

NO LIGHT UPON STRANGE CASE OF HENRY W. HODGES Still Unable to Explain How He Received Severe Injuries to Head. STILL WITHOUT MEMORY Now Recalls Reaching East End Station, But Nothing More.

Henry W. Hodges, 24 Hyatt avenue, who came home from Toronto Monday night dazed and weak from severe injuries to his head and shoulder, has not yet recovered his memory sufficiently to offer any explanation as to how he was injured.

Regarding what happened between the East London station and his arrival at his home, 24 Hyatt avenue, somewhere around 9 o'clock, Hodges' mind is a complete blank. Neither he got off at the East London station or the downtown station he does not remember, and his family can make no surmise. Mrs. Hodges was visiting her sister Monday evening, and does not know whether anyone accompanied him home.

Returning shortly after 9 o'clock, she found her husband at home in a very precarious condition and immediately summoned a physician, who advised that Mr. Hodges be left perfectly quiet and undisturbed for a few days. The local detectives and police have not been asked to investigate and no one knows whether anyone accompanied him home.

It is difficult to believe that Mr. Hodges could have been injured in an accident in London without it coming to light, and many citizens who know Mr. Hodges as a man of the highest and most estimable character, say that his strictly temperate habits preclude all possibility of his getting mixed up in a quarrel or similar fracas.

Local Paper Now Boosting Natural Gas Over Hydro

Self-Styled Friend of the People's Power Tells Public That Commodity Will Be Sold Cheap to Manufacturers of City.

London's local self-appointed "champion" of hydro power, the London Free Press, has been climbing into the Beck bandwagon with one foot, while it has been kicking the Hon. Adam, or his scheme, with the other. News columns of the F. P. have presented a strange contrast for some time. Alternating with rhapsodies of hydro power have been those natural gas stories that have smacked of "free readers."

In season and out of it, the F. P. has been boosting the game of the natural gas promoters. Apparently the "12-cents-a-line" rule that was enforced against the local hydro-electric system, not so very long ago, has not been brought into play with the natural gas men. Big headings, prominent positions, and the most gushing of "boasting" stories have been part of the natural gas program. Natural gas it may not, but of the natural gas that has been expended and expanded through the columns of the Free Press there can be no doubt.

Booming Natural Gas. If the Free Press is to be believed, the natural gas will be the greatest opponent of hydro in London. Cheap power, clean and cheap energy, is promised by the F. P. Manufacturers will use the new power, says the Free Press, in its latest outbreak.

To quote the 12-cents-a-line journal of the natural gas company "will not attempt to supply the whole city, but will offer cheap gas to manufacturing concerns." That means competition for hydro scheme. The Free Press has been fostering that competition. It has taken it under its protecting wing and will bring it to London on its trusty steed, "Hilderoy, I. H. T."

Two Kinds of Gas. "Playing up" natural gas stories that are calculated to boost possible competition with hydro, and apparently endeavoring to foster an anti-Beck scheme, while it is at the same time stroking the back of the said A. B. with platitudes and natural gas of another variety, is quite in keeping with the usual policy of the Free Press.

Hydro is the one and only thing (if it pays that 12 cents a line), declares the Free Press. Natural gas is going to be another "one and only," says Continued on Page Eleven.

JEROME JILED FOR GAMBLING; BAIL ACCEPTED

Biggest Joke of the Whole Thaw Case Sprung at Coaticook.

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 5.—William Travers Jerome was arrested here today, charged with gambling.

The complaint was made by Milford Aldridge, a citizen of Coaticook, who swore that he had seen Jerome playing poker in public yesterday. Jerome was taken to jail, where Thaw was confined when brought here two weeks ago.

Thaw's lawyers disclaimed any knowledge of the arrest. The belief prevailed that it was due solely to ill-feeling among the townspeople, who resented Jerome's presence.

Thaw was withdrawn almost immediately and the board adjourned suddenly. It was reported that a decision had been reached.

THAW STILL A PRISONER. Coaticook, Que., Sept. 5.—After spending his second night in the immigration pen at Coaticook, Thaw today faced the ordeal of more questioning by a special board of inquiry sitting to determine whether he shall be deported for violating the Dominion immigration laws.

"ALL SET" FOR FAIR MANY EXHIBITS IN

Gates Will Be Manned Early Saturday and Big Exhibition Will Be Under Way—Smiling Skies Promised.

Already the Queen's Park exhibition grounds are commencing to assume the usual "fair time" appearance. Concessionaires have already erected many of the refreshment and amusement tents, while exhibitors in all buildings are hard at work placing their various exhibits in shape.

The gates will be manned at 7 o'clock tomorrow, and the Fair will be officially declared open, though the day will be mainly given over to the last final touches on the different exhibits.

Exhibits Being Placed. The Transportation and Machinery Buildings, erected since last week, are already beginning to receive their quota of tenants, carriages and machinery, autos and farm implements being placed this morning.

Two Famous Paintings. Chief among these is the loan exhibit sent over by the Detroit Art Museum, and which is valued at $15,000. It consists of two paintings—"Return From the Pasture," by William H. Howe and Carl Mecher's $5,600 "The Vespers." The valuation on Howe's picture is placed at $10,000.

The Art Building was one of the busiest spots this morning. Under Director William Abbott, the hanging committee was placing some of the choice works of art that have been sent to the Fair.

Weather Predictions are for a week of favorable weather. Over 100 concession contracts had been filled by noon, and before the big days of next week 150 or more will be in place.

Weather Notes. Pressure is high from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, and comparatively low over the northwest portion of the continent. The weather is everywhere fine.

CLAIMS CREDIT FOR GIVING CITY HORTON ST. WELLS

Robert Lyons Put His Case Before the Water Commissioners.

Unfair Treatment Alleged and Wants Remuneration for Money He Spent.

Unintentionally glossed over by Chairman Phil Pocock of the Water Commission, so as to avoid adverse publicity, the claim of Robert Lyons, engineer, and said to be the "father" of the Horton street wells system, for unpaid commissions and credit for the entire artesian well scheme, was sent on to Mr. Beck after the meeting of the water commission Thursday afternoon.

In spite of the fact that the letter was addressed to the board of water commissioners it was not read at the meeting.

Interested Mr. Beck. In it he declared that he personally had mooted the well subject and had interested Hon. Adam Beck in the scheme. The Hon. Adam was dubious, Mr. Lyons convinced him of the possibilities of the artesian wells and Mr. Beck agreed to assist to the extent of $2,000. He would no, however, exceed that amount.

Acting under instructions from Mr. Beck, who entrusted the project to him, Mr. Lyons declares he secured the drills and had the first wells sunk. The plans were carried out under his direction. As he had previously declared possible to Mr. Beck and others, an artesian supply of water was discovered. It was an abundant supply, Mr. Beck then took hold of the scheme when he saw it was one that would "make good," and carried it through to completion.

While no specific monetary claims are made in his communication, Mr. Lyons asked that the water commission remunerate him for his work in not only discovering the wells, but in carrying on the first plans that insured the project to London.

For money expended in the preliminary test and for services rendered, the engineer claims that he is entitled to some consideration at the hands of the water commissioners.

CANADA IS LOSING THROUGH NEGLECT OF AGRICULTURE

Eighty-Five Per Cent. of Magnificent Farm Land Not Touched. Expert Urges Govt. to Give Every Aid to Advancing Agriculture.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Government aid to agriculture was the title of the first paper at today's session of the Canadian Political Science Association. It was delivered by Mr. C. Hill-Tout, of Vancouver, and was followed by an intelligent discussion of the question by Dr. J. W. Robertson, chairman of the royal commission on technical education, in which Dr. Robertson made some significant remarks about the degradation of labor by capitalism in industrial life.

There had been a great loss of interest and status in agriculture, and what was needed was the restoration of the balance between it and industrial development, said Mr. Hill-Tout.

Agriculture sank to the lowest of the arts, urban elegances attracting the people from it to the cities, and accordingly it was now looked on as a secondary pursuit, a sort of last resort. However, the gravity of this tendency was being realized, and both federal and provincial aid was being given to agriculture.

The speaker then went on to deal with agricultural conditions peculiar to his own province, British Columbia, where agriculture was to a great extent neglected in spite of the splendid fertility of the soil for other purposes. Millions of dollars annually were being sent across the line to build up the agriculture of Oregon and other states.

REAL ESTATE BODY TO "HOUSE HUNT" FOR HOME SEEKERS

Decided at Meeting to Keep All Rentable and Saleable Houses Listed—A Publicity Committee to Be Appointed.

Various suggestions for the betterment of realty conditions in the city were discussed at the meeting of the newly-organized Real Estate Association, in the board of trade rooms, on Thursday evening. Among other plans which the association has in view will be the establishment of standard rates of commission, either for the sale of property or collecting rentals.

Stop Aimless House-Hunting. They aim to save people much of the aimless house-hunting which obtains at present, by keeping accurate lists of all houses for sale or to rent, and furnishing prospective clients with a copy so that they may know just where to go. The advantages of giving exclusive listings of property to be sold was also pointed out. Some of the members present gave instances where one piece of property had been advertised for sale by four or five dealers in one issue of a paper.

Several standing committees will be appointed, probably at the next meeting. One of them is to be known as the publicity committee, and will endeavor to advance London by publishing from time to time records of sales made, etc.

Another meeting is to be held on the third Tuesday of this month. The vice-president, Mr. J. Banghart, occupied the chair at Thursday night's meeting, which was well attended.

HISTORIC HOUSE WILL BE RAZED FOR APARTMENTS

Late Col. Williams' Residence Visited by British Aristocracy in the Past. SCENE OF MANY EVENTS Mr. A. Hartman Will Construct Building With Suites at Modest Prices.

Mr. A. Hartman, 300 Dundas street, has purchased the property at Horton and Clarence street, belonging to the late Col. Williams, and will erect a two-story brick apartment house on the site. The lot is 75x100 feet and is understood to have changed hands at a very high price.

Following the death of the late Col. Williams about two years ago, the old home, which is a landmark in the city, and which in its day sheltered and entertained the aristocracy of London, and not a few blue-blooded visitors from the British Isles, for some time has served as a Chinese laundry. It will shortly be torn down and another link with the early days of London will be broken. Then Horton street was what Queen's and Dufferin avenues are today, the aristocratic residential street of "London in the woods."

ANGELICAN RECTOR DIES IN HOSPITAL. Rev. J. B. Ward, of Essex, Took Gold Medal at McGill.

The death occurred in Victoria Hospital this morning, after a lingering illness, of Rev. J. B. Ward, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Essex, and rural dean of Essex County. He was in his 61st year, and had been in Victoria Hospital for about a month previous to his death. He was also a gold medalist of McGill University, and was formerly rector at Eastwood. With him when he died was Very Rev. Dean Davis, Mrs. Ward and two sons. The remains will be forwarded to Montreal, his former home, for interment.

35,000 BOOKS ARE READ BY LONDONERS IN THE SUMMER

Fiction in Great Demand For Vacation Season—350 Subscribers Are Added to the List.

For the first time in the past three months the Dominion Library Association in the Public Library Thursday evening. Only routine business was transacted, but the reports for the three summer months were most satisfactory.

The library committee reported the purchase of about 500 new volumes during that time, and the circulation of books in that period reached a total of 45,000, largely due to the fact that cards were issued to 350 new subscribers, an exceptionally good record. Librarian Carson gave an interesting account of his observations during the convention of the American Library Association recently held at Catskill, in the Catskill Mountains, which he attended in company with two other members of the board.

THREE FEET OF WATER IN NEW YORK SUBWAY

Over 100,000 People Were Late for Work in Metropolis.

New York, Sept. 5.—Not a wheel moved in the New York subway between Niney-sixth street, in Upper Manhattan, and the Brooklyn terminal during the rush hour of the work- ing day today, resulting in one of the worst traffic congestions the city has known.

Over three inches of rainfall during the night caused a flood of subway tracks to the depth of three feet or more, and over nine miles of four-tracked subway were placed entirely out of commission.

FIVE FLOOR PLANT FOR CORN FLAKES

Addition to Cost $60,000 Will Be Constructed.

Work has already been started on a five-story addition to the Kellogg Corn Flake factory. The addition, which will practically double the output of the factory, will cost when the machinery has been installed, in the neighborhood of $60,000. Its dimensions will be 40 by 96 feet.

At several central stations the elevated subway users stormed the elevated trains in such numbers that fire reserves were called out to make them keep on line and take their turns.

AMUSEMENTS

Miss May Robson in a New Comedy, "Mrs. Mat Plummer."

Miss May Robson, in a new comedy, "Mrs. Mat Plummer," by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Lady," "The Travelling Salesman," etc., will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, two performances only, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

As an actress, May Robson may be classed among the exceptional few, and definitely as the most ingenious of the limited number assuming the role of eccentric characters. With all due regard, omitting comparisons, one might speak of Miss Robson as a humorist endowed with a rare sense of the ridiculous, without being grotesque or uncouth. This evidence is clearly demonstrated in her impersonation of the unique character of the mother in "Mrs. Mat Plummer." Her cleverness in the stage development of distinctive types of character, together with her inimitable "make-up" and pleasing expression, wins immediate recognition and commendation, fixing her identity as the most ingenious in the portrayal of odd and extremely funny characters.

"Mrs. Mat Plummer," the character impersonated by Miss Robson, is a type of the western woman, a sweet old lady whose heart goes out in all fullness of love for her wayward son, and generous to all whom she loves (and she loves everyone). She is never so contented as when she is in the company of young people.

Miss Robson's cast for this season comprises the following: Many are well-known favorites in London: Mr. Decker, Mr. Lewis Parmentier, Mr. Hamilton Christy, Mr. Walter Turner, Mr. Roy Zabriskie, Mr. Eddie Leaman, Miss Evelyn Varden, Miss Evelyn Carpenter, Miss Edith Conrad, Miss Geraldine Griffith, and several others of note and reputation. Seats now on sale.

Fiske O'Hara in the Comedy Romance, "In Old Dublin."

Augustus Pitou, jun., will present his clever young singing star, Fiske O'Hara, at the Grand, commencing Wednesday evening of next week, for five performances—four nights and Saturday matinee, at special prices, in a new romantic comedy entitled "In Old Dublin." The author, Mr. Augustus Pitou, has given Mr. O'Hara one of the very best Irish stage romances that has been produced in many years. It is idyllic in character, yet pervaded throughout with the sparkling wit of the early part of the last century. There are many scenes of intense dramatic interest and all through it the threads of humor, patriotism, pathos and love wind and unwind in a pleasing and appealing pattern. The splendid tenor voice of Fiske O'Hara will be heard in several new songs, chief among which are "Peggy Gilroy," "Love at Last," and "Rose, Rose, Rose." He will also introduce two fine old Irish melodies, "Oh, Bay of Dublin," and Moore's great lyric, "The Minstrel Boy." The scenic investiture of the piece is reported to be more than usually magnificent. Seat sale opens Monday at 4 a.m. Seats are being held, as there will be a big demand for seats.

Two Injured When Church Collapsed

New Twenty Thousand Dollar Structure at Brantford Is a Wreck.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Brantford, Sept. 4.—The Brantford Street Methodist Church, a new building in course of erection, collapsed here at 5 o'clock this afternoon, imperiling the lives of a large number of workmen.

The building, which was being erected at a cost of $20,000, was just about completed, workmen being engaged in putting on the roof. For the reason that it was to be left so that an enlargement could be made, no rear wall was built. This, it was thought, was the cause of the collapse. Sydney Dean's collarbone was broken, and Charles Bennett's hip was dislocated. Other men escaped. Nothing but the front wall of the church is standing.

HELD FOR LIBEL

[Special to The Advertiser.] Hamilton, Sept. 4.—R. Rogers, editor of Jack Canuck, a Toronto weekly, who was in the city today to testify at the judicial investigation being held by Judge Snider into complaints regarding the management of the City Hospital, occupies a cell at police headquarters. He was arrested by Detective Bleakley at 11 o'clock at night as he was entering the lobby of the King George Hotel, where he has been staying. The detective was armed with a warrant sworn out by Hugh McReynolds. The warrant was obtained late this afternoon following the sale of Rogers' paper here containing an article under the heading, "Beware of This Company," containing an article referring to McReynolds, who is in the Hamilton and Interurban Realty Company, in a manner alleged by the complainant to have constituted a defamatory libel.

GRAIN BLOCKADE

More Storage Facilities Are Badly Needed in Montreal.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, Sept. 4.—A deputation of grain exporters and brokers, including James Carruthers, president of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, and George Burton, president of the Corn Exchange, called upon the harbor commissioners today with reference to the grain congestion in this port, as a result of exporters being unwilling to ship grain now in the elevators because of the low prices quoted on the other side. It was stated that unless prices in Europe improve the grain blockade, not only in Montreal, but in Canada generally, will be the worst known in the history of the country. The deputation urged as a solution for the future the provision of more storage facilities in this port.

Dublin, Sept. 5.—The Jacob Company's cracker works, which export $2,000,000 worth of biscuits annually, have been closed on account of the fight with the Transport Workers' Union. It is said that unless the employers win the fight the Jacob Company will abandon their works in Dublin. This would be a big loss to the workmen.

Eating With His Stomach

That's what the man tries to do who bolts his food without thoroughly chewing it.

This is particularly true when he uses soft, starchy foods, which seldom get the necessary digestion by the saliva, as nature intended, because most people swallow such foods as quickly as possible.

This leads to weakened digestive organs, fermentation, imperfect nutrition, and sometimes appendicitis.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

Must be chewed, and for this, as well as other reasons, this food has saved many from chronic intestinal troubles and all the misery that means.

If there's one thing about Grape-Nuts of greater interest than its scientific food qualities, it is its remarkable practical adaptability to all weakened conditions of the digestive organs and its power to build them up quickly.

SEPTEMBER SUNSHINE.

Whatever clouds may have overcast the sky during the summer just past, the bright sunshine of September has dispelled them all. "In thunder, lightning and in rain," there is gloom in the soul of the farmer, and fear in the hearts of the merchant at this time of the year. For the prosperity of the country depends on its crops. The manufacturer may get his benefit from tariff legislation, and the tightness of the money market does not lessen the banker's profits. But the mass of the people depend on the sun, whose golden gleams are transmuted into the golden grain which feeds the world. When the weather is bad, the country is in doubt, but when the weather is good, hope revives, and we look for an abundant harvest, and consequent prosperity.

From the east and the west the reports are excellent. Grain, vegetable and fruit are ripening rapidly. Much has been gathered in. Already the estimates of the wheat crop of the Dominion are over 200,000,000 bushels—something unprecedented. It only needs a few more days like those we are having to insure the realization of the most sanguine hopes. Possibly even a greater amount of grain than has been expected will not only be harvested, but fully threshed and transported to the barns and the elevator.

The fruit returns will not be less satisfactory. Some kinds may be a little short. In some sections, storms may have had a bad effect. But taken on the whole, it will be fully up to the average. And all the indications point to a similar condition so far as vegetables are concerned. Canners will not be able to utilize all the tomatoes; potatoes will be abundant; the sugar mills will have a full supply of beets; and our youngest product—the tobacco plant—while it has received some damage, will yet be in shape to pay the grower a good profit.

All this is full of promise for the year. Our markets will be filled, our exports will increase, more money will flow, and increased prosperity is assured. The tightness of the money market will be loosened. Its unsatisfactory condition in this respect has not been caused by poverty, or by any material lack of wealth. But conditions abroad have made our bankers cautious—perhaps more so than was necessary. But if it has tended to abate the mania for speculation, it will do no harm.

At all events, so far as the kindly earth can give us promise, the future is bright. One thing we must remember. Prosperity will not justify extravagance. That is the great fault of modern society. The old Egyptian chancellor of the exchequer was a wise man. In the seven years of abundance he prepared for the reaction; and when the years of famine came he was not only able to feed the people, but strengthened his government. Our Government does not adopt the policy of Joseph. As the money flows into the treasury in our years of prosperity, it squanders it. If adversity should come to the people they need not look to Ottawa for help. They will have to look to themselves. It seems as though we had to put up with extravagance on the part of our rulers; we have to submit to legislation curtailing our markets; we have to stand helpless while favored interests are fostered and the ordinary consumer left to his own resources. All the more reason why we should try and cultivate moderation in prosperity; accept the good things that come to us without undue exaltation of spirit or recklessness in outlay; welcome the present with its abundance, but remember that there are future days for which provision must be made.

A MUNICIPAL MINISTER.

The Ontario Municipal Association at its late annual meeting, discussing the evils of civic administration, took up for consideration the idea of having a municipal department added to the Government with a minister in charge. It was pointed out that municipalities were continually making costly experiments in road building, sewage disposal, waterworks, the sale of bonds, and various other matters. That in too many cases there was a lack of efficiency as well as of economy in the work of municipal councils, and that a Government department might be better able to make experiments, obtain information and impart instruction to those entrusted with civic administration.

We doubt if the remedy proposed would cure the evils which are admitted by all. We know that there is much blundering in civic affairs—the result of ignorance, carelessness, or even something worse. But if a Government department could only act in an advisory capacity, we doubt if it would have much effect. It is were to have power of control, and could rule the municipalities, we are sure that would be very unsatisfactory. We have one department now with a vast amount of power—the Hydro-Electric Commission—that is enough for the present.

Various remedies for the defects of municipal government have been suggested, and some have been tried. A few of our larger cities separate the legislative from the administrative work, and manage affairs through a council and a board of control. In some places they have tried the commission plan, and place everything in the hands of three or five men. Dayton, Ohio, has just adopted a plan which is excellent in theory. There is a small council or commission, of some six members, with a mayor. This body has legislative power, but nothing more. It appoints a city manager, just as a business corporation would do, and he controls everything and everybody, except the public schools.

Now, if the people of Dayton can be depended upon to elect none but their most honest and intelligent citizens as members of the council, and if this council will honestly pick out the best man that can be found to act as manager, and if the man so appointed can and will do his work faithfully, then it would look as if Dayton had a splendid system. But when it comes to elections there is always an "if." The root of the matter is in the electorate itself. The best system will be a failure if the men elected under it are not good men. And a community will get on pretty well under a very poor system if it will choose its best citizens to look after its affairs.

The general municipal system of Ontario is a very good one. It only requires a little more elasticity. There is no reason why the various municipalities, differing as they do in so many local conditions, should all be bound to follow the same methods. But the trouble is and has been, that the electorate is too careless. People will send men to do the city's business who they would never think of employing for their own personal business. We seldom think of voting for a man as alderman simply because we feel satisfied he is the very best man. Politics, religion, personal friendship or personal enmity, these all influence our vote. Too often the vote is cast only because the candidates has asked for it. Sometimes we will not take the trouble to vote for anybody.

The remedy for municipal evils must be applied below municipal systems. When each citizen feels that his duty is to take an active interest in the affairs of his community; to look for the best men available, and put them into office, then good men will be elected, and good men will be elected. And no matter what the system there will be good government. The remedy is in ourselves, more than in the system we may adopt.

Toronto papers are urging the citizens to turn out, and help to swell the attendance at their local fair. They want to reach the million mark this year. What can London do for the Western? Can we run up a quarter of a million? Let everybody do his best, and make it the biggest yet.

The society reporter of a contemporary in the United States, in describing a wedding, says that the principal lady was "attired in a lovely bridal veil." We have no desire to criticize ladies' dresses, but we must admit that this hardly comes to our rustic ideas of propriety.

There is an association of the postmasters in Ontario, which met in its annual session last week. Some time previous a postmaster who had been in service for some forty years, was dismissed by the high executioner of the department. And the postmasters passed a resolution of sympathy with their decapitated colleague, and will present him with a substantial testimonial. Evidently they had more courage than some office holders of whom we have heard.

Some time ago we called attention to the fact that in a certain locality in the United States it was proposed to pass a law requiring the throats of certain farm birds to be operated on, so that men and women should not be disturbed in their morning sleep by cock-crowing. But here is legislation which takes another side. According to the Westminster Gazette, the mayor of a little French commune, near the Pyrenees, has issued the following proclamation: "Whereas the young people of the commune are wont to meet and dance every Sunday after mass, and the noise they make frightens the cocks, hens, and other animals of the village, and whereas the result is prejudicial to agriculture, we hereby prohibit dancing within the bounds of the commune during the hours in which the domestic animals take their repose."

[Canadian Courier.] Stenographer—So your wife says she likes me? He—Yes. Stenographer—Heavens! Is it possible that I am as plain as all that! JUST LIKE LAUDER. [Weekly Scotsman.] A story Harry Lauder told was about an old Scotch gamekeeper who was being questioned by a rather inquisitive visitor who paid occasional visits to the neighborhood, and wanted to know all about the size and value of the estate. "Are there many deer on the place?" was one of the questions. "Hundreds, sir," was the gamekeeper's reply. "Many hares?" the other went on. "Thousands, sir," the gamekeeper answered. "Is that so? Well, now, are there many gorillas?" the visitor asked sarcastically. The gamekeeper hesitated for a moment, then he said: "Well, sir, they come noo an' then—just like yersel!"

MATCHES AND FIRE LOSSES. [Halifax Chronicle.] On this continent, matches are everywhere. Every room contains matches and every pocket of a man's clothing contains matches. They are scattered about on desks and in drawers and are so common and are handled so carelessly that it is not to be wondered that we have a great many fires resulting from their use.

FAMILIES OF THREE IN ENGLAND. [New York Times.] Families of three are more numerous than any others in England, according to a Blue Book recently issued. Such families constitute 19 per cent. of the total number; those of four, 18 per cent.; of five, 14 per cent., and those of six, 10 per cent. In London the women living alone outnumbered the lonely men to the extent of 58,594 to 37,130.

OBLIGING LAMP. [Winnipeg Tribune.] The crowd in the parlor consisted of a man, a girl and a lamp. "Two is company," protested the man, whereupon the lamp obligingly went out.

A MISSING HUSBAND. [Kansas City Times.] A Sedalia woman walked into an undertaking establishment there the other day and inquired of the undertaker if her husband was there. "No," he replied, "he isn't here." "Well, that is funny," she said. "I wonder what has become of him. I was told he had committed suicide, and had been brought here." And with this she walked calmly out.

CHINESE TROOPS MASSACRE JAPS AND LOOT CITY

Detachment of Battleships Is Hurrying to Stop Trouble at Nanking. Japs Will Demand Punishment of Those Responsible For Killing.

Tokio, Sept. 5.—Detachments from the Japanese warships on the Chinese coast have been hurried to Nanking from which city official reports have been received here that a number of Japanese subjects who were carrying Japanese flags during the recent fighting between the Government troops and the rebels, were deliberately massacred. The city was pillaged. It is understood here that Japan probably will demand an apology, and an indemnity from the Chinese Government as well as the punishment of the persons responsible for the death of the Japanese in Nanking.

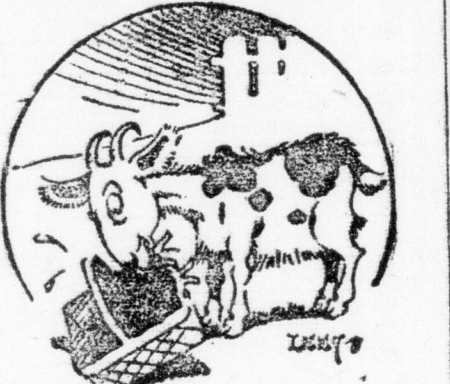

CITY WAS LOOTED. London, Sept. 5.—A Shanghai dispatch to the Times says: "Nan King has been desolated by looting, which for the most part could not be prevented. "Eight Japanese, carrying the Japanese flag, fled toward their consulate. Some of the Government troops fired, and two of the Japanese fell dead. A third was wounded, but died after reaching the consulate. There is much among the Japanese feeling among the Government forces, and the Japanese flag hoisted over shops has been no protection." A Tokio dispatch to the Daily Mail says: "Owing to the alleged massacre of Japanese at Nan King, when the northern troops captured the city, M. Oishi, leader of the progressive party, and other politicians are urging occupation of Tientsin, or some other port until China has paid compensation."

RODE TO DEATH. Girl and Youth Went Through an Open Drawbridge in an Auto. [Canadian Press.] St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 4.—Lucy Beach, 20 years of age, and Lawrence Blakeman, aged 19, college mates, rode to their deaths in an automobile through an open draw bridge into the river here late last night. The bodies have been recovered. The coroner has started an investigation, based on rumors that proper danger signals were not displayed at the approach to the bridge.

A FEW LINES OF MOST ANYTHING

Col. Hodgins is arranging for a military celebration of the centenary of Tecumseh's death. It would be a fine thing if at the next Old Boys' reunion here a great pageant based on Tecumseh's life could be staged at Springbank Park. With costume, and historical data, properly arranged, it could be made an event in Canada's history. It would have to be done on a pretentious, almost an immense scale, but London is due to tackle an immense thing. Many citizens would have to labor and devise, long and hard. It would lift London out of the carnival idea of celebration. That's getting to be a chestnut, and a chestnut with burrs on it—hard to handle. Think of the interest the school children might be led to take. There would be real moving picture possibilities. An attack at night, a flotilla of canoes on the river, swarms of birds, real Indians from our reservations, British soldiers, Americans, incident, romance, color, battle, heroic death, triumph, a remarkable scenario it would make and a fitting honor to bestow.

CITY DADDY HOIST BY HIS OWN PETARD

Alderman Who Framed Traffic Law Left Auto on Street.

It isn't very often that a man breaks a bylaw which he helps to frame himself, but such was the case with one of the city daddies, who was a prime mover in this city. The bylaw put in force here was so enthusiastic about the bylaw before it was inaugurated that he spent considerable time and went to much expense in getting ideas from other cities as to the proper kind of bylaw to have.

Would Punish All Wife Deserters

[Canadian Press.] Vancouver, Sept. 5.—Mayor Baxter told the municipal convention that the great need in Canada, especially British Columbia cities, was more laws regulating personal conduct. For instance, he declared there is strong need for a law that would follow a wife-deserter and bring him back for punishment, just as a murderer or a thief is tracked down and brought back. He would also have a lazy husband law that would force some of the "won't works" to clear Government land and have their earnings paid to their wives. Mayor Baxter also advocates a law that would compel drunks to hand their pay checks over to their wives.

"Ah," sighed the dashing Robert, "I wish you were my governess." "So do I," replied the girl. "Hope sprang into Robert's heart. "And what would you do with me," he asked. "Then Robert pondered you continued on his beat—Exchange.

EFFECTIVELY SIMPLE FROCK FOR AFTERNOON

Here is an entirely up-to-date model, a French importation, by the way, sent over to add to the wardrobe of a noted belle. The simplicity of the blouse with the fluffy neck frill, are at the top of the style, while the slightly gathered, button-trimmed skirt is made ultra fashionable by the color scheme caught up at the back, narrowing it round the bottom, and by the loose girle and back sash.

Slipper Decorations for the Girl of Limited Income.

Madame la Mode gives us a few welcome suggestions as to how to convert even a last year's slipper into the new sandal-like shoe of the present vogue. By sewing two or three sets of rings opposite each other at the edge of the slippers so that they project slightly, the fashionable lacing problem is solved. The narrow satin ribbons are slipped through the lowest set of rings and the ends firmly sewed to the lining of the slippers. For black satin slippers the rings may be either wound with narrow black satin ribbons or buttonholes closely with black knitting silk. The edges of the lacing ribbons are made ornamental by studding with tiny beads or imitation jewels, and if more decoration is desired, the broader lacing ribbons can be headed with a detached design at intervals. All these bits of handiwork are easily made by any girl clever with her needle and who is quick to notice details of extensive dress and dancing slippers.

Fashionable slipper ornaments, including buckles, side rings, and slides, are readily made from jewelled trimming or from separate imitation jewels sold by the dozen at the notion counters of the big departmentals. This is worth remembering when slipper ornaments to harmonize with certain costumes and gowns are wanted. A couple of motifs in pearl or rhinestone trimming, and a few dozen detached jewels, or buttons, or beads, will make sets of rings opposite each other at the edge of the slippers so that they project slightly, the fashionable lacing problem is solved. The narrow satin ribbons are slipped through the lowest set of rings and the ends firmly sewed to the lining of the slippers. ## PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Present for Sister-in-Law.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following as soon as possible?

1. I am 14 years old, 5 feet 2 inches in height, and weigh 125 pounds. Am I too heavy?
2. If so, how can I reduce my weight?
3. Is it right to have a boy friend the same age accompany you home?
4. How can you prevent shoes from squeaking?
5. What is a nice Christmas present for one's sister-in-law?

SWEET FOURTEEN.
A.—1. A little overweight, I think. 2. Exercise will probably be your best method. Take long, brisk walks and play running games. Do this every day and it should have effect. 3. Yes, if your mother thinks he is a nice, gentlemanly boy. 4. To drop a little sweet oil in around the joining of the sole and the upper often helps, and again, a couple of little pegs driven in by the shoeman prevents the squeaking. 5. Well, thinking of Christmas already! Why not give her something you can make yourself? An apron, or a pair of towels, nicely hemstitched, or a laundry bag, or dainty jabot, or tie, cushion tops, centrepieces, or a bit of silver, glass or china, are sure to be appreciated by the young married woman.

Returning the Call.
Dear Miss Grey.—A friend of mine requested me to invite a friend of hers to a reception I held. The latter accepted and called on me after the entertainment. Should I return her call?

IN DOUBT.
A.—You are not obliged to return the call, but you may do so if you wish to continue the acquaintance.

She is Nearly Engaged.
Dear Miss Grey.—1. Would you consider a telephone introduction sufficient to start an acquaintanceship?

2. One of us is nearly engaged—that is, she has promised to become engaged as soon as the man makes enough to support her comfortably. She goes with numerous young men, who woo her as ardently as the "lucky one." Is she doing right?

3. Is it customary to invite a young man to dinner after a very short acquaintanceship?
TESS AND JESS.
A.—1 and 2. I do not think so. 3. No. There are, of course, circumstances that would make it quite the correct thing to do. Ask your mother's advice.

To Save Fallen Girls.

What promises to be an interesting "forward movement" is the action recently taken at a meeting of the Anglican Synod in Winnipeg, when a resolution was brought forward urging clergy and laity of four leading western dioceses to make a special study of ways and means of helping fallen girls to begin a new and better life.

The general feeling of the session appeared to be that while rescue homes and kindred institutions do excellent work, they are apt to stigmatize a girl and render it harder for her to live a good life after a residence there. Individual effort in private homes was felt to be the best means of helping unfortunate women. One idea advanced was that, in some cases at least, a girl might be sent to another city, where helpful and friendly surroundings and employment at a living wage, might pave the way to a pure and happy life.

One feels like crying "bravo!" to the advocates of such a noble means of uplift, for it is sadly true that the general tendency of mankind (which also includes womankind) is to put the ban upon the unfortunate girl, with rarely a thought that a little human sympathy and wise influence might save her, soul and body.

The action of the western dioceses of the Church of England gives us a new idea of what "universal brotherhood" may mean, and the thoughtful woman will await further developments with keen interest.

"Down with the Sunday dinner!" says Kansas. "Give mother and the girls a rest!"

And thus a great wave of reform is sweeping over the state and winning converts in every hamlet and farmhouse. A year or two ago the philosophers of the University of Kansas, at Lawrence, discovered that "what was the matter with Kansas" was the old-fashioned Sunday dinner, which kept women folks from getting a day of rest and incidentally overloaded the stomachs of the men. So the university started a crusade that has found its way into the domestic science curriculum of every college and high school in the state. Last year 4,000 future housewives had the simple Sunday meal idea instilled into them in the domestic science classes, and they've been spreading the gospel very effectively. So the Kansas mother in rebellion aided and abetted by the Kansas daughter, sister, aunt, grandmother and mother-in-law, and one wonder how soon the agitation may reach London.

GOD OF OPEN AIR.

Thou who hast made Thy dwelling fair
With flowers beneath, above with starry lights,
And set Thine altars everywhere
On mountain heights,

In woodlands dim with many a dream,
In valleys bright with springs,
And on the curving capes of every stream—
Thou who hast taken to Thyself the wings
Of morning, to shine

Upon the secret places of the sea,
And on far islands, where the tide
Visits the hearts of untrodden shores,
Waiting for worshippers to come to Thee

In Thy great out-of-doors—
To Thee I turn, to Thee I make my prayer,
God of the open air.

These are the things I prize
And hold of dearest worth;
Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of forests, comfort of the grass,
Music of birds, murmur of little rills,
Shadow of clouds that swiftly pass,
And sifted daisies,

The smell of flowers
And good brown earth,
And best of all, along the way, friendship and mirth.

THE FIR-TREE

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

Chapter II.
But what the children really wanted were the presents on the tree. And as soon as they had all been distributed the little folks ran out and forgot the beautiful fir.

The next morning the maids came again. "Oh," smiled the fir, "now I shall be adorned again for tonight. What a life of joy this is, to be sure." Alack and alas! He was doomed to disappointment. Instead of being decorated, he was pulled from his barrel foundation and hurried up the backstairs to the attic.

There he lay in a corner for days. No one thought of him. No one seemed to know he was there.

"What will happen next?" he kept asking himself. "When will they dress me up again for everyone to see?" But his only visitors were some mice and a couple of rats.

When he had almost given up hope of going anywhere again a man came up and pulled him roughly out of the corner, dragged him downstairs and threw him on a pile of rubbish in the backyard.

"Dear me, what is going to happen now?" he asked.
"Not at all, for the children who had admired him at Christmas soon came racing about the yard. They took one look at him and then cried out: 'See the ugly, ugly Christmas tree! Let's burn it!'"

The poor lonely fir dropped its dry branches, and felt a terrible backache, just as he would a headache.
In a few minutes between the time when the children decided to watch it burn and the moment when one of them put a match to its dry boughs,

How to Can Corn On the Cob

By Caroline Coe.

Last winter I was invited to a friend's house and, much to my surprise, at dinner, there was brought on steaming hot corn on the cob. It was delicious. I immediately asked how it was prepared, and my friend, who is one of the best of cooks, said:

"I canned it after a recipe of my own," and added, "I would not advise much corn to be put up in this way, for the work is long and great care must be taken."

"In the first place, you must have the wide top, half-gallon cans. In these you put as many short ears of corn as they will comfortably hold.

"Be sure that the corn is freshly picked and that there are no decaying kernels on the cob. Have some hot water, to which has been added granulated yeast, in the proportion of a heaping teaspoonful to one quart of water. Put your cans in a boiler on some hay or cloth to keep them from the metal bottom. Fill the cans with the hot sugar water and put on covers lightly. Fill the boiler with water to about two-thirds up the can. Boil four hours. Let cool and screw on can tops carefully and stand bottom side up for three days.

"I had splendid luck with this recipe, and my corn on the cob at Christmas was hailed with delight," said my friend. "I have already put up a couple of dozen cans."

Someone has asked for a method of preparing mango pickles from cantaloupes. Although a somewhat tedious process, the following recipe gives excellent results: Select green cantaloupe melons when half-grown; cut out one lobe, carefully scrape out all the seeds, return the lobe and tie it in place; put 15 of the melons in a brine strong enough to float an egg, and leave six weeks, keeping them well under; then take out, soak in fresh water 24 hours, then remove, wipe dry, and fill with the following stuffing: Take one-half pound scraped horseradish, one-half pound race ginger, scalded and chopped fine, 2 nutmegs, half an ounce mace, 1 ounce of whole black peppers, 1 small box mustard, 1 ounce of turmeric, 12 large onions minced very fine. Pound the mace, nutmegs and black pepper together and mix all the ingredients together with enough salad oil to make it into a paste. Stuff each lobe in place with thread and put each mango when stuffed into a jar large enough to hold all. Put enough strong elder vinegar to fill the jar into a preserving kettle; crack and add one-half ounce each of cloves, ground gin-

New Discovery To Help Motor Owners

Big British Company Has a Substitute for Petrol.

[Canadian Press.] London, Sept. 4.—A discovery which, it is claimed, will revolutionize the motor spirit industry, and make Great Britain partly independent of foreign supplies, is announced by a joint committee appointed some time ago by the Royal Automobile Club and other automobile associations. The secretary of the committee says they tested a substitute for petrol, which is a by-product of coal, and which hitherto has been unsuitable as motor fuel. The experts of the committee made the fullest investigation, with excellent results. A big commercial plant is now being built, and the indications are that when the process is fully going 40,000,000 gallons a year will be produced. It can be sold at 28 cents per gallon, as compared with the present price of 42 cents. It is figured that the present British consumption of petrol is 100,000,000 gallons a year.

The London Rugby Club will hold a practice at Teumseh Park this evening, between 6 and 7 o'clock. A practice will also be held tomorrow at the same time.

According to a rumor from St. Thomas, Manager Ort, of the St. Thomas club, has been missing from that place for three or four days. He has not interviewed any of the St. Thomas directors since the season closed, according to the story.

The Hamilton Herald prints the following: "The sporting editors of The London Advertiser and Free Press and the St. Thomas Times and Journal should indulge in a battle royal as a way out of their difficulties. These writers have been feasting on the Canadian League season with their petty quarrels."

For the benefit of the Herald and anybody else interested, let it be said the best of feeling exists between the above-named sporting editors, despite their apparent hostility.

Matt Hynes has been getting pummeled pretty hard of late in the Northwestern League. Hynes has been taken out in his last two starts after a couple of fine ones. He was sent in to rescue another game, but failed.

Tommy Greive, who was once touted by the Hamilton papers as being the best shortstop that ever came down the Philadelphia Nationals as a result, was recently sold by the Columbus team of the Ohio State League. Tommy is still on the tobbogan.

The Lost Love Letters of Charlotte Bronte

[From Public Opinion, London, Eng.]

A dramatic recovery has been made of four lost letters of Charlotte Bronte, and the Times devotes over a page to their publication in French and English and to a portion in facsimile. These moving letters were addressed by Charlotte Bronte to Professor Constantin Heger—the "M. Paul Emanuel" of her novel, "Villette." In them all she begs him to write to her—merely to write—just so that she may be in touch with him—to know what he was doing. That, she says, would satisfy her. Without that, life would be misery. The letters are not in the least passionate. They are just a yearning for communion, for friendship, for association with one for whom she had a very warm place in her heart.

The Soul of a Novelist. In view of the coming Bronte centenary, Professor Heger's son—Dr. Paul Heger—a former president of the Belgian Royal Academy of Medicine—has given these letters to the British Museum. And Mr. M. H. Spielmann, the well-known critic, whom Dr. Paul Heger had consulted as to the propriety of the gift, explains and translates these letters in the Times. Dr. Heger says that the letters "reveal the soul of the gifted author, whose genius is the pride of England," and Mr. Spielmann says that the letters "utter the cry du coeur that reverberates throughout their author's literary work—'prose and verse alike.'"

"Dr. Paul Heger wishes, by the publication of these letters," says the Times in a leading article, "to put an end to all gossip and speculation about the relations between his father and Charlotte Bronte. There is nothing in them, he says, which is not entirely honorable to their author or to him to whom they are addressed. On that point everyone will agree with him. But we should like to insist upon the nature of the interest which these letters must have for every intelligent reader, since the interest shown in the life of Charlotte Bronte has not always been intelligent.

Curiosity-Provoking Books. "She is a writer whose books arouse curiosity about herself because all of them more or less, and 'Villette' most of all, read as if they were autobiographies. And now these letters read as if they were a part of 'Villette' or of some sadder, unpublished, sequel to it. They prove, what we were sure of before, that Charlotte Bronte lived her life over again in her books and revealed herself in them with the audacity of her own innocence. And as she wrote in 'Villette' so she wrote in her letters to Professor Heger. Indeed, one might suppose from the letters that she wrote the book, too, for the professor, and with that same desire to reveal herself to him. She gave 'Villette' to the public work as a work of art; but she wrote it for one man, although she might not even wish him to read it. What She Said. "It is impossible for any but the stupidest to feel a prurient curiosity about those emotions which she has so innocently laid bare both in the

It was a great game, and the Leamington sports dropped a pile of money.

BUSINESS OF YAWNING. In the days when trees are budding and the baseball bat starts thudding, and the business of yawning is all about to get each other's gore. Men will hang around the ticker watching for each little fluctuation. And on every mortal's lips we hear the question, "What's the score?"

But in days of mild September there is but a dying ember of the flame which is cherished in the happy days of yore. No one hangs around the ticker watching for each little fluctuation. And we answer with a yawn when someone questions, "What's the score?" —George E. Phaire.

It is likely a meeting will be held shortly to reorganize the Army and Navy Baseball League for the coming winter. The league had quite a successful season last winter, and it is thought there will be an even greater interest taken in it this season.

The London Hunt Club will hold a Gymkhana at the Kennels on Saturday afternoon. A program of riding events has been prepared, including a number of jumping races.

No Other Way

BY GORDON HOLMES.

Author of "A Mysterious Disappearance," "The House of Silence," Etc.

"No," said Tealie, at the same time signalling a porter to come and remove his portmanteau. "What was it about?"

"Mr. Claude regrets, sir, that he cannot put you up at the Deane."

"Not put me up? What nonsense! He is alone, and the place is a regular hotel. I have heard something of his new whim. No, I must come and see for myself what is the matter."

"You will not be admitted, sir," said Rice respectfully, but signing to the porter that his assistance would not be needed.

Then John Stratton Tealie condescended to give a serious look to the smooth-spoken Rice. "What the deuce are you talking about?" he demanded fiercely.

"Mr. Waverton's orders, sir." Then Rice played his trump card, and dropped his voice to a confidential tone. "I don't know what the deuce you are talking about, but Mr. Claude and his wife will probably make up their little differences at it should. The red-faced Tealie grew purple, but he managed to splutter, "You are talking nonsense, man."

"No, sir, it's the truth. Mrs. Waverton ten 'ere' last Monday, and she may be in residence any day now."

"Tearie is aware of Doris' departure from Narragansett Pier early the previous Sunday, and not all his diplomatic had extracted from Mrs. Delamar, so his statement, backed up by the extraordinary instructions the valet had evidently received from Waverton, rang unpleasantly truthful.

And what was the man saying—that he had better go on to Plattsburg? He laughed savagely, and re-entered the train.

"Tell your master, he said, speaking with forced composure, tell him that I am sorry he regards me as an unwelcome guest. Tell him, too, that he will have cause to regret his action. Will you do that?"

"Certainly, sir. Good-morning. Nice day for a train journey—bright, but not too hot."

There was no glint of sarcasm in Rice's eyes, nor aught save the utmost respect in his voice, but when the furious Tealie was whisked away from Saginaw the valet tipped the porter a quarter, which was contrary to his habit, he being a prudent man with his money save where horses were concerned.

As a preparation for the curiously sensational developments that now began to cluster round the name of Narragansett Pier, after close and careful weighing of the facts gathered from many directions, Stengel and he had concluded to take Doris Waverton partly into their confidence. It was a bold step, but essential to any real progress. Judges and juries do not encourage guesswork by the police; that is, when cases are actually being tried. It would be hopeless to expect any legal tribunal to deal with Waverton as an impostor if a woman of Mrs. Waverton's position and intelligence continued to regard him as her divorced husband. So Clancy was deputed to try and persuade her to obtain another interview with the suspected man, but under such conditions that any further mistake as to his identity would be impossible.

Of course, there was another witness to hand in Mrs. Delamar; but, for obvious reasons, she was not available.

She had not only seen Waverton many times after the accident, but had quarrelled with him and met him again in New York. Did she suspect the truth already? If that were so, her quiescent attitude was explained—she was not being her time to use her knowledge to the best advantage. But suppose she, like every other person, imagined his name. Claude Waverton of today was really the man whose folly and extravagant life had been notorious in the past, what an embroglio that would be!

"By Jove!" said Stengel dubiously, "you must sneak like cats before we are ready to spring this business, Clancy! When you come to think of it, we might almost as well try to question the identity of a bishop. At present we have Waverton recognized and accepted by his wife, by the other woman, by his valet, who has been his constant attendant for some years, by a host of servants at Sixty-fourth street, and in the Adirondacks, by the family lawyer, and by his bankers. It is no child's play to start breaking down a body of evidence like that. And what have we on the other

SWINDLER WITH FORGED LETTER SECURES $8,200

Coolly Walked Into Banks and Presented Drafts to Managers.

Police on Trail, But Cannot Find Any Trace of Fakir.

Galt, Sept. 4.—By the simple device of a forged letter of introduction, currency to the amount of approximately $8,200 was secured today by a man calling himself James Ray, of Saskatoon, who presented checks at banks in Galt, Guelph and Berlin.

The forger immediately departed from each of these places as soon as he had secured the money. Little tonight he had been traced as far as Hamilton, and was then believed to be heading for the boundary at Niagara Falls, but the police and railway people everywhere throughout Ontario are watching for him.

Looks Prosperous. Mr. Ray, who is a prosperous-looking individual in middle life, age, walked into the branch here of the Union Bank this morning and announced himself as a customer. He produced what purported to be a letter of introduction from the manager of a branch of the bank near Saskatoon. The manager's signature is known to the bank people here, and the signature on the letter appeared to them to be perfectly genuine. His "identity" thus established, Ray announced that he wanted to draw $2,000. He drew and presented a check for that amount and received the money in currency. Mr. Ray then politely withdrew from the bank and from these parts.

Got Suspicious. It was some time later before suspicion was aroused at the bank here. Comparison of the signature on the letter with that kept on record showed disparities, however, and it was decided to telegraph an inquiry to Saskatoon. All this took time, and it was several hours after Ray had departed when an answer came from the Saskatoon branch disclaiming any acquaintance with the gentleman. The police then were immediately notified, but Ray had by now had plenty of time to make his get-away.

Other Victims. Precisely the same procedure was followed by the forger at Guelph, where he secured $2,000 and odd, and at Berlin, where he carried away $2,500. The railway and radial network in this district, and the fact that discovery of his fraud was so tardy, made it possible to execute the three coups with little risk of being challenged at any of the banks.

TOO LIGHT WALL WAS CAUSE OF STORE COLLAPSE

Inquest Into Recent Disaster at Peterboro Shows Considerable Carelessness.

Evidence Shows That the Walls Had Not Been Properly Examined.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Peterboro, Sept. 5.—That the collapse of a wall carelessly built 50 years ago was the cause of the disaster at the J. C. Turnbull department store on Aug. 28 last, and the death of five persons, was the opinion expressed by William Langford at the inquest before Coroner Greer here last night.

Mr. Langford inspected the building on behalf of the Trusts and Linn Company while alterations to connect it with the adjoining Barrie store were in progress. His view was concurred in by W. J. Johnston, the contractor in charge of the alterations, who examined the building after the accident and found that a weak wall had collapsed.

Explained Plans. Mr. F. C. Night, manager of the Turnbull store, who was the first witness, explained the plans for the change in the building. The wall between the Turnbull and the Barrie stores was to be opened and two arches were to be constructed on the second floor. He had left work entirely in the hands of Mr. Belcher, the architect, and Mr. Johnston, the contractor.

An Old Defect. Mr. Langford testified that the biggest opening in the wall without a support was 19 feet wide, that the beams rested on an 18-inch wall and were amply strong enough to carry the weight. There was no doubt but that the wall, which was built 50 years ago and did not appear to be carefully built in the centre, gave way and caused the outer walls to bulge and the floors to fall in. Mr. Johnston, the contractor, said that he had been supplied by Mr. Belcher, the architect, with a blue print showing the changes required. The beams used where the wall between the two stores had been removed, rested upon six inches of a solid brick wall except under the joists, but believed Mr. Belcher had examined it thoroughly. Mr. Johnston said that a subsequent inspection had revealed the fact that the collapse was due to a weak wall which had been crushed down by the weight it had been required to carry.

The inquest was adjourned until Tuesday, Sept. 16.

ASKED DRINK FELL DYING

An Unknown Young Woman, Perhaps From Strathroy, Suicided in Detroit.

POLICE INVESTIGATE

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—Body of a young woman, who took her own life last night by taking poison, is still in the county morgue unidentified. The family of M. T. Ruth, 164 Piquette avenue, was aroused by persistent knocking at the front door of their home shortly before midnight. On opening the door a fairly well-dressed woman about 23 years old asked for a drink of water and fell to the steps. Mr. Ruth, suspecting poisoning, gave her mustard mixed in water. A police ambulance took the woman to Grace Hospital, where she died soon after.

There was no money in her purse. Among her effects was found a knitted pillow cover. The cover bore a pattern of the British flag, and scrawled in pencil were the words, "Edinburgh, Strathroy." In a corner of the cover was written the name of C. J. King. The name of C. J. King does not appear in the directory.

The woman wore a white and black suit, black straw hat trimmed with two black feathers and ribbons. The poison bottle bore the label of the Eastern drug store, 132 Woodward avenue. Nothing is known of the woman at this store.

LIVE STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS

LIVE STOCK. TORONTO, Sept. 5.—Union Stockyards.—The run here yesterday totalled 95 cars, containing 1,233 cattle, 2,079 sheep, 1,474 hogs, and 359 calves. The market today closed quiet, but firm. There was a good demand for the better class of butcher cattle at the week's prevailing prices, and the dealers had little trouble in clearing all cattle of this class. The poorer grades, however, were not so much sought after, but owing to the fact that very little stock had been left over from the previous markets, no trouble was experienced in getting rid of this grade. The run of cattle today was not large, and this also helped to keep the prices up. Calves were a good trade at steady prices. The small consignments, during the past few weeks have tended to keep this market firm and brisk. While sheep and lambs did not advance, there was a noticeable greater demand in that market, and the trading was fairly brisk. Contrary to expectations, hogs gained the 12 cents on Wednesday, and closed firm with the opening day.

A review of the week shows a very good market due to the whole to the exhibition. While no advances of any moment have been made, cattle have remained firm all week, and the trading has been quite brisk. Calves have also been a firm market. On the other hand sheep, lambs and hogs have been a little uncertain. This was due to the unexpected large runs on Wednesday. Hogs, however, recovered from the decrease today, but sheep and lambs, while showing more activity, closed at the lower quotations. The demand for stock cattle for export to Buffalo and other American border cities, and the demand for the same class of cattle for home market, has been one of the notable features of the week. While there has been some heavy buyers in heavy distillery feeders, the farmers have been regarding the opportunities in the higher stock markets, with the result that nearly all these cattle are going across the border.

The outlook for next week's market appears to be good. There should be very little change in the attitude of the cattle market, though much will depend upon the runs and climatic conditions, as well as the quality of the stock shipped in. Calves will without doubt remain firm, but sheep, lambs and hogs may experience a decrease.

The closing quotations were: Export cattle, $5.50 to $6.85; Butchers cattle, choice, $5.20 to $5.25; Butchers cattle, medium, $5.00 to $5.25; Butchers bulls, $3.50 to $5.50; Butchers cows, $4.50 to $5.00; Butchers cows, medium, $4.50 to $5.00; Butchers cows, common, $4.00 to $4.50; Steers and calves, $5.00 to $5.50; Feeding bulls, $5.00 to $5.50; Canners and cutters, $2.50 to $3.00; Calves, common, $4.50 to $5.00; Calves, extra choice, $8.00 to $9.00; Lambs, common, $4.00 to $5.00; Light ewes, $4.00 to $4.50; Heavy ewes, $3.25 to $4.50; Bucks and culs, $2.00 to $3.00; Hogs, f. o. b., $10.00 to $12.00; Hogs, fed and watered, $10.00 to $12.00; Hogs, weighed, $12.25 to $12.50.

LONDON LADIES STRONGLY URGE VOTES FOR ALL

Calgary Has Recently Granted All Woman Vote in Municipal Affairs.

USE BALLOT IF GRANTED Mrs. Gordon Wright Says London Women Would Need Education.

Local suffragettes were decidedly pleased to learn through The Advertiser of the granting of equal municipal franchise to the men and women of Calgary by a special amendment of the city charter.

"It is a step in the right direction," stated one well-known lady over the telephone, "and is certainly an incentive for the women's clubs and societies of other cities, London included, to get behind just such a movement."

Feeling is Growing. Mrs. Gordon Wright, first vice-president of the London Suffrage Society, affirmed that she believed many civic bodies would approve of granting equal franchise in municipal matters. "There is a steadily growing feeling in favor of woman suffrage in Canada," she said.

Asked if she believed that London women would use the ballot if it was granted, another member of the Suffrage Society stated that while they might have to be educated to it at first, they thought they would soon avail themselves of the privilege.

The London Society. The London Suffrage Society was formally organized in February last with the following officers: Honorary president, Mrs. E. M. Tilley; first vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Wright; second vice-president, Mrs. Talbot Macbeth; president, Mrs. Gordon-Hall; secretary-treasurer, Miss Fowler; Messdames Ashplant, Harrison, Henderson and Miss Blackburn are members of the executive.

DRIVER KEPT ON AFTER STRIKING MR. McEVOY

Injuries to County Treasurer Prove To Be Not Serious.

Mr. A. M. McEvoy, Middlesex's esteemed county treasurer, who was slightly injured Thursday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the corner of Talbot and Dundas streets, was much improved this morning, and will likely be about again in a few days. His injuries proved to be not serious, but some anxiety was felt, owing to his advanced years.

According to those who witnessed the accident, the car never stopped, but proceeded on its way. Whether the driver was aware of the accident or not is not known, but it would seem impossible for him not to be cognizant of the mishap. The number of the machine was taken. Mr. McEvoy was attended by Dr. James Wilson.

25-CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF—GROWS HAIR

Don't Pay 50 Cents For Worthless Hair Tonics—Use Old, Reliable, Harmless "Danderine"—Get Results.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

SENSATIONS PROMISED OVER RAILWAY WRECK

Head of Union Is Making Extraordinary Allegations Regarding Intimidation.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Sept. 5.—A London cable today says: "Major Pringle decided yesterday to hold a board of trade inquiry into the disaster to the Scottish express, at Ailsail, in secret. No one but an inspector, representatives of the Midland Railway and the drivers and guards in charge of the trains involved in the accident will be present.

"Extraordinary allegations are being made by J. H. Thomas, M. P., of the railwaymen's union. He declares that the drivers and guards, after asking that he should represent them, altered their minds after an interview with Mr. Paget, general superintendent of the company. Thomas expressed his desire to be present at the inquiry and to cross-examine the witnesses. He was informed that he could go as a listener, but that he would not be allowed to ask questions. He therefore refused to be present at all. Mr. Paget repudiates the suggestion that the men had been intimidated. Nevertheless the fact remains that an inquiry involving questions of immense importance to the safety of the public is being conducted in secrecy.

SHORTAGE OF $500 ON MILITIA CAMP FOR COMMISSION

Total Cost for Water and Light Reached the Sum of $1,350.

Watering Men Berated for Carelessness in Connection With Hydrants.

Military camps are rather expensive to the water commission. Thursday afternoon General Manager H. J. Glaubitz submitted his report on the water and light expenses of the two camps held on Carling's Heights in June. The cost was $1,350 for water supply and $150 for light, exclusive of the price of power consumed. While $900 of the waterworks expense was for material that can be used again, $450 was for labor that was charged directly against the commission. The light expenses were $150 for labor, leaving the commissioners $600 out as a result of the camps, $100 having been voted by the council for the work.

A "Joint Operation" Mixup.

Another instance of hydro affecting the waterworks and vice-versa was brought up by Chairman Philip Pocock, when the now famous Cullis claim was brought before the board. The claim was on the board of works, which paid $47 to Cullis as a result of a horse having been injured in a street cave-in, caused, according to the city committee, by the breaking of a water main. The commissioner's claim was that the main had been broken by a city sewer settling down, therefore shifting the responsibility to the city. The case was pitched back and forth between the two civic bodies for some time and finally settled by the board. As a sequel a claim was sent into the commission from this body. It was finally compromised by the commission agreeing to pay half, but only after Chairman Pocock declared that Cullis had ordered hydro out of his buildings, because the commission had in the first place declined to settle the bill.

Will Represent London.

H. J. Glaubitz and Chairman Pocock were delegated as London's representatives to the hydro-electric municipalities meeting in Toronto on Sept. 28.

Cross carelessness in the street watering department on the way fire hydrant caps are attended to, was brought forward in a special report of General Manager Glaubitz. In six days 37 caps left off, 9 caps left loose and 1 hydrant broken by street watering men, were found by the water commission employees. This, the general manager declared, was a serious proposition, the open caps being an invitation to children to poke sticks and stones down the open hydrants, with the result that their usefulness was destroyed and the chances of breaking them were increased.

SHIFTING THE BLAME.
[Vancouver Province.]

Outwardly the Canadian people appear to be a temperate and plain people, but the excise returns show that inwardly we are consuming more beer and spirits each year. The simplest method of relieving ourselves from a national stigma is to unload the responsibility on the large increase in our foreign population.

DANGERS OF "PLAYING INDIAN."
[Montreal Gazette.]

A few weeks ago a New York coroner called public attention to the fact that since the spring twelve boys dressed in Indian suits had been burned to death while playing around bonfires with companions. Yesterday in a Montreal hospital a youngster succumbed to burns received in such a game. Parents of children who possess the fringed and inflammable suits should warn them to keep away from fire. Fun is too dear when paid for by life.

Deaf and Dumb Indian a Marvelous Sculptor of Bears

Out in the Glacier National Park Reservation, in Montana, there is a half Scotch and half English Blackfoot Indian, who though deaf and dumb, is a marvel in turning wood into realistic images of bears. The photograph shows this Indian, John Clark, finishing the carving of a bear, and judging from the picture, no carver's work could be better done. Though he is deaf and dumb, he is able to read and write, having been taught this method of communicating in the English language at the Fort Shaw school. He is likewise an adept in the Universal Indian Sign Language, and can carry on a conversation with the member of any tribe of American Indians. Besides being an expert wood carver, Clark is a born artist in clay, a sketch artist of landscape scenery, and is now dabbling with oils and brushes, having produced on canvas creditable landscapes.

THE STITCHES OF ART.

A Variety of Them Employed To Produce Harmonious Effects.

While the names of the various stitches required in embroidery work may appear formidable to the beginner, she need have no misgivings as to her ability to soon learn and apply them to any of the 160 beautiful designs contained in the Imperial Pattern Outfit now being distributed by The Advertiser.

In this outfit are included instructions which are illustrated and enable the learner to easily master all the different kinds of stitches that are used, among which are the Outline, Chain, Seeding, Cat, Buttonhole, Couching, Satin, Eyelet Work, Wallachin Embroidery, Cross, French Knots, Fagoting, Solid Kensington, and Roman Cut Work. Every woman who does home work can, after a little practice, manufacture her own embroidery, and at a cost that would represent but a mere fraction of what she would be obliged to pay for the work in the usual way. In addition to this advantage, which means dollars and cents saved, she can apply her skill to the ornamentation of many articles of her own clothing that hitherto she has always worn without this exquisite medium of decoration, mainly from the reason of the prohibitive prices invariably asked for high-class needlework of any kind.

Just at the present time there is a rush for the Imperial Pattern Packets at The Advertiser, which are handed out for 68 cents and six coupons, and mailed for 10 cents extra, so the girl who intends to do embroidery should lose no time in getting this outfit, which, if bought in the regular way at 10 cents a pattern, would cost $16. Surely this latter value and the opportunity of obtaining it for a sum less than one-twentieth the amount should be sufficient to appeal to every lady who is at all interested in the pleasing results of the needle in skillful hands.

ANNIE LAURIE.
[Winnipeg Telegram.]

The heroine whose name is the title of the song was born in 1728, and was about 17 years old when the incident occurred which gave rise to the song bearing her name, James Laurie, Annie's father, was a farmer who lived and owned a very large farm called Thraglostown, Dumfriesshire. He hired a great deal of help, and among those he employed was a man by the name of Wallace, to act as foreman, and while in Wallace, to act as foreman, and while in this employ Mr. Wallace fell in love with Annie Laurie, which fact her father soon learned, and forthwith discharged him. He went to his home, which was in Maxwellton, and was taken sick the very night he reached there. Annie Laurie, when she heard of it the next morning, went to his bedside and waited upon him till he died. On his deathbed Wallace composed the song.

COMMON SENSE GREAT NEED OF AMERICAN LAW

Lack of Confidence in the Honesty of Courts Causes
Misgiving.

JUDGE REALLY TRIED

British Papers Discuss Criticism
Made by Ex-President
Taft.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Sept. 5.—Ex-President Taft's criticism at Montreal of the American judicial system, is the theme of an outspoken editorial in the Times, which says: "Mr. Taft's pronouncement is bound to intensify misgivings which many Americans have come to feel in the efficiency of their state courts, and the system on which they are based. It would be mere flattery to pretend that judges of these tribunals have anything like the standing of our own judiciary."

Lack of Confidence. "The great and growing lack of confidence in state courts in their honesty and impartiality, as well as in their technical efficiency, is one of the most disquieting phenomena observable in America. What the United States needs more than anything else is a reformer of the Jeremy Bentham type to restore common sense to its codes and simplicity to its administration. The criminal procedure, especially, of America today, is very much as ours was in the time of the Stuarts. It is hopelessly enmeshed in technicalities and neglects justice and perspective to chase after impossible infallibility of form.

Judge Is on Trial. "It is hardly, indeed, too much to say in criminal cases, as conducted in the United States, that it is not the prisoner in the dock, but the judge on the bench, who really is on trial. It is the fetish worship of forms and rules that made judicial procedure in America a hindrance to justice and a comfort to criminals, and too many decisions of state courts on social, industrial and constitutional issues seem to have been formed with the same quibbling spirit. They have lost touch with life, they have grown petrified in pettifoggish abstractions, and no problem that confronts the American people is more urgent or cuts deeper than the problem of how to lead them back to reality and common sense."

The announcement from Philadelphia that Lord Haldane's address to the American Bar Association was the declared policy of the British Government is receiving considerable prominence in this morning's papers. The Daily Mail hopes the announcement is as true as it is interesting.

Too Sanguine. "The Standard says: 'If it is an earnest of the intention to bring about an Anglo-American alliance, we are afraid His Majesty's Government is too sanguine and distinctly premature, unless, of course, in this lawyer's opinion, seeing ahead a terrific burden of expense, with defeat in the end, figuratively threw up his hands.'

BIG ZIONIST CONGRESS BROKE UP IN DISORDER

Inner Executive Tried to Obtain Control of the Finances.

[Canadian Press.]

Vienna, Sept. 5.—The Zionist Congress broke up yesterday in disorder. The president, David Wolffsohn, was forced to suspend the sitting, owing to the tumult, which prevented the speakers from being heard.

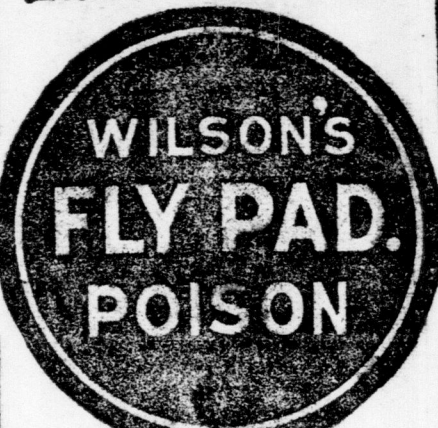

The trouble arose over an attempt of the inner executive committee to secure control of the two Zionist financial institutions, the Colonial Trust and the National Fund, which at present are vested in separate managements.

Differences of opinion which have existed since the movement started now threaten an open rupture. The absence from the congress of several notable men, such as Max Nordau, is due to this cause. The funds were originally destined exclusively for a political propaganda, and to obtain concessions from the Sultan of Turkey, while the executive, composed of so-called practicals, want the money used for the actual work of the settlements in Palestine.

The political faction of the congress vehemently opposed the committee's proposition. The speakers fiercely denounced the administrative work of the executive, as opposed to all the best traditions of the founders of the movement. President Wolffsohn made an especially violent attack on the committee, and declared that Max Nordau had purposely absented himself because of the policy the executive had adopted.

The Russian delegates also strongly advocated a return to the ideas of Herzl.

BICYCLE BRIGADE ENJOYS TRIP TO EASTERN CITIES

Caught in an Awful Downpour One Night, Good Weather Otherwise.

Treated Royally at Every Place Along Route by Y.M.C.A. Members.

The Y. M. C. A. bicycle enthusiasts, who left London for an extended bicycle tour to Niagara Falls, on Aug. 25, returned Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The boys are in fine shape, after the strenuous pedaling and declare themselves "ready for anything."

The equipment carried was necessarily light, only "blankets and a tooth brush" being thought necessary. Stratford was reached Monday evening. It was decided to camp out-of-doors for the night, and the stars found the party wrapped in their blankets. But, alas! The stars were soon hidden by dense black clouds, which wept copiously on the boys. A hasty retreat for cover was made, but not until all were completely drenched.

Night at Berlin. The next morning, with fine roads before them, the party sped rapidly over the highways to Guelph, via Berlin. At Guelph the new Y. M. C. A. was thrown open and here the "bunch" spent the night.

Hamilton was reached Wednesday, via Preston and Galt.

The party enjoyed their stay in the Ambitious City, several large manufacturing concerns being visited. The night was spent on the beach, but this time without any climatic interruptions. Thursday evening saw the boys in Toronto. The night was spent in a summer cottage of a friend, and Friday afternoon the exhibition was visited.

The steamboat conveyed the boys and bikes to Lewiston, Saturday, while the Gorge route car finished the trip to the Falls.

No Inspection Necessary. Sunday afternoon the International bridge was crossed and here the boys were spared the necessary customs inspection because of the scarcity of their baggage. The night was spent with the roar of the Whirlpool beneath them.

Monday evening found the party once more in Hamilton, while Brantford accommodated the "bikers" on Tuesday. Woodstock was made a halting-place on Wednesday.

In the morning the "homestretch" was entered upon, and although the party made no particular effort to "speed," the "Y." was reached early in the afternoon.

A remarkable feature of the trip is that not a single puncture gave trouble, although the "speed fiends" were called upon to aid less fortunate pleasure-seekers on the road at different points. There were also no breaks of any account, only 75 cents being expended for repairs.

"Miss Oldun appears to be a woman of unusual qualities." "Yes, the absence of suitors long ago convinced her father that she was matchless."—Buffalo Express.

High School Will Form New Society

Will Be of Greatest Benefit in Training Pupils.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Sept. 5.—The organization of a literary society is now receiving consideration by the teachers and students of the Collegiate Institute. It is the intention to go fully into the matter, and from the enthusiasm that is being evinced it is altogether probable that organization will be effected with a large list of members. Most pupils are aware of the importance of a society of this description. The training is of great benefit to them in their work, and in after life. The preliminary arrangements for the annual field day will also be made at an early date.

Rev. Dr. Robert Law, pastor of Old

St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, will conduct the annual harvest home services in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Sept. 14. Dr. Law is one of the most prominent Presbyterian ministers in Canada, and his coming to Ingersoll will be awaited with much interest. It is expected there will be large congregations at each service.

The annual decoration ceremony of the I. O. O. F. will be held on Sunday afternoon next. This is the one occasion of the year which always brings out a representative gathering of the order, and many beautiful bouquets are deposited on the graves of departed brethren.

Another Balkan Atrocity. I kiss my whole army—King Nibh—Another Balkan atrocity.

THE GREAT CANADIAN HOME

Airman's Imposing Funeral

Splendid Tribute to Colonel Cody by British Army at Aldershot.

Aldershot military cemetery has never before seen such a popular demonstration of sympathy as that expressed at the funeral of Mr. S. F. Cody. From the house in Ash Vale to the cemetery gates, a distance of over two miles, the route was lined by thousands of sympathizers, while in the funeral procession were troops, wearing the varied uniforms of nearly the whole of the regiments in the British army.

Pipers and Gun Carriage.
The band and pipers of the Black Watch, in feather bonnets and wearing kilts and sporrans, headed the procession, playing funeral marches and wailing dirges. A field gun of "L" Battery Royal Horse Artillery, with a team of six horses ridden by scarlet-coated engineers, bore the simple oak coffin, over which was draped the Union Jack. Resting on the flag was a floral device in the shape of a steering wheel with a broken spoke—a last tribute from Mrs. Cody to her dead husband.

Behind the gun carriage walked the aviator's three sons—Vivian, Leon and Frank—all skilled aviators, who had made many daring flights with their father, and next came six mourning coaches with the widow and other relatives.

Oddfellows, Boy Scouts, members of football and cricket clubs to which Mr. Cody had belonged, and district councillors followed, and then came the military procession, headed by the members of the Royal Flying Corps. Motor lorries filled with wreaths brought up the rear.

A Last Salute.
In the camp troops turned out and stood bareheaded as the procession passed, or if in walking out dress, gave a military salute to the man they all so much admired for his pluck and perseverance.

At the cemetery gates Rev. J. Blackburne, military chaplain, and Rev. Basil Phillips, of Farnborough, who had often flown with Mr. Cody, in his aeroplane, met the procession, afterwards conducting the last rites at the graveside. The military police found it difficult to control the thousands of spectators who thronged the low wire fences of the cemetery, there being fully fifty thousand people on the hill overlooking the spot where the grave had been prepared.

The Lament.
After the body had been committed to the grave the pipers of the Black Watch played "Lochiel's Lament," the sad, wailing notes rising in the quiet sunshine and stilling the voices of the crowd on the hill.
The floral tributes ranged from structures six feet or more in height to simple bunches of wildflowers. Floral aeroplanes, propellers, kites, crowns, broken columns, anchors and harps, and the laurel wreaths of the victor, were among the many designs sent by sympathizers from all parts of England. Particularly handsome floral offerings came from the flying men of Hendon and Brooklands.

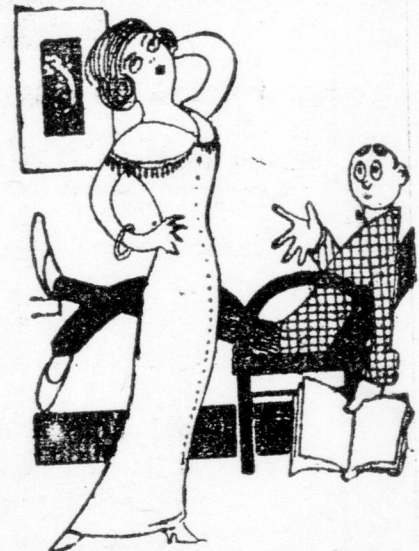

It is an interesting fact that only three days before his death Mr. Cody patented the floats on his wrecked waterplane, while a new engine, from his own design, was being built for him in France.

POSTPONED BLISS.

They had just been married, that was plain to be seen. They marched up the railway platform as if it were a church aisle. They had already peeped in half a dozen carriages of the train, but they were all full up. The guard blew his whistle, and the young man made a dash for the nearest compartment.

"Do you think we could squeeze in here, darling?" he cried.
She blushed, and bashfully pulled him back. "Oh, Harold," she whispered, "don't you think we had better wait until we get home?"

SEEMED SO.

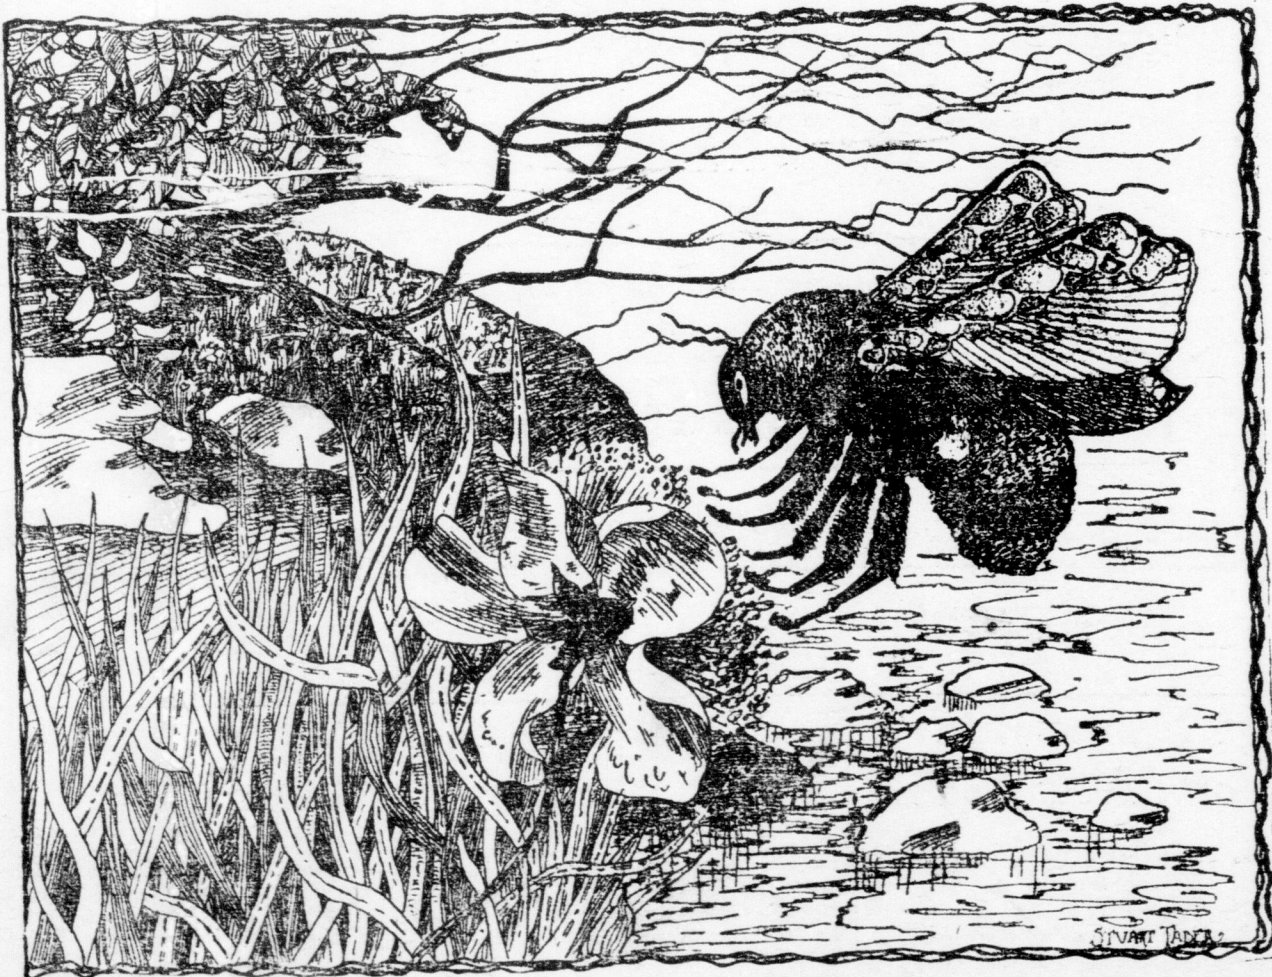

Young Jinks, he was a miser born,
His wife thought him a blighter.
But when she bought this year's new gown
She really seemed the tighter!

How to Remove Hairs Without Pain or Trouble

[Aids to Beauty.]
Here is a simple, effective way to make hairs vanish from lip, chin or cheek: With a little powdered detaine and water mix a stiff paste and apply to hairy surface. In two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. Excepting in rare instances one application only is required.
Eyebrows grow long and slightly curly if a little pyroxin be applied at lash-roots occasionally with thumb and forefinger; and if the eyebrows are short and thin, rub some pyroxin on. This makes them come in thick and glossy. Use caution not to get any pyroxin where hair is not wanted.

WHY THE BUMBLE BEE BUZZES
BY STUART STANTON TABER.

In the land of bugs there dwelt a bee
Whose temper was most vicious,
Yet all his food, quite strange to say,
Was honey most delicious.
Whenever a bug came near to him
He would sting with might and main,
And the bug would flee as best it could
And hum from the awful pain.
So the bugs all met and planned a way
To escape the naughty bee.

They fashioned a flute quite small and neat
That would play a strident key.
Then they found the bee and gave to him
This beautiful flute to play,
And they begged of him to play the thing
Whenever he passed their way.
So the bee began and learned to buzz
Whenever he flew around,
And the bugs would leap and fly away
As soon as they heard the sound.

No Chance of You Being Asked More

We have only one price for our Made-to-Order Suits or Overcoats---
No elastic scale of prices---
One price---One profit.

The big "$15" sign in the centre of this advertisement represents the actual cost to you of any cloth you may choose in the big store, made to fit you as a suit or overcoat. Just Fifteen Dollars, no more, no less, for a made-to-order suit or overcoat.

With us there is only one price---We don't use this "$15" as bait and then have the clerk "drive" a higher price on you, giving him a percentage on the "drive" as payment for his "clever salesmanship." You, of course, know that's what a lot of tailors really do. With us the clerk can only ask Fifteen Dollars and hold his job.

No matter what your size or proportion---tall, extra tall, short, stout, short stout---there is just one price. And you get the very best of imported woolsens in patterns that are positively exclusive with us.

Take half a dozen custom-tailor shops and roll the combined stock into one and then you'll be short the extent and range of the suiting now on view at the Scotland Woolen Mills Company's branch.

More, too, you cannot approach the perfect tailoring, fit and finish of the Scotland Woolen Mills Company made-to-order suits and overcoats at twice the price asked.

No Elastic Scale of Prices

It wasn't Emerson, but an old newspaper scribe, that wrote, "The man who could do some one thing---even the making of a mouse trap---better than his neighbor, though he build his house in the wood, the world will make a beaten path to his door."
The Scotland Woolen Mills Company has done one thing better than the other fellow. It has made possible a superior suit of clothes, cut to a man's measure for fifteen dollars.
We have not built our house in the woods either, but on the big high-road of a score of cities and the world of men has flocked easily to us.
And the big success that attended our efforts is partly due to the fact that the Scotland Woolen Mills Company does business on a strictly one-price basis. The clerks in the branches cannot add one cent over fifteen dollars. They cannot suggest that for more money a better lining might be used simply for the reason that we use absolutely the best lining that money can buy.
You could pay more for a suit of clothes than the price we ask, but you can't get more value in fit or material.
Gideon Miller,
President Scotland Woolen Mills Co.

NOTICE---Our experience, everywhere, forces us to the continued necessity of pointing out, for our customers' protection, that the Scotland Woolen Mills Company is not connected in any way with any other concern using a "Mill" name on its sign board, and doing business either in the United States or Canada. We have only one branch in London, located at 199 Dundas street.

OUT-OF-TOWN MEN---Put your name on the back of a postal card, and address the other side to us and we'll send you a book of samples, fashion plates and our simplified self-measuring chart. We promise to supply you with a suit or overcoat made to your own measure as satisfactorily by mail as if the order were given in person. PROF. WILLIAM SAUNDERS HAS ADDED MILLIONS TO THE WEALTH OF CANADA

Londoner, Who Is Seriously Ill, Brought About Wonderful Advance in Grain-Growing in Canada, and Advanced the Nation.

HONORED BY KING AND EMINENT BODIES

Dr. William Saunders, until two years ago director of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, and a citizen of whom London is justly and unreservedly proud, is critically ill at his home, 355 Pufferin Avenue, the father of a family of professors and scientific men, few if any men have done more than Dr. Saunders to mark London as a home and centre of intellectual culture and achievement.

PROF. WILLIAM SAUNDERS.

Referring to the development and introduction of Marquis wheat into the Northwest, the Toronto Globe editorially said, some time ago, that $250,000,000 had been added to the value of Western Canada lands as a result.

By his accomplishments in the sciences of horticulture, botany and entomology, Dr. Saunders had received recognition abroad as well as at home, by his appointment as Fellow of the Linnean Society of London, England; corresponding member of the Royal Botanical Society of London; Fellow of the Entomological Society of London; a director of the Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario; and an honorary member of the Highland and Agricultural Society of Scotland.

ful study of experimental farms in other countries. He was entrusted with the selection of officers and the location of branch farms at Napan, N. S., Brandon, Man.; Indian Head, Sask., and Agassiz, B. C.

Particular distinction is attached to Dr. Saunders' work in the improvement and development of new cereals. Thousands of new kinds of wheat have been bred under his direction, among them Red Fife, White Fife, Stanley, Preston and Huron, all Fife crosses. All these were soon surpassed by a new variety, Marquis, which ripens a week or ten days ahead of Red Fife, and gives a much greater yield of grain.

varieties already grown in Canada. In horticultural work, the Pyrus Baccata, or Baccata hybrid, developed from a small bitter, astringent and sour apple growing in clusters in Siberia, stands as a memorial to Dr. Saunders in its adaptation to the cold climates of Western Canada.

The Day of Wild Pigeons. Dr. Saunders was married in 1857 to Miss Sarah Robinson, daughter of Rev. Mr. Robinson, a Methodist minister, who was for a number of years stationed in London. Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Saunders was a school teacher in this city.

Dr. Saunders spent a year in Europe after resigning in 1911. He was succeeded by J. H. Grisdale, the present director. In Europe, Dr. Saunders visited experimental farms in Sweden and other countries, attended agricultural congresses, and made a valuable report to the Dominion Government, notwithstanding that he had gone abroad for the purpose of relaxation and the hope of improving his health.

INEBRIATE FARM FOR CITY TO BE ASKED OF GOVT.

Dr. Drake Has Plan Almost Ready to Present to Authorities.

Work for Habitual Drunkards and Money Given to Families.

Dr. F. P. Drake, who some time ago announced that he was working on a plan to have a farm for inebriates located near London, stated today that his plans are about ready to present to the Government some time next month.

Dr. Drake's idea is to obtain a grant from the Government to purchase a large tract of land, and to erect buildings on it, for the purpose of providing work for habitual drunkards. The money earned by such men would be turned over to their families or any one dependent upon them, and the men themselves would receive medical treatment to cure them of drunkenness, which the doctor declares is a disease, and not a habit.

Drunkenness a Disease. "Nothing can be gained by sending such men to prison for a term of three weeks or one month," said he, "they need treatment for their peculiar affliction just as much as an insane person does."

"I have been working on a plan, which I will submit to the Government next month, and I think it will be adopted. At present I cannot say what the plan is because it is in a tentative form, but when it is ready it will be made public."

HYDRO RENEWS OFFER TO STREET RAILWAY

Will Eliminate Peak Load and Directors May Buy Some Power.

The hydro-electric commission has reopened negotiations with the London street railway to sell hydro power. Members of the commission have assured the street railway directors that they are prepared to now make an offer which the company will accept. The peak-load proposition is to be eliminated, and as this has always been the sticking point, it may be that the street railway will take a certain amount of power, though still retaining its steam plant and using it each day. It would be necessary to have the steam plant for emergencies, according to the directors, and under no circumstances would they disturb the newly-installed machinery. More machinery is necessary to secure full power for the increasing business before long, and if a reasonable offer is made the company will probably accept.

Refers Local Papers To Its Own Files

"Taxpayer" Says Free Press Was Chief Instrument in Barring the Canada Southern From City Forty Years Ago.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: The Free Press insinuates that The Advertiser has no proof that the Free Press and its local political leader of 40 years ago were responsible for the exclusion of the Canada Southern Railway from London, I presume that the present editors of the Free Press were not on earth at that time, although they follow so closely in the traditional policy of their predecessors in office; but if they will turn to the files of the Free Press of 40 years ago they will find abundant evidence that it was the journalistic lash of the Free Press which was the chief instrument in the hands of its political over-lord in forcing a partition majority of the city council to commit that act of civic treason.

over an electrified London and Port Stanley Railway? Let the Beck organ reply, if it can. It is devoting much space to descriptions of various trolley lines which it says "exchange freight" with steam railways. To be sure, why not? Any railway, steam or electric, will gladly exchange freight with anything or anybody, from a transcontinental railway to a milk-wagon. But that is not an argument in favor of electrification. The question is, Will any steam railway agree to run its steam trains over an electrified line. If not, then freight would have to be trans-shipped from the cars of one line to the cars of the other, which is precisely what our shippers object to, as they say that would kill their business. Yours very truly, TAXPAYER, London, Sept. 5, 1913.

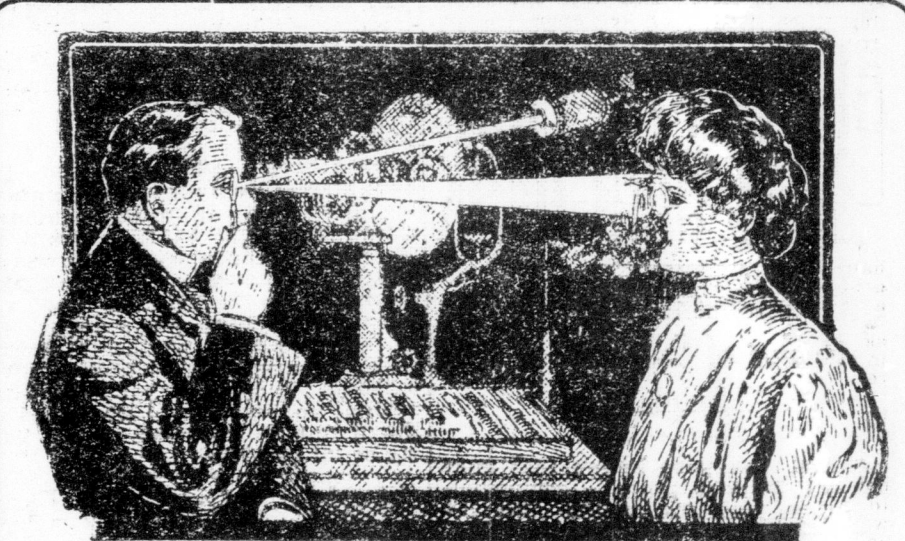

IN THE POLICE COURT

Harry Randall, 320 Dundas street, and John McNamara, 165 John street, were fined $1 each in police court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred against them by Night Stationmaster Kenny, of the Grand Trunk. They were originally charged with trespassing on the Grand Trunk, but when Mr. Kenny explained that the men loitered about the depot for some time refusing to leave when he told them to do so, the magistrate amended the charge. Both men were warned to stay away from the depot in future.

Begging on Streets. Michael Fox and Edward Kearney, residents of the United States, who were found begging money on the streets Thursday night, were charged with vagrancy. Both men promised to get out of town immediately if allowed to go. The magistrate was willing to have the city suffer from the loss of the citizenship of the two men, so he ordered that they be discharged, and that a constable accompany them to see that they leave the city at once. ## LACK OF SEWERS ALARMS FACTORY OWNERS IN EAST

McCormick Company Sees a Serious Menace if Work Is Not Done.

Mayor Intimates That Vote on Sewers Will Be Taken in October.

When the board of works met for its first meeting in the mayor's office of the new city hall Thursday night it had considerable business on hand. Mr. Thomas McCormick and Mr. W. Frost, the latter an engineer, who is looking after the construction of the new McCormick plant in East London, appeared and urged upon the committee the serious predicament in which the company finds itself on account of a lack of proper sewage disposal facilities in that district. The council, he said, did not realize the seriousness of the situation. The possibility of serious trouble are great, and in the event of the contractors not reaching a stage where the building could be closed in and heated before the cold weather sets in, the buildings and buildings would be damaged considerably by the water, which cannot be taken away with the present sewer accommodations, freezing and breaking all the sewerage connections, which are about a mile length, and which are already laid under the building.

Main Is Overtaxed.
Mr. Frost explained that the present sanitary main is already overtaxed, and that it is impossible to tap any other main owing to the depth of the sewers in the building and the levels at which the sanitary sewers are constructed.

Engineer Ashplant admitted that there was only one way out of the difficulty, and that was to start work as soon as possible on the Egerton street section of the storm water system, which he claimed would, when completed, relieve every factory in the manufacturing district.
He admitted that it would be a hard proposition to complete the work before the severest part of the winter arrived, but Mayor Graham said that if he got the sanction of the people for a storm water system by the middle of October he thought the work out there could be completed by December. "The only thing we can do," said the mayor, "is to let this matter up to the people on or about the first of October. Then when they decide what we are to do, we will be in a better position to talk."

Switch Across Street.
Mr. McCormick made application for a permit authorizing the C. P. R. to cross Nightingale avenue with a switch from the main line to run into the McCormick factory. This siding is to run parallel with the Grand Trunk line, and will be used for a station. It is to be constructed by the C. P. R. on obtain running rights over the interswitching line.
Ald. Saunders moved that this matter be referred to the city engineer for a report, and that if this report is favorable, the council give permission at the next meeting.

Men on Streets.
Requests on the part of W. J. Wray, the Hermitage Club, Gourlay, Winter & Leeming and W. G. Young, to string banners across Dundas street, were filed.
The engineer was instructed to go ahead and move the sidewalk back on Horton street between Richmond and Talbot streets before the work of paving the street was started.
After some discussion as to the best method to remedy the overflowing of the Queen's avenue sewer into the new Masonic Temple, the engineer was instructed to make an opening at the edge of the curb in front of the building to learn whether the sewer needs cleaning, or if the connections are at fault. If the former condition exists the city is to pay for it, and if it is the latter the Masonic Temple Company is to settle the bill. This arrangement was suggested by Mayor Graham, after a conference with the president of the Masonic Temple Company.

The engineer recommended that Wortley road between Byron and Askin be paved, and that he be instructed to call for tenders for the paving of the same road. This was sent on to the council.
The Garbage System.
Superintendent Dodd, of the garbage collection department, reported that during the month of August 1,473 tons of garbage had been destroyed during 74 1/2 working hours. This was an average of 2,017 tons per hour. He also asked permission to have a pipe run from the boiler at the incinerator into the river to furnish the boiler with water. This would not cost more than $25 in his estimation and would eliminate the necessity of using city water. A saving of about $100 a year would be effected in this way. On motion of the mayor, it was decided to go ahead with the work without sending the matter to the council.
Several petitions for garbage collection on streets outside the present area were filed, and will not be considered until next year's council meets.

Ald. Bennett Takes This Attitude in Regard to Street Railway.
Ald. B. W. Bennett complained strenuously at the meeting of the board of works Thursday night of the condition of the street railway tracks on Dundas street in East London. He complained that every joint in the track from Portersburg to the corner of Dundas and Ontario street was in bad condition, and that as a result the foundation of the pavement on Dundas street was being spoiled.

GARBAGE SUPT. GETS A GARAGE
It Will Also House City Engineer's Car and a Horse.
Mr. W. C. Dodd asked the board of works at the meeting held Thursday night to build a little garage for him to store his little car, with the "Public Works Department" engraved upon it.
He had inquired the price of boarding nice little automobiles at the different garages, he said, and found that it would cost the city from $7 to $8 a month.
Ald. Saunders suggested that a garage sufficiently large enough to accommodate Mr. Dodd's and the city engineer's cars be erected at the rear of the city hall. Building Inspector Piper also asked that some place be provided for the horse used by his department, so room for the horse was included in Ald. Saunders' original suggestion. The building inspector will report on the cost of such a building at the next meeting.
Before the matter was finally settled Ald. Saunders suggested that after the garage is built it be furnished with one lock, and that the key to the lock be turned over to the city clerk, who would have the pleasure of locking the garage at night and opening it in the morning.
