To Please the Children.

You need them for your boy and your girl. Start the Library now.

The "EVERY CHILD SHOULD KNOW" SERIES.

All parents and those interested in the education of children know how difficult it is to secure just the right kind of reading for them. Childhood is the decisive period of life, for it is then that the habits and tastes are formed that have most to do with the development of character. In this library the work that you would do yourself if you had the time, money and literary judgment, has been done for you by the best critics who have spent their lives in the study of literature and in whose opinion you may have perfect confidence.

The editorial work that had to be done was enormous. The literature of the entire world has been drawn upon and the selections have been made from thousands of volumes. These books constitute a complete library for children and grown-ups, one in which pride will be taken and which will encourage the habit of good reading; and furthermore, this is the first time that a collection of such unusual merit has been offered at a price so low.

Here is a volume beautifully illustrated on Heroes, Heroines, Hymns, Legends, Myths, Operas, Pictures, Poems, Prose, Songs, Trees, Water-Wonders, Wild Animals, Wild Flowers, Birds; 20 books in all—the best collection of stories ever gathered for children. Come in and see them, or ask us for a Catalogue of the whole 20 volumes. Only 60c. each.

Are you Anaemic?

Our blood is composed of red and white corpuscles—the red to nourish the body, the white to fight disease. In Anæmia, the red corpuscles are more or less deficient. Thus the blood cannot properly sustain and nourish the body. The eyes become dull, the face white, and a feeling of intense weariness pervades the whole system. There is nothing so effective in Anæmia as "Wingarnis." Because "Wingarnis" floods the body with new, rich, red blood, which gives a sparkle to the eyes, brings the roses into the cheeks, and gives new vigour, new vitality and new life to the whole body.

Begin to get well FREE.

"Wingarnis" is made in England and you can obtain a liberal free trial bottle—sent a mere taste, but enough to do you good by sending 6 cents stamps (to pay postage) to COLEMAN & CO., Ltd., Wingarnis Works, Norwich, England. "ECHOES of the Past;

The Recompense of Love!"

CHAPTER VI.

Clive surreptitiously laid a modest coin on the corner of the crowded table and he and Quilton passed out.

"Do you think the world knows this kind of thing is going on?" asked Clive, grimly.

"Of course, they do," replied Quilton. "Our novelists have dealt with this kind of thing for a long time past; but it gives the reader thrills pleasant thrills, and makes him feel thankful that he doesn't live in Paradise Gardens and have to make match-boxes for a living. Want any more?"

Clive led the way up the rickety and filth-covered stairs to the first floor, and, opening a door, after several knockings, entered a grimy room, in which sat an idiot boy nursing a baby. Both were incrueted with filth, and the boy had so repulsive and demoniac an expression on his face that Clive for the moment recoiled. He asked a few questions, but the boy was quite incapable of understanding them, much less answering them; and when Clive pressed a coin into his hand, they scarcely closed over it, so unaccustomed was the imbecile to the sight and feel of money. Clive went outside.

Quilton was not there, and, in search of him, Clive went up another flight of the dirty stairs. As he did so he saw Quilton coming out of a room. Quilton stood, holding the handle of the door which he had closed, his pale face paler than usual, his thick eyelids completely covering his expressionless eyes. His attitude, almost as of one on guard, his increased pallor, struck Clive.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Nothing," said Quilton, in his slow, impassive tone. "Only a woman; and she's asleep; we had better not disturb her."

Clive nodded in assent, and they descended to the less impure atmosphere outside.

Nerviline Stops Earache in 10 Seconds Fixes Toothache in 2 Minutes.

It Seems to Possess Almost Some Divine Power Over Pain.

RUB ON NERVILINE.

Toothache is usually due to neuralgia in the gums or to the congestion and swelling of the nerve pulp.

"As 'Nerviline' relieves congestion, you can easily see why it cures toothache.

Nerviline does more—cures any ache or pain—in any part of the body. It matters not where your pain is. It may be in a joint or muscle; it may be neuralgia or lumbago; it may be a surface pain in deeply situated in the back, side or chest. Nerviline will reach it; Nerviline will drive it out.

What is Nerviline, you ask? Just here outside. Another fight was in progress, a fight in which two of the most prominent residents of Paradise Gardens were engaged. They were stripped to the waist and blood was flowing freely, and to the infinite delight of the crowd which pressed around them.

Clive and Quilton looked on for a moment or two; then, feeling that it would be useless to attempt to interfere, they turned away and left Paradise Gardens to its usual condition of felicity.

At the opening of the larger street, and opposite one of the gin-palaces, Clive heard the strains of a violin. He started from the sad and bitter reverie which had held him, and saw Elisha fiddling away in the garish gaslight.

Elisha saw him, and, stopping fiddling, shuffled up to him.

"Oh, is it you, sir?" he said. "I wanted to tell you, to thank you—"

Clive's hand fell upon the dwarf's shoulder and stopped him; then, turning to Quilton, Clive said:

"You can find your way home, Quilton, I suppose? Right! Good-night!"

Quilton nodded, without an ounce of expression in his face, and walked off. Clive turned to Elisha with a suppressed eagerness; but not until that moment did he realize how constantly the girl, Mina, had been in his mind and how anxiously he wanted to hear more of her.

CHAPTER VII.

"You are a long way from home, Elisha," remarked Clive, as they walked along.

"Not so far as I sometimes get, sir," said Elisha. "It don't do to stick to one place; they get tired of the same tunes, and more tired of you. Why, even the swell players and singers have to go on tour sometimes," he added, with his sad, shy smile.

"That's so," assented Clive; he did not remind this humble musician of the pavement that his more fortunate brethren and sisters traveled first-class and put up at palatial hotels, instead of tramping through the London streets to a second floor back in Benson's Rents.

"I wanted to thank you, to tell you how—how surprised—regularly staggered—we were by the piano," said Elisha, with a flushed and tremulous voice. "But I didn't know where to find you; the man that brought the piano said he didn't know who'd sent it. If Tibby could have found it, she'd have sent it back; as it was, there was a—row, and I thought she'd have made 'em take it away in the van again."

Clive nodded. "Perhaps that's why I did not let them know who sent it; but I was afraid you'd guess. I hope you forgive me, don't think I've taken a liberty."

Elisha shook his head. "No, sir; I knew it was meant in simple kindness—and so I told Tibby."

"And Miss Mina, was she—annoyed?" Clive could not help asking.

"No, sir; Mina was very quiet at first; and hasn't said much since; but she was pleased. It's a magnificent instrument," he went on, his eyes kindling with enthusiasm; "a beautiful tone, and a touch as kind as kind could be." He spoke as if the piano were a live and sensitive animal. "It was very good of you, sir, and I'm kind of overwhelmed—it's as if I couldn't thank you properly."

"That's all right," said Clive. "And has Miss Mina begun her lessons?"

"Yes, sir; as soon as we'd got the piano in place. She was all eagerness like a young greyhound straining at the leash. It was like a starving person going for a piece of bread. She was just wild for it. All she wanted was to thank you; and she'll be pleased to hear that I've met you; though she'd be more content and pacified if she could thank you herself, of course."

"You think she would?" said Clive hesitatingly. They had got into the Whitechapel Road by this time, and Clive hailed a solitary hansom. "If you are sure I shall not be intruding, I should like to come home with you."

He opened the door of the cab, but Elisha hesitated and looked frightened.

"It's a long way—a bigish fare—there's the busses."

"I'd forgotten the busses for the moment," said Clive. "Never mind. Jump in—take care of your violin."

Elisha screwed himself up into his corner and looked about him with a nervous and fearful joy; he had never been in a hansom before, and only once in a four-wheeler—on his way to a hospital after an accident. He was so absorbed in the novelty and the luxury of this shabby, dilapidated vehicle that he started when Clive, who had been musing on the strange fate which seemed to throw him across the dwarf's path, said:

"Elisha, I want to ask you something. You won't mind, won't think I'm impertinently curious? I've noticed that Miss Mina talks much better than—"

He paused. "She has been to school, of course?"

"I know what you mean, sir. Yes; you've noticed that she speaks better than most girls, almost like a lady—if I may make so bold as to say so."

Clive nodded.

"I've noticed it myself, and I'm proud of it, of course. You see, it's this way: Mina's different to the other girls in the Rents, different even to Tibby, oh, very much so. I'm not saying anything against Tibby, you'll understand, Mr.—"

As Elisha hesitated, Clive gave him a name; but the cab had now reached one of the crowded thoroughfares, and in the rattle of the busses and carts Elisha only caught the Christian name.

"Tibby's as good a girl as there is, Mr. Clive; but she's not one for her books. She didn't take to schooling; there was rows between her and the teachers, most nigh every day; and she soon chucked it. Whereas Mina—well, Mina was all the other way. She was quite a scholar, and took to her books like a young duck takes to the water. Never missed a day, she didn't; and not a cross word with the teachers. They was all fond of her, and proud of her, as you may say."

"They were anxious, she 'aving passed the standard—you know what I mean, sir?"—for her to go on in the continuation classes, as they call 'em; but Mina, though she wanted to bad enough—I could see that—wouldn't hear of my spending more money on her schooling; and, for all her gentle ways, she's as obstinate as other women when she's made up her mind, Mr. Clive."

"I see," said Clive. "She preferred to go out with you and earn some money?"

"That's it, sir," assented Elisha; "and p'raps she was right. Of course we take a good deal more money when she's with me."

Clive took out his cigar-case. "Have a cigar, Elisha?" he said. "Yes, do, please; I always enjoy a smoke better with company. Got a match?"

Elisha leaned back and puffed at the choice cigar with nervous enjoyment, and Clive smoked in silence and profound cogitation for some time; then he said:

"See here, Elisha; I want to make a bargain with you."

The dwarf looked up with his big pathetic eyes.

"I'm afraid it'll be all on one side, sir," he said shrewdly.

Clive laughed. "Well, it's this," he said. "I think I can get you some teaching to do—a pupil or two. If I can, you'd like to spend a part of the money in this extra schooling for Miss Mina?"

The dwarf's face flushed with grateful appreciation of Clive's tact. If Clive had offered him money he would have refused it. "I share your belief in Miss Mina's future, musical future," Clive went on quite quietly and in a matter-of-fact way, "and I think you'll agree with me that she would stand a better chance of succeeding if she were well educated, properly prepared for the position you would like her to rise to."

Elisha nodded eagerly. "That's it, sir!" he said. "It isn't the voice only, it's the style, the manner of saying her words, that will tell. A girl wants to speak and look like a lady if she's going to be a concert-singer."

"That's what I meant," said Clive. "With so beautiful a voice as hers, so promising a one, she should have every chance."

"And you're going to give it to her? Oh, sir!"

"Excuse me," said Clive, "you are going to give it to her, not I; don't forget that, Elisha. You won't find teaching the violin easy work, by any means; and you'll earn all you'll get by it, for certain. Here we are, aren't we?"

He stood on the pavement hesitatingly after he had paid the cabman. "I don't know whether to come in or not," he said, more to himself than to the dwarf.

"I hope you will, sir," said Elisha. "It will ease Mina's heart to thank you. And Tibby will be out marketing," he added naively; "she gets the things a bit cheaper if it's late, and Saturday, specially."

"Well, then," assented Clive, but still hesitatingly.

As they went up the rickety stairs they heard the sound of the piano; five-finger exercises; and Elisha glanced at Clive with shy pride.

"She'd keep at it all day, if I'd let her, sir," he remarked.

They entered the room, but Mina was so absorbed that she did not hear them; and Clive stood and looked at the slim, girlish figure, and the small head with its dark silken hair, bent forward as if the whole body were in rhythm with the notes. Then, as Elisha said "Mina!" she turned, at first with dreamy eyes that seemed scarcely to see them; but in a moment the eyes flashed, the pale face was suffused with color, and she sprang up and stood, one hand resting on the piano, the other pressed to her lips as if to suppress a cry, her dark-gray eyes fixed on Clive's with an inexpressible wonder at his presence, and a boundless gratitude.

"The gentleman—Mr. Clive—we met, and I thanked him, Mina," stammered Elisha; "but I told him you'd like to thank him yourself."

She did not move until Clive crossed the room and held out his hand.

"I'm more than sufficiently thanked by the pleasure of seeing you play, Miss Mina," he said. "I can hear how wonderfully you have got on."

"Seems to come natural to her, sir," said Elisha. "It is so with some people. I 'ad a brother as played by ear; just let him hear a song or a piece of music once and he'd sit down and play it, and play it correct, too. But I don't want Mina to play that way. I want her to be able to stick up a piece of music and play it by sight."

Mina looked from one to the other with breathless eagerness; then her eyes rested on Clive's.

"Do you think I ever shall?" she asked.

"Yes; I think you will, I am sure you will," he said confidently.

She drew a long breath. "Yes, I will!" she murmured almost inaudibly. "Why did you send it?" she asked, after a pause.

Elisha had laid down his violin, and in doing so had caught sight of his hands, and he went into the next room to wash them.

By this direct question Clive was somewhat embarrassed but more so by the steadfast gaze of the great, childish eyes.

"I meant it as a little remembrance of our adventure the other night," he said. "You weren't angry—offended?"

"No," she said. Then after a moment her eyes fell; and as she raised them again there was a faint doubt, trouble in them. "Ought I to have been?"

Just Breathe Catarrhone! The Osonated Air Cure, better known as "Catarrhone" is death to colds.

Its health-laden fumes contain the leading balsams of the pine woods. Soothing and antiseptic, it gives instant relief—stops gagging, hawking and sneezing.

Mucous and phlegm are cleared away, breathing made easy, and Catarrh symptoms entirely disappear. Delightful and pleasant is Catarrhone, simple to use because you breathe it—sure to cure colds and catarrh because it destroys the cause. Doctors say nothing is more scientific, nothing possesses such might of merit in winter ills.

"To clear a cold out of your nostrils and to be able in a minute or two to breathe freely again, I can't conceive of anything better than Catarrhone," writes J. H. Galvin, of Port Limon, C. E. For any sort of Catarrh, throat trouble or Bronchitis, Catarrhone is a specific. I know scores of people who use Catarrhone and all speak wonders of its merit."

Get the complete $1.00 outfit it does the work sure. Small size 50c; sample or trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Sept. 24.
The Governor, Newfoundland:
In France there has been violent artillery fighting. Aviators bombarded various enemy railway stations.
In Russia the situation near Dvinsk is stationary. Near Dubos 1,400 prisoners were captured. Minor successes are reported at other points.
Bulgaria and Greece have mobilized.

BONAR LAW.

BULGARIA MOBILIZING.

PARIS, Sept. 24.

A message from Sofia makes the definite announcement that mobilization of Bulgaria's military forces, reported to have been postponed, has been decided upon. It says that the official journal of the Bulgarian Government, published to-day a decree ordering a mobilization of the classes of 1890.

BULGARIA PREPARING.

PARIS, Sept. 24.

A despatch to the Temps from Saloniki, states that Bulgaria has been sending troops toward the Serbian frontier for several days. Five cavalry regiments, recruited on a peace basis, have been despatched toward the border. Infantry regiments on the border have been reinforced by troops from regiments in the interior. A battalion of sappers from Sofia has been sent to Dupitza, near the Serbian frontier. Mounted artillery have departed for an unknown destination. The Temps says that operations against Serbia will be entrusted to the direction of General Boudiaff, Commander in the field. It is said that Crown Prince Boris will be at the head of the Bulgarian armies. The Chief of the General Staff will be General Zostan, now Commander of the 7th Division, or Minister of War, General Secoff, who would be replaced by General Secoff, who would be replaced by General Koutinecheff, now Inspector General. The Temps correspondent says the strength of the Bulgarian army is estimated at 233,500 men, with 1,080 cannon. Students at the military schools have rejoined their regiments.

BULGARIAN ARMY FIGURES.

SOPIA, Sept. 24.

Although partial mobilization of the Bulgarian army has been announced here as imminent, it is now general, and comprises all the reserves since 1886, thus including men approaching their 50th year. The total Bulgarian forces, including the Macedonians, is likely to reach 700,000. Those not included so far are untrained men, and a small class which is exempt under taxation.

GREEK MOBILIZATION.

ATHENS, Sept. 24.

A decree for general mobilization of twenty classes of Greek soldiers was signed last night, by King Constantine, and promulgated. The decision of the King has aroused the greatest enthusiasm.

GREEK PARLIAMENT MEETS.

PARIS, Sept. 24.

The official decree for mobilization of the Greek army, was issued in Athens to-day, says an Athens despatch. Parliament probably will be summoned to-morrow.

Committed the Crimes to Save Ministers.

Horwood Tells His Story of the Manitoba Looting - Kelly Said if He Went to the Penitentiary the Cabinet Would go Too.

Winnipeg, Sept. 24.—E. F. B. Johnson, K.C., Toronto's great criminal lawyer, gained nothing by his seven hour grueling cross-examination of former Chief Architect Horwood at the ex-Ministers' hearing. Horwood made no admissions in the interests of the accused men. Horwood said that he committed the crimes partly to assist in raising campaign funds, as well as obliging the Ministers. He did not consider them crimes at that time he said.

"If the Roblin Ministers get me inside the walls of Stony Mountain they come, too."

This is the threat made by Thomas Kelly in the presence of Horwood, after Sir Douglas Cameron had forced the Roblin Government to appoint a Royal Commission.

Wouldn't Help Him Any.

According to Horwood, Kelly interviewed the Roblin Cabinet on the evening of the day Parliament prorogued, when the Government announced that a Commission would probe Mr. Hudson's accusation against the Parliament Building contract.

When he emerged, Kelly told the Provincial Architect that Sir Rodmond had promised to stick to him to the last and to resign if necessary. "Which," Kelly is reputed to have naively remarked, "wouldn't do me any good."

Whereupon Horwood said to Elliott, Chief Inspector, "It looks like Stony Mountain for us," but Kelly remarked, "Don't scare the man to death."

Horwood answered, "He's scared enough now."

Cabinet Would Go, Too.

Later, according to Horwood's testimony to-day, Kelly said that he did not want any stain to rest on his family, and spoke of the sons he was bringing up. It was then, according to Horwood, he said that the Cabinet would accompany him, if he was sent to Penitentiary.

"Sir Rodmond patted me on the back with his cane and said: 'The Lord will look after his own,'" testified Horwood. When he went to Roblin and said that he wanted to confess to the Public Accounts Committee, Coldwell told him to "stand pat."

Montague was very friendly to Horwood towards the last, said the witness. On one occasion the Minister said: "I feel like a father to you."

George A. Moulard.

A message to Mr. Jesse Whiteway from Doting Cove, yesterday afternoon informed him of the death of Mr. George A. Moulard which occurred during the morning. Deceased was a highly esteemed and successful citizen of that settlement. No particulars of his death were received, though it is thought typhoid fever was the cause. Only a week ago his daughter Blanche passed away. Friends of the family in St. John's will, no doubt, hear of the double bereavement with deep regret.

SEPTEMBER 25. Full Moon—23rd. Days Past—267. To Come—97. LUCKNOW DAY, 1857. In memory of those who perished in its gallant defence against the mutineers.

FELICIA HEMANS, born 1783. English poetess, whose first book of poems was published in 1808. Her work appeals to the heart rather than to the intellect, is marked by taste and elegance, but lacks restraint, vigour and compression.

WM. MICHAEL ROSSSETTI born 1829. English man of letters, who made an excellent translation of Dante's "Inferno," and has prepared excellent editions of many of the leading English poets.

GREAT WAR, 1914. Bomb dropped from aeroplane at Boulogne. Fighting begun in St. Quentin-Tergnier district. Town and harbour of Friedrich Wilhelm in German New Guinea reported to be occupied by Australian forces. Official story of three cruisers lost on the 22nd published; 837 survivors and over 1,000 lives lost. Surrender to British force of Schuckmannsburg, German post in South-West Africa, reported.

SEPTEMBER 26. 17th Sunday after Trinity. Days Past—268. To Come—96. ADMIRAL LORD COLINGWOOD born 1750. First saw service in the American war and fought on shore at the Battle of Bunker Hill (1775). In the "Royal Sovereign" he was second in command to Nelson at Trafalgar, and assumed command on the latter's death.

JOHN SIMS REEVES born 1818. English tenor vocalist with a voice of rare richness and volume. From 1841-43 he sang in tenor parts at Drury Lane, and subsequently went to Paris and Milan to pursue a course of study. After his return in 1857 he soon acquired an almost unrivalled reputation as a tenor vocalist and continued to sing until shortly before his death, being then 82.

F. W. FABER died 1863, aged 49. The hymn-writer and oratorian who was educated for the English Church but under the influence of Cardinal Newman went over to the Church of Rome. His hymns are remarkable for their lofty spirituality and beauty of form.

GREAT WAR, 1914. Battle of the Aisne, begun on the 12th, still in progress, no decisive advantage gained on either side. Russian occupation of Rzeszow reported. The eastern frontier of Holland declared to be under martial law. French boat reported to have captured Cocobach in the Cameroons.

OUR LADS TO THE FRONT. No foe besets our gates, No armies meet our ken; Why echoes, through our peaceful streets The tread of armed men? Why rings the British cheer With such a proud acclaim? The "true North" sends her sons afar To fight in Britain's name!

They go as went their sires of old, Across the surging seas to fare; Not for the lust of fame or gold, But for the British hearts they bear They bear the Motherland afar, Calling her children, scattered wide They haste—as wakes the note of war To face the conflict at her side!

We follow with our thoughts and prayers, The richly freighted vessel's wake, Through blinding fogs and hidden snares, Winds! bear them safely, for our sake; They hold the hopes of hearts that bleed With parting pang—with haunting fears Their devoted course in safety speed Thou who must guide, where duty steers.

What years of peace essayed to do, Danger and sorrow swift, complete— Our Empire through and through, Till, with one throb, its pulses beat! One prayer is breathed on sea and land, From King and peasant, cot and hall, From snowcapped hills to coral strand, "God, guard our lads and bless them all."

Oh, God of mercy, truth and right, Who seest as no mortal may,— Whose hand can guide through passion's night To dawning of a glorious day,— Grant victory as Thou deemest best, Turn hate to love—bid slaughter cease; Lay sword in sheath and lance in rest And bring our warriors home in peace!

No foe besets our gates, No armies meet our ken; Yet echoes through our peaceful streets The tread of marching men! Ring out the British cheer, With more than proud acclaim, The "true North" sends her sons afar To fight in Freedom's name! —Agnes Maud Machur.

The Lord Bishop and Prohibition.

The attitude of the Bishop of Newfoundland on the Prohibition issue will, we think, meet with general approval. He is the President of the Church of England Temperance Society and has long interested himself publicly in all movements, legislative and otherwise, which have had for their object the uplift of the people of Newfoundland. Throughout his long episcopate he has carefully and conscientiously abstained from taking any action which might even remotely be tinged with political party bias. The words of his pronouncement on Prohibition indicate that it has only after serious thought he decided to accede to the request that he should state his attitude in regard to the Prohibition issue which is to be decided by the electors on the fourth of November. He is most punctilious in avoiding even the appearance of dictation. He says: "I am reluctant to even appear to dictate to the people of my Diocese—clergy or laity—as to what course they should adopt in this matter." This statement sets forth simply an attitude which is consistent with that the Bishop has pursued all the time he has been in Newfoundland. But he does offer advice in the premises in which he is perfectly fair and to which the most censorious cannot take objection on any reasonable ground. He says: "My wish is that every man who has a vote should consider dispassionately and prayerfully what line of policy will best promote the cause of Temperance, and therefore the true welfare of our Colony. Then let him exercise his franchise as his conscience tells him."

In other words, the Bishop of Newfoundland advises that each voter of his Diocese shall carefully consider the issue and exercise his franchise as his own conscience dictates. That is reasonable and proper. The Bishop, however, makes it clear that he has come to a decision in regard to his own vote. He intends to vote and to cast that vote for Prohibition. We have no doubt that the Bishop's lead, not only from the fact that it is a lead, but from the spirit in which he has acceded to the request made of him, will have a potent influence. Believing in Prohibition as he does, the Bishop could not well have declined to accede to the request made of him. He could not have said less, and the influence of what he says would have been less if he had said more. In the fairness of his advice, and the temperateness of his lead will be found its force, the resultant of a long life of temperance and consideration for others.

A Delightful Bill at the Nickel Theatre.

The Nickel Theatre was well patronized last evening. The program there is always good and patrons reckon on spending an enjoyable hour. The films were artistic and the best procurable. There were two two-part films both of which were elaborate stage productions and appealed to all. The other films, the singing and music are features of the Nickel which all enjoy. This evening the entertainment will be repeated. The Saturday night performance at the Nickel is always well attended and all patrons should make an effort to attend this evening.

Prohibition Pro-nouncements.

THE BISHOP OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

By the courtesy of the Rev. C. H. Barton, M. A., Editor of the "Diocesan Magazine," we publish to-day an advance copy of an important pronouncement on the subject of Prohibition, by the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, which will appear in the October number of the Magazine, as follows:—

I have been asked to state what my attitude is with regard to the important issue which will be submitted to the electors on the 4th November in reference to Prohibition.

I am reluctant to even appear to dictate to the people of my Diocese—clergy and laity—as to what course they should adopt in this matter. My wish is that every man who has a vote should consider dispassionately and prayerfully what line of policy will best promote the cause of Temperance, and therefore the true welfare of our Colony. Then let him exercise his franchise as his conscience tells him.

As regards my own action, I may say that I intend to vote for Prohibition.

LLEWELYN NEWFOUNDLAND. PRESIDENT COAKER OF FISHERMEN'S UNION.

One million dollars of your earnings are annually spent in liquor. Another million dollars or more are lost to the country through the effects of the liquor business upon trade and commerce at St. John's. I have seriously studied the economic effect of the use of liquor as it concerns St. John's, and I sincerely assure you that unless Prohibition becomes effective, the business of St. John's will gradually decline and be transacted at out-port towns. The present business and trade conditions at St. John's are well high unenviable, and I attribute much of the troubles and difficulties to the use of liquor. Very few realize exactly what the trade operating at St. John's suffers in consequence of the evil effect of the use of liquor.

Every business man is worrying over the future of the trade of St. John's, and the cure for the trouble is Prohibition. This Colony cannot continue to throw away or lose $2,000,000 annually without sooner or later bringing about an overwhelming financial disaster. Not one cent in real value returns from the spending of this huge annual sum of money.

I ask you, therefore, to perform your solemn duty on the day selected to cast your vote for Prohibition, and go to the booth feeling assured that your solemn duty to Yourself, to your Country, to your Fellowman, to your Family, cannot honestly be performed except you vote to wipe out the liquor traffic in Newfoundland.

S. S. Prospero Back From North.

A STORMY TRIP.

The s.s. Prospero, Capt. A. Kean, arrived back from the northward at 8.30 a.m. to-day, bringing the following saloon passengers: Messrs. H. Alcock, M. Penny, W. Sainsford, Rev. Williamson, D. Oke, R. Mursell, J. B. Osmond, Yates, H. J. Howlett, H. Churchill, Cook, Master Anderson, J. Young, S. Gill, C. Norris, Master Perry, L. Templeman, J. Clifford, J. Skeans, J. D. Lockyer, J. Blackwood, F. Smallwood, Dr. Pionecur; Misses Bussey, Boyd, Oke (2), Rideout, Roberts, Jones, Brett, Gard, Baker, Downer, Piccott, Parsons, Johnson, Henderson, Long (3), Hicks, Earle, Avery; Mesdames Bennett, Rideout, Jones, Hann, Blundon, Perry, Clifford, Ryan (2), Baines, Miller, Lush, Snelgrove and 75 steerage.

FISHERY SUSPENDED.

Capt. Kean reports that very severe weather prevailed north for the past fortnight, high winds and heavy seas being continuous, and in consequence the fishery was suspended. At all the harbours and bays it was too rough daily for boats to venture out on the fishing grounds.

AIDED STRANDED STEAMER.

On Saturday last, while on her way north, the Prospero went to the assistance of the pit prop steamer Carisbrook, which was ashore on a reef at the mouth of Little Bay. The Carisbrook is a big steamer, larger than the Stephano, and with a full cargo the task of towing her off was a difficult one, but was successfully accomplished after four hauls were broken. The Carisbrook was badly damaged below the water line forward and had 17 feet of water in No. 1 hold. She was towed to Burlington by the Prospero. The Carisbrook is now on her way here under her own steam and should arrive to-morrow. The Carisbrook's cargo of pit props is valued at about $120,000. She will be dry docked for repairs.

BROUGHT ALONG VOLUNTEERS.

At St. Anthony twelve strapping young men, Legion of Frontiersmen, joined the Prospero and came to St. John's. They are staying at the Seaman's Institute. This forenoon they went to the C. L. B. Armoury and enlisted.

The Gallipoli Expedition

Sent in Answer to Appeal from Russia.

The following extract is taken from a statement issued at Petrograd by the British Ambassador, Sir George Buchanan:

SITUATION IN THE WEST.

"The question as to why the allied armies in the west have not yet taken the big offensive so often talked about is based on an incorrect appreciation of the situation in that theatre of war. No one who has not seen the photographs taken from aeroplanes of the labyrinth of scientific trenches with which the Germans have covered the whole country can realize how impregnable is the German front, with its line upon line of the skillfully constructed little fortresses. The French army, with the clan and heroism which so distinguishes it, has made repeated onslaughts on the German lines, and has achieved considerable local successes, and so, in a lesser degree, has the British army. It is however, all a question of guns and munitions. It was solely owing to the vast superiority of the German artillery that the Russian army has had temporarily to retire in Galicia and in Poland, and only when the British army has received its full complement of guns and shell can it undertake a serious offensive with any prospect of success.

REINFORCEMENTS TO EAST.

"It is not a fact, as several Russian papers have stated lately, that all the reinforcements that have been brought against Russia have come from the western front. The reinforcements which Germany has been sending to Poland consist of new formations raised in Germany, combined with the units from various regiments serving in France, which have, in their turn, been replaced by men sent from Germany. We should be rendering Russia a sorry service were we to embark on adventurous tactics and to run the risk of a great disaster. The British army has not, like the Russians, vast territories in its rear to which it can retire in case of defeat, and until we are ready we must content ourselves with containing, in conjunction with our French and Belgian allies, more than two millions of Germany's best troops. When the war began nobody ever expected that the House of Commons would, as it did some months ago, pass a vote for an army of three million men. But the equipment necessary to make such an army effective in the field cannot be suddenly improvised, as the necessary machinery has first to be created. We are straining every nerve to produce guns, rifles and munitions, not only for our own army, but also for those of our allies. In addition to the assistance which we are rendering Russia in this direction, we have also given her and our other allies very considerable financial help.

AT THE DARDANELLES.

"It must however, not be forgotten that the British army is fighting in various regions of Africa, in Egypt, Mesopotamia and in the Gallipoli peninsula. When Turkey entered the war, Russia appealed to Great Britain to relieve the pressure in the Caucasus by some counter demonstration elsewhere. The operations in the Dardanelles were undertaken with the double object of relieving that pressure and of opening the straits so as to enable Russia to export her grain and to receive her supplies from abroad. Progress has no doubt been slow, for the difficulties which the British army has had to surmount have been colossal. Brilliant as were the feats accomplished by the Russian army in the Carpathians, nothing that they did surpassed the landing of our troops on the Gallipoli peninsula. The landing place was a narrow beach without any cover and commanded by heights that formed in themselves a natural fortress, even before they were rendered almost impregnable by German engineers. There day after day, our troops had to hold what seemed an untenable position, exposed to a withering fire that decimated their ranks while awaiting the landing of guns and reinforcements. Step by step they advanced, fighting for every inch of ground against vastly superior forces, that were strongly entrenched under the cover of inaccessible rocks and hills. Though their progress has necessarily been slow, it has been sure. One important position after another has been captured, and the allied armies and fleets of Great Britain and France will in the end triumph over all obstacles and secure for Russia free access to the Mediterranean. It must not, however, be forgotten that by sending large bodies of troops and large stores of munitions to Gallipoli we have necessarily weakened our position in the western theatre of war and that the date of our great offensive has consequently been retarded.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

In selecting menus for young children macaroni and spaghetti should be more relied upon for variety than is usual. The error of using potatoes every day is one of the most common to be met with in the nursery. The starch of a properly cooked potato is usually easily digested, but too great reliance is usually placed upon its supplying a large share of the nutriment in a well balanced menu, whereas the fact of the potato being three parts water to one part of starch shows the fallacy of this conclusion.

They are useful for supplying salts in restricted dietaries; for instance, if vegetables and fruits are not obtainable, they may be depended upon to supply some of the salts necessary for a well balanced menu and at the same time provide starch and prevent concentration. The fact that the starch of potatoes is easily digested makes them a fit food for the very young, and if not abused, that is, not relied on for every day use, they are a valuable nursery food.

GREEK PARLIAMENT MEETS ON WEDNESDAY.

PARIS, To-day. A despatch from Athens says Parliament will be called upon at its session next Wednesday not only to proclaim martial law but to vote upon declaring a state of siege in Macedonia and other measures the situation may demand. The National Bank will advance funds to meet the present needs. It is reported from Sofia that the Bulgarian mobilization is being carried out normally but without enthusiasm.

GREEK MOBILIZATION ARMY.

ATHENS, To-day. Great relief has been caused throughout Greece by the order calling for the mobilization of the army. The people apparently are glad to exchange the uncertainty of politics for the possibility of war. It is not thought, however, that hostilities will follow immediately, although it is generally believed in unofficial circles at least that the struggle between Greece and Bulgaria cannot be avoided eventually.

12.15 P.M.

CARDINAL INJURED BY FALL.

ROME, To-day. Cardinal Jerome Gotti, Prefect of Propaganda, fainted and fell in his office to-day, striking his head violently on the floor. He suffered a slight concussion of the brain. His condition is considered grave because of his great age, 81 years.

BIG DESTRUCTION OF ZEPPELINS.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Daily Express from Genoa says. It is learned from reliable sources in Frederichafen that the German headquarters staff admits the loss of 33 Zeppelins and nine Parseval airships, since the war began, up to August 1st, 1915. Since that date a further report states two Zeppelins and one Parseval are missing. The majority of airships were brought down by the Allies' aeroplanes. The rest suffered accidents while landing.

1.50 P. M.

GREECE UNITED.—A MORATORIUM TO BE ESTABLISHED.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Athens says: "Without distinction of parties, the press is unanimous in approval of measures taken by the Government for the defence of Greece. All Greek steamers have been requisitioned and a moratorium will be immediately established.

BULGARIA NOT AGGRESSIVE.

WASHINGTON, To-day. A statement cabled to-day by Premier Radevsky, announces that Bulgaria does not intend aggressive action against any of her neighbours; that her mobilization is not to be construed as indicating she is about to enter the war. Minister Panaretoff called at State Department to-day on his return to the city after some weeks absence. He said the Premier explained his Government's action as a parallel of that taken by other countries adjacent to the belligerents, like Switzerland and Holland which were under arms for their own protection.

ANOTHER STEAMER SUNK.

LONDON, To-day. A British freight steamer, the Ubbin, from New York for Hull, has been sunk. The crew were saved.

THE "HESIONE" SENT TO BOTTOM.—CREW SAID TO BE SAVED.

QUEENSTOWN, To-day. The Houston liner Hesion, bound from Liverpool to Buenos Ayres, was sunk yesterday. The crew of the vessel escaped in lifeboats. One of these boats containing the captain and 22 men was picked up and landed here. The other boat with 18 men in it is reported to have made for Scilly Islands.

SIR JOHN FRENCH'S REPORT.

LONDON, To-day. Reports from Field Marshal Sir John French, Commander in Chief of the British Army in the field, were given out by the War Office to-night as follows: Hostile artillery during last three days continued to show activity on our front. These bombardments were replied to effectively. There has been some mining activity but without important results. Our aircraft yesterday carried out a successful raid on the enemy's communications near the Valenciennes railway. The line was cut in several places.

CHAMPION SHOT KILLED.

LONDON, To-day. Lieut. A. N. V. H. Ommundsen, Edinburgh, champion shot of the British Empire, has been killed in Flanders.

GREEK MOBILIZATION PROCEEDING.

ATHENS, To-day. Mobilization is under way to-day and is proceeding quietly. The people are somewhat bewildered by the latest turn of events, not knowing whether it may lead them. King Constantine, who recently passed through a severe illness is indisposed and his conferences with Premier Venizelos have been postponed for the day.

LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. As a measure of elementary prudence, Greece has ordered a mobilization. Her naval and military preparations brought the last of the remaining Balkan States under arms, for Roumania, while not fully mobilized, for sometime has had her troops ready for an emergency. What plans Bulgaria really has in mind and what Greece and Roumania will do when these plans mature are still matters of speculation. One thing seems clear, however, Bulgaria and Turkey for so many years sworn enemies, have composed their differences. The successes which the Russian General Ivanoff has been having in Galicia and Volhynia, it is considered in military quarters here, may still have influences on more than one state in the Balkans. General Ivanoff has been so successful that German Field Marshal Von Mackensen, who is fighting north of the Pripiet marshes and eastward of Brest-Litovsk, has, according to the German official report, been compelled to withdraw his line somewhat, as it was in danger of being encircled while the Austrians have been driven back across Styria, and, according to one account, have evacuated the fortress of Lutsk Volhynian, in the triangle of fortresses which they captured during the great drive.

These successes which extend to the Rumanian frontier would, in the opinion of military observers, serve to ease the situation on the Rumanian flank. Should Roumania join Russia the addition might well prevent the Austro-Germans from sending an army, which is estimated must consist of at least half a million men to make an attack on Serbia. In the centre Russians are still falling back, while in the north Field Marshal Von Hindenburg continues to make progress with his offensive against Dvinsk, although at a much slower rate than formerly, as the Russians are stiffening their resistance. East of Vienna the Germans admit a temporary check, during which they lost guns to the Russians. There has been continuation of a furious artillery struggle in the West. According to the Berlin official report the British attack South of Labasse Canal broke down under German fire.

After a fortnight of comparative inactivity, during which they sank only five British merchant ships, German submarines are again on the move off the Irish coast. Since Tuesday they have sent five British steamers to the bottom. A London despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Athens says: A decree has been promulgated, convoking the Chamber of Germans Pleased With Archibald.

Bernstorff Expresses His Appreciation of Work of American Correspondent Who Was Arrested by British Authorities.

London, Sept. 21.—Of the thirty-four Austrian and German papers said to have been found in possession of James F. J. Archibald, the American newspaper correspondent, when he was apprehended, August 30, at Falmouth, while proceeding from New York on board the steamer Rotterdam for Rotterdam, seventeen are described as having been made public, and the other seventeen as being insufficient to warrant publication.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador to the United States, in one letter says that Mr. Archibald "is proceeding to Germany to collect material for lectures in the United States in the interest of the German cause." In a letter addressed to Mr. Archibald, Count von Bernstorff says: "I have heard, with pleasure, that you wish once more to return to Germany and Austria, after having promoted our interests out here in such a zealous and successful manner."

Captain von Papen, the military attaché at the German Embassy in Washington, in a letter to a Berlin friend, said:

"Mr. Archibald is going to Germany and Austria to collect new impressions from the point of view of the strictly impartial journalist he always has been."

A Few Rules.

Dishonesty seldom makes one rich, and when it does riches are a curse. There is no such thing as dishonest success. The world is not going to pay you for nothing. Ninety per cent. of what men call luck is only talent for hard work. Do not lean on others to do your thinking or to conquer your difficulties. Be conscientious in the discharge of every duty. Do your work thoroughly. No one rises who slights work. Do not try to begin at the top. Begin at the bottom, and you will have a chance to rise, and will be surer of reaching the top some time. Be punctual. Keep your appointments. Be there a minute before time, if you have to lose your dinner to do it. Be polite. Every smile, every gentle bow is money in your pocket. Be generous. Meanness makes enemies and breeds distrust. Spend less than you earn. Do not run in debt. Watch the little leaks, and you can live on your salary.—Scottish American.

Household Notes.

Beef drippings are good shortening for pie crust.
A good shampoo kimonos can be made of a big bath towel.
All dry cheese should be saved and kept for the grating.
A clean sunny yellow is one of the best colors in a new kitchen.
Blankets should be put out in the sun and air at least once a week.
A dash of quince preserve is a great improvement in pumpkin pie.
Fowl for chicken salad should be cooked the day before it is to be used.
Common baking soda is a great help in cleansing bath tubs and wash basins.
Chopped dates and nuts mixed are another good filling for school lunches.
Before making new sheets always measure the bed for which they are intended.
To ice a tiny cake, dip it into the icing, holding it by the thumb and forefinger.
A bit of cold chicken will make a good sandwich with a leaf of lettuce or pepper grass.
In making tea the pot should be hot before the boiling water is poured on the tea leaves.
A piece of charcoal suspended in muslin in drinking water will make it quite safe to drink.
Soiled clothing should always be put into a hamper, preferably away from the sleeping room.
Nuts when bought ready shelled should be scalded, dried in the oven and put away in glass jars.
Apples can be stewed with a little left-over canned fruit, such as blackberries, and the result will be a pleasant change.

Our New Idea!

Having shown where we excel in the Bedding Line, we wish to add one word more on Our New Idea Bedstead. Having installed machinery the past month for the punching, boring, &c., of our Beds, we can now fit our Oxford or Copper Spring to any Bed as required. This does away with the wood altogether, makes it absolutely vermin proof, and makes a Bed superior in every way to the old, as it is made into the Bed and can be removed and packed very closely—a great convenience when removing. We also have the Combination Lath and Spring Beds, the only thing of its kind in the country.

Cruelty to Animals.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I would not count among my list of friends, though blessed with polished manners and fine sense, yet lacking sensibility, the man who needlessly sets foot upon a worm."

Is there anything more intensely abhorrent to anyone of decent feeling than a man who is disagreeable to animals or children?

I have just changed one of my tradesmen, not because of the quality of his products, but because his arrival at my door is a blot on my day.

The Kind of a Man I Don't Like To Trade With.

In the middle of the forenoon I hear a rattle-bang outside my window, then a harsh voice. It is he. He is shouting harshly at either the horse or the little boy who accompanies him and helps deliver.

The atmosphere of ill-leashed temper, the pity I feel for the child and the horse darkens my day. It is as if a cloud shut out the sun.

Other factors entered somewhat into the case, but that was the chief factor in making me rise up and discontinue my dealings with him. And to my everlasting discredit I didn't tell him the reason, but offered some feeble, trumped up explanation.

I Am Ashamed of My Cowardice.

It is cowardice and subterfuges like that of mine that keep people from seeing how their faults hamper them. A man discharges a stenographer for inaccuracy and tells her he has decided it would be better for the office interests to have a man in her place. And the girl naturally makes no effort to overcome her inaccuracy.

However that's another story altogether. It's the man who is wantonly unkind to children and animals, especially the latter, that I'm hot against to-day. I believe there is something very important lacking in the soul of a man who will kick a dog or abuse a horse.

Do You Agree With This Detective? I once read a story of a man detective who had to pick out from two men the man who had been brutal to his wife. One of the two kicked a dog. The detective immediately decided upon the other man who defended the dog on the ground that the man who is kind to dogs is not kind to women.

I can't place the author now, but I remember that he was a person of authority. Nevertheless his reasoning seems at fault to me. At any rate, from what I've seen of men, I'd trust myself to the man who defended the dog every time.

The dumbness, the helplessness of animals is an appeal to the higher side of human nature. The man who can ignore it shows a dangerous deafness of the soul.

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh.

Kitchener's Prophecy.

WHEN WAR BROKE OUT. Lord Escher has revealed a forecast by Lord Kitchener at the opening of the war: "The Germans may get to Paris, but this is not the war of 1870. It must be fought to a long finish. If the Germans get to Paris, the French armies will retreat with them, and two years hence we, Great Britain, shall throw the last million men into the scale and win the war."

That should be placed on record as the forecast of the man who prepared for the worst and was sure of the best.

VON BISSING INTERNEED.

London, Sept. 20.—Baron Von Bissing, half brother of General Von Bissing, German military governor of Belgium, and a naturalized British subject, after fighting for months for his liberty, has been interned. He was mysteriously spirited away today from his luxurious home in Kensington by detectives who left a battalion of newspaper men on guard over an empty shell.

It is reported that the Islington workhouse will be the Baron's domicile during the remainder of the war.

Cure the Skin Through the Skin

It is now thoroughly established among skin specialists that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ beneath the skin and curable only through the skin. Thousands of people suffer with skin disease who are perfectly healthy otherwise, which shows that their blood is not diseased. Ugly-looking stomach remedies are therefore as worthless for skin diseases as they are for tooth-ache.

Eczema germs must be WASHED AWAY. Sneaky salves do no good for they cannot penetrate the skin. They merely clog the pores and aid

THE AUTOMOBILE FIRE ENGINE.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The automobile fire engine is the result of a successful effort to make something useful out of the joy rider. It is the only machine which can roar through a city street faster than twenty miles an hour without causing the fool killer to get ready for an emergency call.

Automobile fire engines weigh four tons and sound like a runaway house with a machine-gun annex. They are not as beautiful as a team of leaping fire horses, but they do not get out of wind on a hill. An automobile fire engine can cover twenty miles and attend four fires while three horses are getting their respiration adjusted after hauling an engine forty blocks.

Because of this fact, the fire department horse is following sadly in the wake of the buffalo, the cottage organ, the plug hat and the good old double-fisted political caucus.

Having a fire nowadays is a positive luxury compared with thirty years ago. In the last century when a householder dropped a match in a wastepaper basket and subsequently discovered that his premises was getting red hot he had to run thirty blocks to the engine house, and help pull on the bell rope.

Then he had to tack into a long rope with the brave fire ladders, pull a hose cart back, borrow four cisterns and help pass water in buckets all evening in order to get the ruins cool enough to begin digging in the cellar for his life's gold breast pin.

How different it is to-day! The proprietor of a conflagration steps to the telephone and calls up the department in two minutes and three cuss words. He then hurries down to the corner drug store in order to get cigars for the company and returns just as the head chauffeur is cranking up to go on to the next fire.

And yet fire losses seem to be increasing instead of decreasing. This is because having a fire is getting to be too comfortable. The automobile fire engine should be equipped with a taxicab dial and the householder should be charged $1 a mile for all runs. This would make the average citizen as afraid of a fire as he is of a taxicab and the insurance companies would produce unlimited millionaires.

Because of this fact, the fire department horse is following sadly in the wake of the buffalo, the cottage organ, the plug hat and the good old double-fisted political caucus.

Then he had to tack into a long rope with the brave fire ladders, pull a hose cart back, borrow four cisterns and help pass water in buckets all evening in order to get the ruins cool enough to begin digging in the cellar for his life's gold breast pin.

How different it is to-day! The proprietor of a conflagration steps to the telephone and calls up the department in two minutes and three cuss words. He then hurries down to the corner drug store in order to get cigars for the company and returns just as the head chauffeur is cranking up to go on to the next fire.

And yet fire losses seem to be increasing instead of decreasing. This is because having a fire is getting to be too comfortable. The automobile fire engine should be equipped with a taxicab dial and the householder should be charged $1 a mile for all runs. This would make the average citizen as afraid of a fire as he is of a taxicab and the insurance companies would produce unlimited millionaires.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"What is the proper thing for a man to do when he goes to call between the acts on a woman friend in a box?" asked George.

"If the door is closed, the courteous thing to do is to knock. If curtains only are separating the box from the corridor, the visitor should enter quietly and greet the occupant with whom he is friendly, said his father.

AT THE CRESCENT.

"The Stone Heart" that the Crescent Picture Palace presents to-day is pronounced one of the best pictures shown. It is an Edison production being the story of a little girl dragged down by poverty who melts a stone heart. "The Stray Shot" is a fine western drama with Isabel Rea. "The Girl He Brought Home" is a Biograph melo-drama. G. M. Anderson, the favorite cow boy actor features in "The Treachery of Broncho Billy's Pal." "Doc Yacs Bottle" is a film of Selig cartoons, and "Jimmie the Porter" is a very laughable comedy.

Mrs. Nurse the talented pianist has prepared a classy and appropriate musical programme to accompany this great picture show.

BRITISH THEATRE.

The really magnificent photo-plays shown at the above house yesterday, augurs well for future great successes from the new film service which they have secured for the delectation and entertainment of their many patrons. The three-reel subject is admitted to be one of the greatest pictures to have ever been shown in Newfoundland. Scenically (it was taken in Belgium and the City of Antwerp plays a most prominent part); artistically and historically it is the perfection of pictureization. Tonight Madame Timmons will say "au revoir" to her many friendly flock of admirers who will undoubtedly flock to the "British" to hear her at her farewell concert in which she will be assisted by the well known local favorites Mr. S. W. Cornick, Miss Mary Ryan and Mr. Charles Hutton. On Monday she will be succeeded by the Senora Sabatano, a mezzo-soprano of great repute. The ever-popular and wonderful comedy-drama "David Garrick" will be projected in which the world-renowned actor Seymour Hicks and his talented wife Ellaline Terriss play the "leads." Seymour Hicks is a worthy successor to Mr. Edward Compton, who "starred" in this play for years, whilst Miss Terriss worthily upholds the honors already won by Mrs. Beerbohm Tree, Mr. Compton and Mrs. Tree, in their hey-day, having no superiors in these "parts." At the present day, Seymour Hicks and Ellaline Terriss "stand alone" as interpreters of this beautiful old society drama.

SARAH BERNHARDT AT ROSSLEY'S EAST END THEATRE.

On Monday next the illustrious Sarah Bernhardt, the greatest actress the world has ever seen, will appear in an elaborate motion picture production, Dumas emotional drama "Camille." There has never been a more interesting figure on the world's stage than the "Divine Sarah" as her compatriots call her. Mr. Rossley has procured this wonderful film at enormous expense, and it will afford the people of St. John's a unique opportunity of seeing this distinguished woman in one of her best characters. The contest was a great success and gives great promise of again being the weekly event in St. John's. The first prize was won by Chesley Samuelson. Ian MacKenzie, Rix Guerin and William Wallace continue to delight their audiences with a musical menu that is a genuine treat to all lovers of good music.

C. E. S. S. Annual at Long Pond.

Tuesday, the 21st inst., was a red letter day in the annals of Long Pond. On that day the members of the C.E.S.S. held their annual S. S. treat, which proved a great success. At 12.30 p.m. all the children with their teachers assembled in the schoolroom, preparatory to their going to church. On emerging from the schoolroom they boarded the several carriages, and keeping aloft their flags and banners drove to the church. After a short service they rejoined their carriages and were soon at the field where a large number of prizes was won. The children enjoyed the drive to church and back to the field, very much, and are deeply grateful to the men, who took so much interest in them and their outing.

After the distribution of prizes, everyone flocked back to the schoolroom, where tea was being served, soon the "inner man" was satisfied, and everyone gave himself or herself up to the enjoyment of the evening.

Many thanks are due those ladies who looked after the refreshments.

The crops this year are very good, particularly potatoes. The hay crop was as good as that of last year. We hear that some of our progressive farmers are going to invest in certain labor-saving devices in connection with their farm work. Mal all success attend those "go-ahead" farmers.

For several years past we have been used to see the beach crowded with pebble-pickers in the summer season. Many thousands of dollars were paid out to those workers, which combined with the profits of the farm ensured lots of people a happy winter. This year saw the industry non-existent as far as Long Pond was concerned. This depreciation in the earning powers of our people, combined with the high prices of the various necessities, will make itself felt here before the winter is past. However, we are disposed to take an optimistic view of the situation, because there are many avenues of employment in which one can, if he be so disposed supplement his earning power. Our people are not slow to take advantage of anything which tends to promote their circumstances.

Our summer visitors have nearly all migrated to their winter quarters. The advent of those fresh-air seekers tends to enliven things somewhat. We are not sorry, when the warm summer weather permits the people of the city to come and make their abode with us.

The autumn tinge is now beginning to show itself in nature. We are also beginning to find it in the "feet" of the air. The various kinds of berries are not so plentiful this year as other years.

We hear Miss J. M. A. Greenslade, formerly teacher at Snook's Brook, T.B., will shortly begin operations in the same capacity at Manuels. The numerous friends of Miss Greenslade wish her every success in her new sphere of labor.

Police Court.

(Before Mr. Morris, J.P.)
Two boys were convicted of stealing two oil coats from a waterfront premises. They were each fined $2 or 7 days.

A 24-year-old accountant, who assaulted a man named Langmead, was discharged to leave the country. An assault case was not prosecuted.

A 22-year-old woman was up for being a loose and disorderly person. Inspector General Sullivan stated that the unfortunate creature was in a delicate state of health, and that she had been refused admittance to the S. A. Rescue Home by the Superintendent who was a new official there. Both the Judge and the I.G. adversely criticized the attitude taken by the Supt., believing she had a misconception of her duties and intimating that the institution which was kept up by Governmental and public support, had lowered itself in their estimation. The I.G. undertook to make another effort to get the woman in the Home, and if unsuccessful would report the whole circumstances to the Government. Meanwhile the defendant was remanded.

Sagona's Stormy Trip.

Back from the Labrador to-day. The s.s. Sagona, Capt. Parsons, arrived back to St. John's from Labrador ports at noon to-day, bringing a full cargo and as passengers in saloon: Rev. Mr. Kirby, wife and two children, Rev. Fr. Brown, Miss Bennett, Miss Ball, Messrs. Braser, Rowbottom, Carson, Strong, Cross, LeDrew, Dawson, Coleman, McCulloch, Mrs. Ford and 3 children, Mrs. Lewis and two daughters and 100 second class.

THE TRIP.
Capt. Parsons informed the Telegram that practically the entire trip was a continuous round of northeast gales and heavy seas, though the ship managed to reach Nain her terminus, and made every port of call going north. After leaving Hopedale the storm was at its worst and the ship was "hove to" for three days, without making scarcely any progress. From the time the Sagona left Hopedale until she got back again eight days had expired though only 200 miles were traversed. Coming south from the Labrador coast conditions were terrific. Daily the weather was boisterous and the ship was constantly shipping heavy seas. In consequence three ports of call—King's Cove, Wesleyville and Twillingate—had to be omitted.

POOR FISHERY.
Capt. Parsons did not bring a detailed report of the fishery this time, as the season is so far advanced and nearly all the schooners belonging to Conception, Trinity and Bonavista Bays have left for home. All the "floaters" were coming south when the Sagona was at Nain and are now on their way home. A few of them are well fished but the majority have fared badly. Asked as to his opinion of the whole Labrador fishery this year, Capt. Parsons said, "all things considered, it's very poor." A great drawback, he continued, is the fact that there is very little if any fish "made" on the Labrador this season, owing to the incessantly bad weather. He heard of only one steamer being on the coast yet. She was then at Flat Islands loading for foreign markets. She then had 800 qts. of cod on board. The bankers are not doing as well as they expected, according to Capt. Parsons' report, owing to the storms. They are only able to operate their trawls about one day out of fifteen and then they get an average of about 100 qts. a banker. When the Sagona was at Battle Hr., shoremen were doing well, though weather conditions were hampering the fishermen, who could only get on the grounds once a fortnight.

WHALING NEWS.
The whaler Cachelot, operating at Hawke's Hr., had 47 fish captured up to four days ago when the Sagona was there. Three hundred and fifty casks of oil was taken from the factory at Hawke's Hr., and brought on to St. John's by the Sagona.

BIRTH ON BOARD.
A young woman, Mrs. Collins, who joined the ship at Hawke's Hr., gave birth to a son on board two days ago, following a violent storm that raged. Mother and babe were landed at Hr. Grace and were doing well.

Good Catch by St. Pierre Fleet.
North Sydney, Sept. 20.—S. S. Pro Patria arrived yesterday at one o'clock from St. Pierre with eighteen passengers en route to Montreal and New York. She will take a cargo of coal from the Dominion Coal Co., for St. Pierre. The steam trawlers operating from St. Pierre have had the best season since the inauguration of their business. The shore fishermen also report the best season in years, also report the best season in years, also report the best season in years. Bait is getting scarce, but fish is plentiful.

Wedding Bells.
BELLOWS—TUCKER.
A very pretty wedding took place on the 22nd of September, when Effie daughter of J. Bellows, was united in hymen's bonds to Edmund, son of Alexander Tucker, of St. Phillips before a large congregation. The bride was dressed in cream satin with veil and wreath of lilies of the valley, she was attended by her sister, Mrs. L. James, who was dressed in white silk and large black picture hat. The flower girl was little Bessie Bellows who was dressed in cream satin and carried a bunch of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Reg. Grouchev and Mr. Wm. Wiseman. The wedding party went to the groom's home and had refreshments, leaving there at 8.30 for the bride's home where a wedding party was held, and songs and dancing were kept up till an early hour, then Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left for their new home, Livingstone Street, where they were the recipient of many useful presents, also a check from the bride's parents. The groom's present to the bride was a $20 gold piece, and to the bridesmaids gold bracelets. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Tucker many years of wedded life. They left for St. Philip's to spend the honeymoon.—Com.

1455—A UNIQUE AND PLEASING DESIGN.

Ladies Dress in Raised or Normal Waistline with Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.
As here shown, black velvet was used, with dotted net for the sleeves and inset and white crepe for the chemise and collar. The design may be finished with short sleeves. The design is nice for taffeta, faille, serge, gabardine or poplin and lends itself nicely to combination of materials. In green satin with ecru crepe for contrast this model will be very attractive. It is also nice in white or other color taffeta, with batiste, net or lace for trimming. The Pattern is cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 3 1/2 yards at the foot. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

1425—A PRACTICAL CONVENIENT MODEL.
Ladies House Dress With Long or Short Sleeve.
For utility, comfort and convenience, this design has much to commend it. It closes in coat style, with the entire fronts overlapping. This assures easy and practical adjustment. An ample pocket is arranged over the side front. The waist is finished with a neat collar, and with cuffs for sleeve in short length. The long sleeve is dart fitted. The dart fullness may be cut away and the opening thus made, be finished with a facing and underlap for buttons and buttonholes or other fasteners; then the sleeve may be turned back over the arm when desired. The Pattern is good for gingham, percale, lawn, seersucker, soisette, madras, dimity, drill or linen. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Questions Answered by Miss Hall.

Q. May one always use cream instead of oil in Salad Dressing?
A. Cream or melted butter may be substituted for olive or other salad oils in cooked dressings but could not be used in the French dressing or raw Mayonnaise.

Q. How many calories in one fair sized egg?
A. 75 calories in a medium sized egg—100 calories in a very large egg.

Q. How many calories to 1 cup of boiled oatmeal?
A. About 150 calories.

Q. Please give advice for an anemic person.
A. Eat plenty foods containing iron, such as egg yolks, spinach, cabbage, cherries, asparagus, cauliflower, apples. Milk is also a suitable food. A person who has anemia should have plenty of fresh air day and night.

Q. What about eating at bed-time?
A. I would not recommend eating at bed-time. The supper should consist of foods which are easily digested.

Q. How long should rolled oats cook?
A. Rolled oats should be cooked in a double boiler for three or four hours. If, however, the rolled oats are used for corrective measure, i.e. to give raw starch to acid forming bacteria in colon, it is cooked for ten minutes only. This is often spoken of as Scotch Brose, but it is not given from the standpoint of nutrition.

Q. How do nuts and legumes compare with meat as to the percentage of protein?
A. Lean meat contains usually from 15 to 19 p.c. protein, nuts 20 to 25 p.c. and legumes 25 p.c.

Q. Is macaroni a good food?
A. Yes; it is made from a wheat rich in protein. When combined with eggs or cheese it makes a splendid meat substitute.

Q. Should vegetables be cooked in hot or cold water?
A. All vegetables should go over the fire in boiling water. Old vegetables may be made much more tender by immersing an hour or more in cold water.

Q. What is the best diet for constipation?
A. A diet consisting largely of bulky foods, and foods which stimulate peristaltic action, as dried beans and peas, cabbage, parsnips, celery, turnips, potatoes, carrots, spinach, cauliflower, tomatoes, oatmeal, bran, cracked wheat, graham bread, blueberries, prunes, apples, pears, grapes, raisins, figs, cranberries, Concentrated foods, and foods containing little bulk, such as eggs, rice, corn, starch, Pastries and cake should be avoided; 2 quarts of water should be drunk each day.

Q. Give receipt for bran gems.
A. 1 cup sterilized bran, 1 cup graham flour, ¾ cup milk, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder. Mix bran, flour, salt, sugar and baking powder together. Beat egg, add milk. Add all of dry ingredients, melted butter last, and bake in buttered muffin pans in a hot oven 20 to 30 minutes.

Q. Give receipt for healthful plum pudding.
A. 1 cup granola, grape nuts or well toasted bread crumbs, yolks 2 eggs, ¼ cup sugar, 1 ½ cups milk, 8 figs, ¼ cup finely chopped nuts, 1 ½ teaspoons orange extract, 1 ½ teaspoons lemon extract, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup raisins, 1 cup currants, ½ cup chopped citron, ¼ cup molasses, ½ cup apples, 2 egg whites. Beat yolks of eggs until light. Add sugar, milk and granola or grape nuts. Let stand 20 minutes. Cut hard ends from figs, wash and pour boiling water over them and let stand one to two minutes. Drain and dry upon clean towels and chop. Put dates in cold water. Remove stones, then wash in hot water, chop and add to the figs. Clean raisins and currants and add to other fruit. Cut apple in small pieces. Turn all fruit into first mixture. Add flavoring and molasses. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into mixture. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and steam over actively boiling water for 3 hours. Serve with hard sauce.

Hard Sauce.—1-3 cup butter, 1 cup powdered sugar, ½ teaspoon flavoring or ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Cream, butter, add sugar and continue beating until smooth and creamy. Add flavoring and stir again. Put in serving dish and place near ice.

Q. Which exercises should be taken each day?
A. Constitutional exercises, i.e. exercises for breathing, liver, kidney, stomach and bowels. In addition to these other exercises should be added as needed but these should be taken each day.

Q. How long should one exercise each day?
A. It depends entirely upon the case. Often one hour a day may be taken at first, divided into half or quarter hour periods. Then from five to ten minutes a day should keep one in good condition.

Q. Do you recommend cold tub baths?
A. Not for all individuals. Very few people can react after a cold tub bath. It is better to begin by taking cold hand baths.

Q. How much salt should be put in a glass of water in taking stomach exercises?
A. One teaspoonful only, taken for three mornings only.

Q. Which exercises will reduce abdomen?
A. (a) endeavour to touch floor while standing without bending knees. (b) also lie on floor, and keeping knees rigid raise right leg and then left. (c) lie on floor and endeavour to sit up and touch toes.

Q. What does a coated tongue and bad breath indicate?
A. Some intestinal disturbance. Probably auto intoxication.

Q. What exercises can one take to get tall?
A. None probably after a person is fully grown.

Charges Against Four Councillors.

Montreal, Sept. 20.—Serious charges were made against four members of the City Council before Judge Martineau in the Superior Court, Montreal, this morning, in connection with legal proceedings to prevent the awarding of an asphalt contract to the Aztec Oil and Asphalt Refining Company, the allegations having been made by citizen Rodrigue Langlois. They were, in brief, that Controller Hebert was to receive $50,000 in capital stock in the company, or $25,000 cash, for his vote for the contract to go to the Aztec Company; Controller McDonald, $50,000 in stock; Alderman Mayrand and Alderman Menard, $40,000 in capital stock.

Initials which correspond to those of the men in question, with the figures mentioned standing opposite the initials, on a piece of paper, were placed in envelopes by Mr. Gonzave Dassault, K.C., acting for Mr. Langlois, stated that the initials, according to his information, represented the members of the City Council whom he named above.

WOMAN WANTS TO HELP OTHERS

By Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Miami, Okla.—"I had a female trouble and weakness that annoyed me continually. I tried doctors and all kinds of medicine for several years but was not cured until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I hope my testimonial will help other suffering women to try your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. MARY R. MILLER, Box 463, Miami, Okla.

Another Woman who has Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lindsborg, Kansas.—"Some years ago I suffered with terrible pains in my side which I thought were inflammation, also with a bearing down pain, backache, and I was at times awfully nervous. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now enjoying good health. I will be glad to recommend your medicine to any woman suffering with female troubles and you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. L. SMITH, R. No. 3, Box 60, Lindsborg, Kansas.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Horror Runs Riot in Asiatic Turkey.

Viscount Bryce Appeals to America to Stop Turkish Policy of Fiercish Cruelty to Armenians.

London, Sept. 20.—Viscount Bryce, formerly British Ambassador to the United States, has sent to the Associated Press a plea that America try to stop the slaughter of Armenians. "The civilized world," he says in his plea, "especially America, ought to know what horrors have been passing in Asiatic Turkey during the last few months, for if anything can stop the destroying hand of the Turkish Government it will be an expression of the opinion of neutral nations, chiefly the judgment of humane America. "Soon after war broke out between Turkey and the Allies," continues the Viscount, "the Turkish Government formed, and since has been carrying out with relentless cruelty, a plan for exterminating Christianity by killing off Christians of the Armenian race. Accounts from different sources agree that over the whole of Eastern and Northern Asia Minor and Armenia, the Christian population is being deliberately exterminated, the men of military age, being killed and the younger women seized for Turkish harems, compelled to become Mohammedans and kept with children in virtual slavery. The rest of the inhabitants, old women, men and children have been driven under convoy of Turkish soldiers into unhealthy parts of Asia Minor, some to the deserts between Syria and the Euphrates. Many die or are murdered en route and all perish sooner or later. "In Trebizond City, where the Armenians number over 10,000, orders came from Constantinople to seize all Armenians. Troops hunted them, drove them to the shore, took them to sea, threw them overboard and drowned them all, men, women and children. This was seen and described by the Italian consul. "Some in the country escaped by professing to accept Islam, and a quarter of a million escaped over the Russian frontier, but perhaps half a million were slaughtered or deported, and those deported are dying from ill-treatment, disease or starvation. The roads and the hillside are strewn with corpses of innocent peasants. "We can all try to send aid to the miserable refugees now in Russian territory, but what man can stop the massacre? Not the Allied Powers at war with Turkey. Only one Power could take action for that purpose. It is Germany. Would not the expression of American public opinion, voicing the conscience of neutral nations, lead Germany to check the Turkish Government?"

Ask or Give No Quarter

London, Sept. 20.—The Pall Mall Gazette, commenting upon the recent statement of Grottel von Jagow, the German foreign minister, regarding Germany's submarine policy, in which Herr von Jagow suggests that it might be well for Great Britain to revoke orders instructing shipmasters to attack submarines whenever possible, has this to say: "The British answer to such diplomacy is quite plain. We have beaten the submarine campaign, and would be indeed simple-minded to give it fresh facilities by laying down the weapon just as it has rendered important service." The Gazette contends that the provisions which the foreign minister suggested for preventing the sinking of belligerent shipping without warning is merely a German trap, intended, if Great Britain refuses to accept them, to persuade Americans that Germany has been driven against her will to continue "the infamous course with which her naval flag is identified."

Gone to New York.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Mr. D. A. Thomas, the special representative of the British Minister of Munitions, leaves Ottawa to-morrow for New York. He has completed his work in Canada, for the time at least, but will, it is understood, remain in New York. Mr. Thomas's inspection of the munition manufacturers in Canada and his conferences with Canadian manufacturers have resulted satisfactorily. Mr. Thomas has had several conferences with Sir Robert Borden since the latter's return from England, when the munitions situation as affecting Canada was gone carefully over.

JAS. P. CASH, Tobacconist, WATER STREET.

"V. C."

¶ While every true Briton will be attracted by the magic letters above, every true smoker should know they also stand for a tobacco composed of finest Burley and Virginia leaf, so perfectly blended that it needs only one trial to make it first favorite, so magic is its flavor.

¶ For either pipe or cigarette this Smoking Mixture is equally good. It is delightfully cool and fragrant to taste, is free from any sting or bite, and is altogether a tobacco that is sure to become first a popular tobacco then a favorite tobacco, and eventually, to the really appreciative smoker, a "regular old friend."

¶ V. C. Smoking Mixture is sold in 1 lb. tins, but it can also be purchased loose in smaller quantities from 1 ounce upwards, as required. If you're not using V. C. Smoking Mixture you don't know what real pipe-joy is.
