LOOKS LIKE MURDER.

A Suspicious Character Around Oulton's Place For Several Days.

Arranged to Rent a Room--Skulked Around at Night--Then Disappeared--The Instrument of Death.

Last night I. O. Oulton, commonly referred to as a miser and a rag picker by occupation, was found dead in the house in which he has lived for years on Douglas avenue. His head is covered with bruises, while considerable blood is congealed about his mouth and chin. Shortly after the discovery of the body, and while no one was supposed to be in the house, fire broke out, part of the bed on which the body lay was burned, with portions of the old man's clothing. These are the peculiar facts that the police have been called upon to investigate.

Since the death of his wife, which occurred some few years ago, Oulton has lived alone, and while he has considerable property and a good bank account, continued to frequent garbage dumps. In one of his houses, number 50 Elm street, lives Thomas Gillespie, an axe helper in Campbell's axe factory. Gillespie for several years has cared for the old man when ill and looked after some of his business for him. Oulton got his meals at Gillespie's when the weather was fine enough for him to go out, while during the winter and wet weather the old man's meals were taken to him. He kept his house closely barred and it was next to impossible for any one to get in without using force. With Gillespie, however, he had a set of signals. Tuesday night Oulton had his supper at Gillespie's. Breakfast and dinner time passed yesterday and the old man did not put in an appearance, so when Gillespie returned from work and had finished his own supper he went at once to Oulton's house, taking some supper with him. He found the door closed as usual, and after waiting several minutes, his signals not being answered, went home for a light. Going back he took his son, Thomas Gillespie, a lad of twelve or fourteen, and Wm. Marshall, a lad of about his son's age. After some little difficulty he succeeded in getting in, and went at once to the corner where the old man slept. The old man was lying face down, his body resting on the bed, his feet on the floor. Gillespie lifted one leg on a chair, and seeing that the man was dead went out, fastened the door and went to look for a policeman. He finally went to Dr. Roberts', and after asking him if he was a coroner told the doctor that he had "found a dead man." The doctor questioned him closely, and he told the story as above. It was just five minutes of ten when Gillespie first spoke to the doctor. He said he had spent quite a little while looking for a policeman, and thought it was about 9:30 o'clock when he left the house where the dead man was.

Coroner Roberts immediately telephoned the North End police station. Shortly afterwards an alarm was rung in for a fire in the Oulton house. A crowd quickly collected and many tried to force their way into the house. On a bed inside were found the remains of Mr. Oulton. The body was removed to Chamberlain's undertaking establishment. An examination there brought out some startling developments. On the top of the head is a deep indentation, discolored, and with a slight abrasion of the skin. Nearer the temple is another almost similar mark. The left cheekbone and eye are terribly swollen and blackened and slightly out. The little finger of the left hand bears peculiar marks. From a portion of the finger the skin is missing, while the flesh is scarred as if gnawed by rats. If, as is suspected by many, foul play caused the old man's death, the hand might have been injured when being used as a guard.

The chief of police was at once communicated with and his officers took the case in hand. Dr. Scammell was likewise called and he decided to hold a post mortem examination. He expressed the opinion at the time that the man had been dead some time. The origin of the fire in the Oulton house is a mystery. It was discovered by Mrs. Gillespie, who went to that place to see what was detaining her husband. Isaac G. Oulton was a person well known in the North End, and was reported to be exceedingly well-to-do. He was generally believed that he carried a large sum of money on his person all the time. When searched at the undertaking establishment his pockets were empty. He was over eighty years of age and daily could be seen on the dumps picking over and carting off everything of any value.

A SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER. This morning Mrs. Thomas Gillespie gave the Star information which seems to throw some light, in fact the only light, on the cause of Oulton's death.

She says that on Friday last a well dressed man applied to Oulton for a room in his house. This he was unable to obtain, as there were no rooms to be let in that house, but in the Gillespie house, in which Oulton spent the greater part of the time there was a room which could be rented. The man applied to Mrs. Gillespie for this, and having inspected the room declared himself satisfied with it. He told Mrs. Gillespie that his name was George Kendrick, that he belonged to a place four miles out of Fredericton, and that he was moving to St. John. He also stated that he came to the city on Wednesday, April 16th with his wife and family, and had gone to the Grand Union.

Upon arranging for the lease of the room the man had gone, promising to return on Saturday. In the meantime Mrs. Gillespie, feeling somewhat suspicious, had communicated the facts to her husband. She believed that there must be some underlying motive when a man so well dressed and apparently so prosperous should seek lodgings in such a miserable place. On Saturday afternoon Kendrick, as he called himself, appeared again and made further arrangements with Oulton and Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie concerning the room. Mr. Oulton agreed to have it cleaned, painted and papered, and that it would be ready for occupation on Wednesday. The man made many enquiries which, being received with hidden interest, further excited the suspicion of Mrs. Gillespie, and she paid particular attention to his personal appearance, taking note of every detail of his clothing even down to the rings on his finger. She feels positive that she could identify the man anywhere. Kendrick was observed by others than Mrs. Gillespie, and was seen to be sizing up the house and its surroundings. He promised to return on Monday afternoon to have a look at the room and see how the work was getting along.

On Monday Kendrick did not show up, but after six o'clock in the evening, while Mr. Gillespie was standing in the gateway leading to the rear of the house, he passed. He was wearing a long overcoat, which reached below the knees, and he had the collar turned up around his head. Upon seeing Mr. Gillespie he suddenly started, and turned his face away, as if to avoid being seen.

At two o'clock on Tuesday morning some of the neighbors returning home, met Kendrick in the gateway, wearing the same long coat and having his face partly hidden. He said nothing, but passed out of the gateway and walked away.

On Monday night the houses of William Newman, on Simonds street, and Edward Harrington, on Portland street, were broken into. This fact led Mrs. Gillespie to make further enquiries and as Kendrick did not return to occupy the room he had engaged, she began to put two and two together, with the result that she is satisfied in her own mind that the man who broke into the Newman and Harrington houses, and the one who applied for the room in her house, are one and the same.

OURTON'S AFFAIRS.

In speaking of Mr. Oulton, Mrs. Gillespie told the Star that her husband had for four years done all the collecting of rents for the old man. He had squared everything up to last Saturday night, and had entered it all on his book, after having paid over the money. For this work, which occupied considerable time, Oulton had repeatedly promised to pay Mr. Gillespie. He had also promised to pay Mrs. Gillespie for the food and lodging she had given him during the past few years. His promises, however, were the only things they ever got from him, but as Oulton stated that he intended leaving property to Mrs. Gillespie and money to her husband when he died, they did not press any claims against him.

WHERE HE LIVED.

From the Gillespie house the Star reporter went to the hovel on Douglas Avenue occupied by Oulton, and by means of an order obtained from Dr. Roberts, secured admission. Guided by a lantern, and after stumbling knee deep through heaps of all kinds of rubbish, the room where the body was found, and where the fire originated, was reached. Between the heaps of filth there was scarcely space to stand, and few signs remained of the supposed murder.

WAS THIS THE WEAPON?

While looking about the room one of the reporters suggested that a search should be made for the blunt instrument with which the wounds might have been inflicted.

A heavy iron spike, eight inches long and weighing about a pound and a half was seen lying against the stove-door and upon examination the heavy, ragged end of this was found to be covered with what looked like human hair and spots which looked like blood. Closer examination revealed the fact that the smaller end of the spike was entirely free from dust as though it had been cleaned by being clasped in a hand, while the other end was, like everything else in the room, quite filthy.

The spike was carefully taken to Dr. Roberts and this afternoon he is making a microscopic examination of the spots and hairs found on it. He gives as his opinion upon first examination that what was noticed on the spike is really hair and blood and regards the article as a most important piece of evidence.

Thomas Gillespie, who is being detained in the North End police station told the Star today that Oulton had been feeling unwell for some time. He often complained of weak spells and was liable to fall at any moment. In regard to the statements made by his wife concerning the collecting of the rents Gillespie told the same story.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE.

The origin of the fire is still a mystery but he gives one clue which may account for it. Over the bed on which Oulton's body was found was a clothesline, hanging low and fastened at one end to the frame of the door just beside the bed, and at the other to the opposite corner of the room. When Mr. Gillespie holding the lighted lamp leaned over the bed it is quite possible that the dry frayed rope caught. Upon examination in the house today a charred spot was found on the frame of the door, just where the burning end of the rope would be likely to touch. Below this there was no sign of fire and it is evident that the blaze in this part of the room did not come from beneath the bed.

The other end of the rope would fall directly on the bed and quite near to where the body of Oulton was lying. It would, if this theory should prove correct, set fire to the clothes on the left side of the man's body, and it was his left side which was partially burned. No other explanation of the fire can be given either by members of the fire department or by Mrs. Gillespie.

POST-MORTEM.

This forenoon Dr. J. H. Scammell visited John Chamberlain's undertaking rooms, where Oulton's body is lying, and made a post-mortem examination. Part of the skull was removed, the organs of the body were examined, and the results obtained were practically as stated with the exception that no fracture of the skull was found. Dr. Scammell will make his report to the coroner's jury this evening. He will not make any definite statement until then.

THE INQUEST.

Coroner W. F. Roberts this forenoon impanelled the following jury: Joseph Thurt, foreman; Charles Colwell, E. M. Sprague, Albert McArthur, J. V. Russell, Fred A. Young and William Searle. The jury met at John Chamberlain's rooms at half past eleven o'clock and after viewing the body, adjourned to meet in the North End police station at eight o'clock this evening.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

BALMORAL, Transvaal, Wednesday, April 23.—Secretary of State Reitz, of the Transvaal; General Lucas Meyer, commander-in-chief of the Orange Free State forces, and other members of the party, have concluded their conferences with the burghers composing General Lucas Meyer's commando. Nothing has leaked out regarding the result. Secretary Reitz returned here yesterday and proceeded to Pietersburg to meet Commandant Beyers.

OSTRICHES TRAVEL AT GREAT SPEED.

"If the running record is to be lowered much below the present figure," said Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, at Washington the other day, "I think the new record will be established by ostriches. I witnessed some marvelous exhibitions last week at Jacksonville, Fla., where I visited a big ostrich farm, which covers a vast area; in fact, it is the largest ostrich farm in the world. The superintendent hitched the birds to light sulkeys and the way they got over the ground was wonderful. It takes three fast horses working in relays to keep up with the two-legged flyers when the latter get under way. The ostrich sprinters weigh over 300 pounds each and a strong bird can carry a man on his back without difficulty. The industry is a thriving one, and it is only a question of time before we will be exporting fine ostrich feathers instead of buying them from abroad. Eggs are hatched in incubators at Jacksonville, as the female refuse to sit on their eggs unless they can retire to some wooded spot out of the range of sightseers. A good ostrich is worth $1,000."

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 24, 1902.

LET'S HAVE FAIR PLAY.

Although nothing has yet been officially announced it is practically understood that the New Brunswick quota of the coronation contingent will be in about the proportion as has been allowed this province on other occasions. This is altogether unfair to the province, and such conduct on the part of the government will, if continued, considerably dampen the military spirit now existing.

For the coronation contingent, out of twenty-one officers to be chosen from Canada, only four will be taken from the maritime provinces. Of these Nova Scotia furnishes two, Prince Edward Island one—all it is entitled to—and New Brunswick one, because it cannot very well give less. This proportion is unfair. Nova Scotia may be a larger military district on account of the permanent corps stationed there, but in military enthusiasm it is far behind either New Brunswick or P. E. Island.

When recruiting for the first contingent to Africa was commenced, the applicants for positions on the company from New Brunswick appeared in greater numbers proportionately than in any other province. Since then men have gone from here in scores to serve either in Africa, in garrison at Halifax, or on the Northwest Mounted Police, and others are ready to go at any time. In the formation of the first contingent three officers went from New Brunswick, but as one of these represented the permanent force he should not be considered as a representative of the provincial militia. This left only two actually chosen from the militia here, and two officers went from Prince Edward Island, the smallest district in Canada.

Commissions or positions on the first contingent were regarded as honors hard to obtain, and on those occasions when they were sought chiefly for the honor attached to them, New Brunswick had to be content with the small proportion allowed by the militia department. At present, however, the department seems very glad to accept the services of all men who can be persuaded to go to Africa, simply because other provinces are not so enthusiastic and patriotic as New Brunswick.

New Brunswick men are showing up nobly and it might be expected that in return for this the department of militia would make some slight return, or at least act fairly with the province. A chance to do so is now at hand in the formation of the coronation contingent, but from all indications the same plan as was pursued on other occasions, where any honor or reward was concerned, is to be adopted in this case. New Brunswick will furnish one officer in the coronation contingent.

In this province there are a number militia officers who served with distinction in South Africa. Their claims for commissions on the coronation contingent should be good, but apparently they have not been considered by the department of militia. Several of these officers have sent in applications and one was offered the lieutenantcy open to New Brunswick. He, in the meantime, had reconsidered his application and decided to return to South Africa with the fourth contingent. When his decision reached the department, instead of examining the claims of the other officers who applied, and who had served in Africa, several of whom reside in St. John, the appointment was given to another whose chief claim is that his father is a supporter of the party in power at Ottawa. This appointment rested entirely with the Hon. A. G. Blair, minister of railways and canals, and founder of the I. C. R. car warmer in St. John. It was upon Mr. Blair's recommendation that this officer, son of a strong supporter of the government, was granted the one lone commission with which New Brunswick is forced to content itself.

The government has still a chance to make up for its past offences by allowing New Brunswick a fair proportion of non-commissioned officers and men on the coronation contingent.

CONTINUE THE GOOD WORK.

The Woman's South African League of the United States has sent by cable to South Africa, to Mrs. Korpman De Wet in Cape Town, $1,000.00 for the relief of the Boer women and children in the concentration camps. Of this sum $650 was collected by the Boer League, $400.50 was the proceeds of a Hungarian society, and $50 the proceeds of a tea and private view of South African pictures in the studios of a couple of New York young ladies. It might, perhaps, not be out of the way to suggest that a pink tea or an ice cream social might be held to raise funds for the poor Filipinos who have undergone the water cure. This would be a new and exceedingly popular gold cure.

The new Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst, Ont., established under the auspices of the National Sanitarium Association, has been opened for the reception of patients. The secretary reports not only applications from Toronto, but from all parts of the Dominion. Accommodation has been provided for fifty patients and this will be extended to one hundred with practically no delay, as the applications increase. Requests for admission have come in some cases from as far east as Prince Edward Island, and as far west as the interior of the Northwest Territories.

It is announced that an old age pension system has been established by the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of New York city. Employees of the company will be retired at the age of seventy years. Those who have been in its service twenty-five years will receive a pension amounting to 25 per cent. of their former wages, while for thirty-five years service a pension amounting to 40 per cent. will be paid.

Real estate is booming in the west. A Winnipeg despatch says that one firm of real estate dealers have sold in various districts 37,029 acres, all within fifteen miles of Winnipeg, and none has been sold for less than $10 per acre. The purchasers were all Americans from either Iowa or Illinois, and many of them will go on the lands this summer.

According to a Montreal despatch, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., will soon become a great industrial centre. The despatch says that a Montreal firm have closed a contract with the Sturgeon Falls Pulp and Paper Company for the development of their water power, and the erection of the building required for their mills. It is said the contract will approximate a hundred million dollars.

TRADE WITH JAMAICA.

An Interesting Letter From a Merchant of the Island.

In view of the effort now being made to enlarge our trade with Jamaica, a particular interest attaches to the following extract from a letter from a Jamaica merchant to W. B. Dixon, of the Enterprise Foundry Co., of Sackville. It shows that the island has more than oranges and bananas to offer:

"I do not know where you get your coffee and chocolate from. Perhaps from here, or perhaps it is not known that Jamaica Blue Mountain coffee stands the highest in the markets of the world. I have known it to bring 142s. per cwt. in the Liverpool market—it is ranging now 120s. to 122s. A cute American happened to come over here one winter; he saw the settlers' coffee, and managed to arrange to get some of the low and middle grades go largely to U. S. A. ## RIOT IN PATERSON.

Strikers Attack Mills and Many Persons Are Wounded.

PATERSON, N. J., April 23.—Striking dyers here today stormed the establishments which were still running and by force compelled a complete suspension of business in their trade. They engaged in a series of running fights with the police and plant managers, and in one of the severest clashes exchanged a volley of pistol shots with them. The riotous element among the strikers were in command and hostilities ceased only when there were no more shops to win over to the cause for which they were fighting. Many persons on either side were severely injured during the rioting, but none dangerously so. It was believed at a time that it would be necessary to ask the state for troops to restore order and insure protection to life and property, but the police expressed confidence in their ability to handle the situation, and no request for outside aid was made. Judge Dixon called the grand jury before him and charged them to indict the persons guilty of rioting.

When the strikers completed their campaign against the plants in operation eighteen firms were closed down and 3,400 men were out.

The disorder began early in the day and was unexpected. A meeting of strikers was held at eight o'clock, attended by 2,000 men. The meeting was orderly, directed for peace and the men were urged to keep away from the shops. The meeting of committees prepared and adopted the demands, stating the kind of work desired and the amount of pay each class of workers should receive.

While the meeting was proceeding, hundreds of strikers stood outside angrily discussing their grievances. The radicals urged a raid upon the works still in operation and when their suggestion was approved, a mob of strikers and induced the operatives to quit. At the Bamford mill the first serious disorder occurred. The property is walled in, but the strikers gained the yard before the gates were shut. Windows were smashed, chemicals spilled and considerable damage done. The men at work in the mill quickly quitted their places. While one mob was closing the Bamford mill another was surging into the plant of the American Silk Dyeing and Finishing Co. Armed with dye sticks and stones they charged through the place, driving the men from their places. One Arnold, one of the members of the firm, was knocked insensible with a blow on the head from a dye stick. Almost simultaneously an attack was begun on the works of Emil Geering, and it was in the fight for possession of it that the shooting occurred. Someone in the crowd discharged a revolver and the police quickly returned the fire. Half a dozen shots were fired and one striker, who escaped unnoticed, was shot in the leg. The mob stoned the two policemen and when one of the latter arrested one of the leaders, closed in around him. The officers quickly quitted their places and beat their way out of the crowd. A striker engaged Mr. Geering, but was beaten off. One of the strikers finally secured a rifle and when he came out and faced the crowd with it there was a general scattering.

AMERICAN CIVILIZATION.

Two Persons Dying and One Insane as Result of Whitecap Methods.

NASHVILLE, Ind., April 23.—Early Wednesday morning twenty masked men went to the home of Finley Stretchberry, aged 44, a few miles from the home of Wm. Caldwell, who was almost murdered by Whitecaps Monday night, and broke into Stretchberry's house. He met them with a double barreled gun and emptied one charge into the shoulder of one of the gang. He was beaten over the head with revolvers and clubs until he fell. He was dragged to a woods nearby and whipped until blood flowed. The Whitecaps then tied the victim to a post and beat him until he was almost dead. His wife, who was recently discharged from a hospital for the insane, became insane from excitement. She ran to the house of her husband, but was unable to make herself understood. The farmer, however, followed her to the place where Stretchberry lay. Both Stretchberry and Caldwell are at the point of death and Mrs. Stretchberry's condition is most pitiable. The two whitecaps were captured within 48 hours and no cause is known for either one.

FIRST IN TWENTY YEARS.

Boat's Crew on Steamer Minia Had a Close Call.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 23.—The Western Union cable str. Minia returned from sea this afternoon after a brief repairing trip. The first accident that has happened on the steamer in twenty years occurred during the trip. On Tuesday afternoon, while the ship was at work at sea about fifty miles off the east coast of Cape Breton, a boat, containing eight men, was being towed from the steamer and one of the falls jammed. The ship was heaving some at the time, and this caused the boat to careen and swamp, instead of striking the sea flat. Three of the eight men in the boat were washed overboard and it was not till ten minutes had passed that they were picked up. It is the rule of the Minia that every man going into a boat at sea must wear a cork jacket, and the eight men who were in the boat were thus equipped. These jackets kept them afloat.

PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Charlton's Fool Resolution Almost Unanimously Defeated.

OTTAWA, April 23.—Hon. Mr. Sifton introduced a bill to increase the size of the Rocky Mountain Park. The minister said it had become a popular resort for tourists. It now includes 260 square miles and it is proposed to adopt double that area. Mr. Sifton also introduced a bill providing that the Yukon district shall be represented in the house of commons by one member. The qualification of voters is to be the same as in the Territories.

The minister of justice introduced a bill to amend the petition of right act. This measure provides that security for costs may be required from parties proceeding by petition against the government.

Hon. Mr. Fisher introduced amendments to the fruit marks act. It provides that fruit may be marked number one, two or three, or with one, two or three X's to designate qualities, and deals with some other matters.

GENERAL KILLED.

And Venezuelan Troops Utterly Routed by Rebels.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, April 24.—On Tuesday morning the Venezuelan government troops, numbering 2,200 men, under General Ramon Castillo, attacked the revolutionists, between San Antonio and Ganaguana, distant about thirty leagues from Cumana, and well known to the revolutionists. General Castillo personally led the advance government guard, composed of veteran troops. One hour after the opening of the action General Castillo was wounded and died later. Immediately after he was wounded all of the recently recruited Venezuelan soldiers disbanded, deserting in all directions, and eventually reaching San Antonio. The government officers tried to rally their troops but their efforts were in vain, and ended in a complete rout for the Venezuelan soldiers. The whereabouts of General Escalante, who was second in command of the government army, was unknown when this dispatch was forwarded. The situation in Venezuela is again critical.

Another man, unidentified, was taken from the wreckage later. All the glass in the windows of the American Jute Company mill near by was shattered and all the electric lights in that part of the city were extinguished. The cause of the explosion is not known.

POPE AND PHILIPPINES.

ROME, April 4.—There is considerable mystification at the Vatican regarding the reported United States mission to be appointed to discuss the taking over of the lands of the religious orders in the Philippines. No one here seems to know when the mission may be expected, but it is understood that the Bishop of Sioux Falls, Right Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, is preparing the ground for it. There is some question regarding the character of the reception to be accorded the mission. The pope, it is said, is desirous of receiving the mission privately.

Enormous damage has been done and hundreds of people killed by an earthquake in Guatemala on April 18.

WOUNDED IRISHMAN'S JOKE. The war correspondent of the London Telegraph, writing of mishaps and incidents of campaigning, tells this story of a wounded Irishman—

"And there is always the evil chance of falling into the hands of villainous snipers, being shot, stripped, and left for dead. It was an Irish soldier who was thus outrageously dealt with by certain Boer marauders. The poor man was found upon the field, and borne into the hospital, alive, though wounded in a dozen of places, for he had made a stiff fight. He became comatose, and a comrade called to see him: "Is it shot I was, Begorra! I was drilled that full of holes that the man in the next bed caught cold because of the draught through me."

Judge—"Have I not seen you twice before under the influence of liquor?" Defendant—"If you were in that condition, your honor, you probably did see me twice."—Philadelphia Press.

It is argued that because of the advancing price of cotton and sharp competition there is a gloomy future for yarn manufacturing. If the combination is effected, the management of all mills will be conducted through a general office in New York.

WON AT POKER BY HYPNOTISM.

TRINIDAD, Col., April 22.—Prof. B. O. Keller, hypnotic poker player, has disappeared. The young men of Trinidad are coming out of their trances and searching themselves for the $4,000 Prof. Keller persuaded them he won from them. The clerk of a local hotel freed from the spell cast over him by the professor, rushed to the police station and swore out a warrant charging Keller with beating a board bill.

Last week a well dressed young man appeared in Trinidad and said he was Prof. B. O. Keller, hypnotist. He arranged a series of exhibitions. Every evening, after persuading his subjects that they saw rabbits and things, Prof. Keller sat in a little game of draw. The men who played with him now charge that Keller used his hypnotic powers in the game. When the young men held full houses, Keller calmly raked in the chips, and by hypnotizing his opponents he convinced them they held four and sevens.

Prof. Keller could not lose except when he elected to lose. Two passes and a presto doubled his pile of chips. His victims stood for hypnotic poker until the professor accumulated $4,000 of their money. Then they talked of vengeance. Seeing the spell was departing Prof. Keller hurried to the hotel, hypnotized the clerk into the belief that he paid his bill and departed.

William Richards, the Birmingham juberman, who was very ill, is now improving.

Lewis Bliss has been appointed accountant in the Fredericton Boom Company's office at St. Mary's in succession to the late W. K. Allen.

The many friends of Rev. Dr. Mowatt of Eskine church, Montreal, will be delighted to learn that his congregation have arranged a three months' trip for him and Mrs. Mowatt to the old country. They will start in time to take in the coronation proceedings and will visit many places of interest during their stay on the other side.—

THE POTATO MARKET.

(Fredericton Gleaner.)
The potato market continues to show great activity, both for local consumption and for export. $1.25 to $1.30 a barrel is the price for Early Rose or Delaware. W. T. Estey is today loading a car for the United States market.
James A. Bell will load a car at Dock-town or Blackville this week for export.

At Presque Isle, Me., potatoes are selling at $2.10 to $2.50 per barrel.

QUEER BIRD'S NEST.

Among the bananas on a stalk brought here yesterday for E. A.
Goodwin, was found a bird's nest, which had remained safely hidden and uninjured through the journey from Jamaica to St. John. In the nest, was a small egg, about the size of a gray-bird's, mottled in color, and in a sound condition. How the egg escaped destruction is a mystery and Mr. Goodwin is keeping the nest as a curio.

CAPTAIN EXONERATED.

Board of Inquiry Clears Capt. Thompson of Lake Superior of All Blame.

Commander O. V. G. Spain, head of the board of inquiry into the stranding of the steamer Lake Superior, today read the finding in the case. Capt.
Thompson and Pilot Rogers were both exonerated. The finding in so far as it places blame or exonerates the men concerned, is as follows:—

That the ship was navigated in safety by Captain Thompson to a secure position off Musquash, where Pilot Rogers boarded her, and conducted her safely to the entrance of the harbor; that the master and officers were at their stations ready to execute any order or requirement of the pilot on entering the harbor; that the ship was well found in anchors and chains; that the stranding of the steamship Lake Superior was caused by the want of judgment of the pilot, in having placed the ship in the influence of the freshet by keeping her too far to the eastward and under port helm when approaching the wharves, and about to let go the starboard anchor on that side of the harbor, and by his not having kept her on the western side of the harbor, thus commencing the operation of mooring by letting go the port anchor and completing it by letting go the starboard anchor or towards the eastern side.
That the master, Capt. C. K. Thompson, is exonerated from all blame and censure, and that his professional reputation is not affected by the stranding of his ship; that the officers and crew of the ship are exonerated from all blame.

The court are of the opinion that had the starboard anchor not broken either the cable would have parted or the ship's windlass given away.

The finding was signed by Commander Spain, Capt. Douglas, R. N. R., and Capt. Murphy.

LABORERS ARE SCARCE.

Laborers are scarce in St. John and there is no reason why any able-bodied man who is willing to work should remain idle. Times are good for the laboring classes and although artisans and builders state that there is not such a rush this year as during some previous seasons, work is generally plentiful.

On the west side the winter port traffic has given employment to some hundreds of men during the season and now when it is drawing to a close, although not quite finished, considerable difficulty is being experienced in obtaining a sufficient number of men to handle the freight. The reason for this is that the usual spring industries are just now commencing and men are leaving their winter occupations to engage in others. Large numbers are already at work or preparing to begin fishing, many have gone to the woods to look after drives, and several of the mills, which have been closed down during the winter, are now running on full time.

In a few weeks, whenever the winter rush of freight has been cleared up, the C. P. R. will commence work on the extensions and improvements to be built this year and on these extensions some hundreds of laborers will find employment.

TODAY'S FUNERALS.

The remains of the late Mrs. Robert DeWolfe were this afternoon interred at Fernhill. The funeral took place from the residence, 33 Broad street, and the services were conducted by Rev. Geo. Sellar.

The funeral of the late Mary O'Brien took place this morning from the Mater Misericordiae home to the church of St. John the Baptist, where high requiem mass was celebrated by Rev.
Fr. Gaynor. Interment was at the Catholic cemetery.

The pall-bearers were James Doyle,
John Sullivan, John Carlton, Alex. Mc-Diarmid, Bernard McDiarmid and Michael Clancy.

HARDWARE CLERKS' HOLIDAY.

The hardware clerks will have the Saturday half holiday in June, July and August this year as usual. The following firms have signed the agreement to close at 1 p. m. on Saturday in those months:—W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., T. McAvity & Sons, Kerr & Robertson, S. Hayward Co., Ltd., Jno. W.
Addison, Miles Eagar, Emmerson &
Fisher, Jas. Robertson Co., Ltd., H.
Horton & Sons, I. E. R. Burpee, John J. Barry.

The hardware clerks have proved themselves public spirited in former years, assisting in securing band concerts and the like, and will no doubt help in the same line this year.

FISH MARKET.

Receipts in the local fish market this week have been very light. Fishing is reported very poor, especially off Grand Manan, and very little has been done on the Nova Scotia coast. The results of the harbor fishing have, so far, not been very satisfactory. The quotations for the week are halibut, twelve to fifteen cents a pound; cod and haddock, four cents a pound; gaspereaux, eighteen cents a dozen; shad, thirty to thirty-five cents each;
pickarel, six cents a pound.

THE COURTS.

In Harris v. Jamieson in the circuit court, George Lord, a foreman employed at work on the I. C. R. elevator when Charles H. Harris was killed, was on the stand this morning. D.
Mullin, K. C., for the plaintiff; C. N.
Skinner, K. C. and A. G. Blair for the defendant.

Equity Court.

Rev. George E. Lloyd was on the stand this morning in the suit of Fairweather v. Lloyd and Robertson in the equity court.

FOUND DEAD ON THE FLOOR.

Miss Mary Wells died suddenly at her home on Prospect street, Gloucester, Mass., on Saturday from heart trouble. She had complained of not being very well and went to a neighboring house where she was given some hot drink with the intention of alleviating the pain. She returned to her home and one of the neighbors called and found her dead on the floor. Medical Examiner Quimby was summoned and pronounced death due to natural causes.

The deceased was 53 years old, a native of Nova Scotia and has resided in Gloucester for many years.

The Rev. G. M. Campbell of St. John will deliver a lecture in Wesley Memorial Church, Moncton, on Monday evening next.

POLICE COURT.

Made a Light Lunch on a Policeman's Finger—O'Brien Remanded.

The six prisoners on the bench this morning were rushed through without any waste of time and the fines imposed averaged somewhat more than usual.

Michael Fitzmorris, one of the stone hotel quartette, admitted in a very weak voice that he had been drunk on Princess street. Michael was sent in to sing or pass his time in other enjoyable occupations for two months.

William Boyce, sixteen years of age, was arrested last evening for fighting in the J. C. R. depot. He was remanded until the other party to the fight, who is supposed to have been equally guilty can be secured.

Between five and six o'clock yesterday evening Charles Nealey raised quite a commotion in front of his father's house on Rodney street, Carleton. He was drunk and amused himself by breaking all the windows within reach. Only two whole panes remained after he had finished. Officer Lee, hearing the crash of breaking glass, hurried to the scene and arrested Nealey. In the struggle which ensued the prisoner made a light lunch off the officer's finger, inflicting a very painful wound. This habit of eating the police appears to be the fashionable caper in Carleton just now.

Nealey was charged with being drunk and breaking windows and was fined twenty dollars or two months in jail. The charge of resistance was not pressed.
Last evening John O'Brien was arrested on suspicion of being the person who entered William Newman's house on Simond street on Monday night.
The charge was read to the prisoner and he was remanded.

Gabriel Paul, the basket making descendant of the Millicotes was found on Sheffield street late last night very drunk. He was accompanied by another Indian, who, however, had not been overcome by the fire water. Paul had some baskets to sell but was unable to dispose of them in the court. He was sentenced to jail for two months with the hardest labor that can be given him.

Thos. Sheehan, charged with whiskey, pleaded guilty and got eight or thirty days.

THE CASE AGAINST KELLY.

In the case against William Kelly, charged with assault on United States Customs Officer Frank Burns, Police Magistrate Dibble of Woodstock said Tuesday that so far as he is concerned the case is dismissed.
Other developments are expected. The case excites great interest and many of Kelly's neighbors from Debec were at Woodstock preparing to furnish bail if required. Efforts are being made by American authorities to extradite the prisoner but the matter is not settled yet.

CUT IN DRY FISH.

At a meeting of the fisheries committee of the Gloucester, Mass., Board of Fish and day means the price on salt codfish from the vessel, of all grades, were dropped 25 cents on a hundred pounds and a cut of 50 cents made on large dry headline cod.

The prices now are: Large headline Georges, $3.50; medium do, $2.50; headline cod from deck, caught east of Cape Sable, $3.25; medium do, $2.25; large trawl bank cod, $2.50; medium do, $2; large dry headline cod, $2.75; medium do, $2.25.

EXHIBITION IN MONCTON.

At a meeting of the directors of the Moncton and Fox Creek Agricultural Society, held in Moncton yesterday, a letter was read from the minister of agriculture, Hon. L. P. Par-tis, stating that by the request of the society together with the Hon. C. W. Robinson, M.
P., and A. R. Copp, M. P., and the members of Albert and Kent that the department of agriculture had decided to grant a sum sufficient to hold an exhibition called the Maritime Exhibition. The society passed a resolution to hold an exhibition this fall.

THE DELICIOUS ORANGE.

The very daintiest, most satisfactory way of preparing oranges is to outline with a sharp knife two circles around the fruit, about half an inch apart and half way between the skin and blossom ends. Remove all the rind excepting the half inch band. Just over one of the natural separations between the sections of the orange cut the band with a keen knife. All the divisions may then be carefully separated one from another while all remain attached to the girdle of yellow rind. Oranges so prepared may be laid in layers on a fruit plate, outstretched upon the narrow piece of peeling; or they may, after the sub-divisions have been carefully made, be closed together again, and a ribbon tied around the orange over the rind girdle will preserve the spherical form and be very pretty and ornamental for guest occasions. It is but the action of a second to untie these ribbons, and behold! the sections all lie before one, in perfect readiness to be eaten and most easily detached from the bit of rind which holds them side by side.

Oranges should be served freely during the months when they are especially in season. No breakfast seems quite complete which does not begin with an offering of this beautiful fruit when it is to be had in perfection. Nearly all people are benefited by some acid fruit just before the breakfast proper is served, even if it be no more than a half dozen grapes. The stomach is thus prepared for the foods that follow. For breakfast, a half orange, cut cross wise and eaten with a spoon and sugar if desired, is a fine appetizer.
This way of serving oranges is particularly appropriate for the morning meal. An orange spoon enables one to extract the juice and more delicate portion of the fruit with perfect success.

When sliced in sugar, care should be taken to remove every seed and so prevent bitterness.

For evening companies the mode of serving this fruit upon the narrow strip of peeling is most suitable, convenient, beautiful and refined.

To many orange ice is vastly preferable to lemon ice. It is richer in color and flavor.

Oranges, in the land in which they grow, are regarded as most desirable for food in the early part of the day, the saying being oft repeated that they are "gold in the morning and lead at night."
