be due more largely to what is conditions are influenced by the men than to direct influence, but science has shown how seriously the physical conditions are influenced by the mental. To-day no one can afford to neglect whatever will make for the well-being of tomorrow."

FINANCE IN WAR TIME.

Annual Statement of Canadian Bank of Commerce is issued.

The annual report just issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, covering the fiscal year ended November, 1917 emphasizes the exceptional service which this bank, with its great system of branches closely identified with the business life of every section of the Dominion, renders to the country. During the year just closed its assets increased from $280,000,000 to $344,000,000 the amount shown at the year-end being, of course far in excess of any previous total reported by the bank. Current loans and discounts in Canada, which item covers advances and credits supplied to practically every form of mercantile and industrial activity in evidence in this country, rose from $105,000,000 to $149,000,000, the increase for the year being $16,000,000. These figures indicate that the necessary requirements of the bank's customers have been fully attended to, notwithstanding the large degree of support which the bank has accorded to the war financing of the Canadian and British Governments. The extent of the new advances to Government is indicated by the holdings of Dominion and Provincial Government Securities and British and Canadian Municipal Securities, the increase in which for the year was nearly $30,000,000, taking this increase along with the expansion of the ordinary current loans and discounts a total increase of about $46,000,000 is shown. The two classes of deposits show a gain of about $47,000,000 and this enabled the bank to keep up its holdings of cash, bank balances and call loans. Its holdings of cash increased to $44,632,247 from $40,191,005 in 1916, showing that it has not neglected the duty of keeping strong under present conditions.

With reference to the quick assets which stand at over $167,000,000 it is to be remembered that there will presumably be a heavy reduction of the bank's loans to the Dominion Government, as soon as the proceeds of the Victory loan are available.

Net earnings after provision for bad and doubtful debts, amounted to $2,637,555 which figure represented an increase of $193,000 over last year's figure. The ratio of net earnings to capital and cost, in other words the rate of return on the actual capital investment of the proprietors was 9.23 per cent in 1917, as against 6.66 per cent in 1914. The increased resources employed, and the satisfactory rates of interest ruling in the markets naturally caused an increase of gross revenue, but the ever-rising cost of operating and other special expenses incidental to the war, prevented these factors from reflecting themselves fully in the profit, and loan statement. The net earnings for the year, along with $802,319 brought forward from the preceding fiscal period, permitted the payment of the regular dividend of 10 per cent, with the bonds of 2 per cent and enabled the directors to add roundly $530,000 to the profit and loss balance after making the necessary deductions for war taxes, pension fund and war contributions. With this addition, the profit and loss balance carried forward reached $1,332,074 which sum represents a very substantial reserve of a like amount, one in 1916 and one in 1914, making $150,000 in all. The uncertainties of the war period. This reserve against the contingencies and other war contributions referred to in this year's report include $7,500 for the British Red Cross and $5,000 for the British Sailors' Relief Fund.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To render pork sausages more digestible, thoroughly prick the sausages and plunge into boiling water for five minutes then fry in the usual way.

A flour sifter that has lost its value as a sieve makes a fine egg boiler, as the eggs may be placed in the water at once, and also be removed at once when done.

A little vinegar in the rinsing water on washing day will prevent the hands from becoming rough and chapped.

To discover whether coffee is pure sprinkle a few grains on the surface of a tumbler of water. If pure they will float, but if adulterated they will sink to the bottom.

If any ink is spilled on your carpet do not worry over it. If a lump of white sugar is put over it before the ink dries the sugar will absorb it. Then rub some salt and lemon on the spot. This is a good remedy for ink spots.

To prevent damp and rust from attacking the wires of a piano, tack a small bag of unslaked lime inside the instrument just underneath the cover. This will absorb all the moisture.

Place in a cardboard box a layer of ordinary flour, then lay the forks and spoons upon it and cover quickly with flour. They will remain quite bright for any length of time.

When dusting soak the duster in paraffin, then wring out and dry in the air. There will be no unpleasant smell, and the duster will gather up the dust easily and give a brilliant polish to mirrors and picture glasses.

Mud spots on black cloth should be allowed to dry thoroughly; then the mud should be scraped off and the place well brushed. Light stains will remain most always, but these can be removed by rubbing them with a raw potato.

To clean the inside of a water-bottle or any glass that is too small to insert the hand into, put into the bottle a small quantity of tea-leaves pour in about one-third of a teacupful of vinegar, shake well, empty, and rinse with cold water. A perfectly clear glass will result.

Lady Wolseley has presented a painting of the landing of the Red River Expedition to the Canadian government. "My husband spent a good many years in Canada," writes Lady Wolseley to Sir George Perley. "He was much attached to the country, and I feel this gift is one he would have wanted me to make."
