

A SUNDAY MILITARY SERVICE TO BE HELD IN VICTORIA PARK

A Big Field Day Is Also On the Tapis for the Camp—Many Visitors These Days to Carling's Heights.

Arrangements are being completed for the holding of the regular Sunday military service in Victoria Park this year instead of on the camp grounds, as has been the custom in the past. If the weather is fine the men will assemble in the park in time to attend divine service, which will be conducted by Canon Dunn at 9 o'clock.

The principal idea in making the change is to help entice the citizens and get them interested in the camp work. It will also be a chance for the men.

Big Field Day.

Arrangements are also under way for a big field day next week, at which a splendid programme of sports will be carried out, including a tug-of-war and various equestrian sports, a ball game and races of all kinds. Camp closes a week from tomorrow and on Thursday evening, June 23, a military tattoo will be held. This is always one of the great events of the camp, and draws an immense crowd to the grounds.

Quite a number of visitors have been going up to the Heights, especially in the evening, and are greatly interested in what is being seen there. Early visitors who arrive at 6:30 a.m. can see the men mount guard. After this is done there is usually a band concert. This morning the men were aroused unexpectedly on account of the band whose turn it was to play. The band was practicing. For half an hour the usual time the bandmen were to be seen, and no one in camp had been after.

STOCK COMPANY SEEKS SITE FOR A FACTORY IN LONDON

Local Man Has Been Approached On the Subject—Firm Is Looking for Inducements Which the City Can Offer.

A large Detroit firm manufacturing automobiles is seeking a location in Canada, and a London man was approached yesterday to find out what London had to offer.

The firm is a very large one, and is manufacturing a leading European model automobile. Three Canadian cities are being considered as possible locations for the new industry, and whichever makes the firm the best offer will be accepted. London's chances are better than any of the others, providing the inducements are sufficient.

A Stock Company.

One of the members of the firm stated that he would be willing to have the Canadian branch a stock company, and give all citizens a chance to subscribe, or else the firm would build their own plant if a site or other inducements are offered. The industry would employ a large number of men from the start, and the prospects are that it would increase rapidly, as the cars are meeting with acceptance. The publicity agent of the city will get in touch with the firm at once, and try to induce them to locate here.

DAMAGES OF $250 AGAINST THE LONDON STREET RAILWAY

Frank E. Wilson Asked for $500 But Was Only Able to Secure $250—County Court Is Proceeding Slowly.

The county court is proceeding slowly, and there are yet eight civil cases to be disposed of.

Yesterday afternoon's session was occupied in hearing the evidence in the case of Frank E. Wilson against the London Street Railway Company.

On Feb. 15, 1910, the plaintiff was run into by a car while driving along the Governor's road. The horse was killed, the cutter damaged, and Mrs. Wilson was injured about the head.

The evidence was taken, which went to show that the car was travelling at a very great rate of speed, and the motorist was unable to see the tracks owing to frost on the windows.

It was also shown that the plaintiff was travelling at too great a speed on such a dangerous road, and this would seem to have influenced the jury in reducing the amount of damages asked. The plaintiff asked $500 damages, but the jury awarded only $250. The following witnesses were called:

Ed. Frank E. Wilson, of West Nisour, the plaintiff; Dr. Herman Schaefer, who lives near the scene of the accident and attended Mrs. Wilson's injuries; Edward O'Connor, a J. R. Stewart, Harriet Wilson, the plaintiff's wife; Samuel Taylor and County Engineer Talbot, who gave expert evidence as to the condition of the road.

The defence called as witnesses: Mr. P. H. Bartlett appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. C. H. Ivey for the street railway.

The first case taken up this morning was that of Philip Keyser, an apple dealer, of Stratford, who claims $500 from Manford Schier, an apple dealer of Arkona, for non-delivery of apples, for which it is alleged a contract had been entered into. The defendant has entered a counter-claim for $500. Ross & Bickell appear for the plaintiff, and Johnson, McKay, Dadds and Grant for the defendant.

JAIL FOR A WEEK TO FRESHEN MEMORY

Indian-Lister Says That He Got It at Port Stanley.

Fred Thompson, an Indian lister, told the court this morning that he had got his whiskey at Port Stanley.

"You might as well tell the truth," said the magistrate. "You were so drunk when you were brought in that no one would ever let you on a car. I will send you down for a week to freshen up your memory."

Thomas Davey, for being drunk, paid $5.

John Holland pastured a cow on the sidewalks and paid $1 for so doing.

MOORE A WINNER

His Horses Carry Off Some More Big Prizes at London.

London, June 16.—This was champion day at the International Horse Show, which will be concluded with the twentieth performance tonight. In the afternoon Judge Moore's Flouish captured the Montreal cup and gold medal. This was awarded for the best exhibition of any of geldings over 14 and not exceeding 15 hands 2 inches. The championship class was open only to horses having taken a first or second prize in single harness at the present show.

Judge Moore won second honors in the competition for the Philadelphia cup and gold medal for single harness horses exceeding 15 hands 2 inches, which have taken a first or second prize in this season's exhibition.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS COMMENCE ON TUESDAY

Thirty Less Candidates Than in 1909 Will Write—Papers Very Still.

The entrance examinations will commence on Tuesday next. There will be 390 students take these examinations. This is 30 less than last year.

The decrease is due to the general stiffness of the papers set, and the consequent plucking of a considerable number of the students.

"There will not be so many write this year as last," said Inspector Edwards. "The number will be about 390, which is 30 less than in 1909. The papers are becoming more difficult, and the students must be better prepared than ever to succeed."

ARCHBISHOP McEVAY GOES TO MT. CLEMENS

His Grace Is Suffering From a Severe Strain—Bishop Fallon, of London, Improves.

His Grace Archbishop McEvay, of Toronto, formerly bishop of London, has been ordered to Mount Clemens, Mich., for treatment and rest, by his physicians, and has left Toronto for that place.

The archbishop has had many important matters to attend to during the past few months, and the strain has told on his health.

Although his illness is not considered serious, his physician, Dr. Dwyer, thought it better for his grace to desist from his work for a short time, at least.

Bishop Fallon, of this city, who has been ill in St. Joseph's Hospital, for the past week, is reported to be greatly improved and it is expected that he will be able to leave that institution shortly.

ENTHUSIASTIC DRUNK BOUGHT PEANUT OUTFIT

Then Upset the Load in a Gutter and Fancied He Had His Money's Worth.

One of the most peculiar illustrations of the vagaries that suggest themselves to the mind of an inebriated man that has come to the notice of the local police for some time, occurred last evening about 10 o'clock, at the corner of Dundas and Clarence streets, when a soldier who was intoxicated, walked up to a peanut vendor, and asked him how much his stock was worth.

On being told $4, he paid over the money, and immediately took hold of the wheel on one side and dumped the whole outfit into the street.

Having accomplished this, the soldier made off as quickly as possible.

A crowd gathered quickly, and P. C. Box, who was on duty, hurried to get the man's description from the peanut man.

To his surprise, however, the peanut magnate was not in the least perturbed, but began deliberately putting things to rights again, and said he was quite well satisfied, as the soldier had paid well for his fun before he had upset the outfit.

WIRE ACROSS CANADA FOR THE PACIFIC CABLE

An Important Step Which Greatly Improves Communication.

Ottawa, June 16.—An important step in improving telegraphic communication has been taken by the Pacific Cable Company, which is having a wire strung across Canada from Montreal to the Pacific to connect with its cable across the Pacific from Canada to Australia and New Zealand. The cable has been operated with success for some years, but there have been transmission difficulties across Canada. This will be overcome by the new line, which is being erected and will be maintained by the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company, and leased to the Pacific Cable Company. This company is a Government institution in which the partners are Great Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. The leasing of the line across Canada is regarded as the first step towards a Government owned cable across the Atlantic.

KING ST. LADY FEARS HER SON WAS KILLED IN NEW ONTARIO

William Jones, Who Was Found Dead Near Cochrane, May Be Son of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, of 323 King Street—Mother Anxiously Awaiting News.

William Jones, who was found dead in the woods near Cochrane, New Ontario, is believed to be a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. McIntyre, at 323 King street.

Mrs. Jones stated to The Advertiser today that her son William went up to New Ontario two years ago—last fall. Her daughter had a letter from him last August from New Ontario, and he was then travelling. Prior to that time he had been in a lumber camp. Mrs. Jones states that her son was 42 years old. She is anxiously awaiting some details of identification and the police here are trying to secure them for her.

Jones lived in this city for some time, but for many years had been running out of St. Thomas on the C. P. R. as a brakeman. His brother, the late Leslie Jones, whose death occurred only a few weeks ago, was a well-known Grand Trunk man. Besides his sister, Mrs. McIntyre, in this city, Jones has two brothers in Chicago, and a sister there also.

WEST ASSIMILATES AMERICANS SAYS A MOOSEJAW EDITOR

No Danger to Canadians—Those Coming in from South of the Border Are Proving Ideal Citizens—Businessmen of East Must Look After Business in West.

"It is nonsense to talk of the danger to Canada from the Americans who are pouring into the west. They are becoming Canadians and are amongst the very best class of citizens in Western Canada."

The above statement was made by Mr. Thomas Miller, editor of the Moosejaw, Sask., Evening Times. With Mrs. Miller he is on a pleasure trip through Ontario, his old home, which he had not seen for twenty-seven years.

Mr. Miller is an enthusiastic and scientific western tourist. He backs up his assertions by figures, and he is full of pointers for the businessmen of the east.

"Moosejaw is going ahead at a tremendous rate," he said. "Our population has doubled in four years, and is now about 15,000. In 1904 our assessment was only $1,500,000. Now it is over $10,000,000."

Must Look After Business.

"The businessmen of the east will have to look after business in the west or the Americans will step in and take it. We need a soap factory, a tannery, a wholesale hardware, and a boot and shoe wholesale."

"One of the principal industries is the Saskatchewan Flour Mills, capacity 1,500 barrels per day, which is being increased this year, and an oatmeal mill will be added thereto."

"There is also a good opening for a flax mill."

"Crops in the west were never better," Mr. Miller continued. "We are (Continued on Page Eight.)"

BIG CIRCUS TRAIN WRECKED; FIERCE ANIMALS AT LARGE

Lions, Elephants and Leopards Loose On the Countryside When Robbins' Show Outfit Is Derailed Crossing a Bridge in Pennsylvania.

Ebensburg, Pa., June 16.—The circus train composed of fifteen cars of the Frank A. Robbins' shows, was wrecked one mile from here early today on the Cambria and Cresson branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Two lions, an elephant, one leopard, and three tigers, which were confined in cages, were loose on the tracks. The animals struck low hanging girders, and were overturned. The cars carrying the wagon cages were derailed and thrown over the embankment leading to the bridge.

On being told $4, he paid over the money, and immediately took hold of the wheel on one side and dumped the whole outfit into the street.

Having accomplished this, the soldier made off as quickly as possible.

A crowd gathered quickly, and P. C. Box, who was on duty, hurried to get the man's description from the peanut man.

To his surprise, however, the peanut magnate was not in the least perturbed, but began deliberately putting things to rights again, and said he was quite well satisfied, as the soldier had paid well for his fun before he had upset the outfit.

BRONCHO CHARLIE WANTED BY POLICE

An Arrest Desired in Connection With Death of Toronto Hotelman.

Toronto, June 16.—To give the police a chance to capture Charlie Hardy, the man who is alleged to have assaulted Thomas Horder in his hotel at Queen and Queen's streets, on the 17th, from the effects of which he died, it was decided at the inquest yesterday to adjourn the inquiry for two weeks submitted yesterday before Coroner Dr. J. M. Cotton and his jury plainly showed that Mr. Horder had died from the effects of the wound inflicted by Hardy. The medical evidence went to show that the immediate cause of death was erysipelas, but that it had its commencement in the wound under discussion. The evidence further showed that if the wound had not been inflicted erysipelas would probably not have set in.

Mrs. Horder, wife of deceased, was one of the witnesses. She said that after the assault on her husband he had told her that "Broncho Charlie," whose real name was Charlie Hardy, had struck him in the face as he was showing him out through a somewhat dark passage to the door. She said that when she came home a few minutes after 11 o'clock her husband had been sweeping the floor of the bar, but became exhausted and sank in a chair. She found that he was bleeding and sent for Dr. Ball, who attended to his injuries. She said that she had spoken to him a number of times after the assault, but that he ventured no more information, and did not want to have the police called in on the case for fear that it would give the house a bad name.

Dr. Ball and Dr. Ellershorn, both of whom had attended the deceased, said that the cause of death was erysipelas. They said that as far as once on the stock.

GREY IS WATCHING

Rev. E. J. Carson Victim of Typhoid at Chinese Station.

London, June 16.—The movement in America towards the preservation of the peace and disarmament, which James Bryce, the British ambassador at Washington, has specially drawn the attention of the British Government, formed the subject of a question to Sir Edward Grey, in the House of Commons today.

"I need not say," replied the foreign secretary, "that the Government will follow the discussions with sympathetic interest, but until we know what will be given the house of Representatives and the Senate of the United States, it would be premature to take steps toward a realization of the project."

BOISTEROUS NEGRO HANGED.

Lurant, Miss. June 15.—After he had run amuck with a shotgun and attempted to kill three white men, Otto Mitchell, a negro, has been lynched by citizens.

Shouting that he would "clean up the town," the negro, who had been drinking, staggered down the principal business street, firing at random. Night Watchman Causey, at whom the negro fired, fatally wounded Mitchell. Hardly had the negro fired before he was seized by citizens, taken to a telegraph pole and hanged.

BELLE RIVER BLAZE.

Belle River, June 15.—About 5 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the stove mill of James Strong, at Ruscombe station, on the M. C. R. resulting in the complete destruction of the mill and several cars of stove bolts and lumber. There was a small insurance on the mill, but no insurance on the stock.

HUDSON'S BAY DEEP WATER PORT MAY BE NELSON OR CHURCHILL

Canadian Government Surveyors Leave for North Next Week to Select a Terminus for the New Railway.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 16.—The Canadian government steamer Stanley will start next week for Hudson Bay with two parties to make a hydrographic survey of the Nelson and Churchill ports. The report of these surveys will determine the deep water terminus of the Hudson Bay Railroad, the first contract of which will shortly be let by the Canadian Government.

W. J. Stewart, head of the Canadian hydrographic survey, will have charge of the work, which will be divided between two parties, one under H. B. Pariseau, and the other under A. A. G. Bachand.

One party will be assigned to Fort Churchill and the other to Port Nelson. An approach to Nelson will have to be chartered for ten or fifteen miles out, owing to the presence of sandbars. A schooner has been chartered at Halifax, and will at once be sent in for use at this point.

Work at Churchill does not extend far from shore, and the party at this point will make its base of operations on land, and work from small boats and launches. It is expected that surveys will be completed this summer. Work of charting Hudson Bay and Hudson Straits will be undertaken later. A special steamer will have to be secured for this.

FOREIGNERS IN A TAXICAB KIDNAP GIRL NEAR DETROIT

Sho's Exchanged by Dozen Brigands in an Automobile With Victim's Father and With Village Marshal.

Detroit, Jan. 16.—Josephine Vomiera, 15-year-old daughter of Samuel Vomiera, of St. John street, Ford City, was kidnapped last night by a party of armed Italians in a taxicab. Her father, who tried to protect her, was shot at and received a knife wound in his hand. The kidnappers exchanged a volley of shots with Marshall Oliver San Souci, and were last seen speeding through Ecorse toward Detroit.

It is not known that anyone had been paying attention to the girl, and the affair is attributed to a feud. The girl's father says that he recognized Joseph and Tomaso Gotsora, two Italians with whom he had trouble in the Michigan alkali works, in the party. The Detroit police department and Sheriff Gaston's force are looking for a trace of the kidnappers and the girl.

Revolvers and Knife Used.

Vomiera and the Gotsora brothers worked in the same department of the Sheriff John Savitt, who lives at Ecorse, and have had much trouble with them lately. Vomiera says they have made threats against him. Late on Tuesday night, he says, someone attempted to enter his house, but was driven off.

Last night about 8 o'clock a big taxicab, or inclosed automobile, drove up near the house. Vomiera says there were at least a dozen Italians in it. They rushed into the house, and one of them seized way.

the girl, who was inside the door. Vomiera jumped for a revolver, and struggled with the ruffians, but they got the girl to the automobile.

Vomiera was afraid to shoot into the crowd because of his daughter, but fired into the air. He was answered by several shots. In the struggle before the men got away, one of them struck Vomiera with a knife. He warded off the blow, and received a cut in the hand.

Volleys Exchanged.

Marshall Oliver San Souci, of Ford, was at once notified, and tried to intercept the party as it sped toward Detroit. He fired several times, and several shots were fired in return. No one seemed to be hit. The automobile was seen going through Ecorse, headed for this city, but news of the affair had not been circulating in time to stop them.

S. D. Bouchard, proprietor of the Riverview Hotel at Ford, notified Deputy Sheriff John Savitt, who lives at Ecorse, and he made an attempt to capture the men, but they had got by. He telephoned to Sheriff Gaston, and Chief Deputy Sheriff Ed Stein, with Deputy Sheriffs John Copersmith and William Martz, went in search of the party. The police department sent motorcycle patrolmen to the River Road bridge to stop anyone who should attempt to come to the city that night.

LONDON WON THE ADMIRATION OF MANY AMERICAN VISITORS

U. S. Railway Detectives and Officials Extoll the Many Advantages of the City and Extend Thanks to Those With Whom They Came in Contact.

During the past week a large number of Americans—detectives, railway officials and others—were in London in connection with the famous brass cases in which many United States lines claimed that goods stolen from them had been sold to a local firm. The men appear to have had a very satisfactory opinion of the city and its people, as the following letter shows:

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the representatives of the legal, mechanical and police departments of the various railways of the eastern portion of the United States, who have had occasion to be present in your city at various times during the past year or more, pertaining to duties respecting the prosecution of the brass case question, with which you are quite familiar, we wish to extend to the custom office, and the department of police, our sincere thanks for the cheerful assistance and courtesies during our visit to your city. To the Traction and city street railway companies for their generous hospitality, for their courtesies in facilitating our vision of your beautiful city, and the beautiful country, homes, parks and institutions in the immediate vicinity of the new Thames. The generous hospitality of the management of the Tecomseh House also is to be commended for excellent service and cheer.

We all depart from your city with the keenest goodwill in our hearts prevailing toward all, hoping that each of us may take home to the States lessons we have learned through careful observations; for example, the municipal regulation of evils that have little regard for a brood's crown; any nation or municipality practicing its comprehensive clear meaning, with success and charms. Even us—cold-blooded railroad men who are employed by great corporations and have little regard for the blood—can observe the far-sightedness of the lawmakers of the Dominion. All this reflects back to the individuals. Yours sincerely,

ETHAN I. DODDS, Asst. Supt. E. R. R. London, June 15.

LONDON RAILWAYMAN IN CHESLEY ACCIDENT

Conductor Totten Injured in a Smashup Last Night.

Conductor Totten, a well-known G. T. R. man, had his nose broken and suffered severe cuts about the head in an accident to his train near Chesley last night.

Twenty stitches were required to close the wounds, but no serious results are anticipated. Totten was in the caboose on his train when it was suddenly derailed. He was in the cupola, and the shock threw him to the floor and overturned the stove.

Totten was in this city on Monday with a special train for the camp.

BACK TO TORONTO.

Toronto, June 15.—M. B. McCausland has been appointed business manager of the British and Colonial Press Service, Limited, of this city. Mr. McCausland is a native of Toronto, and an honor graduate of Trinity University, though for the past few years he has lived in the west, being the proprietor of a newspaper in Manitoba.

OFF FOR ANTARCTIC.

Cardiff, June 15.—The British Antarctic expedition, on the steamship Terra Nova, started from here today for the South Pole. Captain Scott, commander of the expedition, will board the ship when she arrives at New Zealand.

COL. GARTSHORE WILL ENTERTAIN OFFICERS

"At Home" Will Be Given Next Thursday Evening in South London.

The officers who are at camp and the officers of the London garrison will be the guests of Col. and Mrs. Gartshore at an "At Home" to be given at their residence in South London next Tuesday evening.

The men at camp today had a very busy time, and drilled steadily from 8:30 until 10:30, and then again from 11 until noon. The companies at the ranges have spent all their time in rifle practice, and the increased scores made yesterday are being fully maintained today, and general satisfaction is felt over the new rifles.

No serious cases of sickness have been reported. A couple of men are in the hospital with indigestion and ill of a minor character, but the general health of the camp is splendid.

The order regarding the sale of liquor in camp is being rigidly enforced, and so far there has not been the slightest attempt so far as has been reported to evade the law. Inspector Galpin is out of the city at the present time, and will not make his inspection of camp until next week.

Officers express great surprise over reports that they are receiving from Niagara camp, where it is said everything is wide open. In this city just the opposite condition prevails, and the lie is on tight.

Y. W. C. A. IN THRIVING CONDITION IN LONDON

Mrs. A. T. Edwards Was Re-elected President at a Meeting Held Yesterday

At the monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. A. board of directors, held yesterday afternoon, officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. A. T. Edwards (re-elected); Mrs. F. L. Burdon, secretary.

According to the reports presented, the association is in a thriving condition financially, and is steadily moving forward in its various departments. The capacity at the residence has been insufficient to meet the demand, and this department and the lunch-room are now self-supporting. The receipts for the year total over $8,000.

The ladies of the Y. W. C. A. purpose holding a "London Trade and London Made" exhibition on the 23rd and 25th of this month. The exhibition will open at 3:30, with a musical programme, followed by a sample sale. Sample booths, tea rooms, cream rooms and flower booths will be features of the exhibition.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were: Mesdames A. T. Edwards, Burdon, Becher, Ellis, Cowley, Jarvis, and Misses McBride and Moore.

THIRTY-TWO DEAD IN HERALD CRASH

Architect Who Altered Building Cannot Account for Accident

Montreal, June 15.—Eight more bodies were taken from the Herald building ruins today, making a total of 18, of whom 10 so far have been identified, two remaining with nothing left by which even a guess at their identity could be had.

It has now been definitely ascertained that 32 people were killed in the disaster, all the missing having been either traced or found to be amongst the dead.

At the inquest today Architect Archibald says he had prepared the plans for the alteration of the building when the Herald went in. This included the strengthening of the structure to carry the tank which on Monday plunged through to the cellar. He considered that something in the building must have given way to precipitate the tank through the roof, but he could not give any definite idea as to the exact cause.

Archibald was greatly affected when giving his testimony. The inquest was adjourned.

KING VS. INGLIS.

Ottawa, June 15.—Hearing of the case of the King vs. Inglis et al., was begun in the exchequer court before Mr. Justice Cassels this morning. It concerns the expropriation of Sussex street properties by the Government in Ottawa for the erection of the new departmental block. The peculiar thing about the case is the difference between the amount offered and the price sought to be obtained for the property in question. The crown offers $37,000 for the land taken and for all damages arising from such expropriation. The defendants claim $80,000. It is likely that the case will engage the attention of the court for some days.

FEED CHILDREN

On Properly Selected Food, It Pays Big Dividends.

If parents will give just a little intelligent thought to the feeding of their children the difference in the health of the little folks will pay, many times over, for the small trouble.

A mother writes, saying: "Our children are all so much better and stronger than they ever were before we made a change in the character of the food. We have quit using potatoes three times a day with coffee and so much meat."

"Now we give the little folks some fruit, either fresh, stewed, or canned, some Grape-Nuts with cream, occasionally some soft-boiled eggs, and some Postum for breakfast and supper. Then for dinner they have some meat and vegetables."

"It would be hard to realize the change in the children, they have grown so sturdy and strong, and we attribute this change to the food elements that I understand, exist in Grape-Nuts and Postum."

"A short time ago my baby was fretful and had a great deal of stomach and bowel trouble. Nothing seemed to agree with him until I tried Grape-Nuts softened and mixed with rich milk, and he improved rapidly and got sturdy and well."

"Read 'The Road to Wellville,' found in 'Nicks.' There's a Reason."

"I ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

WESTERN GRAIN CROP TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Crop Report of C. P. R. Is Most Optimistic in Anticipating the Coming Harvest.

Winnipeg, June 15.—The C. P. R. has issued a crop report covering its widely extended system in the west, which shows, generally speaking, weather favorable and growth rapid. Of 29 sections reporting, only four sound a note of alarm. In Lethbridge section the crops are said to need rain urgently, and on the Langton branch they are suffering on account of dry weather. Calgary also reports rain needed, and the same cry comes from Souris and Medicine Hat.

All the other sections report enthusiastically in regard to favorable weather and rapid growth. From five to ten hours' rain has been the general rule. In Southern Saskatchewan, Yorkton district, Edmonton section and Moosejaw section, abundance of rain is reported, with consequent gratifying growth. Taken all round, the conditions reported on the C. P. R. system are of a very encouraging nature.

The general report for the week ending June 11 gives evidence that prospects generally are regarded as better than ever before for a record-breaking crop. The warm weather of the last week, which succeeded in tantamount spells of frost and snow, was exceedingly beneficial all round. With the exception of flax, all the seeding is completed, and the growth of crops is very favorable.

Along the main line reports in most cases are encouraging, but some points, for instance Dana, Sask., and Innisfail, Alta., report rain urgently needed. The company's agents in Manitoba report without exception weather favorable and growth rapid.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Catholics and the Bible.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your issue of Monday, June 13, you publish a statement made in Talbot Street Baptist Church by A. E. White, of Montreal, "That in Montreal and throughout Quebec, the people are not allowed to read the Bible, and that the priests burn all they find in the homes." As you, Mr. Editor, have given to the public this statement of the above-named reverend minister of God, an ambassador of our faith, I would like to ask you to publish the name of the Catholic priest, or priests, the name or names of the church or churches the priest or priests serve; the name or names of the parishes; the county or counties, and the name or names of the bishop or bishops in whose dioceses the Bibles have been burned, and will Rev. Mr. White please state whether he can prove beyond cavil or doubt the truth of his words? And will he kindly publish the names of those who saw the priest or priests burn the Bibles? Were the Bibles any of those translations authorized by any Roman Catholic bishop or bishops? Or were they versions which so many people have given to the world according to their own whims and fancies?

Last Sunday week, a Rev. Mr. Graham, in the same church, said: "I don't like separate schools; they don't educate in Quebec—they teach religion." Can there be anything more grand or truly necessary than religious instruction? At a convention last week in this city, the Rev. Mr. Norton, of St. Thomas, said: "The Roman Catholics are the only ones who teach religion in their school." In the Synod of Huron, held in St. Paul's Cathedral last week, a member thereof made a similar statement: "The Roman Catholics, to my knowledge, for the past 38 years, have been blamed for teaching religion in the schools." Does not teaching religion mean teaching the Bible?

A delegate in the Synod of Huron last week said: "It was through the Roman Catholics that the Bible was not read in the public schools." Another said: "It was through the Non-Conformists. Another wanted to know who the Non-Conformists were. Well, that man had better go away back to the old schoolhouse and learn a little English or Scotch history."

If my memory serves me correctly, it was Bishop Williams who said in his first address to the synod, that it was the Methodists, Baptists, and Presbyterians who through their jealousy of the Bible caused religion and the Bible to be kept out of the common schools. How these preachers do contradict each other! How is it they blow hot and cold? How is it they are nearly one and all tearing up the Bible and pelting each other with the scraps? Is there any part of the Bible left that has not been denied? Talk about unity, why their only bond of unity is to hate the Pope and the members of the Catholic Church; to slander, calumniate, misrepresent and bear false witness against the church and her children.

Do these preachers believe that the Catholics were left out when God said: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor?" Did Jesus, true God and true man, leave out the Catholics when he said: "Love thy neighbor as thyself?" Did the divine Son of the Immaculate virgin leave out the Catholics when he said: "A new commandment do I give unto you, that ye love one another? Did the eternal Son of the eternal Father leave the Catholics out when he said: 'By this shall it be known that ye are disciples, that ye love one another?' The scriptures ask 'How shall a man say that he loves God, whom he hath not seen, if he hate his brother, whom he hath seen?'"

I could give some more texts, but enough is as good as a feast. Hate for us Catholics, from the Pope down, they most certainly prove by their words—yes, and some by their acts. Well, the sin is theirs; they must answer to the Great Judge. They hurt our feelings, but, ah, they hurt their own souls and the souls of those who follow after them. I would advise every non-Catholic to purchase a five-cent catechism, read it, and compare it with the texts of the Holy Scriptures. Prove all things and hold fast to those that are good."

Again, asking you to give space to this, I am a constant reader of your excellent paper, a common laborer, and a Catholic, thank God.

THOMAS J. M. DOUGHERTY.

London, June 14, 1910.

London's Daily Eagle.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I noticed in Monday's issue of The Advertiser Dr. Ferguson's letter, re-

Had Heart Trouble.

Nerves Were All Unstrung.

Wherever there is any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a healthy, strong system.

Can Do Her Own Work Now. Mrs. M. McGann, Debec Junction, N.B., writes:—I wish to tell you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. Three years ago I was so run down I could not do my own work. I went to a doctor, and he told me I had heart trouble and that my nerves were all unstrung. I took his medicine, as he ordered me to do, but it did me no good. I then started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and had only taken one box before I started to feel better, so I continued their use until I had taken several boxes, and I am now strong and well, and able to do my own work. When I commenced taking your pills I weighed 125 pounds, and now weigh 185 and have given birth to a lovely young daughter, which was a happy thing in the family. When I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I could not go upstairs without resting before I got to the top. I can now go up without any trouble."

the streets of London South. He draws it out.

There is no pathmaster probably in the county of Middlesex that would attempt to fix or repair a road in the shilly-shally way it is being done in London South.

Stanley street is receiving, or has received, a coat of gravel lately which is a disgrace to the city authorities who are responsible for the work. Stones as large as a man's fists make the bulk of the coating. No matter how it is rolled down the first heavy load that passes over the street brings them to the surface. The sides of the street are higher than the street car tracks, and still they are putting on more. Many streets are in the same condition. On Orchard street, although built on for over 30 years, the street has never been graded, and a large gully runs ten feet onto the roadway. Many streets could be named in like condition. Who is responsible? There is no one to blame in that part of the city. What are the Municipal League members of the council doing? They promised to put everything in proper shape. If the mayor and a few of the city fathers would take a trip to Tillsonburg, Ont., and see the main street of that town they would get a wholesome lesson in street building. They have not trespassed to much on your valuable space, and thinking Dr. Ferguson's letter was timely, I remain, yours respectfully, RATEPAYER.

Chatham, June 14.

III-Gravelled Streets.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Two points made by Dr. Ferguson, in his complaint of the discreditable condition of our streets, are well taken, viz., the presence of holes and ruts, and the size of the stones left on the streets. At this moment I examined a stone left on the road in the front of my house, and it measures 5 by 8 inches. Now, there is no excuse on the ground of economy, or any other ground, for having the roads littered with large cobblestones. These stones never will pack. They are a menace to horses, vehicles, and autos. All stones larger than a baseball should either be broken or raked off the streets.

The holes and ruts, instead of being left to deepen with every rain, and become a receptacle for mud and filth, should be filled with good gravel, not bricks or boulders.

There is no excuse why these two defects should not be remedied. Here is a pointer for road foremen. Rake off, or better, break stones that are not gravel, and you will make the streets vastly more safe and passable, and at the same time you will actually be reducing the cost of street maintenance. What the streets are in their present disgraceful condition, with stones, holes, and ruts, the street department is justly chargeable with inexcusable mismanagement and incompetence. Yours truly, RATEPAYER AND DRIVER.

HALIFAX URGES CHANGE IN OATH

Says It is Time Offensive Clauses Be Removed.

London, June 16.—Speaking here before the Young Men's Union, Lord Halifax, a member of the Established Church, came out in favor of the abolition of the clauses in the accession oath which are offensive to the Roman Catholics.

"There may be an outcry in some quarters if the Government carry out its intention of bringing in a bill abolishing the declaration," he said, "but it will be an outcry of no sort of importance. The only danger that can possibly arise will be if the Government attempts to tinker with the declaration or to substitute another in its place. The only wise and reasonable course, as it is far the easiest, is to introduce a bill of one clause abolishing the declaration altogether."

The declaration is an old and effecting thing, the meaning of which very few people have any idea of, for the simple reason they have never given it a thought.

Father Bernard Vaughan, in a letter to the press, expresses the belief that the mind of the country has at last begun to consider the anti-Catholic clauses of the royal declaration in the light of common sense.

"History," he writes, "shows them to have sprung from the panic and religious rancor excited in England by the arch-perjurer, Titus Oates. Reason condemns them as wholly ineffective for their purposes, and therefore needlessly and gratuitously insulting alike to the monarch and his loyal Catholic subjects."

"The declaration, as it stands, is a painful reflection upon the intelligence of a civilized and enlightened community. If under the excitement of panic some excuse may have been found for it, none at all can be made for it now. The main point now is not whether the obnoxious clauses safeguard the Protestant succession or not, but whether the charge they convey is true. It is that which really matters. Are Catholics idolaters? If we are, then we must be content to be called so; if not, there is nothing to justify the cruel epithet."

"Within a couple of days I received great relief, and after taking one box I was completely cured, and now would not be without them. I can highly recommend them to anyone who suffers from any form of Kidney Trouble."

MRS. A. SIMPSON.

SUFFERED 15 YEARS CURED IN ONE MONTH

GIN PILLS ARE WONDERFUL

If every woman who has Kidney or Bladder Trouble could go to Davisville, Ont., and talk with Mrs. A. Simpson, they would do just as she did—take GIN PILLS and cure themselves.

Mrs. Simpson grows enthusiastic over GIN PILLS. Quite naturally, for she would be dragging out a miserable existence, instead of being the picture of health, had she not taken these pills.

"For fourteen or fifteen years I had Kidney and Bladder Trouble, suffering at times intense pain. I doctored continually, and received sometimes temporary relief, but nothing gave me permanent relief until I was persuaded to try GIN PILLS."

"Within a couple of days I received great relief, and after taking one box I was completely cured, and now would not be without them. I can highly recommend them to anyone who suffers from any form of Kidney Trouble."

BILLIE BURKE SAILS.

New York, June 16.—Daniel Frohman, the manager, and a whole lot of others were down at the White Star pier yesterday to bid good-bye to Billie Burke, who sailed with her mother on the Oceanic to spend the summer at Penzance, on the Cornwall coast.

The little actress looked exceptionally dainty in a white flannel suit with big pearl buttons on it, and mushroom hat and a corsage bouquet of orchids as big as nine bunches of soup herbs. She said she would return in September to play in her success of the season, "Mrs. Dot," in the west.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JUNE 16.

MR. BORDEN AT SEA.

Mr. Borden talked around the naval question yesterday, but declined to come to the main point. Why did he, in October, advocate the policy of the immediate construction of a Canadian navy, and in January oppose it? Why did he, in October, oppose the policy of a money contribution to Great Britain and, in January, advocate it?

Mr. Borden's inconsistency was so glaring that he has been obliged to venture an explanation. In his speech yesterday he pleaded that a money contribution was made imperative by an "imminent emergency." This excuse is worse than none at all. It is utterly demolished by the facts. The German panic was at its height when, in March, 1909, Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster supported the resolution for the establishment of a Canadian navy, which was unanimously adopted by the House of Commons. The panic had subsided when, nearly a year later, they repudiated themselves. In the meantime the overwhelming superiority of the British navy had been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the British nation. The panic-mongers had been put to rout. The German bogey had disappeared. But in the meantime also a clique in this country, led by Messrs. Roblin and Rogers, imagined that some party capital could be made out of the issue, which Mr. Borden had pledged himself to place above party strife. It was to these evil influences that Mr. Borden yielded. This was "the imminent emergency" which changed his mind.

What do we see today? Mr. Borden denouncing the Government for establishing a naval service "without consulting the country." His leading Ontario newspaper supporter, the Toronto News, denouncing the Government because it is not spending more money upon the Canadian navy. His Quebec supporters denouncing the Government for spending any money at all upon imperial defence.

TROLLEY LINES.

The future progress of London will be very intimately related to the number of trolley lines running into the city.

Looking back over the history of London, it would be fair to conclude that the city never made a better investment than when it granted a bonus of $100,000 to the London, Huron and Bruce Railway. That railway has been a faithful and "feeder" of the city; it brings here many thousands of people and a large volume of business every year. The London and Port Stanley Railway also has been regarded as a means of making London practically a lake port, and as a check on freight rates against the other railways. It has served a necessary and useful purpose.

The only trolley line running into the city is the London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company. This line rivals, if it does not excel, the London, Huron and Bruce in carrying passengers into London. It carries many times the number ever brought to the city by the London and Port Stanley Railway. This is largely due to the fact that it traverses a thickly-settled district over which, until the Port Stanley Railway was opened, the stage coach ran. The benefits of the electric road have not been confined to London. Lambeth has taken on new life; a considerable number of houses have been erected there. All along the line improvement and a disposition to brush up are apparent. The boat connections with Cleveland, Chicago and Montreal will extend the usefulness of this railway to Londoners. It has demonstrated the value of such lines to the city.

An effort is being made to secure other radial lines as well. Three opportunities are open. Mr. Welch's line from Stratford to London; Mr. Stewart's line from Sarnia to London, and the connection between the Grand Valley at Ingersoll and the London and Lake Erie, are all meritorious projects. It is for the mayor and aldermen and the board of trade to work out these problems. The benefit derived from the Southwestern Traction, now the London and Lake Erie, is the best possible proof of the advantages these other lines would also bring. London should not be allowed to rest on past achievements. Electric roads are roads to progress. Those referred to, with others that will develop, would keep London in line with Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa, the growing cities of Ontario. They would bring thousands to London every week who will not come and do not come by the ordinary steam railways.

WHERE KITCHENER IS NEEDED.

Lord Kitchener's refusal of the Malta command because he regards it as a sinecure, is characteristic of the man. There is plenty of work for him at home, but will he be allowed to do it? He is not a favorite in the upper circles of the army. He has only contempt for the drawing-room, fox-hunting, and eye-glass features of army life; he believes that soldiering is a business, not a berth. His working creed was summed up in a speech in Australia when he pleaded for "a career open to talent." "No social considerations, no influence, nothing but efficiency should be allowed to affect selection and promotion."

An officer's career should depend solely on his ability to do his duty. His pay must be sufficient not only to keep him while serving but to insure him a competence when retired. The Manchester Guardian comments on this as follows:

"We do not depreciate the value of the reforms that have been accomplished under Liberal Governments; and we doubt not that the machinery of its organization has been much improved. But they have not affected the inner spirit of the army. It is still, for better or worse, a great social institution rather than a professional public service; it still expects from its officers, or from most of them, a double qualification, wealth as well as interest in their work, and it makes the first necessary, the second more or less optional. In other words, the hopes of the reformers who abolished purchase in the army are still unrealized. This is the great work that awaits Liberal army reformers. Their trouble has always been to find officers with genuine sympathy with their ideal, and sufficient strength of will and independence to help to carry it into practice. Lord Kitchener has the sympathy; he has a strong will; he is independent of social influences; and he has a great military reputation. Having waited all these years for such a man, to send him to Egypt or to India would be to expose ourselves to the suspicion of insincerity, and to waste an opportunity such as we may not have again."

Will the Government have the courage to give Kitchener a home command? All the influence of "society," which looks upon the army as its preserve, will be thrown against him; and Vanity Fair has a powerful pull, even with a Liberal Government.

A DIMINISHING PAPER SUPPLY.

According to the report of the United States commissioner of corporations, just issued, only 18,000 tons of newspaper paper are on hand in the mills of that country. The normal consumption of print paper per day amounts to about 4,000 tons, and the daily capacity of United States mills is about 4,125 tons. That would make the actual material on hand between four and five days' supply.

Commenting on the report, the Buffalo Times says the figures presented will be a revelation to thousands of people who have had no notion of the narrow margin on which under existing conditions the newspaper and general publication business of the United States must depend for its paper supply. By a strike in the paper mills the publishing business of the country may be tied up; yet in the face of this situation the high tariff Republicans of Congress do nothing to remove the barrier which prevents Canada going to the relief of her neighbor with her wood pulp products.

The Times maintains that the stern logic of economic conditions enforces on the people of the United States the necessity of free interchange of products with Canada. The folly of this prohibitive tariff restriction on the importation of Canadian paper and wood pulp has long ago been demonstrated, but its danger was never before more convincingly shown than by the situation which at present prevails in the United States print paper business.

London ought to be past the mud road period.

Hon. Frank Oliver intends to keep cool this summer. He is going to the Arctic circle in a canoe.

It isn't what Germany is doing that has influenced Mr. Borden on the naval question. His policy has been made in Winnipeg.

The Montreal Herald, which is being published from the Gazette office, explains that it installed a water tower because of the low water pressure. Firms in this city have done the same thing for the same reason. The lesson is obvious.

A local high tariff contemporary complains that the Government is collecting too much in customs duties. Does our contemporary suggest that the duties be lowered? The result would be more revenue. Isn't our contemporary somewhat muddled in its logic?

The mayor of San Francisco says the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be fought "in his town," governors, attorney-generals, and "all the rest of them" to the contrary notwithstanding. He was a candidate of the grafters and the lawless element, and the people chose him as such. The city is not being misrepresented.

Bishop Mills, of Kingston unsparringly denounces the evils of landlordism in Great Britain. He flays the members of the House of Lords who are opposing legislative remedies. His words are as strong as any used by the most fiery British Radical. Yet in the same speech he stigmatizes as "adventurers" the men who are in full cry against these abuses. The good bishop is inconsistent. His heart is in the right place, but evidently he doesn't like the British Government's party label.

HIS DESCRIPTION.

[Youth's Companion.]
Charles, two and a half years old, has, naturally, a limited vocabulary, but he usually manages to express himself and his emotions very clearly.

The other night a skunk was wandering near the house, and Charles learned for the first time what the awful presence meant, for bolt upright in bed he sat and gasped out, "Oh, mamma! Did you smell that awful noise?"

ORGANIST'S LIBEL SUIT AGAINST VICAR.

[London (England) Daily News.]
At the Wilshire assizes yesterday, before Mr. Justice Ridley and a common jury, Charles Hammett, a blind musician, brought a slander action against the Rev. Canon Plumtree, rector of Toronto, Canada. In the spring of last year Canon Plumtree was the vicar of Redlynch, near Salisbury, and Hammett was the organist at his church.

It was alleged that the vicar went to Mrs. Hammett and declared that her husband had been leading a double life, that he did something worse than drunkenness, and worse than adultery. To a sidesman of the church it was alleged that the vicar said that the organist, who was a young man of the church to be associated with a man like Hammett.

The defendant, whose evidence had been taken on commission in Canada, denied using certain of the words complained of, and stated that if he accused Hammett of leading a double life he had in his mind his hypocrisy towards the vicar, and not anything connected with crime.

The jury gave a verdict for plaintiff with £10 damages, and judgment was entered accordingly, but a stay of execution was granted.

PAINSTAKING.

"They say that Stevenson frequently worked a whole afternoon on a single line."

"That's nothing. I know a man who has been working the last six years on one sentence."

WELL ISOLATED.

Mother—Lor' bless you, sir, yes. He keeps behind that clothes-horse, and he don't come among us at all except for meals.

PESTERING LORD KITCHENER.

[London Daily News.]
Lord Kitchener has, I am informed, since his return to this country from his world-wide tour, been simply pestered for his autograph, and applications have also been received in large numbers by the distinguished field marshal for personal relics. These requests have come from persons in every class of society, many of whom, it might have been supposed, would have known better. As a consequence Lord Kitchener has now set his face resolutely against all such applications, and he has even abandoned the practice which he once adopted of only conceding such favors to the deserving, where such autographs were intended to be sold for the benefit of well-established and approved institutions.

This system of giving autographs is merely to the persistent begging-letter writer, but personal requests have been known to have been made to Lord Kitchener in quarters where it would have been thought that the very official atmosphere would have rendered him proof against any such snobishness. As it is, Lord Kitchener has had to take the matter into his own hands, and on more than one occasion has been heard to administer a well-merited rebuke to his torturers.

A SLIDING SCALE.

[Chicago News.]

WARNING!

[Toronto News.]
Dear Lady, do not tell anyone that the comet is not nearly as bright as the one you saw when you were a girl. That one appeared in 1585.

GLASGOW GETTING SOBER.

[London Daily Mail.]
The Glasgow chief constable, in a report issued, comments upon the remarkable increase of sobriety in the city. The apprehensions for drunkenness totalled 14,167, a decrease of considerably over 4,000. While lack of money has no doubt contributed to increased sobriety, the chief constable states that the growth of temperance has been a great factor. A great deal of money has been spent on amusements which was just as available for drinking on the Continent. Compared with two years ago, the apprehensions for drunkenness showed a decrease of nearly 7,000.

NAUTICAL PHRASEOLOGY.

A young lady from the Midlands was visiting Liverpool, and induced a seafaring friend to show her over one of the large liners.

As they were making the tour the steerage people were eating their dinner, and the guide drew attention to the enormous appetite of a red-headed man. He said:

"Look at the quantity of food that fellow is consuming."

"I suppose," said the young lady, innocently, "that he is what you sailors call a stowaway?"

SHE EXPLAINS.

Husband—Say, Lotie, what have you been copying Blanken's catalogue for. Wife—I haven't been copying Blanken's catalogue at all. That's just my shopping list.

NOT SURE.

[Boston Transcript.]
"Honestly, now, hasn't your wife ever called you a brute?"
"I'm not sure."

"Not sure? What do you mean by that?"
"Is an ass a brute or a beast?"

ALWAYS WAITING.

[Melbourne Weekly.]
In the beginning the woman sits down and waits for a husband; in the end she sits up and waits for him.

THE IDEAL MONORAIL TRAIN.

[Manchester Guardian.]
A correspondent who has been talking with Mr. Brennan, one of whose monorail cars is running in the grounds of the Franco-British Exhibition, told me that in Mr. Brennan's view the monorail is not only well adapted for opening up new and thinly-populated countries, but is also to have a great future on transcontinental routes. For the monorail, with its power of taking sharp curves at top speed, and its consequent ability to follow the natural contours of a countryside, demands no expenditure on tunnelling and embanking, so that the width and height of the carriages can be indefinitely increased. Mr. Brennan is ready to design a train 25 feet in width and of a corresponding height. It would contain dining-rooms, a concert-room and a promenade-room. Some of the carriages would be two stories, while the public rooms would run to the full pitch of the height. Because of the absence of oscillation there might even be a billiard-room. A train such as this would lighten even a trans-Siberian journey, and give passengers better amusements than just running up and down platforms with the guard when the train stops.

NO TROUBLE AHEAD ON CANADIAN PACIFIC

Mr. Leonard Says That Both Sides Will Abide by the Award.

Toronto, June 16.—"I can see no trouble on the horizon anywhere," said Mr. J. W. Leonard, general manager of the eastern lines of the C. P. R., while speaking of the negotiations now in progress between the trainmen and the C. P. R. and G. T. R. in regard to an increase in wages.

"I have not heard what the award will be," replied Mr. Leonard, "but whatever it is, whether favorable to our company or to the men, both sides will agree to it."

The board of conciliation sitting on the case, composing Messrs. E. Atkinson, J. G. O'Donohue and Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., held two sessions today. As their work is not yet concluded they will continue it tomorrow, when it is hoped a conclusion will be reached.

PRIEST'S BRAVE ACT

Montreal Eye Witness of the Herald Holocaust Tells of Sights.

Toronto, June 16.—Mr. A. E. Stevenson, of the editorial staff of the Montreal Star and a witness of the Herald fire, arrived in the city today.

The first person I noticed particularly when I arrived on the scene," said he, "was Mr. J. C. Walsh, managing editor of the Herald. He was in his shirt sleeves, running around yelling, 'Where is the staff? Where is the staff?'"

"I witnessed one of the most pathetic scenes and one of the bravest acts that day that I ever saw in my life. One of the typewriter men, Antoine Bulduc, who fell through the building with the rest, was pinned on his back under a machine. Lying in this position, he was able to see the fire slowly creeping towards him. The sight seemed to send him raving mad, and he began to scream at the top of his voice. At one o'clock the rescuers were within a few feet of him, and Rev. Father Martin, chaplain of the fire brigade, put on a rubber coat and boots and crawled fearlessly under the piled up beams until he reached the man. He was able to get him to sit up and recite prayers to comfort the injured printer. He soon became quieter and later was carried, much bruised, to the hospital."

"Miss Heulbeck, society eddress, had a narrow escape from a falling beam, which just brushed the back of her head in its descent. The escape of Miss Heulbeck, a limotype operator, was simply miraculous. He fell the whole distance, but beyond a few scratches, was entirely unhurt, and was able to crawl out to the street."

"Inspector McMahon of the Montreal police, was distracted by the screams of the sufferers and at last called upon the crowd to organize a rescue party, but they were able to do very little. 'The sight of the fire was a terrifying spectacle. The gas, flowing from the burst pipes, became ignited and for more than an hour blazed a blue-green flame above the tottering building.'"

TRUE TO CANADA

H. B. Duncan-Clark Proclaims It on His Extensive Visiting Card.

New York, June 16.—H. B. Duncan-Clark, a Canadian who is at the St. Regis, is determined that in his travels nobody shall take him for an annexationist, says the New York Sun. If you ask Mr. Duncan-Clark for his opinion on the subject he may hand you his visiting card, and the latter in size and contents has the Chinese article beaten several ways.

The card is about 3 by 5 inches, and is a beautiful typography, being printed in old English type, mainly very black, but with all the "Ts," which are plentiful, and the other capitals, in red. Each sentence is enclosed in a paragraph mark, and the effect of the whole is that of the Ten Commandments cards that they used to give out in the Sunday schools years ago.

Thus reads the card: "I will be true to my Friends, regardless of their Creed or Country. 'I will be Loyal to the Community in which I live, whether at Home or Abroad.'"

"I will admire all Nations for the Good that is in them; 'But Renounce my Nationality as a Canadian I will not under any Circumstances nor for any Consideration.'"
"H. B. Duncan-Clark."

NOT POLITICS SAYS GILLE

Reason For Stopping Jeffries-Johnson Bout is Its Illegality.

San Francisco, June 16.—Reports from Ben Lomond say that Jim Jeffries is still incredulous over the news that the governor has forbidden Jack Johnson likewise finds it difficult to credit the information. Both, however, reluctantly declare that if they can't fight in California, they will leave it to the promoters to pick a location for the contest, as is stipulated in the articles of agreement. Both are actively continuing their training.

By swiftly striking the Jeffries-Johnson fight from San Francisco to some other point, the promoters assert they stand to lose a large sum. It is estimated that the gate receipts, if the fight is held here, will be in the neighborhood of half a million dollars. That sum will be very materially reduced if it becomes necessary to change the scene.

Governor Gillett denied that political considerations prompted his action in the fight matter. He declared also that his action was not influenced by the telegram to President Wheeler, of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, from Representative Eganett, of New York, saying that the fight would interfere with the chances of securing congressional aid for the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

The only reason he would advance was his declaration that the fight was not contemplated by the laws of the state, and that he considered it his official duty to stop it.

LAYING WAGERS ON COMO MURDER CASE

Tourists Betting as to Identity of Actress Charlton's Murderer.

Como, Italy, June 16.—Professional divers began today operations in Lake Como, in the hope that if these waters conceal the body of Porter Charlton, it will be recovered.

The arrival of the under-water workers today from Genoa caused much excitement among the peasants of the neighborhood, who appear to be absorbed in the mystery. The interest in the case locally is not confined to these residents by any means and summer visitors throughout this section have been attracted to the scene of the tragedy. They gathered on the lake shore in force today, hoping to witness a settlement of the much-disputed point whether Charlton fled after his wife had been killed or was himself a victim of the assassin.

The colony of visitors is sharply divided into two parties, representing the two theories. Today many of the partisans went so far as to lay wagers on the issue.

It is not certain that the divers will be successful in settling the question, because of the depth of the lake. In spots the bottom lies about a thousand feet below the surface of the water. The divers, it appears, cannot operate effectively at a depth of more than 45 feet. At the same time, to have been sunken to a great depth, the body must have been attached to a tremendous weight.

The belief is strong among many that Charlton is now on board a steamer bound for New York. This possibility is recognized by the police, who believe that they have closed every avenue of escape.

KAISER'S KNEE BAD

But Has Nothing to Do With Recent Abscess on Wrist.

Potsdam, June 16.—Emperor William, who was recently inconvenienced by an abscess on the right wrist, is now troubled with an abrasion on the inside of the right knee. It was produced by horseback riding and caused his majesty to abandon his purpose of witnessing today's military manoeuvres at Doberitz. He has also cancelled an engagement for tomorrow at Hanover, and he will not witness, as planned, the yacht race at Harburg Saturday.

The Emperor's physicians state that the general condition of his majesty was most satisfactory. The Emperor's saddle horses have been trained to guidance through pressure from the rider's knees. Recently his majesty has taken long rides, and the skin having rubbed off in a spot on the inside of the right knee, a blister resulted.

This afternoon an official bulletin was issued, cautioning the public against the impression that the inflammation was in any way connected with the recent abscess on the wrist, which is now healed. The bulletin adds that his majesty has not experienced any rise of temperature.

Following the manoeuvres at Doberitz today, the Emperor received the generals who had participated.

CANT FIND CONDUCT

Austrian Accused of Murder at Niagara Is Still at Large.

Niagara Falls, June 15.—Chief Inspector Mains states he has no idea whatever regarding the whereabouts of Eli Conduck, the Austrian, who brutally murdered the Hungarian, Kovitch, in a shack belonging to A. Montrose, Monday evening.

The country is being scourged for the murderer. A good description of him has been procured, and the police of every place have been notified in hopes of apprehending him. The man was employed at the railroad coal dumps for some time.

BIG EARTHQUAKE AT DISTANT PO

Washington June 16.—An earthquake of considerable intensity and duration occurred this morning at a distance of approximately 4,000 miles from Washington, according to the seismological observatory at Georgetown University. The shocks began at 1:45 a.m., and continued for two hours and twenty-three minutes, ceasing at 4:11 a.m.

Water Pan Is Correctly Placed In

The Sunshine

Few people realize the importance of the water-pan. Yet, without the moisture evaporated from the water in the pan, the warm air passing through the registers is harsh and dry. It is hard on your lungs and on your furnishings.

Now, the water-pan must be correctly placed to be of any real use. If it is placed near the bottom of the furnace (see lower illustration) the moisture has a long route (see arrows) to travel before it reaches the pipes leading to the rooms. It must pass alongside the fire-pot and radiator, and the terrific heat from these dries out nearly every particle of moisture ascending from the pan. Very little reaches the pipes or passes through registers.

Now, notice the location of the Sunshine water-pan. It is placed over the fuel door. The moisture takes the short, direct route to the pipes leading to the rooms. You can always have moisture-laden, healthful air passing through your registers, provided you keep the Sunshine water-pan filled with water.

If you value your health you'll have our local dealer install the Sunshine, with a guarantee to heat your house to your entire satisfaction.

With their morning skirts girls will wear this season striped muslin shirts finished at one side with a ruffle edged with the color of the skirt, and of the stripe of the muslin.

FASHIONS

The hat with the big, broad-spreading ribbon bow is quite popular. Black net, made up over silver grey satin, is a handsome combination for evening wear. Embroidery in the silver gives the right effect to the garment.

On many of the lingerie dresses English eyelet embroidery is used. It is combined with voile de cotton, much in demand now because it does not crumple easily. Lace perches in high bows on hats; it covers silk evening gowns; it forms beautiful wraps, either in separate glory or combined with gold tulle.

The rough homespun lines do not wrinkle so badly as the smooth ones. This is quite important to keep in mind when purchasing a linen for dress or suit.

Pretty inexpensive cuff and collar sets are made of striped linen with the stripes running round. The ground is white, the half-line stripes are of black or color, and there may be or may not be a narrow hem of the color.

Novelty ribbon braid is used for the fringe on many of the handsome parasols.

Scarlet cloth is used for extremely short jackets, belted in with patent leather.

RUSSIAN MODEL

FOR SMALL GIRL

This sketch shows a charming skirt and blouse frock of gray-blue linen for the little girl. The guimpe is made of yellow embroidery, and the blouse is fastened with a rosette of the blue linen. The short Mandarin sleeves are as much worn by little women as by their mothers.

Women have obtained the right to vote in Krain, a province of Austria. They will be allowed to cast their ballots in person and not by proxy. There is, however, one limitation imposed on them: A special time of the day has been allotted to them for the exercise of this right.

PLAYTIME STORIES

HARRY AND THE WIND.

When Harry's father came home to dinner the other day, he found the little fellow on the front steps with his head buried in his arms.

"What's the matter, old chap?" he called out cheerily. "Somebody been playing a mean trick on you?"

"Yes," sobbed Harry. "Well, I wouldn't sit down and cry about it," said father. "Stand up for your rights. Didn't I show you that new stroke in wrestling?"

"I can't wrestle with this fellow," answered Harry.

"Why not?" asked father. "Is he too big?"

"Because—because it's the wind." "What? the wind?" laughed father. "Well that is bad. And what did the wind do?"

"I had two papers of home work all done," explained Harry. "And when I was going to school this morning the wind blew them away and the teacher was going to keep me after school and make me do it over."

"Well, well, cheer up," said father. "I know how we can get the best of that old wind. Come with me." Harry dried his tears and went out to the workshop with father: and before they

The Hamburg steak for a family of five is made of two pounds of round passed through the meat chopper, seasoned well, and pressed together tightly. Into a thick steak, the hands having previously been dipped in cold water. This is cooked on a very hot pan with a number of pieces of kidney fat, turned and browned rapidly on the other side. For the garnishing, slice mild flavored onions an inch thick lay in weak salt water for three hours, rinse, dry, and drop in handfuls into deep boiling fat. Skim out as soon as brown and pile around the steak or at a platter. The pudding is a plain cake batter a little stiffer than usual, poured over rhubarb cut into short lengths, and slightly sweetened. Bake in the oven until the batter is done, then let remain on top of the stove to be sure the underneath is also well done. This should be made in a deep crock or bowl to prevent much of the juice being lost.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: I have been going with a good young man a short time and he has asked me to marry him in two years. Sometimes I think I want to marry him, and at other times I don't. What do you advise?

IN DOUBT.
A.—When "Mr. Right" asks you to marry him you will not be "In Doubt." Better wait awhile.

Dear Miss Grey: How can I clean and curl a white plume?

A READER.
A.—Make a paste of gasoline and cornstarch and wash the plume in it. Let dry. The gasoline will evaporate and the cornstarch will rub off, leaving the plume clean. Put in the sun to curl, or use the back of a silver knife—with care—as the fibres are tender. Be careful about fire.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) What would you suggest as a suitable wedding dress for one between thirty-five and forty years of age?

(2) The husband-to-be suggests a pale blue material, trimmed with white satin and braided and made princess. Is that appropriate? I am tall, have dark hair, black eyes and rather fair complexion. MRS. E. B. A.—Pale blue henrietta cloth or satin fould with white lace yoke and undersleeves would be pretty. Omit the satin and use the braid. Wear a white chip hat trimmed with blue flowers and white lace.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Can you give me a dandruff cure? (2) Why is King George of England called George V. when his father was Edward VII?

A.—(1) Try frequent shampoos, massage with finger tips and sun the hair often. If this does not relieve, consult a professional. (2) Because he is the fifth man of the name of George who has been King of England, while his father was the seventh one named Edward.

Dear Miss Grey: I am sixteen and the eldest girl in my family. Which would be the proper way to have my cards, Miss Alice White, or Miss White?

A.—The latter.

Dear Miss Grey: What can I do for a very brown neck?

ANXIOUS.
A.—The deposit of brown color in the skin is evidence of disturbance of intestinal digestion—especially chronic constipation. Get your digestion regular by simple diet, free water drinking, green vegetables and fresh fruits. Do not wear thick, tight collars. Exposure of the neck to the air and sunshine will help a great deal.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) I am invited to a reception where there will be a receiving line. What must I do and say on arriving. (2) What shall I do with my gloves when refreshments are served?

YOUTHFUL.
A.—Shake hands with the hostess and her assistants and chat pleasantly for a moment or so, then mingle with the guests. (2) If your gloves are long, simply remove the hand covering and roll under the long arms of the gloves. If your gloves are short remove them and keep them in your lap.

8705—A Practical Work Apron.

There is always a certain charm about a dainty white house apron. This one is easily made, and is very becoming and serviceable, as well. The princess front adds greatly to the dressy character of the garment, and the frills that form the trimming give the wide shoulder effect so essential to the present styles. It would also be suitable as a maid's apron. Cross-bar muslin, linen, gingham and percale are all suitable to the design. Sizes, small, medium and large, and requires 4½ yards of 35-inch material for the medium size.

THE MESSAGE

BY LOUIS TRACY.

Author of "The Wings of the Morning," "The Wheels of Fortune."

"Mrs. Laing," mused the under secretary. He unlocked a diary, and ran back through the pages, "I thought," remembered the name, he continued. "She was staying with the Baumgartners at Lochmure before they went to Hamburg in their yacht."

He was silent for a few seconds. His nails seemed to need instant examination. Apparently satisfied by the scrutiny, he went on:

"I rather liked that youngster. He struck me as the sort of man who would go far. Have you replied to Mrs. Laing?"

"Then please ask her to come here next Tuesday about three o'clock. Just quote her letter, and allow it to be assumed that her inquiry concerning Captain Arthur Warden may be answered. I hope you don't mind my stepping in in a matter affecting your department?"

The colonial man laughed.

"My dear fellow," he said, "I have a whole regiment of lady visitors and correspondents whom I shall gladly have over to you."

Thus it came to pass that Rosamund's frills graced the same chair as the foreign official that Warden had sat in when he interviewed the under secretary. She was charmingly anxious to know the high rank in the Government, the under secretary was young enough to be impressionable; he was clearly a dandy; such men are the easiest to subjugate.

"In the first place, Mrs. Laing," he said, when she explained her earnest wish to communicate at once with Captain Warden, "you will not misunderstand me if I ask what measure of urgency lies behind your business with him. We officials, you know, like to wrap ourselves in a cloak of mystery with red tape fimmings. Yet I promise you I shall match your candor if possible."

"Well—perhaps I ought to begin by saying that—if not exactly engaged—Captain Warden and I are very dear to each other. We have known each other years ago. But I was young. I was forced into marriage with another, who is now dead."

Rosamund made this ingenious confession with the necessary hesitancy and downward eye-glances. The under secretary was sympathetic and delighted, and envious of Captain Warden's good fortune. There could be no doubt about these things, because he said them.

"That being so, I know a good deal of his private affairs," said Rosamund. "I have been in the habit of seeing him since he was summoned to West Africa at any moment, but he is such a scrupulously precise man where duty is concerned that he would actually go away without telling me anything about it if ordered not to take anyone into his confidence."

"Something of the kind has happened," admitted the under secretary. "Ah, then, he really is in Africa, and if I write—"

"I am sorry, but I fear I have misled you. He is not in Nigeria. When last I heard of him he was at Rabat."

surprised. "That?" she cried, genuinely surprised. "On the west coast of Morocco." "But what is he doing there?" The under secretary pressed the tips of his fingers closely together.

"It is difficult to say," he replied. "But you state tell me. I have a right to know," she pleaded. "I understand the position on the Benue River. I am the daughter of a West African governor. I am one of the few women in England who can grasp the seriousness of any plot which brings together the men of Oku and the men of Lagos, or a middle-class foreign potentate. Captain Warden was sent to the protectorate to carry out your instructions, and that is the very reason I wish to write to him. I have news of the utmost importance."

"Connected with the sailing of the Sans Souci from Hamburg?" The question was so unexpected that Rosamund looked at the under secretary with more shrewdness than her fine eyes had displayed hitherto. He was making a little circle of dots with a pencil on a blotting pad. Neither by voice nor manner did he display any surprise at her reference to the men of Oku.

"Yes, that is one of the items," she said. "And the others?" "But you are telling me nothing," she pouted.

"Forgive me. I hate the necessity that imposes restraint. Now, Mrs. Laing, enlighten me on one point, and I shall acquaint you with such few details of Captain Warden's recent movements as are in my possession. What interest had he in Rabat?"

"Really—don't know." The honest lady was speaking the truth. "Who, in your opinion, may know?" he persisted.

Rosamund was not prepared for that. Her mind flew instantly to Evelyn Dane. The girl's name would not mention the girl's name, the mere thought of Evelyn cast a shadow over her mobile face. "I haven't the faintest notion," she said.

The accompanying smile was forced, and the under secretary was not in the least deceived by her feigned ignorance.

"Of course, if you cannot tell me why Captain Warden should go ashore at Rabat no one can suppose, and Rosamund caught the pleasing hint of her dominance in all that affected the man she loved.

"You keep on referring to this place that I have never heard of," she cried. "Is he still at Rabat? I have ascertained that he is not at Lagos, or in Southern Nigeria, because I cabled for information."

"When last I heard of Captain Warden he was at Rabat," said the under secretary. "He is not there now. Indeed, I cannot tell you where he is. If the earth had opened and swallowed him, he could not have disappeared more completely."

Rosamund gasped, and was somewhat inclined to storm, but not another syllable would the under secretary add to his statement. He, though he undertook to communicate with her immediately when news of Warden's whereabouts reached him, in the meantime, she had to be content with knowledge that was no knowledge, and that only added to her perplexity.

On the way to the hotel he stopped at a map-seller's and bought a map of Morocco, and a book which revealed many of the details of the country. He calculated to explain why Warden had gone there.

In some sense, the under secretary was more puzzled than Rosamund. He turned to his notes and pored over them. One paragraph stood out boldly.

"When last I heard of Captain Warden he was at Rabat," said the under secretary. "He is not there now. Indeed, I cannot tell you where he is. If the earth had opened and swallowed him, he could not have disappeared more completely."

FELKER APPEAL LOST.
Toronto, June 15.—The court of appeal today dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Louise Jane Felker against the judgment of Chief Justice Falconbridge dismissing her action with costs against the F. H. McGuigan Construction Company. The action was for trespass on land, and the defence was notification under legislation respecting the hydro-electric power commission. The plaintiff was offered before action $500 for the right to erect the lower and passage over her lands for the transmission line, the attempted construction of which constitutes the trespass complained of, but refused.

TRUNK MURDER SUSPECT
AGAIN UNDER PROBEIsapoloff Reveals Nothing as to the Death of the Charltons.

Como, Italy, June 15.—Constantine Isapoloff, the chance acquaintance of Porter Charlton and his wife, Mary Scott Charlton, who has been held in custody since the body of the woman was recovered from Lake Como, was again interrogated today, this time by an examining judge.

He contended he was absolutely innocent of any connection with the crime, which, according to his story, must have been committed some time after his last meeting with the Charltons.

The Russian's coolness is exasperating to those who have sought to lead him into a betrayal of his familiarity with the habits of the Charltons and a knowledge of their movements immediately preceding the murder.

Today he was disposed to poke fun at the authorities. The Italian Governor, he said, with a smile, "must be very rich. I live better in prison than I have been able to live outside on an annual pension of $80 from the Russian Government."

Isapoloff is credited with being, or has been in the employ of the Russian Government in a confidential capacity. While every day turns up some new feature, adding interest to the Lake Como mystery, it is evident that the police are still in doubt as to the identity of the person or persons, who after beating Mrs. Charlton into insensibility, crowded her into a trunk, there to die of suffocation. They are still making every effort to locate Porter Charlton, and today received word from the police that a young man believed to be the husband was seen at Lucerne on Saturday, the day after the trunk with its burden was fished out of the lake.

At the same time they are following up the theory that both Charlton and his wife were murdered and Lake Como was again being dragged today in the hope that it would give up the body of the husband. The police and the physicians who performed the autopsy have but little to say, but their occasional explanations inflame the popular interest.

It is believed that the authorities have worked out a motive for the crime, based upon what has been told by the peasant neighbors of the Charltons and by the physicians who were called in. Just what this theory is remains a matter of conjecture.

JOY RIDER SENTENCED
TO TERM OF 15 YEARSBrooklyn Chauffeur Whose Car Killed
Girl Ordered to Reformatory.

New York, June 15.—Richard Sage, a 17-year-old chauffeur, who was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree for the killing of a girl by the automobile he was driving on a joy ride, was today sentenced to spend fifteen years in the Elmira Reformatory by Judge Dike in the county court of Brooklyn. Sage ran down Catherine McCoy, of 333 Dean street, Brooklyn, on May 7. He tried to escape, but was prevented by a wagon driver, who put his team of horses directly in the path of the motor car. Judge Dike announced that the next joy rider who was brought before him would be sentenced to Sing-Sing.

YONKERS TIED UP.

Yonkers, N. Y., June 15.—This city awoke today to find itself tight in the grip of a trolley strike affecting, it is said principally, the Yonkers Railway Company, numbering about 225 men. The stoppages of the cars took the town completely by surprise, for at midnight there had been no intimation that trouble was imminent. Six hours later not a wheel was stirring on any line in the city, and thousands of commuters and businessmen found themselves without means of conveyance.

For two weeks the conductors and motormen have been negotiating for an advance in wages to 30 cents an hour from the graded rate of from 21 to 25 cents an hour now in effect. At 2 o'clock this morning, however, the men were called together to consider the situation. An hour later a strike vote was cast and counted and the men ordered out. The men on the night runs quit their cars as they finished their trips and none of the day men reported for duty.

HospitalFOR OPERATION FOR ACUTE IN-DIGESTION—DID NOT GO AND WAS CURED BYDR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

A medicine that will save one from a surgical operation must be worth while.

The doctors seem to have made the common mistake of doing the stomach when the liver and kidneys are aching. Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills made a complete cure, and here is the record:

Mrs. F. O. Bacon, Baldwin's Mills, Que., writes: "I was very sick and the doctors said I must go to the hospital for a surgical operation. I had acute indigestion, and the liver and kidneys did not act. I did not want to undergo an operation, so I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills and have used them ever since. I am feeling well now, and doing my own work for a family of seven. I think there is no equal for acute indigestion and liver and kidney troubles such as I had, and they and nothing else made me well again. There is no medicine I like half so well, for this did wonders for me."

The real serious cases of indigestion almost always have their location in the bowels and can only be reached by making the liver and kidneys active. No medicine regulates the liver, kidneys and bowels so nicely and so promptly as Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Do not be satisfied with a substitute or you will be disappointed.

HOSTS TO GREET
COLONEL ROOSEVELTEastern Railroads to Run Trains in Sections to Accommodate Crowds.

New York, June 15.—One got a notion of how distinguished a private citizen Col. Roosevelt is when visiting his publicity headquarters this afternoon. Twenty-five men and women headed by the secretary of the committee, Capt. Crosby, assistant Secretary Harwood, are busy day and night shooting out mimeograph copies of all the wonders that are to happen when the hunter arrives here Saturday.

Already the Lehigh Valley, the Pennsylvania, the New York Central, and other lines with trunk line connections have sent forth word that beginning today they will start in to send their fastest trains into New York in sections, to accommodate the members of the Hamilton Club of Chicago, rough riders, and other organizations who want to get here on time to greet the colonel.

The Hamburg-American liner Kaiserin Augusta Victoria is expected to leave her way out of the muck off the Hook about 3 o'clock Saturday morning. This will enable her to quarantine about 6 a.m. Collector Loeb, the Roosevelt children now in this country, and a few intimate friends of the Roosevelt family will board the revenue cutter Manhattan at 7:45 a.m., and go down to quarantine to take the colonel off the liner. There will be breakfast aboard the Manhattan.

At 8:50 the revenue cutter Androscoggin will chug out from the battery loaded with the reception committee of 300, and guests including Governor Watts of Connecticut, Gov. Mills of New Mexico, Gov. Fort of New Jersey, and Gov. Quimby of New Hampshire. Aboard the Androscoggin also will be representatives of the governors of Montana, Washington, Minnesota, West Virginia and perhaps representatives from other states.

Aboard the Dolphin will be Captain Butt, Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, and Secretary Meyer of the navy. Capt. Butt will carry in his coat pocket a letter from President Taft to Col. Roosevelt, the honor of which is a welcome home.

Col. Roosevelt will depart from the Manhattan at 9 o'clock down at quarantine and go aboard the Androscoggin to be greeted by Mr. Vanderbilt and his reception committee. Then the battleship South Carolina will lead the way for the naval parade, and two abreast, with Commodore Fred B. Duzell in command, the water show will steam up the Hudson River to a stake boat off Fifty-ninth street. Here the water parade will turn and go back to the Battery.

JACKSON RESOLUTION
GOES TO CONFERENCELaymen's Action Sends Cleaver's Motion
Before Main Body.

Toronto, June 15.—At yesterday morning's session of the Laymen's Association of the Toronto Methodist Conference, held at the Toronto Y.M.C.A., members were present, a resolution was passed to send Dr. Cleaver's resolution on the teaching in the theological colleges on to the general conference.

This resolution, which was voted down in the conference proper, directly impugns the teaching of Prof. Jackson, of Victoria College, the ten members of the Laymen's Association present at the session three voted against the resolution to memorialize the general conference. Later, when the conference proper met, an attempt was made to have the resolution of the laymen brought before it and discussed at length before allowing it to go on, but this resulted in a vote and the consequent defeat of the proposition. Therefore the memorial of the laymen will go on to the general conference.

ANOTHER POET IN PRISON

Sent to Blackwell's Island to Satisfy
His Muse.

New York, June 15.—When Luke Nolan, a short, stocky little man, was arraigned before Magistrate Harris today on charges of disorderly conduct and impersonating an officer, he was asked by the court, what he did for a living. In reply Nolan drew a begrimed sheet of paper from his pocket, on which was scrawled:

The very best things to live on, I find,
Are lots of fresh air and contentment of mind.

"Hum!" remarked the magistrate after perusing this effusion. "I send you to Blackwell's Island for six months, Nolan; you will get plenty of fresh air, and your contentment of mind is contingent on yourself." "Thank you," said Nolan, with a low bow.

NEW DEFENCE SCHEME

Old Battleships To Be Utilized at Sheerness and Portsmouth.

London, June 15.—A novel scheme for the defence of Sheerness, Portsmouth and Devonport, three of England's principal naval bases, against the attacks of hostile torpedo craft is at present under the consideration of the British admiralty.

There are at present in the navy a number of battleships which are practically useless for war purposes. It is proposed that some of these vessels shall be converted into floating forts.

All the heavy guns and if necessary also the machinery would be removed. The ship would then be equipped with a large number of 4.7-inch and 4 inch quick firing guns. It is estimated that some of the vessels could easily mount from 20 to 30 of these weapons.

It is pointed out that a ship armed with 80 4-inch guns, having 40 on each broadside, would be able to keep up a fire from each gun of ten rounds a minute. Even if the attacking craft could not be sunk, the floating forts in twenty could live through such a rain of shot long enough to enable it to do any damage. As the floating forts would be equipped with powerful searchlights there would be little chance of approaching boats being unobserved.

It has just been found that two Rembrandts, a Murillo, and several other old masters have disappeared from the famous Hermitage Gallery in St. Petersburg, clever copies having been substituted. Some time back one of the directors of the museum was convicted of replacing the Rembrandts and jewels in the imperial collection with imitations.

UNITED WIRELESS HEADS ARRESTEDCharged With Using Mails to Defraud Through Selling
Stock at Inflated Value.

New York, June 15.—An investigation of the stock-selling methods of the United Wireless Company, undertaken by agents of the postoffice department nearly a year ago, culminated yesterday in the arrest of Christopher Wilson and Samuel S. Bogart, president and vice-president of the company, and William W. Tompkins, president of the New York selling agency, which advertised United Wireless stocks, on charges of using the mails to promote a scheme to defraud.

Wilson and Bogart were arrested at the offices of the company at 42 Broadway by inspectors of the postoffice department. At the same time the offices of the company were raided and an automobile load of books and papers was taken to the federal building. Tompkins was taken later in the day at his country home at Mahopac Falls, N. Y.

At the time of the raid on the main offices of the United Wireless, the books and papers of the company in branch offices at 45 Montgomery street, Jersey City, were brought to the federal building by A. C. Fike, a transfer agent of the company, acting under subpoena.

Tompkins stays in Tombs. Wilson and Bogart were held before United States Commissioner Shields, who held them for examination on July 12. Assistant United States Attorney Stevenson asked for the return of the $100,000 each, but it was finally decided to hold Wilson in $25,000 and Bogart in $10,000. The National Surety Company went on Wilson's bond, and Bogart on the bond of John M. Robinson, of Tea Neck, N. J., who gave as security property valued at $300,000. Tompkins could not find the $100,000 required, and spent the night in the Tombs.

There was some mystery concerning where and when the trouble for the United Wireless people started, but the opinion seemed to obtain that Abe Gruber, acting for clients who had purchased wireless stock, had been the one to urge the Government on. Arthur N. King, who appeared for Wilson and Bogart, said that Gruber, on behalf of certain stockholders, had informed the postoffice authorities that the United Wireless was working a scheme to defraud, and had linked the names of the United Wireless with that of the New York Selling Company.

In the papers before Commissioner Shields, Inspector Carter B. Keene states that he had reason to believe that Wilson, Bogart and Tompkins had "devised a scheme and artifice to defraud Michael O'Brien (another inspector) and other persons by falsely representing that the United Wireless Telegraph Company included among its assets patents and patent rights of a value of $5,520,232.60, stocks and bonds in other companies of the value of $14,180,000, real estate of the value of $24,992, furniture and fixtures of the value of $25,990, and cash in the treasury and treasury agents of $37,448, and that the surplus over the liabilities of the company amounted to $5,520,232.60, all of which representations were false. The specific charge of using the mails is based upon a letter addressed to O'Brien, dated June 1, 1909.

Inspector Mayer is authority for the statement that by selling stock, the value of which is held by the postoffice department to have been fraudulently stated one of the officers of the company has cleaned up over $5,000,000, and that the entire amount taken is close to $20,000,000.

CARD PLAYERS STRIKE

Rumanians Are Furious Because the Game Has Been Taxed.

London, June 15.—A strike of card players is in progress in Bucharest, the capital of Rumania. This does not seem very serious, but it is of consequence to the Rumanians, who are all passionate players. Men and women may be seen deeply engrossed in card games at all hours, day and night. The trouble arose in this way: The municipal coffers are scantily filled and the city fathers were at a loss how to raise more taxes. Then arose M. Ioanescu, who proposed that cards, being articles of luxury and moreover calculated to promote idle and vicious habits, should henceforth bear a tax of 2 lei (40 cents) a pack instead of 1 lei as previously.

The proposal was carried after a violent debate, and now the people are furious. At an indignation meeting they decided to strike and punctually at noon the next day all laid down their cards, vowing never to touch them again if the tax was not dropped.

The people are keeping their vow and the result is that card makers and cafe keepers complain that they will be ruined. The city treasurer, too, notices a sudden decrease in the revenue from cards. In reply to Bucharest it is a severe case of self-denial. The chances are that they will win.

DIDN'T LIKE REPUBLICS

Prof. Koch Said Monarchies Showed a Greater

London, June 15.—A correspondent writes to a German paper describing a conversation he once had with Prof. Koch, the bacteriologist, from which it appears that Koch at one period seriously thought of emigrating to America, where his brother had gone before him.

Koch was telling how a large number of his relatives were living in doing well in the United States, when the correspondent expressed wonder that an independent thinker and man of science like the bacteriologist did not go and join them in a free country.

"I'm a monarchist," replied Koch, "and no republican or even partisan of international brotherhood and the mixing of races. And I'm a monarchist because in monarchies, and particularly in Germany, the tendency of development is quite clearly toward improvements in the republic. The tendency is not nearly so well marked."

"In what a number of directions in Germany has there been improvement even during my own life! How dissatisfied everyone was in my youth when I entered the University of Göttingen! Out of mere political discontent thought of starting to make a career in America. My brother, however, wouldn't allow it, as he wanted at least one of his sons to remain with him."

"What changes have taken place since then! Today we are proud of a great and powerful empire, and in the domains of learning and investigation there is an infinite degree of improvement, which continues from day to day."

WRITER'S WIDOW SUFFERS

Country Seat of Bjornson Swept Away
By the Floods.

London, June 15.—Bjornstjerne Bjornson was not a wealthy man, he died, and his widow has just suffered a severe loss by the destructive floods in Norway, details of which have appeared in the press.

The author's country seat, Aulestad, has been swept by torrents bursting through a dam and so much damage has been done that Mrs. Bjornson cannot pay for the repairs and has the second time the property. This is the second time that Aulestad has been inundated, and the last time it severely crippled Bjornson's resources, as he generously assumed responsibility for damage done to other property.

Surprise is expressed at the smallness of Bjornson's estate, but it is explained that he spent large sums on the maintenance of Aulestad, where he kept open house, while his illness in Paris was very costly. Mrs. Bjornson's future is secured in a moderate way by royalties on her husband's books, and the Norwegian Storting has expressed its willingness to continue to the widow the so-called poet's state pension of $450 annually.

CROWN JEWELS
WELL PROTECTEDImprovements in the Strong Room in Tower of London.

London, June 13.—The alterations in the strong room of the Tower of London are nearly complete, and when the jewel room is reopened, visitors will find a great change in the structure and internal fittings. A fresh stone flooring has been laid and a new steel grid has been built to inclose the plate glass showcase containing the regalia.

The bars of this grid are of tempered steel, placed closed together than the bars of the old case. A hidden electric alarm of the latest type has been connected with the new grid, so that if a bar is wrenched even slightly a gong sounds its warning through the tower.

Every lock throughout the room has been improved and made more complicated, so that various keys have to be used in the opening. The iron lined doors have been strengthened, and additional electric lights have been installed.

A scheme for constructing a trap in the stone flooring of the jewel room through which the regalia and precious stones could, if necessary, be lowered into the dungeon beneath the Wakefield tower, was found to be impracticable, owing to the condition of the underground cell itself. This dungeon is beneath the level of the river and is very damp. Nothing has been housed in it since the Middle Ages, when prisoners languished in the tower.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nerves, banish sick headache, prevent despondency and invigorate the whole system. Sold by all dealers.

Ruined Beauty

Deprived of their natural and greatest charm Women become objects of aversion even to themselves.

The women of today have become victims of an over-civilization. In their zeal and endeavor to keep pace with the demands of fashion, they have converted their heads into germ incubators. Thousands of ladies will testify to the fact that the advent of the rat, puffs and pompadours marked the beginning of their trouble—the appearance of dandruff and the attendant loss of hair.

The massive head dresses of the present have given that busy little microbe, the dandruff germ, an opportunity never before equalled for destructive work. As a result ladies who have never been troubled are now afflicted with dandruff, and their hair comes out by the handful.

Every mail brings new evidence of the prevalence of hair trouble. The story told by these letters is one of interest to every woman, because they also reveal the avenue of escape.

Mrs. J. Kinney, of 261 Crown street, New Haven, Conn., writes: "Your Herpicide is working like a charm. The itching has stopped, and new hair is growing."

From Denver, Colo., comes a glowing tribute: "I attribute the restoration of my hair entirely to the superior merits of your Herpicide." Signed, Mrs. M. Megrue, 1717 Tremont street.

Thousands Are Saved

Newbro's Herpicide

Saves the hair. It kills the dandruff germ and prevents the hair from falling. The use of this powerful germicide and scalp dressing has saved thousands of women from worse than baldness—that scraggy, thin, wispy hair, so ugly and unsightly—the kind of hair that make an otherwise handsome woman homely. It stops itching of the scalp instantly.

Send for our Book, "The Hair and Its Care." It is free. If 10 Cents is sent to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 33B, Detroit, Mich., a sample of Herpicide will be sent with the book.

WHITE NOTES READ AT BRIBERY TRIAL

Counsel for Minority Leader in Illinois Legislature Introduce Letters.

Chicago, Ill., June 16.—Expulsion of two spectators and the destruction of letters written by Representative Charles A. White to Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, were features today at the trial of Browne, minority leader in the Illinois Legislature, on a charge of bribing White with $1,000 to vote for William Lorimer for United States Senator. When called upon to identify his letters, on cross-examination, White was vague in many of his replies.

The men removed from Judge McCrory's court were Ernest Krulwich, a Chicago politician, and Henry Wagner. The latter owes his embarrassment to having made audible expression of a belief in the guilt of the defendant. State's Attorney Wayman said he had not seen Krulwich do anything wrong, but that during the trial of "Skippy" Madden, a labor leader, charged with extortion, Krulwich had shaken hands with Madden in front of the court.

Krulwich, whose indictment two years ago charging him with frauds at primary elections was dismissed when the primary law was found to be unconstitutional, was served with a subpoena to appear before a grand jury tomorrow. He declared that he could neither fathom Mr. Wayman's reasons for the summons nor for his expulsion from the court room.

The defence, on cross examination, began an attack on the character of White, and sought to introduce certain of White's letters. The court ruled that before they could be accepted as evidence White must first identify the letters. White's evasive replies visibly nettled Browne's attorneys. Eventually two letters were identified. In one of them, written after the election of Senator Lorimer, White said:

"I have only 90 cents in the world. If you will fill in the inclosed promissory note for whatever money you will loan me I will be glad."

The note, made out for $50, also was placed in evidence. Other notes aggregating $100 were also introduced. One expression in the White-Browne letters was:

"The future is sure to bring surprises. Do not be surprised at anything I may do in the future."

A letter written by White to Senator Lorimer was likewise read to the jury. White's letter was about to place his experiences as a legislator before the public. He said he had been offered $25 a word for it.

"Did you offer it to the Chicago Tribune?" was asked.

"Yes, sir," replied White, producing his contract, by which the Tribune agreed to pay him $3,250 for his story of the alleged bribery. Part of the sum, White said, had already been paid him.

The cross-examination, it is expected, will continue all day tomorrow.

McLeod vs. Sawyer-Massey Company, appeal dismissed with costs. Duff and Anglin dissenting.

Advices received by the general passenger department of the Grand Trunk System by wire from Victoria, dated last Saturday, announce that prospects for the first sailing of the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Company's new steamer "Prince Rupert" leaving Victoria June 13, and Vancouver same date, are most encouraging. This new service will be inaugurated with a full complement of passengers for Prince Rupert and Stewart at the head of the Portland Canal, about one-half of the number of passengers being bound for the latter place. The reception given this steamer on her arrival at Victoria and beyond expectations. Huge crowds all express most satisfaction. The first visitor who boarded the new steamship at Victoria was the wife of Lieutenant-Governor Patterson. Premier McBride, the cabinet ministers and the most prominent citizens also visited the ship. All unite in placing the new boat as the foremost in the pacific coast service.

Charged With Attempted Poisoning

Brookville, June 16.—Charles Landon, a tinsmith, in the employ of Sheridan & Power for 12 years, is in jail on remand charged with attempting to poison J. H. Sheridan, the senior member of the firm.

The case is a peculiar one, as Landon Sheridan was on the best of terms, and no reason is assigned for the alleged attack.

Sheridan has been in the habit of bringing his dinner to the shop. He detected a peculiar taste in the tea on three different occasions, and each time investigated the source of the milk supply, which was found all right. His suspicions then became aroused, and, filling his tea can with water, the same peculiar acid taste was noticed.

Finally a trap was laid. A constable was placed in hiding in the shop, and Landon, being alone, was noticed to remove the cover from Sheridan's lunch basket, open the can and drop in a powder or some other substance. His arrest followed, and with it came a straight denial of the charge.

Samples of the water and tea, in all eight, preserved by Sheridan, have been forwarded to the provincial analyst, and the result of further action will depend on the finding.

Landon is highly respected in the county.

DEATH OF MRS. RIDDLE APPARENTLY ACCIDENT

May Have Taken Poison in Mistake for Medicinal Tablets.

Norwich, Ont., June 15.—The inquest on the death of Mrs. Ray Riddle, wife of Dr. Riddle, the well-known veterinarian, opened today, and after examination of a number of witnesses, was adjourned until next Thursday. Mrs. Riddle was found dead on the floor on the evening of June 7. Possibly she took the poison in mistake for some medicine.

Dr. Riddle told the jury that he kept prussic acid in the course of his ordinary work.

Concerning a policy of $2,000, which was recently taken out on the life of Mrs. Riddle, the doctor testified that he did not need any more insurance himself, and that he did not see his wife, and that she put the insurance on her life of her own free will.

This evidence was corroborated by Insurance Agent Irwin.

The other witnesses told of the happy relations existing between Dr. and Mrs. Riddle. They also testified that Mrs. Riddle was in good spirits 30 minutes before her death.

The dead woman's stomach is still in the hands of the provincial analyst at Toronto.

IS 100 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Janet McCorkendall, Strathroy, Passes Century Mark.

Strathroy's oldest resident, Mrs. Janet McCorkendall celebrated her one hundred birthday yesterday. In the afternoon a number of friends presented Mrs. McCorkendall with a purse containing about $35 in money. Mrs. Kennings kindly took charge of the presentation. Mrs. McCorkendall, although one hundred years old, enjoys good health. She is a native of Scotland, and loves to hear the bagpipes, and to converse in the language of the Highlanders. Jessie McLaughlin, the Scotch vocalist, always visits Mrs. McCorkendall, when professional engagements call her to Strathroy, and sings for her some of the old Scottish songs.

Mrs. McCorkendall, who is living with her daughter, Mrs. Nilvins, on Metcalfe street, was born on the island of Benbecula, Invernesshire, Scotland, in 1810, and has lived under the reign of six sovereigns. She came to Canada with her husband and family in the year 1852, settling on a farm in the township of Williams, County of Middlesex. She was left a widow in the year 1863, and moved to Strathroy in 1867. Of her family three are living: Mrs. Nilvins, Strathroy; Lachlan, Toronto; and Mrs. McKie, London.

THE GROCERS' TRIP

Wednesday's Excursion to Detroit Proved Highly Successful.

The Retail Grocers' Association should be very proud of the manner in which their annual excursion to Detroit, via the Grand Trunk Railway, passed off yesterday. The fifteen excursionists were laden with a happy lot of groceries and their friends. Engine No. 309, one of the new engines just out of the shop the day before, led the train, with Engineer Harry McHarg at the throttle. The train was in charge of Conductor Joseph O'Brien. The run to Windsor was made in 3 hours and 3 minutes. On the way to Detroit the committee looked after the welfare of their guests in a very careful manner, giving them delicacies to enjoy during the ride.

On arriving at Detroit, the excursionists separated to the various places of amusement. The ball game in the afternoon was witnessed by many Londoners, who saw the Boston team under the management of Patsy Donovan of 1888-89 Tecumseh fame, win from Detroit by a score of 8 to 3.

The train left the Windsor depot at 9:20 p.m. and a more rapid run was made to London, the time being 2 hours and 35 minutes. A section of the road, from Glencoe to Komoka, of 33 miles, was dashed off in 35 minutes.

To the committee in charge, Mr. C. W. Summers, president; Thos. Shaw, treasurer; and Cyril Hayes, secretary, with the assistance of the several members of the Grocers' Association, much praise is due. Every comfort was looked after, and the Grocers' should be highly elated at the success of this excursion, which was one of the most prosperous in their history. The train provided by the Grand Trunk officials included the first cars of the passenger equipment. Mr. Ernie Rose, of the depot ticket office, accompanied the excursionists.

BORDEN AT TORONTO

Declares Should Be Pronouncement From Country As To Navy.

Toronto, June 16.—The proposal that the people of Canada should have opportunity of directly pronouncing upon the country's permanent naval policy was emphasized by Mr. R. L. Borden in his address at the Conservative demonstration at Long Branch yesterday. The leader devoted the major portion of his address to a discussion of the problem. He reiterated his advocacy of an immediate contribution to meet immediate imperial needs, and counselled further consideration in involving the basis of permanent co-operation with the mother country, having in mind the maintenance of the unity and integrity of the empire, while preserving the full autonomy of its various dominions.

A COMMON CAUSE

Edinburgh, June 16.—A letter from Theodore Roosevelt was read at today's session of the World's Missionary Conference. The American roused much enthusiasm.

The letter said: "It is a matter of real and profound regret to me that I am imperatively called away to America, so that I am unable to be present at the World's Missionary Conference."

"Nothing like your proposed conference has ever hitherto taken place. From many nations, and from many churches, your delegates gather on this great occasion, to initiate a movement which I believe will be fraught with far-reaching good. For the first time in four centuries Christians of every name come together without renouncing their several convictions, or sacrificing their several principles to confer as to what common action may be taken in order to make their common Christianity not only known to, but a vital force among the two-thirds of the human race to whom, as yet, it is hardly even a name."

GARDEN PARTY A BIG SUCCESS

A Pleasant Military Affair at Wolsey Barracks Last Night.

FINE SHOOTING CONTINUES

Men Are Hitting the Targets in Fine Style at the Cove Ranges These Days.

Several hundred persons, including the camp officers, the officers of London garrison, citizens and out-of-town guests, attended the garden party given at Wolsey Barracks last night by Mrs. (Col.) Hodgins.

The garden party was held on the south lawn, which, with the lights and the gay uniforms of the officers, presented a very pretty appearance.

Pleasant Shooting.
The officers are greatly pleased at the shooting done by the men at the ranges yesterday. They are confident that the new rule allowing sighting shots, and the counting of aggregate scores, is going to result in the best shooting yet.

Yesterday's scores were a great deal in advance of those made last year, and the officers are confident that the new rule will result in the best shooting yet.

Depends on Instruction.
"We are getting some of the best shooting," said one of the officers, "but it depends on the instruction given. The new rule is a great help, but it is the instruction that counts."

WIDOW WITH SEVEN CHILDREN FOUND ON TRACK AND LOOKS LIKE CASE OF SUICIDE.

Valleyfield, Que., June 16.—A man of 35 years, small stature, and well dressed, was found dead in New York Central yards, Valleyfield. It was evident a case of suicide. Documents in the pockets of the man indicated that the man's name was Owen O'Brien, and that he recently resided at 186 Jarvis street, Winnipeg, and was by trade a carpenter, and the owner of considerable property in Winnipeg.

PLACE RED LIGHTS OVER THE FIRE ALARM BOXES

Ald. Rose's Idea Met With Favor
at Meeting of No 3 Committee.

The fire alarm boxes of the city may be equipped with red lights, informing citizens where they are to be found, and also furnishing protection.
The matter was brought up at a meeting of No. 3 committee last night by Ald. Rose, who advocated the placing of a red light at each box.

"At the present time it is almost impossible to tell where a fire alarm box is," he declared. "A number of them are in the dark, and it is practically impossible to see them. The larger percentage of our citizens do not know where to look for them, and in case of fire a great deal of time is lost."

Light on the Box.
"A red light placed at each box would solve the difficulty. It would also prevent a number of false alarms in this city. The boxes could be seen, and any person interfering with them
could be more easily identified."
"We have no power, but we should send the matter to the water commissioners who have charge of this.
The expense would be light now, as they could easily string a wire to the boxes."

Chief Aitken approved of the plan, and said that it would greatly assist the department.
"We had better send a recommendation to the water commissioners," said Mayor Beattie. "They will inquire into the cost, etc., and make the necessary arrangements for stringing
the wires. It seems like a good idea."
Ald. Rose's motion to refer it to the water commissioners carried without dissent.

ALEXANDRA CAFE.
It has been found necessary, on account of the increased cost of provisions, to raise the price of meals. In view of the price of meat and other staples, it has been found impossible to retain the present prices on meals, and they have been advanced from 25 to 30 cents. Customers will readily understand that this is necessary to maintain the usual high quality, and will agree that this is the right thing to do. Meal tickets at the Alexandra will in future be $3.00 for 11 regular meals, $3.30 in value.

SEAGRAVE TRUCK AGAIN ACCEPTED BY COMMITTEE

Chief Aitken Was in Favor of the Canadian-Built Article.

At the meeting of No. 3 committee
last night the tender of Hugh Cameron & Co., Toronto, for a Seagrave service truck, was accepted, at a cost of $2-250.

Mr. R. W. Angus, of this city, was present at the meeting, and explained
the merits of the American LaFrance Company's ladder. The other company was not represented.

Chief Aitken was asked his opinion on the subject, and pointed out that Chief Thompson, of Toronto, the fire chief of Buffalo, and the fire chief of Brantford, had recommended that the Seagrave ladder be purchased. He had seen both trucks in Rochester and Buffalo and favored the Seagrave truck, as it was lighter, more durable and better suited to the city's needs, he said.

Mayor Beattie then moved that the Seagrave truck be purchased and the motion carried unanimously.

Firemen's Clothing.
Ald. Jeffries was instructed to inspect the firemen's clothing with Fire Chief Aitken. The goods have been delivered, but have not been passed.

City Architect Nutt advised a trough on the roof of the Covent Garden Market building, and he was instructed to prepare specifications and call for tenders.

The usual number of accounts were passed. Those present were: Ald. Ash-plant, chairman; Ald. Jeffries, Ald.
Fitzgerald, Ald. Rose, Mayor Beattie,
Fire Chief Aitken, Inspector McCallum
and Secretary Baker.

DONATIONS DEPOSITED FOR A FIREMEN'S FUND

No. 3 Committee Looking Ahead
—Matter May Come Up
Again in Fall.

The proposed firemen's fund started a debate at No. 3 committee last night.
Last week, Mr. R. Warwick sent a donation of $25 to the fund, and it was placed to the firemen's credit at the city hall.

"What are we going to do with his money?" asked Ald. Rose.
"We can keep it," answered Chief Aitken. "We have about $200 now, and that will form a nucleus for a firemen's benefit fund. This fall the council may take up the question of a real fund, and with this nucleus we could make it a good thing for the men."
"I am in favor of giving the money to the men who earn it," declared Ald.
Rose. "We should divide it up amongst them."

"I think it would be better to leave it as it is," said Mayor Beattie. "In time it will amount to quite a fund, and from it a sick benefit might be started. If it were divided it would mean but a few dollars to each."

It was decided to place the money to the credit of the firemen at the city hall. The matter of a benefit fund may be taken up later.

SUPT. DARK FAVORS DAY LABOR FOR CITY WORK

It Is Likely That the System Will Be Adopted by the Council.

The question of day labor for all city work is again to the fore, and it is probable that next year all walks and curbs and gutters, will be laid by that system.

At the beginning of the year Mayor
Beattie strongly advocated the change,
and in his inaugural address drew particular attention to this matter.

Superintendent Dark, of the water commissioners' staff, is strongly in favor of day labor, and to the commissioners he advocated that all work possible to be done by day labor be done that way.

"With the proper supervision and care we can do the work as cheaply as anybody else," he declared.

However, the mayor's suggestion was not carried out with reference to walks and curbs, but the matter is not a dead issue by any means.
"I still believe we were right in advocating day labor," said his worship.
"It has been done in other cities, and while we get a favorable price, I do not see why we cannot lay the walks
just as well as a private contractor."
"I think the scheme a good one,"
said Chairman McMahon, of the water commission. "With a competent foreman we should be able to do good work."

Can Save Money.
"We can save a lot of money by day labor," said Commissioner Wyatt. "If the contractor does the work properly and makes money we can do it, because we can save $5 a day on inspectors. The price we pay for inspectors would build a lot of walks."
"The principle is right, and should be maintained," said Commissioner Pocock. "There is no reason why the city cannot do this work as well as a contractor."
The difficulties experienced this year with contractors has led many of the aldermen to see the advantages of day labor, and they are now more in favor of it than for a long time.

TORONTO

As A Newspaper

In the northern part of Ontario
there is opening up through the construction of various railways, an area of land that is unsurpassed in mineral riches, in timber wealth and in agricultural possibilities. The Globe was the pioneer in pointing out to newspaper readers the possibilities of the region commonly known as "New Ontario," the development and progress of which will mean so much to all manufacturing centres. And the Globe continues to keep the people of older Canada constantly in touch with that region. A series of interesting letters from a member of The Globe staff recounting his impressions and experiences on a recent visit, has attracted favorable attention and comment.

"We wish to express our appreciation of The Globe as a medium for getting results. You undoubtedly have quantity and quality," writes Messrs. Sadler & Haworth, Toronto.

As An Advertising Medium

Advertising is not only an effort to get quick results from an investment of money, but it is also—and this is of far more importance—the laying of a foundation on which permanent business success may be built. The good-will of a non-advertised business is not likely to be worth much to anybody, but a good-will built on a well-advertised trademark becomes more valuable as the years go by. Gradually the name of the maker, or the article, becomes a household word in an ever-widening field of operation.
No businessman can afford to neglect the power of public demand.

ELGIN COMES IN ON ALEXANDRA SANATORIUM

County Council Accepted What Middlesex Practically Rejected.

The county council of Elgin, in session yesterday at St. Thomas, voted $3,300 to the London Health Association for the sanatorium, and agreed to the same terms for the treatment of consumptive patients as the city of London. The balance of the $5,000 asked from the county will be made up by the city of St. Thomas.

There was no division of opinion in the county council as to the grant.
Hon. Adam Beck was present, and explained the purposes of the sanatorium, and the terms for treatment. The councillors had seen the buildings, etc.,
and were most favorably impressed with them.

This is the proposition rejected by the county council of Middlesex. The Sanatorium Association asked $5,000
from this county, but they refused, and will consequently have to take care of their consumptive patients themselves.

The county of Elgin thought the investment an excellent one, and there was no hesitation whatever in agreeing to the terms.

"We had no trouble whatever with the Elgin council," said Mr. Beck.
"They readily agreed to our proposition, and considered it a good investment. I cannot understand the attitude of the county of Middlesex. It certainly is peculiar."

92 FREIGHT CARS ON CANADIAN PACIFIC TRAIN

Record in Hauling Made by the Big Trans-Continental Line.

C. P. R. freight train No. 74, which went through the city yesterday, was made up of 92 cars, one of the longest strings that ever passed through here. The train was drawn by mogul engine No. 681, with Engineer Kerr at the throttle and Conductor Nichol in charge. Owing to the length of the train it was found impossible to pass a westbound freight made up of 65 cars, without the westbound train leaving fifteen cars in the siding at Jeanettes Creek and going on to Tilbury. After "74" had passed, the engine went back, and brought over the remaining cars. The C. P. R. sidings are only constructed to allow 50 cars to pass.
