WOOD BYLAW ADVANCING

Simcoe's Application Before Railway and Municipal Board

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS

(From our own Correspondent)
 Simcoe, Sept. 17.—Town Solicitor H. P. Innes, K. C., has received advice from the Railway and Municipal Board regarding details of the by-law in the making, under which the town council will provide municipal wood, and it is probable that a special meeting of council will be held presently to put the measure through for as the wood must be supplied at cost, it must be laid down here and measured before a price can be fixed. And it must be sold for spot cash. One word more. It is not likely that it will be sold in less than cord lots without extra charge for delivery.

It Will Be a Tag Day
 Mr. John Pratt, secretary of the local branch of the Great War Veterans, tells us that next Monday, the 23rd, of both the veterans and men overseas, will be invited to join the veterans in planning for the proper administration of the tag day effort. Now that the women are getting into the game tag day, will take. There's no doubt of it. And the first sitting of the council of war will be held next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Following Up
 Warden Buck was back in Simcoe early this morning. He has concluded that a small committee of the county council should at once interview the provincial authorities on the Dover bridge question, and the arrangements for an audience are under way.

Government Approves
 The Provincial Highways department has approved of the roads designated as inter-county roads at the last sitting of the county council, in so far as Talbot street, Courland to Tillsonburg, Simcoe to east county border, and Simcoe via Waterford to the north county line are concerned, but is holding the Simcoe to Port Dover section in abeyance. This is the most heavily travelled road in the county.

Another Feather for Chief Canning's Cap
 It took Chief Canning but a short time yesterday morning to land the culprits who entered the "British Canadian" office on Sunday. And the boys were reported to their parents. That was all that was necessary. The missing coppers, quite a pile of them, were returned, except those spent for ice cream, and yesterday the chief was inquiring whether the ice cream could be sold on Sundays and taken out of the premises for consumption. The young lads were only 9 and 10 years of age. They did not take all the change from the till, and their error will doubtless be covered with the mantle of charity and a warning.

Wanted in Toronto for Fraud
 There was registered at Castle Robertson as an over-night guest, a 16-year-old youth, Alex. F. Phillips, by name, gathered in yesterday at Port Rowan, where he was employed with the fishermen for some days, since reaching the county. He is charged with fraud to the amount of $36.75. C. C. Lewis Barber executed the warrant, and reached here with his man at 6.30.

Vegetable Theft Continues.

There were many complaints made to the police yesterday regarding the theft of vegetables. The garden of Mr. Gurr was visited on the night of the day he received news that another son has been wounded in France.

A thirty-seven pound squash on one of the war production lots fronting on Metcalf street and being nourished for the county fair was taken off, and many other cases of wanton swiping of vegetables have been reported. We miss our guess if the chief does not make some of the carpet within a fortnight. But the force should have the vigilant co-operation of citizens in the matter of taking cognizance of moonshiners. Pesky Separators Follows State's—Answers Wrong in New High School Text-Book.

High school students who came in from the farm found this week that the dairy separator was still a thorn in the flesh and could not be handled by the crank.

They were confronted with the first problem on page 167 of the new high school arithmetic, which reads as follows:

"A farmer tested the skimmed milk from the separator and found it to contain 13 per cent of butter fat. The separator was adjusted and a second test showed .05 per cent of butter fat. If the separator had been out of adjustment for thirty days, what was the loss on a herd of 20 cows, averaging 25 pounds of milk per day, butter fat being valued at 28 cents per pound?"

The answer given in the text is $3.36, and this result is arrived only on the assumption that the loss was sustained on the butter fat collected during the period as well as on the skimmed milk.

If one desires to get the result with absolute correctness more data should be given. The pupil should be advised as to what was the normal quality of the milk at to butter fat, and urban pupils, who, perhaps, never saw a separator, should be told whether it is possible to skim close enough to cut the butter fat in skimmed milk lower than .05 per cent.

In our own school days we were taught to use "a year" or "per annum," but never "per year." Should the same rule not condemn the phrase, "per pound" and "per day" as used in the text?

Half a century ago when mathematicians occupied columns in the country press, this new High School volume of mathematical problems might have been roughly handled from the standard of good English.

Dean Moon would have revelled in such when he was writing "The Queen's English."

O.T.A. ANNIVERSARY WAS CELEBRATED

Rev. W. P. Fletcher Spoke Under Auspices of Royal Templars of Temperance

The second anniversary of the coming into force of the Ontario Temperance Act was observed in the Y.M.C.A. last night at a public meeting under the auspices of the Brantford Council, No. 24, Royal Templars of Temperance. The meeting opened with the singing of the Mother Country, in entering this war, and surely we should back the British Red Cross that gives the backing to our soldiers. When a British soldier falls in battle he falls into the arms of the British Red Cross. Its work is unending, and it is the finest product of civilization. The Germans, for their gross disregard of the Red Cross and other humanitarian will sooner or later be punished as they rightly deserve.

Sir John Eaton received a very hearty welcome. He stated that he made no pretensions whatever as a public speaker, and was simply there to manifest his sympathy on behalf of the great cause in hand. All knew the glorious history of the British Red Cross, and it was only fitting in connection with such a gathering that the spirit of the merchant marine should also be remembered. They and their dependents were not provided for in the same manner as the soldiers of the navy, but the dangers they had to face were equally great, and therefore some means for caring for them had to be provided.

Commodore Jarvis gave a most interesting review of the establishment of the Navy League in England. After making reference to the Allied victories, he emphasized the advancement being made at home in Britain, France, Canada and the United States under the leadership of the Rev. W. P. Fletcher delivered a spirited appeal to all temperance workers and particularly the young peoples' societies, not to give up their efforts, feeling that the battle had been won, but to "carry on" in whatever chapel of endeavor was possible.

The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem. Considering the inclemency of the weather, the attendance was fairly large.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(Reuters' correspondent.)—The Greek Minister of Agriculture, today, the Minister said that Greece had 200,000 soldiers under arms, and could raise an additional 100,000, but was handicapped by owing to the lack of shipping facilities. They were immediately commencing to build shipyards. He concluded that he was convinced that the Saloniki front was far more important than was generally realized. "Soon there will be big developments there," he said.

We are launching the campaign with two objects in view, the British Red Cross and the Sailor's Fund. The Sailors' Fund is a very worthy cause, and should receive the hearty co-operation of all. and seven days and nights a week. He wore no lace, no uniform and no decorations, and would not be recognized in any crowd and yet beneath the rough clothing, supplied by himself, there beat a heart of gold and proved heroic worth. It was through him and his services that 500,000 Canadian troops had been transported without the loss of a man, that two-thirds of the American army had been conveyed across the Atlantic, that ammunition and food had been conveyed to the Allies, that Great Britain had been saved from starving and that billions of dollars of produce, merchandise, and manufactured goods had reached their destination. In face of such a record it was sickening to think of a snivelling man like Lord Lansdowne, and other flannel-mouthed pacifists. (Loud applause.) The merchant sailor had a union of his own, and he had never yet gone on strike. (Renewed applause.) And the members of that union had resolved never again to ship with a crew containing a German, to refuse to sail to a German port or to remain on a vessel with German goods on board. (Loud applause.) That was their answer to the brutes who had so foully insulted the sea. (Applause.) The speaker closed by referring in detail to the proposed manner in which the money subscribed in Canada would be spent and related some of the barbarities practised by "U" boat crews. He finished with the quotation, commencing "Jack's the boy for work."

Mr. Hobblerlin was introduced as the gentleman who had staged the campaign in Toronto. He stated that he was present for organization and advice only but found that the Brantford men had already laid their plans in a thorough and comprehensive manner. He paid a hearty tribute to the energy and substantial help of Sir John Eaton as head of the Ontario effort and said they should remember that organization and were accomplishing. He would go to God that the unthinking could have a telescope placed in their hands through which they could view the daily life, the suffering, the perils and achievements of their men. They indeed their purse strings would be unloosed. Before the battle of Trafalgar, Nelson had down two signals, "Close Action," and "England expects every man this day will do his Duty." The same signals should apply to the campaign they had just launched and to all war duty.

 A collection was taken, and the response was what $50.99! That from a class of men who owed all their existing prosperity to the work and the bravery of the men of the merchant service. At first his indignation almost overcame him, but then he thought that the response must be attributed to ignorance of what the Cinderellas of the sea had accomplished and were accomplishing. CHAPTER XXV

Brian Sulks Because Ruth's Salary Is Raised

When Mr. Mandoll told Ruth she was to have forty dollars a week, she could scarcely believe in her good fortune. To have so much, and after working so short a time! But she hid her surprise, and thanked Mr. Mandoll.

"I shall do my best," she said in response to a remark he had made. "It will be easy now that I know I am appreciated."

"I am delighted with your work. As soon as you get a little further knowledge of business methods and detail, you will more than fill Miss Candee's shoes. Your taste and your originality delight me. But in all business there is a certain amount of detail which you must grasp before you become expert."

"I realize that Mr. Mandoll, and I shall try to learn as quickly as possible. It is my first business venture, you know."

"Yes, and because it is the first, I am astonished at your grasp. Now about this house of Cary's at Newport. What is your idea?" he changed the subject, and it was not mentioned again.

But all day Ruth kept thinking how glad Brian would be, and that she could look for a more attractive place to live.

Brian reached home soon after she did. Dinner was all ready, so Ruth waited until they should be seated at the table before she broke her news. Such wonderful news!

Mrs. Crawford had happened to get exactly the dinner Brian liked. A delicately browned steak, baked potatoes crackling in their scrubbed skins, and a thick creamy rice pudding. A simple dinner enough, but Brian's tastes were simple.

"Gee, but this looks good!" he exclaimed as they sat down. "Smells good too." Ruth returned, her face wreathed in smiles. She was glad Brian was in such good humor. Perhaps after she had told her good news, and they had finished dinner, they would go out somewhere and celebrate. There were several good shows he had said he would like to see.

"I've got some news for you, Brian," she could wait no longer. "You've decided to behave yourself and stay at home where you belong?" he asked, his mouth full of steak.

"— nothing like that! Oh, Brian! it's so wonderful! I have only been there a month, and what you think happened to-day? They raised my salary," she went on, not waiting for an answer, "not only raising it, but doubling it. I am to have forty dollars a week now! Just think what we can do—why, Brian—aren't you pleased?"

Her lip quivered, her eyes filled and she too pushed her plate away. Ruth sat looking at him absolutely stunned. She had thought he would be so pleased. "What could it be?"

"Pleased? Not the place for a woman is in her own home," and pushing his plate away, his dinner half finished, he went into the little bedroom and closed the door.

Suddenly she realized that the very thing which had so delighted her—the raise—had been unwelcome to Brian. That it was more than he earned, and so hurt his pride.

Ruth dried her tears and leaning her elbows on the table, her chin in her cupped hands, she tried to think what she should do, and what she should say to Brian.

"Such a foolish boy!" she muttered with a half smile. Yet in spite of the smile, she felt a resentment toward Brian. He would rather she washed dishes and did other unbecomingly work for nothing, than to earn money enough to hire the work done and give them something extra for other things that they couldn't possibly afford unless she earned it.

It was the only possible solution of Brian's actions. Should she follow him into the other room and coax him back to good nature, or should she let him fight it out alone? She decided on the latter course. From what Mr. Mandoll had said she would be entitled to another raise as soon as she had mastered the detail of the business; and if she soothed and petted Brian out of his sulks this time, she would have it to do all over again when her next raise came.

Ruth had entire faith in her own ability, as far as the work she had undertaken was concerned. Her whole heart was in it, and she had no intention of giving up so promising a career in a profession she had loved ever since her childhood. She smiled as she thought it was about time to hear from her aunt, who also would object to what she, Ruth, was doing. But her objections would be simply on the ground that it was unbecomingly for her niece to do work of any sort in a shop. She really was proud of Ruth's ability, in which she differed from Brian who, because of his indifference to the subject, thought little of her talent.

"Dessert is on the table, Brian," Ruth called as Mrs. Crawford brought in the rice pudding. She hid a smile as the door opened and Brian came slowly in, a sulky look on his face, and again seated himself at the table, but without speaking.

SECRET PLOTS AGAINST ALLIES

COMRADES IN EUROPE

To Carry on Campaigns of Sabotage, Looting and Revolutions

Washington, Sept. 16.—Secret activities against the United States and the allies of the German-paid and controlled Russian Bolshevik Government are the subject of today's chapter of confidential documents from Russia given to the public by the American Government.

One of the documents, a terse note from the German general staff to the Council of People's Commissars, is based on a long note of November, 1917, when the Russian regime still was regarded as an ally of the nations at war with Germany.

The Germans were busily preparing to carry on a campaign of sabotage, and places of storage of supplies received by Russia from America, England and France.

I beg to report as follows:

In Verity's turn at bat in the seventh innings, two men were out. Mr. Anderson came to bat. He hit the ball to Secondbaseman Slattery of the Pratt and Letchworth team. Slattery fielded the ball and threw wild to firstbaseman, ball striking fence and remaining in playing enclosure, and not being touched by any spectator.

Anderson continued to second base. Lenington, P. and L. catcher, recovered the ball and when Anderson led off second, threw to Shortstop Stuart in an endeavor to catch base runner. Anderson was safe on play. Stuart threw ball to Pitcher Johnson and when Anderson again left bag a quick throw from Johnson to secondbaseman caught Anderson before he could return to bag. I then called Anderson safe on play.

Rule 36 of the Official Baseball Rules contains the regulations when a ball is not in play and reads as follows:

In case of an illegally batted ball, a balk, foul hit ball not legally caught, dead ball, interference with the fielder or batsman, or a fair hit ball striking a base runner or umpire before touching a fielder, the ball shall not be considered in play until held by the pitcher standing in his position and the umpire shall have called "Play."

The Verity Baseball management protest is based on the grounds that the ball was not in play when decision was made. As the proceeding play was not an illegally batted ball, a balk, foul hit ball not legally caught, a dead ball, interference with fielder or base runner or base runner or umpire hit by batted ball, but simply an overthrow ball to firstbaseman, my opinion is that ball was in play all the time and decision was given under section 9 of rule 56, which reads:

"If at any time while the ball is in play, base runner be touched by the ball in the hands of a fielder, unless some part of his person be touching the base he is entitled to occupy, provided, however, that the ball be held by the fielder after touching him, unless the base runner deliberately knock it out of his hand, runner is out."

The Brantford Baseball City League all this season have been governed by this ground rule, an overthrow ball to first or third base, the base runner is entitled to the base he is going to at time of overthrow and only one more if he can make it without being put out. This plainly shows that all teams in the league are aware of the fact that the ball is in play on an overthrow, and I cannot see the difference between a ball that goes only ten or twenty feet and one that goes to the limit of the playing enclosure.

In conclusion, I wish to state that I had no doubt as to the correctness of the decision rendered by me, and I did not ask the assistance of the umpire-in-chief, Mr. Lee, on this decision.

Having this will make my stand on the matter clear, I remain, Yours sincerely,

ROBT. LYLE

U-Boats for Vladivostok. Plans of the Germans for sending three submarines, disassembled, by rail overland to Vladivostok, for service on the Pacific are disclosed in a communication of the German High Seas fleet general staff to the director of the German Intelligence Service. Another of the naval communications reveals a scheme conceived in January of employing the Russian flag to carry agitators and "agents-constructors" to the United States, Japan, and the British colonies in the East.

Personal notes from the German Intelligence Service to the commissars describe the assault upon and robbery of the St. Leon, Ambassador in the streets of Petrograd in February last in a vain effort to get possession of important papers believed to have been in the Ambassador's possession. Other notes tell in detail of "counter-revolution, sabotage, looting etc."

Like the remainder of the documents of the series, those made public to-day are accompanied by notes explaining which are originals and which photographic copies, and by explanatory comments by Edgar Sisson, who obtained the correspondence in Russia for the Committee of Public Information.

Nothing Can Come of Austrian Offer, Says A. J. Balfour

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 16.—A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, giving his personal view points on the Austrian peace note to visiting journalists, said:

"It is incredible that anything can come of this proposal."

Coming after the recent speech of Frederick von Papen, the German Imperial vice-chancellor, Mr. Balfour said: "This cynical proposal of the Austrian Government is not a genuine attempt to obtain peace. It is an attempt to divide the Allies."

Mr. Balfour said no one should take upon himself the task of rejecting with a light heart any proposal which would shorten the length of the war.

He also declared that no coalition ever had been so strong as the allied coalition, and the enemy would not succeed in breaking it.

A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, speaking at a luncheon given to-day to a number of visiting Dominion journalists, said he had read in the newspapers of the proposal made by one of Great Britain's principal enemies, and he wanted to say that anything he would say now must be taken as an individual utterance of a member of the government, and which might be described as an expression given on the spur of the moment.

"I cannot honestly in the proposals now made to us, as I have been able to study them," Mr. Balfour said, "see the slightest hope that the goal we all desire—the goal of a peace which shall be more than a truce—can really be attained."

The foreign secretary said he was utterly unable to see that a conference proposed by Austria could have the desired end.

PROTEST OF VERITY TEAM COLLAPSED

Pratt and Letchworth's Undisputed City League Champions

UMPIRE LYLE UPHELD

Ball Was Never Out of Play When the Dispute Occurred

Verity's protest over Saturday's City League game fell flat last night when Umpire Sam Lee admitted to the league executive that he had been mistaken in declaring the ball out of play when Anderson was caught off second base in the seventh inning. In consequence, Manager Kerr of the Flowmeters admitted that there was no course open for him but to withdraw his protest and concede the league championship to Pratt and Letchworth's Umpire Bob Lyle, who unconsciously started the trouble when he called Anderson out at second, was vindicated by the executive, who upheld his decision. Lee, who was umpire-in-chief, had stated to Manager Kerr that the ball was out of play, and the latter thereupon protested the same. Lee admitted last night, however, that he had been mistaken, and the matter dropped.

Umpire Lyle submitted the following report to J. J. Kelly, league President:

In accordance with your request of the 14th inst. to furnish a written report of the decision given by me in the seventh inning of the Verity versus Pratt and Letchworth game played on Saturday, Sept. 14th, my decision being protested by the Verity Baseball Club management as not being correct, according to the Official Playing Rules of Baseball Clubs.

PROPOSALS FRUITLESS

Nothing Can Come of Austrian Offer, Says A. J. Balfour

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 16.—A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, giving his personal view points on the Austrian peace note to visiting journalists, said:

"It is incredible that anything can come of this proposal."

Coming after the recent speech of Frederick von Papen, the German Imperial vice-chancellor, Mr. Balfour said: "This cynical proposal of the Austrian Government is not a genuine attempt to obtain peace. It is an attempt to divide the Allies."

Mr. Balfour said no one should take upon himself the task of rejecting with a light heart any proposal which would shorten the length of the war.

He also declared that no coalition ever had been so strong as the allied coalition, and the enemy would not succeed in breaking it.

A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, speaking at a luncheon given to-day to a number of visiting Dominion journalists, said he had read in the newspapers of the proposal made by one of Great Britain's principal enemies, and he wanted to say that anything he would say now must be taken as an individual utterance of a member of the government, and which might be described as an expression given on the spur of the moment.

"I cannot honestly in the proposals now made to us, as I have been able to study them," Mr. Balfour said, "see the slightest hope that the goal we all desire—the goal of a peace which shall be more than a truce—can really be attained."

The foreign secretary said he was utterly unable to see that a conference proposed by Austria could have the desired end.

OBITUARY

INFANT FLAHERTY

Mr. and Mrs. Darcy Flaherty, 155 1-2 Terrace Hill street, mourn the loss of their infant daughter Ina May, aged two months. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning to St. Joseph's cemetery.

JOHN SQUIRE

Death called an old and respected resident of the city yesterday in the person of John Squire, 27 Chestnut street, who passed away in the hospital after an illness of less than a week, brought on by a paralytic stroke. The late Mr. Squire had been for 37 years in the service of the government as janitor of the old Magistrate's Court, which he had assumed that position in 1881. He was born at Woodhouse, Eaves, Lancashire, England, in 1842, and came to Canada with his parents when six years of age. Since that time he resided in or near Brantford, having operated a farm adjoining the Mohawk church for a number of years. Mr. Squire was a life long member of Wellington street church, and a charter member of Salisbury Lodge, S.O.E., of which he was one of the originators. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and two sons, T. A. Squire, the local hardware dealer, and C. A. Squire, both of this city, and a brother, aged ninety years, in Hamilton. The late Mr. Squire was one of a family of nine.

Sporting Comment

TALE BEARING.

City leaders of what are more than a little worth over the manner in which someone is carrying tales to the Hamilton baseball league. The Hamilton Herald last night charges that Brantford teams are riding rough shod over the league rules, and, more specifically, that Johnson, pitcher for Pratt and Letchworth's, had been signed by that team after August 1, which is contrary to the league rules. As a matter of fact, Johnson had been released by the Motor Trucks and signed by the Malleables before that date, and the Herald's charges fall to the ground. The Herald may be acting in good faith in what it says, but is tending itself as the mouthpiece of certain troublemakers in this regard, and city league officials have a very shrewd idea who those disturbers are, as the present is not the first time that such an outcry has been raised without any foundation.

RUSSIAN ON TRIAL

Alex. Barrel, the Russian Socialist, whose application for a new trial was granted by the Supreme Court in Toronto last week, appeared before Magistrate Livingston in the police court this morning. Barrel was sentenced, some weeks ago, to six months in prison, and a fine of $500, for having prohibited literature in his possession. The case was given a re-hearing, and was then adjourned for a week, in order to ascertain whether the supreme court ruling called for a trial by jury or whether the magistrate had power to pass sentence. Chief Slemin, the first witness called, gave a detailed account of the searching of the house at 18 Sydenham street. Barrel was found on a bed, and a bundle of prohibited literature was found between the mattress and the springs. The papers in question were produced in court.

Serg. Donnelly had been in charge of a raid on Huxley Hall, and after breaking open a number of cupboards had found numerous papers and a cash book in which the defendant's name appeared as a member of the Brantford Branch of the Russian Socialist Revolutionary Party, of which there were forty members according to the book. Louis Stander, the court interpreter, accompanied the policemen in the raid on 18 Sydenham street, and had witnessed the finding of the papers.

Barrel, the prisoner, was then put in the dock, and was very cool under the rigid cross examination. He admitted having been a member of a society and having paid fifty cents a month dues. He also admitted buying the papers, but did not know that they were wrong. He denied the finding of the papers in his bed, and said that they had been found in another bed.

This completed the evidence, and the case was adjourned for a week in order to ascertain whether this trial was the final trial or whether he would have to be tried by jury.

SERBS ADVANCE

The Allies are moving forward on a front of more than 12 miles, and have taken the village of Gradeshnitsa, 30 miles east of Monastir. The Jugo-Slav division is fighting with the Serbs and French and has reached Koziah, the most important position in the region of the offensive. The official statement which is dated Monday reads: "Our offensive continues with complete success. The front pierced has been widened to include the remainder of the village of Gradeshnitsa and extends over a front of more than 20 kilometres. "The whole of the ridge of Sokal is in our hands as well as the ridges of Trunaviska, Revovaska and Brazgasta. We have advanced more than eight kilometres. "Up to the present the French and Serbian troops have taken more than 3,000 prisoners and more than 24 guns. Our casualties have been quite small. "A Jugo-Slav division has reached Koziah (5,085 feet above the sea, and northeast of Sokal), the most important position in this region. Our advance continues."

CIVIC GRANTS TO SAILORS' FUND, BRITISH RED CROSS AND CATHOLIC ARMY HUTS FUND

Council Voted $8000. to Each of Two Former Funds, and $600. to Latter; Delegations Were Heard at Last Night's Session

"That this council is favorable to granting the sum of $16,000 to the combined Red Cross and Sailors' Fund but inasmuch as all funds available for the current year have been appropriated, this council and their successors in office to provide for this sum from the taxes of 1919 and make payment half in July and half in October in that year. The grant to be divided equally between the two funds." A decided impetus was given the campaign for the Sailors' Fund and the British Red Cross by the city council last night, when a grant of $16,000.00 was made after a delegation had been heard on the subject. The grant is to be divided equally between the two funds. The sum of $600 was also voted to the Knights of Columbus in the call to the Army Huts Association. A delegation waiting on the council asked for the sum of $1000.00, but upon the recommendation of Ald. Harp and Chalcraft the grant was fixed at $600.00. Both of the sums voted are to be paid out of next year's appropriation.

Ald. Harp introduced the delegation from the Knights of Columbus, explaining that they had waited upon the finance committee on Friday night.

B. S. Mattice, Grand Knight of Brantford Council, Knights of Columbus, explained that that society was the collecting agency for the Catholic Army Huts, an Association operating under Dominion charter. It has been carrying on work overseas for a year past, its aims being to keep the soldiers clean in soul and in body. All are welcome at its huts regardless of creed; there is a welcome club in London, and huts at all the Canadian training camps in England, as well as in France. Not a cent of profit made by the association, and everything is supplied free to the soldiers, including stationery, tobacco, chocolate, newspapers and articles of devotion. Its work is carried on absolutely in respect of creed, and has the strong sanction and co-operation of the military authorities. Mr. Mattice went on to read letters from prominent men. General Turner, commanding the Canadians in England, casualties. The objects of both funds were so good and so well known that he felt further comment was unnecessary. As no appeal would be made next year for the Patriotic Fund, the delegation felt justified in asking for the sum they did.

H. T. Watt, Mr. Watt read a letter from the central committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund at Ottawa, stating that after March of 1919 no appeals for public subscription to that fund would be made, as the Dominion Government had undertaken to supply the needs of the association after the above date.

The British Red Cross, he explained, had affiliated its appeal with that of the Sailors' Fund in order to leave the coast clear for the Victory Loan drive due at a later date. C. Cook, "No more deserving appeal has ever come before you than these two," declared Mr. Cook, laying stress upon the importance above all other movements of the Red Cross. In connection with the Sailors' Fund, he explained the purpose of the fund, that of providing for the dependents of the men of the merchant marine, who faced daily perils at a rate of pay lower than that of the average laborer. They had transported 500,000 Canadian troops to England without the loss of a single man; had taken 12,000,000 men across the English Channel, and had transported two-thirds of the American troops now overseas. Fifteen thousand men of the merchant marine had given their lives during the war. He explained that the city's contribution could be divided between the two funds in any proportion the Council chose.

Ald. Harp declared that the grant should be equally divided between the two funds. The Council could not give less than last year. Ald. Simpson declared that the city had no right to tax its ratepayers to contribute to such funds. "This, although he was strongly in sympathy with the aims of both funds. He felt that the money needed for such funds should be raised by the Government."

"It isn't a question of whether we can give it or not," declared Ald. Hill. "We have got to give; the war has got to be supported and maintained. I only wish we could give more." "The Germans are now on the road home," observed Ald. Kelly, opining that Brantford must do its duty. Such a grant might be unconstitutional, but for such a cause this should be disregarded. "We have been paying," Ald. Chalcraft pointed out, "and we expect to pay until we see this thing through. The present is no time to stop." He expressed surprise at Ald. Simpson's protest. It was the city's privilege to support such a fund. "When you don't they do it in England?" demanded Ald. Simpson. "My heartfelt sympathy goes out to the men of the merchant marine, who are running even greater risks in the war than the regular navy," declared Ald. Milten. He could not understand the low rates of pay prevailing in the marine service. Every one must make sacrifices at a time like the present, and he felt confident that the ratepayers would back up the Council in its action, unconstitutional or not. The resolution carried, and the delegation withdrew after expressing their thanks to the Council.

ORGANIZED LABOR WOULD REPEAL M.S.A.

Resolution to That Effect is Coming Before the Trades Congress SESSION IN QUEBEC

By Courier Leased Wire. Quebec, Sept. 16.—The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was opened this morning in the Columbus Hall with 413 delegates from all parts of the Dominion in attendance. According to a statement of P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of the Congress, the principal subject to be discussed will be the question of cooile labor in Canada, a question which Mr. Draper says is causing real concern to labor men, particularly in the Maritime Provinces. Resolutions will also be submitted asking for the repeal of the Military Service Act and urging the Federation of All Unions in Canada as a means of meeting capitalism.

Another question around which interest centres is the fight for the presidency. The strongest opponent of J. C. Walters, the present holder of that office, is James Simpson, who is supported by the Toronto Typographical Union. Mr. Simpson is at present in New Zealand, where he is conducting a temperance campaign.

Addresses of welcome was tendered the delegates by Sir Lomer Gouin, on behalf of the Province, the Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Minister of Public Works and Labor of Quebec, Mayor Lavigneur, and J. M. Walsh, President of the Quebec Trades and Labor Council.

Mr. Taschereau suggested that an open discussion be held on the question: Were women to remain in the positions in which they had been called on account of the shortage of male labor or were they to become again the "angels of the home."

Mr. Taschereau invited the delegates to visit Valcartier Camp and the drill halls in Quebec and see the young French-Canadians training there to fight for King and country. They would be convinced, he said, that there were no slackers in Quebec.

President Walters replying on behalf of the delegates said in regard to the war that they had no assurance that civilization would live through the chaotic period that would make the world safe for democracy. He felt that the development of democracy could only be secured by labor taking a directing part in the governments of the nation.

The Congress appointed John H. Kennedy, Toronto, who was fraternal delegate to the British Trades and Labor Congress in a similar capacity to the International Allied Labor and Socialist Congress to open this week in London.

LULL AFTER BATTLE British Take Town of Maisemy and Continue Progress

By Courier Leased Wire. With the American Army in Lorraine, Sept. 16, 12.30 p.m.— (By the Associated Press)—Activity of the German artillery increased somewhat during the forenoon to-day.

No infantry attacks, however, were made. Intense aerial activity marked the operations early to-day.

The Germans have not resisted minor movements calculated to consolidate the American line which now has become firmly fixed. Allied night bombing airplanes Sunday night dropped more than 17 tons of bombs on Courcelles, Enrance, Saerbrucken, Boulay, Buhl, Conflans and other points. The bombs dropped on Courcelles were directed against the railway yards, the centre of German communications in this region. Roads crossing the Moselle also were attacked by the airmen. Many direct hits were observed. An enemy train was hit at Longuyon.

Pursuit groups protected by a barrage carried out numerous raids and scored victories in several engagements. Attempts of German aviators to cross the American line were unsuccessful generally.

Enemy airplanes last night attacked points within the American lines. Bombs were dropped on St. Mihiel and the Germans used their machine guns against that town, but with little effect.

Reports from different points along the line show that the number of guns and general material secured by the Americans is increasing. An entire artillery park was captured at Jauly.

Austrian prisoners captured by the Americans are bitter in their denunciation of the Germans. They accuse the Germans of leaving them in the lurch. Austrian officers declare they were not warned of the American attack and that repeated requests for ammunition were ignored. The Germans, they add, gave their entire attention to extricating themselves from the salient.

BRITISH TAKE VILLAGE. With the British Army in France, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Maisemy, a village five miles northwest of St. Quentin has been captured by the British. The place was taken during a local attack directed against the high ground upon which this hamlet is situated. This adds another important position to those recently taken along the ridges west of St. Quentin.

A little below this place and to the southwest of Holnon Wood, the British also improved their lines slightly. Fighting of a local nature continues on the northern battle front near La Bassée, where the enemy has been forced to give ground recently. Beyond this, no great activity has been reported.

British gunners bombarded the Hindenburg line fiercely for hours yesterday and heavy enemy losses were inflicted.

The German gunners have been maintaining an intense fire in the Gouzeaucourt sector and deluged Havrincourt with explosives yesterday. To-day brought the first fair weather the British front has seen for a

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called Ferrone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of Ferrone will cost very little at any of the drug stores but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting a corn is a suicidal habit.

PROGRESS CONTINUED. With the British forces in France, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Field Marshal Haig's forces continued their steady improvement of the British line at numerous points yesterday and last night. The most important gains recorded were in the Ypres-Comines Canal sector, where an advance of about 1,000 yards was achieved in the neighborhood of the canal, and in the Havrincourt zone, where posts were established along the Canal Du Nord to the east of Demicourt thereby giving the aggressors a better position for future operations should they be undertaken.

The German artillery has maintained a steady bombardment at Havrincourt and in the surrounding territory.

SOVIET GOVERNMENT TO SEEK ALLIANCE

The Bolsheviks Alone Cannot Stand Against Czechoslovaks

By Courier Leased Wire. Amsterdam, Sept. 16.—Hints that the Bolshevik government of Russia may seek alliance with other powers are contained in a note addressed to the People's Commissaries and Soviets by Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, printed in The Pravda of Petrograd and republished in The Lokai Anzeiger of Berlin. The note reads:

"The position on the Czechoslovak front is becoming more dangerous daily. We are daily becoming increasingly convinced that alone we cannot overcome the Soviet government there is only one way out, namely, to conclude a defensive and offensive alliance with another power."

"In order to save the power of the workers and peasants, we must not even resort from an alliance with Imperialists."

AUSTRIAN PROPOSALS SEEN AS GERMAN RUSE

Endeavor to Obtain Favorable Terms For Peace Before Allied Victories Inflict Severe Punishment — U. S. Press Rejects Austria's Offer

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Sept. 16.—Receipt of the official text of the Austrian peace proposal was awaited to-day by officials here, but unless the communication is couched in terms radically different from the version contained in press despatches, it was felt that the entire plea could be characterized as a German ruse to obtain the best possible terms before an Allied victory could impose the most severe punishment upon her.

The proposal as viewed by officials, it was reiterated, does not contain a single basis upon which the Entente Powers and the United States would be willing to meet the authors of the plea. In most circles it was held that the putting forth of the proposal at this time, was but an admission of the growing weakness of the Central Powers. Evidence that such a proposal was to be made soon has been frequent recently and repeatedly affirmed therefore was no surprise to officials here.

There was doubt to-day whether a reply would be sent. If a reply is made, it was considered likely that the Allies would make a joint answer after an exchange of views.

Answer is "No." New York, Sept. 16.—The New York Herald says:

"The answer will be a firm and decisive negative. There will be no calm exchange of views."

President Wilson has specifically stated and repeatedly affirmed the main conditions of peace. These conditions and principles have been fully endorsed by Entente statesmen in every country concerned. Nothing short of full compliance with them will satisfy the nations now fighting together for freedom—and a condition precedent to their consideration at a peace conference is that the Central Powers and their accomplices shall lay down their arms, withdraw from occupied territories, including Russia, and that the shameful Brest-Litovsk treaty shall be abrogated. Until these conditions are complied with the answer to Austria-Hungary is "no" and this is backed by force "without stint or limit."

"We have just begun to fight." Times is Hopeful.

The Times says: "From Vienna, the quarter from which for three years the Allies have felt that the movement for peace would originate, comes the first real peace offer and it comes in a form which the Allies may honorably accept in the confident belief that they will lead to the end of the war." "The Vienna invitation to conference is not of the kind that victors send forth." "Upon that we need not dwell. All the belligerents desire the end of the war. The stricken world longs for peace.

Commonly from other cities along similar lines follows: The Boston Globe:

"In all this there is one real danger to the Allies. The German diplomatic offensive finds the Allies with a divided diplomatic front. England, France and Italy have never yet officially endorsed President Wilson's war aims."

The Philadelphia Record:

"A sufficient reply to Austria-Hungary's peace overtures was made in advance by recognition by the United States and its Allies of the Czechoslovaks as an Allied nation. We cannot make peace and betray them and the country must be carved out of the dual monarchy."

Allied Spirit Irresistible. The Washington Post:

"Germany started this war; civilization will finish it. The spirit that animates the Allied millions, which commands them to go into battle and conquer is the spirit of liberty. The spirit is now aflame throughout the world."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer:

"Germany has failed to conquer the world with her arms, now she proposes to conquer the world with her wits."

BALFOUR'S VERDICT. London, Sept. 16.—Conversations such as were proposed by Austria-Hungary, Mr. Balfour said, undoubtedly would have great value under certain circumstances. He said they would serve to smooth out obscurities such as questions of privilege, etc., but he declared that the questions now between the belligerents were definitely defined.

"I am not taking the proposal of two years ago or last year, but of last week," Secretary Balfour said. "The German vice-chancellor speaking for the German government, clearly and without obscure verbiage showed where Germany stood on the question of Belgium, Alsace-Lorraine, the German colonies and the Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest treaties."

The foreign secretary said he agreed with the Austrian note when his author pointed out that the whole of civilization was at stake and that the prolongation of hostilities was a risking or sacrificing of a great deal that was really dear to everybody interested in the progress of mankind."

Leaders Conferred. Amsterdam, Sept. 17.—An important conference of leaders of the majority parties in the Reichstag was held on Sunday with reference to the Austrian peace note, telegrams from Berlin to-day report.

According to some of the reports Count von Hertling, the imperial chancellor, presided at the conference which lasted two hours and a half. Admiral von Hintze, the foreign secretary and Herr Walraf, the minister of the interior, are also stated to have been present. It was said the deliberations would be continued to-day.

Allied Terms. Manchester, Eng. Sept. 16.—The Guardian discussing the Austrian peace note, asks if the Central Powers will be willing to restore the countries they have over-run, revoke the Brest-Litovsk treaty, set Russia free and leave Poland, Lithuania and the Ukraine to determine her own destiny.

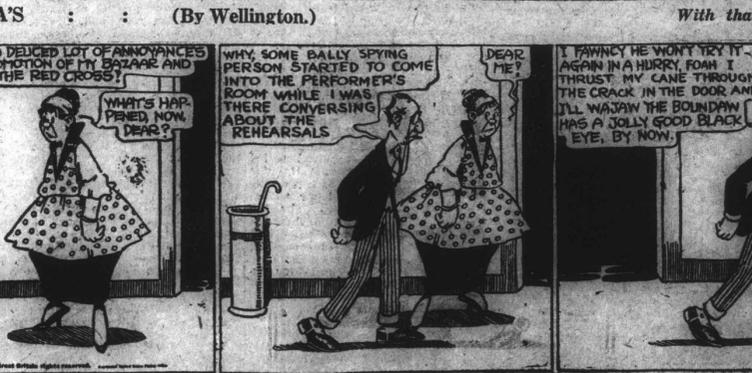

"These are among the questions which the Allied Governments are entitled to ask before consenting to enter upon confidential negotiations."

The newspaper considers, however, that it would be a monstrous thing to flout this proposal as proposals have been floated before. And thinks the Allied Governments should request some expression of views as to the possibility of a settlement of such lines as those President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George have laid down.

"The fact that dominates the moment," adds the Guardian, "is that the people of both Germany and Austria are wavering. As the Bavarian minister of the interior said many have become faint-hearted and their moral firmness and resolve to hold out have wavered. Let us, above all things, be careful not to reply in such terms as will give the wavering a fresh respite."

Not Yet Received in London. London, Sept. 16.—The Austrian note has not yet been presented formally to the British foreign office by the neutral minister in London, whose government was requested by Austria-Hungary to transmit it, although the Foreign Office yesterday received a copy of the note from their representatives in neutral capitals.

The Swedish ministry in London however, expects the arrival of the note momentarily. It is understood that the British Foreign Office.

STRONG UNION FOR CENTRAL ROUTE

Provincial Highway Discussed by the City Council Last Night

At last night's meeting of the city council Ald. Chalcraft submitted a verbal report on the convention held in London last week on the Provincial Highway. Great interest is being taken in the move, he stated, by farmers west of London, who realize that the matter is vital to their interests. The Hon. F.G. McDiarmid, Ontario minister of Highways, Ald. Chalcraft felt was likely to support the southern route, thru St. Thomas because of West Elgie's being his own constituency. The union of the municipalities advocated the control route to London however, and those supporting the direct route thence west to Windsor would be one which should exercise considerable influence over the legislation.

Ald. Kelly gave credit to the Board of Trade and the city council for their activities in the matter, and urged that they keep fully in touch with the movement, one of the most important in the advancement of the city of Brantford. It was on such issues as this and the Port Dover harbor question, on which action had been promised by the Hon. F. B. Carvell that the city should be active, instead of spitting hairs on the price of a ton of coal. "Northern, central, southern, how many routes are there for this highway?" inquired Ald. Simpson. "There is only one, the central route replied Ald. Kelly, emphatically."

British and Canadians in U.S.A.

ON September 28th the work of British and Canadian Railway Mission in the United States automatically comes to a finish under the new treaty which has just been signed between Canada and the United States. Col. J. S. Dennis, who was given leave of absence from the C. P. R. to take an active and leading part in this mission and has been made a C. M. G. in recognition of his services, has recently been addressing a series of meetings in the Middle West, with very notable results in the way of recruits. His explanation of the treaty and of the work of the Mission have been widely quoted in the United States and are reproduced here.

"Before the United States entered the war, and while you were a neutral country, it was illegal under the provisions of your Criminal Code for any of the allied nations to recruit their citizens resident in the United States for military service. I am not committing any breach of confidence when I say that in spite of this provision certain Britishers were enlisted in the United States and went forward to fight, and, as you know, some over-zealous persons in San Francisco were impatient for breach of the law but were released after the United States entered the war.

"Very shortly after the United States entered the war, the Criminal Code was amended so as to give the Secretary of War the right to issue a permit to properly accredited commissions of any of the allied countries to come into the United States and recruit their citizens for military service, and it was under a permit of that kind that the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission came here in June, 1917, and have been recruiting Britons and Canadians since that date. When this Mission was established, the information available from your last census indicated that there were about 400,000 Britons and Canadians resident in the United States. When your Government called upon all men between 21 and 31, irrespective of nationality, to register, the returns showed that 286,000 Britons and Canadians were included in the ten million men who registered, and the names and addresses of these men were given us by the Draft Boards and carefully card indexed by us. The military age in Great Britain and Canada is from 18 to 45, so it is quite safe to assume that if we add to the 286,000 men between 21 and 31, who registered, those between 18 and 21 and 31 and 45, we are safe in saying that there were 350,000 Britons and Canadians of military age in the United States, and these are the men we have been trying to reach through the Recruiting Mission.

"Now let me tell you what we have been able to do through the Recruiting Mission since it was established. We opened recruiting depots in all the main centres from the Atlantic to the Pacific. We asked these resident in the United States to come forward and meet the recruiting need of the countries of their birth for men to win the war. What has been the result? Fourteen months of concentrated effort and hard work has induced some 65,000 Britons and Canadians to volunteer up to last week. Of that number we have been able to accept and dispatch to the service about 42,000. I said a moment ago that there were 250,000 Britons and Canadians of military age. 45,000 have volunteered. What has become of the remaining 205,000? It is for the purpose of dealing with this large number who have failed to respond to their countries call that this treaty has been entered into.

"Why did these Britons and Canadians come to the United States? They came because they thought the opportunities here were better than at home. You welcomed them—yes, you gave them every chance to share with you the bountiful resources with which nature has blessed your wonderful country—they have been allowed to take advantage of all the privileges of citizenship, but have not become citizens, and in that they failed in their duty to you and to the flag that has protected them. 285,000 of these men are living in your midst and have not responded to the call of the country of their nationality. They say Great Britain and Canada can't reach us because we are in the United States and Uncle Sam can't get us because we are Britons or Canadians, so why should we worry. Well, this treaty was entered into to meet that situation and now they are going to be given every reason to worry.

"This treaty is really an historical event. It is true that a treaty on such matters with officers and non-commissioned officers who have been or active service, and most of them have been wounded. We brought military units with bands from Canada. We have covered the country with posters; have sent appeals through the mails on three different occasions; have carried advertisements in the papers and have held public meetings and recruiting rallies without end—all for the purpose of carrying the urgent appeal of Great Britain and Canada to their citizens. Similar lines was entered into a short time ago between Great Britain, France and Russia, but it has remained for this war to make history in the completion of treaties between allied countries, under the provisions of which the citizens of one allied country resident in another allied country can be forced to do military service in the army of the country of their residence, instead of in that of the country of their nationality.

"The treaty provides that a period of sixty days is granted during which the Britons and Canadians in the United States can volunteer. That period expires at midnight on September 28th next; sixty days from the date of ratification of the treaty on July 28th last. Every Briton or Canadian who volunteers during that period will be given a certificate if he is found medically unfit, and this certificate will be exchanged for an exemption certificate, issued by the British Ambassador at Washington, which certificate will be recognized by the United States as exempting the holder from military service.

"Provision is also made for exemption during the sixty day period by the Ambassador for certain special causes, as set out in the regulations, and practically similar provisions exist regarding American citizens resident in Great Britain and Canada; these cases being dealt with by the American Ambassador in England, and the American Consul-General in Canada. You will therefore see that the treaty is reciprocal and perfectly fair in its provisions.

"Now, what is going to happen to the Britons and Canadians who have not volunteered or been exempted when midnight strikes on September 28th next? I will tell you! From that date and for all time thereafter they and their children and grandchildren after them will be branded in the eyes of the world as men without a country—duty dodgers, shirkers and slackers, who would not respond to the agonizing appeal for help from the country of their birth and nationality, and who had to be turned over through the provisions of a treaty to the country of their residence to be forcibly made to do their duty, and our sincere hope is that early in the morning of September 28th, Uncle Sam will take every one of these Britons and Canadians by the back of the neck and march them down the street to the nearest military camp. Why am I justified in saying these hard things? Well, I look back to the sacrifice made by Britons and Canada during the past four years and the lavish way in which Britons and Canadians have shed their blood in the cause, and then I look on these Britons and Canadians here who have made no sacrifice; have enjoyed peace and plenty, high wages and comfortable living, and I ask you is it fair that while your boys are going to the front as volunteers or under draft regulations these British and Canadian slackers shall be allowed to sit in peace and the positions made vacant by the departure of your sons, and to act as if the country of their birth has no call on their services in its desperate need?

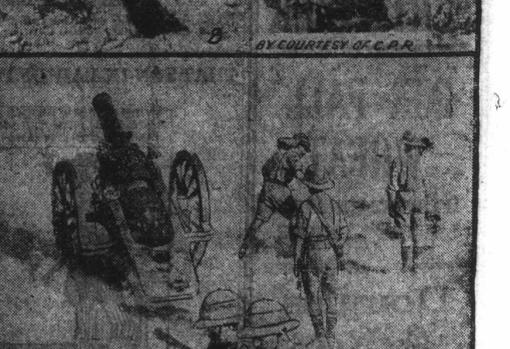

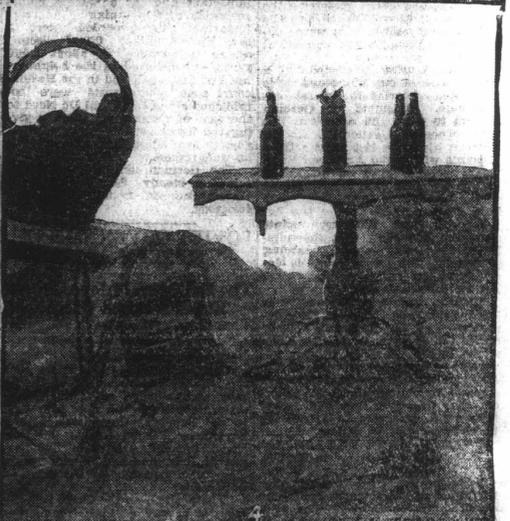

"Is there any Englishman within sound of my voice who, after the 28th of September next, will ever again presume to call himself an Englishman and thus attempt to share in the standing given that name throughout the world by those English regiments that have fought when they stood outnumbered fifty to one until they died?

"Can any Scotchman ever claim kinship with the land of the heather, knowing that the glens of Scotland are depleted of men up to fifty years of age to re-inforce these ill-fated battalions of the British army, who, in this, as in every other war, have been foremost in the fight?

"Is there any Welshman who can hope to face the hills of Wales and claim citizenship with men from these hills and valleys who, under the badge of the lion, are fighting in France?

"Can any Scotchman ever again claim the wrongs claimed by Ireland, presume to claim himself with the men of the British Guards, the Connaught Rangers, the Munsters, the Inniskillings, and those other units of the fighting Irish race, and, finally, is there any Canadian who, after the 28th of September, will presume to head north and cross that imaginary boundary separating Canada from the United States and hope that they will be any welcome for him there and that he will be allowed to share in the name 'Canadian,' now known throughout the world as signifying citizenship in a country that voluntarily has three thousand miles to war, and on many a bloody battlefield proved that the name designated a virtue and nobility?

"I have endeavored to put the position of Britons and Canadians in the United States clearly before them and must leave the final decision to them. They must decide whether they are going to play a man's part or be forever ear-marked as men without a country and absolutely lacking in the red blood that we are justified in saying is recognized throughout the world as characterizing Britons.

THE TROUBLES OF A TRANSPORT DRIVER

(By Lieut. J. B. Morton.)

A big lorry came bumping along the road.

It could not go fast because the road was in such a bad condition, having been under almost continuous shell-fire for days. It was really wonderful how the driver managed to steer at all, and every minute it looked as if the lorry would come to grief in a shell-hole or become stuck in a deep rut or go into the ditch at the side of the road. But the driver, seemed entirely unperturbed. He was smoking an old smoke-blackened pipe, and his eyes were fixed in front of him, looking out for pitfalls.

Now and then, with increasing frequency, there was a big puff of smoke on one side or other of the road. Once a shell landed about thirty yards behind the lorry, on the ground it had just traversed. The driver turned his head to the man at his side.

"It's late, wasn't they?" he said, and winked.

Further on a big branch and part of the trunk of a tree lay across the road. The lorry stopped, while the two men got down and cleared the way. They drove on again and came presently to a group of ruins which were apparently a particular mark for the German gunners. The driver took in the critical situation in a second, and increased his speed. The lorry bounded forward, thundering over the cobbles of what had been a village street. Once clear of the ruins he slowed down again, but there was a big rent in his canvas, and one of his wheels was clipped in several places. He turned a corner and drew up alongside a ration dump.

"Never thought you'd get up tonight Joe," said the Quartermaster-Sergeant's clerk.

"What, an' leave the boys hungry-me? Not much. No flies on this child."

While the lorry was being unloaded the driver stamped his feet up and down to restore the circulation, and swung his arms as the cabmen do across his chest. Then he prepared to begin the return journey, fortified by a cup of tea and a thick hunk of bread and jam. He started the engine, and climbed into his seat. It was almost dark now, and he would have to drive slower and more carefully.

He rumbled off down the road and turned the corner again.

"The trenches ain't got a monopoly of all the fun," said the old Quartermaster-Sergeant. "Not by a long chalk."

The lorry came slowly towards the ruins, and the driver prepared to dash for it again, for they were still being shelled heavily. There was an unpleasant two or three minutes then the lorry emerged, going towards the open country again. Suddenly there was an odd swerve, and the driver's hand went up to his face quickly.

"Damn!" he said, "Pipe's out again."

He slowed down and struck a match, and then proceeded on his way. There were two more rents in the canvas.

Presently he came round a bend, and the town was in sight. He glanced back at the way he had come. The horizon flashed with explosions.

"Bad night up in the trenches," said the driver. "It's a risky sort of life up there, all right; no doubt about that. 'Oh blast this pipe!'"

SUPERINTENDENT UNGER RESIGNS TO CUT CITY WOOD

Leaves Position on Works Department—Will go to Civic Farm

CONTRACT CONCLUDED

E. T. McLaren, Now Overseas, May Return to City's Employ

Fred Unger, for years superintendent of city streets and for the past year in charge also of the sewer department, resigned his position at last night's meeting of the city council, and upon the recommendation of the board of works it was accepted. Mr. Unger has a contract with the city and will deliver to the city at $150 per cord the wood now growing on the civic farm at Harley and in this capacity will still be serving the municipality as he has done.

His position as superintendent of streets and sewers has not yet been filled, the council having before it the proposition of engaging Mr. E. T. McLaren, former city engineer now residing in France. A movement to secure the discharge of Mr. McLaren, who has been nearly two years overseas, has been set on foot and he has agreed to return to his position with the city if it is successful.

The following resolution, moved by Ald. Harp and seconded by Ald. Chabreft carried:

Resolved, That Mr. E. T. McLaren be asked to intercede with the military authorities to ask for the discharge of sapper E. T. McLaren, now serving with the engineering forces in France, as the city of Brantford is greatly in need of his engineering training.

Superintendent Resigns.

The Board of Works report as follows:

(1) That the letter of Fred Unger dated Sept. 16th 1918 tendering his resignation as Superintendent of streets and sewers be filed and his resignation be accepted.

(2) That application having been made by E. T. McLaren for approval of the plan of subdivision of Bk. 11K East of Wilkes Tract prepared by John Fair O.L.S. such plan is hereby approved.

The contract whereby Mr. Unger undertakes to cut the wood on the civic farm was closed by by-law.

Expressions of regret that Mr. Unger was leaving the city's employ, declaring that he had proven himself a valuable and courteous official. He felt that a great loss would be suffered at once to take up the work along with Mr. Unger before the latter left the works department.

Ald. Briggs also expressed his regrets, and voiced an appreciation of Mr. Unger's services. He felt that the appointment of a successor rested entirely with the board of works.

Ald. Harp felt that Mr. Unger was undertaking a job in which he would be of great service to the entire city. He deprecated too great haste in filling Mr. Unger's position, feeling that a competent man must be secured.

"One of the best overseers Brantford ever had" commented Ald. Burrows of Mr. Unger. He pointed out that the city was losing the latter's services for a time.

"It is our loss and his gain" commented Ald. Hill.

Mr. Unger has the utmost goodwill of the entire council" observed Ald. English.

"I thank you for your expressions of appreciation" replied Mr. Unger, expressing regret at leaving his position and promising his utmost in delivery wood to the city.

Change Cemetery Prices.

Two readings were given a by-law introduced by Ald. Brage to change the prices of lots in Mount Hope Cemetery as follows:

South end, full lots, formerly $40, now $60; south end, half lots, formerly $20, now $30; north end, full lots $40, half lots $30.

The by-law is provided for the sale of lots on divided paths in Greenwood cemetery.

Ald. English, who is acting mayor this week, occupied the adjournment at 10.40, a comparatively early hour considering the volume of business put through.

PREMIER ENDORSES ARMY HUT CAMPAIGN

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Too, Sends Letter to Knights of Columbus

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—The Knights of Columbus, who inaugurated today a Canadian-wide campaign for a fund of $500,000 in connection with the Army Hut campaign, have received letters of endorsement from Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Premier's letter to Chairman Lyons says:

"I have already made a contribution to the fund raised in Halifax by the Knights of Columbus for the same purpose, but the cause which you are supporting is so worthy that I gladly send an additional contribution to the fund here."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's letter says:

"The citizens of Canada, without distinction of race or creed, will generously assist the military chaplain service and the Knights of Columbus in carrying on the welfare work which they have undertaken, and which resembles to a great extent the excellent work which is being carried on by the Y.M.C.A."

Both have for their ultimate object the physical, moral and mental health of the boys who are standing between us and German militarism."

COUNCIL FAVORED DISTRIBUTION OF ITS RESERVE COAL

Opinion Was That Present Situation Constituted an Emergency

DELIVERY PROBLEM

Immediate distribution of the reserve coal supply now in the city, on the grounds that an emergency exists at the present time, was favored by the city council last night after considerable discussion.

The council was informed that all coupon orders sent in to the city have been turned over to local dealers for distribution, but that the latter will accept no more until all the reserve coal has been filled. Eleven hundred tons of chestnut coal are being supplied to the soldiers' dependents by the Standard Coal Company, in co-operation with the city, while the municipality has agreed to take over an equal quantity of egg and pea coal. As the Standard company has obtained the use of the civic trucks to deliver the coal to the soldiers' wives, the city has at the present time no facilities for delivering its emergency fuel.

Mr. Russell.

City Treasurer A. K. Bunnell addressed the council, recalling the agreement entered into by the council at its last meeting for the purchase of 2200 tons of coal, provided the sanction of the city solicitor could be obtained. In view of the fact that the coal was to be devoted to supplying the needs of the soldiers' dependents, the solicitor felt that the city would be within its rights in making the purchase. Delivery of fuel to the soldiers' wives was therefore due to be commenced to-day. In order to enable the city to take over the egg and pea coal to be shipped with the chestnut coal, the switch to the west Brantford yards must be completed at once.

Certain factories in the city, Mr. Bunnell stated, with whom the Mayor completed arrangements for coal, had not yet been supplied, and cannot be at the present time unless the reserve supply now in the civic yards be drawn upon, which would contravene the authority conferred on the city by the Municipal Board.

Mr. Bunnell went on to explain the manner in which the coupon orders sent in to the local fuel office were now being distributed, to be filled, among the local dealers, with whom an understanding had been reached. The dealers, however, will accept no further orders until those now in hand have been filled.

Are the dealers at the present time open to receive orders from any citizens?" inquired Ald. English.

"They are," replied Mr. Bunnell. They have evinced a desire to cooperate with us in supplying the citizens' wants."

World Distribute Coal.

Ald. Harp stated that instances had come to his attention where the dealers had refused to accept orders on the ground that they had been forbidden by the Mayor to do so. He felt that the present situation constituted an emergency in which the coal now held in reserve should be distributed.

Ald. Hill concurred in this, declaring the time for action here.

Ald. Clement stated that the Mayor had, until recently, been in full control of the coal business. All the local dealers now had their full orders for the next 30 days. He inquired what provision the city had for the distribution of coal.

"We have our trucks," suggested Mr. Bunnell corroborated this.

Ald. Chabreft stated that in Woodstock the municipality had financed the dealers and helped them secure coal.

Ald. Brage declared it impossible to place an order with the local dealers who would accept none. He felt that there would be no violation of the law in distributing the fuel on hand now, if it were of the proper grade. This would relieve a congestor until further shipments arrived.

"We have no facilities for delivery while Mr. Stander has the use of our trucks," explained Ald. English.

Ald. Brage felt that outside trucks could be engaged for that purpose.

"It will be a great error on our part if we let that coal remain on the Watercourse property until the snow flies," considered Ald. Hurley. He did not believe that any dealer would challenge the city's right to distribute the coal at the present time.

Ald. Harp inquired whether the city was being paid by Mr. Stander for the use of its trucks.

Mr. Bunnell replied in the affirmative.

The fuel and food committee was authorized to take action on the fuel situation.

Kirk on Transportation Charge.

Ald. Burrows raised a query as to a charge of $25.00 for transportation to the city the truck purchased by the fuel and food committee.

Ald. English suggested that a charge made to the committee when the purchase price was named. He asked what the Board of Works had done when purchasing the truck.

Ald. English said the charge for bringing the truck here.

Ald. Burrows declared that the fuel and food committee had made no provision for such a charge. The sum of $150.00 had been omitted as the full price of the truck.

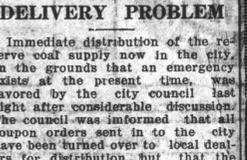

"It is a matter for the committee to decide, whether they will pay it," observed Ald. English.

Ald. Chabreft also felt that the committee should have arrived at the understanding on the matter.

Ald. Hill pointed out that the

Music and Drama

"THE MILLION DOLLAR DOLL"

A decided improvement over the ordinary musical comedy is "The Million Dollar Doll" which will be the next big attraction at the Grand Opera House on Friday, Sept. 20th.

This new musical comedy has a well developed love romance woven through the play and the music was written especially for and fitted to the play, rather than dragged into it, as incidental music, which is so common in the general make-up of musical comedies.

"The Million Dollar Doll" takes you through many beautiful and novel scenes. The famous cabaret at the home of Col. Barrington in New York City, the trip through the Panama Canal on board the big ocean liner, the new "fantasy" "Joy Zone" at the Panama Exposition and the illumination of the Tower of Jewels all make scenes of unparalleled splendor.

A company of forty people in clever dances, tuneful songs, rousing ensembles and witty dialogue, make you forget all your troubles and think that life is worth living again.

"A DAUGHTER OF THE SUN"

"A Daughter of the Sun," the story of a Hawaiian Butterfly, is the latest play to be written dealing with these islands of the Pacific. The greatest of all appeals is given this story, that of a great love. Ed. W. Rowland, the producer, has given the play an Hawaiian atmosphere, by a wonderful scenic equipment and also a band of native Hawaiian singers.

In the plays of last season, the Hawaiian play seemed to have the greatest appeal, for throughout the entire season, the play "The Bird of Paradise" was greeted by wonderful audiences.

"A Daughter of the Sun" is a splendid production, carrying a carload of their own special scenery, and will be seen at the Grand Opera House Saturday, September 21st, this being the second and final engagement of this splendid attraction at this popular playhouse. There will be a matinee at 2.30 at popular prices.

THE REX.

There are few theatres in Ontario where theatre patrons are offered at popular prices such attractions as those which Manager Moule has been securing of late for the Rex. The offering of this week is "Eyes of the World," an elaborate scenic production of Harold Bell Wright's novel of the same name, which has been read by millions.

The story deals with the conflict of social classes and forms the basis for one of the most thrilling pictures ever placed on the screen. The scenic and photographic effects are especially striking, and the cast appearing in the picture is headed by whimsical Jane Novak, who is a favorite with local audiences since appearing with William Hart in "Selish Yates" and with Charles Ray in "A Nice Old-Fashioned Town."

"Rolling Lions and Wedding Bells," a riotous Fox comedy in two reels, is an added attraction on the program, while an episode of "The Fitz" featuring Eddie Polo and Vivian Reed, is also shown.

THE BRANT.

Patrons of the Brant are so accustomed to high class attractions that it takes something really notable to arouse their enthusiasm, but the bill provided for the first of this week is certain to do all that and more.

The picture is love, loyalty, sacrifice, are the elements which enter into the composition of the story, and presented by the cast chosen, it forms one of the pictures of the year. The Ford and Cunningham sisters have a vaudeville singing and dancing offered, sparkling with novelties and original merit. Roscoe Arbuckle, who has been adjudged by the public to be the funniest actor in the world, is seen in the comedy "Fatty at Coney Island."

Truck had been deleted by the Mayor without consulting the fuel and food committee.

"I endorse that, and feel that the Mayor of Brantford had no right thus to over ride a committee and make such a transaction behind its back," declared Ald. Chabreft. He felt that a proper agreement should have been drawn up prior to the purchase.

Ald. Burrows refused to endorse payment of the $25.00 in question.

Ald. English suggested that the account be referred back to the committee.

Ald. Harp felt that the sum of $150.00, the price of the truck, should be paid over, and the $25.00 transportation charge held in abeyance. Ald. Burrows agreed to this.

Ald. Brage felt that an attempt was being made to "put something over the city."

Payment of $150.00 as full payment for the truck, was authorized by the council.

Industry Falls.

A new Montreal factory, started with every promise of success, is about to expire. When the Ontario License Board gets through with its investigations the making of plaster pedestals of a certain type will no longer be popular. There is, of course, no inherent evil in a plaster pedestal. As a pedestal it is dry enough to satisfy even the complainers. The trouble lies in the fact that sometimes, through no fault of their own, plaster pedestals get damp, and give forth an odor that is no longer respectable in the province.

It was such a mishap to a plaster pedestal in the railway station at Timmins, Ontario, that put a damper upon the new industry. An official of the board was wandering about the station, his nose slightly liquor inspectors hunting for odors, when he noticed moisture coming from a carefully wrapped up pedestal. The phenomena aroused his curiosity, which was not satisfied until he had broken open the bottom of the ornament and extracted a five-gallon tin of high wines. A further search revealed another five gallons similarly camouflaged. Both persons were consigned under a fictitious name and were not claimed. The board, however, is tracing the shipment back to Montreal.
