

WESTERN'S LONG STRUGGLE IS REWARDED BY SUCCESS

Miss Valerie Carrothers Wrote for a Specialist's Certificate.

HONOR DEGREES ARE RECOGNIZED

Department of Education Refused in the Past to Do This—Londoners Pleased.

Summed up, the granting of a specialist's certificate to Miss A. Valerie Carrothers means that the department of education will henceforth recognize honor degrees from the Western University as the basis for granting specialist standing. In the past, these honor degrees have not been recognized, the honor graduate of the Western, being put in the same class with the graduates of a high school or collegiate institute, holding what is equivalent to a first-class certificate only. The unfairness of this position, particularly in view of the fact that Miss Deane took a particularly high standing in competition with the honor graduates of other universities, was pointed out by friends of the Western University, and it is thought that the recognition of the honor degrees of the Western was due to this agitation.

The opinion prevails that the long struggle started by the board of governors of the Western University for the recognition of their honor degrees for specialist standing, has at last been recognized by the Department of Education, and henceforth graduates of the Western will have the same opportunities as the graduates of the University of Toronto, McMaster University or Queen's.

Miss E. Valerie Carrothers, B. A., of this city, is the first to have her honor degree recognized. She graduated from the Western in moderns, and when she went to the Faculty of Education, Toronto, she studied for a specialist's certificate.

Miss Carrothers took a very high standing in her examinations, but was denied her certificate, not because of the fact that her standing was not sufficiently high, but because she was not 21 years of age, as is required before such a certificate can be granted.

A Specialist Standing.
"My daughter studied for a specialist's certificate," said Mr. George Carrothers, father of Miss Valerie Carrothers, to The Advertiser. "She received not only a letter of congratulation from the secretary, but also from her teacher in honor English at the school. There is absolutely no doubt but that she was granted a specialist standing."

The friends of the Western University are delighted with the results and claim a victory for the institution. "I have read the letter sent Miss Carrothers," declared Ald. T. J. Murphy, one of the leaders in the campaign for the recognition of the Western University degrees, "and my own opinion is that the department of education has quietly gone about, in this way, to recognize the standing of our students. It is merely a matter of justice, and I am pleased that such has been the outcome."

"So far as I can see, it is simply a question of the examination Miss Carrothers wrote on," said Dr. Tamblin, registrar of the university. "If she wrote for a specialist's certificate, the letter is evidence enough that she was successful in that quest, and that the department of education has at last recognized the honor degrees of the Western University. If she wrote on the ordinary teachers' examination, to qualify for a position in an high school, she would not receive a specialist standing, and would, of course, be granted a certificate to teach. I am not in a position to state which she wrote on. If the former, a great victory has been achieved for the Western."

Case of Miss Deane.
Miss Deane some time ago wrote for a specialist's certificate, and although taking an extremely high rank she was not granted the right to specialist standing. Since that time Miss Thompson, of Lucan, and the Misses Reynolds also

CHARGED WITH STEALING FUNDS OF THE FIRM

E. W. Lormax, Formerly in Darch & Hunter's Employ, Arrested at Hamilton.

E. W. Lormax, formerly employed as bookkeeper for Darch & Hunter, was arrested in Hamilton this morning on a warrant sworn out here charging him with stealing about $150 of the funds of Darch & Hunter. He will be brought back to this city this evening by Detective Down, who was sent down after him at noon.

Mr. Fred Darch laid the information.

TRAVERS' EVIDENCE WAS CONTRADICTED

By Ex-Minister of Finance at Reopening of Farmers' Bank Probe.

OPPOSED EXTENDING TIME Knew Nothing of the Institution Until Application For Certificate Was Made.

[Canadian Press.]
Ottawa, June 10.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, former minister of finance, was examined by Mr. Frank Hodgins, K.C., today at the reopening of the Farmers' Bank inquiry. The question of extension of the time of the charter was taken up. "You had to do with the issuing of the certificate to the Farmers' Bank?" Mr. Hodgins asked.

"Yes," "You had knowledge of the extension of time in which the bank had to organize?" "I was opposed to granting any renewal, but was overruled by the committee, but finally succeeded in having the limit compromised on at six months."

"Have you any knowledge of a telegram to Mr. Lowndes, a barrister, which stated that the committee had 'turned you down'?"

"I do not know of any, but you might take it when I was overruled that I was 'turned down.'"

Fielding Was Anxious.
Mr. Fielding told Mr. Hodgins that he had looked on the movement to obtain a charter for the Farmers' Bank always with "anxiety." "I disliked the movement because I was afraid of members of Parliament going into business they did not understand."

AUTO GOES INTO RIVER; FIVE MEN MISSING

The Boston Police Find Evidence of Tragic Motor Accident.

Boston, June 10.—An automobile containing six men went over an embankment into the Charles River early this morning, and thus far the police have been able to account for but one of the number. This man, Gerald Whalen, of Roxbury, told the officers that the others made their escape before the car took its plunge, and then disappeared, but the police are doubtful if all got away. The river will be dragged.

READING TEAM PITCHER "BAGGED" BY LONDON

Manager Frank Bowerman Is Out After Some New Material.

Manager Frank Bowerman and the London club management are still casting about for new material. On Saturday a pitcher named Bollinger was signed, and will likely be used in one of the games with Hamilton. Bollinger was a member of the defunct Reading team in the Lynn, Mass., team of the New England League, for a third baseman named Morris. Morris is a dandy and he will likely be bought by the London club. He has been hitting over the 300 mark in the New England League, and should strengthen the Trojans considerably.

Two other new players reported to the London team this morning at Hamilton, but Manager Bowerman has not yet wired their names to the local management, and they do not know their names.

PLEADED GUILTY TO STEALING SHOES

John Baker Admitted Robbing His Employers.

John Baker, who says he comes of a family of shoemakers in St. John's, Newfoundland, who was arrested a couple of days ago, this morning pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a pair of shoes from Sterling Bros., warehouse, where he was formerly employed.

Detective Nikke, who made the arrest, explained that the prisoner was under the influence of liquor when he found him headed for a pawnshop with the shoes in his possession. Baker, it is said, became extremely abusive when taken into custody, and being a big fellow took upon himself to call the officer a few names.

"Why not lay a charge of using abusive language against him?" inquired the magistrate of the detective.

"Oh, no, your worship," Nikke replied. "Baker and I settled that at the time."

ALL ARE SIGNING FOR ANNEXATION

Adding of District East of City Appears To Be a Very Easy Task.

WORK IN POTTERSBURG Manufacturers Are Leaving the Canvassing There to People Who Are Keen to Get Into the City.

The annexation of Pottersburg and the portion lying between East London and the above-mentioned suburb, is attracting much interest, and the manufacturers' committee are actively engaged in the preliminary work. Practically all the manufacturers in that section have been signed up, and today a section of forty acres has been added to the list. The committee just now are engaged in that portion of the business, leaving the canvassing of Pottersburg to the citizens of that district. Interested parties are working there, and it is expected that within ten days the whole question will be settled.

"The results so far are highly satisfactory," declared Ald. Spittal. "We have signed up all the manufacturers in the section lying just east of the city and many vacant premises, suitable for factory sites are coming in. The village of Pottersburg has not been touched actively by us, as we are anticipating that the residents there will help themselves in this matter. It will be a good thing, both for the city and the country, and I am hopeful that it will be carried forward to a successful conclusion."

Ald. Spittal did not know the exact date when the business would be closed up, but he anticipated an early settlement.

SIMCOE ST. MAN WAS CRUSHED IN OLD MILL

Allen McDonald, of 193 Simcoe St., Had Right Leg Fractured.

Mr. Allan McDonald, of 193 Simcoe street, a carpenter employed on the raising of the old Sundry mill, was caught under a heavy timber there this morning, and sustained a fracture of his leg. He was removed to his home in the police ambulance.

A number of workmen who were engaged in levelling a huge bent, were on the scene when the collapse came, and for a moment it appeared that the trouble would result more seriously. Mr. McDonald was again removed in the police ambulance, this afternoon being taken to Victoria Hospital on an order from his physician.

STEAD'S ESTATE.

London, June 10.—The estate of Wm. T. Stead, the well-known newspaper writer who was drowned in the Titanic disaster, was sworn today at the small total of $65,000.

SUDDEN DEATH OF P. D. CRERAR, LEADING CITIZEN OF HAMILTON

Stricken With Apoplexy This Morning, He Dies Within a Few Minutes.

[Canadian Press.]
Hamilton, June 10.—P. D. Crerar, one of Hamilton's most prominent citizens, was stricken with apoplexy early this morning, and died within a few minutes. Deceased was born in Criff, Scotland, where he received his education in the University of Glasgow. He was a member of the legal firm of Crerar & Crerar. In addition to his extensive law practice, Mr. Crerar was president of the John McPherson Shoe Company, Royal Dairy Company and Oak Tan Leather Company. He was a director of the Imperial Cotton Company, Ontario Landtern Company, Tungsten Lamp Company, and Baynes Carriage Company; also the solicitor for Hamilton Provident and Loan Company, the Molsons and Royal Banks. For years he was president of the Old Leander Rowing Club, and a director of the Hamilton Golf Club. For several years he was president of the Hamilton Liberal Association. He was a member of the Hamilton Club, and prominent in social life here.

Mr. Crerar took an active part in promoting the Hamilton Health Association, of which he was vice-president. On Saturday evening he and his wife celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding. He is survived by his widow, three sons (Harry, Allister and Malcolm) and one daughter (Viola).

The late Mr. Crerar was the stepfather of Mrs. Adam Beck, of this city.

CONFERENCE DECIDES TO SELL METHODIST PROPERTY IN CITY

First Methodist Church Property and That On High Street To Be Disposed Of and New Structure To Be Erected—Many Changes in the Boundaries.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, June 10.—Recommendations involving the sale of two properties belonging to the Methodist Church in London and the erection of two new churches were adopted by the London Methodist Conference here this morning. The decision involves the sale of the First Methodist Church property on Richmond street, and the transfer of the Colborne street parsonage from the control of the parsonage trustee board to the church trustee board.

The proceeds from the sale of the High street property will be applied to the erection of a new church on Ridout street.

New churches and parsonages were also decided upon for Forest and Kenilworth in the Stratford district, while the existing parsonages at Thamesville and Bothwell will be sold and new ones erected.

Boundaries' Changes.
Many changes were made by the district and circuit boundaries commission. The Harmony appointment was attached to Trinity Church, Stratford. Maplewood appointment, on the Harmony circuit, will in future be on the Embro circuit. It was recommended, however, that regular Sunday services be discontinued at that place.

Harrington, on Harmony circuit, was transferred to Embro. Mr. Kim's, on the Kintore circuit, and town line, on the Embro circuit, were united, and the recommendation was made that a new church be built at Lakeside, Kintore.

$4,000 FOR VICTORIA HOSPITAL FROM THE ANDERSON ESTATE

Money Was Left to Institution Conditionally Forty Years Ago and Now Comes Into Hands of the Hospital Through the Demise of the Widow of Dr. Anderson.

It is understood that following the demise of Mrs. (Dr.) Anderson, whose estate occurred some days ago, a grant of $4,000 will be made to Victoria Hospital.

The late Dr. Anderson, nearly half a century ago, was one of the leading physicians in London, and was closely connected with Victoria Hospital in the early days. His death took place nearly 40 years ago, and by the provisions of the will $4,000 was set aside for the hospital. Mrs. Anderson was to enjoy the interest on this amount during her life time. On her death, it was to be handed over to the hospital trust.

Mrs. Anderson's will will be probated in a few days, and it is expected that the money will then be paid over to the city.

REINSTATING OF STRIKERS WILL BE AGAIN TAKEN UP

Local Officials Are Notified to Give Evidence at Toronto.

Further action for the reinstatement of Grand Trunk strikers who have been out of employment since the trouble of 1910 is to be taken at Toronto this week, according to announcement made here this morning, and it is probable that all difficulties will now be smoothed over within a short time.

Local officials have received notice to be prepared to go to Toronto when called upon within a few days for the purpose of giving information concerning the merits of the case of individuals. There are still half a dozen Londoners awaiting reinstatement.

SYNOD OF HURON WILL OPEN ANNUAL SESSION ON TUESDAY

Bishop Williams Will Read Address Which Will Be Important.

The Synod of Huron will open its annual session tomorrow morning, and delegates are already commencing to arrive. There will be a meeting of the executive committee this afternoon to prepare the business to be presented to the gathering.

There are not many new matters of business to be taken up. The various parishes throughout the diocese will report a prosperous year, all the activities of the church showing marked gains during the year.

The annual address of Bishop Williams will be read on Tuesday afternoon. It will be voluminous, and will deal with many matters of importance to the Anglican Church. Particular stress will be laid on the matter of missions, and it is anticipated that his address will strongly back up the request of the Woman's Missionary Society for more missionaries in the field, particularly in the Canadian west, where the need is so apparent. Social and reform questions will be dealt with, and a presentation on the temperance issue is expected. It is not expected that his lordship will take a stand on the issue now in the political arena, but will avoid that.

Demand of the Women.
There is every indication, however, that the demand of the women for recognition on the floor of the synod will create quite a debate. For some time a pointed discussion has been going on in the Canadian press relative to this subject. Mrs. H. A. Bommer has written some excellent articles on the question, and it is expected that a big debate will take place on this matter.

Rev. Mr. Norwood, rector of Memorial Church, will preach the sermon on Tuesday morning, which is the official opening of the synod. Business will commence in the afternoon. The sessions will last until Friday afternoon.

REDUCTION ON CEMENT TO HELP ROGERS AT ELECTIONS

The Real Reason Why Duty Was Remitted By the Government.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, June 10.—The reduction of duty on cement for a time is regarded here as another evidence that the Government is not sure enough of its ground to know its own mind for any length of time. Strong supporters here of the Government aid of protection say that in ordering the duty of cement the Government has made a fatal mistake. The temporary reduction was made obviously to help Hon. Robert Rogers, better known as "Burrhead," in his fight for Premier Scott in Saskatchewan, if possible, to save several Federal seats in by-elections, one of which (Macdonald) is now open.

Protectionists here say that they fear the duty on cement will never go back, but that the western farmers will not hold what they have but get more of the way of reductions on farm machinery.

OLD FLAG WALKS ARE DISAPPEARING

City Engineer Wright Orders the Contractor To Go Ahead With Cement Work.

A PROTEST IS LODGED

Mayor Told by Mr. Woolverton That Stones Have a Geological Value.

The old flag sidewalks on Richmond and Dundas streets will soon be a thing of the past. This morning City Engineer Wright gave the contractor, W. J. Anthistle, orders to proceed at once with the cement walks, that will replace the old flags.

Today the strip from the City Gas Company's office at Clarence and Dundas streets to Richmond was removed, and the ground prepared for the cement work.

The walks have been down more than 25 years, but have been badly worn for some time. The result was that after every rain the sidewalks were almost impassable owing to the water that lodged on them.

The necessary bylaws have been passed, and it is the intention of Engineer Wright to hurry the work as rapidly as possible.

A Protest.
Dr. Woolverton, the well-known geologist of this city, has lodged a protest with Mayor Graham against the contractor breaking the flags into smaller pieces. He insists that they have much geological value if preserved intact. His worship will take the matter up with City Engineer Wright some time this afternoon. However, it is not considered likely that the work will be delayed on this account.

The cement work will be done at night, so as not to interfere with business downtown.

FRANCE TO ADOPT 2-POWER STANDARD

Mediterranean Fleet Is To Be Brought Up to That Limit at Once.

Paris, June 9. — The Matin's announcement that henceforth France will maintain a two-power standard for its Mediterranean fleet and also that if between now and 1914 Austria or Italy decides to increase its naval power the French minister of Marine will immediately ask Parliamentary credits to cover similar increases, is not denied even officially and hence is acceptable as accurate. The announcement has been followed by a discussion regarding the present and future comparative strengths in the Mediterranean. The Matin 1912 France will add eleven battleships and seven cruisers against Austria's and Italy's nine battleships and six cruisers. In the estimates for 1912 France will add eleven battleships and Austria and Italy ten.

KOREAN CHRISTIANS PLOTTED ASSASSINATION

Japanese Governor-General Says Conspirators Were Not Put to the Torture.

Seoul, June 8. — General Count Terauchi, Japanese governor-general of Korea, quietly visited Pyongyang yesterday, and met the foreign missionaries to whom he explained the Japanese Government's attitude on the Christian movement in Korea. Count Terauchi said that the stories concerning a conspiracy on the part of Korean Christians against his life were unquestionably true, but that the utmost leniency had been exercised toward those having connection with it. He gave the missionaries his personal assurances that there had been no torturing of prisoners. Count Terauchi said the Government executed the missionaries from any connection with the conspiracy against him, and told them that he would cooperate with them in their movement. The missionaries in return expressed their deep satisfaction with the governor-general and their confidence in him.

NEW HEARING FOR THAW.

Matteawan, N. Y., June 8. — "I only want a ticket one way. Hope I will not need the return part," said Harry K. Thaw, today when he started for White Plains, where his attorneys are about to make another effort to free him from confinement here in the State Hospital for Criminal Insane. Pursuant to a supreme court order Thaw's residence during the trial of his suit will be the White Plains jail. He seemed in excellent spirits this morning. One of the hospital attendants accompanied him.

Keeps the Skin Clear and Soft

Humors of the skin are especially prevalent in the spring. There is nothing more annoying than to have irritation of the skin and disfiguring eruptions breaking out to mar the beauty of the complexion. Internal treatments are slow and unsatisfactory in results, but you can depend on Dr. Chase's Ointment to heal up the sores and bring lasting relief. Unlike pore-clogging powders, Dr. Chase's Ointment cleans out the pores of the skin and makes it soft, smooth and healthy. It is a food for the skin, and a beautifier of the greatest value. Eczema, salt humor, psoriasis, chafing and all forms of itching skin disease soon yield to the soothing, healing influence of this well-known ointment. It is indispensable in the home where there are babies and young children.

Aeronautic Terms Easily Pronounced

Get a London Advertiser Dictionary and Learn How to Speak English Correctly.

You may think you are able to pronounce the name of the new profession of air-conquering properly, but so did the members of a fashionable house party recently, until Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary set them right.

All except one member of the party asserted that the first "a" is "short," when the right way is to make it "long." You probably did not know also that the word originally applied only to a flying machine, but is used now to designate the operator as well as his machine.

Can you pronounce, define and distinguish between the following few of the many terms you heard used at the aero-auto shows?

dirigible
magneto
aeroplanist
Aeronaut.

You might think some of these words mean the same thing, but there is a difference. Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary, and see how wrong you are. These are but the easier terms of aero-talk. Be up to date. Get a dictionary and learn them all.

EXCESS OF MOISTURE THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

Prospective Yield of Grain Reduced by Flooded Land.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, June 8. — The Weekly Star, devoted to the interests of farmers, today says:

Ontario, which suffered so severely from drought last year, is threatened with corresponding loss this season, owing to excess of moisture. Grain seeding, which should have been finished the first week in May, is not yet complete. Corn and mangel planting is also being held back. Land on which grain was sown has been flooded and prospective yields therefrom greatly reduced.

While the general crop situation is causing alarm, the advance of rain has produced a profusion of pasture and assured a good hay crop and the fruit outlook, with the possible exception of peaches, is promising.

THE LAW'S LONG ARM

Belgian Merchant Who Defrauded, Caught in Canadian West.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, June 8. — The long arm of the law has reached out after Joseph Charles Verbeke, a Belgian merchant, who came to Canada some months ago and settled on a farm near West. On the information of the Dominion police here Verbeke was arrested by the provincial police of British Columbia. He was brought before a court of extradition at Nelson, B. C., and was remanded till the 13th, according to information wired Dominion police headquarters here today.

Joseph Charles Verbeke, according to information regarding him received from the Belgian authorities, was a merchant at St. Nicholas, and came to Canada, settling with his wife and family on a farm in the West. If extradition is ordered he will have to leave his home and return to Belgium to put in a term of four years and three months in prison.

On January 24 he was declared bankrupt by the court of St. Nicholas. He was sentenced to four years and three months on the latter charge.

A LONG DIG.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 8. — It took a policeman and three men to stop Tony Volito from working last night. He was employed with an excavation gang and for hours after the others stopped work he kept swinging his pick. He said he was digging his way through to Turkey to get at Italy's enemies. He will be held until doctors examine him.

NOT ONE WOMAN IN TWENTY HAS A STRONG BACK.

THE KIDNEYS ARE TO BLAME
NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN.

Women are coming to understand that weak, lame and aching backs from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys.

The poisons that ought to be carried off are sent back into the blood, taking with them a multitude of aches and pains. There is no use of expecting relief until the kidneys are restored to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills are the quickest and most reliable remedy. Mrs. Ed. Baxter, Upham, N.B., writes:—"I take a good deal of pleasure in telling you what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. I was troubled with my kidneys for a number of years, and my back was so lame I could not sweep the floor. A friend of mine advised me to try a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and after using three boxes I am as well as ever. I highly recommend them to anyone suffering from lame back or kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. M. Burns Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

NINE WERE ORDAINED ONE GOES TO JAPAN

And the Rest Will Take Charges In the London Conference.

St. Thomas, June 9. — Nine young men were ordained to the work of the Methodist ministry at the First Church here this morning. With the exception of one who is going to Japan, they are all under appointment in the London Conference. The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Brown, general superintendent of the Methodist Church, who urged them to take their work seriously and emphasized the responsibility resting not only upon them, but also upon the laity.

The assisting clergymen were: Rev. Dr. Dougall, of St. Thomas; Rev. J. E. Ford, Rev. Joseph Philip, of Essex; Rev. G. W. H. McAllister, of Elmhurst; Rev. R. G. Harris, of Piquette. After the laying on of hands the ministers were given Bibles, signed by the president and secretary of the conference. They received their communion tonight at the conference. Sacramental services, conducted by Rev. Alfred Brown, formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church. The preacher was Rev. N. E. Bowles, of China. The newly-ordained ministers and laymen to which they are going follow: Thomas A. Allen, Dover; Herbert P. Ball, Salem; Arthur W. Brown, Penfield; Edward R. Cowell, B. A., Cambridge; Samuel J. T. Fortner, Cairnmore; G. Clifton Giff, Malden; Fred L. Harburn, Walton; Burton Halliday Robinson, M. A., Bervie; Melvin M. Whiting, B. A., Japan.

Rev. Frank Swann, of Bridgeton, is leaving the London Conference to take up missionary work at Kinnaat, British Columbia. Rev. Mr. Swann briefly thanked the conference for its appreciation of him.

After attending a reception at Alma College the delegates attended a meeting of the Historical Society. Rev. Walter Rigby gave an address on Indian missions.

Saturday afternoon was given up to a reception at Alma College, where the ministers enjoyed the opportunity of meeting Rev. Dr. Warner and his staff. The laymen held a meeting in Grace Church, where J. C. Hay made a strong plea for better support of the superannuated fund. He pointed out that although the salary of ministers have remained the same, and deplored the fact that a great like the Methodist Church allowed them there for had worn themselves out in its service to want for the necessities of life.

ESCAPES FROM CZAR; COMING TO CANADA

Makes Way to London After 10 Years in Siberian Prison.

Toronto, June 9. — Through the agency of a newspaper, William Schkolnik, a Russian, living at Trenton, has obtained a clue to the whereabouts of his sister, who recently escaped from a Siberian prison after being confined there for ten years.

Schkolnik, who is known in Trenton as Suckloss, an Anglized version of his name, came to Canada with two brothers when their sister was arrested for belonging to a terrorist society and sentenced to spend the rest of her life at Maltchiesky Prison, several weeks' journey south of Irkutsk and not far from the Chinese frontier.

He learned that the unfortunate young woman, now only 27 years of age, had succeeded in making her escape, and heard that she was at an address in Paris, France.

He came to Toronto and through Louis Goussinsky arranged with the Allan Steamship Company to send transportation and money for her journey to Canada. The agents of the steamship company failed to cover her at the place named and the disappointed brother on Saturday last was overjoyed to read the tale of her terrible experiences and escape in an article in a local newspaper.

This article spoke of her as being at a house in London, England, known as the headquarters in that city of the Russian, Turanian and other revolutionaries. Schkolnik will be enabled to communicate with his sister and bring her soon to this country.

MONTREAL FEELING EFFECTS OF STRIKE

Steamers Tied Up at London That Should Be in Canada.

Montreal, June 8. — Should it last much longer, the London docks strike will seriously interfere with the St. Lawrence trade. Already the C. P. R. and Allan lines have seven steamers between them, the movements of which are being hampered by the strike. The former company have the Montreal, Montezuma and Mount Royal in port at the present time, with the Mountfort arriving to share the berth. The Allan Line have the Scotian, Ionian and Corinthian, and all these steamers are tied up and no work being done on them when they should be busily loading for this side.

RUN OVER BY AUTO.

Toronto, June 8. — John Wilson, aged 15, a messenger boy employed by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was run over by an automobile at Yonge and Adelaide streets at 9:15 o'clock this morning, while riding a bicycle, sustaining internal injuries. He will recover.

ONE DAY'S REST IN SEVEN

Berlin Physicians Say Their Duty Calls for Sunday Off.

Berlin, June 9. — The Berlin physicians have declared for one day of rest in seven. The movement was started by physicians who declare that arduous work and long hours have broken their sleep. They say their duties call for Sunday rest much more than in other professions. It is proposed to divide the city into districts, with one or two physicians selected in rotation to take care of the practice of all other physicians in that district.

SOUTHWOLD PIONEER.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, June 9. — Charles McNish, one of the oldest and best-known farmers of Southwold Township, died today at the residence of his brother, Donald McNish, Piquette. Mr. McNish was born in Kinross, Ayrshire, and had lived in Elgin County over 60 years. Two brothers and one sister survive him.

ALL LOVELY AGAIN.

Hamilton, June 8. — Fong Young, the Chinese restaurant keeper, who married a white girl in Toronto, yesterday advertised in the papers that he would not be responsible for his WIFE'S DEBTS.

He was under the impression that she had left him for good. Today the girl returned and she and Young announced that they were quite happy and contented.

ST. HELENS.

St. Helens, June 8. — J. R. Webster is busy putting up a wire fence for Jas. Aitchison.

Angus McDonald, of St. Helens, and Joe Blaney, of Lucknow, are operating Mr. Anderson's sprayer.

Mrs. James Mitchell, of Toronto, is spending a month's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Webster.

Rev. Mr. Gown, of Duncannon, will preach on the Sunday evenings of June 9 and 16, and will speak at the Sunday school at 6:30 p.m. Prayer meeting will be discontinued until Mr. McIntosh returns from Edmonton.

John Webster is back from Cochran and has resumed his position as captain of the rifle club.

There are small culverts near St. Helens which are not safe for traffic. Human lives are risked every day, when a small expenditure would remedy all the trouble.

Mrs. Henry Phillips, of Sandusky, Mich., visited her brother-in-law, Mr. Sam Phillips, this week.

Mr. Sam Phillips and son Lloyd visited at Mr. McKnight's at the Nile yesterday.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Mr. Willie McDonald and Miss Shell, of Jamestown, on Wednesday afternoon next. Mr. McDonald is a St. Helens boy.

Mrs. James Campbell celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday yesterday. A few friends being present. Among them were Mrs. John Campbell and two daughters from Lanes, Ashfield. Mrs. Campbell's health is not good now, but her eyesight is splendid. Mr. Campbell died many years ago. One son and one daughter are with their mother on the old homestead. The rest of her family are in the West.

Miss Annie Stuart is improving a little now, but is still very weak.

Miss Salkald, of Goderich, is visiting her aunts, Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Gordon and other friends.

LONDON, MONDAY, JUNE 10.

THE CEMENT DUTIES DODGE.

The temporary reduction of cement duties by the Borden Government will no doubt be borne with becoming patience by its friends, the "Big Interests." All right, considering the present circumstances, but don't let it occur again, they will say, with a painful smile. Such an action by the old Laurier Government would have been a precedent for a general assault on the tariff, but we can trust our friend Borden to tighten up against such as the present emergency is past.

What is the present emergency? What strange situation can persuade the Government which went into power with the cry that American manufactures must be more rigidly barred out, and that in fact we should have "no truck or trade with the Yankees," suddenly to make this slashing attack on the cement duty?

The only reason is the impending election in Saskatchewan. The gloomy effects of the Quebec election must be offset by a brilliant demonstration of governmental friendliness to the West and of western good-will to Bordenism. If by any means whatever Saskatchewan can be turned against Scott, or his hold be seriously weakened even, it will be possible to proclaim that the West after all is contented with the results of the September election.

Last summer there were Conservative journals Macdowell enough to declare that any means was lawful to defeat the Laurier Government. So now any trick will do to conjure up a simulacrum of governmental strength west of Manitoba. It is true that the duty on cement is unduly high. But the temporary reduction, timed for a provincial election, is too obviously a piece of political trickery. After denying that reductions of duties were to be made, the Hon. W. T. White demands himself to consent to be Mr. Rogers' tool.

As the reduction goes into effect on June 12 and lasts only till the end of October, British exporters of cement will have no time to take advantage of it. The whole advantage will be reaped by the American manufacturers of whom Mr. Borden and his followers profess to have such a horror. With cans from Pittsburgh and cement from the United States, our lip-loyalists will still go on slobbering patriotic slaver over dear John Bull, and wiping their eyes with the Union Jack. That is their habit. But will John Bull not see it? When Hon. Rogers fishes with bait for mudcats, Mr. White holding the can for him, will the western trout be a mudcat and bite?

THE REPUBLICAN MUTINY.

It would be a mistake to regard the split in the Republican party as merely a personal quarrel. It has a much wider meaning. Throughout the United States, especially in the centre and west, there is a genuine and determined revolt against the domination of the Interests. Mr. Roosevelt has had the shrewdness to snatch the leadership of this mutiny, usurping the place of its proper pioneers and more practical spokesmen, such as La Follette.

Mr. Taft, on the other hand, while not consciously the tool of the Interests, loves peace and comfort, has not cared to fight the dragon, and when Roosevelt breaks parole to enter the lists in Taft's place, the President almost has to get behind the dragon of swollen monopoly, whose hot breath meets the ex-president's fire.

Mr. Roosevelt could have done nothing as a campaigner for a third term unless there had been the spirit of rebellion abroad in the land. The great battle is between the Interests and the Republican "rank and file," and the party is that neither party has a leader with a clean-cut programme.

Mr. Taft is not committed to monopoly extension. Mr. Roosevelt has no defined federal policy. Recall of judicial decisions is merely a state policy, with no bearing upon the Supreme Court. So far as the great national issue between money power and the people is concerned, Taft's antagonism stops short at windy talk. As La Follette says, he has formulated no practical plan for dealing with the trusts. The real issue in the war is large, momentous, national. The spirit of revolt has for a moment adopted a leader with no clear ideas, stronger in word than in action.

WHY AN IMPERTINENCE?

The choice of this city for the opening of Mr. Rowell's summer campaign is described as an impertinence by a spokesman for Mr. Beck.

This is not sportsmanship. As a party man, Mr. Beck must be prepared to take the consequences of the party system. As a candidate of the Whitney Government, particularly as a member of that Government, he cannot evade the responsibility for every act of his party, and he must stand on every plank of its platform. To whine because "Mr. Beck is to be attacked in his own city," is to ask that Mr. Beck be exempted from the logic of party. Take the banish-the-bar issue, which is referred to by the complaining contemporary: Mr. Beck cannot throw the shield of Niagara power over such a question; he must bear the full onus of the Government's opposition to Mr. Rowell's policy. As a party man and a cabinet minister, he ought to be ready to face the music, and he has not the least ground for complaint if he is made to face it.

The real impertinence lay in the suggestion that it is impertinent to offer opposition to Mr. Beck. Upon what must hath this our Caesar fed that he hath grown so great?

The insurgent Republicans are more fortunate in their cause than in their leader.

Fire wiped out the larger part of the business section of Blind River, begging Mr. Pelletier's pardon, Riviere de l'Aveugle.

The reduction of the cement duties is a palpable device to help Mr. Rogers to cement the Borden-Haultain alliance in Saskatchewan.

The Canadian West looks for the greatest wheat crop in its history this year, but unfortunately there will be no expansion of its markets.

"There are thousands of young men in Ontario who would be vastly better off in the West, and for that reason their value to Canada would be greatly enhanced," Ottawa Journal.

Does the Journal advise Ontario farmers and their sons to desert the soil of Ontario? If so it does both them and Canada a very great disservice. The rural depopulation of Ontario is a weakness to the whole country.

The Toronto News notices the decision of the Pittsburgh high schools to make Latin an optional subject. It points out some of the values of Latin study, and ends with the remark that "for cultural reasons Latin is admirable, and it would be a pity if the example of Pittsburgh were generally followed in the high schools of this continent." But is Latin now generally a compulsory subject in high schools? It is not in the high schools of Ontario.

"The two branches of Congress are playing football with the tariff. The Democratic House passed a bill to lower the duties on iron, steel and other metals. It was thought to be a shrewd party tactic to put on the Republican Senate and the Republican President the onus of rejecting so popular a measure. The Republican Senate thereupon tacked on the bill an amendment to abolish the Canadian reciprocity act, and sent it back to the Democratic House. The reciprocity agreement is in high disfavor with the American farmers, and in demanding its repeal Republican senators effectively countered on the Democrats. The House declined to accept the amendment, and the original bill is therefore suspended between the two chambers, and there it will probably remain until after the presidential election. Thus does a great nation transact its business."

USUALLY BLINDS ONE.

[Toronto Globe.] "Look at your tax bill," urges a contemporary. No need of that advice. Most of us can't look at anything else for a few days after the tax bill comes around.

GLORIOUS GLORY.

[Belton, Mo., Herald.] Miss Morning Glory Starbuck was out Saturday afternoon making a sly circuit of the market place, looking lovelier than the flowers for which she was named. She was clad in a gown made from last year's lace curtains, bleached on the blue grass in the back yard and draped into artistic loops by her own deft fingers. She was shod in immaculate doekin booties which resembled white mice racing over the sidewalk, and there was a faint perfume of wild rose on the gentle summer breeze.

SPOILING FOR THE SPOILS.

[Ottawa Free Press.] The postmaster at Bowenville, in Durham County, has been dismissed. The Postmaster-General was in such a hurry to dismiss this Grit that he sent the dismissal notice by telephone, not taking the time to write a letter.

THE MIXER AND MUDDLER.

[Toronto Globe.] The school system of the Province needs overhauling. Dr. Pyne has been a mixer and muddler, and educational methods have not kept pace with the demands of modern thought and industry. Reform in curriculum, and especially the development of technical training.

HINT FOR THE GARDENER.

[Farmer's Advocate.] The rapidity of growth of the corn and hood crops generally depends upon the frequency and thoroughness of cultivation during the early stages after planting. Harrow the corn as it is coming up, and cultivate it as soon as the rows can be followed. It is often advisable, with the roots sown in drills, to cultivate before they break through the ground. Keep the cultivator going and harvest a big crop of winter feed.

A GROWING HOST.

[Montreal Herald.] It is perfectly true, as the Gazette suggests, that some people cannot understand anyone else being Prime Minister while Laurier is to be had for the place. And, whisper, their number grows every day and every hour.

HER ESSAY.

[Philadelphia Telegraph.] See now the sweet girl graduate Will to the world so cutely prate In telling of her wishes.

On every question great she'll say, But not a word will have to say On washing mother's dishes.

THE FOOL PUBLIC.

[Truth.] Labouchere once said that political audiences generally applauded the sentences that were least intelligible, especially if they happened to be quotations from the classics. On one occasion, while addressing a political audience, he said: "Gentlemen, what we want is government for the masses by the masses, or, in the words of the old Greek classic, 'Zoe mou sas agapo!'" There was loud and prolonged cheering. The humorist refrained from spoiling the effect by confessing that the words being translated into English meant: "O life of me, I love thee!" and were the last line of "Maid of Athens."

DANGEROUS. [Washington Star.] "Why do you always insist on talking about the weather to your health?" "You wouldn't have me talk about anything as exciting as politics to a man who is handling a razor, would you?"

CIRCUMSTANCES ALTER CASES.

[Lippincott's.] Bilton—"It's awful queer." Tilton—"What is?" Bilton—"Why, a man will pay a doctor good money to be ordered to sleep out of doors. Yet if the landlord ordered him to do it, he'd set up an awful howl!"

STRICTLY SUBURBAN.

[Life.] "Is Mrs. Gillet a well-informed woman?" "Well, she's on a party wire."

THE TEST OF WOMAN'S AGE.

[Acheson Globe.] Neither is a woman growing old until she begins to look around for comfortable shoes.

ITALY TO CELEBRATE HER "JOE GREEN."

[Chicago Evening Post.] The centenary of the birth of Joe Green is soon to be celebrated in Italy. He is not known by that name either in Italy or over here, but Joe Green is a perfectly good translation of Giuseppe Verdi.

PEACE CENTENARY.

[Winnipeg Free Press.] This century of peace will have been completed on the twentieth anniversary of the Treaty of Ghent, which was concluded on Christmas Eve, 1814, and ratified on Feb. 17, 1815. It naturally possesses a special interest for Canadians. The older half of Canada is immediately adjacent to the United States, and is the portion of the British Empire that witnessed the actual conflicts of the war of 1812-14. The lines engendered by those far-off struggles have happily long since passed away, and it is fitting that we should participate in celebrating the blessings of peace which have followed since that time. We have existed between us and our neighbor.

HOW HE GOT THEM.

[The Catholic Standard and Times.] "Dat feller, Rastus Skinnah, done bin talking a powerful lot 'bout how he's 'raisin' chickens." "S'low! He don't mean 'raisin' chickens. He means 'littin'!"

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

[Judge's Digest.] "You know," he was saying, "I couldn't see a woman stand up while I was sitting." "So you gave her your seat?" "No, I closed my eyes and pretended to be asleep."

LIVED ON WATER.

[Boston Post.] There is a fasting man who has been living for forty-five days on water. "That's nothing. My father lived for twenty years on water." "Go on." "Yes; he was a sea captain."

CASH BUSINESS BEST.

[King's Standard.] The nearer the business world can approach to a cash basis the better for buyer and seller. Today there is far less credit business than there was fifty years ago, and the cash business is steadily increasing.

SUFFRAGETTES MADE POLITICAL PRISONERS

Will Finish Their Sentence as First-Class Misdemeanants. [Canadian Press.] London, June 10.—The sentences on the militant suffragettes, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Ethel Lawrence, joint editors of Votes for Women, were today modified by Reginald McKenna, home secretary, and the prisoners will finish their term of imprisonment on the term of nine months' imprisonment to which they were condemned at the Old Bailey sessions on May 22, instead of serving as ordinary criminals.

THEODORE DENIES IT

Has No Intention of Going to Chicago—Not This Week Anyway. [Canadian Press.] New York, June 10.—Theodore Roosevelt denied today his reports that he intended going to Chicago by special train at a moment's notice. "I know of no such plan," he said. "I have no present intention of going to Chicago this week, and I won't go unless it is necessary."

Foreign Influence on English Letters

(By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.)

It has become fashionable now-days for students of literature to write books on the foreign influences which have shaped English letters. I read, for instance, a very learned work not long ago written by an American Jew in which he treated at great length the influence of Italian books on Shakespeare and his contemporaries. Anyone who simply reads over the names of the characters in many of Shakespeare's plays can tell at a glance that many of these names are drawn from Italian sources. Such plays as "Romeo and Juliet," "The Merchant of Venice," and "Twelfth Night" are essentially Italian. Fashion in literature and in dress in the sixteenth century were largely imported from Italy, even the vices of the time were brought back from the sunny south by young English bloods who went thither after graduation and returned, as old Roger Ascham complains, "Italianate devils." The literary windows of England were open towards Italy in the sixteenth century, to France in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and in the nineteenth century our writers, while still keeping a claim on the French side of the house crossed over frequently to gaze out of the study window towards Germany.

Just as England has been very sensitive to foreign influence, so Scotland has bowed before continental fashions. France and Scotland were allies for many a century. In the sixteenth century Scotland was far closer to France than to England. When you come to examine the lowland dialect you find over so many words which were imported direct from France. Every time a Scot says "My bonnie lass," every time a Scotch lassie whispers, "My douce man," they are producing unconscious testimony to the ancient alliance between Scotland and France. The poems of Burns are full of these words which came over from France. In like manner his sentiments are largely drawn from French sources. The democratic spirit existed in the Scottish kirk a long time before Burns sang, "A man for a' that and a' that," but there can be no doubt that the sturdy democracy of this immortal lyric, and that of such a poem as "The Two Dogs," was heightened and infused with additional warmth by the influence of the words of Rousseau and other writers who aided and abetted the French revolution. The influence of that fiery outburst of humanitarian sentiment can scarcely be over-estimated on both Scottish and English literature. Burns shared with his brother poets in those ardent hopes that a new dawn for humanity had arrived at last. And with Burns we find the culmination and close of the French influence on Scottish literature.

It has always seemed to me to be a singular fact that Burns' great successor, Sir Walter Scott, should have received his inspiration from Germany. Scott turned in disgust from the excesses of the French Revolutionists and Napoleonic ambitions. He gave himself to the study of German poetry. What appealed to him most of all was the ballad. He was especially struck with the ballads of Burger, and it is extremely interesting to remember that this German romanticist inspired Scott, to do his first piece of poetic work. The feature author of "Marmion" began with a translation of Burger's ballads, "Lore," and "The Wild Huntsman." And it was partly because of the intense interest thus inspired in ballad poetry that Scott became the collector of the minstrelsy of the Scottish border.

In later years, another Scot, third in the great literary triumvirate of the north, was largely influenced by German philosophy and poetry. Thomas Carlyle did more than any other man of the nineteenth century to introduce German poets and thinkers to English readers. His early essays on Schiller and Goethe, and his adoption of the German romanticist philosophy, his style, his long, loose sentences, his fondness for strange words and abstract nouns, is described best of all by the epithet Teutonic. And the German influence as seen in the work of Scott and Carlyle has always seemed to me to be more in keeping with Scottish life and character than the French.

Home-seekers' and Settlers' Special

Trains to Western Canada. Via Chicago and St. Paul. April 15, 23 and 30, and every second Tuesday thereafter until Sept. 17, inclusive. Tickets will also be on sale on certain dates via Sarnia and Northern Navigation Company. Special train will leave Toronto 10:30 p.m. on above dates for Edmonton and points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, stopping at all points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg. Through coaches and Pullman tourist sleepers will be carried, fully equipped with bedding and porters in charge. Berths may be secured in sleepers at a low rate. This is an exceptional opportunity for those wishing to take advantage of the remarkably low one-way tickets and rates of round-trip home-seekers' excursions through the American cities. No change of cars. Secure tickets and berth reservations from any Grand Trunk agent, or write A. E. Duff, district passenger agent, Union Station, Toronto.

"Sanger's Combined Greater European Shows" have been doing the town of Western Ontario. "Doing" is used advisedly. In the course of its travels it almost left its herd of elephants (one to the herd) in Wallaceburg. Luckily, Wallaceburg did not suffer the fate of Wang, Wallaceburg has a sense of humor and enjoyed the excuse for calling off the parade—"The superiority of mud on the streets." The parade gets called off in every town—the camel mislaid his hump in St. Marys, and in Stratford the driver was out of horses. The Wallaceburg Herald-Record gives the following:

"Some of those who attended had the idea that the circus was a large one, but we have only to draw their attention to the name of the circus, Sanger's Combined Greater European Shows, to disprove this. There was one large elephant and two camels, and plenty of fine horses. Ten cents was charged to see the 35-foot snake, which is at the rate of 2 1/2 feet for a cent, cheap enough."

According to the Chatham News the elephant's trainer deserted his big pet and made for Detroit to go on a booze hunt. The consequence was when the show pulled up stakes to go to Wallaceburg the elephant refused to budge, in spite of all efforts to persuade or drive his ex-shipmate. The trainer was sent for and it is said that the greeting between the trainer and beast was pitiful to behold. The trainer's return had the desired effect.

An Adaptation.

"How do you like our streets?" asked the proud Londoner of his visitor. "Good, I ever remember," replied the man who had just come out of a dust-cloud in front of Tecumseh Park.

Some West-Indian boys own the only pure-bred fish-bound extant. Morning and afternoon he stalks suckers in the shallow parts of the river, and has been known to get half a dozen in an hour or two. No doubt he is well provided with fleas for bait. When he spots a fish he comes to a "point," like a real bird dog.

Whipping Up Tired Nerves

The driver reaches his destination sooner by whipping up his tired horse, but no one supposes that the whip invigorates the horse. It merely causes the more rapid expenditure of strength.

An so it is with stimulants. When the system is run down the use of stimulating medicines merely offsets the additional expenditure of the waning vitality and in reality hastens the breakdown.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is not a stimulant. It does not give rise to false hope by whipping up the exhausted system. It is a true tonic, and cures by gradually and naturally building up the feeble, wasted nerve cells, and adding new, firm flesh and tissue. You need not expect any startling results from the first few doses, but can be certain that the benefits to the body are thorough and lasting.

OVERSEAS DOMINIONS TO HAVE OWN FORCES

Haldane Says Scheme Will Be the Same as That of Home Country

London, June 9. — Viscount Haldane, speaking at the banquet following the review on Saturday by the King of the London division of the National Reserve, said: "The dominions were organizing for war on the same lines as those adopted here, to protect the overseas empire, but the time must come very soon when the dominions would have to organize their own naval and military defenses. That meant we should become for the most part a military and naval nation combined, the world had never seen." Viscount Haldane specially referred to the visit which in organization the coast forces in Britain had something to learn from the daughter States.

MONEY WILL BE SPENT FOR A GOOD PURPOSE

Rev. W. H. A. Claris Speaks of the Playgrounds Movement.

Rev. W. H. A. Claris preached last evening on "Play and Children." His text was taken from Zachariah viii, 15: "And the streets shall be full of boys and girls playing." He said:

"The boys and girls of today are the men and women of tomorrow, and money spent for playgrounds will be for a good purpose. Play is a divine instinct, and should be developed in such a manner that it will develop in them all that is the highest and best, physically, mentally and morally. But only the right kind of play will do this, and the right kind of play is that in organization the child forces in Britain had something to learn from the daughter States."

MAN CHARGED WITH A NEW OFFENCE

Charles Mossop, of Dorchester, Taken Into Custody.

Charles Mossop, of Dorchester Town ship, was brought to the city on Saturday night by Constable George Chittick of that place, charged with beating his wife. He appeared before Squire Chittick this morning, and was remanded until Saturday, June 15, at 2 p.m.

Wm. Atkinson, of Egan, who was charged with vagrancy and loitering around that place, was allowed to go. Jenson Short, who was arrested last week for being drunk and sleeping on the G. T. R. tracks at Portersburg, was also allowed to go by Squire Chittick this morning.

A NEW FACTORY

Work was commenced this morning on a site on the inter-switching line on Dundas street east, on a new factory for the Toasted Corn Flakes Company, now located at Grey and Adelaide streets. The new building is to be 50 by 100 feet, and three stories in height with a basement. It is understood that the company will employ a considerably larger staff when the new building is completed.

RIPE STRAWBERRIES

STRAWBERRY PIE.

Make a pie crust of flour mixed with a quarter of a teaspoon of baking powder, half a cup of butter, and a pinch of salt. Mix by cutting butter carefully into the flour with a silver knife, add enough water to roll out a dry crust. Place in a pie dish and bake in a quick oven. Just before serving, fill crust with strawberries that have been standing sweetened for about an hour; cover top with a meringue made of the white of two eggs and a heaping tablespoon of powdered sugar beaten to a stiff froth. Place in oven until meringue is delicately browned.

STRAWBERRIES SERVED WHOLE.

The berries may be served unhusked, in which case they are dipped into sugar and eaten with the fingers. Place them in the heart of a lettuce or other bed of green. If husked, the strawberries should be washed before the hulls are picked from them and sugar put upon them just before they are brought upon the table. Some people add a cup of orange or pineapple juice to the berries, but that spoils strawberries for many people.

STRAWBERRY SALAD.

Pick out five large strawberries and serve on a lettuce leaf with French dressing made as follows: Four tablespoons of oil, one tablespoon of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika.

STRAWBERRY PUDDING.

A plain steamed pudding, using the shortcake recipe, served with a sauce of mashed strawberries and whipped cream will please everyone who tastes it.

How About Your Morning Face?

[BY LILIAN LORAINNE.]

One of the queerest arguments I ever heard was in favor of the economic independence of women, voiced by a man who had formerly been opposed to anything of the kind, and believed women should always stay in the home.

"There must be something to it," he admitted, "because I notice the woman who earns her own living always looks so nice and tidy in the morning, and the girls who troop down to my office building at 9 o'clock have such nice morning faces."

The man heaved a sigh, and those of us who knew him well at once recalled the picture of his wife, who, with all his money at her command, was anything but a pleasing vision at the breakfast table, though she managed to be quite magnificent at night.

While her evening dresses were always chosen with due regard to their attractiveness and were kept in immaculate condition, she seemed to get her morning gowns in a fit of extreme absence of mind. I don't know where she got them, but they seemed always of the color and material which was most unbecoming to her particular type of morning face.

DIFFERENT FACES.

You know every woman has a morning face which is entirely different from her afternoon and evening one. Usually she keeps the morning face for home use, but by the time she is completely dressed, which often does not occur until the afternoon, her face has so changed that you wouldn't know it to be the heavy, drooping countenance with puffy eyelids and a general grumpy expression, with which she poured out the coffee in the early hours of the day.

The man that I am speaking of did not clope with his stenographer, or scandalize the community in any way. He just settled down into an uncomplaining, hard-working, faithful husband, who believed that women were queer fish anyhow. His wife is a tremendous social success, and much admired when she appears at luncheons or at afternoon and evening functions. But no one who ever saw her early in the mornings would be much inspired by her appearance.

NEVER ALL DRESSED AT ONCE.

She is one of those women who never seem to get dressed all at once. She will get partly dressed, and then throw on a wrapper of some sort, and write a letter, or read the papers, or have her breakfast, and, as I've said, her wrappers are hideous, and they are never quite dainty. Her house slippers are never blacked or kept in proper shape, and she does not do her hair until she is ready to go out.

Of course, she might wear a dainty little cap, but she has a strict sense of economy, as she has often told me, and she doesn't believe in unnecessary frills, or in spending money merely to be attractive to her own family, who, as she says, ought to love her anyhow.

I suppose they do from a sense of duty, but I wouldn't. The early morning face, the face that smiles or scowls at you across the breakfast table, does more to make your day a pleasant one or to upset it completely, than any other factor in the home.

THE MORNING FACE.

In the first place, the morning face should be sweet, wholesome and clean. There should be no sign of the remains of cold cream, and especially around the eyelashes one must take great care to wipe and wash off any kind of beauty cream that one has put on at night.

The girl who wants to be pretty, pretty as a girl and charming as a wife, must form the habit early of getting completely dressed, and not performing this ceremony in fits and starts during the entire forenoon.

Probably one reason why the business girl is so attractive is because she gets this habit of appearing at the breakfast table neatly and completely dressed, and after she is married you will find that she continues to affect the shirtwaist and skirt for breakfast, or trim-looking morning gowns that have something of the trim appearance of her old business costume, with all the luxurious comfort of a morning at home.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENCE

Pineapple Marmalade.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly publish in your interesting column, as soon as possible, a recipe for pineapple marmalade, explaining how the fruit should be prepared? Thanking you in advance, I am, sincerely yours, BESSIE.

A.—With a strong, sharp knife, cut the fruit in slices, peel each slice, remove the eyes, and cut into very small pieces, or better still, shred fine with a silver fork. Cover and very tender in sufficient water to cover; allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar to one pound of fruit; make the sugar into a syrup, add the pineapple, and boil ten minutes; then pour into small marmalade pots.

A Motor Boat.

Dear Miss Grey: Being a constant reader of The London Advertiser, I would like very much if you could answer the following question. How to decorate a motor boat? Thanking you in advance, remain, Yours truly, A CONSTANT READER.

A.—Nothing is prettier for decorative purposes than something which grows out of doors. The white field daisies which are so plentiful just now, combined with sprays of feathery asparagus, or wild ferns, would make a charming decoration that will keep fresh for several hours, during a regatta for instance. Colored buns-ings, flags or Chinese lanterns make an extremely effective trimming. It is best to stick to, say two colors, blue and yellow, or red and white, white and green, rather than to use a medley of shades.

A Stained Waist.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you kindly tell me what will remove perspiration stains and restore the color to a blue and white Tammaline silk waist? Thanking you in anticipation, WORRIED.

A.—Sponge first with diluted ammonia, then with chloroform or ether. It will be best to stand in the open air while doing the work.

TORONTO LADIES PLEASED

That Toronto ladies appreciate the efforts made by the local Council of Women to make their stay in London a pleasant one, is evidenced in two letters received from Dr. Stowe-Gullen and Mrs. Gurnett, by Mrs. R. M. Graham and Mrs. C. A. Whitman, of the city. Both delegates from the Queen City express themselves delighted with London and London's people, and state that their visit here will long be a most happy memory.

Hints on Hair Health

Treatment for the restoration of the hair is wisely undertaken in the spring and some authorities contend that two-thirds of the annual growth takes place in the spring months.

Wise women will, therefore, take special notice of their hair just now, see whether it is lacking in gloss and vitality; whether its color appears faded and a dead appearance is noticeable, especially near the roots; whether it feels harsh and has a tendency to break easily (which can be ascertained by pulling one hair tight, for a healthy hair should stand a very considerable strain; indeed, some will break under a weight of three ounces without breaking, if it snaps quickly there is something wrong); whether there is much greasiness, or the reverse undue dryness of the scalp, and whether scurf or dandruff makes an unweelcome appearance.

All these are danger signals, of quite simple troubles it is true, easily remedied if taken in time, but causing deep-seated mischief and often playing havoc with the hair if neglected. Of course, the remedies are different and must be individually sought. The idea is to seek for early signs of mischief and to aid nature in her efforts to overcome them.

Generally some massage of the scalp is necessary. This massage is best performed by placing the thumb at the back of the head just below the crown, and the forefingers, each bearing some unguent, separately among the hairs on the forehead; then move the fingers around in a little circle slowly and with firm pressure for from ten to twenty times, the left hand operating on the left side of the head and the right one on the right.

This done, put the hands lower down, with the thumbs on the neck and repeat the process. Do this every night—it will take only three minutes or so—and the hair will soon bear witness to the success of your efforts.

Remember, too, that hair to be healthy, must be properly treated always, properly brushed, properly combed, properly washed.

To begin with the brush used, is of immense importance and should be carefully chosen to suit the individual's hair and scalp. Above all things, it should be as good of its kind as possible, and kept scrupulously clean.

The hair should be brushed with slow, even strokes, for from five to ten minutes each night, after all tangles have been removed, from the scalp downwards, the whole length of short hair being traversed each time; but when the hair is long, the divided strands should be grasped with the left hand in the middle of its length, and the brush passed first from the scalp downwards to this point, the requisite number of times, and then from the held centre to the ends.

Care should be taken never to hang or scrape the scalp with brush or comb, much harm being done in this way.

A comb, therefore, should be chosen with rounded points and not too small teeth, so that all scratchiness is avoided. Never jerk hair, or pull it unnecessarily in combing; therefore, if tangled, begin at the ends, holding the hair firmly above so that no pull is felt on the root, and continue upwards till all is clear.

4. Gingham Frock

A pretty variation of the one-piece dress is sketched here.

The yoke of all-over embroidery gives a smooth-fitting effect around the shoulders and an inset panel in front and back gives a little fullness to the skirt. The belt is of red enameled leather.

Delicious Argyle Salad.

I can of apricots, 12 chopped marshmallows, half cupful of chopped pecan nuts, some lettuce leaves, yolks of four eggs, 4 tablespoonfuls of vinegar, 1 tablespoonful of sugar, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1 teaspoonful of dry mustard, 1 teaspoonful of butter, a few grains of red pepper, 1 cupful of whipped cream. Drain the apricots and lay them on crisp lettuce leaves. Put the egg yolks into a double boiler, add the vinegar, sugar, salt, mustard, red pepper and butter, and stir them over the fire until they have cooked for five minutes. Allow to cool, then add the whipped cream and beat all thoroughly together. Next add the nuts and the marshmallows. Place a spoonful of the dressing on each plateful of salad. This is an excellent recipe.

"Rocks" Are Good to Eat.

One and one-half cupfuls of sugar, half cupful of lard, half cupful of butter, two eggs, one cupful of sour milk, two cupfuls of oatmeal, three cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, half cupful of currants, half cupful of Sultana raisins, half cupful of chopped walnut meats. Beat the butter, lard and sugar together until creamy, then add the eggs well beaten, the sour milk, soda, oatmeal, flour, raisins, currants and walnuts. Mix and drop on a buttered pan and bake in a moderate oven until ready.

A Dainty Powder Bag.

A dainty powder bag is made by covering a round mirror with plain satin on the under side to form the bottom. A silk floral ribbon about two inches wide is gathered and sewed around the rim of the silk-covered mirror, the upper edge being hemmed for a casing wherein baby ribbon or silk cord is inserted.

Summer Fabrics

The demand for thin frocks made of lightweight cloth in checks and light-weight silk in stripes is increasing every day. They can be worn on the street soon without a coat, and they offset the tailor suit, which is a necessity in everyone's wardrobe, but of which everyone tires at times.

These light frocks are admirably made and suggest other days in their wide guimpes of thin muslin and lace with turnover cuffs to match. They are rarely made up without the addition of some soft fabric like muslin, such as chiffon cloth, flit lace, hem-stitched net, and silk marquisette.

The gowns themselves have almost normal waistlines, with bodices that have wide revers or rolling collars and three-quarter sleeves, finished with a binding and buttons, and dropped over a long, light cuff of the white fabric. That very new and effective changeable corded silk is chosen for the smartest of these suits. It comes in many brilliant tones, such as purple, green, cerise, and brown, but one can get admirable two-toned effects in it of black and white, and of gray and black.

The under surface is brought up on the outside as a trimming. Often it is made into the lower skirt, with the darker corded effect used as a deep tunic, and then the light surface is again used on the bodice as revers and for cuffs and pipings with possibly a belt.

Even in duck linen suits, which are separate from the blouse, there is no return to a belt.

The extension skirt is salvation to the careless woman and a saving of trouble to the careful one. It is alluring to the jaded appetite, they are not given away with every dollar purchased, and they are easy to wear. Therefore, if you yield to your seductive summer costume, you will find them in a way that will be most telling in effect and require the smallest of space.

This gives a snappy finish and is far better than the two rows of stitching which have been the usual method for years.

LITTLE SPORT IN RUSSIA.

It seems strange that in a country so cold as Northern Russia the spirit of sport should not be more developed. The tropics, even about football, baseball and other athletic games, but the land of the white bear seems to liberate under its covering of ice and snow. In this connection there may be mentioned a case whereby suspicion was aroused, some years ago.

Unfortunately, the Russian schoolboy has not the faintest knowledge of the practice, even of the existence, of football, baseball, polo, hockey, or golf. Most of his time is loafed away. He skates a little in the winter if he lives near the ice, but he will not go far for it. In summer he walks up and down the village street, plays cup and ball in the garden, fishes a little, and idles away his time.

When he was a schoolboy, an English lad was taken to Russia to spend a summer there. He brought with him a box of croquet, a game at the time unknown by the Russians.

When the box was opened at the customhouse, the authorities retreated in horror at its awe-inspiring contents. Bombs, mysterious weapons!

The lad drew forth one of the bombs and placed it on the floor, to the accompaniment of cries of consternation and terror. He took one of the mallets, and to the inexpressible alarm of all, he began a little exhibition of the game.

The box was seized and examined, and when the boy got it later it bore marks of severe testing.

CHILDREN'S SUMMER COATS.

The newest coat models for children are being shown in the very fashionable changeable silks that are so popular for grown-ups this season. They are usually lined with white silk to give them weight and are single or double breasted. A dainty finish is given by delicate lingerie collar and cuffs. Others have wide collars of tinted cretonne, which are distinctly new.

QUALITY RUBBER

Better rubber, longer life, greater strength. Better workmanship, newest models, solid seams, full capacity.

THE PROGRESSIVE DRUGGISTS.

Ways to Use Spring Vegetables

For dinner salads there is asparagus, which has no rival in the affections of the fastidious diner. It requires no assistance to render it palatable, more than the plain French dressing and a touch of more vivid green, perhaps, parsley or cress.

Speaking of cress, by the way, watercress, fresh and dripping from the meadow streams, not the hot-house or Southern product, is coming to its best. If you wish to eat it as nature intended we should eat it only with a little salt sprinkled over each sprig. Not a leaf should be bruised or broken. Watercress, like the new crisp, tender radish, should be served with the spring breakfast, as appetizers.

Tomatoes.

While tomatoes are becoming redder and redder and therefore more alluring to the jaded appetite, they are not given away with every dollar purchased, and they are easy to wear. Therefore, if you yield to your seductive summer costume, you will find them in a way that will be most telling in effect and require the smallest of space.

This gives a snappy finish and is far better than the two rows of stitching which have been the usual method for years.

Summer Home Furnishings

One's country home may be started right from the woodwork up and no matter what sort of furniture graces the rooms, if walls and woodwork are of the light, summery sort, the house will look cool.

Heavy draperies are banished in summer time, windows and doors are thrown wide and even if awnings or outside blinds subdue the glare of the sun, the suggestion should be that of light and airiness rather than the dark richness and elegance of winter interiors.

Avoid Enamels. Charming throughout the country house, and a soft ivory-white finish should be selected rather than the gleaming enamel which soon soils and is harder to clean than the dull white.

With white woodwork all wall papers except dark browns and tapestries effects harmonize well, but the choice of country house wall papers will doubtless lie among the light flowered effects, or the two-tone papers in soft gray-greens, gray-blues or other artistic tints.

For the bedrooms the cretonne patterned papers in conventional designs may be used for the living room, if the latter is to have rather the character of an airy, bright morning room than a deep-toned library.

The choice of summer furniture is very wide nowadays when so many different styles are carried by the department shops at a broad range of prices. Time was when all the old relics and has-beens of furniture accruing from two generations of family life were shipped off to the country domicile to enjoy a new lease of existence, perhaps with the addition of white paint and gay chintz cushions.

which only made their creaking, decrepit age all the more pitifully apparent. Nowadays, however, the has-beens are sent to the second-hand furniture dealer and the few dollars they bring are put into fresh new curtains or yards and yards of cretonne for the brightening of the country home, with simple, good furniture is purchased.

The Wagon Convenient. Wicker furniture is ideal for summer use and while rather expensive at first cost, this furniture is very enduring. Simple, substantial shapes are best and ornate and fanciful effects should be avoided.

Summer chairs should be low, deep and broad with backs high enough to rest a weary head against and arms broad enough to support the hands and elbows.

The wicker tea wagon is a convenient bit of summer furniture, for tea may be prepared on the lawn, porch or living room with great ease. There is a removable tray in the top of the tea wagon so that the dishes may be lifted out and set on a table for washing.

The wicker chaise longue is a French favorite lately taken up enthusiastically in smart country houses over here. This low lounging and reading chair is particularly delightful for porch use and is much more comfortable than a hammock for lazy summer afternoons.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over SIXTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES THE CHILD, SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold all over the world.

Secret Service

By Cyrus Townsend Brady

"I wish I could say just the same, but it seems a little worse."

The girl's face went suddenly grave. She stepped over to her mother, took her hand and patted it softly.

"Is there nothing you can do?"

"My dear," said her mother, "Howard—we are all in God's hands."

She drew a long breath and lifted her head bravely.

"Miss Kittridge," said the girl, "I have something very important to tell mother, and—"

Miss Kittridge smiled back at her.

"I am going right away, honey. There is lots of work for us to do, and—"

"You don't mind, I hope," said Edith Varney, calling after her as she went into the hall.

"No, indeed," was the reply.

Mrs. Varney sat down wearily by the table, and Edith pulled up a low stool and sat at her feet.

"Well, my dear?"

"Mamma—what do you think? What do you think?"

"I think a great many things," said Mrs. Varney, "but—"

"Yes, but you wouldn't ever think of this," said Edith.

"Certainly I shall not, unless you tell me."

"Well, I have been to see the President."

"The President—Mr. Davis?"

"Yes."

"And what did you go to see the President for?"

"I asked him for an appointment for Captain Thorne."

"For Captain Thorne? My dear—"

"Yes, mother, for the War Department. I have been to see him."

"What sort of an appointment?"

"Appointing him to duty here in Richmond, a very important position. He won't be sent to the front, and he will be doing his duty just the same."

"But, Edith, you don't—you can't—"

"Yes, I will, mother. The President—"

"I just love him—told me they needed a man who understood telegraphing, and who was of high enough rank to be in charge of the service. As you know, most of the telegraph operators are privates, and Captain Thorne is an expert. Since he's been here in Richmond he's helped them in the telegraph office often. Lieutenant Foray told me so."

Mrs. Varney rose and moved away. Edith followed her.

"Now, mamma," she exclaimed, "I feel you are going to scold me, and you must not, because it's all fixed and the commission will be sent over here in a few minutes—just as soon as it can be made out—and when it comes I am going to give it to him myself."

Mrs. Varney moved over toward the table and lifted a piece of paper, evidently a note.

"He is coming this evening," she said.

"How do you know?" asked her daughter.

"Well, for one thing," said her mother, "I can remember very few evenings when he hasn't been here since he was able to walk out of the hospital."

"Mamma?"

"And for another thing, this note came about half an hour ago."

"Is it for me?"

"For me, my dear, else I shouldn't have opened it. You can read it, if you like."

"Has it been here all this time?" exclaimed Edith, eagerly.

"All this time. You will see what he says. This will be his last call; he has his orders to leave."

"Why, it's too ridiculous!" said the girl, "just as if the commission from the President wouldn't supersede everything else. It puts him at the head of the telegraph service. He will be in command of the department. He says it is a good-bye call, does he?"

She looked at the note again and laughed. All the better, it will be that much more of a surprise. Now, mamma, don't you breathe a word about it. I want to tell him myself."

"But, Edith, dear—I am sorry to criticize you—but I don't at all approve of your going to the President about this. It doesn't seem quite the proper thing for a young lady to interest herself so far."

"But listen, mamma," and as she spoke the light went out of Edith's face at her mother's grave and somewhat reproving aspect. "I couldn't go to the War Department people. Mr. Arreford is there in one of the offices, and ever since he refused him, you know how he has treated me! If I had applied for anything there it would have been refused at once, and he would have got them to order Captain Thorne away right off. I know he would—why, that is where his orders came from!"

"But, my dear—"

"That is where they came from, isn't it? I lack a lot of commission today. There's the bell; I wonder who it can be?"

She stopped and listened while the door opened, and in a moment the butler entered. "Is it Captain Thorne?" asked Edith eagerly.

"No, ma'am."

"It's another official, ma'am. He says he's from the President; he's got to see Miss Edith personally."

Jonas extended a card which, as he spoke, Edith took and glanced at indifferently.

"Lieutenant Maxwell," she read.

"Ask the gentleman in, Jonas," said Mrs. Varney, "it's come, whispered Edith to her mother."

"No, but he's from the President—it must be that commission."

At this moment old Jonas ushered into the drawing-room a very dashing young officer, handsome in face, gallant in bearing, and dressed in a showy and perfectly fitting uniform, which was quite a contrast to the worn habiliments of the men at the front. Mrs. Varney stopped for a moment to look at him.

"Good evening, ma'am. Have I the honor of addressing Miss Varney?"

"I am Mrs. Varney, sir."

"Madam," said the lieutenant, "I am very much afraid this looks like an intrusion on my part, but I come from the President, and he desires me to see Miss Varney personally."

"Anyone from the President could not—"

"SOME HAVE MEAT, AND CANNA EAT"

So Bobby Burns tersely describes the rich, but still poor, dyspeptics. But their case is not now so desperate as when Burns wrote. For the man who has the food now can eat without suffering for it. If he just follows the meal with a Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablet.

These remarkable tablets treat the troubles of the chronic dyspeptic—the man who is bilious—the sufferer from heartburn, gas on the stomach or occasional indigestion. You can eat hearty meals of wholesome food—and digest them, too—if you take Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets.

Compounded by expert chemists, after probably the best formula known to medical science, they are quick and certain in their action, giving relief from all forms of stomach trouble, toning up and strengthening the digestive organs and bringing about permanent cures.

A man is no stronger than his stomach. Fit yourself for your best work by taking Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets.

WOMEN WILL OPEN AN EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Y. W. C. A. Took the Matter Up at a Meeting on Friday Night.

At the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association held, it was decided to procure a license and open an employment bureau for the purpose of lending greater assistance to girls seeking positions in this city and elsewhere. Already good work has been done along this line by the association. The report of Miss Darch, the secretary, gave evidence of great activity by these in charge during the year. Midnight trains have been met, and girls stopping overnight in London provided with transient rooms. Girls who were obliged to leave on night trains have been accompanied to the station; immigrants girls have been met and placed in good situations.

One interesting feature of the Y. W. C. A. work here is the Woman's Exchange, established since the first of the year. By this means the privilege is given to members of selling their handiwork, such as towels, centrepieces, ribbon ties, etc., the association retaining the articles. In less than six months some $50 have been realized in this way. The Big Sister movement has also been started here with encouraging results.

The treasurer's report gave very encouraging figures, showing office receipts $1,289.12, residence receipts $6,275.48, and a total amount of $9,564.60. With all expenses paid, a balance of $213.60 remains on hand. Disbursements this year have exceeded those of last year by about $700.

The social side of the membership is not neglected. During the winter social evenings are frequently given, and a picnic at Springbank has been contemplated in the near future. The total membership of the association at the present time is 402.

Encouraging results have been realized in the work of the association at the present time.

CHINESE DESERT BUDDHA IN N. Y.

Joss House To Be Torn Down, as the Worship of Ancient Gods Has Ceased.

New York, N.Y., June 9.—The Joss House of Chinatown is to be torn down. The quarters of the temple are to be replaced by a meeting hall for the "new idea," and the keeper of the Joss has gone away.

The hand-carved wooden screens which protected the sanctity of the temple from the eyes of unbelievers, are to be used as ornaments by any one who may obtain them.

The one who may obtain them. The big bell, by which the Joss man called the attention of the gods to the offerings of mortals, is to be disposed of, while the carved image of Buddha, which was brought to this country when the little temple at 16 Mott street was established in 1876, is to become the possession of whomsoever will buy it.

This last step in the "Americanization" of Chinatown has been decided on at a meeting in the council room of the Six Companies, which is the congress of Chinatown.

The great Buddha, sitting upon his throne in the dark room of the temple, has watched for a long time the detection of his followers. The offerings of rice have grown smaller and smaller, while the odor of incense has become more and more infrequent. The priests with this daily appeared, leaving the key of the Joss House with an old man too indolent to open the doors.

Seeing these changes in the hearts of the people of Chinatown, and knowing that even in the homes the old women have ceased to make offerings or say prayers to the Joss, which once ruled each household, the progressive element in the district decided to remove these "disgraceful" signs, as one man called them, from the view of the American visitors.

The definite renunciation of Buddhism and the approval of the Six Companies will buy it.

How About It, Madam, Is It Falling Out or Growing Thin?—Don't Lose It.

Most husbands are careless regarding their hair—many are neglectful regarding hair tonics, restorers and the like.

It is only when their hair comes thinning that they really sit up and take notice.

If your husband's hair is falling, if he has dandruff or scalp itch, don't let it make a baldhead of him.

PARISIAN SAGE is a delightful, refreshing hair dressing for men, women and children. It will do as advertised, or your money back. Get it with Auburn hair on every carton and bottle. Sold by dealers everywhere.

PARISIAN SAGE today, rub it on his hair every night and the new growth appears. Then use it every other night until the hair is thick and abundant.

FIRE IN HOTEL

Blaze at Stratford Was Discovered in Good Time.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Stratford, June 9.—Shortly after tea last evening flames were noticed in the second story window of the Pringle House. A number of boarders rushed up and found a blaze licking up the bed and curtains and other furnishings. George Bell occupied the room, and it is thought the fire started from matches being left in some clothes of Mr. Bell.

RACE WAR IN HAVANA

Washington, June 9.—The Cuban situation took a decided turn for the worse tonight when two United States battleships were ordered from Key West to Havana upon receipt of information here that the Cuban capital is on the verge of a race war.

Minister Beaupre cabled the State Department tonight that race riots had occurred in every quarter of Havana and the vicinity. The negroes are being goaded into violence by irresponsible elements among the white population, and are in fear of their lives. Retaliation upon the part of the desperate blacks in and about the city is expected at any moment. It is expected that it will have the most serious consequences.

Appeals were made today to Minister Beaupre by Americans and foreigners in Havana to ask the United States Government to send a battleship, as they dread the consequences should the negroes attempt to defend themselves.

The response of the state department to this request was prompt. Within a few minutes after Minister Beaupre's cable had been received, orders were being sent to Admiral Oysterhaus, commanding the first squadron at Key West, to send two ships to Havana at once.

MORE GAINS FOR MR. TAFT OVER CONTESTED DELEGATES

Hot Words of Mr. Roosevelt Anger the President's Managers.

Chicago, June 9.—Forty-eight was the total number of delegates to the Republican national convention turned into the "Taft column" yesterday by the national committee's decision upon contests.

Chicago, Ill., June 9.—White to the lips, Senator Murray Crane, of Massachusetts, this morning, held in his shaking hands a paper from which he read that paragraph of Col. Roosevelt's Oyster Bay statement of last night, in which the majority members of the Republican national committee are denounced as virtual criminals.

"Again and again we have sent to the penitentiary election officials for deeds morally not one whit worse than what was done by the members of the national committee who unseated the two properly elected delegates in the ninth district of Alabama," is what the senator read, and as he read he looked like a sick man.

"This is an awful charge to make," he said, "an awful charge." Senator Crane takes great pride in his intense respectability.

Hold Meeting. The denunciation affected some other members of the committee, much in the same way, but not all of them. A meeting of the anti-Roosevelt leaders was called immediately to consider what steps could be taken to counteract the effect on public opinion of the Roosevelt statement.

The anti-Roosevelt leaders were free during the conference, and while some of them were eager to issue a statement in reply, and others urged that the most effective way to meet the situation would be by action on the floor of the committee room, the final judgment appears to have been that the less said the better for the cause of the anti-Roosevelt.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT BRANTFORD

Large Quantity of Valuable Merchandise Goes up in Smoke.

FREIGHT CARS BURNED

No Yard Engine To Move Train That Was in the Path of the Flames.

Brantford, June 9.—At 8:35 this morning fire broke out in the Grand Trunk freight sheds, and before the blaze was extinguished half the big building and its contents were destroyed, together with a number of freight cars which were loaded ready for shipment. When the brigade arrived the men were confronted by a roaring mass of fire that swept rapidly from the west end of the building to the east. Five streams of water were played, and in an hour the men had succeeded in cutting off the blaze in the middle of the building, and by so doing saved the office and about half the sheds.

The firemen were badly handicapped in their work by a fine of freight cars that stood on a siding on the north side of the building, and nearly all the cars were destroyed. Unfortunately, the Grand Trunk did not have a yard engine here to pull the cars out of the way, and it was an hour and a half before one arrived from Stratford. The contents of the shed are a total loss, and the damage to the building will also be heavy.

The firemen were assisted in their work by several employees of the Malleable Iron Works, who played a stream on the blaze from their factory.

The total loss will be very heavy, as twenty cars of merchandise, including a car of whiskey, went up in smoke.

FREIGHT CRASHES INTO PASSENGER

Woman Killed in a Wreck on the Grand Trunk Near Lindsay, Ont.

MANY PEOPLE INJURED

Double Header Hits Stationary Train, Telescoping Several of the Coaches.

KILLED. Mrs. Garfield Babcock, Lindsay, INJURED. Mrs. C. A. Plank, Lorneville, leg and arm broken and hurt internally; will probably die. James Black, Bexley, leg broken and ankle injured. Joseph Lytle, Victoria road, back injured. Twelve other passengers were severely shaken up.

Lindsay, June 9.—Crashing into the rear of a Grand Trunk passenger train standing at the Grace Hill station, on the Cobocook line of the G. T. R., early last evening, a double-header freight train completely telescoped the two end coaches, bringing instant death to Mrs. Garfield Babcock, of Lindsay, and severely injuring several other passengers, one of whom, Mrs. C. A. Plank, of Lorneville, is not expected to live. The body of Mrs. Babcock was badly mutilated.

Dead When Taken Out. Mrs. Babcock was sitting alone in the back of the coach, with Mrs. Plank immediately in front. They were buried under a mass of debris, and were taken out by unskilled passengers and trainmen. It was found that Mrs. Babcock had received injuries which must have caused instant death, her body being terribly crushed.

Mrs. Plank, who was taken to her home at Lorneville, is in a critical condition. The other injured ones will recover.

Mrs. Babcock was on her way to Orillia, where her husband was employed as molder in Tudhope & Anderson's factory. Her husband rented a house, and the dead woman was on her way to spend Sunday with her husband, and look over the house previous to moving to Orillia.

Mrs. Plank is the wife of a general merchant at Lorneville, and sister of Mr. C. F. Weeks, manager of the Victoria Loan and Savings Company, Lindsay.

WARDEN STEELE'S ESCAPE

Among the sixteen passengers who narrowly escaped death were Warden Steele, of Victoria County, and Ben Stacey, clerk of the court, who were taken to the fortunate circumstance that the last car on the passenger train was empty and locked up, to be taken to Lorneville to accommodate Niagara troops tomorrow, the loss of life would undoubtedly have been very great. As it was, the end coach, after being completely telescoped, was thrust forward upon the coach in front, telescoping the latter for half its length.

SPLENDID JUMPING AT GALT HORSE SHOW

Big Exhibition Closes After the Most Successful Year in Its History.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Galt, June 8.—The big horse show closed today after one of the most successful exhibitions ever held here. Hunters featured the closing day, and conspicuous among the winners in these classes were the fine animals owned by Hon. Adam Beck. The jumping was the best that has been seen on the local grounds, being marked by only two slight accidents. Aemilius Jarvis was thrown and sustained a badly scratched face, and N. Bart, jun., of Ottawa, lost his seat while attempting one of the jumps but was not injured. A $500 silver cup, donated by J. E. Seagrave, of Waterloo, for the best pair of heavy draughts was won by H. Peltan, of Youngsville. The $500 cup offered by William Hammill, of Toronto, for the best horse suitable for a lady to drive went to Mrs. McKee driving "The Masher," exhibited by W. J. Thompson, of Hamilton. The awards in the various events were:

Registered Mare—John Brown, Galt, 1st and 3rd; Leo Bros., Galt, 2nd; M. Sheppard, Galt. Heavy Draught—H. Peltan, Youngsville, D. A. Murray, Bennington, J. BRUTALLY ASSAULTED CLOSE TO HER HOME

Walkerville Man Gives Himself Up, But Denies That He Is Guilty.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, June 10.—Charles A. Wagner is under arrest here in connection with a very serious assault that was recently made on Miss Ethel Holbrook, a young woman who recently arrived from Scotland. Wagner gave himself up, but positively denies his guilt. Miss Holbrook positively identifies him as her assailant. On Tuesday evening last Miss Holbrook went to Detroit to see a friend, and on coming back at night got confused in the darkness and was unable to find the street on which she resides. A man asked her if she was lost, and when she told him the place she was looking for, he offered to take her. Instead he took her in the opposite direction, and when she became suspicious knocked her down with his fist, and throwing her into a ditch, kicked her brutally.

Miss Holbrook is still under the care of a physician and last night was unable to go to the station to identify Wagner, he being taken before her at her boarding house. The attack on the young woman was one of the boldest in years. In the struggle Miss Holbrook sustained severe cuts about the face, two front teeth were knocked out, and her eyes were blackened.

EXPECT FINE CROP

Rains Have Made Hay Grow Abundantly and Wheat Is Good.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Melrose, June 8.—Farmers in this vicinity are mostly through with their spring work. Some gardeners deem it necessary to keep fires going these cold nights for fear of frost.

The rains have done the hay crop any amount of good, and wheat is looking fine.

All farmers have had good luck with young colts and very few have lost any.

Mr. William Mason expects to raise his barn in the near future, as the wall which is of cement block will be finished this week.

Trusses Like These Are A Crime

Get Rid of Elastic Bands, Springs and Leg Straps. Such Harness Has Forced Thousands to Undergo Dangerous Operations.

Trusses like those shown above—the belt and leg-strap, elastic and spring contraptions sold by drug stores, surgical supply houses and many self-styled "Herzlia Specialists"—make life miserable for everybody who wears them. And even when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on—they do no good whatever. Instead, they often do immense harm—they squeeze the rupture, often causing strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the sensitive spinal column at the back. The Plain Truth is This. Rupture—as explained in our free book—can't be relieved or cured—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless constantly held in place. Just as a broken bone can't be set unless the parts are held securely together. And—just as a bandage or splint is the only kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out. What a difference it will make when you get that kind of truss. And you can get exactly that kind of truss—without risking a cent of your money. It's the famous Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager.

Far more than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place. So different from everything else for rupture that it has received 18 separate patents. "Thousands say it is as comfortable as their clothing. No belt, elastic band or springs around your waist, and no leg-strap—nothing to pinch, chafe, squeeze or bind. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. It is held in position by suction—can't shift or slip—the only truss in existence that is honestly guaranteed never to let the rupture come out."

Sent on 60 Days' Trial to Prove It. We have so much faith in the Cluthe Truss—we have seen it work wonders for so many others—that we want to make one especially for your case, and let you wear it at our risk. We'll give you 60 days' time to test it—if it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out, when you are working and at all other times—if it doesn't put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had with your rupture—if you don't get better.
