CHAPTER XXIII.
AN EXTRAORDINARY TRIAL.

When the judge, in his red and black robes, came in through the door on the right of the judgment seat, he held in his white-gloved hand something black.

Lillias saw it, and, self-possessed as she was, and confident in the strength and skill of the man who was going to fight for her life, a shudder thrilled through her nerves.

Her fellow prisoner turned a shade paler and closed his eyes. He had neither the nerve nor the faith that she had, but with her he recognized the little square of black velvet, the pall of death which is known to newspaper readers as the black cap.

The judge took his seat amid a rustle of excited expectancy, and the clerk of arraigns rose and went through the usual formula, ending with the fateful questions:

"Herbert Mathews, do you plead guilty or not guilty to the charges now laid against you?"

"Not guilty," he replied, in a low, almost inaudible tone.

"Lillias Ashley, do you plead guilty or not guilty to the charges laid against you?"

"Not guilty," she said, with a clear and distinct emphasis on the not, which reached every ear in the crowded court.

Then Nevil Jarvis, who was leading for the prosecution, supported by a couple of bright juniors, rose to open the case for the crown.

Kenneth Markham was the only counsel for the defense. He had taken the honor or the dishonor of the task in his own hands, and he had determined that none other than he should fight for the life of the woman he loved.

The opening speech of Jarvis was eminently moderate in tone. It contained no insinuations against the accused. The only personal allusion in it was one most delicately worded with reference to Mrs. Lillias Ashley, and all the rest was simply an absolutely impersonal recapitulation of the facts which had by this time become public property, through the newspaper reports of the police-court proceedings. It was a model of goodlymanly accusation in its most merciless shape, and no one in court, sitting perhaps the judge, recognized its admirable skill and judgment more than Kenneth Markham himself did.

That speech of his rival, that masterly accusation, was quiet, cold, and deadly; and when Nevil Jarvis sat down, those who had heard the trial in the probate court felt that they were going to be compensated for their disappointment, and those who had not heard it agreed with the rest in thinking that unless something like a legal miracle happened, the lovely woman and the sleekly groomed doctor who stood beside her would before a month was over feel the silken coil of the hangman's rope around their necks.

The first witness for the prosecution was an official from the home office, who gave merely formal evidence as to the consent of the home secretary for the opening of the grave and the exhumation of the body. Kenneth had no question to ask him, and he stood down.

The next was an eminent analyst in the employment of the government. His evidence was to the effect that Sir Arthur had died of an overdose of atropine and morphine, probably injected by means of a hypodermic syringe. He had found several punctures in the skin of the arms and thighs, which denoted such injections. An analysis of the blood had shown that the salts of the blood had been changed by repeated injections. The contents of the stomach also showed that the alkaloid of opium had also been taken in large quantities through the mouth. It also appeared to him that another drug, counteracting the immediate effect of alcohol, had been administered by the mouth. What the nature of this drug was he was not able to say, but he had no doubt that the patient had died in consequence of a large overdose of alcohol, as was proved by the contraction of the heart, followed by an injection in excessive quantity of atropine and morphine.

"Thank you, doctor," said Mr. Nevil Jarvis, as the witness passed. Kenneth rose in an intense hush of expectancy.

"Suppose that the patient had been under your care, doctor, what is the treatment that you would have prescribed?"

"Absolute prohibition of alcohol, complete rest, and as much nourishment as the patient can take."

"But in the case of acute alcoholism, as we may take this to have been, would you prohibit alcohol at once, or diminish it by degrees?"

The specialist paused for a moment, then said:

"That is a matter of constitution, and the history—that is to say, the precursors of the patient."

"Then I may take it that there are cases in which a sudden stoppage of the supply of alcohol might possibly be not only dangerous but perhaps fatal?"

"In certain advanced cases, where the patient is suffering from other diseases, and was not well nourished by natural means, it would be dangerous, but very rarely fatal."

"And in such a case as that of the late Sir Arthur Eversley, in which it has been admitted by my learned friend that the nervous system was utterly disorganized through the effects of tropical fever and sunstroke, which led in their turn to alcoholism and the drug habit, what would you prescribe for the relief of the nervous system?"

"There are two treatments," said the expert, whom Kenneth had now got on his favorite hobby, and intended to make him ride it for all it was worth. "For internal treatment I should prescribe—"

"My lord," said Nevil Jarvis, rising, "I must protest against this course of cross-examination. This is a court of justice, it is not a medical school. Instantly Kenneth was on his feet, interposing a quiet answer to this objection:

"With all submission, my lord, I would suggest that everything, even perhaps the lives of the accused, may depend upon the medical evidence which I desire to put before the court."

"Mr. Jarvis, I am afraid I cannot allow your objection," said the judge. "In the present stage of the proceedings, there seems to be medicine rather than law before the court."

"Then I will ask you, doctor," said Kenneth, rising again, "whether, granted that your internal treatment, however excellent it would doubtless be, would not in such a case have to be supplemented by hypodermic treatment?"

"Undoubtedly it would," said the expert, who was getting somewhat offended by the interruption of what he intended to be a medical lecture.

"And now will you tell us what you would prescribe for that treatment?" "I would rather not do that publicly," said the expert, "because it is not safe to give to everybody the names of these drugs, as you would give the name of a patent medicine. Perhaps your lordship would allow me to write the prescription, not in doctor's Latin, but in plain English?"

"I suppose you have no objection to that, Mr. Jarvis?" said the judge.

"None whatever, my lord; but I hope your lordship will allow my learned friend and myself to see it."

"There cannot be the slightest objection to that," said the judge; and then, amid a silence unbroken, even by the rustle of a silken skirt, the great authority on poisons wrote with a pencil on a sheet of blue foolscap, which was handed to him by the usher of the court, the formula which might, according to the circumstances of the hour or the minute, mean life or death.

The judge read it and passed it down to Nevil Jarvis, and he passed it on to the counsel representing Doctor Mathews. It was then passed up to Doctor Mathews in the dock. He smiled and nodded and gave it back to the usher, and so it returned by the same route to the judgment seat.

"My lord," said Kenneth, rising again, "I have no further questions to ask the witness. That prescription is identical with the one prescribed by Doctor Mathews, and which I hope my learned friend will produce."

"Will your lordship's permission, I should like to ask the witness one or two more questions," said Nevil Jarvis.

His lordship nodded approval, and the witness remained on the stand. "It is true, I believe, that in such a case as the one we are considering,

PUNY, AILING CHILDREN NEED VINOL

Because it Enriches the Blood, Makes Sound Flesh and Muscle Tissue, and Little Thin Limbs Round and Plump

Druggists Guarantee It

When a child is tired all the time, no appetite, weak, sickly and ailing—no energy, no vitality, they need the strengthening elements of tonic iron, combined with the rare flesh, muscle and tissue building elements of good old-fashioned cod liver oil as contained in VINOL. That is what makes them respond so quickly to its use.

VINOL is easily assimilated and contains no oil to upset their delicate stomachs like emulsions. Just try it on our guarantee and you will get the same results as this mother who writes: "My little girl was weak, puny and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. VINOL was recommended, and it built up her strength and made her healthy, and now she romps and plays like other children, and is robust and rosy."

If you have a sickly, ailing child do not wait another day, but get a bottle of VINOL and try it on the guarantee of your druggist to return your money if it fails to benefit.

punctures made by the hypodermic syringe very rarely heal. They are covered by a rough sort of skin, and they rot?"

"Yes, that is so. In fact, at advanced stages, they never heal at all."

"But you could tell the difference between an old wound made by a puncture and a new one?"

"Certainly. There would be a redness, an inflammation, about the new one."

"And were the indications of such a wound found on the left arm of Sir Arthur Eversley?"

"Yes, yes!"

"Thank you." Kenneth rose once more.

"I should like to ask," said he, whether it is not possible and ever probable, that such a wound might have been inflicted by the patient himself?"

"Undoubtedly. Granted that the patient possessed a syringe and had access to the drugs."

"Thank you."

The next witness for the prosecution was, as Kenneth expected, Miss Gertrude Holroyd; and Nevil Jarvis, feeling that Kenneth, by asking the smallest number of questions possible, had somewhat nullified the evidence of his best witness, exerted his skill upon her.

However, the result was not at all satisfactory. She had evidently been coached to give a coherent narrative of what had happened during the period between Sir Arthur's arrival at Doctor Mathews' house at Hampstead and his death. The questions were admirably calculated to bring out the whole story, but the answers were halting, fragmentary and sometimes almost foolish; and before Nevil Jarvis had finished his examination, Kenneth got up and electrified the whole court by saying:

"My lord, with all respect, I submit that this witness is not in a condition to give reliable evidence."

Paying Toll for Neglect

Needless exposure to damp and cold frequently results in a derangement of the Kidneys and Bladder.

When these important organs fail to do their duty, various evils arise, such as rheumatism, swollen hands and ankles, stiff joints, lumbago, sciatic neuralgia, stings in the bladder or gravel, excruciating pains in the back and sides, constant headaches, dizziness, specks floating before the eyes, uneasiness of mind without reason, and general debility.

These are signs of serious kidney and bladder trouble, which require immediate attention. The most dependable remedy is found in GIN PILLS. They quickly and safely relieve congested kidneys, passing stones and gravel, healing and soothing inflamed organs and restoring them to normal. Thousands of letters from people who have been relieved are continually coming to us. Their writers often beg us to spread the good news to other sufferers that GIN PILLS certainly and surely will bring the help they need. Send for free sample, or go direct to your druggist or dealer for a box. Money refunded if relief not given.

Germany Must Disarm

Allies Are United in This Demand --Unless Germany Agrees Blockade Will be Resumed -- Adriatic Problem Reported Solved -- Berlin Fears New Revolution Impending -- Naval Blockade Greatest Factor in Winning the War.

LONDON PAPERS PLEASSED WITH NEW ATTITUDE TOWARDS GERMANY.

LONDON, April 16. London evening newspapers to-day prominently the semi-official sentiment from Paris that the Allies, the initiative of Great Britain, are bent on taking energetic steps to enforce German disarmament, even to the extent of cutting off food supplies if necessary. Most journals in their editorials welcome the news qualifiedly.

ADRIATIC SOLUTION REACHED?

TRIESTE, April 15. The British Mission, the last of the Inter-Allied Delegation in the Fiume region, left Fiume this morning. The departure of the Mission caused the impression that a solution of the Adriatic question had been reached.

POLAND APPROVES.

PARIS, April 16. The Polish Government has informed the French Minister at Warsaw that it entirely approves of the action of France in occupying Frankfurt and Darmstadt. Poland desires just as does France the carrying out as a whole of the Treaty of Versailles, it was explained.

MILITARY PREPARATIONS IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, April 16. Government troops were massed in the centre of Berlin last night, following the return of Herr Severing, Prussian Minister of the Interior from the Ruhr District, where he was sent to conduct operations. Among the units assembled were fifteen tanks, twenty armoured cars, and several detachments of machine gunners, and it is presumed this military movement was a result of rumors of a new revolt impending. Herr Severing has ordered that the public be barred from the quarter of the city containing the Government buildings and the Wilhelmstrasse and Unter Den Linden were held by fully armed troops all day yesterday. Conditions in Pomerania, where Reactionaries are said to be very active, are reported to be of the utmost gravity.

GERMANS MUST CARRY OUT TREATY.

BERLIN, April 16. The representations in Berlin of France, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium will join in warning to Germany that she must execute without delay the disarmament and demobilization clauses of the Peace Treaty, according to present plans. It is understood that the Charge D'Affaires will also say to the Government that in case insurrectionary movements in Germany are not suppressed the Allies may refuse further deliveries of foodstuffs. This agreement among the Allies for the execution of the Versailles Treaty was reported in despatches from Paris on Thursday.

L. G. EN-ROUTE TO SAN REMO.

MARSEILLES, April 16. Premier Lloyd George arrived here to-day en-route for the Inter-Allied Conference at San Remo. He left within a short time for Nice with his party and will spend the night there.

A RUSSIAN REPORT.

LONDON, April 16. A Moscow report received here by wireless says forces of the Azerbaijan Republic have attacked Armenia, and that the Republic of Georgia has offered to act as an intermediary. British military authorities are accepting the Moscow report sceptically. There is no other news than the Bolshevik despatch indicating that such a situation as it describes exists.

AEROPLANE FATALITIES.

SANDERSON, Texas, April 16. Lieut. D. M. Sansel and Sergt. W. T. Maxwell, both of the Aero Squadron, were instantly killed when their aeroplane fell here to-day.

NAVAL BLOCKADE WON WAR.

WASHINGTON, April 16. Rear-Admiral Badger declared today before the Senate Committee investigating the part of the United States Navy in the war, that the Allied blockade of Germany and not the anti-submarine campaign was the chief naval contribution to winning the war. He denied the statements which had been made by Admiral Sims that failure of the Navy Department to send destroyers to European waters had prolonged hostilities.

BRITISH APPEAL TO SOVIETS.

LONDON, April 16. Earl Curzon on behalf of the British Government recently communicated with the Soviet Government in Moscow appealing for amnesty for General Denekine and the Russian Volunteer Army in the Crimea, it became known to-day.

CONSPIRATORS ARRESTED.

BERLIN, April 16. Three Reichwehr officers and three civilians were arrested to-day. They are accused of a conspiracy against the Government.

TORONTO'S HOUSING PROBLEM.

TORONTO, April 16. With a view to relieving the acute housing conditions in Toronto, Mayor Church has asked the city assessment department to report upon suitable sites for the erection of tents in which homeless people may live during the coming summer.

TURKS AND ARMENIANS FIGHT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 16. Discouraging messages have been received here from Aintab Ara, in Northern Syria, indicating that the Turks and Armenians are engaging in heavy fighting there, the Armenians occupying American mission buildings.

WANT RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA RESUMED.

PARIS, April 16. Workers throughout the country are invited by the General Federation of Labor to cease work on May 1st for the purpose of "bringing about a resumption of relations with Soviet Russia and nationalization of public services."

ECONOMIZING.

PARIS, April 16. The Hungarian Peace Delegation has moved from Neuilly to Versailles. Reasons of economy were given for the change. Owing to the absence of Count Apponyi, head of the delegation, who is now in Budapest, the official pour-parlers have been suspended.

ANOTHER STRIKE.

LIEGE, April 16. A report is published here that workmen and merchants in the cantons of Eupen and Malmédy have decided upon a general strike in protest against annexation to Belgium.

Household Notes.

Fill the cores of apples with honey and broken walnuts, then bake. Japanese mustard is an excellent kind of green food if spinach runs short. Once a month the soot around the cookstove oven should be cleared away. Chopped parsley or orange rind gives an additional flavor to mint sauce. Add a cupful of jam to a cottage pudding mixture. Omit other sweetening.

Never cover hot potatoes. They will become water-soaked in their steam. Powdered sugar and tart jam transform a delicate omelet into a dessert.

PEARS

The sea washes the world—Pears' Soap washes its inhabitants!

For over a century, Pears' has been making its way round the world. Ask for it in your local store; it is there! From the Cape to Cairo, in the bazaars of India, throughout Australia, Canada, the U.S., and South America Pears' has made its way with civilization,—on merits!

Pears' Soap is transparent because it is pure; it is the most economical soap because "it wears but does not waste." It cleanses and purifies the skin and freshens up body and mind.

"Pears"

is not heavily scented. Its delicate perfume comes from pure natural ingredients; the difference is important,—it means again that Pears' soap is pure.

Methodist National Campaign.

The final meeting of the Campaign found the College Hall crowded by a happy and enthusiastic body of ladies and gentlemen. Almost 100 per cent. of the Team Workers responded to the call of the Organizer at 7 o'clock sharp. By the liberality of the ladies of the Methodist congregations, a bountiful supper was provided. The good cheer provoked a good fellowship that was contagious, and enthusiastic, and an evidence of the unity of spirit prevailing among the city congregations. Immediately following the reports of the results of the canvass for the day by each Team Captain, addresses were delivered by Revs. Armp and Bryce from Toronto, and the Rev. Dr. Bond, President of the Nfd. Conference. For the laymen, the Hon. R. K. Bishop was the speaker. The result of the final canvass showed a total of $5,643.15, (details of which are appended), and for the week a grand total of $19,488.70. To this amount other subscriptions are to be added from several well-known liberal givers, who are at present away from home. The objective of $20,000 set by the Conference Executive to be raised by the city congregations, is certain of achievement. In several of the Outport Circuits the Campaign will not be completed for a few weeks. When the entire campaign is closed, the results will no doubt be creditable to the Methodism of Newfoundland, and in keeping with the well-known liberality of the congregations. The following is the list of financial results reported at the meeting:

Forty-One Years in the Public Service—the Evening Telegram

C. L. B.

The Brigade Headquarters Thursday night was a real hive of industry. The Officer Commanding, Lt.-Col. R. F. Goodridge, was busily engaged all evening judging the "Outerbridge Shield Competition." The various squads under their respective N.C.O.'s were examined very minutely and each were put through the various drills and exercises. Points were awarded on the smartness, appearance and cleanliness, the payment of monthly dues, and attendance. The winning squad will be announced next week—the prize is the "Outerbridge Shield"—presented by ex-Lt.-Col. Outerbridge to encourage competition amongst the various units and N.C.O.'s. The N.C.O. winning the shield will be awarded a silver medal, and the lads wear a miniature red shield on their jerseys as a mark of honour for the year following.

News from England contains the pleasing intelligence that the First Newfoundland Regiment C. L. B., has been recognized by the British War Office as a regular Army Cadet Corps and has been attached to the 60th Kings' Royal Rifle Corps. The official clipping from "The Brigade" is as follows:—Everyone will join with us in congratulating our crack overseas Regiment on the Army Order, which has just affiliated them, like the rest of us, to the K.R.R.C. Our oldest colony is in the front rank of C.L.B. Regiments. Its war record is superb. If anyone wants to see the finest C.L.B. armoury in the world, let him go to Newfoundland. We feel that to be part of the famous 60th will spur our comrades to further exertions, and we wish them the happiest of futures.

The 1st Newfoundland Regiment C.L.B. contains ten Companies, in St. John's, Bell Island, Heart's Content, Bonavista, Bay Roberts, and Trinity East, and several others are being organized. We congratulate Lt.-Col. Goodridge, Officer Commanding, on this mark of favour from the Army authorities. The Brigade in future will be known as the Church Lads' Brigade Cadets.

The Band has been very busy engaged, in providing for their Easter Band Concert, and the various dance programmes. Lieut. Morris had recently been promoted to the rank of Captain for his meritorious work. The genial Captain has now set out to earn a sum of fifteen hundred dollars during 1920 in order to assist in providing for the camp and other expenses of the Brigade. We wish him luck in attaining his objective. The Old Comrades dance on Wednesday in the Brigade's gymnasium was quite a social success. The ladies who assisted the Brigade's ex-members and contributed cake, etc., are to be congratulated on the success of the dance.

Lieut. R. G. Ash, Battalion Paymaster, owing to increasing demands on his time has resigned the appointment of Paymaster and is now transferred to assist Lieut. Emerson in the work of the Brigade College.

Lieut. A. S. Lewis, of Messrs. Reid, Son & Watson, has rejoined and taken up his old duties as Paymaster. The Colonel has been pleased to nominate Mr. Marmanduke Winter, M. M., formerly of the 1st Royal Newfoundland Regiment, for a commission as Lieutenant in the 41st Battalion C.L.B., St. John's. Mr. Winter will be quite an addition to the Brigade as one of a class of 220 N.C.O.'s. He passed 8th out of this number in proficiency in drill. He comes to the Brigade with a war record of magnificent service and the officers have given him a hearty welcome to the mess.

On Sunday morning to St. Mary's, Southside, the Battalion holds its first Mothers who delight in keeping their children neatly and well dressed will welcome this Splendid Showing of Girls' Hats.

There is an attraction in the simple youthful lines that can hardly be expressed. "Simply delightful," many mothers have said—and they are, in every detail. Material is of quality that you'll approve; colour in design is typical girlish, and there is a quaintness in the style and trimming effect which is altogether irresistible.

And yet, though so pretty, the designers have not forgotten to make them practical, and herein lies their greatest attraction. Mothers of girls should most certainly see this splendid showing.

ON SHOES.

Don't you love shoes? I must confess I do. I had an old aunt who used to sternly to correct my childhood's assertion that I loved strawberry ice cream by saying "You love your mother and like your food." I am afraid she would correct me to-day if she could hear me, as her asperities have long since merged in the peace of a countrified yard. I will dare to say it, there is a fascination to me about shoes, a temptation to buy more than I ought, a sense of richness in possession of several pairs in good condition, which no article of my wardrobe can give me.

Don't You Hate Shabby Shoes? Don't mind a well-worn dress if the lines are good and its color becoming, but I do hate shabby shoes. I used to think that this passion for shoes was something unusual and came from the days when the fact that I was fearfully hard on shoes, combined with the fact that the supply had to be divided among a sizable family and was far from unlimited, that my feet shabby most of the time, and find now that this feeling is shared by others.

I would rather shop for shoes and make than anything else," a young man who has very good taste told me recently. "I pick out my gowns at all, but I will go to al- every shop in the city (that certainly some travelling) to get just the and style of shoes I want."

Forty Dollars Worth of Shoes. Another woman told me that when she inherited some money, the first thing she did was to go out and buy worth of shoes (that was in the when $50 would buy six or seven of good shoes).

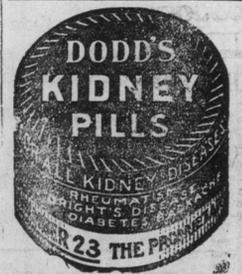

When one looks back at one's childhood and remembers that simplicities in those days, it certainly seem as if this were the golden age of the shoe-lover. Suppose you were to have an afternoon tea in the old days, what would the guests have on their feet? Their best black shoes, of course, unless by some chance they might be a pair or two of— a great luxury in those days.

The Shoes One Sees at Afternoon Tea. To-day, the brown gown has bronze shoes, as a matter of course; the grey gown has grey shoes; a black satin shoe rhymes with the black satin gown; there will be many dainty white shoes if it is Summer; and besides these common colors, there will also be several shades of delicate and unusual shades—champagne, mauve and such, specially procured to match some one gown.

Yes, when one looks back at one's childhood, this does seem the golden age for shoe-lovers. But, alas, not when one looks down into one's purse!

APRIL

With April comes the feeling that winter's hit the ceiling, and spring at last is here; we are not always freezing, or catching cold and sneezing, and flu germs disappear. The winter's grime and dreary, it makes us sad and weary, it fills our bones with aches; but April is enchanting, and we begin our planting, and plying hoes and rakes. The winter's knell is tolling, and naught is more consoling than is the breath of spring; there's solace in its breezes, and men are simply cheeres who do not dance and sing. The tumble-bug is tumbling, the bumble-bees are humming, the grass is getting green; this fact appeals to reason: there is no better season for burning gasoline. Oh, April is a hummer, she is the cheerful comer who gets the welcome sign; though sometimes wet and windy, inclined to raise a shindy, her curves are mostly fine. She shows that winter's ended, for she is not attended by snow and ice and sleet; with cold she's never stung us, and so she lands among us with both her queenly feet.

Household Notes. Never interrupt the baby's nap. Always bake a sponge cake in an ungreased pan. Eggs cooked in butter over electric heat are delicious. A layer cake baked in loaf shape is very easy to cut. Stuff apples with raisins and nuts and bake with honey. Cheese crackers are good with almost any kind of salad. Baby shoes can be made from discarded white kid gloves. Long simmering will impart to the soup a delicious flavor. Fairly wafers are very attractive served with gelatine desserts. Multi-grain syrup is a wholesomely delicious new sugar substitute. A child's toy iron is often a great help in ironing tiny garments. Canned pimientos combine well with canned pears for a salad. Keep the stock-pot clean and fresh if you would make good soups. Soak citron ten minutes in hot water, then put through grinder. Iced teaspoons may be used when serving a dessert in a tall glass. Asparagus served with pimiento sauce makes an agreeable change. An elastic band around a broom will keep the straws from splitting. A vegetable curry is a most acceptable item in the vegetarian's diet. Gift frames can be cleaned with a sponge dipped in oil of turpentine.

Just Folks
Edgar A. Guest
BUY ME AN ICE CREAM SODA, PLEASE.
I'm truly sorry for the man who misses all such joys as these. Who never hears and never can. From little lips their many pleas: "Get me some chocolate candy, an' 'Buy me an ice cream soda, please!"

Light-hearted people go and come. And pause before the shining shops. They hear their children's: "Buy me some!" "Oh, daddy! There are lollypops!" But no one begs him for a drum, Or horn or music-making tops. Alone he walks the crowded streets. And looks at things he never needs. The painted trinkets and the sweets. The woolly dogs and colored beads. But no gay little voice entreats. And for such pleasures no one pleads. He does not know the worth of gold. Who has no little girls or boys. To beg for everything that's sold. For sugar buns and gaudy toys. And he is doomed until he's old. To loneliness and selfish joys. Give me the youngster at my side. Who begs for everything he sees. Tin soldiers and a horse to ride. And blue balloons to brave the breeze. Who shouts, and will not be denied: "Buy me an ice cream soda, please!"

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL
Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Genuine Aspirin
If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—Remember this! Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in America by an American Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government. During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for pain generally. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores. Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacid-ester of Salicylicacid. The Bayer Co., Inc., U.S.A.

The Public Aroused.

Tired of waiting for a denial of the Woodford affidavit and weary of being in an equivocal position so far as representation is concerned, the public of St. John's has at length aroused itself and will now move to bring this much discussed matter to a head. The affidavit of the senior member for Harbor Main was made and sworn to on the twenty-third day of March. Today is the seventeenth day of April, and ample time has elapsed in which for the Prime Minister to contradict the grave charges made against his political reputation. He has failed to do so, neither have his Executive colleagues hastened to repudiate the action of their chief in making a bargain so corrupt and brazen that even the foreign press, which is not noted for political purity where party advantage is to be gained, is amazed over the venality of the transaction. If all the Executive members elect to stand or fall by the act of the Prime Minister in concluding this bargain with Mr. Woodford, then their conduct is most reprehensible and they have been parties to the agreement entered into between the Premier and the deponent. If not how otherwise could the latter make an offer to Mr. Woodford of a permanent position under the Crown, attaching a yearly salary of twenty-five hundred dollars thereto, and promising to pay a quarter's installment, — for work not performed — in advance. The Executive, we say, must have been aware of this arrangement, and until their individual denials are made, the public must regard each one of them as particeps criminis.

But the probe is now about to be applied. The public is aroused and determined. The announcement, advertised in the Press, that a meeting of citizens of the districts of St. John's East and West has been called for Monday evening next, shows that public sentiment will no longer be denied. As about this time last year a great demonstration protesting against certain proposals of the Government of the day had a most salutary effect, so in the present instance will a similar demonstration exercise a similar effect in the crisis which has arisen out of the unheard of conduct of the first Minister in the land. The legal adviser of the Government has hesitated too long. His failure to proceed, either to prove the innocence or guilt of the Prime Minister and Colonial Secretary is tantamount to an acceptance of complicity in the deed, of which the Prime Minister stands accused. Failing action on his part the people will now push the matter to an issue, and will if necessary, carry their protest to His Excellency the Governor as they did in April last year. The situation is alarming. Men in high places have been accused of doing deeds at which the most hardened politician would jib, and they are flaunting their guilt in the faces of the men who supported them and their party, as well as daring those who opposed them politically to do their worst. The implied challenge has been accepted. The public has taken up the gauntlet, and the fight is now one between the people and the accused parties. Someone is guilty. Who that someone is will be the duty of the electors to discover and punish.

The announcement in yesterday's Herald that His Excellency the Governor has been officially notified of the charges preferred against the Prime Minister in the Woodford affidavit, shows that someone possessed sufficient moral stamina to perform this office. The people will now have an opportunity of backing this up with their own protest, and public interest will centre around Government House from now until the King's representative makes a declaration as to the course he proposes to follow.

Ladies' Sale at Presbyterian Hall.

The ladies of St. Andrew's Church held a very enjoyable sale in the Presbyterian Hall yesterday afternoon. Particularly pretty were the decorations, a large number of electric bulbs being used. The booth devoted to children's clothing was attractive, and brought good trade. This was presided over by Mrs. Fulmore, assisted by Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Duff and Miss Ledingham. Mrs. Boyd Baird had charge of the Fanny Work Stall, assisted by Mesdames J. W. Morris and Goode; Miss Neyle, Mesdames R. C. Smith, J. Clouston and Glendenning of the Domestic Science Booth, and Mrs. Nicholson of that devoted to the sale of magazines and books. Mrs. McKeen, convenor of the tea committee, assisted by several other ladies, served tea during the afternoon. A short musical programme was gone through, Misses McKenzie, Ledingham, and Johnson rendering numbers with Mrs. Rev. Dickie, acting as accompanist. The proceeds will be devoted to the Mission Fund.

"THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE."

With the stagings and costumes quite in keeping with the Southern U.S.A. mountain scenes, wherein the drama is enacted, the presentation of that thrillingly interesting reproduction from the book of the same name, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," was presented by the Young-Adams Company at the Casino Theatre last night with Miss Marie Adams in the role of June, daughter of old Judd Tolliver (Mr. H. Wilmot Young), Jack Hale, the young mining engineer, looking for coal, and suspected by the mountaineers of being a revenue officer and various other titles tabooed by the "moonshiners," was played in a manner that left nothing to be desired by Mr. Perry Norman. Young Dave Tolliver, cousin of June and her would-be lover, was represented by Mr. John J. Gregory, his sister Retty (Miss Gladys Butler) giving a realistic interpretation of her part, which was highly appreciated. Uncle Billy Tolliver (Mr. Jack Simmonds) and Rastus (Mr. Donald Mack), the comedian of the play, were exceedingly good, and their duel evoked roars of laughter. Between the third and last acts Mr. H. Wilmot Young appeared in a new role, that of a recitationist, his selection being "The story of Jean Dupres," a war incident. So delighted was the audience with Mr. Young's rendition of a difficult piece of verse, that he had to respond to an encore in which he impersonated an English "Kaut," a Frenchman, a clergyman and an Irishman in reciting the "Charge of the Light Brigade." The "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" will be repeated to-night, and on Monday and Tuesday of next week, the stirring drama "In Secret Service" will be staged. Vaudeville between the acts and the music of the C.C.C. Band are attractions too great to be resisted.

Talented Lady Artist.

Miss Gwendolyn Mews, of the Staff of the Owen's Museum of Art, Sackville, was fortunate in having two pictures hung at the Spring Exhibition of the Art Association, Montreal. The pictures received very favourable comment. One was a picture of the White House, Provincetown, Mass. An old house standing in sunshine flecked with shadows cast by trees and large leafless sunny trunks standing out against a dazzling blue sky. The other picture was a study of Nasturtiums. Brilliant flowers in a glass bowl standing back on a brass tray, with black velvet forming foreground and background. Miss Mews is to be congratulated upon her success.

Veterans Now Being Placed.

Sixty Returned Men Found Jobs This Month—Canadian Instructor Here For Occupational Training.

The regular meeting of the Civil Re-establishment Committee held yesterday afternoon, brought forth a lot of business. Hon. J. M. Kent presided, and there were also present, Hon. A. Campbell, Lt.-Col. W. F. Rendell, H. E. Cowan, Dr. V. P. Burke, Major J. W. March, Major W. H. Parsons, Major B. Butler, Dr. W. W. Blackall, Vocational Officer, and by invitation, Capt. G. J. Whitty, Capt. Leo Murphy, Capt. J. B. O'Reilly, and Capt. Gerald Byrne, Secretary to the Committee. Some 38 applications for courses in general education, garage mechanics, navigation and marine engineering were considered, and 40 applications under the Land Settlement scheme tabled and filed for further action when the whole agricultural project is being finalized. The latter are from all practical young farmers, and it is believed that the scheme will be successful when the final details are arranged.
The Vocational Officer announced that Miss M. Evelyn Smith had arrived by the Rosalind to take up the work of occupational training for lie-a-bed soldiers and sailors in the various hospitals. Miss Smith comes from Ottawa, where she had been engaged under the Department of Soldiers' Re-establishment as Supervisor of Ward Aides, in which capacity she performed excellent service; and comes to Newfoundland highly recommended by the Canadian Authorities.
A comparative statement submitted by the employment officials showed a most interesting phase of the labor situation. Over 114 applications from men out of work were received since March 1st, and since that time employment has actually been secured for 108 to April 16th inclusive. In this connection, Baird & Co., Anglo-Nfld. Dev. Co., Reid Nfld. Co., and Mr. J. J. Strang helped out considerably by taking on extra help from amongst the ranks of the unemployed.
Considerable correspondence in connection with students receiving training abroad, and about Canadian soldiers being trained locally, was tabled and discussed, and with the adoption of the minutes, a very busy session terminated at a late hour.
In connection with the settlement of the unemployed, it is interesting to learn from the officials of the department that during the period from March 1st to April 15th inst., inclusive, 114 applications were received from returned men out of employment, and within the same time not less than 108 veterans were actually placed in positions with city firms. The officers are particularly grateful to Baird & Co., Singer Sewing Machine Co., Reid Nfld. Co., J. J. Strang, W. T. Gillies Co., all of whom added veterans to their staff, and several others left by train yesterday for Badger, where work has been found for them by the A.N.D. Co. When it is stated that over 230 men were without work five weeks ago, and that the list has now been reduced to 100, some idea of the work will be conceived by the general public. Patriotic employers desiring willing help will receive hearty co-operation if they communicate their requirements to the Vocational Officer.

The 'Longshoremen's Demands.

Employers State Reasons for Refusing Them.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir—I am instructed by the Employers' Protective Association to forward you a copy of a letter which has been addressed to-day to the Longshoremen's Protective Union.

Yours truly,
ROBERT B. JOB,
Secretary,
Employers' Protective Assoc.

(COPY)
April 15th, 1920.
Mr. Joseph Flavin,
Vice President,
'Longshoremen's Protective Union
City.

Dear Sir—The employers Protective Association has given careful consideration to the demand recently put before them by your Union for an increase in the current rates of wages to meet the alleged increase in the cost of living. As a similar demand has been made annually about this time of year for several years past, it is possible to make a comparison of successive years on a fairly satisfactory basis; and the figures have been compiled for the consideration of the Employers showing approximately the increase in the cost of living and in wages during the past few years. Some of these figures have already been handed to the L.S.P.U. and have found their way into the papers in a somewhat inadequate and misleading form. The Employers think, therefore, that it is proper to place their calculations before the L.S.P.U. in a more extended form, and also to send a copy of this letter to the daily papers.

The wages per hour paid for the principal classes of labour during the last few winters (October to April) have been as follows:—

| | 1916-17 | 1917-18 | 1918-19 | 1919-20 | Demand |
|---|---------|---------|---------|---------|--------|
| General Labour | 16c. | 20c. | 24c. | 29c. | 42c. |
| Special Labour: e.g., barrowing fish, packing, screwing, handling salt, loading vessels, etc. | 18c. | 25c. | 30c. | 35c. | 52c. |

The following figures are put forward as the basis on which the offered increase of 15% was arrived at; and they show the employers' reason for believing that the alleged increase of 40 to 50 per cent. in cost of living has not taken place.

COST OF FOOD, LIGHT, FUEL AND RENT.

The following estimate of cost under the above heads for a family of six was put forward by Mr. T. M. White, President of the Newfoundland Industrial Workers Association, and published in the papers in May, 1919.

His estimate has been accepted and prices for four years have been added, which have been corrected by a provision dealer in daily touch with the trade, while the estimate of rent has been had from a gentleman in close touch with the subject:—

| | 1917 | 1918 | 1919 | 1919 | 1920 |
|-------------------|---------|-------|-------|---------|-------|
| Flour, 3 stone | 3.30 | 3.60 | 3.60 | 3.60 | 4.20 |
| Pork, 6 lbs. | 1.80 | 1.80 | 1.80 | 1.62 | 1.50 |
| Butter, 3 lbs. | 1.14 | 1.26 | 1.26 | 1.35 | 1.47 |
| Tea, ¼ lb. | 30 | 30 | 30 | 25 | 30 |
| Molasses, 1 gal. | 70 | 1.20 | 1.20 | 1.20 | 1.60 |
| Potatoes, 4 gals. | 80 | 80 | 1.00 | 1.00 | 1.00 |
| Cabbage, 4 lbs. | 48 | 48 | 80 | 48 | 80 |
| Fish, 4 lbs. | 32 | 36 | 56 | 48 | 56 |
| Milk, 7 pints. | 42 | 56 | 70 | 70 | 84 |
| Kero. Oil, 3 qts. | 33 | 30 | 30 | 30 | 33 |
| Coal, 1-8 ton | 1.75 | 2.00 | 2.25 | 2.25 | 2.90 |
| Rent | 80 | 85 | 1.00 | 1.00 | 1.00 |
| | 12.14 | 13.51 | 14.77 | (14.23) | 16.85 |
| Or say | $12.20 | 13.50 | 14.80 | | 16.90 |

Therefore if we take last year as the standard, and call it 100%, the four years will compare as follows:—

| | 1916-17 | 1917-18 | 1918-19 | 1919-20 |
|--|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| | 82.4% | 91.2% | 100% | 114.2% |

It may be said that this list is scant and does not cover everything a family needs. It is not claimed that it does so—it is merely claimed that it is quite sufficient to show the approximate percentage of increase in cost.

This is about correct as shown by an estimate for a family of eight furnished to the employers this year by an officer of the L.S.P.U., which is as follows:—

|-----------------|------|
| House Rent | 1.20 |
| Butter, 2½ lbs. | 1.00 |
| Flour, 2 stone | 2.40 |
| Sugar, 8 lbs. | 1.60 |

The L. S. P. U.'s list, which is for a family of eight, puts in all the details, and is probably a better list. It must be remembered that the average number of children under 15 per family in St. John's District is not eight or six, but under two, according to the Census. This may be shown thus:—

|---|--------|
| St. John's East and West, Total Population, 45,700. | |
| No. of married persons | 15,159 |
| Divide this by 2 and we have married couples, about | 7,580 |
| Add widows and widowers, who are possibly heads of families | 2,408 |
| | 9,988 |

Therefore the average number per family, if the whole population lived in families, would be 45,700 divided by 9,980, which gives about 4½ per-which is equivalent in p.c. to 85.5% to show the approximate percentage of increase in cost.

It is to be noticed again that this list does not claim to be complete. It only claims to contain enough articles to show the approximate percentage of increase in cost.

With this does not pretend to be absolutely accurate, it is probably close enough for all practical purposes. It appears therefore that the workingman's cost of living has advanced approximately 15%.

sons per family, regardless of age. But there are less than two children under 15 per family as can be shown thus:—

No. of heads of families about 9,988
No. of children under 15 years of age, according to Census, 15,680, which gives an average of about 1½ children under 15 per family. Therefore if we reckon workmen's families at four persons on the average, we are allowing liberally. No doubt there are families with five or six children, but there are bachelors, etc., and families with more than one person earning, all of which brings down the average number of dependents.

It is quite possible that Longshoremen as a class may have on the average a larger number of children per family than the other classes, but they cannot greatly exceed the average. If there are 5,000 labouring men in town and they averaged 3 children each, they would have all the children under 15 years that are according to the Census, leaving none whatever for any other class of people, which, of course, is absurd, and cannot be true.

The average family then consists of two parents and two children, and for these, on the L. S. P. U. scale, the above expenses would not come to more than $12.00 to $13.00 per week, allowing the parents to cost more than twice as much per week as the children. (If all cost the same, the weekly cost would of course, be less) and allowing for coal, rent and light being the same. A great many families have more than one wage-earner, and many labourers get something extra in the way of special bonuses, extra overtime, or fishing in the Summer, which adds to their incomes.

The Great Meteorite.

Discovered by the Esquimaux and Conveyed to New York By Baine Johnston and Co's Steamer "Hope", Captain John Bartlett.

H. F. SHORTIS.

From time immemorial, but during the past sixty or seventy years in particular, the adventures, dangers, and miraculous escapes of our Newfoundland sailors would, if written in a very long and interesting volume. Their experiences relate to every portion of the globe. We have them, and I know them personally, in the navies of Chili, Brazil, Spain, England, and more especially in the Federal Navy during the great American Civil War. They were all prominent in the Cuban Wars, during the past forty-five or fifty years. They were in the Spanish American War in large numbers. They were to be found in the Black Ball Liners, the India men and every other branch of the British and American Maritime. The principal scientific expeditions in search of the North Pole, as well as the various Arctic expeditions, were composed of Newfoundlanders, both as officers and crews, and amongst the commanders I need only mention such names as Pike, Ash, Norrish, John, Samuel and Bob Bartlett. There were many others of equal fame. But in this article I am about to state the particulars of quite a recent nature, not in hunting for the Pole, but in search of the great meteorite which fell from the heavens and was reported by the United States Government and the scientific societies of that country, who chartered a Newfoundland sealing steamer from the enterprising firm of Johnston & Co. of this city, a Newfoundland captain and crew who proceeded north, found the mass of metal, placed it in the good steamship Hope, and conveyed it to New York, U.S.A. Its recovery was considered to be of the greatest assistance to science, and it was carefully placed in position in the museum, where, no doubt, it is a source of wonder and mystery to the thousands of visitors, as to whence it came and by what means it was conveyed to this sub-lunar sphere. It was discovered by the Esquimaux during their hunting peregrinations to the interior of the far-away land in open north.

SIMILARITY OF METEORITES.

According to the best recognized theories, the word aerolite is derived from the Greek aer—the air, and lithos, a stone (air stones), which is a spellation given to those extraordinary bodies, composed of several mineral substances, which have been observed (though certainly they are not occurrences) to fall from the sphere. These are sometimes aeroliths, and at other times stones. The descent of such curious masses was, for a time, regarded as a description of the world, it was treated with an air of untruth, but of late years the fact has been so repeatedly proved and in such a conclusive manner, that it cannot, by any possibility, leave any doubt of the true existence of this phenomenon. A larger class of these stones have been observed as luminous bodies, falling with great velocity and descending in oblique directions, accompanied by a loud hissing noise, resembling a large and fiery solid substance, carried through our atmosphere, surrounded by a bright flame, which decreases both in brightness and in breadth—the latter assuming nearly a point in the tail of the meteor. These, on a sudden, are heard to burst, and seem to be blown by some violent force into pieces; the larger parts preceding the smaller ones in succession and are seen to strike the earth with great force frequently being inhaled to a considerable depth. On examination being made where these explosives have taken place, the parts are found scattered about, and the stones when dug up, considerably heated. The most extraordinary fact is that these stones all bear a resemblance to each other, and in every instance present the same external appearance of semi-metallic matter, coated on the outside with a thick black crust and exhibiting very strong proofs of recent fusion. These meteoric stones have been very carefully examined by some of the greatest chemists and naturalists, and their strict and accurate investigations have supplied us with such a mass of information, perfectly sufficient to convince the most scrupulous enquirer that these bodies have a common origin, and that we are totally unacquainted with any natural process which would in any possibility have formed them on earth.

NOT OF THE EARTH.

As I have before stated all these stones that have fallen at different parts of the earth's surface, have been formed of the same substance; but no other bodies on our globe have ever been discovered which contain the same substances. It may be worthy here of remark to state that the average specific gravity of these stones is 3 1/4 or 3 1/2 times heavier than water. I have read of many phenomena which have appeared at different places in various parts of the world, Newfoundland included, but the particulars of the finding and conveying of the "greatest meteorite of them all" from Melville Bay in the far North to New York, I am convinced, will easily take the most prominent place in all such phenomena. In giving an account of this great scientific discovery, I am indebted to the veteran engineer, Mr. Frederick Martin, for ten years chief of the s.s. Fiona, and for over forty years in our sealing steamers to the icefields and foreign voyages, and who was engineer on Baine Johnston's steamer Hope at the time, and it is needless to say that very little escaped Mr. Martin's observation, who, from his earliest days possessed a scientific turn of mind. Few men have helped to bring in more wealth to this country than Mr. Martin, who was engineer in our steamers from 1867 with the famous Capt. James Murphy in the Mastiff, until he was appointed to the revenue cruiser about ten years ago. And the best of it is, he was never a-jinker. It is to be regretted that Mr. Martin has mislaid or lost the diary kept by him during the voyage, but possessing as he does a most retentive memory, the following particulars will be read with interest.

THE FIRST KNOWLEDGE.

Some time previous to the year 1896, it was brought under the notice of Commander Peary, of North Pole notoriety, that a monster meteorite had been discovered at Melville Bay, and the Esquimaux who reported it, said that they could easily locate it.

The matter was brought before the scientific societies of the United States, and the amount necessary to finance the expedition was readily subscribed by those interested in all scientific pursuits. Negotiations were opened up with the great firm of Baine Johnston & Co., St. John's, for a steamer suitable for the occasion, and it was finally concluded that the good-sealing steamship Hope would answer the purpose. Capt. John Bartlett, of Brigus (uncle of Capt. Bob), was given charge of the ship, Peary accompanying the expedition, and as hardy and capable a crew of Newfoundlanders was shipped as ever found the deck of a vessel.

THE SAILING OF THE EXPEDITION.

When all arrangements had been made, the Hope sailed from St. John's on the 25th of June, and arrived at North Sydney on the 27th of that month. After procuring coal, she sailed again on the 2nd July for the far north, calling at Turnavick on the Labrador coast on the 5th. On the 7th the Hope again put out for Hudson Bay and arrived on the 12th. She sailed again on the 14th and called at the Devil's Thumb, and took on board three scientists of the Cornell University, who were waiting for them, to explore that locality. Left the Devil's Thumb for Cape York and arrived there on August 5th, after meeting heavy weather in Melville Bay. Took on board a tribe of Esquimaux and proceeded up the bay to locate and take on board the famous meteorite that had been found by the same natives two years previous. Arriving at their destination in August, they commenced operations to take on board the great mass of iron, which had to be removed from the mountain, where it was embedded by the side of the ice-cap. Powerful jack-screws had to be used under it to lift it from the earth, then a road had to be graded 2,700 feet in length, from the meteorite down to the place where the Hope was moored, close by the land-wash, which formed a natural pier.

The Sample Alone Healed me after 10 years of Eczema

I had been a sufferer from facial eczema for about ten years. I was treated unavailingly by several doctors and remedies. About two years ago I saw D.D.D. advertised. I at once desired to give it a trial and sent for a sample bottle. The sample alone healed me and I have no return of the trouble since. D.D.D. has been a godsend to me as well as to many others. I give you full permission to use these few lines to help to tell other poor sufferers about D.D.D.

Obituary.

AARON L. TREMBLETT.

The sad news was received by his brother, Mr. John Tremblett, the well known contractor of this city, of the demise of Mr. Aaron L. Tremblett, who passed away in Montreal on Thursday, the 15th inst., after a very short illness. Deceased was born in St. John's forty-seven years ago, and was married to Miss Norah Boggan, daughter of the late Richard Boggan, this city, who with two children survive him. He was one of the first conductors on the St. John's St. Railway, in which position he was most favorably known for his courtesy, kindly disposition and affable manner. He left here some eight years ago to take a position as foreman stonecutter of a firm in St. John, N.B., but owing to ill-health was forced to resign some six months ago. After his recovery he took a position with the C.P.R. of Montreal, which he held up to the time of his death. He had been a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus, The Foresters, and The Newfoundland Society, and his passing will be deeply regretted by his many friends, both here and in Canada. The body will be interred in Cote de Neige Cemetery, Montreal.

To Take Position.

Mr. Fred Joss arrived by s.s. Digby yesterday, and takes up a position to-day as an upholsterer at Pope's furniture factory. Mr. Joss comes highly recommended by some of the largest upholstering concerns of Glasgow and Edinburgh, and will be a valuable acquisition to Messrs. Pope. As the outbreak of the war, Joss enlisted as a Private in the Royal Scots Fusiliers, and in 1918 obtained his commission as 2nd Lieutenant, and remained until he was demobilized.

The 'Longshoremen's Demands.

are and have always been as reasonable and as ready to meet the men in a spirit of fairness as any Employers anywhere. The almost total absence in this city of the strikes so common elsewhere is proof enough of that. But for them to agree without demur to every fresh demand made upon them is another matter. It will be seen from the rates of wages published above that the payroll of every firm in this City has approximately doubled in the last four years; and the matter of a few cents per hour, which looks small enough in the case of an individual workman, means many thousands of dollars a year to each employing firm, and eventually to the public at large. When it is realized that leading firms in this City are paying out $100,000 to $200,000 per year in labour alone, (on their own premises, and not including trucking, etc.) and that the increase at present asked would mean that one of these has to find another $45,000 per year, and the other $90,000, it will be realized that a small wage increase is a serious matter. It is argued in the newspapers and elsewhere that money to increase wages ought to come out of the employers' profits. If those who read this letter will consider what some such wage increases mean, and then remember that they are asked for, not once, but every spring regularly, they will see why it is that these frequently recurring increases cannot be absorbed by the merchant, but must be passed on to the public. If it were not so, all profits would have been wiped out, and all businesses would have closed down years ago.

Employers cannot afford to be philanthropists beyond a certain point, so far as their business dealings are concerned. Most of the leading businesses here are Companies employing large invested capital belonging to a number of people, some here, some abroad. They must pay interest and reasonable profit on this capital, or it will be withdrawn, and they must maintain a strong financial position to carry them through the bad times which periodically occur; otherwise chaos and disaster will quickly result, and employment will dwindle to reduced proportions. Unless the return obtainable on investment in securities, capital will not remain in business, and take the risks which are inseparable from the business of a fishery country, such as to the loss incurred in outfitting for the sealfishery this year, and such as occur with distinct regularity in the Export business of this Colony.

If stevedoring wages go up, it simply means an immediate increase in the cost of coal, provisions and all other imported articles to the consumer throughout the Colony, and probably also an immediate increase in freight rates. This puts up, among other things, the outfitting expenses of the fishermen. They want more for their fish; and indeed the cost of outfitting is such that many of them are doubtful about fishing this season. At the same time, if another fifty cents or a dollar per quintal is added to the handling and shipping expenses in St. John's, the merchant's profit, disappears. Either he must put up the price of fish abroad, or else if the people of Europe and Brazil will not pay (and how they can be expected to pay more it is indeed hard to see) he must reduce the price he pays the fisherman; or else not buy at all.

Now, no one likes this most unpleasant task of discussing what is to be allowed to the workman and his family to live upon. Employers are no harder or more lacking in feeling than other men, and in these days few employers are so blind, either to the interests of humanity or their own interests, as to be willing to have a lot of underpaid, discontented and unwilling employees. They have ascertained the above facts as carefully as they can; they are prepared to be shown, if their figures are incorrect, and they are willing to meet the increase in the cost of living, whatever it may be satisfactorily shown to be; but they cannot in their own interests or those of the public, agree to give everything that is asked of them.

The whole question is one of much greater importance to the public and consumers of the country and the fisherman than it is to the actual employers who are really in the position of trustees for the public and would not be justified in conceding unreasonable increases which eventually reflect on the public.

Yours very truly,

WHAT ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN TRAVELLERS IN CANADA SAYS.
"Now I am going to give you an unsolicited testimonial, as they say in the patent medicine advertising. Heretofore I have had a profound contempt for patent medicines, particularly so-called liniments. Perhaps, this is due to the reason that I have been blessed with a sturdy constitution, and have never been ill a day in my life. One day last fall after a hard day's tramp in the slush of Montreal, I developed a severe pain in my legs, and of course like a man who has never had anything wrong with him physically, I complained rather boldly. The good little wife says: 'I will rub them with some liniment I have.' 'Go ahead,' I said just to humor her. Well in she comes with a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT and gets busy. Believe me the pain disappeared a few minutes after, and you can tell the world I said so."

Finding of Court.

Loss of Motor Vessel "Dellecnae."

Judge's Chambers, Court House, St. John's, April 15, 1920.

Finding of the Marine Court of enquiry into the circumstances connected with the abandonment and loss at sea of the Motor Ship "Dellecnae," on the 31st day of August, A.D. 1919.

The Motor Ship "Dellecnae," a wooden ship of 476 tons net, gross tonnage 613 tons, was built at Harbor Grace by the "Newfoundland Shipbuilding Company, Limited," and was registered in the name of the Newfoundland Shipbuilding Company, Limited of Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at the office of the Registrar of Shipping, on the 30th day of May, A. D. 1919. Her crew consisted of twelve men, Master inclusive. She sailed from Harbor Grace on June 18th, 1919, bound to a port in Norway, and after proceeding but a short distance on her voyage, it was discovered that the quality of oil fuel supplied was not suitable for the engines, and she was therefore obliged to return to Harbor Grace where a new supply was procured, and the ship left again on Wednesday, the 16th of July at 7.40 p.m.

Upon leaving port, the ship was put on an East by South course. No record of the log being set, was made, but a speed of four knots was noted, and the ship continued on that course with a moderate South West wind until 4 a.m., Friday, July 18th, when the starboard engine became disabled. At this time it was discovered the ship was leaking badly, the deck beams on the starboard and port sides of the engine room had taken fire and it was decided to make for St. John's. The ship's position at the time was Lat. 43.17 North, Long. 49.48 West—approximately course West by North, the speed from two to four knots, engine not going regularly, ship making water, the quantity not noted in the log. The pumps were kept going and eventually the ship reached St. John's at 9 a.m., Tuesday, the 22nd of July.

On July 26th, the ship went into the dry dock where it was discovered the pintles of the rudder were broken, the sea-cocks were damaged, and the pipe leading to the circulating pumps was also damaged.

Repairs being effected, a new Master and crew were shipped, and the "Dellecnae" left St. John's at 10 a.m. on August 25th, 1919 and proceeded on her voyage. At noon on that day, Cape Spear bore West five miles distant. At 5 p.m. the same day, the Port engine stopped, the speed given being from five to three knots. No log was set to denote the accuracy of such speed, and, although the weather was clear after leaving St. John's, no effort was made to verify the accuracy of the Chronometer rate. No record of the principal events of the voyage was made, such as the quantity of water the ship was making hourly; what efforts, if any, were made to minimize the inflow, or if anything was really done to save the ship before abandonment. The log was kept in a perfunctory manner, not intelligible to the ordinary individual, and was admitted by the Master to have been written up by him on board the rescuing schooner, "Carrie Hirtle."

According to the Master's evidence, at 9 a.m., Monday, she was ninety-three miles East of St. John's, drifting North East, half a mile per hour, (see evidence "J.W.G., 21.") and yet at noon Wednesday, he states he was fifteen miles off Bay Bulls. Again in the evidence of Arthur Wells, Chief Engineer, (see "A.W., 31") he states that when taken off ship by the banking schooner "Carrie Hirtle," they were eighty-five miles off the land. He again states that on Tuesday or Wednesday they were seven or eight miles off the land. The whole evidence of the ship's position and her navigation is most unsatisfactory.

The log of the "Dellecnae" of date Sunday, August 31st, 1919 records the following account of the ship abandonment:

"4 a.m., Engineers and engine room staff give up engines. Engine room flooded and five feet of water in hold. 8 a.m., similar conditions. 10.30 a.m., "sighter a schooner and signalled her. She bore down on us and all came aft and refused to remain longer on the ship as she is totally unmanageable and making a large quantity of water and drifting helplessly. 12.30 launched boat and dory alongside, took off four men and remainder in life-boat and boarded the fishing schooner "Carrie Hirtle," of Lunenburg, in "approximate Lat. 47.54 and Long. 50.40 West. Schooner bound for St. John's or Cape Broyle. Set "Dellecnae" on fire "before leaving her."

The Crown submitted certain question for the opinion of the Court. The questions and answers thereto, are as follows:

Q. 1. Was the said vessel properly equipped and in a seaworthy condition when she left the port of Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on the 16th day of July, A.D. 1919, on a voyage to Norway?

A. The vessel, in the opinion of the Court, was not in a proper seaworthy condition when she left the port of Harbor Grace for the following reasons: That no satisfactory official survey had been held on her prior to her leaving Harbor Grace, and that certificates were given her without full and careful examination. After only thirty-four hours steaming on her voyage to Norway, she broke down in her machinery and had to make for St. John's, leaking considerably. The fact of her bilges being choked with dirt, etc., is, in itself, a most reprehensible condition in which to send a ship to sea. By the evidence, her rudder was found to be considerably damaged when docked at St. John's, and it was highly improbable that such a damage could have been sustained during the very short period she was at sea, as the weather was not sufficiently bad to cause excessive motion.

Q. 2. Was the said vessel properly and completely manned for said voyage at the time of her said departure from Harbor Grace?

A. The vessel does not seem to have been completely manned for the following reasons: The First Mate Grey held no certificate, although the vessel was making a trans-Atlantic voyage. In the evidence given, it appears, that Captain Hannevig, after the breakdown, was continuously in the engine room. The Third Engineer Noseworthy, states in his evidence, he, Captain Hannevig, "was down in "the engine room the whole time and "took charge of things. He knew "more than anyone else, and he was "the one we used to go by;" also Arthur Wells, Chief Engineer on her last voyage from St. John's, states, "They told me, Captain Hannevig was "Chief; they also told me, Pynn was "Chief; I don't know which of them "was Chief."

I consider that under these circumstances, the engineer staff not fully competent. The position of a Captain in a ship is on the bridge, or on deck, and not working in the engine room, and had the Chief Engineer been a thoroughly competent man, such a contingency would not have occurred.

Q. 3. Was the said vessel properly equipped and in a seaworthy condition when she left the port of St. John's, Newfoundland, on the 24th day of August, A.D. 1919, on a voyage to Norway?

A. Presumably, yes,—she had been docked, repairs effected and passed fit for sea by Lloyd's Agent at St. John's, and by the Agent of the London Salvage Association, representing the Underwriters, but at the same time, I cannot agree that the vessel was entirely seaworthy. On her voyage from Harbor Grace to St. John's she leaked considerably. The real cause of the leak was not ascertained, and on leaving St. John's, she was shortly afterwards again in the same condition.

At the City Hall.

The regular weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held on Thursday night at eight o'clock. The Mayor and all the Councillors were present.

The question of importing a new dump cart for road work, and another sprinkling truck was up for discussion, and action deferred.

A letter was received from Bowring Brothers complaining of a retaining wall on the South Side Road. Referred to the Engineer for inquiry and information.

Two letters were read, one from Montreal, and the other from Hamilton, Ontario, in relation to castings, which were ordered to be filed.

Plans of alterations to Dicks and Co.'s building, Duckworth St., were approved.

Proposal to build on Macklin Place by Messrs. Neider and Pilly, were considered, but as no ground plan was submitted, they are to be instructed to see the City Engineer.

Cliff and Pinsent wrote on the same subject.

The following permits were ordered to be granted:—Inspector Newhook, to repair house Field Street; Archibald Greene, to add a story to house 49 Parade Street; Catherine Boland, to repair house 22 Burke's Square; Vincent Walsh, repairs to house Gower St.; R. P. Bailey, house Franklin Avenue, provided he undertakes to put water and sewerage in. Thos. Hynes, McNeil Street, this house is outside City Limits, and if he wants water and sewerage he must pay the taxes. Plan of house for S. Elliott, Water Street, was approved, and Walter Gosse was given permit to repair house Plymouth Road.

The applications of the Union Trading Company and Hickman and Co., stood over until plans are submitted.

The following orders were also given:—Benjamin Morris, for a bridge on Bell Street, Engineer to inquire; F. W. Marshall, a garage, referred to the Engineer; E. D. Morrissey must submit plan; Jas. Baird, for garage, must submit plan. Respecting the application of A. W. O'Reilly, he must submit ground plan for proposed garage.

A communication was read from J. A. Winter, in reference to the property of the late Sir Jas. Winter, Robinson's Hill. The question of opening road, etc., was settled before, that is to say, the Council confirms the previous action to the effect that, if the road is to be opened the property owners must pay cost of same and also for the necessary sewer pipes. If houses are to be built on the south side, connection with main sewer would have to be from Robinson's

Pte. J. Milley Writes.

Private J. Milley, the man who by his letters with others to the press on the shabby treatment he (and they) received from the military authorities in St. John's, created such a tremendous furor in Government circles, writes from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to say that he is greatly pleased with the courage of the "Star" in publishing his record after he had left the country. He also hands out a few bouquets to Hon. R. A. Squires, which he shall not present to-day, but will retain for future use. Pte. Milley had some financial dealings with certain parties, particulars of which would be interesting at the present juncture. He says that the Soldiers' Employment Committee of Halifax are a grand lot of men and leave nothing undone for the good of the returned boys. Milley was found a position by them as painter at $21 per week. At the Mill Factory here he received $12 per week. Later on perhaps, his letter will be published in full.

Does Prohibition Prohibit ?

The Case for the Moderates.

INCENTIVES TO LAW-UPHOLDING.

(By WARWICK SMITH.)

—ARTICLE V.

A plan of controlled drinking to replace the uncontrolled drinking we have under Prohibition. Of course I am not tied to any particular detail. Any other plan to control drinking, that would be likely to work satisfactorily, would have my support.

My argument in these articles is not so much addressed to those who are prejudiced in favour of prohibition nor to those who are prejudiced against it. I appeal to intelligent, thinking, unprejudiced people to consider not theories but facts. We want to get the best possible under the circumstances. "Compromise" is the word and it is a word which the extremists hate. It is most often what results from two sets of extremists pulling different ways. Like a knot in a rope used in a tug-of-war, the result of two opposite and equal forces is rest. The issue will be decided by the weight thrown on either side by the moderates.

Would a coupon system of controlled drinking work out in practice? Well it would cost the Colony less money to enforce, because the expense would be covered by the profits. There would be two incentives to the ordinary, plain, sober citizen to give the law his support. One would be the desire to decrease drunkenness, and in this he would have the support of the Prohibitionists themselves. His opponents would be a miserable handful of grog-swillers.

The second and greatest incentive would be fear. The sane and sober citizen who takes an occasional glass would use all his influence to discourage breaches of the law. He would not view law-breaking with the indifference he would exhibit towards a law that did not interest him. He would say "That fellow is risking my bottle" (or flask as the case may be). "I am going to put a stop to this." Every influence would be against the law-breaker. Then there is the man whose ideal is liberty. He would recognize the danger of a further curtailment of that liberty, if men were permitted to reel around the streets as we see them every day. The earnest Temperance worker would do his best to see that drunkenness became less, and that Prohibitionist would be a fanatic indeed who would use his influence to keep a drunkard from going to goal to sober up in order that he might put the whole country into prohibition again.

There are people who look upon Prohibition as the end to be attained, whereas it is only a means which some people are using to attain the end. That must be born in mind. Prohibition is not a fetish to be worshipped. It is only a weapon, and a weapon to be useful must do the work it is intended to do. Then the weapon should be a suitable one. A stick is often as effective as a sword. We do not shoot partridges with five-bullets and a crowd may be as easily dispersed by a fireman's hose as by a machine gun. We do not use sledge-hammers to crack nuts. These metaphors I have used only to show that it has never been proved that Prohibition was the only remedy for intemperance. There are other methods less drastic that will better attain the same end.

It is quite logical to say that you cannot get drunk if you cannot get liquor; but it is another thing to say that Prohibition will keep men from getting liquor. The question is "Has it?"

Was Tortured for Nearly Two Years.

THEN MRS. McNEIL USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Nova Scotian Suffering from Rheumatism Tells of the Benefit She Got Through Using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hillsborough, N.S., April 16th (Special).—"For nearly two years I suffered the tortures of rheumatism and could get nothing to relieve me. At last I thought of Dodd's Kidney Pills and commenced to take them.

"Before I had used two boxes I felt better. I have been using them for nearly six months and feel ever so much better. I will continue to use them until my rheumatism is gone."

Mrs. James McNeil, who lives here, makes the above statement. She feels that she owes it to other sufferers from rheumatism to tell them how she found relief from her suffering. She is always ready to say a good word for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Other sufferers from rheumatism tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys. They strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain the uric acid out of the muscles causes the pains known as rheumatism.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen the kidneys.

Terra Nova Returns.

WITH $8,000 SEALS.

The Terra Nova, Capt. A. Kean, arrived in port from the sealfishery last evening with 3,300 seals, made up of 800 young harps, 400 old harps and 2100 bedlamers. The Terra Nova would have remained out for another week or so had not two thirds of the crew mutinied and refused to kill. A heavy trip of old seals would have been secured. However, the Captain had to give in to the men and return home.

"You must appear naturally graceful"

No longer is the obviously corseted figure smart; the corset must not be evident in the finished silhouette. Not easy to attain unless you place yourself in the hands of a corsetiere with a thorough understanding of this elusive mode.

From the matron of larger proportions to the girl of slender figure,

GOSSARD CORSETS

The Original—Unequaled Front Lacing Corsets

will give ideal proportions without any feeling of restraint, and the most critical observer will not be able to trace your gracefulness and charm to the skill of Gossard artist.

Our stock is complete, and you can buy a genuine Gossard for as little as $4.70 up to any price you desire to pay.

You may be assured that our specialized corset service has anticipated your every need.

Notice to Farmers.

It is possible that the Civil Re-establishment Committee may be looking for a number of farmers in the early part of May who may be willing to take on one or two farmer students for six months. Farmers who are willing to do this patriotic duty to returned men are invited to notify the undersigned at an early date as possible of their willingness to help the Civil Re-establishment Committee by taking one or more students. They should state clearly what facilities they have for giving the students training, and should state minimum and maximum wages that they are willing to pay for beginners and for men who have had previous agricultural experience. They should also state if they are able to board the students. In each case they should state clearly the terms.
