STATEMENT IN THE COMMONS. London, June 25 .- In the House of Commons today, referring to the failure of the American and Russian forces to reach Tien Tsin, June 21, the par-liamentary secretary of foreign affairs, Mr. Brodrick, said that since then British troops from Hong Kong had arrived at Taku, and it was believed that 3,000 Japanese, 1,000 German and 2,000 French troops had also arrived there. SENDING UNITED STATES TROOPS Washington, D. C., June 25.-The Chinese minister has asked an armistice in the sending of American troops to China, based on the assurance of Chinese viceroys that they can maintain order. President McKinley, while acknowledging his gratification at the assurances, has made known to the Chinese minister that the United States cannot relax its efforts to get troops to points where its officials are considered in danger. A Che Foo dispatch, dated June 25, via Shanghai, says: United States Consul John Fowler has received from Rear-Admiral Kempff the following: Only one communication from Pekin has reached me since communications were interrupted on June 10. It was dated June 12. No direct or indirect news from the ministers since. About 430 foreign troops, including 56 American marines, went to Pekin ot guard the legations. A force of 100 Americans, uniting with a total force of 2,500 men of all nationalities represented here, went on June 10 to open the road and relieve Pekin. This movement was by permission of the Chinese government. The last news from the expedition was dated June 12, when the expedition was at Lang Fang.

This end can be attained in a few days if we unite out strength."

PRACTICAL REFORMS NEEDED. The London Times, reviewing the situation editorially, says: "There is no whisper in favor of the partition spoliation of China in this country or in the United States, but we feel very strongly that the time has come for the introduction of those practical reforms which Mr. Choate, in his recent letter to Lord Salisbury, declared to be desirable.'

CANADIAN MISSIONARIES. Toronto, June 26. - As each day passes without news from Pekin or Tien Tsin, the relatives of Miss Gowans and Miss Rutherford, the two Toronto women shut up in the Chinese capital, fear the worst. The ladies are missionaries of the Mission-ary Alliance, and Miss Gowans has been in Northern China for nine years. Both are members of well-to-do Toronto families, Miss Gowans being a daughter of John Gowans, assignee, and Miss Rutherford a daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Rutherford, 16 Gerard street east. Rev. CURRENT WAGE ENFORCEMEN

On All Works Owned or Controlled by the Dominion Government.

Importance of the Resolution Introduced Into the House by Postmaster-General Mulock-The Form of Contract Adopted and the Provisions It Contains.

[From Brantford Expositor.]

When Postmaster-General Mulock introduced in the House of Commons moneys were payable to them in reat Ottawa his resolution to secure the spect of wages. at Ottawa his resolution to secure the payment on all works owned or controlled, or aided, by the Dominion Government of the rate of wages current in the locality in which the work was being done, he was greeted with the declaration that his resolution was 'buncombe," and would mean nothing. As a matter of fact his reso-lution has not yet been adopted in the house, but in advance of this indorsation Mr. Mulock has secured the services of a well-known libor advo-cate, Mr. D. J. O'Donoghue, to see to the carrying out of the principle em-bodied therein. Mr. O'Donoghue's ap-pointment has been warmly approved by many trades and labor councils, and he has already visited many places in the Dominion where public works are projected, in order to determine what the "current rate of wages" is, so that the government will have the necessary information upon which to fix the amount of wage which conthe government, or tractors with with any company or person aided by the government, must pay the workmen in their employ.

A form of contract has been adopted which contains the following provi-

2. All workmen employed upon the work comprehended in and to be executed pursuant to the said contract shall be residents of Canada, unless the minister is of opinion that Canadian labor is not available, or that emergencies or other special circum-stances exist which would render it contrary to public interest to enforce the foregoing condition in respect of the employment of resident Canadian

It will be seen that it is stipulated that Canadian labor must be employed in all cases, save those in which, for reasons shown, the government may consent to relax this requirement, sub-contracting is forbidden, no piece work is permitted, workmen must be paid the wages current in the district, and must not be required to work a longer number of hours than is the custom of the particular trade in which they are engaged. It is also made certain that the contractor not only shall have complied with the department's requirements in regard to the amount of wages paid the men, and that the men have been so paid, but also that the materials used on the contract have been paid for.

The effect of these regulations is not the employment of cheap alien labor, whenever and as often as The operation of the system cannot while it will put an end to "sweating" so far as the government has any control, and will set a wholesome example to all employers of labor.

CROP PROSPECTS

Western Sections Report a Fairly Promising Outlock-Fruits Looking Well-Grain Crops Generally Good-Rain Needed in Several Districts.

The Great Northwestern Telegraph Company has secured crop reports from all sections of Ontario, and the result may be summed up as, on the whole,

In Eastern Ontario, the prospect is for a good wheat crop and a light hay crop. In Hastings county, rain is needed, but fall wheat is looking well; apples will be short, but other fruits promise well. In the Niagara Peninsula, the strawberry crop has been damaged by dry weather, but a full crop of peaches, plums and other larfruit is promised. Wheat promises well also, but the spring grains and hay will be light. In York county, the prospect is good, excepting hay; fruits abundant, except plums.

In Western Ontario, Lambton county reports crops generally good. Wheat and Essex counties, but the bean crop is thriving, and some fruits-peaches, pears and plums-will yield heavily. Other crops will be an average.

The crops in the Woodstock section are on the whole very good. The grain crop promises to be good. Hay is fair, being rather short on the straw. Of the small fruits plums and cherries are light, while the rest promise a fair

Walkerton reports fall wheat over the average; spring wheat average; oats above average; peas extra large crop; hay average; barley above average. Fruit-Apples and pears good, cherries and plums poor. Rain needed at present, but nothing yet suffering.

Around Stratford hay about three-quarters crop; fall wheat estimated about twenty bushels; spring crops looking very favorable. Wellington county the outlook is good on the whole, and Oxford county is the same. In Perth county there will be a good yield of wheat; other crops favorable. Bruce county expects all cereal crops above the average, and fruits mostly good.

In Northern Ontario the outlook is favorable, but rain is needed. In the extreme eastern section of Prolific Quality of the Soil.

Mr. Bannatyne, Lambeth:

Dear Sir and Brother, - Word has to you and all the brothers of Court Lambeth. Knowing you were not aware of my leaving for south Africa to fight for my country's honor and the Queen, I notified you, as I thought you would like to know.

There are about 300 Foresters with us from one court and another. They have all been provided for in different ways by their courts, some in the same way as myself. Some have had money sent them and others have been promised money on their return, and concerts seem to be all the go with the courts in aid of Foresters here in South Africa. What more could be done by any society than this? There was never a time in the history of Forestry that better shows the world the brotherlike works of the order, and I trust that it may be the means of adding many more members to the order, to share with us the benefits thereof.

You will probably like to hear something about the country and what we have been doing since landing at Cape Town. We remained in Cape Town two weeks-hardly time to recover from sea-sickness, of which I had my share -before we were ordered to the front. This, of course, delighted us, as some English troops had been there for months before they were ordered to the front.

The scenery around Cape Town is grand, mountains rising to a height of 1,500 and 1,700 feet above the sea level, and surrounded by kopjes and deep val-leys. It is behind the kopjes that the Boers have the advantage in this war. I have seen places occupied by ten thousand Boers, whom 200 of the British have driven out, that if they had been occupied by 50 of our men, 8,000 Boers could not have driven them out. We have had hard times, making a march of 500 miles through rain and a month, and ran short of food, both for men and horses. We arrived at Kenharat, March 31; routed the Boers out and hoisted the British flag with cheers. After a week's stop there we started back to Victoria mud, and we have not had tents for

It is very hot during the day, 100° in the shade, and the nights are so cold that two blankets and two rubber sheets barely keep us warm out in the open air.

We now travel on to De Aar, then to Springfontein, where we expect a fierce battle if the Boers will only stand, and we expect they will, as it is supposed to be one of the best places off every three seconds.

Our horses have done wonderfully well, considering the rain and mud they have had to pull those heavy guns through, and the fact that they are fed so little. Then, so many changes of food is hard on them. Wheat for a few meals, then corn, then oats; then for three weeks they got barely one meal a day, and the men also had to go on short rations. We were glad to even get horse-feed to cook for ourselves. Our officer, Lieut, McCrae, ate the same food as the men. For drink, we make tea from a plant with a bluish leaf and yellow berry, and water like that which runs down the streets at home after a rain. It is dangerous to drink it unless boiled. However, we are gaining the fights, and have only lost one man, from Ottawa, and he was trampled to death by his horse.

We find the Boer men great liars. The women speak the truth as a rule. They are all sly and cannot be trusted at time. They are making a fortune out of the troops, selling eatables, and at such enormous prices: Bread, 75c a reports crops generally good. Wheat loaf; eggs, 10c each; milk, 50c a pint; has been winter killed in parts of Kent and everything else as dear in proportion. It would make our farmers smile if they could get such prices.

The natives are divided into two classes, the well-to-do, and the poorer class, but I cannot see much difference. The better class do all kinds of work, chiefly mule and oxen driving. They are smart with horses, and handle them well. The females make good servants, but are not to be trusted. They make fine butchers, taking the hide off the goats almost before they are dead, and have them ready for the table in no time. They live on the leavings themselves. The poorer class travel the country, living on whatever they can find Their clothing is very scant. Their native brogue is not hard to under-stand, the Dutch being harder. The natives are good guides and brave fighters. We have met with very few English-speaking people. These few were very good to us, giving the use of all they have. Most of them have been driven out of their homes by those miserable Boers, and their homes destroyed. The English Government takes them to Cape Town, where they are taken care of until their homes can be returned to them, and they can once more make a living for themselves.

In the extreme eastern section of Ontario the lack of rain has caused hay to come down to two-thirds of an average crop, and other products are injuriously affected.

In Elgin county wheat will yield about 75 per cent of an average, while all spring crops are looking well.

The farmers, as they are called, yet hardly worthy of the name, make their money by raising sheep and goats, and goat hair for 15c per pound. These animals graze all the year on bushes about 18e our gooseberry bushes, and there and there a blade of grass. I action wonder how they live, yet they The farmers, as they are called, yet often wonder how they live, yet they keep fat. The farmers clip their sheep twice a year and their goats twice in three years.

Candles made from mutton fat are their only lights, excepting in churches and public houses, where they burn oil.

The land here as far as I have seen is clear sand, with a stony bottom, but contains more vegetable matter than our sandy soil. The farmer plants from our sandy soil. The farmer plants from 15 to 20 acres with everything required in the home, such as sugarcane, corn, wheat, oats and beans. Their way of working the land amounts to very little. They sow the grain first and plow it in, having a piece of wood behind the results a level the ground. hind the plow to level the ground. I have seen the finest sample of wheat here I have ever seen. The oats also grow very renk. They are a rich golden color when ripe. Corn grows 16 feet high, and sugarcane as high, with thick stalks. Vineyards are very pro-ntable. They consist of figs, oranges, and dates. The watermelons are grand; some grow as large as a small barrel and weigh 75 pounds. Garden vegetables Lambeth Man Now in South grow finely, with little or no labor.

There is plenty of water for stock, but it has to be boiled before it is safe for people to drink.

All the implements they have are plows like our gang-plows, and sickles to reap with. They use mules to pow with. Farmers with 8,000 acres of land Fly at Coming of Canadians-Farm cultivate about 80 acres. This is acing in South Africa-Richness and counted for by nothing else than lazi-

How grateful I their idea of giving each soldier who feel is hard to express. Many thanks wishes to remain in the country 50 acres of land, I think many would take advantage of the offer and stay. It would be the making of South Africa. Timber is very scarce, and fences are

PTE. FLOYD'S DEATH

Described by Private Will West-Was Hit in the Head and Shoulder-An Interesting Letter From a London

Pte. Will West, who was reported missing at Kroonstad, has written the following interesting letter to his mother in this city:

Kroomstad, O. F. S., May 14, 1900. Dear Mother,-We arrived here after some hard marching, and am pretty well tired out. The last two days of the march (May 11 and 12) we covered 44 miles. We had one hard fight at the Zand River on the 10th inst. We moved out early in the morning, and were under fire shortly after sunrise. B Company formed the firing line, and the instructions were to advance on the river bed until fired on, and then halt, lay down and return the Boer fire. Our line advanced until within 500 yards of the river bed, and met a warm rifle fire. The Boers had a good position, and were well screened by the trees and bushes near the river. We poured in a hot fire until our ammunition ran low. Up to that time we had not lost a man, but as soon as our road, keeping the lines of tion open. We captured 35 Boers, 250 rifles and 2,000 rounds of ammunition, besides their wagons and feed and horses. The name "Canadian" is a terror to the Boers. When they hear the ror to the Boers. When they hear the Canadians are coming they flee for the shoulder and in the head. I heard him yell, "Oh, I'm hit," and then Saret Macbeth asked him where. He fire slackened the enemy grew bolder Sergt. Macbeth asked him where. He said, "In the shoulder." Shortly afterward he said, "I'm going to faint," and that was the last we heard. It was impossible to get the wounded man off the field until after the battle. Boers fired on the seretcher-bearers and some wounded men who got up and started towards the rear were peppered in great style. The Boers shot much better than they did in other fights I have been in. We have the they hold.

We rise at 4 o'clock, have breakfast satisfaction to know that we killed 72 of the enemy. All the killed and wounded Canadians were B Company men, with the exception of Pte. Armstrong, who belonged to A Company, and was acting as ammunition carrier. We were praised by Gen. Smith-Dorrien, who told us that our small force This is necessary, having captured a of about 300 men had held 800 of the number of the enemy and horse-thieves in the camp at night. Our guns are all on them. The Boers are deserting in 12-pounders, and carry correctly at four large numbers, and I think the war miles if necessary, and we can fire them will soon end. I am feeling excellent, but have been declared unfit, as I have veldt sores on my feet, and cannot get my boots on. By the time we move I may be O. K., and end up in Pretoria. The British artillery practice is splendid. We had two 5-inch guns in our column. One was called "Bone Shaker," the other "Boers' Delight." At the battle of Zand River the Boers opened fire with a Vickers-Maxim gun. The second shell from "Bone Shaker" sent the gun and its German artillerist into the air. We have received no mail for three weeks. Please remember me to all the boys. No doubt you are wondering when I will return. Cheer up. We are nearly through now, and then I will come and rouse you up. I will close now, as I want to get this letter off, and can find very little to say Chester (McLaren) has not got up with the column. He is still in hospital. We left Frank Hessel in Winburg with fever. Give my love to father, Maud and little Will,

THE COAL SCARE.

Toronto, June 25 .- Dealers here denounce as an absurdity the statement from Buffalo that there is a serious shortage in anthracite coal, and that prices will likely go skyward. The Future of China.

South Africa, which has bulked so largely in the world's view during the last eight months, is now in eclipse. The scene has shifted to the far East, and the situation in that quarter has, thanks to the "Boxers" and to the stupidity or incompetence of the Government, become acute.

The excitement of the Boer war, long sustained as it has been, has worn itself out, the English people are weary of it, and are content to let "Bobs" wind up affairs in his own masterly fashion. It seems probable that before long he will drive the militant Boers into a corner and take steps for reducing the country to a state of orderly government.

The Chinese difficulty is an international affair and will tax severely the Mr. John Ross Robertson. wisdom and tact of the diplomatists. Unless the Chinese Government can soon prove its power to secure respect for life and property, its days as an independent power are numbered. If the reports of outrages already to hand have not been exaggerated, a heavy account has already been piled up. If affairs grow worse steps must be taken to prevent their recurrence. It is probable that a country which has been stagnant so long does not possess the power to adjust itself to the new conditions that it has to face. Due warning has been given. Wise statesmen might have seen the approach of this movement for half a century, but China does not seem to possess statesmen, or the few she has of the National Anthem. cannot make their influence felt. Hence it looks as if the partition of the country cannot be long warded off.

When and how this will be brought about is at present hard to say. How Japan is to be kept quiet and the interest or demands of the various European powers can be satisfied is a complex problem that will not easily and cruel despotism. If "Imperialism" be solved, and if this is settled, what meant that Liberals in all British posits effect will be upon China and up- sessions and in the United States would on the rest of the world is a thing that feel bound to oppose it. If the motto no one can foresee.

It seems important that the great up to the trade of the world, but what effect this will have upon the Chinaman is not an easy question to answer. The opening up of China must not mean the letting out of the Chinamen; heights. at least that is the feeling of many Europens.

One cannot help feeling some symis to be opened up and compelled to receive foreigners when there is so little disposition to welcome them to other lands. It seems rather a one-sided business, but such matters are not settled by sentimental consideration, but by the hard logic of facts. The question of the future of China is now forced to the front and European statesmen have a pretty problem on their hands. In fact, in this connection, the questions are many, the answers few and uncertain.

An Incorrect Forecast.

Mr. John Morley, an English Liberal of great ability and high character, discussing, many years ago, Seeley's "Expansion of England," said: What is the common bond that is to the colonies into a federal * * * Is it possible to suppose that the Canadian lumbertnen and Australian sheep-farmers will cheerfully become contributors to a Britain fund for keeping Basutos, Pondos, Zulus quiet? * * * Is there any reason to suppose that South Africa would contribute to the maintenance of cruisers?"

These at the time might seem to be hard questions for Imperialists as events had occurred to cast a strong light upon them. They were not hard for Mr. Morley, however, for he was prepared to give a definite and decisive answer. Answer, which, unfortunately for his reputation as political prophet, turns out to be quite wrong, This is the answer: "No; we may depend upon it that it would be a mandat imperatif on every federal war or preparation for war, that might arise from the direct or indirect interest of any colony but his own." Well may the critic ask what it is that disqualifies many distinguished literary men for public life. "Is it the smell of the midnight lamp, the shadows that lurk around it, that engender a certain moral dyspepsia, or what is it?"

We are not now disposed to discuss the general question, but one thing is clear that events have taken a course the exact opposite of that which Mr. Morley predicted, and the various colonies have done of their own free will the very things that Mr. Morley declared they could not be induced to do. Mr. Morley was evidently ignorant of the reality and strength of British sentiment. He took a mere theatrical view of the case, and the facts of life delight in putting our theories to shame. The first blow struck at the empire roused the spirit of British lovalty throughout the world. Mr. Morley needs to reconsider his position. As an open-minded Liberal he ought to be able to do, and whatever he may do the English Liberal party will certainly do, so it cannot stultify itself by refusing to look facts in the

There is a true, healthy imperialism as well as a blatent jingoism, and the imperialism that is going to shape the future must not be the monopoly of any one English party, it must be something that commends itself to the better men of all parties. Men like Mr. Bryce and Mr. Morley have great ability and are patriotic in spirit, but they need to take in a broader view of the whole situation.

Desecration of the National Anthem.

There was a suggestion of empty cheapness in Hon. W. H. Montague's theatrical attempt to convert Parliament into an enthusiastic populace. There was possibly as much sanship as patriotism in Dr. Montabright idea of rushing three cheers for the Queen and the National Anthem into the midst of the parlia-mentary proceedings. The name of Queen Victoria and the words of the National Anthem were desecrated by his petty attempt to score a party advantage. The name of British loyalty is misused and the intelligence of the country is insulted by the attempt to stigmatize as traiter Wilfrid Laurier or any other member of Parliament who staved out of the choir which Hon. W. H. Montague hastily and obviously organized for the sake of party advantage.-Toronto Telegram.

These are strong strictures, the more so as they appear in a journal owned and controlled by a Conservative M. P.

The fact is that the Prime Minister, and not a few members on his side of the House, while giving their warm support to the loyal address of congratulation to the Queen, refused to join in the attempt to sing down Mr. Charlton, M. P., who, before the lymphatic member for Haldimand jumped up and began his alleged singing, had risen to address the House. It is a most unusual thing for any deliberate body to resort to the boorish practice of singing down a gentleman once he has begun his address, and it was an anwarranted proceeding, and undertaken, as our Toronto contemporary aptly points out, for a very mean purpose. To say the least it was a desecration

The Growth of Empire.

There are many who do not like the words "Empire" and "Imperial" because of the old time and old world associations of aggressive militarism 'Imperium et Libertas' were a contradiction in terms, then we are sure that many millioned land should be opened the great majority of Britons, Conservatives as well as Liberals, would contend with all their might against the imperial idea. But words, like men, may be purified and lifted to noble

The "Empire" of today may have in it much of the best of the old empire without the things that have made the pathy with the Chinese, whose country name "Empire" a by-word and a redays great battles have been fought between the ideas of authority and liberty. The new empire must aim to reconcile these two apparently opposite ideas and show that they are complimentary rather than contradictory.

One great philosopher has taught that the process of thought and life is thesis, antithesis and synthesis. So it is in this sphere, you lay down your idea of liberty, it is opposed by the idea of authority, kingly or social. There is truth in both ideas and they must learn to live together in a higher

This, we believe, has been the process within the British Empire. Nowhere has the conflict between the two opposing ideas been flercer, nowhere has the problem of toleration and loyalty been so completely solved. We have our dangers. We being human are in danger of the spirit of faction, which is a selfish, separating spirit. We are in danger of lowering the idea of liberty and narrowing the idea of loyalty, but taking all in all, we believe that within the British Empire the problem of reconciling the two opposite ideas of liberty and authority has been fairly faced.

There are different stages of liberty. and different forms of government within the Empire, because there are different stages of life. Political constitutions drawn up on paper may be made theoretically beautiful and look very perfect, but when they come to be applied to living men they may break down altogether.

In parts of the British Empire there are millions who must be ruled, and the question is, Does Britain send out fair-minded men, who have a strong sense of justice, and who deal fairly with their inferiors? But Britons have, after long struggles, gained the power and right to rule themselves, and the wish to train others in the same way. These are the ideas that are now represented by the word "Empire."

PECULIAR DEATH OF A MOTOR-

MAN. Detroit, June 25 .- Martin O'Shay, a motorman, died at Harper Hospital on Saturday night as the result of a fractured skull. O'Shay's injury was sustained in a most peculiar manner while he was at work in the vestibule of his car. O'Shay, as nearly as can be learned, was seized with a sudden desire to expectorate and stuck his head from window. In another moment his skull came in contact with one of the trolley poles with awful force, and knocked him senseless. He hung from the window so that his head struck against another pole before the conductor could reach the front vestibule and bring the car to a standstill. He was 25 years of age, and his home was at Clifford, Mich.

"Pretoria Presidency, June 25 .- Clements successfully engaged a body of Boers yesterday near Wynberg, where he had gone to pick up supplies and some heavy guns preparatory to acting in combination with columns from Lindley, Heilbron and Heidelberg. He drove the enemy north of Sandspruit with loss. No casualties are reported.

"Ian Hamilton reports that Heidelberg is the most English town he has yet seen. The inhabitants gave him a great reception. The streets were crowded and decorated with bunting. Capt. Valentine hoisted the Union Jack in the market square amidst the cheers of the populace and of the British, Australian and other colonial troops. 'God Save the Queen' was sung, the troops heartily joining in. The poor royalists have had a rough time lately.

"Hutton's Mounted Infantry skirmished with the Boers yesterday a few miles southeast of Pretoria. Capt. Anley is reported to have managed the little business very well. Lieut. Crispin and one of the Northumberland Fusiliers were wounded."

ROBERTS' FORCES CONVERGING. London, Tuesday, June 26-4:22 a.m.-Lord Roberts' six columns are converging, apparently, so as to close in upon the Free States, although decisive results cannot be expected for several days. A number of Boers who were supposed to be within the wide-flung net have broken or rather stolen through Gen. Rundle's Ficksburg-Senekal lines.

CANADIAN MOUNTED RIFLES. The Canadians were engaged in Honing Spruit fight last Friday. Gen. Dewet's men first cut off a Canadian outpost of Mounted Rifles at dawn, two being killed, Lieut. Triglis and four others being wounded, and three being captured. The Free Staters then attacked the camp, where were 50 Canadians and two companies of Shropshires though without much effect. shires, though without much effect, as the men were well entrenched.

A COMPLAINT. Cape Town, June 23, delayed by censor.—The Times publishes and editorially comments on an interview colonial volunteer, who complains bitterly of the hospital arrangements. He declares that the accommodations, clothing and food are insufficient, and that there is extortion and robbery by the orderlies, who are largely left without supervision, owing to the paucity of medical officers. He speaks in terms of the highest praise of the civilian doctors and the nurses from Netley Hospital.

[Special to Advertiser per C. P. R.] Ottawa, June 26.-The militia department has received cables which announce the severe wounding of Lieut. A third cable from Lieut.-Col. Otter. dated Pretoria, June 25, intimates that there have been no further casualties since the 29th. The later figure, howis a mistake, and that Col. SMOTHERED IN WHEAT. Gowanda, N. Y., June 26. - John Glasure, the 13-year-old son of Fred Glasure, met a horrible death Saturday afternoon. He was at work at C. J. Howard's feed mills, clearing away the grain that clogged the entrance of the wheat bin. He suddenly slipped, and was carried down with the sliding mass and buried from sight. When the wheat was unloaded J. C. Howard missed him and investigated. He pulled him from the wheat, but life was extinct.

THE MARKETS

Local Market.

London, Tuesday, June 26. A decidedly listless air prevailed on the square today. The offerings were meager and the extreme heat militated against any display of activity on the part of either seller or buyer. Only small quantities of berries were brought in today, and although the prices asked were only 5c and 6c, they were not sold readily. Today's sup-plies did not look firm or fresh, and would-be purchasers determined to wait until later in the week. Some very fine cherries were sold for 6c per quart.

The same price ruled for gooseberries. was probably on account of the heat that the buttners brought in small quantities of meat. They had little quantities of meat. They had little trouble in selling it all, and as early as 10 o'clock all the wagons were empty. he trade in poultry remains in lethargic condition, and very few sales

IMPERIAL DEFENSE. Discussing imperial defense at the congress of the Chambers of Commerce, Lord Selborne remarked that the whirligg of time had strangely inverted the feeling in relation thereto. A century and a quarter ago this question of imperial defense was the root of a quarrel with the American colonies, which finally lost them to Great Britain. Today the same question, he said, is operating more than others in fee to the command of the military promise given to deport the Celestials drawing the different parts of the emforces operating in China, Gen. Chaffee after the construction of the C.P.R. was pire together. The colonies, he added, will leave for San Francisco in time not carried out. Messrs. Morrison and now voluntarily admitted what Am- to sail on the 1st of July with the 6th Maxwell put themselves squarely on erica had disputed, namely, that colonies ought to contribute to their own defense.

ONE FARTHING DAMAGES. London, June 26 .- An interesting libel suit, which has been on trial in the court of Lord Russell, of Killowen, the lord chief justice, resulted today in Prince Charles de Loose of Corswaren, heir presumptive of one of the leading families of the continent, and a direct descendant of the Spanish Consul Fowler, of Chefoo, dated May King Charles IV., getting one farthing damages against a newspaper which had included him among a list of alleged convicts wearing coronets. The paper referred to, one of Sir George Newnes' publications, said that among 2,000 aristocrats occupying European prison cells was De Loose. The latter sued for $25,000 damages. Police officers from Scotland Yard testified that De Loose had a bad reputation as a continental swindler, and that he was guilty of abominable practices. CONGRESS OF CHAMBER OF COM-

IMPORTANT OPERATIONS

Presumed To Be in Progress in South Africa-Official Report of the Rhenoster Disaster.

London, June 26 .- As Lord Roberts is apparently carrying out important combined operations, the slackness of news from South Africa will probably continue until they shall have been completed. The fact that the foreign military attaches are homeward bound indicates, that in their opinion, the war is over. But the reported refusal of Lord Roberts to spare troops for service in China seems, if true, to show the fild marshal considers much work remains to be done.

Large quantities of bar gold, received by merchants in the western part of the Transvaal from President Kruger, ostensibly in payment of requisitioned goods, have been seized by the British. If the genuineness of the accounts can be proved the gold will probably be repaid. The Boers sharply attacked Gen. Rundle's transport near Senekal on June 23, but were repulsed. The official report of the capture of a convoy of 50 wagons, escorted by Highlanders, between Rhenoster and convoy was surrounded, and sent mes-

Splendid Showing Made by Dedd's Kidney Pills in Queen City.

Toronto, June 25.-It is interesting to note that this city, the headquarters of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Canada, and the place where they were first discovered, keeps well in the front as regards the number of those cured in the towns and cities of Ontario. As Dodd's Kidney Pills have since made friends all over the civilized world, this fact is of wide and significant interest, showing that Dodd's Kidney Pills retain their hold on public esteem purely on their tried merits.

Bill to Further Restrict Chinese Immigration - Important Improvement in the Militia.

Ottawa, June 25.-Sir Wilfrid Laurier's bill to further restrict Chinese immigration received its second reading this afternoon, and was afterwards considered in committee of the whole and reported with some amendments One of these amendments prohibits the entry into Canada of a greater number of persons from a foreign country than the laws of such country allow. It has been suggested by the promulgation of an order by the Japanese Government, deparring a greater number of their subjects than ten or twelve a month, or about 120 a year from emigrating to Canada. This principle has been accepted by the Dominion Government and embodied in the bill before the house. There was an interesting debate in the second reading of the bill, during which some differences of opinion were manifested. The Liberal members from British Columoia considered that the bill did not go far enough, but they accepted this legislation as an earnest of further action at a later stage. Col. Prior, a Conservative member from the Pacific Province, also deemed the bill inadequate. This is a strange criticism to come from the opposition, bearing in mind how little the Conservative Government did during the eighteen years they were in power to check Chinese immigration. It is quite true, the late government about the year 1885, appointed a commission to investigate and report upon the subject, but they might just as well have spared the country the expense, since the only action which followed was the imposition of a poll tax of $50. Moreover, THE AMERICAN COMMANDER, as Mr. Maxwell pointed out, the intro-Washington, June 26. — The presiduction of Chinese labor occurred un-> record as out-and-out opponents of Chinese immigration, but they have faith that the government will yet apply such restrictions as the circumstances seem to warrant. On the other hand, Mr. Edwards, of Russell, and Mr. Christie, of Argenteuil expressed opposition to the legislation before the house, mainly on economic and hu-manitarian grounds. The former in an earnest speech declared the bill to be retrograde and inhuman in character. Mr. Charlton pointed out that wher-ever, as on the Pacific slope, people had come into direct contact with Mongolians they had little sympathy for them. Mr. Charlton did not go the length of opposing the present increase, but he did argue that a poll tax of $500, such as British Columbia demanded, was entirely unnecessary. The premier's view, uttered at an earlier period of the debate, was that the sentiment of British Columbia was not shared by the majority of the other provinces, there must be a process of education before opinions could be made to har-monize. This bill was not a finality, monize. and the government would be guided in their future action by the report of the commission which would inquire into the question. In committee on the bill Mr. Morrison again appeared as a vigorous supporter of the popular opin-ion in British Columbia. He declared that Japanese immigrants were even more objectionable than Chinese, as they competed to a greater extent with white labor. He moved to add a provision to the bill requiring all Oriental immigrants to be able to read and write in one European language. This was rejected and the bill was reported as already stated. The death of Col. Tyrwhitt formed the subject of touching eulogies by Mr. Foster and Sir Wilfrid Laurier when the house met this afternoon. The minister of militia tonight made an important statement to the house in committee of supply on the militia estimates regarding the practical use which is to be made in connection with the Canadian force of some of the lessons taught by the war in South Africa. The military force of the future must be one capable of great mobility, so that it can be rapidly moved from place to place. In this connection the question of largely changing foot sol-diers to mounted infantry presents it-The minister proposes during the coming financial year to make the experiment to a limited extent in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. His proposition is to convert the cavalry there into mounted infantry, and to change the only infantry corps in Manitoba—presumably the 90th of Winnipeg—into a similar class of troops. At various points also nuclei will be established so as to permit of the formation of at least one regiment of mounted infantry. The same experi ment will probably be tried, although to a more limited extent, in eastern Canada. Another lesson gathered from the war is the importance of marks manship, and of teaching not only the volunteers, but everybody who is will ing to learn, how to use the rifle. Dr Borden is convinced that the Swiss system of rifle shooting is the most inexpensive and most perfect in world, and he recommends it to the attention of Canadian military men. The system has already been intro-duced to a certain extent in Canada by proposed to furnish ammunition to rifle clubs at cost price, in addition to loaning rifles to these organizations. The minister thinks that the Provincial Government can co-operate with in the high schools, and is making sug-gestions along this line. Dr. Borden's announcement of policy was made at valuable information regarding the organization of the regiment sent to South Africa, the Yukon military field South Africa, the Yukon military field force and the provincial battalion now engaged in garrison duty at Halifax. He paid a well-deserved compliment to the arduous labors of the staff in the department in connection with the organization and equipment of the South African contingents, the deputy minister. Col. Pinault, and the director of Military Stores, Lieut. Col. Macdonald, coming in for special mention. Dr. ald, coming in for special mention. Dr. Borden's announcement of policy shows that he is thoroughly alive to the importance of putting the militia force of Canada into the most efficient shape, and is taking advantage of ev-ery practicable means of carrying out that desirable end. The house adjourned at 12:20.

Labor Notes.

The London (England) Trades Council is determined not to be identified with the gift of a Ruskin hall to America. They declare they know nothing about it, deny that funds are being sub-scribed by English trades unionists, and are issuing a circular warning the labor organizations against an appeal for subscriptions. The American un-ions have been similarly communicated with. A correspondent of the Chronicle avers that the money has not been sub-scribed, but was merely announced as a bait for further subscriptions, and decries what is alleged to be "Vroo-man's attempt to voice the aspirations of British democracy."

Do You Think?

That Your Doctor Has a Better Prescription for Kidney and Liver Ailments Than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills?

Let us see what the chances are. One thing certain, your doctor has not had the experience with this class of diseases that Dr. Chase had in his extensive practice of nearly half a century.

And again, your doctor has not had the opportunity, which Dr. Chase had, in preparing his great Recipe Book, of investigating the prescriptions of scores of the foremost physicians. After concluding that a large proportion of the ills and sufferings of humanity was due to derangements of the blood filterers, the liver and kidneys, Dr. Chase sought a cure for such troubles, and found it. For years it was improved and perfected in his own practice, and after standing the most severe tests and proving itself wonder-fully efficient, became known to the world as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

seems unreasonable to suppose that any ordinary prescription of any ordinary physician can be compared to this great remedy as a cure for Bright's disease, kidney troubles, liver complaint and stomach derangements. The evidence of scores of thousands of responsible persons — doctors, lawyers, ministers, druggists, prominent business and professional men and others—cannot be set at naught. It is doubtful if any preparation has such a record of marvelous cures to its credit as has Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver

Purely vegetable in composition, prompt, natural and effective in action. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills regulate and invigorate the kidneys, liver and bowels, and cure stomach troubles. One pill a dose; 25 cents box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

They and other individual dealers will not take part with those present at the meeting yesterday in the attempt to resist the innovation.

AN AUTOMOBILE SCORCHER.

[Chicago Tribune.] William K. Vanderbilt, jun., summoned before the chief of police at Newport on the charge of violating the city ordinance which prohibits "scorching" by automobiles, was gracious. The penalty for violation is a fine of from $5 to $20, without imprisonment, and so Mr. Vanderbilt could well afford to scorch all he chose and would not find it an expensive luxury. But he graciously informed the police department he had no desire to violate the law, but rather was anxious to comply with its provisions. All this is well and good and will please those who take an interest in the doings of New York millionaires. But Mr. Vanderbilt's postscript is not so satisfactory. He is quoted as having said that on the country roads of France he could not resist the terretain the said that the country roads of th not resist the temptation to speed his machine and had killed thirty-nine dogs. It is surprising that he could make so cold-blooded a confession. The fact that he kept so careful a record of the dogs he killed while scorching gives rise to the suspicion that he did so purposely. It has been charged by some of the French lovers of animals that the automobile scorchers purposely try to run over dogs they meet and brag of the achievement. Such reckrag of the achievement. less slaughter as this is chameful and justifies the strict enforcement of laws against scorching automobiles.

"Then it is not Tracy Tempest!" he exclaimed hastily, and immediately applicated: "I beg your pardon, dear Miss Douglas, I had no night to ask you that question.'

She was saved an embarrassing reply by the appearance of Herbert Arden at the door. He crossed mastily to Dawn's side:

"Duval, how dare you carry off my partner like this? Miss Douglas, our rance is on.

She took his arm and went away, giving her rejected suitor a smile over her shoulder that was so sweet and kind it softened the sting of his pain.
"I have lost an angel!" he sighed, drearily, to himself. Back in the ball-room she saw Tracy Tempest paying cavalier to Miss De Navarre, his old acquaintance of years ago. Lettie was in the same set as herself dancing with Lindsay Gre-but he held to his opinion.

There were a few minutes then in which they were silent, gliding through the figures of the dance. When they came to a pause, he began again:

"Our friend, Miss Aurora, looks very bright this evening. See how she smiles!—by the bye, she is awfully jealous of you, do you know? But I think she has had it out with Tracy, and he has pacified her, although he looks aw-glum himself." Dawn had not failed to notice Lettie's radiant looks—such a contrast to her late sulkiness. She again wondered what had given pleasure to the pretty Lettie had several admirers who, dazzled by her black eyes and the glitter of her reputed wealth, would gladly have made up to her for Tracy's defec-tion; but although she was gracious to them all, her mind was not to be turned from its object. She felt that her greatest safety from detection in the dangerous game she was playing, lay in marriage with Tracy. Then, whatever turned up, she felt that she would have a powerfuly ally in her father-inlaw, who would never permit her to be ousted from her false position as heiress of Cedarhurst. To hasten the wish-ed-for alliance she had exhausted every effort in her power, and this evening, worn out by her taunts and reproaches, desperate with pain, Tracy had given her full permission to name the earliest day she chose for her marriage. Hence her radiant smiles and sparkling eyes.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

Tempest and his invalid wife were in the narlor while Dawn played and sang that evening. It was the first time the lady had left her room since she came to the Hygeia: Pale and fragile-looking, she reclined upon aged and feeble-looking since retribution had fallen on his guilty head. When Mrs. Tempest saw how beauticommitted the sin for which poor Tracy must pay the penalty; but regrets, alas! are all too late. I wish that we had never come here, for before then his heart was not engaged, and Aurora had some chance of winning it after marriage."

Mrs. Tempest sighed and looked over Windsor Youth Loses His Life at Belle at the graceful girl before the piano. She was a great admirer of beauty, and Dawn's faultless face and form delighted her eyes.

'She is perfectly lovely," she said "But do you know her face is strangely familiar? Can I have seen her before? Ah! let me think-yes, I have it now. She resembles the girl they crowned as May Queen at Cedarhurst, two years ago-the pretty little blonde, old Jarvis' daughter. Do you He looked attentively at the delicate, clear-cut features, and answered: "Yes, there is a decided likeness. But, my dear, I notice another resemblance that has, perhaps, not struck you; the is like Virginia Douglas."

Mrs. Tempest looked, but could not notice the resemblance. Both are blonde beauties; that is the only likeness,", she said.

Mr. Tempest's opinion remained unchanged, but he said no more, and neither one suspected that the lovely who was so like little Vixen was little Vixen herself.

But proud and unjust as they had been to others, they had very fond hearts where their son was concerned, and secretly deprecated the unfortunate circumstances that compelled him to marry the girl he could not love. When Mr. Tempest saw Tracy enter and lean upon the plane, with his sad, dark eyes fixed wistfully on the singer, he was not too old to feel his heart sink with a consciousness of the young man's pain—pain that sent a shaft of remorse into the father's heart.

"Oh, that I could recall my sin," he thought, sadly. "Heaven is punishing me for my pride and ambition for my only son, but it is bitter, bitter that he must be sacrificed to save me from the onsequences of my wrong-doing."
Then he saw Dawn leaving the room mind, and it almost maddened him with jealous misery and despair-dethat was all the keener because he felt that he had no right to object, no claim save his great love on the fair girl he adored.

He followed to the ball-room and mingled in the dance, trying to forget his misery in social pleasures, but the sight of Dawn leaving the room somewhat later with the gallant colonel did not add to his ease of mind.

And the interview she had promised him this evening seemed fated never to come. Surrounded as she was by admirers, and duly guarded by her chaperon from detrimentals, among whom she considered Tracy Tempest chief, Dawn found it impossible to make an opportunity for her lover to

It was a beautiful sunny August day. The sky was clear, the sea was smooth, and the pretty little rowboat skimmed the waves with airy grace as it was propelled by the oars in Tracy's skillful hands. Dawn, in a jaunty white flannel boating costume, with all her bright hair floating loose, looked as lovely as she did last night in satin and lace and diamonds. She thought she had never seen her lover so handsome as he was this morning in his careless boating costume, with a broad white hat resting his dark curls, and that wistful sadness in his splendid dark eyes.

CLAIMS ON TURKEY.

Mr. Lloyd C. Griscomb, United States charge d'affaires at Constantinople, has presented a fresh note to the Ottoman government, insisting upon an immediate reply to the demand of the United States for a settlement the indemnity in connection with the losses of Americans at the time of the Armenian massacres. THE ASHANTEE REBELLION. London, June 25 .- A dispatch from Prahsu, dated Saturday, says: The brain and inspiration of the Ashantee rebellion is the aged Queen of Ofesu. Although aged, she is full of physical energy. She carries a gun herself, and personally leads 1,000 picked hunters. Her personal confederate is the blind, crafty King of the Adansis. Cobina Foli, heir to the Adansi stool, is a prisoner of the British. He professes loyalty. The revolt, he says, has been simmering for a year. All the tribes except the Bekwais, according to his account, object to paying British taxes. He says the golden stool is made of wood, covered with thin gold plates.

A dispatch from Prahsu, dated June 23, says: Sufficient supplies have at last been collected, and the final advance to open communications with Kumassie will begin tomorrow (Sunday). On the road from Ashantee to Kwahou are three villages, where are gathered some 2,000 fighting men, who have practiced the rites of fetish worship and pledged themselves to help the Ashantees.

An Ontario Mother's Statemont.

I wish to state that 13 years ago my little daughter Fanny was so very sick with summer complaint that I thought she was going to die. I hardly knew what to do for her when my sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Kay, of Norland, told me to procure a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as her husband always kept it in the house to use himself.

I got a bottle and started giving the nedicine to my little girl. I have read of things being "worth their weight in gold, but never did I know of any medicine to which that expression could be truly applied et Dr. Fowier's Extract. It certainly worked wonders, and I often tell people I lon't believe Fanny would be alive to-day except for Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry and God's help.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. W. T. Hill, in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, last Thursday evening, when Mr. C. H. Faryon, of this city, was wedded to Miss Sarah Spicer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Spicer, of No. 932 Waterloo street. The bride entered, leaning upon her father's arm, as a beautiful wedding march was played. She was charmingly attired in white organdy, trimmed with white silk ribbon and Valenciennes lace. She wore a bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Lizzie Spicer, and Miss Violet McCrimmon, who were each dressed in pale blue silk, trimmed with ribbon and white lace. They carried bouquets of pink roses. After the ceremony the company drove to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Spicer, on Waterloo street, where a dainty wedding supper was served. Subsequently an informal reception was held, and most enjoyable time was spent. The number and beauty of the wedding presents attested the popularity of the young couple, and the esteem in which they are held. TRAIN RAN TOO FAST Verdict of the Jury in the Ward Inquest-More Care Needed at Ridout

Street Crossing.

The inquest into the death of James Denton Ward, killed at the Ridout street crossing of the G. T. R. on Friday, June 15, was concluded last night. Five witnesses were examined, two of them being eye-witnesses of the tragedy. W. C. Allen, manager of the Western Wire and Nail Works, on Ridout street, was standing in his of-fice door, and saw the train strike Ward. Mr. Allen estimated the train's speed at 40 miles per hour. John Mc-Cauley, who saw the accident from the Talbot street crossing, a block east of the scene of the fatality, thought the train was going at its usual speed. Robert Berry and Charles Lewis, teamsters at Ferguson's lumber yard, thought the train was running at its usual speed that morning. They could not remember hearing either the whistle or the bell. Robert T. Jones, Mr. Ward's brother-in-law, told of Ward's having frequently warned him to beware of the trains.

In entering their verdict the jury said Prom the Epworth League and traveling at a dangerous rate of speed, as the sidewalk crossings were not protected by gates. They also indicated the need of greater care on the part of the train crews and slower speed at Ridout street crossing, as, owing to the noise from the adjacent nail factory and planing mill, it is difficult to hear the whistle or bell of an approaching train.

HYMN OF THANKSGIVING FOR VICTORY. [From London Times.]

In November last we published a "Hymn in Time of War," written by Mr. A. C. Ainger, a master at Eton College, set to music by Sir John Stainer, and issued by Messrs. Novello. Mr. Ainger has now written the following "Hymn of Thanksgiving for Vic-tory," which Messus. Novello will also publish with a tune written by the late Sir Joseph Barnby:

Praise the Lord: today we raise Hymns of thankfulness and praise. After sorrow's night forlorn Brightly beams a joyful morn. For our soldiers' duty done, For our triumphs nobly won, Lift your hearts with one accord, Lift your hearts, and praise the Lord!

For the souls with high intent From our worldwide Empire sent, Fearless, faithful, tender, true, Strong to suffer, strong to do, All their powers with all their might Spending freely for the right, Lift your hearts with one accord Lift your hearts, and praise the Lord!

God can give, and God alone, From the seed in hatred sown Harvest time of fair increase, Freedom, brotherhood and peace For the joy that springs from tears, For the hope of coming years, Lift your hearts with one accord, Lift your hearts, and praise the Lord!

O'er the earth from pole to pole, Far as ocean's billows roll, One with us in heart and voice All our kin today rejoice. For the love that links in one All our kin beneath the sun, Lift your hearts with one accord,
