PARONIZE HOME TOWN MERCHANTS

Canadian Weekly Newspaper in Big Advertising Scheme.

The 500 weekly newspapers which comprise the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, are co-operating for the revival of business. The object is to stimulate and increase the buying of goods made in Canada and the patronage of Home Town Merchants. With this in view every one of these newspapers has run a large display advertisement.

Will our readers buy Canadian made goods from their local merchants? They should do so, and we trust they will. The wisdom of this course is to be apparent to all. The people of Canada realize the benefits derived by their buying Canadian goods. They are buying "Victory Bonds" instead of foreign goods, and having the interest in the form of coupons payable to the Canadian investor. Instead of millions of dollars going out of the country to meet the interest on war bonds, the money is kept in Canada and the circulation of it has meant a proportionate prosperity, stating he was a student in the faculty of medicine in the McGill University. His papers also show him to be a barrister-at-law in the Maritime Provinces.

VAGRANT CLAIMED BATHURST AS HOME

Man Fined at Toronto for Vagrancy Had Deeds for N. B. Lands in Pocket.

Toronto, June 15.—Alexander Firmingham, middle aged, who says he was born at Bathurst, N. B., was fined five dollars and costs on a charge of vagrancy by Magistrate Brunton in the County Police Court Saturday. According to the story related by Firmingham, he left a college in Montreal, where he had been studying to return home and see about his property. He then decided to visit his sisters, who live in Philadelphia and Boston. He said he was going to the Pacific coast first, but apparently to all. The people of Canada realize the benefits derived by their buying Canadian goods. They are buying "Victory Bonds" instead of foreign goods, and having the interest in the form of coupons payable to the Canadian investor. Instead of millions of dollars going out of the country to meet the interest on war bonds, the money is kept in Canada and the circulation of it has meant a proportionate prosperity, stating he was a student in the faculty of medicine in the McGill University. His papers also show him to be a barrister-at-law in the Maritime Provinces.

Not only that, but there is a card in his pocket which shows that he is a student in the faculty of medicine in the McGill University. His papers also show him to be a barrister-at-law in the Maritime Provinces.

PASTE THIS ON YOUR WINDSHIELD

Here are the wise counsels that William H. Stewart, head of the Stewart Auto School, of New York City, gives to drivers:

Don't try to pass another car on a curve; you'll get hurt sooner or later.

Don't speed; only amateurs do it.

Don't splash mud on innocent bystanders; it's a thoughtless, cruel trick.

Don't lock your brakes when you start to skid; you'll lose control of your car.

Don't drive fast on wet pavements; you're bound to regret it.

Don't ride in the middle of the road; another roadhog will tangle with you eventually.

Don't cut across the inside of a curve; sometime you'll meet another car head-on.

Don't seek to pass another car without first giving a warning note of your horn; you may get side-swiped.

Don't back your car without looking behind you; there's always something there.

PRINCE TO SEE 25,000 ZULUS
IN THEIR WAR DANCE

Warriors Chosen as Finest Physical Specimens of Their Race.

Eshowe, South Africa, June 8.—The Prince of Wales arrived here yesterday from Durban, to find 25,000 Zulu warriors already assembled for the spectacular set for today.

All the warriors carry shields and knobkerries but are not equipped with native spears, because it is feared the wild excitement of their native warlike gyrations might possibly lead to actual fighting.

The warriors have been chosen as the finest physical specimen of their race.

Touring

NOWHERE is the Ford more enjoyed and appreciated than in the country.

It has brought to farm women a constant means of escaping the monotony of farm life in isolated districts and has enabled them to add to the benefits of rural life the advantages of being always within easy reach of the city.

Not the least important feature of owning a Ford is that any woman can handle it for it is the safest and easiest of all cars to drive.

FORESTRY MEN TOURING COUNTY

Educational Motion Pictures Being Shown And Lecture Given At Various Rural Points

Educational work along the line of Forest Preservation which is of undoubted value is being carried on in this county during the present week by Mr. Ambrose Legere of Fredericton who is connected with the Canadian Forestry Association, Ottawa. Moving pictures, which deal with the woeful destruction of our forests are being shown and instructive lectures are being given at various rural points through the county. Mr. Legere is accompanied by Mr. Roy Hanning, also of Fredericton. Enthusiastic meetings have already been held at Ashfield Settlement, Lower Balmoral, Upper Balmoral, Tobique, Glencoe and Dundee. This meeting at Lorne drew such a large attendance that the building secured was found too small to accommodate the crowd and it was necessary to gather the enthusiastic visitors together at a suitable spot in the open. With a similar meeting at Beckettville tonight and one at Nash's Creek on Friday evening their tour of the Restigouche district will be completed. It is interesting to note that last year the Canadian Forestry Association, under whose auspices this educational work is being carried on, spent some $800,000 on Forest Preservation Work. The C. F. A. has a membership of 1500. In Restigouche County this work is being done under the direction of Mr. David McIntosh of Nash's Creek, who is connected with the Forest Rangers of this district.

CHINA'S GREAT WALL

The great wall of China, the greatest defense work ever erected, and the greatest, the most colossal building, from point of contents, ever constructed, was begun under Emperor Shi Huang Ti 200 B. C., more than 2,000 years ago, and should be good for another 2,000 years, according to an article in the Scientific American. It was built of granite blocks at the north, east frontier of the Mongolian tribes. It is thirty feet at the base, sloping to a width of twenty feet at its top, and from twenty to thirty feet high. It traverses mountain ridges to the highest summits and dips into deep gorges and valleys, extending from the coast of the Yellow Sea to the interior of the Gobi desert, and measuring with all its branches, more than 1,500 miles in length. It contains 300,000,000 cubic meters of material, as much as 120 Great Pyramids of Cheops. How the huge blocks were dragged up precipitous mountain sides, down into valleys, across unbridged streams, is not known, or how many men and animals were required, and how many perished in the work. Americans, who today become awed when they think of some of our great engineering feats, should ponder on the achievements of the old Chinese were no steam traction, no electric or hydraulic drills—nothing but human labor.—Indianapolis News.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL AGE

Although thirty-five is usually assigned as the age when womanhood attains her greatest measure of beauty a London Daily Express representative, who had been prosecuting enquiries on the subject, found a wide difference of opinion among the connoisseurs he consulted. Among the authorities he interviewed was Edmond Dufaye, who thus expressed himself:

"Whenever a woman's life is most harmonious and happy, then she has attained her full bloom and is most beautiful. Life is usually kindest to women between the ages of thirty and thirty-five, and then, as they are often at their happiest period, they are passing through the greatest stage of their beauty."

M. Nikita Bouleff, of the Chauve Souris, said, "I agree with Balzac that woman is at her handsomest at thirty, when she still remembers the fragrance of thirty and already understands the beauty of the autumn."

Michael Arlen, author of The Green Ha, said: "O woman is at her most beautiful age at the age which suits her best, and that age is different with every woman."

Lord Hedley, the Irish peer, who is now a Mohammedan, said: "The age at which a woman is most beautiful varies according to her disposition. Some girls at twenty are at their prettiest, and other women are loveliest when their black hair has turned white. Some girls are pretty when they are young, but environment affects their disposition, and in their unhappiness they lose their beauty early in life. There are plain girls who grow happier as they grow older, and they become more beautiful."

The truth of the matter is that a really ugly woman is a rarity. There are plain ones in abundance but nearly all of them possess some redeeming feature which is beautiful—small, dark, shining and even teeth, small ears or a lovely complexion. And what about eyes?

Yes Mother! Nonsense! How could Jack Higgins ever come to this? Core Coolington: Why, he held me in his arms and kissed me till I just had to kiss him back in self defense.

A ROYAL VISIT MADE IN 1860

When the Prince of Wales (Edward VII) Visited Charlottetown and Gaspé, Que.

Replying to a correspondent, the Boston Globe Says:—

The then Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, landed at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, from the steamer Hero, at 2 o'clock Tuesday, Aug. 9, 1860. The Admiral's ship, the Nile, Ariadne, Cosack, Valorous, Flying Fish and the French commodore's ship, Pomene formed the fleet accompanying the Prince. The day was wet and stormy but a large number of visitors had gathered to greet the Prince. The royal squadron was met by the Micmac Indian canoe fleet. The Prince was taken to the Government House and in the evening the town was illuminated. On Aug. 10 the Prince held a levee and the ships were open to the public. A grand ball was held in the evening. On Aug. 11 the Prince and his suite embarked at 1 p. m. for Gaspé.

WHEN MEN HAD APPETITES

Eating and drinking competitions were among the joys of bygone days in England. People were much more hearty feeders in those days than they are today. Prizes were awarded at fairs and similar places to the man who could dispose of the greatest amount of food in a given time. A contest of that sort, says the Argonaut was organized in a mining town in the north of England. One competitor, a great collier six feet in height, and broad in proportion, succeeded in disposing of a hog of mutton, a plentiful supply of vegetables, and a plum pudding washed down with copious draughts of ale. He was unanimously declared the winner and was being triumphantly escorted home when he turned to his admirers and said: "Eh, lads, say, don't say nowt 'o' this to my old woman, or she won't gie me no dinner!"

Mistress—You say you worked for the Van Twillers. Can you prove that?

New Maid—Well, mum, I can show you some spoons an' things with their initials.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK

The Graphic understands that a meeting of the Town Council will be held Friday evening, at which the assessment for the year will be considered.

It is a foregone conclusion that the year will see a very material increase in the warrant. This increase is made necessary by the larger amount required for school purposes.

No doubt in their effort to keep down the amount of the warrant the Mayor and Councilors may be tempted to use the pruning knife in regard to some expenditures and grants. In doing this we trust they will look not only at the amounts in dollars and cents which might be saved, but at the results which such cutting might have to the whole community.

For instance it has been suggested that the grants to the hospitals might be reduced. This would surely be poor economy, as we understand that the $2000 granted the local hospitals does not pay for one half of the town of Campbellton charity patients treated by these institutions. We are proud of the reputation of our hospitals and surely we as citizens would not ask the town council to reduce this assessment.

Then there is the matter of the public health nurse.

This service costs the citizens of Campbellton about $1750 per year. Of this amount the council has in the past assessed $750.00 and the balance is made up by our citizens in various ways. Surely there is no fairer or more equitable way of raising this amount than by assessing it.

At a public meeting held Tuesday Dr. G. G. Nelson, Chief Medical Officer for the province stated that the work of the Public Health Nurse was directly responsible for the great reduction in infant mortality in Campbellton. In 1920 the rate was 264 per 1000, while last year it had been reduced 134.

Surely the results obtained by the expenditure of this amount of money is well worth it, even if the nurse did nothing else. But when you take into consideration her other duties we cannot understand how any person of average intelligence would for a moment consider doing away with this service.

We know we voice the sentiments of a large majority of ratepayers when we ask that these particular grants remain as heretofore.

TRIUMPH FOR VENIOT

The announcement which comes from Montreal that the International Waterways Commission has granted the government of New Brunswick permission to proceed with the development of the Grand Falls, water power will be joyfully received by the people of this province. The successful termination of the proceedings before the commission is certainly a great triumph for Premier Veniot and in has every reason to feel jubilant over the favorable decision. There is very little accompanied now-a-days without hard work and it will be generally conceded that Premier Veniot has labored indefatigably to get the Grand Falls project into such shape that development work can be proceeded with during the present year.

This involved a tremendous amount of labor, and a less energetic and less determined man than Premier Veniot might have become discouraged and abandoned the task in the face of the many difficulties which presented themselves from time to time, but the numerous setbacks encountered only spurred him onto greater efforts. Thus, the development of the great water power of the upper St. John has become necessary if New Brunswick is to take its proper place in the great race for industrial supremacy now going on, there is not the slightest doubt.

The province possesses rich resources which must be developed, cheap power will play an important part in that development, thanks to the efforts of Premier Veniot. Grand Falls is going to supply that cheap power.

In the preliminary work which has been carried on in connection with the Grand Falls project, Premier Veniot has not had smooth sailing by any means. Representatives of the big interests have met him at every turn, and tried their best to place obstructions in his pathway but all to no purpose. He feels, and rightly too, that inasmuch as the Grand Falls water power belongs to the province it should be developed by the people and for the people and this is the rock on which he has taken his stand. In the course of a few weeks the people will be given an opportunity to pronounce upon the matter and we feel sure that Premier Veniot and his government will be given a mandate proceeded with the great undertaking of Grand Falls which is fraught with such great possibilities for the future prosperity and development of this province - reprinted Mail.

AN ADVENTUROUS GENERATION

From the Methodist Conference and the Presbyterian Assembly come two striking tributes to the youth of our time. Says Dr. Endicott: "We are bemoaning too much with talk about bobbed hair and short skirts and other fool things which do not really matter in religion. Dr. Gampier also, "They are a splendid, hopeful, adventurous generation detesting shams, shibboleths and time-worn dogmas." Such notes are refreshing when one hears so much ill comment on our young folk.—Ex.

WILL PRESENT ENCOURAGING REPORT AT ANNUAL MEETING OF N. B. TOURIST ASSOCIATION

C. H. LaBilloy, Vice-President of the Association for Restigouche Makes Tour of Lower End of Lower End of County and Is Optimistic Regarding Outlook—Writes of Jacquet River and Bay View Inn.

Dalhousie, N. B., June 16.—In view of the approaching annual meeting of the New Brunswick Tourist and Resources Association, C. H. LaBilloy began last week a tour of inspection in the lower end of Restigouche Co., the section in which it has been said that the officials of the Canadian National Railways, intended taking steps to erect a large Tourist Hotel. Be that as it may, the Vice President for the County of Restigouche found, after his visit on Friday to Jacquet River that the lower end of the county is fairly well prepared to receive city folks from now till Oct. 1st.

The Bay View Inn recently built, can well be called Northern New Brunswick's Favorite Summer Hotel. The clean wide beaches near the Bay View Inn are an ever failing source of attraction for the visitor at Jacquet River.

The 'Bay View Inn' or 'Doyle's Hotel' as it is commonly called, is a first class summer hotel in every respect and is so situated as to command a truly remarkable view north, east and west along the famous and historical 'Baie des Chaleurs.'

A new and thoroughly up-to-date building only recently completed, it has a capacity of fifty guests, and, when necessity arises, arrangements can be made to accommodate a large number. The hotel is equipped with all modern improvements and its cuisine is excellent.

Jacquet River is a beautiful and thriving village situated on the main line of the Canadian National Railways in Northern New Brunswick on the sunny south side of the Bay Chaleur about 500 miles from Montreal.

This part of New Brunswick possesses numerous attractions for tourists and is annually visited by large numbers of these business people, artists, educationalists, nurses and health seekers from different parts of the world.

Here one may enjoy quiet country life on the sea shore with excellent salt water bathing, boating, fishing, and every opportunity for healthy outdoor exercise.

A most attractive feature of the Bay View Inn and one which has always been a delight to guests is the broad and lengthy verandahs at the front of the building. Pleasant evenings are enjoyed and a sunset view from this vantage-ground is worth traveling many miles to see. Mosquitoes and flies are unknown in the locality. Throughout the vicinity there are innumerable delightful camping sites where moose, deer, caribou and other game abound.

There are two tennis courts on the Bay View Inn grounds and these have

FINAL LOCATION SURVEY GOING ON AT GRAND FALLS

Engineer Lowery and a Party Locating Site For Tunnel.

Grand Falls, N. B., June 15.—Engineer Lowery, chief of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission's field staff, and a party of engineers are here.

They are making surveys which will, it is said, finally locate the tunnel by which water will be carried from the dam at the crest of the Grand Falls to the power station which will be located at the lower basin.

The tunnel will have an inside measurement of 23 feet square and will be about 2,600 or 2,700 feet in length, passing directly under the town. It will cross under Broadway near the residence of Dr. Verette and it is understood that arrangements are being made so that when contracts are awarded the tunnel work can be started from both ends.

Another party of engineers are making the last surveys for the satisfying of claims for damages by backflowage along the Canadian side of the St. John river between here and Edmundston.

TRANSMISSION LINES SURVEYS TO START SOON

Active preparations are being started for commencing the development of the Grand Falls on the St. John river, the official sanction for which was given at Montreal on Saturday afternoon by the International Joint Commission on Waterways.

It is also understood that preliminary surveys for the main transmission lines will also be started immediately. One of the main transmission lines will run up the St. John river to Edmundston and across the north of the province to Campbellton and thence down the North Shore via Bathurst to the Miramichi, where it will link up with the other main transmission line which will come down the St. John river valley, to Fredericton which will be the junction of the lines to St. John, to Chipman and across the Nashua and Miramichi valleys to Newcastle and Chatham. Grand Falls Celebrates Granting of the Order.

Grand Falls, N. B., June 15.—The people of the Upper St. John River Valley are especially pleased that the actual start of the development of the Grand Falls, for which they have been waiting all these years, is to be actually commenced within a comparatively short time.

There was general rejoicing here on Saturday evening when word was received that the International Joint Commission had finally authorized the development to go on. The first news of the provisions of the order came from The Daily Gleaner and the populace were greatly pleased to learn of the favorable conditions of the order.

always proved a very popular attraction for summer holiday guests.

Splendid salmon and trout fishing can be enjoyed along the Jacquet River and at Antimers Lake; also deep water fishing in the Bay Chaleur, opposite the Bay View Inn.

It is understood that the surplus of boys who will frequent the Boy's Camp, known as "Camp Chaleur for Boys" at New Mills, will be accommodated at the Bay View Inn at Jacquet River.

As New Mills is but a short distance from Jacquet River, tourists leaving the "Chateau Restigouche" or "The St. Louis Hotel" at Campbellton, after motoring from the North will pass through a beautiful section of country following the noble Restigouche River, passing through the quaint little town of Dalhousie, Chale, reaching New Mills, which during a recent visit from Lord Byng, Gov.

Lord Byng on tour the Maritime Provinces, they declared this location one of the most wonderful spots visited during their trip, and their special train was laid off several days to the party might linger to enjoy it. Mr. LaBilloy informed your correspondent that he is in a position to furnish very optimistic information at the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Tourist and Resources Association regarding the future prospects of tourist travel in Restigouche Co.

DRIFTING FROM OLD STANDARDS
Renfrew Mercury: His Honor, the Lieut. Governor of Ontario, Mr. Harry Cockshutt, who visited Renfrew a few months ago, struck a high plane in his address last week before the Kiwanis Club and the Board of Trade of Ottawa. His Honor said he felt there was a strong tendency today to drift away from the old standards of religion and thrift, and these tendencies must not be encouraged. "We cannot send our children to church on Sunday and expect them to receive any benefit from it if we ourselves go out and play golf or indulge in other mild forms of sport," said Hon. Mr. Cockshutt. "It is the duty of adult Canadians, today," he said, "to pass on to those who come after the same stalwart traits of character as the founders of this country displayed when they settled here. Religion was the base and foundation of this country and so long as Canadians are true they will be a force that will carry the country over many difficulties."

Newcastle, June 15.—The death of Andrew McCabe, the well-known C. N. R. locomotive engineer, occurred at his home in Newcastle early this morning. DIFFERENT SPECIES
It is said that an occasional salmon of a different species is being caught here this season. These fish which are large and very fat have flesh which is almost white instead of the delicate salmon pink. However out- side of the color they appear to be as palatable as the usual variety. Some one has said that these are Newfoundland salmon which have strayed out of their usual course, and are coming up the Restigouche.

Croup at Night No Longer Feared by Canadian Mothers

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reached Congested Air Passages.

Many Canadian mothers, who in the past have worried over croup and children's colds, are delighted with the "external" remedy for colds, Vicks VapoRub. You just rub Vicks over breast and chest for croup, children's colds, bronchitis or deep chest colds. When so applied the body heat releases the ingredients as vapors which are inhaled directly into the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and reducing the inflammation.

Of Interest to Women

The study of new kitchen equipment is a fascinating one. Besides the many new labor saving devices, cooking pots and pans of various shapes, there are the little convenient things for ornamental cookery that good cooks love to own. These things are not very expensive, but we usually have to hunt them in specialty shops rather than at the usual household departments.

A new and convenient serving fork for lifting vegetables from the pots is a wide-tined affair with a sharp, blade-like rod running across the tines at the bottom. This blade may be used to cup up the vegetables for pan-frying. The handle is just the right length to hold conveniently.

The new deep, oblong aluminum ladle has a convenient pouring lip and a wooden handle that does not get hot. Serving the soup in the kitchen, the ladle holds just enough to fill the dish properly, so all are served alike. This fact speeds up the service.

The new deep oblong aluminum ladle has a convenient pouring lip and a wooden handle that does not get hot. Serving the soup in the kitchen, the ladle holds just enough to fill the dish properly, so all are served alike. This fact speeds up the service.

A potato creamer is one way of making mashed potatoes popular with the family. It is formed of three cross rods framed on a long handle, and after the potato has been mashed it is beaten with the creamer, which breaks up every lump that the masher missed and makes them as light as whipped cream. With a little butter, pepper, salt and cream added, the creamer whips the seasoning through the mass. When creamed set the potato pot into a larger one with boiling water in it to reheat the potato, then serve.

ACIDS DON'T HURT ALUMINUM.

Aluminum jelly cake tins and deep dish pie plates are a little more costly than the other kinds, but they are lovely to use. The pans bake perfectly without burning, and they are so easily washed! Another point is corrected in the new cast aluminum utensils so that acid does not affect them. This fact is emphasized by the appearance of reamers for orange or lemon juice made of metal, both in individual sizes or in large sizes for general family use.

There are several kinds of new pastry wheels made in wood, enamel tin and aluminum wares, and one of glass. There is also a pinwheel looking one that is considered especially fine for sealing the crusts of fruit pies so that the juices won't run out in the oven. These sealers are considered even more effective than the pie plates of paper that many women favor.

In most kitchens, corks of vinegar and other bottles constantly in use are either broken or lost. Now, however, there are marvelous kitchen corks with carved and painted wooden figures or symbols of what the bottle contains. The figures are grotesque and comical, and are three or more inches tall; so that they are colorful and decorative on the shelves. The corks are topped with the figures in the peasant countries of Europe, famous for their wood carvings.

Wooden salad forks and spoons are also topped with the little painted figures, which makes them very attractive servers used with a salad bowl of colorful, peasant pottery. A gay addition to the seasoning shelf is a Chinese ginger jar. The jar is painted in gay coloring and the straw harness is made a glossy black. In the jar is stored the dry sage leaves for flavoring, and tightly corked they keep perfectly. Certain of the imported jam and marmalade pottery jars and pots, from abroad, are coming in for their share of decoration, and with the new corks they add colorful bits of decoration to the kitchen shelves.

Little scoops made of aluminum the very handy for sugar, salt, tea and coffee canisters. The scoops are just like the big one in shape, with round little solid handles.

SOME NEW RECIPES

Mexican Salad

3 green peppers, 4 ripe tomatoes, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 head lettuce, 12 olives, ½ teaspoon salt, garlic if liked.

Remove stems and seeds from peppers and cut in thin slices. Peel and slice tomatoes. Slice olives. Put lettuce and tomatoes in bowl and over these put the peppers and olives. Mix salt and lemon juice, beat in the olive oil gradually, pour over salad. Take ripe tomatoes, scoop out inside and fill with cream cheese, which has been mashed and beaten to a cream. Serve on lettuce with dressing.

5 crisp lettuce leaves, ¼ cup chopped olives, ½ cup finely chopped, ¼ cup chopped almonds, chicken.

Arrange lettuce leaves attractively on plate. Put chicken in middle of lettuce leaves, keeping it in a circle. Put olives in circle on edge of chicken doing the same with almonds. Use French dressing.

Would suggest using stuffed olives for color as well as flavor:

FRENCH DRESSING.

½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. paprika, 2 tsp. vinegar, 4 tsp. olive oil.

Mix ingredients and stir until well blended. Some prefer addition of a few drops of onion juice.

Banana Ice Cream

Mash with a fork 2 bananas and 3-cup of sugar, add juice of 1-2 lemon, and just before freezing add 2 cups milk and 1 jar cream and a few grains of salt.

Charlotte Russe

1 pint cream, ¼ cup powdered sugar, 1 tsp. extract.

Mix ingredients. Have very cold and whip to stiff froth. Line dish with sponge cake or lady fingers, fill with whipped cream and serve cold.

MARKET THE BROILERS

(Experimental Farm Note)

Now is the time to be selling the broilers. If there is a market for these, young chickens, are about supplying it. It pays better to sell now rather than later, all chicks intended for the table, and as for broilers such as the Leghorns, one cannot afford to keep them until fall and then sell for the price of winter.

If a market is not already arranged, it would be well to see about it at once. Usually the broiler market should not be too far away. The best places to look for customers are as follows (named in order of highest prices): private families, clubs, high-class hotels, summer hotels, high-class boarding houses; dealers, etc.

The best time to sell the broilers is when they weigh from 1 to 2 pounds each. The earlier in the season, the smaller the weight that will be taken, and the larger the price.

The most satisfactory way to market is to kill and dress before shipment, (all but dealers require them dressed,) but for longer distances, and in warm weather especially, if sold to dealers they may go alive.

IMPORTANT—In preparing feeding mixtures it is imperative that all utensils, bottles, nipples, etc., should be sterilized in boiling water before use. Feed at regular intervals in morning, noon and evening. Measure contents from the can, and in measuring be careful to pour from can to spoon, allowing the milk in the spoon to level itself. Repeat this procedure with every spoonful measured, using the same spoon every time. This will insure accurate measurement and produce the best results.

DIET FOR CHILD DURING THE SECOND YEAR

Usually after the twelfth month, the mother should select a diet schedule. Every new article of food should be carefully prepared, and given at first in very small quantities. All meals are to be given with nothing between meals. With many children this expansion of the diet list is attended with considerable difficulty. They are thoroughly satisfied with milk, and refuse all other form of nourishment. In such cases, withhold the milk until the more solid articles of food have been accepted. If both are given at the same time, the child will prefer the milk and when he has finished drinking it he will refuse the solid food. The following diet schedule will permit the mother to select a suitable meal from the foods listed. It is never advisable to make a change in diet during very hot weather.

NOTE: One teaspoonful of EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK added to one ounce of boiled water results in a mixture equivalent in nutritive value to whole milk. When over the word milk appears in the following diet, EAGLE BRAND should be diluted accordingly.

12th TO 15th MONTH—FIVE MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, barley, or wheat jelly, one to two tablespoonfuls in 6 or 8 ounces of milk. Stale bread and butter, or rusk and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Scraped raw beef, one to three tablespoonfuls, mixed with equal quantity of bread and moistened with beef-juice. Or a soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs; a piece of rusk and 6 or 8 ounces of milk.

3 P.M.—Beef, chicken, or mutton broth, with rice or stale bread broken into the broth. Six ounces of milk, if wanted. Stale bread or butter or rusk and butter.

Many children at the above age will take and digest apple-sauce and prune pulp; when these are given, milk should be omitted.

6 P.M.—Two tablespoonfuls of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk; a piece of rusk. Stale bread and butter.

10 P.M.—A tablespoonful of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk.

The following suggestions have proved to be helpful when properly used with bottle feedings, and they may be used in conjunction with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

Always pour the milk from the can into the spoon—allowing it to level itself but not run over. You can readily understand that by dipping the spoon into the can you get more than a level spoonful, because of the milk that would adhere to the bottom of the spoon.

When you have added the milk to the water stir thoroughly. After opening, it is safe to leave the milk in the original can.

ORANGE JUICE

When baby is four months old, give one teaspoonful of strained orange juice, diluted with equal quantity of boiled water, once daily before feeding time. Gradually increase the amount until you are giving the strained juice of a half of an orange undiluted, once daily before feeding time. Orange juice may be continued until child is old enough to eat other fruits as well as oranges.

OATMEAL JELLY

When baby is five months old, add one teaspoonful of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. Gradually increase the amount until you are adding three tablespoonfuls of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. To make oatmeal jelly add four ounces of oatmeal to one pint of water; boil for three hours in a double boiler, and add enough water so when cooking is completed a thin paste will be formed. This white hot is forced through a strainer to remove coarse particles. When cold it may be continued until child is old enough to eat well cooked whole cereals.

15th TO 18th MONTH—FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, hominy, cornmeal, each cooked three hours the day before they are used. When the cooking is completed the cereal should be of the consistency of a thin paste. This strained through a colander, which upon cooling will form a mass of jelly-like consistency. Of this give two or three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, 8 or 10 ounces of milk as a drink. Toast.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped, mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusk or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.

3 P.M.—Mutton, chicken, or beef broth, with rice or junket or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes, baked apple or apple sauce.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (each cooked two hours). Give one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

10 P.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped, mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusk or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.

3 P.M.—Mutton, chicken, or beef broth, with rice or junket or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes, baked apple or apple sauce.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (each cooked two hours). Give one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

10 P.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped, mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusk or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.

The following suggestions have proved to be helpful when properly used with bottle feedings, and they may be used in conjunction with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

Always pour the milk from the can into the spoon—allowing it to level itself but not run over. You can readily understand that by dipping the spoon into the can you get more than a level spoonful, because of the milk that would adhere to the bottom of the spoon.

CONSTIPATION

Oatmeal water very often relieves this condition. To make oatmeal water add one heaping tablespoonful of oatmeal to one pint of water, and boil for three hours in a double boiler. This will make a little more than half a pint of thick gruel to which add one pint of water that has been boiled. After straining mixture through fine strainer, you should have a little more than a pint of whitish liquid. This should be used with each feeding instead of the plain boiled water. If you find that this makes bowels too loose, dilute oatmeal water with plain boiled water.

Barley or rice water may be used instead of oatmeal water. If necessary two to three drops of plain cod-liver oil may be given twice daily added to the morning and night feedings.

DIARRHEA

Give nothing but plain boiled water for twenty-four hours. Then start feeding with barley water, or rice water, to which has been added a little salt to improve the taste. If these feedings are retained, and bowel movements lessened, small amounts of very weak regular feedings may be started and gradually increased according to baby's condition. If you find baby does not improve after trying the above suggestions, consult your doctor at once.

Emily Finds a Poor Family

By Irene S. Woodcock

With a smile and a shrug of her shoulders Emily Reed refused the fudge that Mary Fenton had passed to her. "Thank you, no," she said, "though of course I love it."

Mary set the dish down and with a perplexed air looked at her friend. "What is it Emily? I've never known you to refuse fudge before. Are you afraid of spoiling your complexion?"

Emily nodded. "Not only that," she explained, "but I really think girls, now that the subject has come up, that we should do something besides meet week after week for our own pleasure. If we want to have these little meetings, why not have them worth while?"

"O Dmy, don't start on that worthwhile stuff," drawled Maude Emerson, a fair, pale girl who always wore light blue. "We hear it every where we go. Let's have one after noon a week that we really can call our own."

In spite of her own serious mood Emily laughed. "I call most of my afternoons my own. Maude after school is out. But we started this little club with the intention of making it really helpful, and it has finished by—" She paused to find words that would explain and not give offence.

Helen Fallon came to her assistance. "It has finished," she said quickly, "being a talking club to which we bring our own bits of fancywork which we don't sew on, and at which we always manage to eat enough to spoil our appetites for dinner."

There was a little note of relief in Emily's laugh. "Well, if you say so, Helen, we'll call it that," she replied. "Instead of helping anyone, even our selves, we are just selfish."

"I don't call it selfish," said Mary go places! Just suppose Helen and Mary and Maude and I hadn't seen one another for years; how would we get together?"

And then the idea came, the idea that sent a thrill through her body. "That's just it," she said. "I've found the poor family. Won't the girls be surprised though? Now let me think just how I'll manage."

Thursday at eleven o'clock Emily, who had been excused from school early, helped her mother into her best silk dress with the frilly front and patted her hair softly. Finally when Mrs. Reed was ready to start Emily surprised her by hanging her finger. "Mother, you look just like a girl!" she exclaimed. "Katie Martin will think you haven't changed since you were sixteen. And I know just how you feel at the prospect of seeing her again. Now don't worry; everything's all planned."

"Are you sure?" began Mrs. Reed from the top step of the porch.

"All sure as mine," replied Emily, and repeated goodby to her mother as she joined Mrs. Fallon.

At three o'clock when the chime rang Emily was again at the door.

"Did you find the poor family?" Maude asked eagerly as she slipped out of her coat.

"I found four of them," replied Emily.

"Four?" echoed three astonished voices. "We can never sew for four."

"Indeed we can!" Emily led the way to the sunny living-room, and the four new girls followed her in the low, comfortable chairs that she had carried downstairs.

"Dear chairs that she had carried downstairs," she said. "I never then, she handed out the work."

"But these are just stockings," Maude protested as she looked at the raw and set face and the brown hair that she had seen in the low, comfortable chairs that she had carried downstairs.

CANADIANS WILL RETURN WHEN JOBS AVAILABLE

The following letter has been received by the Financial Post from a subscriber in Detroit, a Canadian who went to the U. States to get work at his trade as a bricklayer and was now hoping for a return of prosperity in this country in order to be able to come back and make a living here. But he is of the opinion that so long as we play into the hands of the United States in supporting our power, pulpwood and raw materials generally the jobs which will bring Canadians back and immigrate as well will not be forthcoming.

Editor, The Financial Post.

Dear Sir:

I have read your article on keeping power and pulpwood at home for use in Canada. I was a bricklayer and have spent about 17 years in Canada, and there are a few hundreds of us who are waiting for the United States to get things better so that they can get back. But you can't get things better when there is nothing for them to do, and from what I have seen of a tradesman I think the Canadians or the men that have spent a great deal of their time in Canada can put it all over the American side and that is one reason why so many of them come down here, as they say, steady work. So if Canada would then to stop work with pulpwood, well, send all your power and all your pulpwood and everything else you have and then we shall not reckon on coming back any more.

A bricklayer I see the best of building material all over Canada; but if you were using it and working in the building trade you would find that about half of the best bricks used, or more than half, are from the United States. And when you are working here you do not see one from Canada. I think if some of the architects would specify Canadian material and most of some of their own products a little more it would help, but you hear nothing like this in Canada.

I have laid brick in Canada, which has cost $100 per thousand, but they could not make them in Canada they said, and they never will until they try to. Keep on hanging at some of the dumbbells and then perhaps you will get some of them to see how to keep the people when they get them.

out hesitation replied that she knew of no family in Barr City who needed help. No did the grocer know of any needy families about? he said. "I'm sure I don't know how anyone could suggest that," he said. "I know."

"I'll have to find one myself," said Emily. "There's certainly a poor family somewhere that needs the help that we can give."

"And you're going to find one before Thursday?"

But Barr City was a small town, and its board of charity was well organized. Emily decided to search for a needy family in the low, comfortable chairs that she had carried downstairs.

"Dear chairs that she had carried downstairs," she said. "I never then, she handed out the work."

"But these are just stockings," Maude protested as she looked at the raw and set face and the brown hair that she had seen in the low, comfortable chairs that she had carried downstairs.

"What's a 'hoosit,' Hilda? the puzzled cook exclaimed.

"Oh, a bell rings. You put a thing to your ear and say, 'Hello,' and someone says, 'Hello,' and you say, 'Hoosit?'"—Continued.
